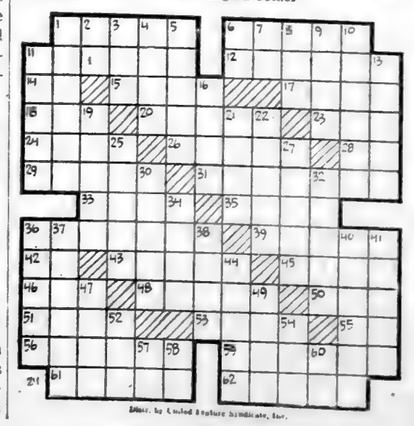
Dr. W. E. Rosenstengel, University education professor, was elected representative for District 7 at the National Council meeting of Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary organization for men in the educational field, at a recent meeting in Kansas City.

District 7 includes Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, and Florida.

Charles M. Clark, education instructor at Carolina and president of the local chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, also attended the meeting.



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS

1—Fork tine
6—Wrong
11—Baser
12—An asteroid
14—Babylonian god
15—Periods of time
17—To dangle
18—Blackbird
20—Lubricator
23—Uncle (Dial.)
24—Good fortune
26—Tardier
28—Unit of electricity
29—Market
31—Rules
33—Grabs
35—Bare
36—Igneous rocks
39—Our national bird
42—For example (abbr.)
43—Large cats
45—To fasten
46—Fishing gadget
48—Deficits
50—Guided
51—Exact
53—Forest
55—Germanium symbol
56—To hurry
59—Wrecker
61—Military stockade
62—English author

DOWN

1—Kind of nut
2—Sun god
3—Single thing
4—Roman despot
5—Chalice
6—Prefix: from
7—Mother
8—Sick
9—Aromatic berry
10—Food fish
11—Dinners
13—Snow vehicles
16—Smelter refuse
19—Images
21—Short jacket
22—Musical show
25—African village
27—Fort
30—Prince of apostate angels
33—Noble
34—To halt
36—Bed on ship
37—Greek market places
38—Frozen rain
40—Faithful subjects
41—Older
44—To stow away
47—Fine dirt
49—Spirit
52—Greek letter
54—Dilute (abbr.)
57—Prefix: upon
58—Compass point
60—Nickel (symb.)

Phantoms, Dolphins Face Tough Opponent In Out Of Town Contests Today

The Sporting Picture

By Billy Carmichael III

Ability Plus

THE WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED DICTIONARY that resides in this office defines a champion as—one who has obtained the formally acknowledged supremcy in any branch of athletics—but even this rather thorough volume does not attempt to tread where the proverbial angels won't and give any formal explanation of just what goes into the makeup of a champion performer.

This makeup is usually quite complex and of course, primarily based on the fundamental concept of any champion—ability. Yet, ability alone makes few champions, and it is on that added factor which you might call—attitude—that one can stop and dwell upon on a dismal Friday afternoon.

The appearance of little Bobby Riggs in Chapel Hill the other night returned the question to mind. Riggs is one of the better tennis champions the country has ever produced, but yet he is probably the most unpopular crown holder the sporting public has ever witnessed. The little one's cockiness and self-esteem coupled with a nasty temper has rubbed the tennis gallery the wrong way since early in his amateur career, and though the mellowing of years and the high stakes the pros pay for closed mouthes and obliging smiles, Riggs is still to be caught off or on the court in anything resembling a halo. Still, he is a champion and in his championship makeup, self-esteem plays a large party in his confident steadiness which in turn results in constant championship play.

Big Talk, Big Jake, Big Game

JACK KRAMER ON THE OTHER HAND, has a different type of attitude which attains the same goal but is found to be a bit on the more pleasing side. Big Jake has the confidence in his game rather than basically himself, which sounds rather confusing but so is the whole question at hand. Kramer has almost an obsession about the power and potentiality of his reknown "Big Game," and contrary to Riggs, believes in selling himself by his performance rather than a lot of small talk and small action.

Both of these performers thrive on one thing and that is the ability to pay off when the chips are on the line. There are many athletes who have exceptional ability, but in competitive action lacks the poise and competitive personality to be a champion. The terrific strain that big time athletics where competition is conducted before huge crowds of many thousands proves too much for many talents athletes, while other less-endowed performers prove the real stars when the payoff arrives.

A true champion should be a champion on the field of play and off of it too. The immortal Lou Gehrig was such a well-rounded gentleman and lives in immortality as a tribute to not only himself, but the game he played.

An example closer to home was portrayed in Chapel Hill only last week. A group of young boys were grouped excitedly around a table of one of the local eating establishments when through the door came their idol, a stocky, collegiate-looking young man of sports fame. Their faces were all a beam as the athlete seated himself at the table, shook hands with each of the boys and signed an ample number of autographs to satisfy the entire crew. He answered their questions with the interest of a teen ager on his first date, and then rose, bade the lot goodbye and adjourned. Such are the offseason chores of ever popular Charlie Justice, Carolina's back of all trades, and a champion in any sense of the word. To him and others like him, such actions are not really chores, but merely part of being a champion.

On the Birth of Champions

That champions are born and not made, is the subject of slight disagreement. Many do not have the advantages that others do, yet they make it the hard way and probably profit more by their efforts. Today, with athletics in the specialized stage they have advanced to in the past two decades, any champion is the result of a blending of ability, attitude and an extra component—hard work in the form of practice. Few realize on sitting in a great football stadium on a September Saturday or watching Bobby Riggs smashing a thrilling overhead placement, the years of work and training that have gone into that single performance.

Once the champion has reached the top, it is twice as hard for him to remain there. Not only is there the hazard of resting on one's laurels, but also the fact that everyone plus his brother is out to see that you don't stay there long enough to catch your breath.

So, a bucket of ice cold branch water to the lads who wear the bejeweled crowns. Their contribution to the American sporting picture is an outstanding one, not only for the rewards they have won on the field of competition, but also for the part they had in development of those who would fight their battles on fields of friendly strife.

Cagers Play Penn In Philly Struggle

By Morty Schaap

Philadelphia, Jan. 23—North Carolina's White Phantoms, current leaders in the Southern conference, take to the Palestra gym floor against the University of Pennsylvania's Quakers in a top-flight intersectional tilt here.

Pennsylvania has been established a four-point favorite over the Southerners. The advantage of playing on a familar court is the main reason for the rating, despite Carolina's fine 12-2 won-lost mark.

Coach Tom Scott's Carolinians didn't impress the northern sports writers in their last appearance here, which resulted in a 61-51 loss to Temple. A convincing Phantom win Saturday night, however, would go a long way toward helping Carolina regain its prestige.

Arrive This Morning

Coach Scott and his 11-man Carolina squad is scheduled to arrive in Philadelphia early Saturday morning. There probably will be no workout before the game.

One big change—even though temporary—is expected to dot the Tar Heel lineup that takes the floor for the start of the game. Johnny Dillon, being used more and more of late, has been named by Coach Scott to open at center in place of Nemo Nearman, who has missed several practices during the wek because of trouble with a wisdom tooth. It will mark the first game that Dillon has started since the middle of the 1947 campaign.

The rest of the initial quintet will have old reliable Bob Paxton and newcomer Coy Carson at the forwards, and sharpshooters Norm Kohler and King Cole at the guards.

Other boys making the trip for Carolina are Taylor Thorne, Rip Ryan, Fred Swartzberg, Roger Scholbe, and Dan Nyimicz.

Carolina paces the Southern conference with five wins in an equal number of starts against loop foes. The wins were scored at the expense of Maryland, South Carolina, Virginia Tech, Washington and Lee, and Wake Forest. The only losses this year were to Temple and NYU.

Those two setbacks were sustained in the last two games, and the Phantoms are hoping to get back to its winning ways tomorrow.

Quakers Tough Foe

Pennsylvania, which is coached by P. M. Kellett, is a member of the Eastern Intercollegiate League and rates among that loop's leading outfits. The Quakers are big and rugged and will prove a tough foe for the Phantoms. In Herb Lyon, 6-4 center, Penn has one of the standout players in the East.

The Quakers are newcomers to the Carolina schedule and the game Saturday marks the first athletic meeting between the schools since the football season of 1944.

JOHNNY DILLON
....to start first game

Both teams should be primed for the game. Carolina hasn't played a game since last Saturday night and has had ample time to rest up. Coach Scott has had his boys working out each day since a Monday layoff, and the Phantoms even got in a few final drills Friday just before boarding a train for Philadelphia.

The team will return to Chapel Hill on Sunday. The next home game will be on Monday night, when Virginia Tech's Gobblers play here. Carolina beat Tech earlier in the season in Virginia.

Devils Host to VPI In SC Clash Tonight

Carolina cage fans will be able to get a line on how the Phantoms will fare against the Duke Blue Devils when the VPI Gobblers meet the Durhamites in Southern conference game tonight in the Tobacco city.

The Gobblers, who lost to Carolina, 39-31, earlier in the season, are now rated as the top quintet in Virginia as the result of victories over William and Mary, the University of Virginia, and Roanoke.

Duke broke its four game losing streak its last time out by defeating Clemson, 80-47.

Top man in the Tech plans is their 6-6 center, Bob Dickson.

Wrestlers Gain 17-13 Decision Over State For Initial Victory

By Buddy Vaden

Carolina's small but potent mat crew downed State college, 17 to 13, last night in Woollen gym as Coach Chuck Quinlan's charges rebounded from the VPI defeat earlier in the week to hit the win column.

Four Carolina decisions and one pin enabled the Tar Heels to take an early lead and stay ahead all the way to cop their first win of the season.

Earlier in the evening, four out of six Blue and White jayvee grapplers won victories in the exhibition matches which preceded the regular dual meet.

Gupton Pins Foe

In one of the feature varsity contests of the evening, 165-pounder Oscar Gupton earned his first pin in college competition by downing State's Otis Rucker in 2:48 of the second period. Originally, Gupton was slated to meet Don Troxler, Southern conference champion, but Troxler injured his shoulder and did not enter the meet.

In another outstanding contest, Phil Kemp won a 6-3 decision over John Poplin in the 145-pound class. This was Kemp's second straight win in varsity competition.

In the 175-pound division, Fred Wagoner of State gained a technical fall over Ray Swigart, who cracked a rib early in the first period and was forced to forfeit the match. This was Swigart's first varsity match.

Carolina gained honors in the 128 and 136-pound classes when Doug Thompson, who recently recovered from a separated rib, and Tom Urquhart decisioned Royston Rudolph, 7-3, and Jack Ratts, 6-0.

Fischer Wins

Only other Tar Heel to hit the win column was Carroll Fisher, who outpointed Douglas Martin in the 155-pound class.

State's Frank Steed and Charles Musser decisioned Carolina's Marvin Wilson, in the 121 division and pinned John Stoioff in the unlimited class.

The preliminary matches showed that the future Tar Heel mat crew will be a squad to keep an eye on. Two of Coach Quinlan's youthful pupils defeated their opponents by pins, while two more decisioned their opponents, not allowing them a single point.

Jayvees Do Well

Tom Gilman made short work of State's Fuller as he pinned him in 1:12 of the first round. Dave Beecher, another Carolina grappler pinned Beale in 1:33 of the third period.

Tom Chatham and Lyne Bond gained prestige by decisioning Coleman Bost, 4-0, and Parneg, 4-0.

The complete varsity scoring:

121—Steed (NCS) decisioned Wilson (UNC), 15-6.

128—Thompson (UNC) decisioned Rudolph (NCS), 7-3.

136—Urquhart (UNC) decisioned Ratts (NCS), 6-0.

145—Kemp (UNC) decisioned Poplin (NCS), 6-3.

155—Fisher (UNC) decisioned Martin (NCS), 8-4.

165—Gupton (UNC) pinned Rucker (NCS) in 2:48 of second period.

175—Wagoner (NCS) defeated Swigart (UNC) (Technical fall in first round).

Unlimited—Musser (NCS) pinned Stoioff (UNC) in 2:12 of second period.

Kramer Evens Series With Washington Win

Philadelphia, Jan. 23 —(UP)— The Riggs-Kramer tennis series is all tied up again.

Behind by one match after losing in Chapel Hil, N. C., Tuesday night, Jack Kramer breezed to a 6-3, 6-4 win over Bobby Riggs in Washington last night and the series arrived here for tonight's match deadlocked at nine wins each.

A capacity crowd of 6,234 was on hand for last night's clash in the Capital, in which Kramer was not too hard pressed in gaining a straight-set victory.

Tonight's match will be their fifth since last Sunday night.

Late Cage Results

N. C. State	110	High Point	50
IU	49	Texas Weslyan	48
Georgia	55	Florida	52
Citadel	52	Clemson	50
Colgate	63	Pitt	46

Track Tickets On Sale Monday

Tickets for the invitational indoor track meet in Woollen gym next month will go on sale Monday morning, Vernon Crook of the Athletic office announced today.

About 2,000 seats are available an dthey will be sold on a first-come first-served basis. Students will be charged 75 cents, plus a coupon from their passbooks, while tickets for the general public will cost $1.50. All seats are reserved.

The annual meet, set for February 28, is expected to draw entries from about 25 colleges throughout the South and as far north as Navy. Over 500 entries are expected to compete in the 12 collegiate events, with five scholastic and four freshman events also on the program.

Carolina's trackmen ran off with the top honors in last year's affair, but Georgia Tech, Maryland, Navy, Duke and N. C. State are expected to give the Tar Heels a closer fight this year.

This will be the fifth season for the invitational meet, and the 24th year that the Southern indoor meet has been held.

Carolina Trackmen Run Far Behind In Fast Philadelphia Inquirer Meet

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

Philadelphia, Jan. 23—It was a sad day for North Carolina track fans tonight. Not one of their five entries in the Philadelphia Inquirer meet placed in any event.

NCAA cross-country champion, Jack Milne, took the lead in the one-mile run midway in the first lap and set the pace until the second half of the race began. At that point, Milne stumbled at one of the turns and rapidly fell behind to finish last. Gerry Karver of Penn State won the race in 4:16.3. Browning Ross of Villanova was second, and Les MacMitchell placed third. Milne ran the first quarter in 1:00.5 and the half in 2:06.

Reggie Pearman of NYU captured the John Borican Memorial 1,000 yard run in 2:20.4. Roscoe Brown of the NYAC finished second while Tar Heel Bob Black followed the field home.

Forest Efaw won the Lawson Robertson two mile run for the third straight year by six inches over Curt Stone in 9:17.6. Johnny Twomey came in third, 10 yards behind the leaders. Carolina's Jimmy Miller failed to place.

The 50-yard high hurdles was unexpectedly close with the national hurdles champ, Harrison Dillard, barely edging Ed Dugger by six inches in 6.4 seconds. Bob Morrow, UNC, was eliminated in the preliminaries.

Meet With Middies Rated as Tossup

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

Annapolis, Jan. 23 —"Remember the 1947 deluge" will be the Blue Dolphin battle cry tomorrow afternoon when the vengeance-seeking North Carolina mermen meet Navy's highly-touted acquatic crew at 3:45 in Dahlgren hall in one of the East's top intercollegiate water battles of the day. Last year the Middies swamped the Tar Heel mermen here 50-25.

The 19-man Tar Heel party arrived here in the middle of the afternoon and Coach Dick Jamerson immediately hustled his boys into the local pool where they hustled through a snappy workout to accustom themselves to their new surroundings. The Dolphins will spend tonight in lodgings on the campus and will head back to Chapel Hill right after tomorrow's splash.

Coach Jamerson disclosed this afternoon that his opening lineup tomorow will depend largely on how the Dolphins are faring as the various events come up but he did release a tentative list of starters.

The meet is rated a tossup on the basis of the comparative times turned in by both teams in their opening meets this season. However, the two squads have put in a lot of work since their previous matches and the probable improved condition of the foes makes the outcome anybody's guess.

The Dolphins were determined after today's warmups to dampen the favored Middies' hopes of an undefeated season by a Tar Heel victory which would even the series at four victories each and break the Ensigns' current two-meet winning streak over the locals.

The probable North Carolina starting lineup:

300 yard medley relay— Thomas (backstroke), Ousley (breaststroke), Greenbaum (free style).

220 yard freestyle—Twining and Morrow.

(See DOLPHINS, Page 4)

Tar Babies Nose Out Newport News 30-29; Seek Fifth Win Against High Point Tonight

By Bill Kellam

There were times in Woollen Gym last night when one wondered whether he was witnessing a basketball game between the Carolina freshmen and Newport News high school or a hardwood version of a Shakespearean comedy; for yesterday evenings' court doings, which were definitely of a farcial nature, coud have very aptly been entitled "A Comedy of Errors."

Newport Rally Fails

The score, which assumed a place of minor importance when viewed alongside the numerous comic aspects of the contest, finally amounted to 30-29 in favor of Jim Hamilton's freshman quintet. The visitors, who staged a last half rally that almost copped the contest, blew the game by missing three foul shots in the last two minutes of play. Previously they had made good 11 out of 12 chances at the foul line.

Tonight the Tar Babies meet High Point High School's highly touted cagers in Woollen Gym at 8 o'clock.

Any resemblance between the type of ball that Hamilton's charges played last night as they racked up their fourth straight win and the brand usually displayed by them was almost entirely coincidental for the yearling hoopsters attack was almost pathetic as they missed numerous close-in shots all evening.

JIM HAMILTON
....from player to coach

Ferraro Shines

Hal Ferraro's deadly jump shots were about the only bright spot in the local's offense. The scrappy Kansan, who paced the frosh with nine points' also turned in an excellent performance under the boards. John Tsantes, who also did some capable rebounding and passing from the pivot, was way off form with his shooting — especially from the foul line where he tossed away eight out of eight chances.

The Tar Babies jumped to a 2-0 lead over Bill White's one hand set after two minutes of the game had elapsed and were headed only once afterwards although the issue was very much in doubt during the last quarter. Newport News tied it up midway in the second period, 10-10, and went ahead on Almo Stephenson's set, 12-10, but it was Ferraro who came through with a follow up push and a charity toss to give the yearlings their permanent advantage.

Tar Babies Spurt

A couple of minutes later, Tsantes and White paced the game-winning Tar Baby offen-

(See FROSH, Page 4)

Nothing Like it in Chapel Hill ! !

The T. V. S. C. takes pleasure in bringing you a unique and absorbing floor show. You don't want to miss it!

The Gordon Twins and Jimmy–two harmonicas and a guitar

Riqui Casino – Latin-American song styist

Panchita–Flamencan dancer

Don Draper–pantomine artist

CECIL McCLEES and his ORCHESTRA

$2.50 Minimum including Federal Tax

Frst Show 9:30 Late Show 11:00

TERRACE VIEW SUPPER CLUB

VILLAGE

TODAY

Wild Heather Angel
John Carradine Ralph Forbes
Clarence Muse
Also
Cartoon — Novelty

PHILCO RADIOS
Sales and Repairs
Ogburn Furniture Co.
312-314 W. Franklin
Phone 5841

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 5B

MUST SELL TWO PEDIGREED Cocker Spaniel puppies. Can be seen at Nathan Veternary Hospital on Durham Road. Owner T. W. Oliver, Box 1104. (1-1666-1)

TRAILER, 1942 RED ARROW 24-ft (less than 2 years old) containing: overstuffed chair, platform rocker, carpeted floor and venitian blinds Sleeps 2. $1095. No. 246 B-V-P- Trailer Court. (1-1672-1)

NEW CINDER BLOCK HOME, 4 ROOMS AND bath, city water, electricity, large wooded lot, desirable location. Matthew Kelly, Airport Rd Also Model A Ford Convertible (1-1671-1)

ONE TRAILER WITH PORCH. MUST sell this week. Will sell to person making best offer, cash or terms. See Brooks, No. 9 University Trailer Court. (1-1655-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6bb

1938 FORD, TUDOR SEDAN, RADIO—good tires. Caston Motor Company, F-3896. (ch 1x1)

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

TWO BLOCKS WEST OF CITY HALL
You'll Find A Solution To All Laundry Problems
HELPY-SELFY
AUTOMATIC LAUNDRY
Bendix Machines
W. Rosemary St.

AMONG THE ARRIVALS on the S. S. Sobieski in New York was Ferruccio Burco, 8, of Naples, Italy. Believed to be the youngest conductor in the world, Ferruccio koes into action for the cameraman. He'll direct a 100-man symphony orchestra at Carnegie Hall on Feb. 28. (International)

Campus Calendar

10:00 a. m.—Band Clinic, Hill hall.
11:00 a. m.—Student Activities committee, Roland Parker no. 1.
5:00 p. m.—Bingo session, main lounge of Graham Memorial.

—LIST—

(Continued from page 1)

Billy S.:

Johns, Robert E.; Johnson, Frederick W.; Kemp, Bernard A.; Kornegay, Edwin L.; Lawrence, Roy H.; Leigh, James M.; Lenz, Henry Paul; Levin, Abner Bruce; Lewis, Coy Stephen; Lewis, Ira O.; Lowe, Walter A.; McClary, Robert A.; McDuffie, James C.; MacKirdy, Lawrence H.; Mitchell, Robert S.;

Overcarsh, Calvin S.; Owen Frank R., Jr.; Parks, Vivian Archer; Pattison, Charles; Pearson, Thomas E.; Peters, Clarence J.; Phillips, Harry C.; Roberts, Frank G.; Roberts, Harold L.; Roller, Charles E.; Schenck, David; Scott, Don E., Jr.; Seixas, E. Victor; Sellers, Eric S.; Smoak, William W.; Smyre, Hal D.; Stanley, Le Roy, Stansbury, Hudson.

Thompson, William Reid; Todd, Delma Houston; Touton, Frederick R.; Truitt, James; Tucker, Ernest W.; Wallace, Richard D.; Ward, Raymond S.; Watson, John C.; West, John W.; White, Henry A.; Williams, Howard A.; Williamson, Stephen E.; Wilson, William M.; Wood, James H.; Yountz George T.; Ziglar, James F.; Zimmerman, Frank.

In addition to the dean's list the following students averaged a "B" on their work:

Aiken, Elven T.; Andrew, Thomas Luther; Archer, George K.; Brantley, Richard S.; Brenegar, Edwin R.; Broth, Robert T. Browning, Amos J.; Bullock Raymond P.; Byers, John W.; Cameron, William; Currie, Donald A.; Daily, Blair L.; Daniels, William W.; Fountain, Betsy; Foust, Ben; Fulk, George W.;

Gammage, Charles K.; Garvey Fred K.; Golding, Henry W.; Grogan, Dean G.; Guyer, Garfield W.; Hanna, Oba T.; Harris, Donald J.; Holden, Thomas E.; Hollyday, William M.; Huffman, Garland F.; Hutton, Joseph M.; Jones, Louis C.; Joyner, James S.; Kenion E. Oliver;

Larew, Hugh S.; Lattimore Samuel T.; Lawrence, Simon S.; Leonard, Gilbert G.; Lewis, David W.; McGee, Jack E.; McKinne, Philip; McLeod, George R.; Melvin, Leon; Morris, Jesse C.; Mullis, James R.; Overman, Robert S.; Palmer, Hugh A.; Petteway, Alton; Pleuthner, Robert W.;

Reynolds, Henry, Jr.; Rice, Nevin J.; Robertson, William; Robinson, David J.; Ruehlen, Robert N.; Schwabacher, Alva D.; Tyndall, Earl H.; Walker, Harry G.; Watson, Robert M.; Wilson, James C.; Wisebram, Joshua H.; Yount, William H.

—AWARDS—

(Continued from page 1)

He has been at the University of Kentucky since that time, serving as visiting professor at Duke, UNC, Tennessee, Rochester and Chicago.

His books include "A Pioneer Railroad, New Orleans to Cairo"; "A History of Kentucky"; "The Rampaging Frontier"; and "Pills, Petticoats and Plows".

This morning the final session of the 23rd annual association meeting will take place. A breakfast will be held honoring past president and special pins will be presented to all living past-presidents of the association.

W. E. Horner will preside, the principal address will be delivered by Herbert Peele of Elizabeth City, immediate past president of the NCPA.

Elections for the coming year will be held before adjournment.

—DOLPHINS—

(Continued from page 3)

50 yard freestyle—Drew and Osborne.

Diving—Sper and Erle.

100 yard freestyle—Twining and Greenbaum.

150 yard backstroke—Thomas and Sper or Bippart.

200 yard breaststroke—Cook and Ousley.

440 yard freestyle—Morrow and Hutton or Norwood.

400 yard freestyle relay—(four of following) Twining, Greenbaum, Drew, Osborne, Pell, Mericka, or Sper.

Crowded Schools No Fault of Vet

Cleveland —(UP)— Contrary to popular belief, government ubsidy of veterans is not the main cause of high college enrollment, but only a contributing factor, a memorandum prepared by the late president of Fenn College two days before his death said.

Surveys show the average veteran would have entered college anyway, Dr. C. V. Thomas said. He pointed out that going to college is becoming part of the social pattern—becoming contagious and likely to be as common as secondary education once was.

In conclusion, he pointed out that there are 2,338,226 college students today and predicted that after 1960 there would be upwards of 3,000,000 persons seeking a higher education annually.

Terribly Tiny Midgets Might Find A Home in Exhibit Here

By Margaret Gaston

The housing shortage is partially eased, at least for exceptionally small midgets, by the combined efforts of four architectural firms. Proof of this may be obtained by a visit to Person Hall Art Gallery sometime before January 27, to view "Modern House Comes to Life," which features, among other things, one-inch scale models of two living areas and two doll-size interiors.

One interior features three rooms and a closed terrace. The living room contains the conventional furniture including a grand piano, chairs, sofa, rugs, lamps, tables, and curtains. The windows, a broad expanse of glass, face the terrace, and enable the spectator to view the interior from any angle. At the rear of the dining room there is a stairway, which gives the illusion that this flat roof house has a basement.

Sponge Hedges

Surrounding the model house is a terrace with a tree growing in the middle of it, and also a grass yard terrace. Green sponges are used to make the hedge surrounding the terrace. Flowers, potted plants, and vegetation climbing up the side of the house, add even more to the authenticity of the model.

The other interior is made up of a library, dining room, living room terrace, and grass terrace.

Conception of Size

That the model of the grand piano is only five inches long gives some conception of the size of the model furniture elements. Books in the library, the size of postage stamps, carry titles, and a copy of the "New York Times" on the coffee table reports real news in microscopic print. A fire is made in the miniature fire place; cigarette boxes, ash trays, and glasses are on the table. Even paintings, which hang in the library and dining room, have not been omitted.

"Modern House Comes to Life" is prepared by the Bertha Schaeffer Galleries.

—IKE—

(Continued from page 1)

some say they are confused.

Unofficial nation-wide polls claim that General Ike could defeat President Truman if the elections was held now. Although democrats are not saying much on the wartime leader's statement, there are wide grins on official faces at the white house.

Supporters of General Douglas MacArthur haven't commented either, on Eisenhower's statement that military men should stay out of politics, except under the most extraordinary circumstances.

Nor is there any comment from the office of New York's governor Dewey, a leading contender for the GOP nomination. However, congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio, who is managing the campaign of Senator Taft, said General Ike's statement is comparable to the famous 12 words of General William T. Sherman in 1884, "If nominated I will not accept. If elected, I will not serve."

Calvin Coolidge used 12 words in refusing to run in 1927. General Marshall's refusal was 129 words. Eisenhower's statement was 801 words. But like Sherman, Coolidge and Marshall, Ike's also made up to one word:—"No."

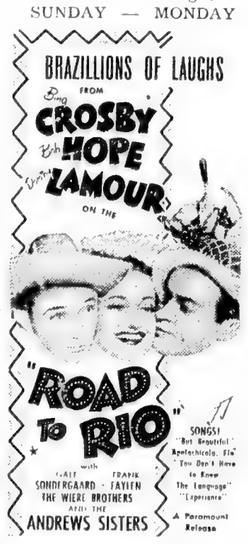
—FROSH—

(Continued from page 3)

sive outburst that ran the score to 22-13 at the intermission. Only with the greatest difficulty did the locals manage to outlast the second-winded Typhoons in the final two periods as the visitors, paced by Markos' set shots, closed the count to 28-24 at the end of the third quarter only to blow themselves out in the last period.

Newport News' rather excitable mentor, Julie Conn, put on a one-man variety act along the sidelines throughout the match with his frantic shouts of advice, encouragement, and other unmentionables. His vociferous antics were merely another feature to the night's hilarious doings.

The box score:



Carolina (30)	Pos	(29) Newport
Gregory (6)	RF	(1) Presson
Ferraro (9)	LF	Taylor
Tsantes (4)	C	(10) Jones
White (5)	RG	(11) Steph'son
Gilmore (2)	LG	(7) Markos

Subs-Carolina: Lebed (4). Morrison, Terrell.
Newport News: Panayotis.

-Also-
SPORTLIGHT

Late Show Tonight
SUNDAY — MONDAY

CAROLINA THEATRE

University Service Station
Odis Pendergraft Prop.
TEXACO

WHITE HOUSE Evaporated MILK 3 Tall Cans 37c

Ann Page Gelatin Desserts SPARKLE 3 Pkgs. 19c

Ann Page Peanut BUTTER 1-Lb. Jar 35c

Sultana MINT JELLY 12-Oz. Jar 17c

Ann Page Vanilla EXTRACT 1-Oz. Bot. 17c

FRESH CROPS AT Refreshing Prices!

"Naturally fresher . . . naturally better!" . . . that's what you'll call the fresh fruits and vegetables at your A&P Super Market. For they're harvested fresh, delivered fresh, sold fresh! Come see the wide variety today . . . and note the refreshing prices.

Rome Cooking Apples	3 lbs	25c
String Beans	lb	17c
Green Cabbage	2 lbs	11c
Carrots	2 bunches	19c
Cucumbers	2 lbs	35c
Large Stalk Celery		17c
Collard Greens, Turnip Greens, Mustard Greens	2 lbs	25c
Maine Potatoes	10 lbs	49c
Yellow Squash	lb	23c
Tomatoes	lb carton	33c
New Red Bliss Potatoes	2 lb	10c

PEAS STANDARD PACK Packer's Label 3 No. 2 Cans 29c RELIABLE 2 No. 2 Cans 35c

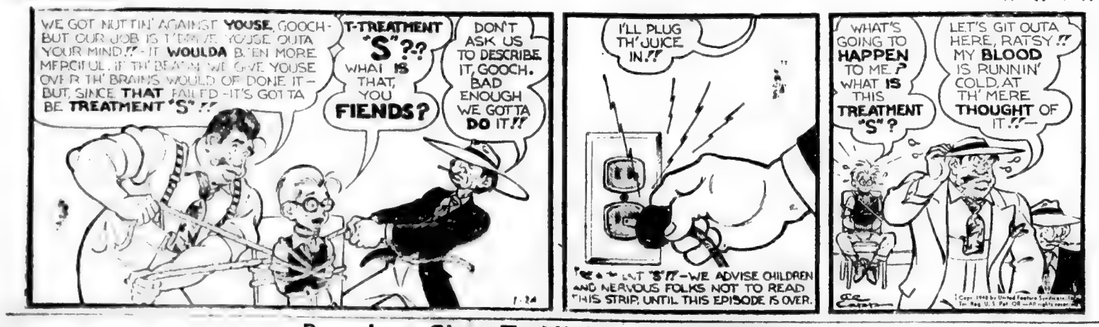
A&P SUPER MARKETS

PRESERVES	Ann Page Pineapple or Apricot	1-Lb. Jar	25c
FRUIT COCKTAIL	Sultana	No. 2½ Can	39c
CHOCOLATES	Warwick Assorted Candy	1-Lb. Box	55c
IONA CORN	Golden or White Cream Style	No. 2 Can	17c

SULTANA PEAS	Small Sifted 2	No. 2 Cans	29c
PEANUT BUTTER	Holsum Peanut Crunch	1-Lb. Jar	39c
GRAHAM CRACKERS	Nabisco	1-Lb. Pkg.	27c
OVALTINE		6-Oz. Pkg.	38c
WHEATIES		8-Oz. Pkg.	14c
INSTANT RALSTON		18-Oz. Pkg.	27c
MORTON'S SALT 2		26-Oz. Pkgs.	17c
CORN MEAL	Crutchfield's	5-Lb. Pkg.	45c
QUAKER OATS		20-Oz. Pkg.	16c
HOT ROLL MIX	Duff's	Pkg.	25c
PIE APPLES	Comstock	No. 2 Can	21c
CHERRIES	Altmore Red Sour Pitted	No. 2 Can	27c
GRAPE JUICE	Welch's	Pt. Bot.	25c
WOODBURY SOAP		Bar	11c
LIMITED QUANTITIES
SPAGHETTI	Ann Page Prepared 2	16-Oz. Cans	23c

California Yellow Cling Iona PEACHES . . . . . No. 2½ Can 25c
Flour Self-Rising PILLSBURY . . . . 5-Lb. Bag 56c
Ann Page Spaghetti or MACARONI . . . 3 8-Oz. Pkgs. 25c
Mild American CHEESE . . . . . Lb. 53c
Ann Page Blended SYRUP . . . . . Pt. Bot. 25c
Sunnyfield Flour For PANCAKES . . . . 20-Oz. Pkg. 13c
Nectar TEA BAGS . . . . . 48-Ct. Pkg. 41c
A&P Whole Peeled or Halves Unpeeled APRICOTS . . . . . No. 2½ Can 29c
Golden Maid MARGARINE . . . . 1-Lb. Pkg. 36c

Fine Meats



T-Bone Steaks	lb	95c
Sirloin Steaks	lb	89c
Boneless Round Steaks	lb	95c
Chuck Roast	lb	63c
Standing Rib Roast	lb	69c
Boneless Rump Roast	lb	85c
Morrell Pride Bacon	lb	83c
Pure Pork Sausage	lg	60c
Tender (Whole or Half) Smoked Ham	lb	67c
Smoked (Heckless) Picnic Ham	lb	53c

Fresh Hens and Fryers—Seafoods

MILD AND MELLOW COFFEE
8 O'CLOCK Lb. Bag 40c • 3 1-Lb. Bag $1.15
RED CIRCLE Rich & Full Bodied 1-lb. Bag 43c
BOKAR Vigorous & Winey 1-lb. Bag 45c
MARVEL BREAD 16-Oz. Loaf 15c 16-Oz. Loaf 14c

OCTAGON SOAP 10c
LIMITED QUANTITIES
OCTAGON SOAP FLAKES Pkg. 38c
LIMITED QUANTITIES
SOAP PALMOLIVE 2 Reg. Bars 21c
LIMITED QUANTITIES
SUPER SUDS Lge. Pkg. 38c
LIMITED QUANTITIES

LI'L ABNER By Al Capp

Beerology Class To-Night — At HARRY'S

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Considerable cloudiness; possible slight rise in temperature this afternoon.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
Dr. Frank Resign?
Inflation and Taxes
DTH Society Section

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SUNDAY, JANUARY 15, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 83

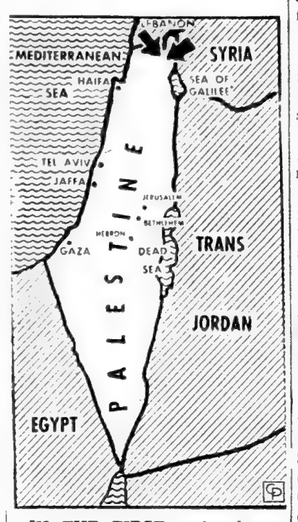
Y Organizations Open Clothing Drive Today

By Audrey Blackburn

Today marks the official opening of the clothing drive sponsored by the YWCA, YMCA, and student church groups started in order to send clothing, bedding, shoes, and other articles to war-torn countries of Europe. The drive will be continued throughout the week.

It is being headed by Sunny Sunstrom and Gene Turner.

Only collection in Victory Village and the trailer courts will be made this afternoon, in connection with the community clothing drive now being sponsored by Chapel Hill churches. Articles to be donated should be placed in bundles near the curb, and Boy Scouts and trucks will pick them up after 2 o'clock today.



Student church groups will be in charge of collections from dormitories and sorority and fraternity houses, which will be made on Wednesday and on Friday.

Solicitor for the drive in girls' dormitories and sorority houses is Ginny Nash; John Hough, Jr. is heading collections in mens' dormitories and Gene Turner heads collections in fraternity houses.

Solicitors Listed

Women solicitors who will collect from each dormitory are: Martha Rainsford, Alderman; Adelaide McLardy, Kenan; Babs Kerr, McIver; Virginia Nash, Spenser; Lola Mustard, Carr; Elizabeth Browning, Smith; Marietta Duke, Chi Omega; Ruth Byrum, Pi Phi; Pat Lane, Tri Delt; Lynn Currie, AD Pi; Barbara Poole, Alpha Gam; and Ann Anderson, Archer.

Men solicitors are Bill Haltiwanger, Jr. and Andy Williams, Jr., Miller; Harry Buchanan, and Garrett Fitzgibbons, Nash; Sid Booth, Old West; Wicky Andrews, Whitehead; J. D. Foust, Battle; Al Borth, Vance; Bill Powell, Pettigrew; Riman Muth, Manley; Tom Smith, Mangum; Stover Dunagan, Ruffin; Al Bennot and Homer Hudson, Grimes; Chic Burroughs, Aycock; John Rosser, Graham; Emile Saleeby, Stacy; Don Robertson, Everett; Coye Rodgers, Lewis; Raymond Maxwell, Old East; Max Coole, Steele; and Dick Bowen, Quonset huts.

IN THE FIRST major invasion of Palestine, six hundred Arab guerillas have attacked scattered Jewish towns in Upper Galilee from the direction of Lebanon and Syria (arrows on map above) in an attempt to cut off the extreme northeast thumb of the Holy Land. British troops, aided by Jewish defense units, are reported to have forced the Arab forces to withdraw across the border. (International)

New Play Tryouts Begin on Tuesday

Tryouts for three new student written one-act plays to be produced by the Carolina Playmakers will be held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Playmaker theatre, it was disclosed late yesterday by Samuel Seldon, director of the Playmakers.

The new plays, which are to be presented on the evenings of February 5 and 6, will be cast following tryouts, and rehearsals will start immediately.

The first of the 120th bill of student written plays will be "The Terrapin Sticks Its Neck Out" by Robert Rolnik. It will be directed by graduate student Mildred Howard. The second play is "Au Fond du Coeur" by James Geiger, directed by graduate student James Moos, and the final play will be "Morning Dialogue" by John Wills. It will be directed by Elizabeth Dawson.

Pre-Parenthood Course

A "Pre-Parenthood Study Course" for Chapel Hill women will start Monday, January 26 at 3 o'clock, according to Dr. O. David Garvin, District Health Officer. The Study Course, under the sponsorship of the Health Department will be held at the Health Department on old Frat row on Monday afternoons for ten weeks.

FOOD DOLLAR TALK

Dr. James C. Andrews, head of the Bio-Chemistry department in the School of Medicine, will lecture on "How To Get the Most Out of Your Food Dollar" in the Medical school auditorium Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Compact Campus March Of Dimes Drive To Open Tomorrow

State Covered With Blanket Of Snow, Sleet

From United Press Wire Reports

It looks like some Tar Heels who took off for home Friday afternoon might not be around for 8 o'clock classes tomorrow morning.

According to latest weather information from the wires of United Press, the deluge of snow and sleet which has struck the state may stay around for a while yet, if temperature predictions ring true.

Weathermen say that the thermometer may drop to as low as 10 degrees sometime early this morning, and stay low until late in the afternoon, when they see a little relief, but no warm weather, at any rate.

Chapel Hill's record low is 16 degrees, recorded early yesterday morning, but today's forecast drop may top that yet. A steady temperature of about 18 degrees prevailed throughout most of the day and early yesterday evening.

Seven-tenths of an inch of snow had fallen in the 24 hours tabulated from 8 o'clock last night, but with the mercury hanging low, it remained dry and powdery, paralyzing most traffic here as well as over the rest of North Carolina.

The state highway patrol has warned motorist to stay off the roads unless travel is absolutely necessary, since almost all highways are covered with snow and ice. They add that there is little chance that they will be cleared this weekend.

In Charlotte, where 'snow flurries" were the weather prediction for yesterday, the weatherman apologetically stated that he hadn't made a mistake, it had just "flurried a little more than he had expected—enough more to bury the entire Charlotte area in a four to six-inch blanket by early yesterday afternoon, with the snow still sifting down when nightfall came.

The rest of the state is having approximately the same trouble, with light snow and sleet still being received in the interior up to midnight, and the coast getting the full brunt of a freezing rain. A possible low temperature of eight degrees was expected in some regions.

Asheville was recording 18 degrees yesterday, and suffering under a six-inch blanket of snow, while the mercury tumbled to 12 degrees in Winston-Salem.

Faults of South Will Be Argued By Coed Jurists

Negligence in upholding its duty to the remainder of the country is the charge on which the South as a region will be put on trial at tomorrow afternoon's Coed Get-Together. Court will convene at 5 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial, and all coeds are invited.

Presiding justice Jo Fischel is chairman of the YWCA Public Affairs committee, sponsors of the program. The jury will be impaneled from coeds attending the trial.

Prosecuting attorney Edie Knight will attempt to prove that the negligence of the South has served to pull down the standards of the country in education, political integrity, and economic well-being. Defense attorney Pat Carruthers will attempt to show that the causes of low standards in the South can be traced to events over which the South had little control, such as the plantation system established by early English settlers, and the Civil War and the reconstruction period following it. The defense will also point out ways in which these conditions can be and are being remedied.

Witnesses will be members of the Public Affairs committee, who have been studying the problems during the last quarter. Mary Anne Daniel will discuss economic problems; Patsy McNutt, education; Barbara Dalton, political demogogues; Jean McKeithan, housing; and Anne Wells, fascist tendencies.

Dr. Nash Delivers Episcopal Sermon

The Reverend Arnold Nash, D.D., head of the recently established department of religion will deliver the sermon at 11 o'clock services in the Episcopal church today.

Dr. Nash docked at New York Friday night and was reported returning to Chapel Hill yesterday from London, England, where he attended the Quadrennial conference of the British Student Christian movement.

At the conference Dr. Nash, who was one of two Americans present, conducted the section on religion in higher education.

Mikado Will Open Two-Day Run Friday; Cast of Fifty Stubents Will Take Stage

When "The Mikado", Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera, opens for a two-day run Friday, a cast of 50 will take the stage. The group includes students from nearly every section of North Carolina and from many southern states.

"The Mikado", which is being staged jointly by the Playmakers and the Music department, is generally considered the masterpiece of the famous Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera team. When it opened in London, it played for 672 performances, which was practically unheard of in the 1880 period. It was recently revived in New York by the D'Oyly Carte company from London. The production here is being directed by Lynn Gault, Playmaker scene designer, who served with the Army in Korea during and shortly after the war. Gault also designed the setting for the comic opera. He says "it is authentic as we can make it, even to the tiles on the roof tops." Gordon R. Bennett, Knoxville, Tenn., is supervising the construction of the scenery, and Paul Young, of the Music department is directing the musical side of the production. Irene Smart, staff costumer, has designed the costumes, which are to be completed by students in the dramatic art courses.

The final cast list of the principal characters include Burton B. Hampton, Jr., Clemmons, as "The Mikado"; Carl Perry, Schoolfield, Va., as "Nanki-Poo"; Tal D. Smith, Burlington, as "Go-To"; Andrew Griffith, Mount Airy, as "Ko-Ko"; Sam Greene, Jr., Mooresboro, as "Pish-Tush"; Sam Hirsch, Trenton, N. J., as "Poo-Bah"; Barbara Edwards, Troy, as "Yum-Yum"; Virginia Johnson, Hamlet, as "Pitti-Sing"; Ferne Hughes, Rainelle, W. Va., as "Peep-Bo"; and Catherine Covington, Winston-Salem, as "Katisha".

'Little Turk' Puzzled by Political Query

"Are you a Republican?" the voice demanded over the phone.

"Yes, sir," came the slightly startled reply.

"Well, this is Dean Weaver, and it's as hard to find a Republican around here as it is to find a Communist!"

Al Moore, sophomore from Doylestown, Pennsylvania, puzzled over the situation for a minute, but it was soon explained to him that one Mr. MacDonald, an instrumental figure in the establishment of the Republican club at Duke university, was interested in founding one at Carolina.

The object is to pick some student to speak at a GOP dinner to be held in honor of Abraham Lincoln's birthday on February 12.

Al, better known around the ATO house as "Little Turk," still can't figure out how Dean Weaver knew he was a Republican.

Martin, Saunders, Friedland Speak For Henry Wallace

Answering the program topic, "Why I Support Wallace,"a student veteran and two wives of student veterans spoke for support of the third party candidate at the Friday night meeting of the Wallace for President club.

David Martin, Mrs. Sandra Saunders and Mrs. Doris Friedland spoke against attacks upon civil liberties, bipartisan foreign policy, the Marshall plan, and antagonism towards a third party movement.

Martin noted specifically the attacks made upon civil liberties which, he said, have occured since the death of Roosevelt. He added that the administration has failed to do anything about these attacks.

Mrs. Saunders spoke against the bipartisan foreign policy in general and the Marshall plan. She presented Wallace's arguments that the Marshall plan is designed "to interfere in the social, economic and political affairs of the countries receiving aid." She also presented Wallace's alternative of aid through United Nations agencies with emphasis upon those countries which suffered most from aggression.

Emphasizing a point that the old-line parties have left the people no other choice but to organize a new party, if only to register a protest vote against their policies, Mrs. Friedland stated that it is possible to elect a progressive group of Wallace upporters in Congress in 1948. She said this would insure a balance of power for the people.

Polio Fighters Seeking Double Last Year's Total

By Donald MacDonald

"Twice the money in half the time" is the slogan of the 1948 March of Dimes canvass which begins on the Carolina campus tomorrow. Shorter than any one of the four campaigns which the Daily Tar Heel has sponsored in the past years, the drive ending Friday is designed to double the $1,600 gained from student donations in two weeks' time last year.

Prizes of theater tickets to the individuals of the dormitory, sorority and fraternity house which has the highest percentage of donations, will be given by E. Carrington Smith, chairman of the Orange county drive and manager of the Carolina theater. Barron Mills, DTH editor and chairman of the campus campaign, made the announcement yesterday.

Date for which the theater tickets will be honored will be disclosed with the announcement of winners.

"Each of the above residences which comes closest to a 100-per cent participation will be awarded the prizes," said Mills. "In addition, several divisions have been made in Victory Village and the division there attaining the highest participation will also be given a 'theater party'." Dan Sapp is the chairman who will supervise the soliciting of funds in the Victory Village area.

Soliciting of student residences will begin tomorrow, said Mills, and will last for a five-day period. In addition, coin containers will be placed in the "Y" soda fountain, Lenoir hall, the Scuttlebutt and the Army store.

Coed Miriam Evans, president of Smith dormitory, is the chairman, of the women's division of the campaign, and will supervise the soliciting of all women's residences, including sorority houses off campus.

"We had hoped to have a President's ball at the close of the drive," said Mills, "but the plans were cancelled because several of the fraternities have scheduled next weekend as pledge weekend."

Barron Mills, DTH editor, is chairman of the 1948 March of Dimes campaign which begins for five days on campus tomorrow. The canvass will attempt to double last year's donation to the infantile paralysis charity in half the time.

Dance Committee Talks Trimmings

Plans for a set of permanent decorations to be available to all legitimate dance sponsoring organizations at Carolina were considered by the University Dance committee at a meeting held Thursday night.

No final decision was reached during the discussion, although representatives of the administration were present to offer their cooperation in the purchase of the decorations. Also present were representatives of the dance sponsoring organizations who were called in for their opinions of the advisability of the move.

According to Gus Johnston, chairman of the committee, under the plan decorations for both the men's and women's gymnasiums would be purchased and retained for re-use. This would save money for all of the organizations concerned, he said.

If the plans are carried through, the gyms will be permanently wired, and the necessity for making new arrangements for each dance would be obviated. The equipment would, Johnston pointed out, not be kept in the gym, but could be stored here ready for use when needed.

The only apparent drawback would be the similarity between the decorations used at various dances.

The Dance committee also decided at the meeting to tighten up the enforcement of the dance rules. Although this stricter enforcement will apply to all of the regulations, one committee member stated that it would apply particularly to the regulations pertaining to alcohol consumption.

ADPi Initiation

The following coeds were initiated into the Alpha Delta Pi sorority on Saturday morning: Rita Adams, Iris Bost, Frances Angas, Doris Beasley, Mary Lloyd Craddock, Sara Jane Farlow, Betsy Fountain, Gayle Hancock, Martha Manning, Katherine McMillan, Edie Knight, Helen Phillips, Carolyn Roper, Shelley Roper, Nancy Shields, Helen Stephenson, Ann Wheeler, Mary Lou Williams and Merrily Brooks.

Marilyn Strohkorb of Richmond, Virginia, was pledged to Alpha Delta Pi on Wednesday, January 21. A costume party was held at the sorority house Wednesday night for the actives and pledges.

Friday night the ADPi's held their pledge dance in the Carolina Inn ballroom. "Hearts and Flowers" was the theme for the occasion.

UWF Radio Program

"It Is Later Than You Think" is the title of a new weekly radio program first presented this afternoon by the University chapter of United Federalists at 5 o'clock over WDUK, Durham, 1310 kilocycles.

'University Of Sea' Delves Into Life Of Shrimp

By R. W. Madry

Since shrimp swim easily and there are no fences in the ocean, you might think they would be wandering widely over the seven seas.

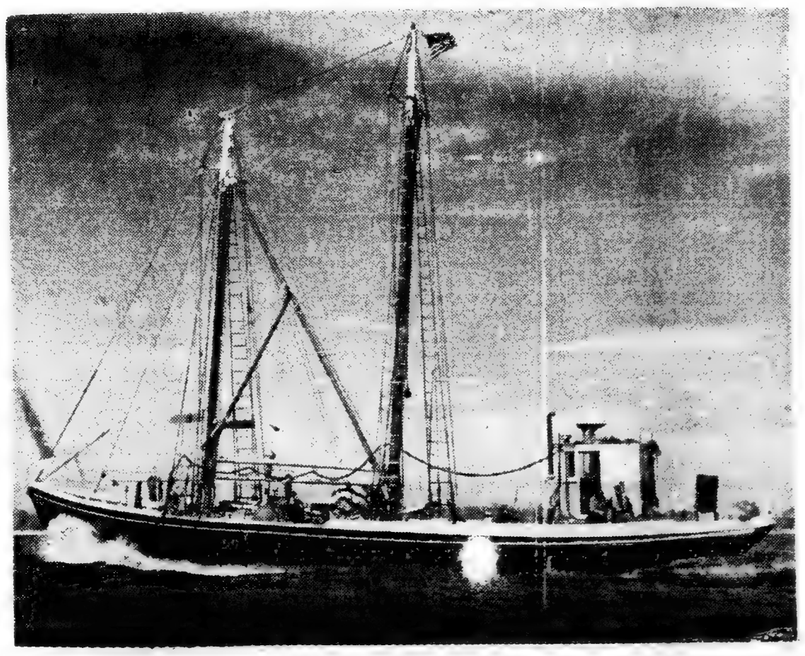
But they don't. They are not everywhere. Like human beings, they have their favorite haunts.

Down in Louisiana several years ago, shellfish experts discovered after much investigation, that the shrimp in that area, once they had passed the breeding stage, retired to a certain area where they spent the rest of their lives. These shrimp were found to be bigger and fatter than the others and consquently more desirable.

$64 Question

Shrimp seem to be in certain regions at certain times, but where? That's the $64 question that the recently organized Institute for Fisheries Research and Development of the University, in cooperation with the State Department of Conservation and Development, is going to attempt to answer in the near future, as far as the North Carolina coast is concerned.

The project will be the first major job of the Institute, which was established last September by the Trustees of the University, with Dr. R. E. Coker as director, although a Survey of Marine Fisheries of North Carolina, onducted by the University, has been in progress for the last two years, with a number of authorities participating, and a comprehensive report of its work is expected this spring.



This Marine Fisheries Survey was made possible by gifts of $12,000 each from the General Education Board and George Lurcy, an alumnus of New York City.

Million $ Project

The Shrimp Survey will actually mark the launching of a million-dollar project, for the Institute, if you take into consideration the aggregate value of appropriations made by the State and the Knapp Foundation, and the land, buildings, and equipment donated by the State and Federal governments.

For another immediate project of the Institution and the Department of Conservation and Development is "to manage, restore, develop, cultivate, conserve, and rehabilitate the oyster, clam, scallop, and other bivalve resources of Eastern North Carolina by qualified, specialized personnel."

The big idea, of course, is to make available to North Carolinians an additional source of food supply and industrial profit.

The "Reliance", large seagoing schooner, has been secured rent free to conduct a survey of the state's shrimp resources under the direction of the Institute for Fisheries Research and Development of the University in cooperation with the State Department of Conservation and Development. It is a Navy vessel on lease to the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution.

Large Schooner Secured

For the shrimp survey the Institute has been fortunate in securing rent free a large seagoing schooner, the "Reliance", a Navy vessel on lease to the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution. Several expert oceanographers and a highly valuable lot of specialized oceanographic equipment have also been included in the deal through the cooperation of the Hydrographic Office of the Navy and the Woods Hole Institution.

William Wells of Southport, chairman of the State Shrimp Survey Commission, who was largely instrumental in securing the $50,000 appropriation, and Louis Hardee of Southport, a member of the Commission, recently went to Woods Hole to examine the 85-foot craft which is expected to arrive in Morehead by the middle of February. They reported the Navy boat is equipped with scientific equipment needed for the survey, valued at several hudred thousand dollars.

Sleeping facilities of the boat will be expanded to accomodate 18 persons. The craft will operate on a 24-hour schedule, making it necessary for three shifts to be used.

Should Frank Graham Resign?

(Editor's Note: The Daily Tar Heel today reprints Weimar Jones' editorial which was awarded first prize in the Non-Daily Division of the recent North Carolina Press Institute competition. We believe that the editorial is of particular interest to Carolina students since it is, we think, a clear presentation of Dr. Graham, concerning whose tenure as President of the Greater University of North Carolina there has been considerable discussion recently.

Mr. Jones' editorial appeared in The Franklin Press. The editor entered the University in 1913 and since that time has spent 30 years in North Carolina newspaper work. He is a veteran of both World Wars and headed the North Carolina division of OWI during World War Two.)

Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, long has been the target of criticism—usually voiced in private—by a few North Carolina conservatives. Now someone has said, openly and in print, what these conservatives have whispered among themselves for years.

Writing in The West Ashville News, Fred Severance flatly says that Dr. Graham should resign; the University president has associated too much with "Red agitators", the News declares.

Let us assume, for a moment, that Dr. Graham has shown himself too sympathetic with Communists, and that, therefore, he should resign. If that suggestion should be followed to its logical conclusion, it might have far-reaching repercussions. For, if Communist sympathizers in official positions should resign, by the same token those with Fascist sympathies likewise should step down. A Fascist is one who distrusts the people, and who, in his heart, believes that the job of governing the people is one for a few higher-ups. He considers efficiency more important than self-government. Persons who think that way are Fascist-minded, no matter what their political affiliation.

Now if every Fascist-minded public official in North Carolna should resign, the exodus would be such as has never been seen in this state!

* * *

Frank Graham, of course, is no Communist; Mr. Severance himself admits as much. Nor is he a Communist sympathizer.

But the News editorial declares—and some conservatives will applaud the sentiment—that "a little liberalism, as well as learning, is a dangerous thing", and it adds that "the crying need of the hour is a return to old-fashioned virtues such as honor, industry, thrift, love of freedom, spiritual values. . ."

And how does the president of the University of North Carolina measure up to those standards?

Would anyone suggest that Frank Graham is without honor? Is any North Carolina citizen more industrious? Does any North Carolinian possess or lay greater stress of spiritual values? And what Tarheel is better known as a champion of freedom?

"Love of freedom"—there's the rub. Frank Graham loves freedom too much; he desires freedom for all. That is why he is so cordially hated by a small but influential group of North Carolinians.

* * *

Frank Graham's real sin is that he honestly believes in democracy.

He believes, first of all, in democracy among students at Chapel Hill, and so the student government there is no mere "company union", actually controlled by the faculty; the Political Union, a student organization, is free to invite whom it pleases to speak before it, without benefit of faculty interference.

He believes in freedom of speech, and he is honest enough to face the fact that there can be no real freedom of speech unless that freedom applies to all—Republicans and Democrats, Christians and atheists, Fascists and Communists.

He believes so strongly in Americanism that he is not afraid for Americans to learn about other isms. He has the deep-seated conviction that you can trust the people, if they are given the facts, to arrive at the truth; that conviction is the very foundation of our faith in a democratic form of government.

He believes so deeply in the ultimate good sense of the American people, when allowed to express themselves democratically, that he is confident of the result when American ideas and ideals are put up alongside Communism for a frank and free comparison of the two systems. And there can be no frank and free comparison unless the Communist is allowed to state his case.

* * *

By translating those beliefs into action, Frank Graham is battling Communism as are few other Americans. By helping to make democracy work, he is disarming the Communist of his chief weapon, confusion; and by helping to make democratic freedom ever-wider in this country—even applying it to Communists—he is offering proof to the world that our faith in our system is so strong that we are not afraid to put it to the test of practice.

It is not Frank Graham's Communism that is most feared. It is his honesty, his courage, his faith. Those are characteristics that always create fear among the timid.

CPU Round-Table

Inflation and Taxes

By James F. Southerland

There are few among us today who do not regard our increasing inflation with considerable alarm. We feel the pressure of higher prices daily as we are forcibly reminded that our monthly subsistance checks have less and less purchasing power. Any discussion of inflation and particularly with reference to the tax and foreign policies of the federal government may lay claim to fairly wide-spread interest.

The most rewarding approach to inflation—though it is seldom used—is to look at not merely its apparent symptoms but also at its essential nature and cause. Inflation is and has always been the reward of any government that depreciates its monetary unit. This statement will be objected to by some modern economists who abandoned the labor theory of value after it had proven so dangerous in the hands of Marx.

Adam Smith in his Wealth of Nations contended that "Labor was the first price, the original purchase-money that was paid or all things". By working from his simple observation we have ittle difficulty understanding that a disturbance must occur in the price structure when a government issues dollars that represent no equivalent amout of labor and sends them forth to circulate freely with other more honest dollars born from human toil. During World War II the United States Government created currency and bank credits which represented no previously created goods and signified alone the enormous quantity of human energy used by man to destroy man.

In financing a war by borrowing a government pretends to be deferring the cost to future generations. In reality the present generation has already expanded its energy upon the weapons of war and now with their debased claim checks the members bid for the inadequate supply of goods. This results in the continuing price increases that bring the call for price controls and even commodity rationing. The Republican Congress has insisted upon a return to the traditional price rationing which allots goods in proportion to the quantity of clain checks each citizen possesses. Mr. Wallace and his new party seek strong government controls on the division of goods while President Truman seeks reelection.

At still another point in our analysis we find the nation continuing to ignore the fact that it must pay for its wars by decreased consumption or by enormously increasing production. All the people long for tax reductions when reason calls out for increased taxation to drain off the surplus clain checks. At this point Senator Taft insists that tax reduction is essential to provide the incentive necessary for increased production. Countering this President Truman and Mr. Wallace argue that the corporations are capable and therefore must at the very least pay for our current European relief plans along with the obvious preparation for a third world war. It is apparent that we are caught between the horns of economic privation or increasing government control unless we consider a basic reorganization of our economic, social and political life.

Write Away

Watch Which Dog Yelps

Dear Sir:

In connection with a column in Friday's Tar Heel, appropriately entitled "The Brassy Taste", by Bob Sain, I wish to note a number of facts which might not be mmediately apparent to readers of the column who had not also attended the meeting of the Di Senate to which Mr. Sain alludes.

It is proverbial that it is possible to tell whose tail was stepped on by watching which dog yelps. It is apparent from Mr. Sain's columnized howls that he was not pleased by Senator Gran Childress' remarks on dignity and tradition. What the casual reader may not know is that Senator Gran Childress spoke of the dignity and tradition, not of the Di Senate, but of the Carolina Literary Magazine, whose staff enjoys the benefits of Mr. Sain's talents. Childress spoke with biting sarcasm which was conveyed only in his tone of voice, not in the printed form of his words when he said in effect that "tradition" made no difference to his (lack of) appreciation of the "great literary merit" of certain types of stories which, he said, appeared and re-appeared in the Carolina Mag. This was the dignity and tradition in connection with which he used the term "bushwah". A man does not have to steep himself long in the Hearst press to be able to take words out of their context, twist and distort the meaning, and use them (from the position of vantage afforded him by a by-line and an opportunity to sneer without the danger of a retort) to salve what he feels are personal affronts.

Evidently, too, Mr. Sain either is a Playmaker, or else feels strongly on that subject, too. Senator Childress pointed out the Playmakers as an organization on a voluntary basis which pays its own way. He added that he considered this remarkable, since he knew no one who cared for the selections presented. Mr. Sain has chosen to convert this into a "boffo", which he defines as a big wink and a big leer. He did not choose, however, to say so at the time. This is unfortunate, for about the only "stuffy tradition" to be found at the Di Hall is that a man gets up and says what he thinks, and then sits down and listens to what others have to say about it. This is known as civilized discussion, in contradistinction to smearing and the Goebbels Approach. As Mr. Sain says, know what I mean? Tell it tall enough and often enough, and they'll believe you. That's right, Mr. Sain, they will for a while, maybe even a long while.

John M. Zucker

Ed's note: Sain referred to Mr. Childress' remarks concerning the long-standing "joke" about the social habits of Playmakers. Mr. Zucker did not hear that "boffo", perhaps.

YW Chatter

National YW Visitor Is Expected Here

By Virginia Forward

Top on the list of YW events this week will be the annual visit of Miss Rosalie Oakes, national student secretary of YWCA of the southern region. Miss Oakes, of Atlanta, will hold conference with all present cabinet members, discussing their work and making suggestions for the better carrying out of the Carolina "Y" program. All cabinet members who have not signed up for a conference on either January 26 or 27 are asked to do so immediately. Also if any Junior ouncil member wishes to confer with Miss Oakes, is can be arranged.

Miss Oakes will arrive this evening and will stay at the Carolina Inn during her visit to the campus. The conferences mentioned above will be held tomorrow and Tuesday from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 2 to 5 o'clock. Miss Oakes will be present but will take no part in the program at the Coed Get-Together in the main lounge of Graham Memorial tomorrow afternoon at 5.

The personal committee, Mrs. R. H. Wettach, Dean Fred Weaver, Mrs. Kathryn Cook, and Mrs. N. B. Adams, chairman of the advisory board, will meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow night to determine personal requirements of Executive Director of the YWCA here. At the meeting, first steps will be taken to fill the position now held by Mrs. Betty Rose Dowden who plans to resign next June.

Tuesday evening from 4 to 5:30 a party will be held in Horace Williams Lounge in honor of Mrs. Peggy Jurgensen who is resigning her position as secretary of the YMCA February 1. Advisory boards from YMCA and YW CA are invited. Miss Margaret McGirt will succeed Mrs. Jurgensen in this position.

Josephson Is TEPChancellor

Ben Josephson was recently elected Chancellor of Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity for the winter quarter. Art Shain was chosen Vice-Chancellor, Warren Rubin, scribe, and Howard Lieber, bursar. Julian Goldstein was elected pledgemaster, Norman Galinken, warden, and Leon Morse, chaplain.

The TEP pledge class also held elections and Bob Sands was voted into the presidency. Jerry Levin was elected vice-president, Sherman Levin, secretary, Harris Clein, treasurer; and Leon Sugar, warden.

Number one on the entertainment bill at the TEP house is the forthcoming jubilee being held in Baltimore on the weekend of February 27. Arrangements are being made to facilitate the attendence of as many brothers and pledges as possible. It was voted to participate in the jubilee rather than hold the usual winter quarter house party.

Eddie Blankstein, a sophmore from Greensboro, has recently pledged TEP, raising the number of pledges to 20.

Alpha Gam Grads Honored with Tea

The Alpha Gamma Delta sorority entertained its patronesses and alumnae at a tea last Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6 at the sorority house on Battle Lane. The decorations followed a green and white motif. Mrs. Clark, housemother, presided at the table at which tea and cakes were served.

The annual dance honoring the Alpha Gam pledges was held Saturday evening, January 24, at the Carolina Inn. The ballroom was decorated in blue and silver following the "Blue Heaven" theme, the pledges representing stars in the heavens. Each in her white evening dress was presented as though stepping from a famous painting. An intricate figure immediately followed.

Music was provided by Roy Cole and his orchestra. Through the courtesy of Graham Memorial the Alpha Gams and their guests were entertained by a short program during the intermission at which time refreshments were Peggy McKinley of Kannapolis, Marty Davis of Clayton and Alice Middleton of Sumpter were formally pledged to Alpha Gamma Delta at a ceremony held Friday.

Smith Luncheon

Mrs. Homer Sala, housemother at Smith dormitory, entertained with a luncheon at one o'clock yesterday in her apartment, honoring the house council and special guest, Gaines Glass.

Attending the luncheon were Miriam Evans, house president, Lucy Jordon, assistant hostess, Inez Green, Lois Harris, Mae Belle Enman, Anita Harris and Sally Jackson of the house council.

Pi Phi Party

The Fiji Islands was the setting for a party given by Pi Betta Phi for the Phi Gams Thursday night at the Pi Phi house. About 60 couples had supper and entertainment in a tropical jungle setting, to voodoo music and Hiwaiian war chants.

Announced as a "Fiji Free For All" the party was enlivened by entertainment provided by Katy Davis and Jane Morrison.

Sigma Chi's Entertain

The Sigma Chi's were honored last Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Riggs, Mr. and Mrs. Denny Pails, Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Segura, Jack Kramer, and Promoter Jack Harris as dinner guests prior to the tennis matches in Woollen Gym. Following dinner the guests delivered short speeches and then chatted with the members about some of their tennis experiences.

Eight pledges were initiated into Sigma Chi last Friday evening and were then honored with a dinner at the Terrace View Supper club. The initiation festivities were climaxed Saturday evening when the new initiaes were given a formal dinner-dance held in the Sigma Chi House. The house was decorated in a manner resembling a very swank night spot. The music for the occasion was furnished by he Bull City Night Hawks. The new initiates of Sigma Chi are: Herb Faught, Jim Blount, Bill Macyeko, Phola Wilmoth, Bob Brannon, Gus Purcell, Buck Davis, and Bill Baise.

CICA Appoints Committees; Begins Fashion Show Plans

The Carolina Independent Coed association decided upon the method of selecting models to appear in the spring fashion show which will be held March 2 in the regular Wednesday night meeting in the CICA room upstairs in the Y building. Members of the executive council presented the plan that two girls be chosen from each sorority by her sorority sisters, one girl be chosen by the Stray Greeks, one girl be chosen by the Town Girls' Association and three by the CICA. totalling fifteen in all, the number of models recommended by Montaldo's, the sponsor of the show. The plan was unanimously adopted by the members of the group.

The following committee chairmen to work on the fashion show were appointed: Nina Reditt, model committee; Betty Long, cript; Helen Xanthos, music; Jane Mears, publicity; Scotty Dellinger, arrangements; Bobby Davis, admission; Eloise Jacobi and Marty Hinkle, decorations.

Genevieve Trott was appointed CICA representative to the University Dance committee and Merle Stevens made a short talk on Intramural Debating, expressing the hope that many women students will become interested.

The Association is planning to sponsor a representative of Standard Oil Company who will come to the campus to speak on 'Opportunities for Women in Business", in February.

Pan Hell Tea

The Pan-Hellenic council has announced plans for a faculty tea which will be given February 1 from 4 until 6 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. The five sororities have decided to go in together to give the tea instead of each sorority giving a separate faculty tea as was formerly customary.

IRC MEETING

The International Relations club will discuss recent developments on the Greek political scene at its meeting tomorrow night. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 in Roland Parker lounge number one.

Chi O Pledge Class Honored With Dance

The Chi Omega pledge dance was held Saturday, Ja 17, in the Women's gymnasium. Helen Bouldin, presid the pledge class, led the figure. She was escorted b Graves. She entered the Chi and horseshoe gate a presented with a large bouquet of white carnat Eleanor Singletary, pre the Epsilon Beta chapte other pledges received th nations from a basket arms of a giant snowman dance floor.

The traditional Chi Om ure was presented when pledges had been introdu Clark Stallworth. Dan dance which featured pledges and their date pledge was given a silve let by her "big sister."

Music for the evening furnished by Jimmy M and his orchestra and Eisenhower sang "My O O Girl". The gymnasi decorated in the winte

The pledges in honor of the dance was given at Bouldin, Willie Marjorie Corrine Grimsley, Betty Anne Bumgardner, Jane stevens, Kate Connor, Ida table, Betty Anne Cooper, Barbara Dalton, Peggy Frankie Johnston, Tandy Stella Lassiter, Bootsie Alice Jones, Jean McKeithen Muirhead, Kate Myers, Pegram, Nancy Pendleton, Ann Taber, Mary Leah Gay Williams, Marjorie Yo and Martha Best York.

Chi O actives and pledges invited all girls who have enter Carolina this quarter to an informal coke party at the sorority house on Tuesday, January 13.

Bootsie Lyons of Chapel Hill was formally pledged Wednesday night to Chi Omega.

Three more Chi O's have recently been "pinned". They are "Butch" Goodwin, who is now wearing a Phi Gamma Delta pin, Lucie Baxter has been branded by a Beta and Mary Moultin, who prefers a Sigma Chi at Duke to all Carolina gentlemen.

Coed Stray Greeks Entertain Leaders

Friday afternoon the Women's Stray Greeks Organization entertained officers of the Carolina Independent Coed Association, the five campus sororities and members of the Pan-Hellenic council at a tea in Alderman dormitory from 4 until 5 o'clock. Guests included Miss Katherine Carmichael, Miss Audrey Branch, Mrs. Robert A Swain, Mrs. J. S. Cobb and Miss Isabelle MacLeod.

Miss Branch presided at the tea table which was centered with a bouquet of white gladiolas. Molly Craig, social chairman, was in charge of arrangements.

In the receiving line were Marjorie Taylor, president: Tula Carter, secretary, Peggy Ellis, Pan-Hellenic representative and Mrs. J. S. Cobb.

New officers for the year are Marjorie Taylor, president, Molly Craig, vice-president, Tula Carter, secretary, Margaret McNeill, treasurer, Peggy Ellis, Pan-Hellenic representative and Beth Deaton, historian. Miss Branch serves as advisor to the group.

New Research Started In Paralysis Field

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP)—Causes of paralysis resulting from poliomyelitis and cerebral palsy are under study at the University of Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry.

Through his oscillograph studies, Dr. Smith hopes to learn to what extent paralysis and other neuro-muscular disorders may be alleviated. He thinks it may be done through operative techniques, drug therapy, or through the training of other muscles, nerves or brain cells to carry on the functions normally done by the affected ones.

Wesley Program

"Development of Music in Religion" will be the topic of the Sunday night Wesley Foundation program led by Reverend Robert Nelson. Records and p no will be used to illustrate the music. The usual Sunday night upper will be held at 5:45 fo all interested students. aft which the performance will b given.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS

1—Part of body
4—Kind of dance music
9—Sheep's cry
12—Greek letter
13—Means
14—Edge of mouth
15—Marsh gas
17—To rent
19—Small pie
20—Happy
21—Concerning
23—Race horses
26—Flock of cows
27—Schemes
28—Exclamation of surprise
29—Sea eagle
30—Vital organ
31—Obedient tree
32—A thoroughfare (abbr.)
34—Roman writer
36—First man
38—Protection
37—Carpenter's tool
38—To burden
39—Space
40—Meet
42—Gambling
45—To direct
46—Eulogy
48—Golf mound
49—Southern general
50—Drugs
51—Female sheep

DOWN

1—Border
2—Suffix: follower
3—Model
4—Clever
5—Departed
6—Small fish
7—Nickel (symb.)
8—Brave
9—Sword
10—Sloths
11—Monkey
16—Applause
18—Dines
20—Boiled cook
21—In front of
22—Power of endurance
23—Deck
24—Pertaining to Rome
25—Mortification
27—Pennies
30—Wielded
31—Human being
33—Transaction
34—Rent-free land
36—Fire
37—Skin openings
39—Fury
40—Salt
41—To go in haste
42—Policeman
43—Recent
44—Command to horse
47—Behold!

Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

LI'L ABNER

By AL CAPP

Forward men!! To HARRY'S!!

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Phantoms Rebound With 52-46 Win Over Penn; Dolphins Swamp Navy, 52-23

Bobbing In Sports

—with—

Bob Goldwater

THE SIX EXHIBITION matches were over and it was time for the regular conference dual meet to get under way. We were having visions of that old sports angle—the teacher versus pupil story. But as Carolina's Marvin Wilson and N. C. State's Frank Steed moved into the center of the wrestling mat in semi-dark Woollen gym, Coach Chuck Quinlan broke up our ideas, made us start looking for a different approach.

Sure, he wrestled for one year on one of my teams," the veteran mat mentor declared. "But he had won several AAU championships long before he came here and as good a wrestler as he was, there wasn't anything I could teach him. I'd sure like to have him on the team now—that would be a sure five points in every meet."

Coach Quinlan was referring to his coashing opponent for the evening, a husky individual who answers to the name of Al Crawford. Aforementioned Mr. Crawford not only wrestled on the 1946 boat crew—he also helped to coach it. He was certainly well qualified to help "Quinny" with the job.

Before spending one year here as a graduate student, Crawford had performed at Appalachian, had won the national AAU 175-pound title two striaght years—in short he had been quite a wrestler. Several years away from intercollegiate competition didn't slow him down any, for during his one season here, he was the hottest thing ever seen on a local mat.

That was the year he pinned every opponent he faced during the regular season, even registered one fall in as little as 10 seconds. Only one of his bouts lasted as long as the second period. He topped off the year by going out to Oklahoma to take part in the national collegiate tourney, and went all the way to the heavyweight finals before losing. We never saw Crawford in action, but he certainly sounds like he'd be a handy addition to this year's—on any year's—wrestling team.

Cagers—Please Copy

THAT REMINDS US of the subject we had in mind when we started out five paragraphs ago—this year's wrestling team. Those who follow the sport here at Carolina had occasion to raise their eyebrows last Monday when VPI came along and tripped the Tar Heel matmen, 16 and one half to 15 and one rolf. And quite a few people thought State would do the same thing Friday night—but by a greater score. Coach Scott's cagers should only make out as well against State as did Coach Quinlan's matmen!

As the match progressed, Quinlan and his assistant, Hobie McKeever, proceeded to tell us a little about the outlook for the season, position for position. Wilson had just lost the 121-pound match, but drew high praise from both mentors. "He's a good little scrapper," Hobie said. "Marv didn't try out for the team at first, but after he won an intramural title we asked him to come out. He's getting better every week."

We watched Doug Thompson, who handled the 121-pound chores last year, even the team scoring at 3-3 with a victory via the decision route. "Tommy had a pulled rib last Monday and couldn't wrestle," McKeever pointed out. "With him in there, we'd have beaten VPI. He fought a fine match there just now."

Tom Urquhart took over the Carolina role in the center of the mat and ran the score up to 6-3, UNC. "He's our 'Old Reliable'," stated Hobie. "Not too colorful a wrestler, but he hardly ever makes mistakes." To err may be human, but Urquhart didn't make any mistakes last night, winning a 6-0 decision.

Next on the scene was freshman Phil Kemp, brother of the team captain and considered an "excellent prospect." Our guide on this trip up the wrestling list told us that "Phil is a sure conference champ in another year or two, maybe even this season." Kemp proved the point with a 6-3 decision that upped the Carolina lead to 9-3.

Whereupon Carrol Fischer took to the mat. "This is the crucial match for us," Hobie declared. "If Carrol can win, we'll take the meet, because Gupton will come through for sure. Fischer, who according to the assistant coach has developed a whole lot in the last month, didn't disappoint the Carolina rooters and the score read 12-3, Carolina out front.

'Shoulders'—Carolina Style

Hobie was right about the match being on ice. For out from the sidelines strode Oscar Gupton, who comes the closest to Shoulders of anyone we've seen outside of Dick Tracy's buddy. "He's a probable conference winner," commented McKeever. "Only a sophmore too. He was unbeaten during the season last year, but took sick during the tourney. He'll sew up the meet for us right quick."

That's just what Gupton did, pinning his opponent in the second round. That gave the Tar Heels 17 points, the Wolfpack three, and only two matches left. State managed to make the most of a bad (for them) situation by gaining five points in each bout, but that's All there was, there wasn't any more, and Carolina had a 17-13 win.

"Bill Kemp, the team captain, is our usual 175-pounder," McKeever related. But he missed a lot of practice during the week and Ray Swigart, still another mural champ, will handle the job tonight. As for our heavyweight, John Stoioff is the top candidate. He's another sophomore, and will develop more as the season goes on.

IT ALL ADDS up to a successful team for 1948. And the prospects will go up even more, we hope, when the conference committe declares loop champ Irv Zirpel eligible for competition when it meets tomorrow. That's our desire.

Kohler Sinks 14 To Pace Scottmen

By Morty Schaap

Philadelphia, Jan. 24—The Herculean efforts of Penn's Herb Lyon weren't quite 'enough to provide a Quaker victory in the Palestra gym here tonight, and the White Phantoms of North Carolina therefore gained a closely-contested 52-46 triumph that snapped a two-game losing streak.

Ahead at halftime by a single point, the Carolinians broke away from the host team as the second half got under way and nursed their lead the rest of the way. Penn threatened to overtake the Tar Heels halfway through the period but the Carolina quintet refused to be overtaken and maintained control as time ran out.

VPI Tomorrow

The victory helped to sooth the wounds of the Tar Heels' visit to this city last week, when they were defeated by Temple, 61-51. They now return to Chapel Hill, where they assume the role of host for a Southern conference clash with VPI Monday at 8 o'clock.

From a Penn viewpoint, the setback couldn't be blamed on Lyon, 6-4 center. He poured 11 buckets and four fouls through the basket for a total of 26, more than half his team's output. Norm Kohler led the way for the Phantoms with 14, while Bob Paxton hit for nine and Nemo Nearman and Rog Scholbe scored eight each.

Johnny Dillon, who started the game, put Carolina out in front early with two fouls, a hook, and a crip that made the scoreboard read 8-4, Carolina. It was 10-6 at the 10-minute mark, and with Paxton and Kohler hitting, the visitors made it 18-11 at 14:30.

Then big Lyon took over. He connected with four straight buckets, and his one-hander at 9:30 gave Penn a brief 23-22 lead. Scholbe's one-hander gave Carolina a permanent advantage and a intermission margin of 24-3.

Quick Command

The lads from down South took quick command when play resumed. Paxton and Kohler both hit crips to set the spark, and the Phantoms went on to take a 40-32 lead after nine minutes. With Lyon doing most of the work. Penn fought back to a 43-40 deficit at 12:50, but that's as close as they ever came.

It was also too close for comfort for the Carolinians, and they again pulled away. Nearman's hook at 15:50 gave them a 50-43 margin, and they froze the ball for most of the remaining time.

The win gives Coach Tom Scott and his charges a season's record of 13 victories and two defeats. Ten games remain on the season's schedule, all against conference competition.

Philadelphia Story

UNC (52)	fg	f	pf	tp	ftm
Paxton, f	3	3	1	9	2
Scholbe	4	0	2	8	1
Carson, f	0	1	2	1	1
Swartzberg	0	1	1	1	0
Dillon, c	2	2	0	6	1
Nearman	3	2	4	8	4
Kohler, g	6	2	2	14	4
Thorne	1	0	1	2	0
Cole, g	1	1	4	3	0
Totals	20	12	17	52	13

PENN (46)	fg	f	pf	tp	ftm
Harmon, f	1	1	0	3	0
Cacey	0	2	1	2	0
Wettlauser, f	0	0	3	0	0
Paumler	0	0	4	0	1
Lyon, c	11	4	3	26	2
Carlson	1	1	2	3	0
Feindel, g	0	0	2	0	1
Sharanow	0	3	3	3	1
Novak, g	1	0	1	2	2
Tola	3	1	2	7	0
Totals	17	12	21	46	7

Halftime score: Carolina 24, Penn 23.

Officials: Anderson and Osborne.

Duke Tickets Out Tomorrow

Starting tomorrow and continuing until Saturday, students and faculty members will be able to pick up their tickets for the Duke game on February 7.

Under the plan worked out by the athletic department, to guarantee that all students will see either the Duke or N. C. State contests, students whose athletic passbooks are numbered from 500-4500 can change from their books for one of the precious ducats.

Faculty members with books numbered from 8000 to 8500 will also be able to view the Phantom-Devil clash. Students' wives may exchange their coupons for the same game that their husbands are entitled to see.

The ticket window will be opened from 9 to 5 Monday through Friday, and from 9 to 1 on Saturday.

Ousley, Twining, Thomas Lead Way

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

Annapolis, Jan. 24—A powerful swimming team from the University of North Carolina splashed its way to an easy 52-23 tirumph over Navy here today and broke three dual meet records on the way.

Combining seven of nine first places with five of seven seconds, the Blue Dolphins from down Carolina way swam a fine team meet to swamp the Middies for the first time in three years.

Leading the way for the Carolina contingent were the three record-breakers, Jim Thomas, Bob Ousley, and Dick Twining. Thomas, a freshman, defeated Navy's star backstroker, Don Lechner, to lower the University backstroke mark by nine-tenths of a second and also set a new dual meet mark. Ousley swam the best breaststroke race of his career to slice 2.4 seconds off the dual meet record. Both Thomas and Ousley turned in fast legs on the 300-yard medley, along with Co-Captain Jesse Greenbaum.

Twining's new dual meet mark was recorded in the 100, where he bettered the old time by 1.7 seconds. Dick also took a second in the 220-freestyle, which was won by Co-Captain Mike Morrow. Other first places for the Tar Heels were made by Norm Sper's classy diving and Bob Hutton's best time in the 440.

The complete summary:

300-yard medley—NC (Thomas, Ousley, Greenbaum). 3:02.3.

220-yard freestyle—Morrow (NC), Twining (NC), Ridderhoff (Navy). 2:21.5.

50-yard freestyle—Kannakui (Navy), Drew (NC), Osborne (NC). 24.0.

Diving—Sper (NC), Morrison (Navy), Hobbe (Navy). 115.5.

100-yard freestyle—Twining (NC), Greenbaum (NC), Kannakui (Navy). 53.0.

150-yard backstroke—Thomas (NC), Lechner (Navy), Bippart (NC). 1:37.8.

200-yard breaststroke—Ousley (NC), Cook (NC), Higgins (Navy). 2:29.1.

440-yard freestyle—Hutton (NC), Norwood (NC), Rockey (Navy). 5:19.5.

440-yard relay. Navy. 3:49.2.

DTH Sports Staff Ski Reports

Latest reports from the DTH sports staff snow survey show that the skiing and sledding conditions in Chapel Hill and vicinity are anything but good.

With the reports of the majority of the staff's observers in, not one had been received that cast a favorable opinion.

Treacherous Dead Man's Hill in the northern end of town is said to be covered with ice and suitable only for those with suicidal ideas and short life expectancies.

The town's best open slopes, those of the Chapel Hill country club, have been ruled out of bounds for ski and sled enthusiasts by the club's greens committee because of the hazard they might create for playing members and the possibility of damage to the course.

The rest of the better hills in the town are public thoroughfares and therefore can not be used because of existing traffic conditions.

None of the local waterways have been deemed suitable for any type of skating.

As one local snowball expert put it, "The whole thing is TS—tough sledding, that is!"

Handball Tourney Set To Start Monday

By Larry Fox

Handball, basketball, boxing, and rifle-shooting are all on the agenda tomorrow as the winter quarter mural program adds some more events to its daily schedule.

Competition begins in the fraternity division of the handball tourney. Of the 31 five-man fraternity squads entered, four will see action tomorrow afternoon. At four o'clock Zeta 2 will take the floor against the Sig Eps while Phi Delt 2 and ATO 1 square off at five. Each team match will consist of two singles contests and a doubles encounter.

Delta Sigma Pi became the second organization to finish its orientation shoot at the NROTC armory. However, the Commerce majors didn't do quite as well as their predecessors, the Lewis marksmen. Jim Amos was high man with 118 points out of a possible 200. Pete Dobbins was runner-up with 113 and Ernie Hicks placed third with an even 110.

Lewis Sharpshooters

The average for the top five Delta Sigs was 108 while the Lewis sharpshooters had an average score of 133. Firing was done from a prone position, sitting, kneeling, and standing. The next unit to visit the firing range is Chi Psi. They will take aim Tuesday night at 7:30.

Due to the Carolina-VPI cage contest tomorrow night, only the three courts in the Tin Can will be in use. Squads in the fraternity division will be the only teams to play Monday. Phi Delt 1, tabbed by many as the team to watch, will take the floor against the yet-to-be-victorious TEP 1 quintet. On the opening day of the tourney the Phi Delts trampled KA 2, 41-1. In their last outing the high flying Phi Delts ran up one of the biggest scores in mural history, swamping an unfortunate DKE 2 five, 73-9.

Entrants in the boxing tournament are still crowding the boxing room in Woollen gym for a chance to do some sparring under the watchful eye of Coach Mike Ronman. Other embryo titleholders line up for a chance to blast the light and heavy punching bags.

Tomorrow's Murals

BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 5: Beta 1 vs. ZBT; Court 6: KA 1 vs. ATO 1; Court : Phi Delt 1 vs. TEP 1.

5:00—Court 5: Zeta 4 vs. Phi Kap 1; Court 6: Phi Gam 2 vs. DKE 1; Court 7: Sig Chi 2 vs. Chi Phi3.

HANDBALLL

4:00—Zeta 2 vs. Sig Ep.

5:00—Phi Delt 2 vs. ATO 1.

Sports Shorts

From the wire of United Press

Two of the most sought after collegiate football stars of the best season signed professional contracts yesterday. JOHNNY LUJACK, Heisman trophy winner, and GEORGE CONNOR, both of Notre Dame, put their signatures on Chicago Bear (National League) contracts. . . .The United States Lawn tennis association is holding its annual meeting in New York, with everything from gambling to professionalism being discussed. . . It looks like smiling ED MCKEEVER will take over as coach of Chicago Rockets in the All-American football conference. Shortly after he resigned as head coach at San Francisco, McKeever admitted he had talked with Chicago officials about the job.

Big JOHNNY MIZE, who led the New York Giants to an all-time home-run record in 1947, was named Player of the Year by the New York baseball writers. Mize will receive the Sid Mercer Memorial award at the writers' annual dinner early next month.

Frosh Kept Idle Because of Snow

Not only did yesterday's snowfall make Chapel Hill more picturesque than ever, but it also caused the postponement of last night's High Point-Carolina freshmen basketball game. According to a wire that reached frosh mentor Jim Hamilton, bus service out of High Point was halted early yesterday afternoon with the result that the furniture city quint was vehicleless.

Thus the Tar Heel yearlings had to content themselves with a brisk workout in Woollen gym. Hamilton spent the first part of the practice pointing out the numerous errors that the Tar Babies committed against Newport News High on Friday night.

The freshmen wound up the day's activities with a scrimmage during which they worked on putting a little punch into their offense. Hal Ferraro's accurate one-hand shots were again hitting the mark while John Tsantes dominated the play under the boards.

Next tilt for the Tar Babies comes on Friday evening when they meet the Hendersonville high school cagers in the preliminary to the Carolina-Davidson clash. The cancelled High Point game will be played at a later date.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 6B

MUST SELL TWO PEDIGREED Cocker Spaniel puppies. Can be seen at Nathan Veternary Hospital on Durham Road. Owner T. W. Oliver, Box 1104. (1-1666-1)

MALL ELECTRIC OVEN. IDEAL FOR Apartment or trailer. 110 vots. F. W. Bonner, 302 Pittsboro Street. (1-1673-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6bb

1938 FORD, TUDOR SEDAN, RADIO—good tires. Caston Motor Company, F-3896. (ch 1x1)

LOST 12

'O WHOM IT MAY CONCERN—LOST old and black Parker 51 pen. Must be found. Initialed "S.L.M." Please call Beckie Holton, 218 Alderman (1-1674-1)

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

THE HOME OF SIZZLING STEAKS

PRIVATE DINING HALLS
Open Every Day
6 A.M. to 9:30 P.M.
N. O. REEVES
305 E. Chapel Hill Street
The Palms Restaurant

You Can eravel in Complete comfort on this outstanding Bus, even on the coldest days. . .And when you travel by Trailways, you save
UNION BUS STATION
Cor. Keenan and Franklin St.
Phone 4281
Carolina TRAILWAYS
THE ROUTE OF THE Trailmasters

VILLAGE
TODAY

—Also—
COLOR CARTOON
MONDAY

WANT TO EARN $9000 A YEAR?

Would you like to be your own boss . . . with professional standing in your community? Then you'll be interested in the opportunities offered by a career in life insurance selling for The Mutual Life. Many of our representatives earn $4,000 to $9,000 a year, and more!
We invite you to send for our Aptitude Test, which predetermines your chances for success in this field. After taking the test, you'll hear from our manager in or near your community. If you can qualify, we offer a 3-year on-the-job training course, with a special income plan to help you become established. After that, the Mutual Lifetime Plan provides an opportunity for earnings limited only by your own efforts . . . plus a liberal retirement income at 65. Mail the coupon today!
THE MUTUAL LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY of NEW YORK
34 Nassau Street, New York 5, N.Y.
Alexander E. Patterson, President
FIRST IN AMERICA
PLEASE SEND APTITUDE TEST
NAME
ADDRESS
CITY 1104

PARDON OUR LATIN ACCENTS, SEÑORS... WE'RE ON THE "ROAD TO RIO"

CAROLINA THEATRE
NOW PLAYING
Also
CARTOON—NEWS

THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, FOUNDER

Join the
MARCH OF DIMES

The Lurking Danger of Infantile Paralysis May Strike YOU Next . . .

For Your Safety and the Safety of Others, Give Generously to the

March of Dimes

This Advertisement Made Possible by the Contributions of the Following Business Firms:

UNIVERSITY CLEANERS
VILLAGE BARBER SHOP
WENTWORTH & SLOAN, JEWELERS
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE
ANDREWS - HENNINGER
BERMAN'S
ROSE'S 5 & 10
BENNETT & BLOCKSIDGE
SMITH - PREVOST CLEANERS
FOISTER'S CAMERA SHOP
VARSITY
JACK LIPMAN'S
LACOCK'S SHOE SHOP
CAROLINA BARBER SHOP
HUGGINS HARDWARE
STROWD MOTOR CO.
CAROLINA PHARMACY

CASTON MOTOR CO.
HOSPITAL SAVING ASSOCIATION OF NORTH CAROLINA
TAR HEEL BARBER SHOP
THE MARATHON
FOWLER'S FOOD STORE
THE VILLAGE GRILL
UNIVERSITY FLORIST
CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP
THE LITTLE SHOP
CURVE INN
JOHNSON - STROWD - WARD FURNITURE CO.
J. B. GOLDSTON LUMBER CO.
W. B. GLENN OIL COMPANY
FITCH LUMBER CO.
FARMERS DAIRY COOPERATIVE, INC.
HAZZARD MOTOR CO.

MARCH OF DIMES
FIGHT INFANTILE PARALYSIS

MARCH OF DIMES
FIGHT INFANTILE PARALYSIS

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER

Possible snow or freezing rain.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL

Speaker Problem Answer
Help Others Help Selves
Seats 'Aplenty'

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. TUESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 84

Nanki-Poo (left), son of the "great and virtuous" Mikado who has fled to avoid marriage with Katisha, serenades his true love, Yum-Yum, in the production of the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "The Mikado," to be presented in Memorial hall Friday and Saturday. Carl Perry of Schoolfield, Va., plays "Nanki-Poo", and Barbara Edwards of Troy plays "Yum-Yum". The production is being staged jointly by the Playmakers and the Music department.

Gault, Young Give Final Mikado Casting

Lynn Gault and Paul Young, directors, announced the final casting last night for the chorus members of the Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, "The Mikado", which is to be presented in Memorial hall next Friday and Saturday at 8:30. The production is being presented jointly by the Carolina Playmakers and the Department of Music.

The chorus list includes Barbara Young, Chapel Hill; Doris Newbern, Sarasota, Fla.; Phyllis Isenhour, Charlotte; Josephine Fishel, Vaughn; Joyce Heffner, Charlotte; Carol Brockman, Chapel Hill; Helen Phillips, Chapel Hill; Joselyn Rhyne, Chapel Hill; Lucille Arnott, Persia, Tenn.; and Dorothy Colquitt, Savannah, Ga., as sopranos.

The altos include Betsy Green, Chapel Hill; Mary Lou Hull, Quincy, Fla.; Helen McCann, Asheville; Patricia Winslow, Chapel Hill; Edda-May Trostler, sheville; Marian Lambeth, Chapel Hill; Anna Slack, Raleigh; Carolyn Roper, Lincolnton; and Frances Greene, Chapel Hill.

The men in the chorus include Kermit Albertson, High Point; John Bridges, Asheville; Bill Fitzgerald, New Bern; Jack Clinard, Winston-Salem; Joe Hull, Selma, Ala.; John Brinegar, Thomasville; Frank Echols, Asheville; Bill Rutherford, Glen Lock, N. J.; David Orr, Grove Hill, Ala.; Robert Hurley, Cedar Grove; J. Gray McAllister, Jr., and J. Gray McAllister, III. Chapel Hill; James Roberts. Hollywood, Calif.; Milton Bliss, Thomasville; Karl Harrell, Burlington, and Colbert Leonard, Chapel Hill.

Others include Lanier Davis, Chapel Hill; Ramon Ackew, Jacksonville; and William Ayers, Roanoke, Va.

W.M. Geer Leads Research Project On Max Gardner

The University has launched a research project which will result in a biography of O. Max Gardner, it was announced today by Chancellor Robert B. House.

William M. Geer of the University History department, who will be the author of the Gardner biography, has been appointed Research Associate in the Institute for Research in Social Science. He will devote the next two years to completing this important work.

The project is being undertaken with the cooperation and assistance of the Gardner family and the Gardner Foundation. Approval was recently given by the University Board of Trustees. A committee of the University faculty who will advise on the preparation of the biography includes Fletcher M. Green of the History Department as chairman and the following members: R. D. W. Connor, E. W. Knight, A. R. Newsome, Howard W. Odum, and Rupert B. Vance.

Down in History

"O. M. Gardner," said Chancellor House in making the announcement, "will go down in history as one of the truly great North Carolinians. We are delighted that part of the scholarly resources of the University can be made available for objectively recording and interpreting the life and achievements of former Governor Gardner to the state and nation."

William M. Geer, who will write the biography, has the master's degree from Emory university and has completed a year of graduate study in history at Columbia university and two years at the University of North Carolina. In addition to publications in southern history, Mr. Geer has written two volumes: "The Government of the Major Foreign Powers" and "Contemporary Foreign Governments," He has held teaching appointments at the U. S. Military Aca-

(See GEER Page 4)

Warm Hand Extended By Tarnation Editor

Editor "Tookie" Hodgson of Tarnation today asked for pictures, either cartoons or photographs, for use in the pages of his magazine. "Anyone can be funny", he stoutly maintained in decrying the woes of an editor.

"We will gladly accept any well written piece of humorous material and proper credit will be given the author," was the way he expressed the hope that his pleas would produce assistance in the big job connected with the publication of a 32 page effort of entirely fresh humor.

MASTER MASONS

The Masonic club will meet tonight in Bingham hall at 7:30. Officers for the club will be elected at that time.

UMT Committee At AVC Meeting Reports Tonight

Universal military training will be one of the most important items under discussion at tonight's meeting of the American Veterans committee in the Presbyterian church at 7:30.

A special committee set up by the local AVC chapter to combat efforts of the military to get a Universal Military Training bill through Congress will deliver its first report. The committee has announced an essay contest with a prize of $10 to be given for the best essay on "Why I Don't Believe in Universal Military Training". The winner will be announced on the night of February 17, when Brigadier General William Holdridge (ret.) will speak in Chapel Hill against UMT.

The committee is seeking the support of all campus organizations and individuals to help in the expression of public sentiment against the proposed UMT bill now before Congress.

A report will be heard on a motion introduced at a previous chapter meeting to maintain separation of the church and state in the U. S. The use of public funds to transport pupils to private parochial schools and the diplomatic representation of the U. S. government at the Vatican are expected to come under fire.

Also to be considered are recommendations made to the chapter by Jim Crawford, Southeastern Field Secretary of AVC at an informal conference of regional chapters January 17.

The meeting will be open to the public.

Ruark Will Direct Discussion Group

"Should America Adopt Universal Military Training?" is the topic for discussion at a meeting tonight of graduates, married students, and young adults. The open discussion will be led by the Reverend Henry Ruark, who has recently preached a series of sermons on this subject from his pulpit in the Methodist church. Here is an opportunity for those who are interested in America's position regarding universal military training to come together and discuss it.

Supper will be served in the Methodist church basement at seven o'clock and the devotional program and open discussion will follow immediately. All young adults are invited to join this group, which is interdenominational and campus-wide in scope.

Free baby sitting will be furnished by Wesley foundation. Call 6287 for this service.

Symphony at Work As Concert Nears

The annual winter concert by the University Symphony Orchestra is now in preparation and is being planned for presentation in Hill hall auditorium. A definite date has not yet been set but the concert will be given approximately the middle of February.

Mrs. Margaret Colb, piano instructor of the University, will play the piano solo in the "Dohnanyi Variations for Piano and Orchestra". Other numbers to be performed in the program include the "Leonore Overture" by Beethoven, "Symphony no. 5 in B flat major" by Schubert, and the "Polovetsian Dances" from 'Prince Igor" by Borodine.

The "Brassy Prelude" by Rudolph Ganz which will feature the brass section of the orchestra will also be performed.

Tryouts Announced For Student Plays

Public tryouts for the 121st bill of student-written one-act plays, to be produced by the Carolina Playmakers, will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Playmakers theater.

Three new plays are to be cast, and they will be presented on February 5 and 6. They are "The Terrapin Sticks Its Neck Out", by Robert Rolnik, "Au Fond du Coeur" by James Geiger, and "Morning Dialogue" by John Wills.

Happy Students Spend Snowy Lost Weekend

By John Stump

North Carolina found itself literally on the skids this past week-end as most of the state struggled under a six to ten inch blanket of snow.

Schools served by the state-operated bus system were closed yesterday morning to the joy of thousands of children who found an extended holiday in the winter wonderland anything but unbearable.

But the University people had no such luck. By tens and hundreds they straggled back to Chapel Hill Sunday night over the sadly dislocated bus system or in often chainless private cars.

Some had more unusual experiences in their attempts to return to the University, such as coeds Margaret Gaston and Ann Clark who found themselves marooned in the little Piedmont town of Candor on Saturday. With apparently no chance to avoid loss of precious cuts by returning for Monday classes, the helpless (?) pair solved their problem by chartering a plane to return to Tarheelia. Both girls were a little surprised at their own ingenuity but made their 8 o'clocks with plenty to spare.

First Glimpse

For many adopted Tar Heels from the Deep south, it was the first glimpse of the white blanket ever afforded them. The results were not unexpected. Snowball fights and sled riding occupied the time of many studens who probably considered themselves too old for such foolishness, but evidently enjoyed it.

A group of Mississippi Carolinians returning from the KA banquet Friday night succumbed to the novelty of the thing, and the result was a number of snow bespattered tuxes at the ADPi dance later in the evening.

Automobiles could be found piled up on most of the state's highways; one public official estimated that the six inches of snow cost the state $200.000; and Governor Cherry went to bed with a cold, but as warmer weather and a clear atmosphere conspired to destroy the frozen blanket yesterday the verdict appeared to be "A good time was had by all".

New Radio Show For Sunday Spot Initiated By WF

For World Federalists on campus Sunday marked the opening of a new radio program designed to create a more definite statewide interest in world government. Dean Matthews, of Decatur, Georgia, heads the radio committee which originated the weekly air program.

The program, "It Is Later Than You Think", can be heard each Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock over radio station WDUK, Durham, 1310 kilocycles.

Program ideas were drawn up and presented by Matthews at last Thursday's meeting of the University chapter.

Also presented at the meeting was a report by President Jake Wicker of the state executive committee meeting held in Greensboro on January 11. Wicker said that progress both in the number of members and active chapters in the state was noted.

Peace rather than personalities and personal interest, said Wicker, is the aim of the organization —peace to be maintained by education of people for world government, and persuasion of Congress to promote world government by strengtheneing the United Nations.

RECENTLY APPOINTED student officers for the local Air R. O. T. C. unit are pictured above, left to right: First Lt. Robert E. Lee; Capt. Paul J. English, commanding officer; First Lt. Robert McAllister, executive officer; and First Lt. James W. Geiger.

Air ROTC Unit Picks Student Officers To Supervise Freshman Drill Instruction

The University component of the Air Reserve Officers Training Corps on campus for its second quarter has selected four advanced student officers to supervise weekly drill periods for freshmen beginning work towards commissions as second leiutenants in the Air Reserve.

The cadet commanders are Capt. Paul J. English, commanding officer; First Lt. Robert McAllister, executive officer; and First Lt. James W. Geiger and First Lt. Robert E. Lee, group officers.

All four are veterans of World War II and members of the junior class at present. English, a premed student from Hendersonville, belongs to Delta Tau Delta fraternity and the Order of the Golden Bear. McAllister, a history major from Raleigh, was inducted into Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic honorary society. Geiger came to the University from Miami, Fla., to take an active part in dramatic art here as a Playmaker while Lee is a political science major from Charlotte.

Assisting in the Tuesday afternoon drill instruction for the basic trainers are 36 others in the advanced Air R.O.T.C. with the rank of student second leiutenant. They are as follows: Grey L. Adams; George K. Archer; John D. Brown; William J. Claybrook; George A Cochran; Lester C. Couch, Jr.; Thomas E. Cunningham;John D. Ebbs; Floyd P. Ellington; Paul Finch; Charles R. Gibson; Robert A. Gray; John D. Greene; Earl H. Hartsell, Jr.; Herbert Hawly; John G. Hough, Jr.; Albert F. Howell; Sidney A. Hughes; Bonner E. Hudson, Jr.; Joseph F. Jones;

William T. Luke; Lester P. Martin, Jr.; Clarence B. Mendenhall; Glenn L. Mitchell; Cort M. Nance, Jr.; Harold M. Shaw, Jr.; Thomas A. Shetley; Clyde S. Smithson; William K. Snyder; James H. Spears; Wade T. Surratt, Jr.; Banks C. Talley, Jr.; Harry J. Thomas, Jr.; William B. Thompson; James H. Waynick; and Jack W. Wilkerson.

Culprits Sought After Break-in At Country Club

Vandals broke into the refreshment stand at the Chapel Hill Country club golf course last Saturday evening, Dean E. L. Mackie said yesterday.

According to information given Dean Mackie by Dr. R. B. Lawson, club manager, the unknown culprits entered by smashing one of the stand's windows. Nothing valuable seems to have been taken, but Dean Mackie said that considerable damage was done to the building and its soft drink contents.

Dean Mackie said the University administration was working with the club manager in investigating this incident and in trying to prevent its re-occurance.

"We hope there are no students involved in this," he continued, "but if there were, we trust that this warning will prevent its happening again."

Dean Mackie said a similar break-in occurred at the drink stand approximately a year ago.

Coeds May Oppose Eller-backed Bill

Possibility of coed opposition to a constitutional amendment proposed by Student Body President Tom Eller in his State of the Campus speech to the Student Legislature last Thursday night was forecast yesterday afternoon by Coed Senate President Barbara Cashion.

The proposed amendment would set up a coed affairs committee in the Legislature to "handle all bills . . .pertaining to coed affairs and to originate legislation concerned with coed activities."

According to Miss Cashion such an amendment would overlap the present powers of the Coed senate and might be a step toward the abolition of that body.

Other matters coming up for action at tonight's session of the Coed senate, to be held at 7 o'clock in Horace Williams lounge of Graham Memorial, are election of co-chairmen of the orientation committee, election of a chairman for the officers training program, approval of a presidential appointment to the Women's council, and arrangements for May day.

The Senate will also discuss the coed point system and the ineffectiveness of the House Privileges Board agreement.

Positions Open For NY Seniors

Graduating seniors who are legal residents of New York state are eligible to compete in civil service examinatons for state administration positions this March, Kathyrn G. Cook, associate director of the University's Bureau of Vocational Information, said yesterday.

According to information received by Miss Cook's office, the positions available are in professional and technical fields; falling into such categories as administration, bacteriology, chemistry, economics, engineering, journalism, law, library science, recreation, social service, and statistics.

Application to take this examination should be filed by February 16. All details and full particulars can be obtained by those interested writing to the State Department of Civil Service, Albany, New York, or 270 Broadway, New York City.

Carolina Mag Needs New Photographers

The Carolina magazine, plagued by a shortage of photographers, has asked that any competent shutter handlers who may be interested in magazine photography come to the mag office on the second floor of Graham Memorial for an interview.

Editor Fred Jacobson, who made the announcement, paid tribute to Wilson Yarborough's work with the publication, but said that he cannot handle the work without assistance. All materials, Jacobson added, except a camera, are furnished to the photographers.

Weather Stops Industry; Thousands Out Of Work

By United Press

Winter has poked an icicle in the gears of American industry, throwing hundreds of thousands of persons out of work in six states.

The industrial slow-down came as the siege of cold weather brought fuel supplies to a dangerously low level. The weatherman in Chicago says he doesn't know when the cold is going to end. He expects another week of below-normal temperatures for most of the nation east of the Rockies.

The six-state area hard hit by the fuel shortage includes Michigan, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and New York. Natural gas supplies are so low in these states that the gas has been cut off from many industrial users.

Factories Out

Since there is no gas, many factories have shut down.

The hardest-hit cities are the auto center of Detroit, where 200,000 workers have been laid off, and the steel center of Pittsburgh. This morning thousands of workers in Pittsburgh were notified by special radio bulletin not to show up for work. Thousands of others who did show up at their plants were sent home.

In many places, like Rockland County, New York, fuel gas is so low that it has been cut off from industrial users so it can be saved for heating homes. The home heating won't be over-done, either. Residents have been asked to keep their thermostats no higher than 65 during the day and 60 at night.

Apparently the only people in for a break are some 1,200 families in Brooklyn, New York. All day Sunday and yesterday the Brooklynites were without gas heat in their homes because of the drain of supplies. This afternoon a gas company spokesman announced gas heat would be restored to the homes in a few hours.

UVA Open House To Honor ADPi's

The third of the University Veterans association series of open houses at the veterans club behind Lenoir hall will be held tonight with the ADPi's as guests of the association.

Entertainment will be planned by the sorority and a special feature, a "Lion's Hunt" will be conducted by president Johnny Clampitt.

UVA membership tickets will be on sale at the door. The open house will start at 8:15.

Tryouts Tonight For New SF Show

"Roll Them Over" tryouts, to be held at 7:30 in Roland Parker Lounge number two, will take the place of the regular Tuesday night Sound and Fury meeting.

Aspirants for the musical comedy parts may also show their talent at 2 o'clock this afternoon and 7:30 tomorrow night in Gerard hall. Director Tommy Thomas has announced that there are "both straight acting parts and singing and dancing roles." Production work is also available for persons interested in publicity, programs, scenery, lighting, make-up and costumes. Thomas said the organization is looking for "tested and embryonic comedians."

Sound and Fury authors Pete Strader, Ken Gammage, Colbert Leonard, Doris Weaver and Tommy Thomas have announced that, "'Roll Them Over' has been completely written and is ready to go into rehearsal."

Phi Will Discuss UMT At Meeting

The Phi Ways and Means committee will introduce a bill favoring the adoption of universal military training by the United States before the assembly tonight at 7:30 in the Phi hall, fourth floor New East.

Speaker Chester D. zum Brunnen extends his personal invitation to all members of the intramural debate groups to attend the Phi meeting tonight as universal military training will be the topic for debate in the forthcoming intramural tournament.

The Ways and Means committee will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Phi hall.

SP TO MEET

A meeting of Student party members has been scheduled tonight at 9 o'clock in Horace Williams lounge, Graham Memorial.

Nominations will be considered for major spring elections, Chairman Gran Childress announced.

Shotts Says CRIL in Period Of Transition at University

By Margaret Gaston

In discussing the present status of the Council of Religion in Life, Claude C. Shotts, head of the CRIL, said that it is in "a period of transition." In a meeting last fall the CRIL voted to adjourn until "it could get a better definition of what it was doing."

A second vote by the council authorized Mr. Shotts to call a meeting of the CRIL when he deemed it advisable, and to set up means of evaluating the necessity of a CRIL on campus.

The committee which Mr. Shotts appointed to study the CRIL said that some council of religious organizations should be active on campus.

To Meet Next Week

This committee will meet again next week to decide what form the council will take, and what purposes it will serve. Committee members include Mr. Shotts, Vivian Parks, Paul Harman, Joan Schlosburg, George Worth, and Charlie Vache.

In the meeting the committee will summarize the last meeting of the CRIL, prepare an agenda for the next, and discuss possible projects for the council.

According to Mr. Shotts, the new council of religious organizations that will evolve from the meeting might even assume another title.

The reorganized CRIL will not be an activity promoting organization, but a council to discuss campus needs and to decide how these needs should be met. The CRIL itself will not carry out an active program, but will set up committees to formulate plans, and CRIL members will refer decisions back to their constituents.

CRIL Make-Up

The CRIL is made up of campus organizations doing distinctively religious work and of the different church denominational groups.

Last year the CRIL had ceased to become a council, and had become an activity promoting organization, according to Mr. Shotts. Members or the council would act independently of their constituents. The CRIL held several meetings to outline a program for this year, but no conclusive decisions could be reached.

Last February the CRIL sponsored a "Religion in Life Week." and brought 15 eminent speakers in the religious realm to the campus. Also the CRIL arranged for a series of university sermons.

An Answer to the Speaker Problem

At a meeting of student leaders Saturday morning to discuss student activities on the campus, the important question of speakers for the campus was discussed. Similarity between the Carolina Political Union, International Relations Club and the Collegiate Council for the United Nations was also brought out. Since all three organizations seem to have a primary purpose in bringing outstanding national and state figures on speaking appearances to Carolina, the suggestion was made that they might possibly work closer together in a co-ordinated movement for the benefit of the campus as a whole.

Such a plan could be realized if the three groups were assigned to one office in Graham Memorial with desks and file space allotted to each. At the present time, the Carolina chapeter of CCUN shares office space in the Student Union building with the state headquarters of CCUN, the CPU, the Dance Committee and various other clubs not requiring much space or use of the office.

Under the system, as suggested, the IRC could also be assigned space in the room and the three organizations set up an active headquarters for the fullfillment of their purposes. At the present time, the room is used almost entirely by the very active state headquarters of CCUN, whose main interest is not necessarily the University of North Carolina, but that of organizing every school throughout the State. It would be wise, then, if the state headquarters could be assigned another office elsewhere on the campus and let the office in GM be used entirely as a headquarters for organizations directly connected with activity for Carolina.

Speakers have been at an absolute minimum in appearance here for the past six months. The cancellation of Carroll Reece's scheduled speech has only pointed out the unhappy fact that we are rapidly sinking as a "desired" sounding ground for politicians and those interested in national reaction. In the past, Carolina has had such eminent speakers as the President of the United States and senators from a great many states. Five years ago, no one, regardless of his importance or the pressure of business, would cancel or refuse an invitation to appear here unless it was absolutely necessary.

It will not be difficult to regain our reputation as an important university campus for speakers to expound their views. Such a goal cannot be accomplished, however, if we continue in our dilly-dallying present methods of no interest or co-ordination. A system of sharing plans and ideas, as outlined here, by the IRC, CPU and Carolina chapter of CCUN might possibly be the answer to the problem.—B.B.

There'll Probably Be Seats 'Ablenty'

If you had 6,000 seats for a basketball game and 9,000 persons who were entitled to them and wanted to see the game, what would you do? If you put the ducats on the basis of first come, first serve then you would have a mad scramble. Such is the problem which confronted the Athletic Committee for the Duke and State games which are to be played in Woollen Gymnasium.

We believe that the committee which devised the distribution method considered the problem carefully and that their system is fair considering the circumstances. Everyone has an athletic passbook for which he pays when he matriculates at the University. Members of the faculty are given the opportunity of purchasing a passbook. Since it is impossible to get more than half of the owners of the passbooks in the gym at one time, something had to be done.

Basketball is not a close competitor of football in drawing large crowds and the Athletic Committee was not concerned about the number of seats except for two contests —Duke and State. But these two games have proven to be a three-aspirin headache for the members of the committee. They realized that no matter what method they concocted to take care of the crowd there would be many gripes. They knew that just the fact that they were admitting their predicament, by apportioning the crowds between the two games, that there would be a run on the seats. From past experience they reasoned that as soon as you admit there is a scarsity of seats then there is a larger demand for them.

The committee which tried to apportion the seats contained both students and faculty members. They realized that all the students who are holders of ticket books from 500 to 4500 did not all want to go to the Duke game. They knew that there are many who would rather see the State game and others who will not go to see a basketball game no matter who is playing. For this reason the committee believes that there will be plenty of seats for almost everyone who wants to see the games. They anticipate that many will not cash in their passbooks for the ducats and there will be plenty left for those student passbook holders who are eligible to see the State game.

The committee asks you to just wait and see—in all probability you'll get a seat.

Help Others Help Themselves

By Bob Lindsay

Most of us were sweating out final exams last June when Secretary of State Marshall made his famous speech on European recovery. In the weeks after that, we were taking it easy at the beach or somewhere. All the while, the "Marshall Plan" was taking shape.

Next week our senators will begin discussing the plan on the Senate floor. Already the newspapers are full of the plan. But the newspaper reporters have a lot of new things to say about the Marshall plan and they have to assume that we all know what has been going on since last June.

So let's take a look at what the Marshall plan is.

First of all, most of us are convinced that this is One World. We pretty much agree that what happens to the Europeans has a direct bearing on what happens to us.

As a matter of fact, we have acted on this belief. We have either loaned or given about 12 billion dollars to countries of Western Europe since V-E day.

Well, we say, why can't the Europeans get back on their feet?

One of the main reasons is that each country has been trying to operate by itself. The war broke down the network of trade that had allowed the nations to get together in a common marketplace. As a result, the money we gave or loaned helped them to keep alive in a hand-to-mouth way. But it didn't leave them anything with which to rebuild their marketplaces.

So Secretary Marshall suggested last June that the Europeans get together and draw up some plans for knitting their economies back together. Then, he said, they would be using the American dollars for more permanent

(See LINDSAY Page 4)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser. NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson. NIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette. SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears. ASST. BUS. MGR.: Mary W. Sledge. ADVERTISING MGR.: Eaton Holden. SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison. EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Saln, Bill Buchan, Earl Heffner.

REPORTERS: Raney Stanford, John Stump, Jim Spence, Paul Rothman, Sally Woodhull, Donald McDonald, Herbert Nachman, Jr., George Roberts, Bob Rolnik, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Jean Baskerville, Nancy Norman George Drew, Merrily Brooks, Nina Davis, Demont Roseman, Ruth Evans, Ashley Branch, Gordon Huffines, Elaine Patton, Elinor Weltz, Clark Stallworth.

SPORTS WRITERS: Bill Kellam, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Larry Fox, Bill Gallagher, Virginia Forward.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr.

Campus Forum

The Girl That I Marry

By Pete Gerns

For a wife-to-be the college man of today prefers a brunette, 5 foot, 5 inch college graduate who has had courses in home economics or family studies and should have taken part in athletics while in college. "Campus Forum" polled 300 students over last weekend in cooperation with Mademoiselle magazine and got these answers:

The college man prefers: brunette: 176, blonde: 92, red-head: 8, auburn: 4, and no special preference: 20.

Her height: should be: 5-1 (9), 5-2 (9), 5-3 (30), 5-4 (42), 5-5 (48), 5-6 (39), 5-7 (33), 5-8 (27), 5-9 (18), 5-10 and over (12), don't care (33).

Should she be a college graduate? was answered: yes (198), 2 years of college (63); 39 students felt that a high school education was sufficient.

Questioned on the major subject she should have studied while in school, the following opinions were voiced: Home economics (81), arts and sciences (69), sociology (33); psychology (22), medicine (15), physical education (10), natural science (16), undecided (54). Besides recommending major in home economics, 147 students advocated a necessity in taking courses in the field of home economics and family, while 72 felt them to be superfluous.

The last question asked was in which extra-curricular activity the girl they wanted to marry should have taken part. Of those polled 83 students felt that no importance could be attached to this phase of college life, 85 preferred the athletically-minded girl. 46 came out for social activities (sororities not included). 32 advocated interest in student government on the part of the girl, 23: something of a literary nature, such as literary clubs, 12 stood up for music, 20 emphasized participation in sorority affairs, and 3 liked girls taking part in religious affairs.

Here are several comments: "I do not care if my wife-to-be is more learned than I, but she should be intelligent enough to realize the danger of a marriage where misbalances of intelligence occur. She should definitely have an active sense of humor and an unpsychotic personality." J. L. Lamm.

"The girl that I want to marry does not have to be a 'beauty', but she should have a striking appearance, be a good conversationalist and have many interests that would keep her mind stimulated at all times. Her political and religious ideas should be nearly the same as mine but enough difference so as there would be stimulating discussion and thought on the two subjects." William H. Duncan.

". . .she should have a great deal of self-reliance—not independence, should not be the clinging vine type. She should have a sincere interest in the welfare of the underprivileged; should be willing to 'take a drink' occasionally but still maintain good religious and moral principles, should believe in tolerance and object to discriminations and try to develop an understanding and philosophical approach to people and self and their environments." Irving O. Barker.

Question for Friday: Do you think that UMT (Universal Military Training) will lead to war.

Carolina Carousel

Combined Mag Is the Answer

By R. Foo Giduz

Well, it's good to see our buddy Randy "R. Haskell-Keeping Tabs-Stud" Hamilton back again today, in an adjoining column.... Randy's the one character who's been around UNC a few quarters longer than the Carouseler, and so he has the nerve to be just as arbitrary in his writing as C. C. is.

Good old friend-of-the-people Randy says in his column he thinks UNC should continue to have both a humor and a literary magazine, though he does not particularly care himself... A campus vote on the magazines question is due Feb. 17, so Randy is earnestly trying to clarify the issue for great unknowing-Carona-voting-public ... With all due respect for R. Haskell's opinions ld Carousel will try to most simply state why he favors a combined humor and literary magazine...(Hope you'll remember it at the polls.)

—So the humor and literary magazines were first combined during the war purely as an economy measure...A mighty fine reason, indeed, and a good reason why they should again be combined! It would nearly halve production costs, even with a double-size mag...And try and give one good reason why humor and literary content cannot harmoniously exist under the same cover! The top national magazines do it: Look at Esquire, New Yorker...In March, 1942 the Carolina Magazine, a combined literary and humor gadget, was awarded the title of the BEST collegiate magazine in America! —Proof enough?

Historian Hamilton states there is room enough and adequate talent on the campus for both a humor and literary mag. . .So there is, so there is. . .(Though the caliber of present mags doesn't prove it; however that is not the main point!)...The fact that there is "room" and "adequate talent" for two separate mags is no argument at all against a combined one, and certainly is no license for spending funds which could be saved, were the two ombined.

That's how simple it is: There's no good reason why they shouldn't be combined. . .Thanks to Randy for his good presentation of the need for both humor and literary production on the campus. . .And the Carouseler agrees the mag referendum is not entirely fair, in that students will unconsciously be voting on the merits of the LAST Carolina Mag and the LAST Tarnation, and NOT on whether or not there should be separate or combined magazines, or none at all, etc. That is the main question, not Tarnation vs. Carolina Magazine.

Think of THAT at the polls.

Audit Board Report

Statement of Income and Expense
For the Year ended June 30, 1947

Income
Initiation Fees	$ 77.50
Dues	195.00
Membership Certificates	12.00
Fines	14.60
Assessments	65.75
Gifts	78.00
Miscellaneous
Pins	40.50
Keys	8.10
Banquets	18.00
Total Income		$ 509.45
Expense
Auditing & Bookkeeping	$ 10.00
Salaries — Janitor	22.50
Supplies	6.91
Postage, Telephone & Telegraph	16.71
Travel and Convention	15.00
Printing	35.10
Yackety Yack Space	80.00
Miscellaneous Expense	36.35
Donations and Gifts	5.00
Banquets and Entertainment	105.91
Total Expense		333.48
Net Profit		$ 175.97

Tarnation and Carolina Mag

Former Editor Wants Both

By Randy H. Hamilton

As the only person, presently on the campus, who was an editor of both the Carolina Magazine and Tar an' Feathers, I think I am qualified to speak about the current question concerning the current literary and humor magazines. I am not personally concerned with the partisan fight now raging. I do not care which decision the student body makes. But, I have noted a lack of correct historical information in the current discussions and I desire to correct this fog of misinformation and confusion.

In the first place, Tar an Feathers was not abolished. Contrary to popular opinion, this magazine was combined with the literary magazine at the same time we did away with big-name dance bands in 1943; as an economy measure. At that time I opposed consolidation of the magazines and I oppose the proposed referendum at this time for one and the same reason. The reason, simply stated, is that, given sufficient talent there is enough room on this campus for BOTH a humor magazine and a literary magazine. We have formerly turned out excellent magazines of both types. It is not fair to make a snap judgement on the basis of one issue of Tarnation, as to whether or not this magazine should be allowed to continue as a student supported venture. The same goes for the Carolina magazine. We are not discussing the matter of Fred Jacobson or Tookie Hodgson. We are concerned with the matter of publications on the University of North Carolina campus.

A humor magazine has not, with the one exception of an article picked up by Pvt. Hargrove, put forth anything of lasting merit. It has, however, supplied a felt need for humor, laughs, a bit of relief from the study grind and an occasional off-color joke.

On the other hand, the Carolina Magazine is a magazine of honored and worthy tradition. It goes out of this state and has a circulation list of... rest of the Unite... deed throughout... doubt a hume... likewise enjoy th... cannot take a... would jeapardi... of this literary m... article a year i... worthy of nation... tion. . .then th... zine has fulfille... This campus ca... and should not b... of the state su... of a humor maga... produce guffaw... quadrangle. Th... zine was one of... cations to publ... of Carolina's gre... and leading w... Thomas Wolfe ... a forum for futu... of an equal talen... will be remembe... and linked wit... Magazine long a... have been forgo...

In recent year... Magazine has pu... ings of Walter... Sandburg, Toman... Howard Odum (... cover of the Satur... Literature and lea... and Jimmy Cox ... honored only last y... one of his short st... in a collection dedi... "outstanding you... ent in America".

Miss Toman's poem... appeared just three... months ago are schedu... be published by a New... publishing house, shortly. Carolina Magazine has the h... or of being the first publi... tion to recognize her worth ... print her poetry. I say tha... is absolutely essential that ... take no action which would ... pordize this magazine's exist... ce, else we might just as ... close up the creating w... division of the English dep... ment and fire Phillips Rus... who has been called one of ... outstanding teachers in the f... of creative writing, in Ame...

This campus, likewise ... produce humorous mate... an equal calibre. As with ... call attention to the s... Columbia Scholastic Press ... our humor mags have w... the past. In the field of Jo... ism these awards are eq... a bowl bid in football. . .a... extra-curricular activity I ... sure we would not jeapar...

It is not wise or prud... endanger these publicati... the present time. These are h... tic times and I am certain ... both editors will agree with ... in saying that the talent ... not come forth this year. I ... that should not force us to t... action which would shut off ... outlet for this talent in the fut... This talent will be heard, an... will be present at Carolina a... We cannot afford to jeapa... the publications which will ... as a vehicle for the talent in ... field of Journalism which ... University is dedicated to te... ing. Literary and humor ta... must be able to assert the ... eratas of the University's m... Certainly a serious writer ca... work at liberty if he has ... outlet for his talents, nor can ... afford to stifle the talent ... futuer Ring Lardner, Bob Be... ley or Bret Harte.

World Federalist Papers

The Great Challenge

By Hale Chamberlain

The Student Chapter of United World Federalists, with this issue of the Daily Tar Heel, is starting a weekly column to bring information on world government to students and readers. It will attempt to measure up to the high standard set by Russell Baldwin's "The Exigency of the Age" last year. Our aim is therapeutic and our remedy is guaranteed to cast out devils if applied; meaning we do not recommend waiting to see if the patient is going to die before trying it out.

There are, we feel, too many of us ready to drop all attention to the suffering victim as soon as the quacks pronounce his doom. Like Mark Twain's undertaker, we wait patiently by the bedside, watch in hand.

We are all undertakers, waiting uneasily for something to happen, something to snap and presto—we will know what to do. The patient that died will be Hope. The thing to do will be to die also—by war, famine, or disease. We do not realize that what we are really waiting for is deliverance from anxiety, tension, and indecision. There will be space in future columns to explore how we got saddled with this problem. How, for instance, small warring states were forged into nations by political unification, how our present international struggling may be ended by a similar unification through a strengthened United Nations, and how psychological well-being is dependent for most of us on a secure and peaceful world.

This column will not follow a rigid plan but intends to be varied and interesting, including pertinant news, quotes from such prominent world federalists as Einstein and Carl Van Doren, reviews of books with critical attention to those misguided authors who haven't seen the light, and soon, probably next week, the regular appearance of portions of The Wild Flag, a collection of E. B. White's comments on world government in the New Yorker.

The Student Chapter of United World Federalists meets regularly on Thursday at 5 p. m. in the Grail Room, Graham Memorial. The president, Jake Wicker, and the sixty-odd members are sincerely concerned that many more students read up on world government—such books as The Anato-

(See CHAMBERLAIN Page 4)

Write Away

Don't Sandbag Unitarians

Dear Sir:

Leave us not sandbag the Unitarians. It's always good to have at least one good, solid unpersecuted minority held in reserve —untouched, so to speak. They make up about the only such minority group I can think of right now. Imagine the confusion resulting if the huge population who constitute the persecuting majority should discover one day they'd given fresh out of minorities to bedevil. The Result: Anarchy? Civil War? I ask you, sir: does your proposal constitute little short of treason, or doesn't it?

About this guy who still believes in Santa Claus, though: better approach him with caution. If he's gotten this far believing in S. C. without having somebody cash-in his chips for him he probably has some pretty formidable tricks up his sleeve.

Frank Kilpatrick

Dear Sir:

Come now, is there so little happening on our thriving campus that you are forced to print, IT IS GENERALLY BELIEVED THAT GILBERT, OF THE GILBERT AND SULLIVAN TEAM, WAS TONE DEAF, on the front page of the Tar Heel. That is pretty stale news; especially since the old boy has been dead since 1911. Besides, he wrote the words rot the music.

Howard B. Keller

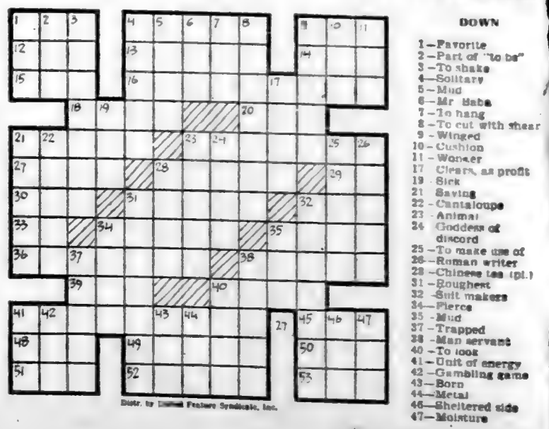
What's Up In Graham Memorial

GM GRIND:

—You never know what's coming next in the GM office. . . Other day a gruff sounding gent called up via long distance and demanded to speak to the president of the Non-Political union... Office manager Mrs. Dorothy Cooke politely explained there was no Non-Political union on the campus; the gent said there d---well was. . .He finally found out he wanted the Carolina Political union, got sore, and hung up!

—Next thing Dotty knew some student walked in and wanted to borrow the union's large punch bowl to keep some gold-fish in! . .Wot next?

Shostakovitch's Ninth symphony will be played on this evening's recorded dinner music concert.



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZ...

ACROSS

1—Fixed
4—To gather
9—Wine cup
12—To stray
13—Flowering bush
14—Code
15—Pipe joint
16—To start
18—Coal source
20—To place
21—To walk
23—To assist
27—Vale
28—Game fish (pl.)
29—Virginia (abbr.)
30—Beverage
31—Seat
32—To cure leather
33—To leave
34—Turf
35—Pace
36—To put in care of
38—A thin dress material
39—To free
40—Prison (slang)
41—Fundamental
45—Ancient
48—Fish eggs
49—To grab
50—Female ruff
51—Deity
52—Belief
53—To stitch

DOWN

1—Favorite
2—Part of "to be"
3—To shake
4—Solitary
5—Mud
6—Mr. Baba
7—To hang
8—To cut with shear
9—Winged
10—Cushion
11—Wonder
17—Clears, as profit
19—Sick
21—Saving
22—Cantaloupe
23—Animal
24—Goddess of discord
25—To make use of
26—Roman writer
28—Chinese tea (pl.)
31—Roughest
32—Silt makers
34—Pierce
35—Mud
37—Trapped
38—Man servant
40—To look
41—Unit of energy
42—Gambling game
43—Born
44—Metal
46—Sheltered side
47—Moisture

Carolina Swamps VPI, 68-35, In Rough And Tumble Battle

Back Tracking In Sports

Morty Schaap

Cold Weekend

Twas a cold and gloomy night on the 23 of January when the trackmen took over Philadelphia's Convention Hall. Carolina had five entries but none could produce.

The weather and the competition all took its effect on the Tar Heel cindermen. The weather was at five degrees and the competition at 212 degrees. The first light blue runner to toe the mark was Bob Morrow in the 50-yard high hurdles. He took an early lead in his heat and beat off a late challenge to win in 6.8 seconds. In the semi finals, with two men qualifying for the finals Morrow captured third place behind Ed Dugger and Bill Mitchell. Dugger is National hurdle champion and Mitchell is one of the East's top timber toppers.

The next Carolinian on the firing line was Jack Moody in the high jump. He went out after clearing 6 feet 2 inches and the winners went 6 feet 5. Incidentally Moody is still in Philadelphia running a high temperature.

Next to bat was Jack Milne. He and Bill Hulse of New York AC battled each other for the lead in the first lap with Milne winning that duel. The Tar Heel was clocked in 0.59.5 for the first quarter and he had about a 20-yard lead. He still led the pack at the half mile in 2:06. After this though, the field quickly went scooting by and at the finish Milne was in the last spot. The event was won by Gerry Karver of Penn State who nosed out Browning Ross of Villanova and Les MacMitchell of NYAC. The time 4:16.8 was excellent for the Philadelphia 12 lap track.

Carolina's representative in the John Borican Memorial 1000-yard run was freshman Bob Black. Black took off quickly and maintained the lead until the 880-yard point when the entire field breezed by him. The winner was bespectacled Reggie Pearman, a lanky Negro from NYU, who nosed out Roscoe Browne of the Pioneer club.

The final Tar Heel entry was Jimmy Miller in the Lawson Robertson two-mile run. He trailed all through the race and took xth place. The event was the best of the evening as Forest Taw, Oklahoma farmer, nosed out Curt Stone of the Shanahan AC by inches in 9 17.8.

Moving On

Saturday evening operations moved over to the University of Pennsylvania's Palestra for the basketball game between the Tar Heel quintet and the Penn Quakers. Penn was a decided underdog but the Tar Heels tried hard to present them with the game. The Palestra was open with its new lighting for the first time in that contest. Some 1,000 fans were all that showed up for the tilt. The majority of Philly fans went to Convention hall to see the West Kentucky-St. Joseph and LaSalle-Temple encounters.

Carolina took the lead early in the game and managed to stay well ahead until the closing minutes of the first stanza when Herb Lyon went on a scoring rampage. With just seconds to go the Scottmen were behind one point and as the final whistle sounded Rog Scholbe dumped in a one-hander to give the Blue clad team a one-poin half time lead.

After Scott talked to the boys at halftime they came out on the floor and took a big lead only to find the Quakers start bouncing back late in the contest. However, the Tar Heels beat off the rally and froze the ball till the end of the game.

Herb Lyon tallied 17 points in the first half and added 9 in the closing stanza. He was also very adept at controlling the ball under the backboards. Lyon resembles Joe Fulks of the Philadelphia Warriors with his turn around jump shot. However, he scored most of his points on tip ins from under the baskets.

The cage squad left immediately after the game by railroad and arrived in Chapel Hill about five o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Upon arrival at the Penn Sheraton after the game Saturday night we were informed of the swimmers' scuttling of Navy. It sounded good and we an done of the local Admirals discussed the merits of the various events. It was decided that Navy needed a civilian coach in swimming too....Word arrived a little later from Boston that Jack Milne had felt sick and was forced to drop out of the two-mile race at the Boston garden.

Closing Shots

On the way to New York after Friday night's track meet the discussion turned to Olympic talk and in on the discussion were such stars as Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace, Joe Ciancabella of Manhattan, Joe McClusky of NYAC and many other track luminaries. It was agreed that US atletes will dominate the sprints and hurdles and most of the weight events but after that it would be a dog fight.....Temple showed Philly fans plenty by dropping La Salle from the ranks of the undefeated.....Track cycle mover to Madison Square Garden for the Millrose games Saturday night.....

Undefeated Sextettes Risk Records

Once again the Women's gym will be bustling with activity as play in the coed basketball tournament is resumed tonight with three games on tap.

Tonight's feature tussle finds the lovelies of Chi Omega and the Tri Delts risking their perfect court records. Once-beaten ADPi feces Carr in another battle of the beauties and Smith and Spencer dorms, whose sextettes have bitten the dust in league play once, will wind up the night's activities.

ADPi and Carr meet at 7:00, Chi Omega and the Tri Delts tangle at 7:15, and Smith and Spencer battle it out at 8:00. Action in the loop will continue on Thursday night when four contests are slated.

Wide Margins Mural Feature

The Beta 1 quintet saw Phi Delt 1 racking up an astronomical score against TEP 1 and became so inspired that they rolled to a 93-22 victory over ZBT.

The Betas got off to a fast start and were ahead 41-2 at the half. Ken Powell, who plays end for Carl Snavely during the football season, was high man with 46 points. Teammate Paul Von Brammer turned in a highly respectable 20 markers to place second. Top scorer for ZBT was Bob Feldman with nine.

Although they weren't the most potent squad in the Tin Can, the Phi Delts had no reason to feel disgraced. They continued their winning streak by bowling over TEP I, 63-12. Ott Evans paced the victors with an even 20 points. Harry Watkins scored 16 and Walt Haywood notched 13.

KA 1 also caught the fever and trmapled ATO 1 by 50 points, 61-11. Tom Belk was high scorer with 16 markers. Don McLeod, 13 and Grady Sheford and Randy Smith with 12 each completed the scoring parade. It may or may not be a coincidence, but all three of these wild and wooly contests were played at four o'clock.

In the opening match of the handball tourney, Phi Delt 2 shut out ATO 1, 3-0, by capturing both doubles and the singles encounters. Zeta 2 won by forfeit over Sig Ep 1.

Mural Schedule

BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 3: PiKa 2 vs. DKE 1; Court 4: Zeta 1 vs. Sig Nu 3; Court 5: Unknowns vs Lewis 3; Court 6: Wesley Rockets vs. Comets; Court 7: Emerson vs. Fireballs.

5:00—Court 3: Lambda Chi vs. Chi Psi 2; Court 4: Kappa Psi 1 vs. Sig Ep 2; Court 5: Phi Gam 1 vs. AEPi: Court 6: DKE 2 vs. St. Anthony; Court 7: SAE 3 vs. Phi Kap 3.

7:00—Court 3: KA 2 vs. Kappa Psi 2: Court 4: Phi Gam 2 vs. ATO 3: Court 5: TEP 2 vs. Phi Kap 2: Court 6: Alexander 1 vs. Black Balls; Court 7: Honeycutt Manor vs. Seiler Five.

8:00—Court 3: Graham 2 vs. Cruds: Court 4: Coon vs. Miller Hall: Court 5: Oakwood Drive vs. BVP 1; Court 6: Old East vs. Aycock: Court 7: Everett 2 vs. Lewis 1.

HANDBALL

4:00—Beta 1 vs. Sig Nu 2
5:00—Chi Phi vs. Kappa Sig 1

RIFLESHOOTING

7:30 Chi Psi (orientation firing)

MONOGRAM CLUB MEETS

The Monogram club will meet tonight in 304 Woolen at 7:30. President Bill Pritchard has announced. Assistant Athletic Director Chuck Erickson will address the group on the construction progress of the new clubhouse.

Jamerson, Mermen Pleased By Navy Win

By Bill Kellam

Coach Dick Jamerson and his Blue Dolphins were contented yesterday afternoon but it wasn't because they drink Carnation milk, which, according to the ads, comes from contented cows. They were satisfied because they'd achieved the aquatic impossible—they'd almost run Navy's supposedly invincible swimmers out of their own splashing grounds.

On Friday morning when the Dolphins shoved off from Chapel Hill for their meeting with Navy's supposedly big bad mermen, campus nautical enthusiasts who had been keeping up with the Middies' chlorinical exploits feared for the local splashers safety. However, the skillful tutleage of Jamerson and his invaluable assistant, Ralph Casey, had brought the Blue and White strokers to the point where they were ready for anything and—as the future admirals to their great discomfit discovered—the Dolphins were.

Jamerson Almost Lyrical

When queried at the undefeated Carolina tankmens' first post meet workout yesterday afternoon, Jamerson was almost lyrical in his praise of his hustling charges' performance. The Carolina mentor, who is certainly the newspaperman's dream where cooperation is concerned, had this statement and all the information that this journalistic effort is based on all ready.

The head Dolphin stated, "In 13 years of coaching, Saturday's performance was the finest team showing that I've ever seen. Every man swam as fast or faster than at any time in his career. The boys paced themselves perfectly in the 220 and 440, particularly. We had worked hard on that phase of the races and they were almost split-second perfect with their practice efforts. The last lap drive which brought us first or seconds in several events was most gratifying. It was one of those perfect days in a life time."

Praises Casey

Jamerson also had words of praise for his able assistant, Ralph Casey. "No little of the success to date is due to Ralph Casey who works with the sprinters and backstrokers and is, as far as I'm concerned, the finest coach and assistant in the business."

The veteran breststroker, once curley headed Bob Ousley, and youthful freshman backstroker, Jim Thomas, crawled off with the individual honors for the Dolphins.

According to Jamerson, "The Kid" outfought Navy's star backstroker, Don Lechner, in the last 25 yards of the event with a terrific spurt that not only gave him first place but also set a new university and dual record. Jamerson "knew he had the ability but didn't think that he was ready yet."

Ousley Shines

Ousley, sidlined for five years by a pob with Uncle Sam, bettered his own previous top performance by 4.7 seconds. Jerry Cook, the other Tar Heel breaststroker, improved his Florida time by 4 seconds and also finished ahead of the two Navy men who had beaten him badly in the 1947 slaughter of the Dolphins.

Mat Team Idle For One Week

With one victory and one defeat under their belts, Coach Chuck Quinlan's mat crew began preparations yesterday for their first match away from home with Davidson on February 4.

Putting in a lengthy workout yesterday, the grapplers concentrated on correcting mistakes made in last week's bout.

Last week's preliminary bouts showed that the Tar Heel crew has a good supply of young wrestlers for future teams. Such men as Tom Gilman, Dave Beecher, Lyne Bond, and Tom Chatham proved their worth by gaining victories over State's representatives.

There was still hope yesterday that the ineligibility ruling against Co-Captain Irv Zirpel would be reversed. Coach Quinlan, Co-Captain Bill Kemp, and Zirpel have been investigating the possibilities of getting the ruling reversed on the grounds that service in the government should be counted as war service.

Should Zirpel become eligible again, the matmen would stand a good chance of retaining the conference crown which they won last year.

King Cole Goes On 18 Point Spree; Nyimicz, Paxton, Kohler Also Star

By Dick Jenrette

Carolina's White Phantoms returned to the Woollen gy floor last night after three mediocre northern showings, ar Coach Tom Scott's boys found the home surroundings cor pletely to their liking, rolling up a 68-35 triumph over Virginia Tech.

The Phantoms were hitting the basket with amazing accuracy on their long shots, and there was little that the Gobblers, who employed the zone defense, could do to stop Carolina. Mervin (King) Cole, Phantom guard, led the assault with 18 points

The victory was the 14th of the season for Carolina which has lost but two games. Coach Scott's charges now have six wins without defeat in Southern conference competition, a record which merits them the top position in the loop. The win, incidentally, was the second of the season for Carolina over VPI

Team Was Hot

Last night Carolina probably displayed more accuracy in shooting than any time this season The passing was good also, and the combination left the visitors little to cheer about.

Captain Bob Paxton opened the evening's scoring by dropping in a foul shot after 1:30 to give Carolina a lead it held throughout. That point also was Paxton's 200th of the season. He added another free shot just 20 seconds later, but Crennie Reed matched this with a VPI gratis toss.

Cole got hot for Carolina and hit a long set and a layup. Paxton got a follow shot, and Nemo Nearman added a free throw to give Carolina a 9-3 lead after wour minutes of playing time

Nyimicz Looks Good

Dickson, Virginia Tech's 6-8 center, looped in a hook, but Dan Nyimicz, who played an extremely good game at forward, swished set from the side and Nearman garnered two foul shots for 13-5 lead at 6:05

Dickson managed a foul sh for the Gobblers and Jack Shoel ey connected on two field go attempts, but meanwhile the r hot Phantoms peppered the ne from all angles to build a 21- lead. Chambers added anoth Tech free throw to narrow t lead to 21-11.

With Cole showing the w the Carolina outfit rushed to t traight points before VPI cou tally. Three goals by Cole,

(See VARSITY, Page 4)

Weak Squawk. . .

Carolina	fg	ft	pf	tp
Paxton f	5	3	1	13
Swartzberg	1	0	2	2
Scholbe f	1	0	1	2
Nyimicz	5	0	5	10
Carson	0	0	0	0
Nearman c	1	3	3	5
Dillon	2	3	1	7
Kohler g	3	3	3	9
Ryan	0	0	0	0
Nathan	0	0	0	0
Cole g	9	0	3	18
Thorne	1	0	0	2
Weinstein	0	0	0	0
Totals	28	12	19	68

VPI	fg	ft	pf	tp
Reed f	1	0	1	2
Sayre	0	0	0	0
Shockey f	3	1	1	7
Pruitt	0	0	0	0
Dickson c	3	4	4	10
Pohle	0	0	0	0
Ashburner	0	0	0	0
Chambers g	1	4	4	6
Fisher	2	3	1	7
Wriston g	0	2	5	2
Cole	0	1	0	1
Harris	0	0	1	0
Totals	10	15	17	35

Halftime Score: UNC 39, VPI 2
Officials: Dunham & Hawn.

Winter Sports Are in Season

Editors' note: The DTH sports staff stands corrected regarding its report that snow conditions "are anything but good" for winter sports activities over the past weekend. Reader Dutton promises to be on hand tonight to supervise the Eisgleiten slides for all local snowbirds. We'll be there to provide coverage, unless the snow completely melts away.

Dear Sports Editors:

Despite your gloomy predictions as to winter sport activities in Chapel Hill over the weekend, the sport of EISGLEITEN did not suffer either from lack of participants or suitable "race-courses". With several days of conditioning under the belts of all sportsmen, it is time to hold the General College championship before current weather conditions give way.

Therefore I propose that all challengers meet at what seems to be the best course on the central campus, the walk from the South end of Alumni Building to the Pharmacy Building. The opening "run" will be made at 10 p.m. Tuesday night, moonlight permitting, allowing four hours of freezing after sundown.

See you there, Sport's Editors.

W. C. DUTTON, JR.

QUALITY FURNISHINGS at E. A. Brown Furniture Co. Next to City Hall Phone 6586

All Occasions
Flowers say it better
REHDERS
CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Opposite Post Office corner

Carolina Sport Shop

Presents

Long sleeved sport shirts for winter warmth—Campus casuals in

Gabardines
Wool Flannel
by Pendleton
Hessler

Carolina Sport Shop

Tap Room Now Open

THE BUCCANEER

Airport Road, Chapel Hill

The Screen's Great Romantic Star

James Mason
Rosamund JOHN
Pamela KELLINO

THE UPTURNED GLASS

Also
Carolina News
CARTOON
NOW PLAYING
Carolina

-Geer-

demy, George Washington and Furman University in addition to the University of North Carolina.

Mr. Geer has already begun his research in the University Library and in Raleigh. Shortly he will make extended trips to Washington, D. C., Shelby and other places throughout the state, gathering materials and talking with many of the North Carolinians who knew O. Max Gardner. It was pointed out that the present availability of materials and informants was one reason why the work was begun at this time rather than waiting for some years.

BECAUSE ARAB SNIPERS have been making their way into Tel Aviv, Palestine, a Haganah sentry, aided by Palestine policeman looks for contraband in the wares of an itinerant trader. Officers have taken up positions in the No-Man's-Land between Jewish Tel Aviv and Arab Jaffa and all Arab travelers are searched. (International)

-Chamberlain-

my Of Peace by Emery Reeves or Peace or Anarchy by the president of United World Federalists, Inc., Cord Meyer, Jr.—and come to meetings, join and participate in committee activities. The Radio Committee arranges and provides speakers, in collaboration with the Duke Chapter UWF, for the program on WDUK at 5 p. m. Sundays. The publicity Committee lets you know where and when the world government speakers will be—

—and the Writers Committee will be doing this column, writing scripts for the radio program and articles for statewide newspapers and magazines.

DUKE TICKETS

All students who have not picked up their tickets for the Carolina-Duke basketball game on February 7 are urged to do so as soon as possible.

Those students holding activity books numbered from 500-4500 and faculty members holding books numbered 8000-8500 are eligible to see the game. The ticket office is open from 9 to 5 from Monday through Friday and from 9 to 1 on Saturday.

-Lindsay-

ends. Eventually, they could support themselves and would no longer need handouts from us.

The Marshall plan has another angle, too. The Russians say they've been bringing freedom and happiness to the people of Eastern Europe. They say the Marshall plan is a scheme of Wall st. to stop the spread of Communism into other European countries.

Let's look at this argument.

Many Americans think the Russians are taking advantage of the hunger and chaos, and spreading Communism by strong-arm tactics. If this is the case, then the Marshall plan will slow down the Communist expansion by reducing the hunger and chaos. Everybody will agree that we are against strong-arm tactics.

But some argue that the Russians are not forcing Communism on the people. They say that the people know a good thing when they see it and have set up their own Communist governments.

All right, let's suppose Communism is the wonderful thing the Russians say it is. Then the Marshall plan will allow these people to have as much of it as they like. The only thing we in America insist is that the people be allowed to make their own free choice. Secretary Marshall, Bernard Baruch, and others have said this over and over. We cannot ask the people to change their form of government if we expect the Marshall plan to work. We can ask only that the form of government express the free will of the people.

Under the Marshall plan, the Europeans will be able to stand on their own feet. Then, they can make a more logical choice than when they are groveling in the muck to keep alive, as they are now.

The Marshall plan will help Europeans to help themselves.

(Later on, we can look into other phases of the Marshall plan)

FRENCH CLUB

Genevieve Tacher, native of Algeria, will give a talk at this evening's meeting of Le Cercle Francais at 7:30 in Caldwell "Y." Beforehand the roup will eat supper together in the Carolina inn at 6:45.

Club officers elected last week for the winter quarter were Bill Bill Barkin, president; Jean Riden, vice-president; Elizabeth Thomas, secretary; and Ed Duke, treasurer.

CLASSIFIED

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

BAPTIST NURSERY SCHOOL HAS A few vacancies—full day with lunch or half day for children 2 to school age. Contact Miss Lucy Horne, 9741. (1-c1678-1)

FOR SALE 5B

MUST SELL TWO PEDIGREED Cocker Spaniel puppies. Can be seen at Nathan Veternary Hospital on Durham Road. Owner T. W. Oliver, Box 1104. (1-1666-1)

MALL ELECTRIC OVEN. IDEAL FOR Apartment or trailer. 110 vots. F. W. Bonner, 302 Pittsboro Street. (1-1673-1)

HEATER. BURNHAM ELECTRIC steam radiator, thermostatically controlled—$50. Ideal for small room or supplement to other heat in large room. 54 University Trailer Court. (1-1676-1)

5 Cu. FT. FRIGIDAIRE: DOUBLE INnerspring mattress and box springs; rug. Call Anderson, F-3791. (1-1675-1)

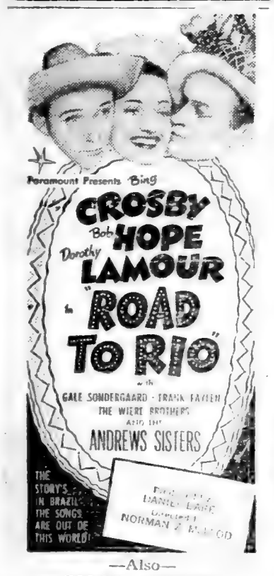
FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6bb

1938 FORD, TUDOR SEDAN, RADIO—good tires. Caston Motor Company. F-3896. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE OR SWAP

MAPLE WARDROBE, ROOMY, PRACtically new. Will sell $30 or swap for comfortable easy chair in good condition. Call Harold Morris, Chi Phi House, F-3041. (1-1670-1)

LOST 12



SINCE LAST THURSDAY WEEK, FEmale reddish brown cocker spaniel—1 yr. old. Answers to name "Duchess." Call Mrs. Brittain, 8221 daytime, 4156 night. Reward. (1-1681-1)

RONSON LIGHTER WITH INITIALS CBS in library or between library and Lenoir. Finder please return to C. B. Smith, 112 Lewis or "Y" information desk. (1-1679-1)

BROWN LEATHER WALLET WITH identification cards. If found, please, please notify Rita Adams, News Bureau, 7201. Reward. (1-1677-1)

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

PHILCO RADIOS
Sales and Repairs
Ogburn Furniture Co.
312-314 W. Franklin
Phone 5841

—Also—
COLOR CARTOON
TODAY
VILLAGE

Quick Service
DURHAM OPTICAL COMPANY
215 W. Main St.
Phone F-2141 Durham

RECORDS
Hear
Sabre Dance
A Sentimental Date
with Perry Como
at
Ab's Intimate Bookshop

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

"Forever Ambergers"—at HARRY'S

Campus Calendar

4:00 p.m. . Publications board, Roland Parker no. 1.
4:00 p.m. . YM-YWCA, Horace Williams lounge.
5:00 p.m. . Johnston county club, Roland Parker no. 3.
6:00 p.m. . Canterbury club, Episcopal parish house.
6:30 p.m. . Recorded dinner music, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
7:00 p.m. . Bridge tournament, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
7:00 p.m. . Campus party, Roland Parker no. 3.
7:00 p.m. . Coed Senate, Horace Williams lounge.
7:00 p.m. . Sigma Kappa Epsilon, Grail room.
7:30 p.m. . A. V. C. meeting, Presbyterian church.
7:30 p.m. . Sound and Fury meeting, Roland Parker no. 2.
7:30 p.m. . Phi Assembly, 4th floor, New East.
9:00 p.m. . Student Party, Horace Williams lounge.
9:00 p.m. . Alpha Epsilon Delta, Grail room.

MODELED by Miss Emily Reagan, this bathing suit was one of the many designs exhibited at the New York Dress institute's annual show. Made from cotton, in brown and black print, it is the creation of designer Janice Milan. (International) push by Paxton, and Nyimicz set made the score 31-11, and from there on the game was strictly no contest.

-Varsity-

John Dillon came in and promptly hit a hook to enliven the game. At half-time Carolina held a 39-20 lead.

Second Half

The second half did not see the Phantoms in quite so torrid a form, and after about nine minutes Carolina held a 52-31 lead, hich was only two points greater than the half-time deficit of 19 points.

At this joint Carolina went to work to account for 14 points in the next eight minutes to only two for VPI. Cole started the spree by taking a neat pass from Nearman for a layup, and he added a one-hander a few seconds later.

Fisher successfully followed a Tech shot to make the count read 56-33, Carolina. Paxton then connected on two of his special push shots from the corner, Scholbe was good on a one-hand effort, Dillon got two foul tosses. and Swartzberg rammed home a one-hand shot. Carolina then led by 66-34.

Passes Century Mark

A hook by Dillon and a VPI free throw rounded out the scoring for the night. That hook enabled Dillon to go over the 100-point mark this season. He now has 101 markers. He is the team's fourth high scorer, trailing Paxton, Kohler, and Nearman.

Other Carolinians who staged 2nd in the 100 yard grind, and Floyd Drew and Steve Ousbourne Jesse Greenbaum who copped Merriwell finishes to place in their events included co-captain who placed in the 50.

At half-time the Town Terrors defeated the Hill Hotshots by 6 to 2 count. Shepherd and Fitch each got three for the winners while Abernathy scored the Hotshots' lone points.

Coach G. F. Laird of Virginia Tech made up in some degree for his team's uncolorful performance. He kept the crowd of 4,000 in an uproar with antics which expressed his disapproval of the officiating.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT

Beginners and experts are encouraged to attend this evening's Graham Memorial bridge tournament by acting director Harold Cheek. Contest play will begin at 7 o'clock in the main lounge of the student union. Nationally recognized master points will be awarded as prizes.

No entry fee is charged for the tourneys, Cheek said, and players may come with or without partners.

TWO BLOCKS WEST OF CITY HALL
You'll Find A Solution To All Laundry Problems
HELPY-SELFY
AUTOMATIC LAUNDRY
Bendix Machines
W. Rosemary St.

WHY NOT CALL F-3801 WHEN YOU NEED A CAB?
Your Friends Do . . .
F-3801 — F-3801
INDEPENDENT CAB

BALDWIN'S
Marine Room
Durham
Breakfast 7:45—10:30
Luncheon 11:00—2:30
Tea Hours 2:30—5:30
Dinner 5:00—6:00
Mrs. Jennie S. Thurston
Phone 9491

Bull's Head Bookshop
GAMOW: One. Two Three. Innnity
Browse — Rent — Buy

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

Carolina Pharmacy
"your REXALL store"
offers BARGAINS IN DRUGS for you

NOXZEMA, 75c size	$ .49
CARDUI, $1.00 size	.94
PENICILLIN TROCHES 24's	.90
FUNGI-REX (for athlete's foot)	.49
PERCOCOD TABLETS, A & D 110	.89
PLENAMINS (vitamins & minerals)	2.59
REX-EME (medicated skin cream)	.39
HOBART'S 100 ASPIRIN (limited to 2 to a customer)	.14
VITALIS, 50c size	.43
IPANA TOOTHPASTE, 50c size	.43
ALKA-SELTZER, 60c size	.49
COLGATE TOOTHPASTE, 50c size	.41
HALO SHAMPOO, $1.00 size	.79
VASELINE HAIR TONIC, Large	.70
JERGEN'S LOTION, $1.00 size	.87
ANTISEPTIC MOUTHWASH, 1 pt. (20 % Fed. tax on cosmetics)	.27

SPECIAL
This week only
One Pound GALE'S chocolates, formerly $1.75 ..... $1.00

BUY REXALL GOODS AT A REXALL STORE

JEFFERSON CAFETERIA
Hi Fellows!
in DURHAM . . .
it's the
Jefferson Cafeteria
103 E. Main St.
for FINE FOODS
at REASONABLE PRICES
Lunch 11:00 a. m.—2:15 p. m.
Dinner 4:30 p. m.—8:00 p. m.
JEFFERSON CAFETERIA

Auction Sale Tomorrow

One of Chapel Hill's best business corners will be sold at auction Wednesday, January 28th, at 2 P.M.

This lot is located on West Franklin street across from one of Chapel Hill's most beautiful building's—the Hazzard Motor Co.

The property has lots of advantages over the average business lot that you have heard of being for sale, as it has a beautiful 6-room home on it that will pay a good return on your investment if you don't want to build now. The house has modern conveniences and will be sold separately so that it can be removed from the property. If you don't want the house and do want the lot, then you can buy this way. If you want the house and don't want the lot, then you can buy that way.

Terms will be announced at the sale.

UNIVERSITY AUCTION CO.
SELLING AGENTS
Geddie Fields, Auctioneer

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Freezing rain.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
Right Spirit
"Anti-Umty"
Fatherland

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 85

CP, UP Back Jess Dedmond In Presidential Race

Norman Thomas Will Speak Here February 10 Against UMT

Clothing Drive Gets Underway; First Campus Collection Todsy

By Sally Woodhull

First collection of clothing now being solicited for European relief will occur this afternoon, when representatives of various student church groups will visit each dormitory, sorority, and fraternity house to pick up garments collected so far in the week-long clothing drive. Final collection will be on Friday.

Sponsored by the YMCA and YWCA, the drive is headed by Sunny Sunstrom and Gene Turner. Collections in Victory Village and the trailer courts will be made next Sunday, Sunny announced yesterday, in conjunction with the town drive which was postponed from last Sunday because of the snow.

Sunny, a senior psychology major, is from Knoxville, Tennessee, and is chairman of the YWCA Social Service Committee. She spent a summer doing social work in New York City with the Y College Summer Service group.

Turner, a junior from Laurinburg, is majoring in education and physical education, and plans to go into YMCA work upon graduation. This is his first association with the Carolina Y.

In addition to clothing, bedding and shoes, the most badly needed articles overseas, there is also a shortage of household articles in general. Children's books and toys, school supplies, seeds, ladies handbags, linens, cultery and kitchen utensils, soap, far tools and sewing supplies, are all needed by refugees, displaced persons, and those whose homes were completely destroyed by bombings or by moving armies.

Individual solicitors, working under the direction of Turner, John Hough, and Virginia Nash are visiting each room on campus in order to collect as many articles as possible. Representatives of the church groups will collect the articles from the dormitories, transport them to the church, and there pack them for central station at the Baptist shipping to the Church World Service center at New Windsor, Maryland.

Distribution overseas is handled through Church World Service, which has a remarkably good record of getting materials where they are most needed, according to Claude Shotts.

SUNNY SUNSTROM AND GENE TURNER, co chairman of the YM-YW clothing drive now in progress on campus, look over some of the clothes contributed, as they stand near a box car to be loaded with articles collected.

Bernstein Case

The report on the "Berstein vs. the History Department" case may be forthcoming today, according to Dean W. W. Pierson of the Graduate school, head of the committee investigating the facts in the situation.

The committee was appointed from the administrative board of the graduate school at the request of Chancellor R. B. House a week ago yesterday, and held its first meeting last Wednesday. The investigations were completed Monday, and the report is expected to be compiled and released to Chancellor House some time late today. If so, the Daily Tar Heel will publish the findings of the committee tomorrow.

Josephus Daniels Divides Fortune Among Four Sons

Raleigh, January 27—(UP)—The will of the late Josephus Daniels leaves the stock of the Raleigh News and Observer divided equally among his four sons. The 85-year-old editor died January 15. He was Secretary of the Navy during World War I and ambassador to Mexico nearly nine years.

His will was filed for probate today in Raleigh. It provides that the News and Observer shall still be operated by his four sons. It asks them to regard the paper as their father did—not as property, but as he put it, "Having an unpurchasable soul."

The estate of $344.000 is divided among the sons except for some minor bequests. On inventory lists the estate as about $3,800 in bank deposits; $245,000 in stocks and bonds; $5.000 in furniture; $43,000 in insurance; and nearly $46,000 in real estate.

The sons who inherit the News and Observer are Jonathon Daniels, the executive editor, Frank Daniels, the general manager; Josephus, the business manager; and Worth Daniels of Washington.

Daniels said in his will that he hoped his descendants would edit the News and Observer. However, he added, in his words, "I realize that no one can become a good journalist who does not love the calling. For me, the joy of work has been my chief hapiness and reward; and I could wish the same to be true of my descendants."

CPU to Sponsor Socialist Leader In Lecture Here

By Mary Ann Taber

Close on the heels of the announcement that Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican National committee, would be unable to speak here, Chairman Bill Kemp, Socialist party head, has stated that he will definitely speak Tuesday evening, February 10, at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall, against universal military training.

Thomas is no stranger to the University campus. He has spoken several times before and has always been well received. On a previous visit Thomas filled Memorial hall to overflowing with students in the aisles and windows.

For a number of years Thomas has been the outstanding figure in the Socialist Party. Five times he has been their candidate for President of the United States, the last time being in 1940. In 1944 he did not choose to run, feeling that at that particular time Roosevelt was the man for the job.

NORMAN THOMAS

Besides his political career, in the past, Thomas has been a social worker, pastor, editor, executive for the League of Industrial Democracy, and head of the Post-War Council of America. As a boy in Marion, Ohio, he carried papers for Warren Harding and later studied under Woodrow Wilson at Princeton university. At the present he writes a weekly column for "Call" and is a much sought after participant in radio forums.

Nominations Made Simultaneously; UP, CP Parties Praise Candidate

By Chuck Hauser

Jess Dedmond, junior from Cliffside, rode into the political limelight last night on a double Campus party-University party ticket for president of the student body.

The nominations were announced simultaneously by Campus and University party spokesmen yesterday evening.

"I am happy to be the nominee of the University and Campus parties," the dark-haired, quiet-spoken candidate said yesterday, "and if the student body sees fit to choose me as its head, I shall do my utmost to carry out the aims of good student government."

Bob Haire, chairman of the Campus party, stated that he believed Dedmond stood "head and shoulders above any other possible candidate that might enter the field." This view was reiterated by members of the University party steering committee.

Dedmond resigned the position of Campus party chairman one week ago yesterday, following his appointment as chairman of the Elections committee of the Student Legislature, to which he was elected in the spring general campus elections. He ran for the Legislature seat on the Campus party ticket.

Dedmond is also president of Phi Eta Sigma, honorary scholastic fraternity, chairman of the campus Orientation committee, Aycock dormitory advisor, and a member of the Graham Memorial student union staff, handling student activities.

JESS DEDMOND

A pledge of the Sigma Nu fraternity, Dedmond spent 51 months in the army, being discharged with the rank of captain at Bryan Air field, Bryan, Texas, where he served as chief of supply. He entered the University in 1946, and plans to graduate sometime late in 1949.

Intramural Debate Tournament Changed; Debate Council Meets Today in Di Hall

Because of a conflict of organizations' schedules the Intramural Debate tournament set to begin next week has been postponed until the week beginning February 9, Earl Fitzgerald, Debate council president, announced yesterday.

At the same time Fitzgerald announced that it is imperative for at least one representative from each entering team to be present at a five o'clock meeting today in the Di hall, New West building. Members of the Debate council will be on hand to give final instructions about entering teams.

In view of the postponement, Fitzgerald said, last-minute entrants may still be made.

Each organization will be expected to have one or more persons attending the meeting this afternoon in order to furnish sufficient information about team entrants. The representative will be expected, Fitzgerald continued, to have with him the names of the team participants and, if possible, the side—negative or affirmative—for which the team will stand.

The tournament was delayed because of "conflicting schedules and through mutual consent of have expressed a desire for more time in which to prepare their reports.

Question for debate will be, "Resolved: that the Congress should establish a Universal Military Training program."

Meeting places and time schedules for the various teams will council members and participants." A number of the entrants be announced later, Constructive speeches will be limited to eight minutes, and rebuttals will close after four minutes.

Although decision to disapprove a proposal that the Intramural council offer points as well as awards was made, the Debate council will inaugurate a system for a separate debate point for debating participants.

Winners will receive a cup as an award by the Dialectic Senate and the Philanthropic literary society. Other awards are anticipated from other organizations on campus.

Delta Sigma Pi Plans to Initiate New Members This Weekend

Delta Sigma Pi, national professional commerce fraternity, will honor newly initiated members at a party at the Terrace View supper club next Saturday afternoon, and at a formal dance in the Woman's gymnasium that night.

The following 16 students will be initiated next Saturday morning following Delta Sig "hell" week which is running from January 22 until the 29:

Herbert E. Aenchbacher, Jr., Savannah, Ga.; Carl H. Coghill, Henderson, N. C.; Herman O. Coleman, Morganton, N. C.; Melvin R. Edwards, Princeton, N. C.; Thomas R. Eller, Jr., Salisbury, N. C.; Melvin L. Finch, Henderson, N. C.; Howard P. Hodges, Jr., Washington, D. C.; George D. Hughes, Elkin, N. C.;

Victor L. Johnson, Asheville, N. C.; Gary V. Jones, Hendersonville, N. C.; A. J. Koonce, High Point, N. C.; Charles W. Norton, Surham, N. C.; William S. Perry, Charlotte, N. C.; Fred P. Pierce, Catawaba, N. C.; Emile M. Saleeby, Wilmington, N. C.; and J. Lawrence Widman, Jr., Biltmore, N. C.

Col. Wade Speaks To Air Reservists In Initial Meeting

The first meeting of the newly formed local chapter of the Air Reserve association will be held tonight at 7:30 in room 103, Bingham hall, Colonel Byron R. Switzer, Professor of Military Science and Tactics of the Air ROTC, announced yesterday.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Colonel Leigh Wade, Public Information Officer for the 14th Air Force. Colonel Wade is one of the five officers who completed the first round-the-world air tour in 1924, for which he received the Distinguished Service Medal, and the McKay trophy.

He will discuss the flying training program which has been set up for reserve officers and the proposed legislation concerning pay for personnel participating in the program.

At present there is no reimbursement for expenses incurred by those participating in the program. Despite this, a large group of students from the University who are members of the Air Reserve have been taking part in the bi-monthly flights to Marietta, Ga. They have been maintaining proficiency in both twin and single engine aircraft and furthering their opportunity for advancement by attending ground-school.

All enlisted members of the Air Reserve and all ex-Air Force men interested in the program have been asked to attend.

Jury Acquits South of Negligence; Judge Says Citizens Have Duty

"Not guilty" was the verdict by a jury of 11 coeds in the case of the United States vs. the South, which was tried before the Honorable Josephine Fishel at the Coed Get-Together Monday afternoon in Graham Memorial.

Failure of the state to bring in a conviction against the South on a charge of negligence was greeted by applause from the courtroom spectators. However, the gallery was sobered by the opinion handed down by Justice Fishel to the effect that no court could have jurisdiction over a case of such wide scope.

"Only on the condition that each individual here accetps her democratic responsibility by working in her community for the improvements necessary, will the South progress. . . It is up to us, each one, to lead the South to her opportunities."

Prosecuting Attorney Edie Knight, in summing up the case for the state, pointed out that testimony of witnesses at the trial had shown little to the credit of the South. She attempted to prove that the South has been grossly neglectful of its own people.

Also present at Monday's Get Together was Miss Rosalie Oakes regional secretary of the YWCA, from Atlanta, Georgia, who is visiting on campus for a three-day period in order to confer with cabinet members.

Student Masons Hold Initial Meeting Here

The Brazen Pillow, the newly organized Masonic club on the campus made up of student Masons, elected Charlie Thomas as its president at a meeting last night.

Other officers chosen were H. E. Aenchbaker, vice-president and Wilburn Pedgett, secretary. W. G. Trexler, W. R. Brippaim and E. J. House were appointed to a membership committee to be headed by L. P. Martin, Jr.

A. C. Gaskill, instructor in the commerce school, is faculty advisor for this group which will hold its second meeting in Phi hall at 7:30 on Thursday, February 5.

Magazine Wants Business Manager For Coming Year

Fred Jacobson editor of the Carolina magazine, yesterday announced that the business manager's post on the Carolina magazine for next year will be awarded on a competitive basis.

His announcement was made, he said, in an effort to obtain applicants for the job which will be vacated in June by the graduation of present business manager, Mel Cohen.

"At present, any person with ability in the field will be welcome to join the business staff of the magazine, and anyone so joining will have a good chance to receive the manager's job," Cohen declared.

"We are especially anxious to obtain such people now." Cohen continued, "because of the desirability of their accumulating experience in the post before taking over."

The mag business head is compensated on a commission basis. He receives 30 per cent of the total advertising receipts.

Students Warned To Register Cars

Students owning out-of-town automobiles who have not yet registered their cars with the University were given another warning yesterday by Fred H. Weaver, Dean of men.

Reminding students of the Board of Trustees resolution requiring an identification insignia on all students cars, Weaver said the resolution carries the same legal status as a municipal ordinance. It is legal to display the identification insignia on the windshield or the rear window of the car, but he cautioned students to place them so the vision of the driver is not obstructed.

Authorized by chapter 1070 of the public laws of North Carolina, 1947, the resolution requires students to register their cars at the office of the Dean of Men, 208 South building. Identification insignias will list the students license, a designated number, and the expiration date.

DIALECTIC SENATE

The Dialectic Senate will discuss its second bill of the quarter tonight at 9 o'clock in the Di hall, third floor, New West, in an open forum to which the general public is invited.

DRAMATICALLY POINTING his finger at Harold E. Stassen during a Senate subcommittee investigation in Washington of commodity dealings, Edwin W. Pauley accuses the GOP presidential aspirant of uttering "falsehoods." Pauley is shown as he leaped to his feet while Stassen was testifying and demanded a chance to confront him. (International)

Highest Summer Enrollment Expected for '48; Session Will Run From June 10 to August 28

The 1948 summer session will open at Chapel Hill June 10 and continue through August 28, the first term running to July 20 and the second from July 21 to the end of the Session, it was announced yesterday by Chancellor Robert B. House and Director of the summer session Guy B. Phillips.

Arrangements are now in process for an anticipated increase in enrollment over the last summer registration of 4,445 for the first term and 3,637 for the second term, both all-time highs.

The increase next summer, Professor Phillips said, is expected because the state Board of Education has ruled that public school teachers who have not renewed their certificates by summer session work since 1931 or since its actual issuance must do so before September 1, 1948.

Information pamphlets regarding the summer program and room reservations will be mailed out within the next week, and the regular simmer session catalog will be available around April 1, he said.

Preliminary requests are already coming in in large numbers, Director Phillips said, and these requests are running far ahead of last year's.

"Appropriate courses in professional education and in various subject matter fields are being set up for teachers who wish certificate credit only," he explained.

"Courses are also provided for teachers working at the graduate level who must also have certificate renewal credit. Additional dormitory space is being reserved for women.

"Dormitory space for married couples will be available," he said. "Persons interested in living on the campus should communicate with the summer session office at an early date. Preference will be given teachers and North Carolina students.

"Programs will be available for beginning freshmen, and a large number will enroll to begin their regular academic work.

"Special activities will include visiting lecturers and conferences for different professional groups."

The Spirit Is What Makes It a Success

Ten years ago President Franklin D. Roosevelt, a man who had suffered from the effects of infantile paralysis, conceived the March of Dimes in an effort to do all that he could to combat the dreaded polio by helping those who were plagued with the little-known-about disease and instigating research against it. Since its conception the March of Dimes has grown. It has done much to fight infantile paralysis, but as long as the disease continues to strike and leave children with deformities and keep medical science baffled as to its origin, there will be a need for the March of Dimes. Through funds contributed to the March of Dimes much has been learned about the idiosyncracies of the disease, but science is yet to discover its cause.

Yesterday we learned of an old colored man, a strange rin Chapel Hill, who inquired and located E. Carrington Smith, chairman of the Orange county March of Dimes, to give his last dollar to the drive. Even though he di dnot have another cent in his possession, he gave his last dollar because a young Negro girl, his next door neighbor, was stricken with the disease several years ago and today she walks because of the March of Dimes. He told Mr. Smith that each year since then he has given all that he can afford to such a "good thing."

Undoubtedly you will be approached by a solicitor to contribute your dime or the amount which you feel you can scrape up for the cause. We know that it is near the end of the month and GI checks are not due for several days, but we believe that you can do without that milk shake during the Y court period and give to the March of Dimes the money you saved.

The Daily Tar Heel, as it has during the past four years, is sponsoring the campus drive. Yesterday afternoon, a representative of the University Veterans Association came into our office and plunked down an envelope containing $17 which he said was a "little donation they got up by passing around the hat at the clubhouse Saturday night."

That is the spirit of the March of Dimes. Its reputation lives and makes people want to do all they can on their own initiative to make the contributions soar.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Did McArthur Fire Eisenhower?

By Drew Pearson

On Jan. 13, Drew Pearson, reporting on the oil shortage disclosed that Stewart Field, N. Y., and Fort Myer, Va., had converted their heating systems from coal to oil.

Later that same day, immediately following publication of Pearson's column, Stewart Field went into reverse and reconverted back to coal. Fort Myer also went back to coal a few days later.

Washington—When Gen. Douglas MacArthur failed of reappointment to a second term as Chief of Staff and sailed to organize the Philippine constabulary, he took with him to Manila one of the bright, up-and-coming men of the Army—Lieut. Col. Dwight Eisenhower.

But after some time in the Philippines, things didn't go well and MacArthur fired Ike. Eisenhower went back to the U. S. A. to climb to fame and the top command of the American Army.

The fact that MacArthur fired Eisenhower has been denied by MacArthur, but it is true. Since then the two men have not been on particularly good terms. In fact they have not seen each other since.

When Eisenhower finally decided to bow out of the presidential race, friends close to him say that he got a little extra kick out of inserting the admonition that a military man should not nurture the ambition to be president of the United States. For those lines were aimed directly at his old friend and commander, the only military man who aspires to be president—Douglas MacArthur.

The split inside the Ku Klux Klan over the Klan campaign to eject Herman Talmadge as Governor of Georgia is one of the most significant developments in Klan history. Grand Dragon Green is not at all happy about it—especially since it happened while he was absent from the last two Klan meetings. Here is the inside story:

At the first January meeting of Klavern no. 1, Atlanta, Dr. Richard Eubank, acting cyclops in Dr. Green's place, made a speech urging unanimous Klan support for Herman Talmadge. Eubank said it was the duty of every klansman to get behind Talmadge and make certain he is elected.

This brought a vigorous, unexpected protest from klansman Wingate, employed by the Bell U-Drive-It Company, who said:

"I'll be damned if I'll support Talmadge."

He reminded fellow klansmen that the late Gov. Eugene Talmadge, father of Herman, had broken up labor unions and set up labor concentration camps. He also recalled that the late Governor had proclaimed that $1 a day is good enough pay for any man in overalls.

"You yourself told us," Klansman Wingate reminded the exalted cyclops, "that Herman will do everything his old man did. I'm not going to vote for him."

Wingate's statement brought considerable support from rank-and-file klansmen. However, the split went over until the next meeting, when Grand Titan Ransom tried to straighten things out. He made a speech pointing out that klansmen should think of their wives and children and the color problem, and therefore all vote for Talmadge. This, however, failed to heal the breach.

"What do you think Brother Wingate was thinking about but his wife and children when he opposed Talmadge?" shouted one klansman from the floor.

Judging from the murmurs of approval, the anti-Talmadge klansmen were just as strong as the Talmadge supporters.

Grand Dragon Green has now returned to Atlanta and held a meeting early last week to try to heal the breach.

With the political exit of General Eisenhower, G. O. P. strategists have decided to use Harry Truman's yen for the military as one of their most effective campaign weapons.

To this end they've prepared an impressive list of generals and admirals now serving in civilian jobs, and this will be thrown at Truman when the campaigning gets hot.

This strategy was partly behind the Republican decision to block the appointment of Maj. Gen. Laurence Kuter as head of the Civil Aeronautics board. Ordinarily, South Dakota's Sen. Chan Gurney, a strong friend of the military and chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee would have dashed in to boost this appointment. But in the private session held between the President and the Senate Armed Services committee, it was Gurney who, taking his cue from the G.O.P. leadership, refused to budge.

"I agree," concurred Truman. "And I want you to know that it is not my intention to appoint military men to civilian jobs if I can get civilians to fill them. I don't think, on the other hand, that we should lose the outstanding abilities of a man just because he is in the Army."

"But the discrimination in salary," suggested Oregon's Wayne Morse, referring to the fact that Kuter would get $15,000 against a civilian salary of $10,000, "is discouraging to civilians."

Maryland's suave Sen. Millard Tydings suggested a compromise, but the Republicans were in no mood.

"You were a Senator once," Gurney told the President. "You know what we are up against on the hill."

"I understand than, Chan," replied the President, "but I've got to get someone."

Truman said he had searched high and low, but couldn't find a civilian who would take the job.

"Not even in Missouri?" blurted out Alabama's Lister Hill.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor

HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr.

SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser.
NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson.
NIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette.

SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears.
ASST. BUS. MGR.: Mary W. Sledge.
ADVERTISING MGR.: Eaton Holden.

SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison.
EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan, Earl Heffner.

REPORTERS: Raney Stanford, John Stump, Jim Spence, Paul Rothman, Sally Woodhull, Donald McDonald, Herbert Nachman, Jr., George Roberts, Bob Rolnik, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Jean Baskerville, Nancy Norman, George Drew, Merrily Brooks, Nina Davis, Demont Roseman, Ruth Evans, Ashley Branch, Gordon Huffines, Elaine Patton, Elinor Woltz, Clark Stallworth.

SPORTS WRITERS: Bill Kellam, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Larry Fox, Bill Gallagher, Virginia Forward.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr.

Write Away

Mag Is a 'Combination'

Dear Sir,

R. Foo Giduz, the perpetrator of an unedifying miscellany of juvenilia which he calls the Carolina Carousel, made a number of rash statements in yesterday's DTH, which I think need a little amplification.

To begin with, he is all for a combination magazine. He says that in March, 1942, the Carolina Mag, then a combine, was awarded the title of the BEST collegiate magazine in America. What he doesn't say is that it took the editors of that famed combine nearly seven months to put the thing out, and that they went $2000 over their budget, nearly getting kicked out of school for incurring this unauthorized debt. Does that sound like saving money? Nuts! Furthermore, I can't get excited over a magazine which took longer to publish than did the Yackety Yack, nor can anyone else whose reason is unwarped.

According to Editor Fred Jacobson, the Carolina Mag is even now a "variety" (i. e. combination) magazine. If you find this hard to believe look up his statements published in the DTH whenein he states that the present Mag is a "well-balanced publication" complete with "serious articles and stories, poetry, art, photography, and humor." In other words, gently reader, every time you pick up a Carolina Mag, you are holding a "combination" magazine.

Tookie Hodgson

Misunderstood

(Reply to letter signed by Elizabeth B. Curry, January 22, 1948)

Dear Miss Curry:

I am afraid that many have misunderstood my letter which was published January 17, titled "Protection At All Costs." My real intention was to present an attitude so absurd that it would appears ridiculous. As you say, there are some who entertain exactly that attitude and to them it is not ridiculous but good common sense. It seems adviseable for me to present my real viewpoint.

I believe unreservedly that Negroes should have equal educational opportunities. I'll go a step further and say that in my opinion, equal educational opportunities under our present system of financing and government means that both Negro and white should attend the same schools. I feel that such a position is justified on the basis of cost of duplication as well as that non-segregation in schools would help some to get over their unjustified hates and prejudices. I would hope that more college students would learn to judge an individual on the basis of the individual's personality and character rather than upon the fact that he belongs to a certain race or has a certain religion.

I feel it a waste of time to argue this point with those who freely admit that they are prejudiced against Negroes, because it becomes evident sooner or later that they neither believe in the principle of democracy, the Constitution of the United States, or the Bill of Rights.

All of us who are fighting for non-discrimination against minority groups realize that there are those who really do not approve of discrimination and are sorry that it does exist. Those same people, however, are very reluctant to do any thing which will create a change for fear, they say, that the animosity which is arroused is worse that the attempted change. To those people I will say that certain changes are made simply by making the change. There are some things which are not changed by a gradual love for man-kind seeping to the top. Has anyone tried to gradually get married, or gradually buy a suit? Opening our southern colleges to Negroes does not mean that every hill billy, illiterate Negro farm boy would immediately enroll in college. Colleges have admission requirements. Consequently Negroes who would be accepted in college would be the same as you and I.

Daniel S. Martin

The Brassy Taste

'The Fatherland'

By Bob Sain

Pretty soon we start calling it "The Fatherland."

Although there are many months to go before Father's Day, I feel that this is as good a time as any to give the old man a working over. He has been working all of us over longer enough. One column isn't going to do anything about our "Papa-complex" but the evidence of such a situation has been getting in my way for a long time.

This country's head-men—the Washington brass, the Wall Street patriarchs and the leaders of such old-time vet groups as the American Legion—are leaning pretty heavily on the honor-thy-father routine.

They tell the kids—the 20-to-40 groups, let's say—just what the score is. And when they say jump—all the kids crouch. At this particular moment they are saying all organized labor is bad, that when a guy is against discrimination he is a Communist, that Russia is massing for attack in Siberia.

And just look at us crouch!

I doubt not but what the old boy has a considerable amount of experience to back up what he says—but does he know how to interpret that experience? As has probably been said before: Age is not wisdom; it is only passage of time.

Our old men—draft-exempt, of course—are lounging around, their gouty feet propped up, and muttering at Russia and the world: "Our kids can lick your kids."

I really didn't mind doing what I could to protect you and your bankbook last time, Pop. I figure that wasn't such a bad war to be in. I figure that in that war we could at least tie ourselves onto a couple of ideals. We were fighting a good war, or, at least, we could believe we were. Fascism looked bad then and it looks bad now.

But now we come to the point of spotting fascism. It doesn't hide itself very well. We're getting to be goood-sized boys now and I think we can spot fascism or evidence of oppression anywhere it turns up. It doesn't necessarily have to turn up in Europe or Asia either, Pop.

Anyway, if we have to have a fight, old boy, let us pick ours and you can pick yours. You can also fight them.

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

"My old man says I can keep him if I teach him to be a vegetarian."

What's Up in Graham Memorial

GM GRIND:

—Chessters have something new up for tonight. . . . The five geniuses from "Mangum Monastery," Charlie Mangum, Ed Haake, Forrest Covington, and Bob Clarence Barbour have challenged the student union club to a fighting round of chess. . . . This evening, 7:30, Parker lounge No. 3.

Replacing Music by Candlelight this Sunday evening, a community sing will be held in the main lounge. . . . Some 40 students now have darkroom cards. A handy place to do your photo work, and a good way to save money.

This 'n That

Wilbur and Bob in Beerland

By Bill Buchan

When Bob Wilkensen wasn't in his dorm room by 10:30 last night, his roommate and close buddy, Wilbur Amberson, set out from the lower quad in search of him. He found him just where he expected, hunched down in his favorite booth in the University.

Several well known campus figures were helping him guzzle beer while they discussed the pros and cons of various student problems. Though Wilkensen, himself, was busying himself, ascertaining the profit earned by the establishment that night on each beer bottle Amberson found that a rather heated argument was in progress over the current "speaker question".

Mac McHenry, ex-president and ex-chairman of nearly every organization on the campus was bitterly criticizing the programs presented this past fall. "In all my ten years at dear old Carolina"—pause to pour a beer—"I've never seen such a poor showing on the part of clubs. They have absolutely no interest in the outside world, merely in their own personal advancement."

"But on the other hand," interrupted Jim Leep, veteran debater, "you must give them credit for the few programs they have presented. Few though they may have been, they were good, even if there was such a poor turnout on the part of the students."

"When Forever Amber's in town who the heck wants to hear a Polish ambassador?" Wilkensen had finished his computations and was listening again. "Personally, I wish someone would play Too Fat Polka—Hey, Joe, five more Schlitz."

"You've all got your points, I suppose," said Wilbur, "but personally, I agree with the president of the student body, if the organizations as a whole can't put on worthwhile programs, take their money away and set it up in a speakers fund. We'll at least be assured of good programs if they all have to plan together. Then, if they later prove they're ready to get down to business on an individual basis, give 'em their money back. It's time somebody got to work and got us some big-time men again. When my old man up here, he didn't have to get his entertainment in a beer joint. There was always something going on."

"He's sober" announced Wilkensen, "pay no attention to him or his ideas."

"I hear", said McHenry, "that the heads of the three clubs concerned are busy as bees trying to get things back into shape in order to retain their legislative allotments. Maybe a scare like this was just what they needed."

"Yeah," agreed Leep, "but if they all can get-together in Graham Memorial and work together, we'll have plenty of good speakers. There'll be no more cancellations from anybody—not even the chairman of the Republican party."

Jeanie Mastro, coed leader and a member of all the clubs, drained her coffee cup and cut in. "They aren't necessarily concerned, criticism always upsets people. Especially when it isn't deserved. We've got several big programs lined up. Is it our fault that Carroll Reece couldn't make it? Jeepers, give us a break."

"A break is it you want? Gad, woman, how long do you want us to wait?" McHenry was getting into form. "Just what has your group done this year besides stage a rally for the Communists to expose themselves? Wait, she says!"

(See BUCHAN, Page 4)

Carolina Publications Union

CAROLINA MAGAZINE

Statement of Income and Expense

For the Fiscal Year Ended June 30, 1947

Income
Local Advertising	$ 1,650.00
National Advertising	660.97	$ 2,310.97
Student Fees		7,129.46
Outside Subscriptions		11.50
Miscellaneous
Total Income		$ 9,451.93
Expense
Publishing and Editing:
Salary—Editor	$ 160.00
Salary—Literary Editor	80.00
Supplies	27.44
Postage, Telephone & Telegraph	56.10
Travel	.50
Printing	5,001.25
Engraving	1,198.38
Photography	188.05
Repairs	2.50
Miscellaneous	35.00	$ 6,749.22
Business Management:
Salary—Business Manager	$ 524.95
Supplies	13.55
Postage, Telephone & Telegraph	18.75
Travel	19.64
Distribution Expense	180.00
Miscellaneous	3.40
Bad Debts	1.00	$ 761.29
General Expense:
Yackety Yack Space	$ 80.00
P. U. Board Expense	220.41
Depreciation	34.08	$ 334.49
Total Expense		$ 7,845.00
Net Gain		$ 1,606.93

AVC-Notes

'Anti-Umty'

The local chapter of the American Veterans Committee has set up a nuclear "Anti-Umty" committee to work with other campus organizations and persons to organize public opinion against Universal Military Training and help stop the spreading of the military into every aspect of our national life.

REGARDING THE SPONSORS of H. R. 4273

They say the U. N. O is good but all the world will understand they're giving peace a helping hand with Universal Military Training.

They'd compromise democracy with a military bureaucracy of all the big brass hats who're for Universal Military Training.

They could do as Hitler did (but keep the ugly motive) if you would only send your boy to Universal Military Training.

They only want to give the boy an actual taste of all the joys in Army life and teach them peace in Universal Military Training.

And all the youth indoctrinated to do whatever they dictate to feed them anti-labor bait with Universal Military Training.

They say their purpose is to save our democratic might, although they, of course, will keep Jim Crow in Universal Military Training.

The Wall Street gents, that noble crew, think it just the thing to do for they intend to profit, too from Universal Military Training.

If you want to continue free don't offer up your liberty as a sacrafice to U. M. T. That's Universal Military Training.

Don't you think it might be wise to join the "Anti-Umty" guy and show that you don't sympathize with Universal Military Training?

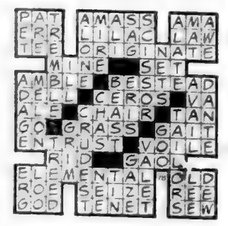
V. Cassady

No Freeze

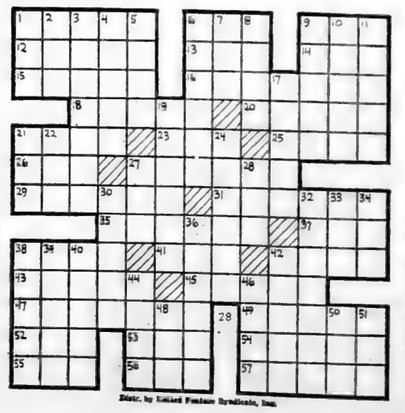
No Skis!

MEGEVE, France (UP)—While most of France complains of insufficient heat, this winter resort is depressed over the lack of cold and snow.

Because of mild temperatures and steady rains, ski resort towns like Megeve are having a bad season. The French government had counted on millions of francs in foreign exchange from winter sports enthusiasts coming to the Alps from abroad. They have failed to materialize.



Meegve has cancelled its famous skiing grand prix after days of heavy rain. Over the holidays, hotels expected about 3,000 foreign guests—Americans, Canadians, Chileans and Egyptians. About 50 visitors arrived, mostly Belgians and Swiss.



The shop windows here are full of good things which recall pre-war days. There are few buyers. Russian caviar, pate de foie gras and luxurious furs remain in the shop windows day after day.

Even the usual wealthy French are absent this year. With the cost of living nearly 60 per cent higher than this time last season, they are staying away in droves.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS

1—Temporary home
6—To weaken
9—Plan
12—Musical drama
13—Age
14—Macaw
15—Male voice
16—Organ of climbing plant
18—Item of value
20—Rigid
21—Flowing garment
23—Girl's nickname
25—Set up
26—To trouble
27—To punish 29—To promise
31—Merited
35—Terrier
37—Beverage
38—Domesticated
41—Downcast
42—Heap
43—Man's name
45—Pert to a gyrus
47—Bordering
49—Living
52—To observe
53—Southern general
54—To refresh
55—Finish
56—To spread for drying
57—Our national bird

DOWN

1—Fiery
2—Open (poet.)
3—Can be maintained
4—Appearing gnawed
5—Man's name
6—Long seat
7—Part of "to be"
8—To gasp
9—River in France
10—To go up
11—Blanched
17—To discourage
19—Ants
21—To strike
22—To lubricate
24—Avaricious
27—Mohammedan ruler
28—Auto
30—To imagine
32—Fastening
33—Building wing
34—River in England
36—Labeled
38—Brief
39—Foreign
40—Acted
42—Part of flower
44—Mud deposit
46—Unusual
48—Born
50—Vellum (abbr.)
51—Sheep

Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

The Sporting Picture

By Billy Carmichael III

Recollections of a Basketball Game

CAROLINA'S TAR HEEL basketball team cavorted the length and breadth of spacious Woollen gym Monday night for the first time in many a moon and gave the home folks an idea of what to expect from the local entry for the remainder of a thus far somewhat successful season. The triumphant Tar Heel homecoming was general at the expense of an out everything-ed group of young gentlemen representing VPI, who could offer the Scottmen little in the way of opposition on this particular evening and left the court to the strains of "Carry Me Back To Old Virginny."

The Tar Heels were a little surprising to most, considering their disasterous northern trip almost a fortnight ago. They had the proverbial zip-in-their-doodaa and proved without a doubt the old adage about three easy ways to win ball games—hit the basket, hit the basket, hit the basket. They hit it for the amazing percentage of .424 which is comparable to Ted Williams amassing the same average on the American League baseball diamonds. The Tar Heels were nothing but good.

Their opponents in the evening's entertainment, the before-mentioned Gobblers, were paced remarkly enough, from the bench by as fiery a coach as seen in these here parts in many a season. The coach, G. F. (Red) Laird, expended more energy in the course of the ball game than any five players of either team, strolling and stomping up and down the sidelines with the fervor of a local 202 labor leader. Red protested any and all decisions whether they were for his team or for the other, and seemed determined to protect the poor working basketball player even if Heaven and the green-shirted officials would not. When asked by newsmen what he thought of the whole ball game, Big Red is reported to have replied, "Vodvil was never like this.' It was at least a moral victory for the visitors.

Ole King Cole Was

HIGHLIGHTING THE WORKING of the Tar Heel outfit was the man from Manchester, King Cole, who dented the twines for a total of nine big field goals. Cole hit well from outside besides an occasional driving cut for several nice goals through the center of the VPI zone defense which was spread to the limit by the size of the Woollen floor. Which brings to the floor the discussion of zone defense in comparsion to the man-to-man number employed by most collegiate teams. The Vanishing Virginians find their zone defense very convenient on their small home court where the five alloted men can easily cover the minimized court space. But on the larger courts a fast moving, fast-handling ball team can run the zone crazy and allow pop shots like Cole, Dan Nyimicz and Norm Kohler a maximum of good shots.

Nyimicz played his first outstanding game for the Tar Heels during the course of the evening and just goes to give the rail-birds another name to associate with the unsettled forward position which swaps owners about as often as Charlie Long resigns from the Legislature. Kohler remains the balancing element on the team besides being the most diabolical dribbler ever to rattle the floor boards of Woollen gym.

The rest of the Tar Heel performers seem to have regained the touch they lost for the Northern triad, and appear still willing to do battle with omnipotentant State College. Big Nemo Nearman has lost much of the awkwardness that he brought with him from West Virginia and is fast becoming a tried-and-true operative. Bob Paxton remains the best board player that the Tar Heel fans have been priviledged to witness of late and can hit the double figures with the best of them. The remainder of the crew is progressing with equal rapidity following the Debacle Depression, and Coach Tom Scott may still have a championship team of one kind or another.

Playing Hookey

JOHNNY DILLON CONTINUES to be the matinee idol of the Tar Heel student body, possibly because he continues to play most of his basketball in the afternoon. The Hook, who once got feature billing with the famed Tar Heels of 1946, now appears solely in the role of a specialty act. The necessity of playing Nearman on the mammoth pivot men the locals have been forced to contend with this season has played a large part in Dillon's remaining on the bench, but even in the small time he has performed, Dillon still has the ability to hold his audience in the palm of his hand with the ease that he does the ball on his famous hook. Anticipation of action is the quality that continues to make the Hook one of the most exciting of Tar Heel athletes of the current decade to watch, rivalled only by the sensation that C. Justice can create on tucking a football under his talented arm. Regardless of performance, Dillon like anti-freeze, is a winter necessity.

Time After Time

THE MOST HACKNEYED COPY to appear on this or any sports page is the periodical lecture against the unsportsmanlike conduct of the fans at the majority of today's athletic contests. The VPI game Monday was one of the worst exhibitions by a Tar Heel student body in a long time. Granted, the officiating was not up to par even with some seen in the intramural leagues this year, but poor officiating is no excuse for booing, hissing, and the like. Several Big Nine schools whose national level is at the same of the University made TIME last week, not for academic achievement, not for athletic achievement, but because their booing and catcalling was superior to the other schools of the nation. That must be quite a distinction, but not exactly one that we would want at Carolina.

Possibly the University should offer a course in How-to-act-at basketball games, and they might call it court courtesy or even etiquette. Whatever measure is necessary or better said, what ever can be done, should be done now. Students of a great liberal University should be above such action. It may be an effort, but so are a lot of things these days.

Tap Room Now Oper

THE BUCCANEER

Airport Road, Chapel Hill

Scott Pushes Varsity Cagemen In Preparation For Davidson

By Dick Jenrette

There was no rest for Carolina's White Phantoms yesterday despite the team's fine showing against Virginia Tech on Monday. Soach Tom Scott had his cagers hard at work in preparation for their game with Davidson here on Friday night.

Scott was highly pleased with his Phantoms' performance in the 68-35 win over VPI, and the mentor had plenty of praise for the boys. He declared, "The team showed lots of hustle and played heads-up ball." He figured the Carolina fast-break had a lot to do with breaking up the Tech zone defense.

One unusual feature of the game was Scott's employment of three guards in hte game at the same tife, and the plan clicked perfectly. Dan Nyimicz played most of the game as the third guard in addition to Norm Kohler and King Cole. Scott explained he had expected these three to do most of the scoring with long set shots—and the trio came through with 37 points between them. Bob Paxton also hit for 13 points, most on long shots; so there was little that the VPI zone could do to stop Carolina.

Davidson Dumps Duke

The Carolina-Davidson game will be another Southern conference game, and Carolina will be gunning for its seventh success in the loop without a loss. But Coach Scott isn't expecting Davidson to be any soft touch for the Phantoms. He pointed out that Davidson beat Duke earlier this season and is capable of giving any team a real struggle.

The Wildcats are short, but possess lots of hustle and spirit. Davidson has a 3-4 mark in conference competition and needs a win over Carolina in order to stay in the running for the loop tournament next month.

Yesterday's Drills

Offense against the man-to-man defense was the theme of yesterday's workout in Woollen gym. Although the team looked good aaginst VPI's zone, an entirely new plan of attack must be followed against Davidson. Carolina faired poorly against the man-to-man defense that NYU and Temple used this season, and Scott doesn't want any repeat of that northern debacle.

Only four of the starting berths have been decided for the Davidson game. Nearman at center, Paxton at forward, and Kohler and Cole, guards, are the only sure starters. The other post is still wide open.

Scott said that Nyimicz, whose set shots featured Monday's win, probably would be kept at guard rather than shifting to forward. That leaves Coy Carson, Fred Swartzberg, and Roger Scholbe as the contenders.

Three Mural Cagers Score Over 20; 17 Others Register in Double Figures

Individuals with unerring aim took over the spotlight in yesterday afternoon's intramural cage play which saw 20 cagers sink over 10 points; an average of two per game. Three cagers notched 20 or more.

Zeta 1 paced the afternoon's play with a 69-11 triumph over Sigma Nu 3. The score was 34-5 at the half. John Gregory was high man for the Zetes with 22 markers while place and show positions went to two other Zetes; Tommy Gregory with 16 and Heath Alexander with 13.

Baskets were at a premium in the DKE, St. Anthony contest. The DKE 2 doubled the score on St Anthony, winning 14-7.

Noah Wilson counted 20 of his team's 26 markers when Phi Gam 1 outscored AEPi, 26-19. Howard Wainer turned in a sterling performance for the losers, notching 15. Randy Watson is the third member of the "20 club." He made it with one to spare; his team, the Unknowns, capturing a high-scoring battle from Lewis 3, 57-42. Roy Jones from Lewis was runnerup with 18.

Ahead by ten points at the halftime break, 24-14. Chi Psi 2 increased its margin over Lambda Chi in the second stanza to emerge victorious by a 44-25 count. Scoring honors were garnered by Chi Psi. Tennis star Vic Seixas dropped in 19 counters, baseball luminary Vinnie DiLorenzo notched 14, and DTH sports writer Dick Jenrette followed with 11.

Shutouts were the vogue in the still young handball tourney. Following the example of Phi Delt 2, Beta 1 whitewashed Sigma Nu 2 and Chi Phi turned the trick on Kappa Sig 1, both by 3-0 scores.

—Todays Murals—

BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 3: Phi Delt 2 vs. Zeta 4; Court 4: Pi Lamb 1 vs. Sig Nu 2; Court 5: Phi Delt 3 vs. ATO 1; Court 6: PiKa 3 vs. Zeta 2; Court 7: KA 1 vs. Sig Nu 1.

5:00—Court 3: Kap Sig 1 vs. Phi Kap 1; Court 4: Phi Gam 3 vs. ATO 2; Court 5: SAE 1 vs. Zeta 3; Court 6: Chi Psi 1 vs. Kap Sig 3.

7:00—Court 3: Field House vs. Emanon; Court 4: AVC vs. Lewis 2; Court 5: BVP 2 vs. Geology Dept.; Court 6: Old West vs. Graham 1; Court 7: Hillers vs. Stacy.

8:00—Court 3: Mangum vs. Med School; Court 4: Alexander 2 vs. Ruffin 1; Court 5: Hut 26 vs. Sky Scrapers; Court 6: Nash vs. Underdogs; Court 7: Hut 8 vs. Ruffin 2.

HANDBALL

4:00—DKE vs. Sigma Chi 1.
5:00—Phi Delta Chi vs. Zeta 1.

RIFLESHOOTING

7:30—Stacy (orientation firing)

Auction Sale Today

One of Chapel Hill's best business corners will be sold at auction Wednesday, January 28th, at 2 P.M.

This lot is located on West Franklin street across from one of Chapel Hill's most beautiful building's—the Hazzard Motor Co.

The property has lots of advantages over the average business lot that you have heard of being for sale, as it has a beautiful 6-room home on it that will pay a good return on your investment if you don't want to build now. The house has modern conveniences and will be sold separately so that it can be removed from the property. If you don't want the house and do want the lot, then you can buy this way. If you want the house and don't want the lot, then you can buy that way.

Terms will be announced at the sale.

UNIVERSITY AUCTION CO.
SELLING AGENTS
Geddie Fields, Auctioneer

Earthquake Smith Sign$ For Browns

The long-awaited news of where bulky Bill Smith, 260-pound tackle with Carl Snavely's legions last fall, would do his footballing in 1948 was finally revealed two days ago with the announcement from Cleveland that the big bruiser had been signed to a contract by the Browns of the All-American Football conference.

Smith, who dropped out of school last week, had been the object of a bidding battle for his services between the Chicago Cardinals, champs of the National football circuit, and the Browns, winners of the junior loop for two straight years. Apparently the Cleveland entry upped the ante a bit higher than did their Chicago rivals—with the result that Smith inked a Brownie contract.

Mural Results

25	PiKa 2	DKE 1	22
44	Chi Psi 2	Lambda Chi	26
26	Phi Gam 2	ATO	16
57	Unknowns	Lewis 3	42
26	Phi Gam 1	AEPi	19
37	Fireballs	Emerson	29
22	SAE 3	Phi Kap 3	20
69	Zeta 1	Sigma Nu 3	11
27	Sig Ep 2	Kappa Psi 1	12
49	Comets	Wesley Rockets	28
14	DKE	St. Anthony	7
25	KA 2	Kappa Psi	24
39	TeP 2	Phi Kap 2	37
42	Blackballs	Alexander 1	9
47	Seiler-Five	Honeycut	34
27	Cruds	Graham 2	15
33	Miller	Coons	25
22	Oakwood Drive	BVP 1	21
50	Old East	Aycock 2	4
42	Everett 2	Lewis 1	21

REHDER'S
CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Opposite Post Office Corner

WANT TO EARN $9000 A YEAR?

Then here's your chance to enter a business offering an opportunity for unlimited earnings . . . plus the satisfaction of rendering a worthwhile community service. Many of our representatives earn $4,000 to $9,000 a year, and more!

To pre determine your qualifications for success as a life insurancesalesman, send for our scientific Aptitude Test. After taking the test, you'll hear from our manager in or near your community. If you qualify, we offer a special income plan to help you become established, and a 3-year on-the job training course.

After that, the Mutual Lifetime Compensation Plan provides liberal commissions, with a comfortable retirement income at 65. Just send the coupon below for the Aptitude Test.

THE MUTUAL LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY of NEW YORK
34 Nassau Street, New York 5, N.Y.
Alexander E. Patterson, President
FIRST IN AMERICA

PLEASE SEND APTITUDE TEST
NAME
ADDRESS
CITY

Jayvee Basketballers Face State Tonight

By Morty Schaap

The Tar Heel Jayvees will attempt to take their thirteenth win tonight when they tangle with the Wolfpack juniors at the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium. The game is a preliminary to the State-Furman Southern conference tilt.

Coach Jim Hamilton is none to optomistic over his club's chances as the Junior Wolves have yet to taste defeat in four games. Ham's team has also made a fine record with only one defeat, a two-pointer against Duke, to mar the score book.

Carolina will probably open with Hal Ferraro or Bud Wilkerson and Pete Peters at the forwards; John "Beak" Tsantes at center and Bill White and Charlie Thorne. The reserve strength will be in the form of Sandy Hoft, Bill Harrington, Floyd "Sunny" Gilmore and Thorne Gregory.

Little is known of the strength of the Raleigh crew but it is expected that they will be the toughest team to face the Hammen all season. With all the strength and material that the Red Terrors boast Coach Butter Anderson is sure of having a fine club.

However, Hamilton, was not dismayed at his prospects for victory and after practice yesterday afternoon he pronounced his team in top condition. If Tsantes can keep up his high scoring operations the Tar Babies will be a mighty tough nut for any club to crack.

Swimmers Work For VMI Meet

There was no goldbricking or laurel-resting-on in Bowman Gray Pool yesterday afternoon as Coach Dick Jamerson sent his Blue Dolphins through a stiff workout that stressed fundamentalism in all the events.

The Carolina mentor wasn't letting his charges' big success of the past weekend go to their heads, for he had them kicking, pulling, and doing distance work all afternoon.

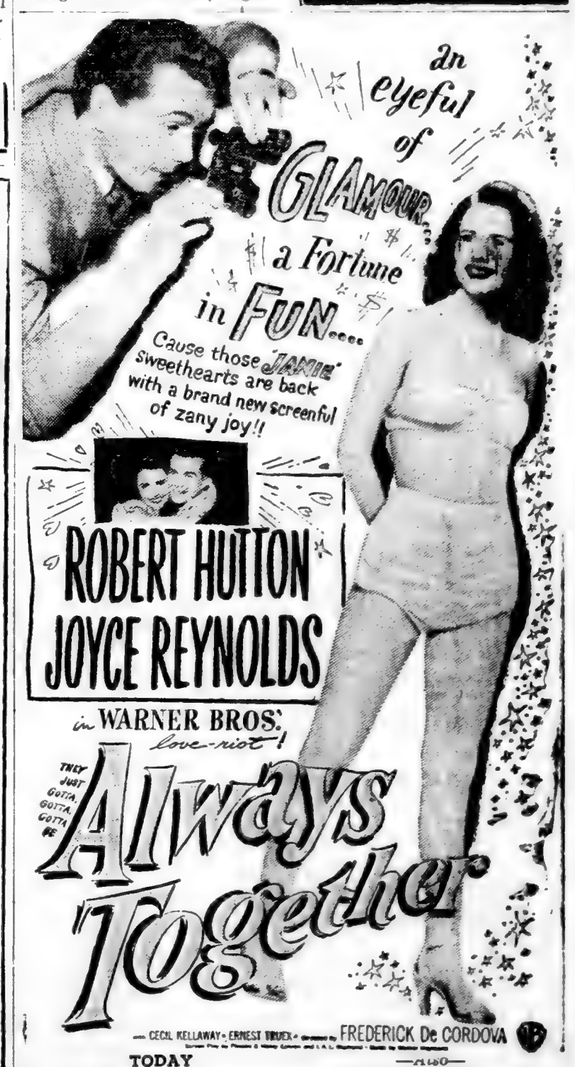
The Dolphins emerged from the Navy fray relatively unscathed. John Bippart has been sidelined thus far this week by a strained shoulder but he should be ready to go by Saturday. Floyd Drew, Dan Allred, and Frank McNeill were all victims of the present spell of arctic weather and have been hampered by colds since the Navy meet.

Saturday's water fight will see something new added to the Carolina swimming picture. The Blue Minnows will face States' jayvee splashers at 2 o'clock in a preliminary to the Dolphin-VMI meet.

Badminton Squad Plays Tonight

The Carolina badminton team plays its first match of the second round of the North Carolina badminton league when they meet the Durham outfit in the Women's Gym tonight.

Durham defeated the Carolina squad earlier in the season, by a score of 4-2. Other members of the loop are Burlington and Raleigh. The latter has been rated the best team in the league.



In tonight's singles matches for Carolina, Vic Seixas, Clark Taylor and H. S. McGinty will take the court. The number 1 doubles duo finds Seixas and Taylor paired, while the no. 2 team is manned by McGinty and Ham Strayhorn. Team 3 will be picked from Wadsworth, Holmes and Blount.

The next match on the schedule will be a home meet with Raleigh next Wednesday night.

TRACKMEN TO MEET

Coach Dale Ranson announced yesterday that there will be a formal meeting of all freshmen and varsity track men and all others interested in track in room 304 Woollen gym Thursday at 4:45. Object of the meeting will be to discuss plans for the Southern conference indoor meet February 28.

QUALITY FURNISHINGS
at
E. A. Brown Furniture Co.
Next to City Hall
Phone 6586

Arts And Sciences Dean's List Totals 306

A total of 306 students made the College of Arts and Sciences Dean's list for the fall Quarter. Dean Wells announced yesterday.

Arts and Science college personnel wish to remind students in this school that this list is composed of only those men and women who have made all "A's" and "B's" during the quarter referred to.

Those who met these qualifications are as follows:

Charles Patrick Adams, Joseph Kermit Albertson, Oliver Hicks Allen, Dudley Moore Amoss, John James Anderson, Jr., Patricia Anderson, Samuel Ralph Andrew, Jr., Frances Louise Angas, Frank Bickett Ashcraft.

James Edward Bagwell, Elizabeth Lenora Baker, Lucie Hill Baxter, (Mrs.) Dorthea N. Belcher, Allan Bergman, Edward C. Berry, Betty Jane Blalock, Sankey Lee Blanton, Lewis Rogers Bloom, William Brevard Blythe, Herbert Luther Bodman, Fredrick Oscar Bowman, Wayne F. Boyles, Wayne Roberta Brandon, Lonnie A. Braxton, Jr., King William Brett, Donald Gray Broad, Robert Bain Broughton, Herman Cubbage Brown, Virginia Ann Brown, Gaston Swindell Bruton, Jr., Meredith Showers Buel, Lubin Fletcher Bullard, Mary Elizabeth Burrus, Wesley Grimes Byerly.

Samuel T. Campbell, Lucille A. Chase, Everette Wesley Cheek, Marvin Emmett Cheek, Faye Clements Clay, (Mrs.) Ruth Lee Cillier, Ida Katherine Constable, Gerard L'Estrange Cook, Mary Elizabeth Copeland, Sally Ann Cordon, John Philip Couch, John Kelly Coughlan, William Robert Coulter, Richard Garner Cox, Charles A. Cunningham, Thomas E. Cunningham.

Patricia Dancy, Edgar Bascomb Darden, John William Davis, Nettie Dortch Davis, Clarence DiChiara, Judson Ross Dicks, Lillian E. Dillard, Charles D. Dixon, Edna McQuiddy Dooley, Benedicta Q. Dos Santos, Katherine S. Durham.

Robert H. Edwards, Leland Caswell Ellis, Margaret Claire Evans, Ruth Bannister Evans.

James Stephen Farmer, Howard Lawrence Field, Nanette Wood Fields, William Martin Finch, Jr., John Lewis Fishel, Jeanne Marion Fornoff, Arthur Garrick Fullerton.

Carolyn Gaither, Malcolm Geddis, James William Geiger, Richard Borden Gibson, Charles Franklin Gilliam, Frank Paul Giraffe, Jr., Douglas Murray Glasspool, Charles A. Glick, Irvin Howard Gordon, Paul Julex Gordon, Augustus Graham, III, David Graham, John Miller Grier, Eldene Grogan, Buel King Grow, Jr.

Edith Glenn Hall, James William Hall, John Couch Haltiwanger, John Elliott Hamby, Frederick Cooper Hamilton, Hilary Ann Hamlin, Burton Blaine Hampton, Gustave Adolphus Harrer, III, William Sherman Harrison, Frank Jordan Hawley, Louis Arthur Haynes, Charles Heinmiller, Wyatt Helsabeck, Donald G. Henderson, Eleanor M. Highsmith, William S. Hoffman, Thettis E. Hoffner, Clyde M. Hogsed, David Holmes, Harvey Ralph Honig, Linn Hoover, Jr., Norma L. Hotard, Leland P. Howard, Wilma M. Hoyle, Charles B. Hughston, Joel B. Huneycutt, Mary Jane Hunter.

Jacqueline S. Ingram, Edward C. Irby.

Leslie Hugh Jenkins, Harley Y. Jennings, Clifton Herman Johnson, Jessie Jones Johnson, Harvey W. Johnston, Theron Paul Jones, Benjamin H. Josephson.

Rose Reggie Kachigian, Thomas Raymond Kain, John Fawcett Kenfield, Jr., Judson E. Kinberg, Guy Calhoun Kirkman, Charles Edmond Kistler, Florence Edith Knight, William Angus Koehnline, William G. Kornegay, Maurice John Koury, Mary Theresa Kraus, Lillian B. Kumli.

Patricia Anne Lane, Stella White Lassiter, Elizabeth Howard Leggett, Francis Ann Lewis, Frederick D. Lewis, Nina Stephens Lide, William Kee Lifsey, Jr., John Robert Lindsay, Martha Linney, Nicholas Armistead Love, Allard Kenneth Lowenstein, Dorothy W. Lunsford, Mary Joy Lyon.

James Leon McAllister, Jr., Robert Marcus McAllister, W. B. McCutcheon, Jr., Thomas McDade, John K Boardman McDowell, Cicero D. McIntyre, Donald Lee McKinney, Edgar A. McLean, James Dickson McLean, Jr., Samuel Alexander McLeod, Douglas McIntosh McNair, Susan Patricia McNutt, Marshall Thomas McRae, Roland Lacy McRae.

Marianne B. Manasse, Stanley Walter Marczyk, Miriam Ann Massey, Margaret K. Mattis, William David Maxwell, Oveida Ellis Mayo, Culbreth Young Melton, Frank Tryon Meriwether, Gerald Meyer, Luther Sigsbee Miller, Bruce Melton Minnix, Jr., John Joel Mitchell, Glenn Duntlin Moak, Mary Ellen Montgomery, Henry Dyer Moore, Priscilla Lane Moore, William Locke Moore, Paul Sidney Moorhead, Roy Clifton Moose, Eugene Caldwell Morgan, Patricia Mary Muirhead, Paul Everett Mullinax, Elizabeth Travis Myatt, Martha Jane Myers.

Edna L. Nelson, Kai Edward Nielson, Margie Norris, Joseph R. Norwood, Jr.

Mildred Ione Oswalt.

Mary Jo Parrish, James Richard Patton, James Franklin Peacock, John K. Pearson, James H. Peedin, Betty Jordan Pegram, Nancy Ross Pendleton, Gales Pickard Perry, Joyce Peterson, Evelyn S. Pettit, Jean Graves Pierce, Mitchael Pochna, Eleanor Ponder, Charles W. Porter, Lee Harris Potter, Betty May Potts, Cecil C. Prince.

Rufus P. Rankin, Jr., Carter C. Reaves, John Herman Recknagel, Thomas C. Redfern, Jr., Robert C. Rice, Charles Francis Riddle, William Willis Ritter, Jr., William Joseph Robertson, Mildred Elizabeth Robinson, Paul Walter Rohrer, Howard Edwin Rollman, Robert Rolnick, Kenneth Sprague Rothwell, John Benjamin Rouzie.

Raymond Lester Sarbaugh, Henry Fauxom Saunders, William Lee Saunders, Richard Chase Savage John W. Sawyer, Robert Bernard Seligman, Benjamin Rowland Setzer, Constance Griffiith Sharkey, Eugene Baxter Sharp, Thomas Connally Shelton, Jay Allen Siegel, Herbert Singer, Eleanor D. Singletary, John Edward Sink, Irwin Sklarsky, Hassell Brantley Sledd, Katherine Phillips Sledge, Claiborne T. Smith, Dorothy Dashiell Smith, Irvine Noble Smith, James Edgar Smith, Mary Janice Smith, Peter Fondren Smith, Stephen B. Smith, David Sobel, Israel Solomon, Charles Stamey, Reginald H. Starr, Melvin S. Steinberg, Helen E. Stephenson, Merle M. Stevens, Susanne Stokes, James Howell Street, Samuel A. Summerlin, Lois L. Sunstrom.

John Hargreaves Tandy, Louis Howard Thacker, Doris Lorraine Thomas, Elizabeth H. Thomas, Elizabeth Taylor Thomas, Nina Merriwether Thomas, Benjamin E. Thompson, Mildred Tilson, David Marvin Turner, Thomas Turner III.

Claude C. Vache, Porter W. Van Zandt, Charles R. Vernon, Emily A. Von Borries.

June B. Watson, Bynum E. Weathers, Mary Elizabeth Webb, Neva Jackson Webb, Morton Jerome Weiss, Dorothy Caroline Wells, Margaret Anne Wells, Myrtle Ruth Westbrook, David Jordan Whichard, Nathaniel Steel White, Clarence E. Whitefield, Moke Wayne Williams, Nathaniel Williams, Alan Holder Wiley, rancis E. Wilslow, Jr., Mary Wolfowitz, Elinor Spotswood Woltz, Rachel Virginia Woodley, Sarah Ann Woodhull, Katherine B. Woodman.

Helen Rose Young, John Miles Zucker.

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

Oysters R in Season at HARRY'S

—Buchan—

"Well, I don't know," Wilbur Amberson said, rising from his seat. "But I'm in favor of the speakers' fund. Seems to me thats the best and only way to make fair distribution of our money on such a cause. As for you, Mr. Wilkensen, it's time you headed home. You've still got 200 lines of Shakespeare to do tonight."

"Yep, buddy mine, I guess you're right." Wilkensen was pushing his way out of the booth. "Farbeit from me to let anything interfere with my studies. Besides that, they've quit selling beer. I guess I'll go home."

Grey SAE President

Howard Grey, senior from Winston-Salem, was elected president of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity for the forthcoming year. Other officers elected were Jim Wilcox, vice-president; Bob Whaling, secretary; Walt Dupree, treasurer; L. G. Sprunt, historian; Ray Taylor, Master of Arms; and Wiley Smith, herald.

No Peace For Pro Gridders

The National Football League made it clear today that there will be no armistice in its all-out "boxoffice battle" with the rival All-America Conference. NFL club owners yesterday turned down a proposal that the two leagues should agree on a common draft of collegiate footbal talent.

Campus Calendar

3:00 p. m.—Coalition Policy council, Grail room.
4:00 p. m.—Dancing class, Roland Parker no. 2.
6:30 p. m.—Recorded dinned music, main loungs of Graham Memorial.
7:00 p. m.—Carolina Independent Coed meeting, upstairs in the Y.
7:30 p. m.—Pi Kappa Phi, Roland Parker no. 1.
7:30 p. m.—Carolina Independent club, Roland Parker no. 2.
7:30 p. m. Chess club, Roland Parker no. 3.
7:30 p. m.—Southern Conference for Human Welfare, Grail room.
7:30 p. m. Air Reserver association, room 103, Bangham hall.
7:30 p. m.—Sound and Fury tryouts for "Roll 'Em Over," Garrard hall.
9:00 p. m.—Di Senate, Di hall, New West.

Dance Class

Final chance to enter in Graham Memorial's weekly dance class will be this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge No. 2. Beginning today the group will take up steps in which the instruction will be continuous from one lesson to the next, so that the final class is to be made up this time.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

The Palms Restaurant
THE HOME OF SIZZLING STEAKS
PRIVATE DINING HALLS
OPEN EVERY DAY
6 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.
N. O. REEVES Proprietor
305 E. Chapel Hill St.
DURHAM, N. C.

SOUND AND FURY TRYOUTS

Tryouts for "Roll 'Em Over."

Sound and Fury's winter musical, will take place in Gerrard hall tonight at 7:30. A few acting, singing, and dancing roles are still open.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 6B

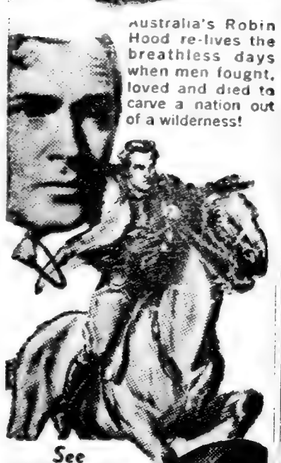
HEATER. BURNHAM ELECTRIC steam radiator, thermostatically trolled—$50. Ideal for small room supplement to other heat in room. 54 University Trailer Court. (1-30)

5 Cu. FT. FRIGIDAIRE. DOUBLE I nersprng mattress and box sp rug. Call Anderson, F-3791. (1-10)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6bb

1938 FORD, TUDOR SEDAN, RADIO good tires. Caston Motor Co. F-3896. (1-15)

1942 CHEVROLET 4-DOOR, RADIO heater, seat covers. Cash or Terms. be seen at Poe-Mangum's Service Station. (1-16)



HELP WANTED

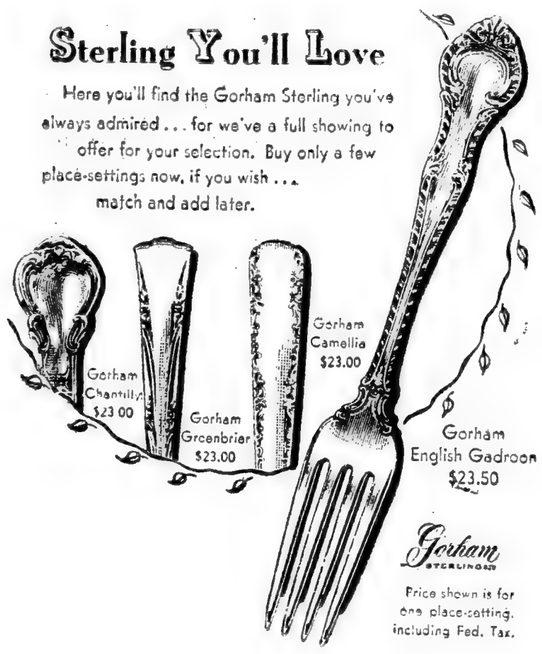
PHOTOGRAPHIC ASSISTANT WANted: High school or college student with fair knowledge of darkroom photo work in private enterprise on hourly basis; must be interested in other activities; apply Graham Memorial office afternoons. (1-20)

LOST 12

SINCE LAST THURSDAY WEEK Female reddish brown cocker spaniel 1 yr. old. Answers to name "Ducky." Call Mrs. Brittain, 8221 daytime, night. Reward. (1-16)

A New Robin Hood

Australia's Robin Hood re-lives the breathless days when men fought, loved and died to carve a nation out of a wilderness!



See FOR THE FIRST TIME
★ Men in Chains who became a nation's heroes!
★ Black Dungeons of Malopi Valley!
★ Capt. Fury's Leap For Life!
★ Shearing Pits where Revolt is Born!

HAL ROACH presents
CAPTAIN FURY
Brian AHERNE • Victor McLAGLEN
June LANG • John CARRADINE
Paul LUKAS • George ZUCCO
Douglass DUMBRILLE • Virginia FIELD
Directed by HAL ROACH
A Roach-Argosy Films Corp. Release

NOW PLAYING
VILLAGE

Announcement---
TO RESIDENTS OF ORANGE COUNTY
We have just been appointed GORHAM sterling silver dealer for Chapel Hill and vicinity, and now have a full supply of this silver in stock—12 lovely patterns from which to choose.

Sterling You'll Love
Here you'll find the Gorham Sterling you've always admired . . . for we've a full showing to offer for your selection. Buy only a few place-settings now, if you wish . . . match and add later.

Gorham STERLING
Price shown is for one place-setting, including Fed. Tax.

Make Chapel Hill Your Shoping Center
WENTWORTH & SLOAN, JEWELERS
Chapel Hill, N. C.

Let's Get together
PHILIP MORRIS is so much better to smoke!
PHILIP MORRIS offers the smoker an extra benefit found in no other cigarette. For PHILIP MORRIS is the ONE, the ONLY cigarette recognized by leading nose and throat specialists as definitely less irritating.
Remember: Less irritation means more smoking enjoyment for you.
Yes! If every smoker knew what PHILIP MORRIS smokers know, they'd ALL change to PHILIP MORRIS.

CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS
TRY A PACK . . . TODAY

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Possible rain and sleet.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
Fifth Freedom
Mudville Mayor
New Faces, Ideas

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. THURSDAY, JANUARY 29, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 86

UP Nominates John Clampitt For Vice-President

HANGING PRECARIOUSLY over a Los Angeles street is the locomotive of a four-unit Diesel engined train, which crashed through an 18-inch wall and came to rest against a power pole. The failure of the brakes to work was blamed for the freak accident, which occurred as the engine, after uncoupling its coaches, had started for roundhouse. (International)

Anti-UMT Sentiment to Be Organized By Committee of Local AVC Chapter

The anti-universal military training committee of the Chapel Hill American Veterans Committee will sponsor a campus-wide meeting in the Grail room of Graham Memorial at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, to coordinate and translate into action any similar opinions on this issue originating at the University.

Harrison Tenney, publicity chairman of the AVC's committee said all the student organizations have been invited to send representatives if interested, and that the meeting will be opened by a short talk from Dr. Howard K. Beale of the History department. Several of Chapel Hill's ministers have also been contacted by the "anti-umty" group and are expected to attend.

Ministers Quoted

In announcing the presence of the ministers, Tenney quoted the Reverends David Yates of the Episcopal church, Henry Ruark of the Methodist church, Robert Nelson, director of the Wesley Foundation, and Bernard V. Munger of the Congregational-Christian church as opposing the military training plans.

"UMT's. . .ultimate purpose is to train men for the destruction of human life on an unbelieveable large scale. UMT is part and parcel of the disillusioning belief that force is the only security. Against such a belief, and any part thereof, my Christianity makes me take a stand."

Chapel Hill Will Vote Bond Issue

Chapel Hill citizens will be asked to vote in March for a bond issue totalling $260,00 instead of $275,000 as originally proposed, it was announced yesterday.

The Board of Aldermen at a meeting Tuesday night voted unanimously to reduce the amount requested by $15,000. The reduction was made possible, Mayor R. W. Madry said, because the Board, after considerable study, decided to use the land-fill method of garbage disposal instead of building a new incinerator.

A committee composed of City Manager G. W. Ray and Aldermen P. L. Burch and E. S. Lanier recently visited Salisbury and Wilson and brought back favorable reports as a result of studies of the land-fill methods used in those towns.

Of the $260,00 total, $200,000 is budgeted for a new sewage disposal plant, sewer lines and improvements at the old plant, all being urgently needed. The University has in its budget $225,000 to be used jointly for the same purpose.

The bond issue election, to be held some time in March, also includes $25,000 for new equipment badly needed, and $35,000 for paving some dirt streets and seal coating other streets. A number of the dirt streets to be paved are in the Negro section.

Week's Bad Weather Leaves Hill Healthy

Unfavorable weather conditions during the past week have had no appreciable effect on the number of colds and flue cases treated at the University infirmary, Dr. Edward Hedgpeth, head of the infirmary, said yesterday. However, he emphasized the desirability of students' avoiding undue exposure at this time.

Flue shots may still be received during office hours. Since the results among the nearly 2,000 students already treated have been very satisfactory, he is anxious that as many as possible receive shots.

AIR RESERVE OFFICERS

Contrary to an announcement yesterday which set the first meeting of the Air Reserve Officers Association for last night, the meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 in room 103 Bingham.

Funds to Move Wake Forest Drive Nears

Wake Forest, Jan. 28—(UP)—Residents of Forsythe county will be asked to raise $1,500,000 in April and May to help pay for moving Wake Forest college to a new site near Winston-Salem.

Under terms of an agreement with the Smith Reynolds foundation, the college is to be moved from its present location at Wake Forest before 1952.

The move is expected to cost $6,000,000. Citizens of Forsythe county, who are expected to benefit from the new location, have been asked to raise one-fourth of that amount. The remainder will be provided by the foundation, North Carolina Baptist churches, and from sale of the present college property.

The school will receive as much as $350,000 per year from the $11,000,000 trust fund of the Reynolds foundation.

Anti-Everything Society Started In Columbus, Ga.

Columbus, Ga., Jan. 28—(UP)—A grey-haired widow has organized and chartered an anti-Negro, anti-Jewish, and anti-Communist society in Columbus which she says has two major aims—to strip the federal consitution of its guarantees of Negro voting and civil rights.

A woman long active in school, civic and religious affairs, Mrs. Jesse W. Jenkins, is founder and acting secretary of the "National Patrick Henry organization, Incorporated." The organization has

(See ANTI, page 4)

Phi Defeats UMT Bill by Close Vote But Visitors' Ballot Favors Passage

By Gordon Huffines

By a narrow margin of one vote the Phi assembly officially defeated a bill favoring universal military training Tuesday night, but on a second vote in which visitors were allowed to participate, the measure was passed by a 14-13 majority.

Reported out by the Ways and Means committee, the Phi bill favored passage of an act by Congress which would provide for one year of military training for all men upon completion of high school, such training to take place before the individual reaches the age of 20.

Upon being introduced on the floor of the assembly the measure was immediately attacked as furthering a policy that will lead to war with Russia. The opposition bloc continually stressed the futility of adopting universal military training as a means of preventing another war.

Speaker-pro-tem John Giles charged that UMT was another factor in the "balance of power theory which has led to the destruction of every nation that has attempted to use it." Asserting that the present condition of England was due to an attempt to rule by military power, Giles stated that he opposed the adoption of UMT until certain factors, such as the present "battle of Germany", were decided.

In an effort to push the bill through, members of the assembly argued that world peace could be achieved only through the use of the Marshall plan backed by a strong fighting force.

Pointing out the fact that a strong nation discourages aggression, Rep. Peter Gerns asserted that Japan probably would not have attacked the United States if UMT had been a standard policy in this country before Pearl Harbor.

Citing the results of a recent Gallup poll which shows that 66 per cent of the American people favor UMT Rep. Bob Coulter asserted that the United States must support universal military training and the Marshall plan until Russia adopts a more cooperative policy in the United Nations organization.

Attacks by the opposition bloc on the training, discipline, and courts martial system of the army were answered by debators who maintained that through the experimental group (UMTee) at Fort Knox, Kentucky, the army had succeeded in removing many of the objectional factors to army life, and now provides for the moral and religious education of trainees.

Under the UMT program now before Congress it is reported that 850,000 Americans between

(See PHI, page 4)

Final Examination Schedule

Saturday, March 13, at 8:30 o'clock
All 2 o'clock classes.

Saturday, March 13, at 2 o'clock
All 3 o'clock classes, Commerce 71 and 72, and any other courses not otherwise provided for by this schedule.

Monday, March 15, at 8:30 o'clock
All 8 o'clock classes.

Monday, March 15, at 2 o'clock
All 9 o'clock classes.

Tuesday, March 16, at 8:30 o'clock
All 10 o'clock classes.

Tuesday, March 16, at 2 o'clock
All 11 o'clock classes.

Wednesday, March 17, at 8:30 o'clock
All 12 o'clock classes.

Wednesday, March 17, at 2 o'clock
Common Examinations. (All French, German, and Spanish courses numbered 1, 2, 3, and 4.)

Thursday, March 18, at 8:30 o'clock
All 1 o'clock classes.

No student may be excused from a scheduled examination except by the University Infirmary, in case of illness; or by his General College Faculty Adviser or by his Dean, in case of any other emergency compelling his absence.

UVA President in Coalition Council, Grail, Is Regional Treasurer of NSA

By Chuck Hauser

JOHNNY CLAMPITT

Johnny Clampitt, veteran hand at the student government game, has received the University party nomination for vice-president of the student body, it was disclosed yesterday by UP spokesmen.

With qualifications ranging from experience on the Student Legislature to dozens of positions on unpublicized branches of student government and campus organizations, the Saint Petersburg, Florida, senior is the third candidate to be nominated to run for a major campus office in the spring general elections.

The heavy-set, light-haired nominee is the present president of the University Veterans association, members of the Coalition council, treasurer of the Grail, and regional treasurer of the National Students association.

Previous Orientation chairman, Dance committee member, and chairman of the Legislature Elections and Fact-finding committees, Clampitt was planning to graduate this June with an A.B. degree in journalism, but is continuing at the University for another year to receive his degree in English.

He has worked as chairman of the Red Cross, organizational chairman of the WSSF, and treasurer of the UVA, and is now the chairman of the ring and invitation committees of the senior class and treasurer of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Clampitt attended Saint Petersburg Junior college before the war, entered the army where he spent four years, and then came to the University to complete his college work.

Republican Club Organizing; Meeting Slated for Tuesday

All Republicans on the Carolina campus have been asked to attend a meeting called for the purpose of creating a Carolina chapter of the Young Republicans organization, according to an announcement made yesterday by a student organizing committee.

The members of the committee, Coline Smith, Allen Moore, Pete Moore, and Charlie Long have scheduled the meet for Tuesday night at 7:30. It will be held in the Di senate hall on the third floor of New West.

Subjects set for discussion at this first meeting include the drafting of a statement of policy, election of officers, and the appointment of committees.

"We feel," the organizing group stated yesterday, "that the time has come for Republicans in the South and especially at this university to organize and provide the machinery necessary if we are to further the aims of the party and make them known to the people of the state."

The committee said that the Carolina chapter will work with the one at Duke, which has been functioning for more than a year, and will enjoy the full co-operation of the state Republican organization. Their eventual goal, as outlined yesterday, is a statewide network of college chapters of the organization.

(See REPUBLICAN, page 4)

Ten Measures Up for Action In Legislature

The Student Legislature will face 10 bills, 16 executive appointments and one amendment to the constitution when it convenes at 8 o'clock this evening in Di hall, according to Speaker Jack Folger.

The constitutional amendment will probably touch off a barrage of pro and con fire, since it concerns the touchy subject of switching the powers of the Student, Men's and Women's Honor councils.

Division of Powers

In one article and five sections, it proposes: "1. The Student council shall have jurisdiction in all cases involving violations of the honor code, the campus law, and in all cases involving questions of constitutionality; 2. The Men's council shall have jurisdiction in all cases of violation of the campus code involving male students; 3. The Women's council shall have jurisdiction in all cases of violation of the campus code involving women students.

"4. The Student Legislature shall have authority to create machinery for the speedy determination of questions of jurisdiction privided that it shall not infringe in the exercise of such authority on the rights of the judicial bodies; 5. All provisions of this constitution not nullified by this amendment shall remain in full force."

Agenda Order

The 10 bills will probably come to the floor in the following order: 1. Bill to establish a fund for the purpose of financing class activities; 2. Bill providing for the University's joining the Regional National Student association; 3. Bill to establish a speaker's fund of $600 and to cancel future appropriations to the IRC, the CPU, CCUN, Di and Phi.

4. Bill to protest against hornblowing in dormitory areas; 5. Bill to adopt an official oath for new members of the Student Legislature; 6. Bill to establish standard travel procedure for students at the University; 7. Bill to provide student entertainment on an involuntary basis.

Magazine Unification

8. Bill to provide for the unification of the Carolina Magazine and Tarnation; 9. Bill to establish a coed affairs committee; 10. Bill to establish a committee for investigation of im-

(See LEGISLATURE, page 4)

Mills, UVA Announce "Five Dimes" Dance

"Dance that others may walk" will again be the slogan of a campus dance, Chairman Barron Mills of the University March of Dimes campaign announced yesterday.

He said that the University Veterans association will present a "Five Dimes" dance at 8:30 Friday night for the benefit of the infantile paralysis prevention campaign. Although the dance is to be held in the UVA clubhouse, it is open to the entire campus.

The five dimes admission to the recorded music affair will all go to the fund now being raised on the campus, UVA head Johnny Clampitt declared yesterday. He also revealed that any sum up to $100 that is taken in will be matched by the veterans group.

The dance will climax the March of Dimes canvass here and replaces the President's ball, sponsored in former years by the western North Carolina club, which will not be held this year.

Daily Tar Heel editor Mills, reporting on the campaign, yesterday stated, "I am very well pleased at the response the drive has gotten to date." He revealed that the biggest single contribution reported so far is the $17 collected by passing the hat at the UVA clubhouse last Saturday night.

In praising the chairman in the residential divisions, he declared, "We expect to achieve our goal of twice the money in half the time." Mills also announced that he and coed chairman Miriam Evans, had placed containers in the Y, Lenoir hall(the Scuttlebut, and the Armory store for the benefit of those not reached personally.

Reports on the campaign will be made tomorrow and Saturday at which time it will be possible to determine the winners of the theater prizes offered for the most successful solicitors.

Coed Senate Elects Committee Heads Decides to Plan Orientation with men

By Elaine Patton

Elections held by the Coed Senate Tuesday night resulted in the election of Sadie Pearson as Chairman of the Coed Officers Training program for the coming year. Helen Bowman was elected Co-Chairman of the Orientation committee (the other chairman being the president of YWCA) and Tom Eller's appointment of Donleen McDonald to Woman's Council was approved.

Following the elections, the Senate passed a bill to combine with the men in planning their orientation program for the Fall quarter in addition to the present system of special orientation for coeds. Plans were also made for the formation of a May Day committee with the president of Pan Hellenic council, CICA and Chi Delta Phi serving.

At the close of the meeting, Barbara Cashion, speaker, discussed Tom Eller's proposed constitutional amendment which recommends that a coed affairs committee in the Legislature "handle all bills. . .pertaining to coed affairs and to originate legislation concerned with coed activities." All coeds were urged to acquaint themselves with this proposed amendment and to attend the meeting of Student Legislature when it is to be considered.

Confused

"Honest, I'm not a Socialist," pleaded "Battlin' Bill" Kemp, "But my grandfather was supposed to be a Mugwump back in the '90's." So spoke the harried chairman of the Carolina Political union yesterday after he amasedly read the following headline story in yesterday's Daily Tar Heel: "Close on the heels of the announcement that Carroll Reece. . .would be unable to speak, Chairman Bill Kemp, Socialist party head, has stated that he will definitely speak Tuesday evening, February 10. . .against Universal Military Training." End quote!

Kemp didn't know how the story got twisted, and ventured that Norman Thomas, real Socialist party chief might not be too happy over his DTH-made successor. But he said Thomas, not Kemp, would definitely make the speech.

"And by the way, what was that other DTH headline about "First Campus Clothing Todsy," Kemp bewilderedly questioned.

National Hook-Up Features N.C. Symphony

The North Carolina Symphony orchestra, which has been gaining steadily in reputation, is going to receive soon some national publicity that should mean a great deal to the future success of the organization.

The Symphony has been asked to present one of its programs in a nation-wide broadcast over the NBC coast-to-coast network on May 8, from 3 to 4 o'clock, New York time. The broadcast will originate in North Carolina in the studio of station WSJS in Winston-Salem.

NBC officials allotted this valuable time for the Symphony program after hearing recordings of some of its work.

Announcement of the broadcast was made at a meeting of the executive committee just held here. Reports showed that a record number of concerts are to be given this spring.

The Little Symphony, which opens its season February 9 with rehearsals beginning February 2, will appear in eight communities in which it has not given concerts before: Williamston, Beaufort, Southport, Tarboro, Shallotte, Oxford Orphanage, Demarest, Ga., and a youth conference at Rutherfordton.

The full Symphony will give concerts in five new places: Elon, Morganton, A and T College, Greensboro; Newton-Conover, and the NBC program.

Last season the Symphony gave 115 concerts in 59 North Carolina towns and was heard by audiences totalling 150,000 as compared to 100,000 the year before.

A Fifth Freedom for All of Us

Tuesday night the Phi hall resounded with the discussion of Universal Military Training and a bill provided for the establishment of compulsory military training for every able youngster for one year after completing high school won by a 14-13 edge.

Those who objected to UMT used practically every conceivable excuse in pointing out its evils, and yet they spent few words on what is to us, the strongest point against UMT—it impairs an individual's personal freedom. Proponents of UMT legislation heard anti-UMTers cite many wrongs. Some of them were: basic training leaves an individual frustrated (a one-year period would be mostly basic), a year of military training would tear down all of the moral teachings in today's youth, the army fosters a caste system, its court martial setup is abominable, in a system such as UMT you admittedly are teaching youth the game of warfare—and making him have a yen for the "real game". All of these, especially the low morals of militarism, were brought to the attention of those present.

To us the tremendous expense which would be incurred by a Universal Military Training program is negligible when it comes down to requiring a young man to lay aside his personal freedom and delay all his plans for the future.

It would be well to incorporate a fifth freedom into the four which we already have—freedom to be an individual.

New Faces and New Ideas Needed

The double and triple endorsements by political parties merely proves to the average observer that there is an alarming shortage of qualified personnel to campaign for campus offices.

This is due, possibly, to the refusal of certain campus leaders to run for office and the fact that other potential leaders do not make themselves available. As a result, the parties rack their brains for suitable candidates, but actually accomplish little inasmuch as they cannot find students who will accept if nominated.

Such a system defeats the usefulness of two or three political parties. If they endorse and support identical men, the candidates elected are under no obligation to carry out any one party's program, thereby making the pre-election platforms just so much timber to be burned the day after election.

There are many students living in dormitories and frat houses who would make good and useful student leaders. It would be to the advantage of our student government and the student body if they could be persuaded to take an active part and run for campus offices. Some new faces and new ideas would brighten the political scene considerably.

B. B.

A Guest Editorial

Why Go to College?

Just why do people go to college? Here are several answers.

There are many reasons why people go to college. There are, however, standard classifications that allow various reasons to be segregated according to their similarity. There are five extreme divisions—social prestige, knowledge, connections, duty, and bribery. Perhaps an example of each division may give a clearer understanding of its meaning.

In the first division are those who come to college for social prestige. These people believe that by going to college they will raise their standing in the community, thus allowing them to look down on others. In many instances they are completely broken when they find themselves unable to become affiliated with the organization of their choice, and usually change schools or return home. Seeking social prestige is a distant form of egoism, for there is no interest outside social success. One misses much when he submits himself to such a narrow conception of life.

Then there is the opposite extreme—those who attend college for the sole purpose of obtaining knowledge. You have probably heard of the "book-worm". This person uses a form of rationalization; his creed is: "People come to college to learn, not for fun". Of course he is wrong, for college achieves its purpose only when it gives one a well-rounded personality.

Next there are the people who come to college because they believe that this is the place to make connections—business or social. The frustrated girl who believes that at college a girl is certain to find the man, is often disappointed! True, there are many contacts made at college, but these are usually of short duration, because of the even changing conditions present in any college. Those who come to college expressly for the purpose of making connections are doomed to disappointment.

In the fourth division we find the people who come to college because they feel it is their duty to their parents. This is very wrong, for many parents, without realizing it, force their children into college. Having no desire for education these children are apt to fail miserably; many serious after effects often result from such a situation.

The number of people using bribery as a reason for going to college is far greater than most people realize. Here again parents force their offsprings into an undesirable situation by promises of expensive gift. No matter how great the prize, it does not stimulate a desire for education, and a waste of time, money, and effort is likely to be the result.

After discussing the various reasons for going to college, the most satisfactory answer seems to be a combination of reasons. The person who comes to college for knowledge, connections, social prestige, and various other desirable reasons has a definite advantage—that of being able to obtain a well-rounded education and personality. This in turn will furnish him with more efficient methods of meeting and solving life's many problems. A college education is one of the most valuable prizes a person can receive—when it is given and used wisely.—

(Reprinted from the Purdue Exponent.)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser. NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson. NIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette. SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears. ASST. BUS. MGR.: Mary W. Sledge. ADVERTISING MGR.: Eaton Holden. SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison. EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan, Earl Heffner.

REPORTERS: Raney Stanford, John Stump, Jim Spence, Paul Rothman, Sally Woodhull, Donald McDonald, Herbert Nachman, Jr., George Roberts, Bob Bolnik, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Jean Baskerville, Nancy Norman George Drew, Merrily Brooks, Nina Davis, Demont Roseman, Ruth Evans, Ashley Branch, Gordon Huffines, Elaine Patton, Elinor Woltz, Clark Stallworth.

SPORTS WRITERS: Bill Kellam, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Larry Fox, Bill Gallagher, Virginia Forward.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr.

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

"I DID turn th' other cheek. I switched around an' started leadin' with my right."

Carolina Carousel

New! Melton's Gonna Run

By R. Foo Giduz

Strictly for laughs, and just so columnists Sain and Chubby Cholly Long wouldn't be wrong in their predictions, Art "The People's Man" Melton yesterday formally announced in an exclusive scoop for Carousel that he absotively-posolutely would be a candidate for editor of the Daily Tar Heel in spring elections. . .Mellow Melton opened his campaign with the unassuming statement, "Who am I to deny my demanding public when they have been twisting my arm to run?"

—So it's all just for kicks, but it's also on the level, and when you see the name "Art Melton" down below "Joyner Triply" on the ballot, kindly consider it for what it's worth. . .So we ask Melton, what is he worth: "As vice-president of the Defeated Candidates club, with five previous losses, I feel it my duty," he sez. . .The character figures he can't lose. . .If he's not elected to DTH he'll ascend automatically to the DCC chiefship, hon. president J. Wallace permitting!

Aint sayin' it's so, and aint saying it aint, but maybe the staff of the Durham Morning Herald, where he now works, is pushing Man-Mountain Melton, just so they can get rid of him?

Then remember his slogan: "When poorer papers are printed, Melton will print'em."—He sez he chose that slogan in order to make this year's editor look good (by comparison), and to indicate his sincerity in running. . .Yep, Mellow Melton is against inflation, for inflation and deflation. . .That's plenty platform, quoth he, and besides, the opposition hasn't anything to stand on either. . .Oughta be a good campaign. . .Watch for the latest poop here!

Charlie Long thinks he's had a promotion. . .He resigned from Student Legislature and now heps it up with the newly-formed local Republicans club every Thursday night—It's the difference between progress and congress, quipped Chas.

Talking of Congress, the House is due to pass the GI subsistence hike bill within two weeks now . . That's the Morse Bill, passed by the Senate last July 19, which provides for $10, $15, and $20 monthly increases. . .House Rules committee chairman Leo Allen warned, however, that the increase "might be scaled down." —WRITE!. . .If you lose faith in the subsistence bill, however, don't forget the hon'able peckerwood Rep. John Rankin of Mississippi, who last week introduced H. R. bill No. 4927, providing for a flat bonus to all War II vets. . .He would.

Carolina Publications Union

THE TAR HEEL

Statement of Income and Expense

For the Fiscal Year Ended June 30, 1947

Income
Local Advertising	$ 6,465.30
National Advertising	4,003.68	$ 10,468.98
Student Fees		25,466.42
Outside Subscriptions		697.17
Total Income		$ 36,612.57
Expense
Publishing and Editing:
Salary—Editor	$ 316.37
Salary—Managing Editor	400.38
Salary—Sports Editor	247.56
Salary—Night Editor	209.00
Salary—Night Sports Editor	79.00
Salaries—Editorial Staff
Supplies	186.71
Postage, Telephone & Telegraph	460.40
Travel	116.40
Printing	24,765.90
Engraving	304.82
Photography	127.02
News Service	1,216.83
Repairs	168.00
Depreciation	19.96
Miscellaneous	155.45	$ 28,773.80
Business Management:
Salary & Bonus—Bus. Mgr.	$ 644.47
Salaries—Assistants	132.21
Supplies	170.03
Postage, Telephone, Telegraph	205.48
Travel	14.55
Metro Service	85.20
Salary—Circulation Mgr.	2,498.67
Distribution Expense	436.17
Salary—Subscription Mgr.	313.02
Repairs	64.01
Depreciation	102.83
Miscellaneous	13.85
Miscellaneous	13.83
Bad Debts	2.00	$ 4,682.49
General Expense:
Yackety Yack Space	$ 80.00
P. U. Board Expense	734.70	$ 814.70
Total Expense		$ 34,270.99
Net Gain		$ 2,341.58

Mudville Mutterings

Goulding Leads Mayor Election

By Dan Sapp

The final report hasn't come in yet on the village mayoral election. At the last count Bill Goulding was leading with Perry Payne running a close second but several streets still haven't been heard from. This is the first village wide election for mayor and the votes have really been pouring in.

Last week a nomination committee from Jackson Circle met in the home of Mrs. Charlotte Hayes to nominate candidates for Jackson Circle representatives to the village council. Due to the failure of a power line, Mrs. Hayes entertained the committee by candlelight. The candles were Red but Mrs. Hayes pointed out that they just happened to be left over from Christmas and have nothing to do with her political affiliations. To get back to the subject of the meeting, Candidates were nom... representatives and t... passed out among th... Nevin Rice and Bill... were elected to the... Mrs. Hayes and Tom... have held since last...

As soon as she gets... the hospital, Bobbie H... new arrival to the v... introduce her new do... the village. As of l... night Bobbie and Di... new son, Richard Lyo... Dick says he weighs a... pounds and looks like h...

Don't forget those... tickets that are being... the group having the n... per cent contribution... week's March of Dimes... Village has been divided... groups; each street is o... except Johnson, Bagl... and King which are th... streets and have been c... into one for the drive. T... story buildings have be... from Jackson Circle and... to Mason Farm road... things off so every b... an equal chance.

This isn't a lost and... column but here is an i... might be worth passing o... A... story barracks dweller... interested in any inf... leading to the recover... living room rug, it s... the rug was blown off h... and out the window last... end while he was hold... finger in a hole in a frozen... pipe. He wasn't very co... but he did say somethin... not having any underpin... whatever that is, around... building. He might have... been lying but it could ha...

Write Away

Explains CCUN Working Plan

An Open Letter To The Student Body.

Fellow Students;

Due to the confusion and lack of information shown recently in statements by student officials and the DTH, we respectfully submit this open letter to the student body, faculty and the trustees of the Greater University of North Carolina.

We welcome the "clearing house" suggestion for speakers presented by our Student Body President, Tom Eller and heartily endorse his plan. Our reason for supporting this plan is the fact that it was with the thought of service to all campus organizations that the CCUN was formed. Since the formation of the CCUN however, this opportunity offered has not as yet been fully utilized by other campus organizations. Recently the Carolina IRC has asked the Carolina Chapter of the CCUN to secure a speaker for their IRC regional conference to be held in Chapel Hill in late February. They have also requested that a United Nations study forum be planned and executed for the IRC by the CCUN. We are happy that we are able to render this service. IRC-CCUN cooperation which has been manifested in other parts of this nation is now off to a strong start in North Carolina.

There is one erroneous view that we would like to correct. We understand that due to mis-information the Carolina Chapter of the CCUN has been considered strong enough to stand on its own feet. Unfortunately this is not the case. The CCUN depends on contributions for its work and exacts no due or fees from any of its active members. CCUN success has been possible through the unselfish work of all of its members and the financial contributions of its friends. The basis for the policy of no dues and no fees has been the belief that everybody is a member of the United Nations since the ratification of the Charter by the Congress of the United States.

To correct a further mis-conception of the CCUN that its primary purpose is to bring speakers to the campus, let us herein indicate that the past CCUN programs and future programs are based upon the following:

1. Classroom speakers (used in the Oct. conference)
2. Classroom slides and movies on the United Nations.
3. Public Forums.
4. Inter-campus exchange of foreign student lecturers.
5. Inter-campus exchange of faculty lecturers.
6. United Nations study projects.
7. Speaker Service to All Campus Organizations.
8. General Assistance to All campus groups.

Although the majority of the CCUN headquarter personnel are members of the Carolina Chapter of the CCUN, they must perform their duties on an impartial basis to all CCUN chapters within this state. Naturally, because the University of North Carolina was chosen as the State Headquarters, interest in the Carolina Chapter by the State Hq. is high. Since UNC draws its students from all over this state and since it is supported financially by the state, it is logical that anything that would benefit the state in general which emanates and originates from the University be heartily endorsed by this University. The State of North Carolina made it possible for us to profit by the benefits of education. It is our duty to repay in some small measure these gains by constructive action on our part.

The State Hq. of the CCUN in their program of promoting the United Nations in order that informed public opinion may be formed is carrying out their duty vested in their being a part of the UNC—this duty—service to the peoples of the state!

Edie Knight;
UNC Chapter Co-Chairman
Lincoln Kan,
NC Division Director

Invents Better Looki... Artificial Foot

ALBANY, N. Y. (UP) H... J. Quintal, 31-year-old amp... has invented an artificial ... which he hoped will prov... boon to similarly injured ... veterans.

The Quintal foot "looks ... natural and it's less bulk... cause it has only one steel ... up the back of the calf," th... ventor says, instead of the ... side braces on a conven... artificial foot.

Quintal, who lost his foot ... 1932 railrood accident, de... more than two years ago that ... artificial foot he was we... "was cumbersome, conspi... and allowed no sideways m... ment of the ankle joint.

SENIOR STEERING GROU...

The Senior Class steering g... will meet at 2 o'clock toda... the Grail room. President ... McCutcheon requests t... representatives be present.

"Lettuce Box" Helps Insolvent Students

Columbus, O. (UP)—"The Lettuce Box" sprouts the long green for hard-pressed Ohio State University students.

In the entrance of Hennick's Restaurant, across from the campus gates, hangs a glass-paneled frame marked "The Lettuce Box." In it are perhaps a dozen five-dollar bills, each suspended by a metal clip.

When a student finds himself temporarily "embarrassed," he informs the restaurant cashier. After identifying himself as an OSU student in good standing, he fills out what looks like a library card—name on the side, date he'll return the five-spot on the other. And with that he becomes solvent again.

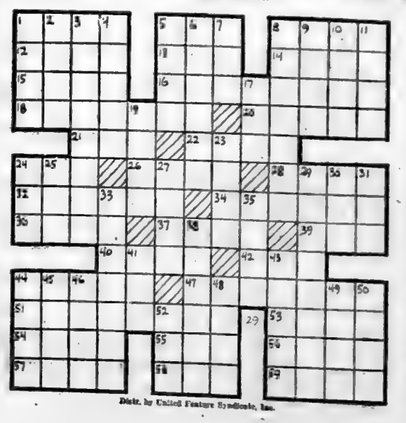
A bill is taken from the case and in its place goes the card, date side out. After a maximum of five days, the student returns the money and the card goes back to the files. Should he fail to make payment as due, the card is reversed so his name is "posted" as delinquent in the case.

"The plan has been in operation for more than two months, and to date we've had no trouble with anyone defaulting on payment," says W. T. Parker, the restaurant owner and proprietor, who developed the idea. He was a student himself once and understands.

PROFESSORS TO MEET

There will be a meeting of the Chapel Hill chapter of the American Association of University Professors at 8 o'clock tonight at Gerrard Hall. All members and those interested in becoming members are invited to be present.

How to Tie a Bow Tie



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS P...

ACROSS

1—Sacks
5—Hall
8—Guns
12—City in Russia
13—Hideout
14—Precise
15—Book by Zola
16—Native son
18—To raise up
20—To tease again
21—Crimson
22—Pert to era
24—Literary collection
26—Lowest point
28—Fateful date
32—Hitler
34—City in Washington
36—Ripener
37—Killed
39—Harbor boat
40—Poison
42—To dine
44—To entwine
47—To speak to 51—Height
53—Great Lake
54—Girl's name
55—To observe
56—To ramp
57—Apostle Paul's original name
58—To wander
59—Fraternal organization

DOWN

1—Part of skele...
2—Sea in Russia
3—To originate
4—Unpaid work
5—Mine exit
6—Thin coverin...
7—To finish
8—Like an angel
9—To stagger
10—Hair on neck
11—Let it stand
17—Man's name
19—Cutting tool
23—Memory
24—Cloak
25—To tease
27—Gaelic
29—Plover
30—Flightless bir...
31—To hang
33—Slight
35—Filled with wonder
38—Commander
41—Snare
43—Rugged crest
44—Armed confli...
45—Charles Lamb pen name
46—Aleutian isla...
48—Game animal
49—Wash basin
50—Places
52—To employ

Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Bobbing In Sports

—with—

Bob Goldwater

Assault on the Record Books

IF YOU'RE ONE of those individuals who loves to see records of one sort or another broken, we advise you to drop down to Bowman Gray pool Saturday afternoon. Old Man Stopwatch is in for a beating at that time, if present plans of Coach Dick Jamerson and his aquatic charges materialize.

The Blue Dolphins' opposition for the afternoon will be provided by VMI, although the stopwatch is expected to furnish more trouble than will the Cadets. Don't misunderstand us, you Virginians, we don't mean any disrespect to VMI or anything like that. But the fact remains that this 1948 outfit is one of the top teams in the nation, certainly without a close competitor in the South. In fact, a rival tank mentor some 30 miles from here has labeled Coach Jamerson's present aggregation as "probably the greatest swimming team ever assembled in the South." That's music to our ears—now we want to hear the same thing said about our football, basketball, and baseball clubs.

Getting back to the assault on the record books, the local splashers may find themselves charged with sticking out their necks by announcing in advance their intent to lower conference marks that have existed as long as nine years. They may not make it—but our bet is that some of the records do fall. After all, with such mermen as Dick Twining, Mike Morrow, and Jim Thomas attacking individual times, and a speedy foursome composed of Floyd Drew, Jesse Greenbaum, Steve Osborne, and Norm Sper going after a relay mark, those records must be considered definitely in jeopardy.

Operation Time-Busting

CONSIDERING THE LENGTH of time that it has withstood all challenges, the 220 mark that Twining will seek to better looms as one hard task. Ross Reynolds of N. C. State set the existing figure of 2:20.8 nine years ago and that's the time Carolina's Human Fish will attempt to improve. Our local bookie tells us Dick has a fine chance to do it.

Another mark that will probably go down the Bowman Gray drain come Saturday is the 150-backstroke record of Carolina's own Denny Hammond, a classy 1:39.5 made in 1942. Freshman Thomas will go after this one, and considering that he turned in a nifty 1:37.8 just last week against Navy, he also rates a fine chance of entering his name in the record books.

Co-Captain Morrow won't find things quite as easy up in the 440-freestyle. He'll be shooting for the 5:21.6 time turned in by Harry Stengle of VMI back in 1941. At the same distance, the relay quartet has turned its collective sights on a comparatively recent record, State's 3:43.6 of last year.

THE ATTEMPTS AT record-breaking won't be the only attractions of the meet. Another feature will be the all-ATO medley-relay trio, composed of John Bippart as backstroker, Dan Breeden as breaststroker, and Jim Mericka in the freestyle. It's rumored that the ATO's are investigating the possibility of these boys competing in mural water polo play.

How Big a Score

IN A WAY, the Carolina mermen can be compared to the State cagers when they "battle" Hampden-Sydney, Chatham, and Furman—it isn't hard to predict who'll win, but how high a score will they run up? The Dolphins have rested their star swimmers in late races of the meets, have still managed to run up tallies of 52 and 53 in these two outings with the maximum high being 68.

Another unusual item concerning this year's splash collection is that even the head Dolphin admits "they're pretty good." That's a rather sweeping statement to come from Jamerson, who can show more pessimism than any other winning coach we recall right off. Jamerson himself has gone on record as saying that his present team "could turn out to be better than the 1944 bunch, considered the finest the South ever produced and one of the top three in the nation that year."

According to the tank tutor, "The boys have the opportunity to be a great team, but one slip or too much over-confidence and the chance will be gone." We might add that such a slip—upset or disaster might be a better word—would also produce the well-known vanishing act for a Dolphin team entry in the national collegiates in March.

Galaxy of Stars

GOING THROUGH THE list of events one by one, it's hard to find any weakness on this year's star-studded aquatic crew. The Dolphins are loaded in the sprints, distances, backstroke, and breaststroke, and need only a diver who can cop second place behind Sper to be strong in that department. Equally important, the prospects are fine for next year, when the only graduation losses will be Bob Ousley, Mac Erle, Jerry Cook, Osborne, Greenbaum, and Morrow.

The bright swimming outlook prompts us to reach one conclusion: Carolina may lose its conference championships on the gridiron, o'er hill and dale, and maybe in other sporting endeavors, but dear old UNC will continue to monopolize the waterways, Neptune and Dick Jamerson will see to that!

No Track Work

Coach Dale Ranson announced yesterday afternoon that all track workouts are cancelled today in order to have all varsity, freshmen and other interested candidates attend a meeting in 304 Woollen at 4:45.

It is imperative that all lettermen attend and that anyone hoping to take part in the Southern Invitation Indoor games at Chapel Hill on February 28 be on hand so that workout schedules can be arranged.

State Jayvees Triumph Over Carolina Juniors, 45-3

Raleigh Club Has Superior Height; Thorne Scores 12

By Morty Schaap

Raleigh, Jan. 28—N. C. State College's Jayvees used their superior height to good advantage here tonight to score a 45-39 victory over Coach Jim Hamilton's Carolina Juniors in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium. The game was a preliminary to the State-Furman varsity clash.

Coach Butter Anderson's State quint jumped into an early lead and managed to keep ahead of the visitors for the entire evening with the exception of a brief Carolina margin early in the second half. Playing on a court that was as slippery as the icy snow that currently covers North Carolina, State relied on a big height advantage to maintain its undefeated record.

Repeated waxings of the auditorium floor prior to the game left the court in poor playing condition, and workers were using gas to clean off some of the wax before the varsity game got underway.

Take Early Lead

State got off to a fast lead tonight, leading 6-0 after the first few minutes. Carolina pulled up to a 6-5 but could never quite overtake the Wolfcubs. State led by 23-19 at the half.

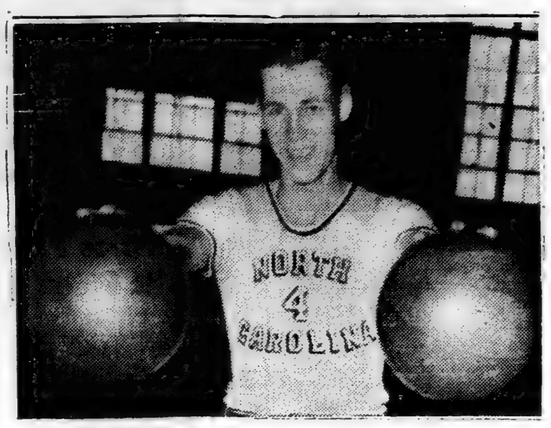
The shortlived Carolina lead came after about six minutes of playing time had elapsed in the second period. Hamilton's visitors boasted a 27-26 margin at that point but soon fell behind.

Charlie Thorne, Carolina's stocky guard, led his team in scoring with 12 points. Hal Ferraro, 9, and John Tsantes, 8, were the other leaders for the Chapel Hill outfit.

The lineups:

Carolina (39)	Pos.	State (45)
Gregory (0)	F	Spencer (2)
Peters (0)	F	Davis (15)
Tsantes (8)	C	Gurski (16)
Thorne (12)	G	Geist (6)
Harington (4)	G	Harand (5)

Carolina substitutes: Ferraro (9), Hoft (2), Lebed, Gilmore, White (4). State substitutions: Pickett (1), Forman.



Halftime score: State 23, Carolina 19.

CAROLINA WINS

The Carolina badminton club scored a 4-2 victory over the Durham Club in Woollen gym last night.

Here are the results: Taylor (C) beat Martin, 15-13, 15-2; Seixas (C) beat Shaw, 15-5, 15-7; McGinty (C) beat Few, 8-15, 15-3, 5-3. Doubles: Taylor and Seixas (C) beat Martin and Shaw, 15-8, 15-4; West and Martin (D) beat McGinty and Strayhorn, 15-8, 15-7; Yergan and Wetherington (D) beat Holmes and Wadsworth, 17-14, 15-3.

Passes 200-Point Mark

BOB PAXTON, Carolina cage captain, displays his ability to hold a basketball in the palm of each hand. Perhaps each ball represents a hundred points, for Bob passed the 200-mark by counting 13 times against VPI this week. Paxton will lead the Phantoms against Davidson here on Friday.

Double-Overtime Tilt Features Action in Intramural Program

Holding ATO 1 scoreless in two overtime sessions, Phi Delt 3 dropped in the deciding bucket in the second extra period to win the featured match of the afternoon's murals, 32-30. The count was a 30-all at the end of the regular period of play and the initial extra session. Dave Boak, Carolina's hope for the Olympic soccer team and ATO cager, was high scorer with 13 points.

Kappa Sig 3 blew a 14-10 halftime lead to lose to a strong-finishing Chi Psi quintet, 28-22. Jim Kelly paced the victors with 12 markers while Fitz Caudle, Kappa Sig, followed with nine.

Sigma Chi 1 rolled up the biggest point total of the afternoon, trampling Beta 3, 56-3. The issue was never in doubt throughout the rather one-sided contest. Sigma Chi held Beta to a single foul shot leading at the halftime break, 34-1. Bob Langley hit for 16 counters to pace both squads.

ATO Has Bad Day

It was not a luck day for ATO. Their number two team dropped a low-scoring game Phi Gam 3, 19-12.

Three Zeta entries saw action yesterday, but only one quintet recorded a victory. Zeta 2 won by a convincing margin over Fi KA 3, 35-10. The victors, headed by Gurney Boren, who notched 15 points, swept to a 14-3 halftime advantage. Both of the Zeta defeats were by margins of 21 points. SAE 1 scored a win over Zeta 3, 36-17. Neither team was able to count more than ten times in the second stanza, but the SAE 26-7 halftime lead stood up throughout the game. Willie Alston and Dan Smith paced the winners with 10 points apiece. Zeta 4 absorbed the second loss of the afternoon, bowing to Phi Delt 2, 33-12. The Zetes were behind 22-6 at the end of the first period. Jim Jackson of Phi Delt was top man with 15 notches.

(See MURALS, page 4)

Mural Schedule

BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 3: Phi Delt 3 vs. Zeta 3; Court 4: ATO 1 vs. Sig Nu 1; Court 5: Blackballs vs. Lewis 3; Court 6: Beta 2 vs. Delta Sig; Court 7: Honeycut Manor vs. Unknowns.

5:00—Court 3: Grads vs Steele; Court 4: Law School vs. Independents; Court 5: Whitehead 2 vs. Black Phantoms; Court 6: Mud Dobbers vs. Aycock 1; Court 7: Kappa Sig 2 vs. Pi Lamb 2.

7:00—Court 3: Chi Psi 1 vs. Sig Nu 2; Court 4: Kappa Sig 3 vs. Zeta 2; Court 5: Pi Lamb 1 vs. Beta 3; Court 6: Kappa Sig 1 vs. Chi Phi 1; Court 7: Sig Ep 1 vs. PiKA 1.

8:00—Court 3: PiKA 3 vs. Sig Chi 1; Court 4: Phi Delta Chi vs Sig Chi 3; Court 5: DKE 1 vs. Sig Nu 3; Court 6: SAE 2 vs. Chi Phi 2; Court 7: ATO 3 vs. Zeta 1.

HANDBALL

4:00—Sigma Chi 2 vs. TEP

5:00—Beta 2 vs. Phi Delt 3.

RIFLESHOOTING

7:30—Phi Gam (orientation firing).

Phone 8686
Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Office hours:
9:00-1:00 Sat.
9:00-5:00 Tues. & Thurs.

Scott Still Searching For Foward Starter

Carolina's White Phantoms, who go after their seventh straight Southern conference win against Davidson here tomorrow night, continued their drills in Woollen gymnasium yesterday as Coach Tom Scott continued his search for a starting forward.

The battle between Coy Carson, Roger Scholbe, and Fred Swartzberg for the post, vacated by Bill Miller earlier this year, has continued all week. Coach Scott stated yesterday afternoon that he still hadn't decided on his starter. Dan Nyimicz, a guard who turned in a hot shooting exhibition in the win over VPI this week, will not be shifted to forward.

Offense against the man-to-man defense featured Carolina's workout yesterday. There was also a scrimmage between the members of the squad.

See State Play

After supper last night, the team rode over to Raleigh with the Carolina Jayvees and got a look at N. C. State College's high-scoring cagers.

A check of the team scoring totals for all the games played to date reveals that Captain Bob Paxton, Carolina's All-Southern forward, is setting a fast pace with 212 points. If he keeps up his present clip, he at least should set a new seasonal high for himself. In each of his previous seasons at Carolina he averaged about 250 a year.

Other Leaders

Trailing him are Norm Kohler, the dependable floor leader, with 139 and Nemo Nearman, who has posted 120. John Dillon still ranks among the top scorers despite his reserve role. The Hook has 97 points. King Cole's 85 is next in line. Cole tallied 18 in the last game.

Scoring totals for conference games showed Clemson's Leonard Riddle and Maryland's Bill Wanish setting the pace with 113.

Standings

	W	L	Pct.
Carolina	6	0	1.000
N. C. State	3	0	1.000
G. Washington	8	2	.800
Duke	4	2	.667
S. Carolina	5	3	.625
Maryland	5	3	.625
Citadel	3	2	.600
Wake Forest	3	3	.500
W & L	3	3	.500
Davidson	3	4	.429
W & M	3	4	.429
Richmond	1	2	.333
VPI	1	3	.250
Furman	1	4	.200
VMI	0	5	.000
Clemson	0	9	.000

Scoring

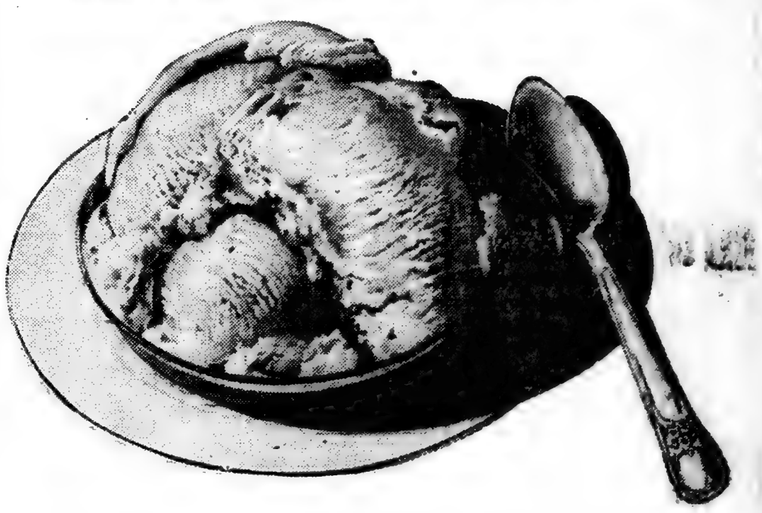
Player, Team	G	FG	FT	TP
Wanish, Md.	8	46	21	113
Riddle, Clem.	9	44	25	113
Cantwell, GW	10	44	24	112
Giermak, W-M	7	42	15	99
Goldsmith, W-L	6	36	25	97
Gentry, WF	6	38	19	95
Moffatt, GW	10	36	19	91
Martin, SC	8	41	8	90
Szakacsi, SC	8	35	14	84
Paxton, NC	6	34	15	83
Cheek, D'son	7	26	31	83
Brown, Md.	8	27	27	81

Top Coed Outfit To Clash Tonigh On Mural Progre

Undefeated Chi Ome mighty sextette and unbe but untried McIver's gals tangle tonight at 8:00 in headline tilt of the Coed ba ball league. Both teams will seeking their third straight tories but the Chi O cuties rated as favorites since both McIver's wins have come by forfeit route.

Other contests will find Alpha Gams tangling with Independent Coeds in the curtain raiser and the Sc lassies facing the Kenan g at 7:15.

On Tuesday night the Chi nosed out the Tri Delts in a fensive battle, 10-8. Carr dor gals were able to hit the ha a little more accurately a 1 earlier in the evening and sequently they topped the AD 16-11.



The bi-weekly contests h uncovered several outstan cagers including forwards K Durham, Chi O, Becky Ho and Carolyn Driver, Alpha G and Bill Lloyd, Pi Phi. Pe Lucas, Tri Delt guard, is anot luminary whose hardwood ploits have brought much pr upon her sturdy shoulders.

Carolina Sport Shop
PRESENTS
RECORD LISTENING
I Love You, Yes I Do
DIANAH WASHINGTON
True
BILLY ECKSTINE
MARGARET WHITING sings RODGERS and HART
SHOSTAKOVICH 7th
"LENINGRAD" SYMPHONY
Carolina Sport Sho

Tap Room Now Open
THE BUCCANEER
Airport Road, Chapel Hill

JEFFERSON CAFETERIA
Hi Fellows!
in DURHAM . . .
it's the
Jefferson Cafeteria
103 E. Main St.
for FINE FOODS
at REASONABLE PRICES
Lunch 11:00 a. m.—2:15 p. m.
Dinner 4:30 p. m.—8:00 p. m.
JEFFERSON CAFETERIA

Dairyland Ice Cream

There is no secret or mystry to making good Ice Cream! We take pride in the fact that our Dairyland Ice Cream is made from the purest milk and cream—manufactured right here in Chapel Hill. And to our ice cream we add only the true fruits and flavors—nothing artificial!

Yes, our Dairland Ice Cream is a year-round food, a health food, a perfect dessert food. Call for it by name at our dealers or Dairy Store. The following dealers serve Dairyland Ice Cream in Chapel Hill.

The Pines	The Buccaneer
The Rendezvous	Carrboro Dairyland Store
Vet Co-op Store	Bests Grocery
Carrboro Pure Oil Station	Village Grill
54 Grocery	N. C. Cafeteria
Village Pharmacy	Friendly Cafe

Farmers Dairy Cooperative, Inc.
Tel. F-414

-REPUBLICAN-

(Continued from page 1)

Future plans include the presentation of state and national Republican leaders to the campus. However, no names of possible speakers were released yesterday.

Two of the organizing committee's members, Coline Smith and Charlie Long, have been invited to speak at the February 12 Lincoln day dinner in Durham, at which time they will outline the work of student Republicans in North Carolina.

Quick Service

DURHAM OPTICAL COMPANY
215 W. Main St.
Phone F-2141 Durham

NOW PLAYING
VILLAGE

Campus Calendar

2:00 p. m.—Senior class steering committee, Grail room.
2:00 p. m.—Graham Memorial staff meeting, GM office.
3:00 p. m.—Ways and Means committee, Grail room.
4:00 p. m.—Campus party, Roland Parker No. 2.
5:00 p. m.—World Federalists meeting, Grail room.
6:30 p. m.—Recorded dinner music, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
7:00 p. m.—Republican club, Roland Parker No. 1.
7:00 p. m.—YWCA, Grail room.
7:30 p. m.—Western North Carolina club, Roland Parker Nos. 2 and 3.
8:00 p. m.—Catholic Roundtable, Grail room.
8:00 p. m.—Student legislature, Di Hall, New West.

SP Is Still Silent About Candidates

With a two-party endorsement of Jess Dedmond for presidential office already public, the Student party continues to remain hush-hush over forthcoming elections. In a short business meeting held at 9 o'clock Tuesday night in Horace Williams lounge, nominations were discussed, but no endorsement has been disclosed.

However, two elections within the party were made during the meeting. Cam West, of Philadelphia, became campaign chairman, and Tom Kerr, of Pasadena, California, was elected social chairman.

SP Chairman Gran Childress announced that a 7 o'clock meeting of the executive committee in Roland Parker lounge will precede next Monday night's party meeting.

WNC OFFICERS

Officers of the Western North Carolina club will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial to discuss future activities of the club.

-ANTI-

(Continued from page 1)

been chartered as charitable and non-profit.

The new order also opposes the Marshall plan, the United Nations, and "New Deal despots" it claims are in control of the country.

The slender, grey-haired founder says the organization disavows the Negro's right to citizenship, claiming that Father Noah separated him from the whites and banished him to the African jungles "because of his preverse nature."

The society, named for the "Liberty or Death" patriot, charges $3 for initiation and $10 annual dues, but has not yet elected any permanent officers.

The other incorporators are the Reverend E. G. (Parson Jack) Johnston, editor of "The American Christian Protestant," Marilyn Jenkins of Salt Lake City, Utah, W. G. Kerchner of Lenhartsville, Pennsylvania.

The corporation charter expresses undying opposition to Communism and asserts the intention of trying to eliminate the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments of the constitution "by legal and constitution methods."

Some of the literature of the organizations is a book called "Only Blonds Have Wings."

Two Professors Will Attend N. Y. Meeting

Dr. B. L. Ullman, head of the University classics department, and Dr. S. E. Leavitt of the Romance language department are attending the annual meeting of the American Council of Learned societies in Rye, N. Y., today and Friday.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

-LEGISLATURE-

(Continued from page 1)

proving student banking facilities.

The following presidential appointments have been submitted by Tom Eller for the Legislature's approval tonight: Orientation committee: Jess Dedmond, chairman, Dick Boren, Page Harris, Don Hames, Charles McKae, Pete Gerns, Patsy McNutt; Entertainment committee: Ruth Evans; Elections board: Barbara Cashion, Bill Hipple, Fred Thompson, John Stump, Harold Suits, Wilbur McFarland; Student Audit board: David Ferebee; Budget committee, Julius Goldstein.

STATE TAKES LEAD

New York, Jan. 28—(UP)—N. C. State College's Wolfpack has taken over the scoring leadership among the nation's basketball teams according to the latest figures released by the NCAA statistics bureau. State has an average of 77.6 points per game and a total of 1,319.

Rhode Island State is second with 75.1 per game.

-MURALS-

(Continued from page 3)

In the other three games played yesterday afternoon, Pi Lamb 1 bowed to Sigma Nu 2, 30-27; KA 1 outscored Sigma Nu 1, 39-27; and Kappa Sig defeated Phi Kap 1, 40-22.

In the two handball matches played, both singles encounters were decided by 11-0 shutouts. Zeta 1 copped its singles game and one of the tandem tilts to defeat Phi Delta Chi, 2-1. Sigma Chi 1 whitewashed the Dekes, 3-0.

Chi Psi, the third unit to engage in its orientation firing, showed the highest total thus far. The eight men who competed posted an average of 130.25 out of a possible 200 and the three high men were also high for the orientation shooting. Severn Wallis hit 166, John Nichols shot 159, and Dan Boney made 151.

In games played last night, low scores predominated. The biggest margin of victory was run up by the Field House outfit, which beat the Emanons by 48-18. The closest game saw Nash edge the Underdogs by 30-26. There were two forefeits. Hut 8 and the Geology Department gained forfeit wins over Ruffin 2 and BVP 2.

Other results were: AVC 32, Lewis 2 18; Old West 23, Graham 18; Hillers 40, Stacy 27; Mangum 31, Med School 24; Ruffin 1 23, Alexander 2 17; Skyscrapers 31, Hut No. 26 25.

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 6B

HEATER. BURNHAM ELECTRIC steam radiator, thermostatically controlled -$50. Ideal for small room supplement to other heat in large room. 51 University Trailer Court. (1-1676-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6bb

1938 FORD, TUDOR SEDAN, RADIO. good tires. Caston Motor Company F-3896. (ch 1x1

1942 CHEVROLET 4-DOOR, RADIO heater, seat covers. Cash or Terms. Can be seen at Poe-Mangum's Service Station. (1-1680-1

1940 DE SOTA '46 ENGINE, 4 DOOR radio, heater, new paint job. Priced for quick sale. See Lot No. 34 UNC Trailer Court. (1-1686-1)

1941 BUICK TUDOR. CALL JACK Lloyd, F-414 between 8:00 and 12:00 noon. (1-C1684-1)

1940 DELUXE MODEL FORD COACH —Must sell immediately. See E. Lamb, 1 Old West Dorm. (1-1683-1)

LOST 12

COLLIE, THOROUGHBRED. NO collar. Answers to "Fellow." Reward. Call F-2986. (1-1685-1)

LADY'S BLACK SILK COIN PURSE Monday afternoon in vicinity Playmaker's Scene Shop or Porthole. Bills, cash. Reward. Phone F-3601. (1-c1687-1)

Creme
COLD WAVE
Only $5

Why give them to yourself when you can get your hair neatly cut and styled and a beautiful COLD WAVE for only $5.00. Your hair deserves the best—which only the experienced operator can give.

Call us today for your next Permanent. We also give Permanents at night—call for appointments

Village Beauty Shop
Telephone 6221
Over Sutton's Drug Store

GO TRAILWAYS
To GREENSBORO, HIGH POINT, CHARLOTTE
Buses leaving: 2:05 AM, 4:10 AM, 5:30 AM, 8:10 AM, 11:05 AM, 2:10 PM, 5:05 PM, 6:10 PM, 9:45 PM
Union Bus Terminal
PHONE 4281

Carolina TRAILWAYS
THE ROUTE OF THE Trailmasters

Wildroot Cream-Oil
Get it at
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE
Your Walgreen Agency

J. Paul Sheedy Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked the Finger Nail Test

START using Wildroot Cream-Oil today! It takes only a little bit to groom your hair neatly and naturally without that plastered down look. And Wildroot Cream-Oil relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff . . . helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test. Always ask for a tube or bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil at your drug or toilet goods counter. Find out for yourself why it's "again and again the choice of men who put good grooming first." Remember, Wildroot Cream-Oil is non-alcoholic and contains soothing Lanolin! For generous trial supply free, send this ad with your name and address to Wildroot Co., Inc., Dept. C-3, Buffalo 8, New York.

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

Give to the March of Dimes — Harry's

Air Force Tests To Be Given Here

The United States Air Force will start another 12 month Aviation Cadet Training course for over 800 potential flying officers March 1 at Randolph field, Texas. Examinations for this training will be given to qualified applicants in the Civil Service Room No. 3 of the post office beginning January 28 through January 30, 1948.

Aviation Cadet Training is open not only to enlisted men now in service and to war veterans but also qualified civilians with no previous military service. Applicants must be unmarried citizens of United States, between the ages of 20 and 26½ and have at least one-half the credits leading to a college degree or be able to pass the educational examination given by the Air Force.

In order to completea cadets application for Pilot training the following information should be made available before taking examinations: (1) Completion of WD AGO form 60 application for pilto training (in duplicate) obtainable at local recruiting office (2) Birth certificate (3) Transcript of scholastic records.

For further information call R-721 or drop by the U. S. Army and Air Force recruiting office located in Durham.

Y JUNIOR COUNCIL

The Junior council of the YWCA will meet at 7 o'clock this evening in the Grail room of Graham Memorial. Program subject will be Y relationships from Carolina to Geneva. Speakers will be Miss Rosalie Oakes, national student secretary of the Southern region of the Y, Rachel Woodley and Pat Carruthers.

-PHI-

(Continued from page 1)

18 and 30 would be trained each year by the Army, Navy, and Air Forces. Advocates of the measure claim that such training would, within five years, create a reserve force of 4,000,000 men which would be available in case this country was attacked.

Maintaining that military service contributed to the moral deterioration of the nation's youth and that a training period of one year was insufficient to provide the trained specialists needed for modern warfare, the opposition bloc of the assembly succeeded in defeating the proposed measure.

—YACK WANTS SNAPS—

Any person having unusual snapshots of campus subjects has been invited by the Yackety Yack to submit them to the Yack office on the Graham memorial mezzanine for possible inclusion in the annual.

Pictures submitted and accepted for publication will be returned, the board of editors promised.

Kinsey Report on Sexual Behavior of the Human Male
at
Ab's Intimate Bookshop

Speaker Chester D. zum Brunnen announced that a class on the history of the Philanthropic assembly, which is essential for all candidates for membership, will be held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Phi hall.

WHY NOT CALL F-3801 WHEN YOU NEED A CAB?
Your Friends Do . . .
F-3801 — F-3801
INDEPENDENT CAB

Raging with passion and lust... Storming to the top of the world!
TREASURE OF SIERRA MADRE
WARNER BROS.
scale giant new peaks of high excitement!

A TREMENDOUS NEW KIND OF ADVENTURING ROLE FOR HUMPHREY BOGART — HIS GREATEST OF ALL!
STARRING HUMPHREY BOGART AND WALTER HUSTON
TIM HOLT · BRUCE BENNETT
TODAY AND FRIDAY
CAROLINA
ALSO LATEST NEWS

New EASY Portable WHIRLDRY WASHER

Washes — Rinses — Then Damp Dries In the Same Compact Tub

GOOD SIZE LOADS LIKE THIS—
- 3 children's play suits, 4 dish towels, 3 hankies, 1 lady's slacks . . . all of these make up one load.
- Twelve diapers . . . in one load

YET IT WASHES AND DRIES TWICE AS FAST AS MOST LARGE WASHERS!

Only $59.95
For Victory Village & Trailer Court

A DEMONSTRATION

Has been arranged each afternoon from 2 o'clock until 5 o'clock at 139 King St.—next to Victory Village Rental Office. If it is impossible for you to go there or come to the store—phone us and arrangements will be made to come to your home.

OGBURN FURNITURE CO.
Phone 5841 Chapel Hill

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Cloudy with occasional light rain; not quite so cold.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
War and Peace
Mister Dedmond
Make Mine Music

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 87

A scene from the Carolina Playmaker and University music department production of the famed Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, "The Mikado," as it was caught in a rehearsal by cartoonist Bob Coulter. Left to right are: Burton B. Hampton, Jr., Clemmons, as "The Mikado;" Catherine Covington, Winston-Salem, as "Katisha;" Andrew Griffith, Mount Airy, as "Ko-Ko"; Sam Hirsch, Trenton, N. J., as "Poo-Bah"; Carl Perry, Schoolfield, Va., as "Nanki-Poo"; and Barbara Edwards, Troy, as "Yum-Yum." "The Mikado" is to be presented in Memorial Hall at Chapel Hill Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30 o'clock.

Bernstein Report Is Released

Entertainment Legislation Passes

Red Tape Is Big Tangler For Law Body

The Student Legislature got all tangled up in its own parliamentary procedure last night, but when it emerged it found that it had accomplished something—the bill to provide student entertainment on an involuntary basis had been passed.

After more than an hour of discussion interrupted by numerous motions for the previous question and the subsequent disputes as to whether the voting was for the previous question or on the bill, the legislation was passed, following an amusing dispute between Finance committee Chairman Ernie House and Parliamentarian Pete Gerns as to whether an earlier motion to adjourn at 9:30 could be reconsidered or not.

25c Increase

The bill, discussed at length by Student Body President Tom Eller and a galaxy of legislators, provides for the pro rata appropriation for Graham Memorial from student fees to be increased from $1 to $1.25 per student per quarter, for that extra $.25 to be set aside in a separate student entertainment fund, and for that fund to be administered by a student entertainment board headed by the director of Graham Memorial.

The entertainment is to be of the classical type, and the $.25 appropriation is not to be considered a permanent addition to the yearly GM appropriation, but only for 1948-49.

Official Oath

Other bills passed during the evening's session were the bill to establish standard travel procedure for students at the University, the bill to pro-rate class funds, the bill to finance class activities, and the bill to adopt an official oath for new members of the Student Legislature.

The bill to protest against horn-blowing in dormitory areas was defeated on the grounds that it was impractical.

The scheduled constitutional amendment was recommitted to the Ways and Means committee without discussion, while the speaker's fund bill, the magazine unification bill, the coed affairs committee bill and the student banking facilities committee bill never reached the floor.

Bill Jernigan was elected clerk

(See LEGISLATURE, page 4)

DEAN W. W. PIERSON of the Graduate school, left, was chairman of the committee which investigated and drew up a report on the case of Leonard Bernstein, right, who charged the History department last week with religious and political discrimination. The report was released yesterday by Chancellor House.

Pierson Findings Clear Department Of Charges Levied

By Chuck Hauser

The case report of Leonard Bernstein vs. the History department was released by Chancellor R. B. House yesterday afternoon climaxing a week and one half of waiting on the part of the campus and innumerable hours of work by members of the committee investigating the case.

Twenty-four typewritten pages represent the work of committee chairman Dean W. W. Pierson, Associate Dean A. K. King, Professors Ralph W. Bost, John N. Couch, and George S. Lane of the administrative board of the Graduate school.

Many Testify

Testimony was taken from Bernstein, Dr. Newsome of the History department, Dr. Godfrey, Dr. Hedgepeth of the University Infirmary, Professors Lefler, Garrett, and Green, this reporter, Professors Beale and Pegg, and Miss Mary B. Aldige, coed who heard fragments of a conference between Newsome and Bernstein.

Final conclusions of the committee are recorded as follows:

1. The Department of History, as a department, is exonerated of the charge made by Bernstein that he was discriminated against because of his religion and political opinions.

2. Bernstein, by insisten questioning and irritative repetition

(See BERNSTEIN, page 4)

Curtain Rises On Operetta 'Mikado' Tonight

Women's Advisor Is Main Speaker At CICA Meeting

Miss Audrey Branch, Personnel Advisor to Women, spoke to the Carolina Independent Coed association on its motto, "United in Friendship," Wednesday night in the Y building.

Miss Branch said that she believes CICA has a responsibility more than any other campus group to make all new girls feel at home. "Get to know your own members well. CICA should find time to have more social functions within the group to promote friendships among the girls," she urged.

Faculty Friends

Friendships with faculty members is also important," she continued. "There is a certain feeling of faculty-student companionship that is lacking here at Carolina, and that should not be the case." She suggested a CICA-faculty luncheon, or a picnic in the spring when the group would not have so many plans on the agenda. She told the members to take advantage of the rare opportunities to visit their professors and instructors in their homes.

Sadie Pearson, President of the Independents, requested that all committee chairmen for the fashion show have their complete reports in by Wednesday, February 4.

Heavy Ticket Sale Warrants Holdover For Extra Showing

By Mark Sumner

Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado" opens tonight in Memorial hall and even before the curtain is scheduled to go up on the initial performance, Playmaker business manager John W. Parker has announced that the production will be held over for a third night.

"The Mikado was originally scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights, allowing for an audience twice the size as usually sees productions in the Playmaker theatre," Parker said yesterday, "but the demand for tickets has been greater than for any production this year."

Tickets on Sale

Parker added that tickets for the extra performance will be placed on sale at noon today in the Swain hall business office of the Playmakers, and at Ledbetter-Pickard's on Franklin street.

"The Mikado" is being presented by the Carolina Playmakers and the Music department, and is directed by Lynn Gault and Paul Young. Curtain time is 8:30, and the doors will open an hour earlier.

The operetta boasts a cast of fifty and a complete orchestra, with a technical crew of twenty. The settings were designed by Gault and Irene Smart designed the costumes.

Mid-Winter Germans Cancelled; Top Name Bands Not Available

There will be no Mid-Winter dances this mid-winter, according to the latest communique delivered from the German club by President Bill Tate.

With the vote of member organizations standing at seven to six against having any dance set this quarter, Tate said yesterday that the possibility of having a name band here for a concert during the quarter was being investigated.

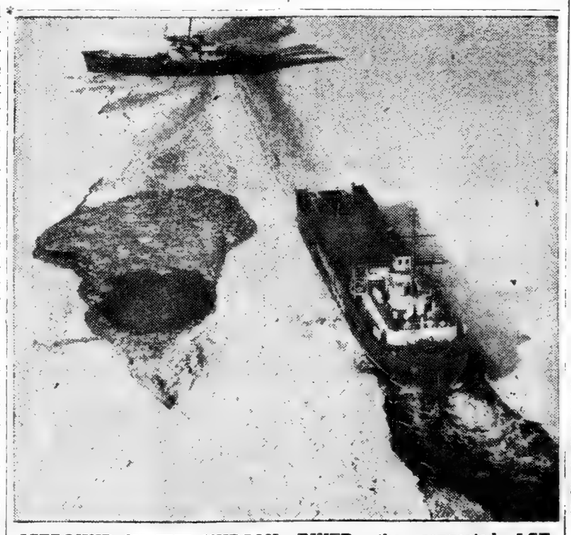
Restricted because of closed dates for the use of Woollen gymnasium, the club was forced to plan the dance set for the weekend of February 13 and 14. "This cut out 90 per cent of our chances for bands," Tate said, "but the steering committee started plans in October for Mid-Winters, anyway."

"By December 20 the best thing that had come through was Glen Grey and the Casa Loma orchestra, whom we signed."

Glen Grey's subsequent nervous breakdown and the break-up of the band again left the club in an uncomfortable position.

In releasing the decision, Bill Tate made the statement that it was mainly due to the lack of available good bands. "Look at the limitations," he said, "there are darn few left!"

Di Vote Defeats UMT 17-8; Senate Approves Mag Bill



The Dialectic Senate voted 17 to 8 against universal military training in a Wednesday night meeting which also produced additional ideas on the campus magazine situation and the impending referendum.

The mid-week session had hardly begun when Gran Childress, critic of the Senate, introduced a substitute bill to the one rejected by the Di last week that would have installed magazines on a self-supporting basis, dependent upon student subscriptions. Childress's motion passed this time to give Di approval to: (1) an annual referendum to register student satisfaction with their magazines; (2) separate humor and literary mags; and (3) publication of both magazines in alternate months under entirely different staffs.

Main Bill

For the main bill, its second this quarter, the Di heard Senator Randy McLeod present the subject of compulsory military conscription as a means of preparedness. The debate from the floor on this widely discussed issue lasted two hours before the measure was defeated emphatically by the Di members. Not as decisive, however, was a total canvass of members and visitors present, recording 20 votes against and 14 for universal military

(See DI SENATE, page 4)

ICEBOUND IN THE HUDSON RIVER, the converted LST Albany is shown in this airview waiting for the Coast Guard icebreaker Gentian (top) to cut a path through the heavy river ice. The Albany, carrying a sorely needed cargo of kerosene for the New York State capital, was halted off Kingston, N. Y., by the thickness of the ice. (International Soundphoto)

Dance Tonight at UVA Club To Climax March of Dimes

A "Five Dimes" dance, for the benefit of the campus March of Dimes, will be presented by the University Veterans association tonight at 8:30 in the club house. Open to the entire campus, the dance will have a 50 cent admission charge, all of which will be turned over to the campaign.

Any sum up to $100 collected at the dance will be matched by the UVA, president Johnny Clampitt announced.

Individual solicitation for the polio prevention drive will continue today in all campus living centers, Barron Mills, chairman of the drive, said. Aim of the drive this year is to receive a contribution from everyone on the campus, Mills said.

All students living in the special contest residential section—either a dormitory, a sorority, a fraternity, the quonset huts or Victory Village—that contributes 100 per cent will receive passes to the Carolina theater.

Winners of the free theater ducats will be calculated after the drive's closing today and will be announced in next Tuesday's Daily Tar Heel.

JEWISH SERVICES

The Rev. J. Robert Nelson will speak on military training at Jewish services in Roland Parker lounge No. 1, tonight at 7 o'clock. Everyone is invited to attend.

Melton Mum

Art Melton, the inevitable candidate, says "No comment," as to his status of candidacy for the editorship of the Daily Tar Heel in the coming spring elections, but the burly photographer has promised that he will release a statement to the DTH on the subject within the next few days.

Melton, defeated last spring for the DTH editorship and this past fall for the editorship of the Yackety Yack, is working at present for the Durham Morning Herald, in a reportorial and photographic capacity.

The political die-hard's alleged candidacy was announced in an exclusive "scoop" yesterday by R. Foo Giduz, Carolina Carousel creator, on the editorial page of this paper.

Le Cercle Francais Elects New Officers

Genevieve Faucher, native of France, spoke at the regular meeting of Le Cercle Francais Tuesday night in Caldwell "Y". The subject of Mlle. Faucher's talk was "Algeria and the Algerians". Before the meeting the group met for supper at the Carolina Inn.

Club officers elected last week for the winter and spring quarters were; Bill Baskin, president; Jean Riden, vice-president; Elizabeth Thomas, secretary; and Ed Duke, treasurer.

Student Church Groups To Make Last Y Clothing Collection This Afternoon

By Sally Woodhull

Final collection of clothing in the YM-YW sponsored drive will occur this afternoon, according to Gene Turner and Sunny Sunstrom, co-chairmen of the drive.

Representatives of student church groups will visit each dormitory, sorority and fraternity house to gather clothing collected by individual solicitors, who have been working under Ginny Nash and John Hough. Collectors will transport it to the central packing station at the Baptist church, where it will be packed for shipping to the Church World Service shipping point at Windsor, Maryland.

Groups Working

Church groups working on the drive and the areas covered by each are as follows: Pilgrim fellowship: Alderman, Carr, Kenan, McIver, Spencer, Chi and Alpha Gam; Wesley foundation: A. DPi, Lambda Chi, ZBT, Pi Phi, SPE, ATO, and Chi Psi.

Canterbury club will collect from lower and upper quads: Baptist; Old East, New East, Battle, Vance Pettigrew, Tri Delt, Archer, and Smith; Hillel: Beta, Sigma Nu, Chi Lambda Phi, SAE, and DKE; Presbyterian: Phi Gam, Zete, KA, Kappa Sig, Phi Kappa Sig, St. Anthony, Nash and Miller. Turner will collect from Phi Delt, Chi Phi, and Whitehead.

Some Collected

Some collections were made Wednesday, and results were fairly good, the co-chairmen said, but it is hoped that many more garments can be collected this afternoon. Both Sunny and Turner emphasized the need of people overseas for clothing, and the ease of contribution from the students' angle. Clothes need not be wrapped, but should be placed in the boxes provided in each dormitory or house.

Collections in Victory Village and the trailer courts, postponed because of the snow, will be made on Sunday by Boy Scouts of Chapel Hill.

Sunday Song Fest Set As GM Show

A new Sunday Song Fest, on the theme of the radio "Hit Parade" program is set Sunday evening in the Graham Memorial main lounge. Under the direction of Frank Matthews, the new series of community sings will be planned after the pattern of a popular radio show every week.

A Lucky Strike "Hit Parade" of the 1930's complete with commercials, skits, and extra solo acts has been chosen for the first program. Ten popular favorites of the mid-depression years are now being picked and will be flashed on a screen for the audience participation singing.

Show director Matthews will have the part of piano accompanist for the mock radio show. A junior from Hemingway, S. C., Matthews wrote and arranged the music for Sound and Fury's recent musical comedy, Gin Lane.

Master of Ceremonies for the "Hit Parade" is Ken Gammage, Sound and Fury president. Others in the "cast" are vocalists Forrest Covington and Coline Smith; Sam Andrews, who will play a piano solo; and Colbert Leonard, who will take the role of program announcer.

Choral Club to Meet Monday in Hill Hall

The Chapel Hill Choral club will hold its first meeting of the year Monday night at 7:30 in Hill hall. Rehearsals will be started on the Mozart "Requiem" to be presented in June.

Seeds Of Ancient Species Of Tree Arrive At Botany Department Here

Seeds of the metasequoia tree which thrived over 100,000,000 years ago and was believed extinct by botanists and geologists have arrived here for planting, Dr. H. R. Totten, of the Botany department, made the announcement yesterday.

The metasequoia seeds arrived from China via the Arnold Arboretum of Boston, from which they were mailed to botanical gardens in the United States and Great Britain.

Dr. Totten plans to plant the seeds in the greenhouse of the on Tuesday of next week. He will later attempt to discover whether the climate here is suitable for growth of the tree, long believed a contemporary of prehistoric lizards and dinosaurs.

In 1946 a few specimens of the tree were discovered in a remote valley in central China. It had been known before only through fossil remains. An expedition was sent to secure the seeds because it was feared the trees in the valley might not survive.

Besides being planted here, the seeds have been sent to the Royal Botanical gardens in London, the University of California, and Duke university.

A Commendation for the Bernstein Committee

After an examination of the report of the committee appointed to thoroughly investigate the accusations made by Leonard Bernstein we feel that the committee should be commended for the excellent handling of the case and its sincere effort to disclose all facts.

Since the committee abstained from drawing any set conclusions on several issues including the conversation between Bernstein and Newsome and also the Newsome-Hauser conversation there will no doubt be those who will say that the committee shirked from part of its responsibility. To those we reply that the committee was asked only to ascertain the actual circumstances of the case; it was not their duty to pass judgment on the facts.

There will be others who will believe that the committee made an effort to whitewash the history faculty. There are no reasons to substantiate such a statement; neither is there cause to say that the committee is trying to "hush up" the accusations of discrimination.

In short, the report submitted to Chancellor House, is thorough and free from coercion and whitewash.

Now that the facts concerning the case have been disclosed through an official source we are free to make our own comments on the issue. We have been unable to find any foundation for Bernstein's accusations. We do not doubt the sincerity of all concerned in the case. However, everyone was at fault in some little matter and when all were placed together in one concoction it packed a terrific wallop.

This publication was at fault in that our reporter should have gone to see Newsome, with letter and affidavit in hand, and asked him for his comment. The fifteen-minute phone conversation was insufficient.

Bernstein was at fault for antagonizing the members of the History department when he paid each of them a visit. It was unnecessary for him to put each through a third degree and try to get a confession out of each of them—confess something which did not even take place in the faculty discussion of his work.

The individual members of the history faculty used poor taste. Bernstein should have been given the opportunity to appear before the committee as a whole, and in all fairness, he should have been given the reasons why the committee recommended that he not continue his studies. The one paragraph letter which Bernstein received was inadequate in context. It was lacking in reasons.

We do not believe the wounds and sting inflicted upon any of those involved in the incident are of a nature which will not readily heal, and if no other good came out of the case everyone has learned a hard-to-forget lesson.

A Shot in the Arm for Orientation

The decision on the part of the Coed Senate to consolidate certain phases of the coed orientation with the men's program will be a shot in the arm for the men's orientation. It will insure those in charge of the program of a larger attendance and a greater success with their program. Since the war the men's orientation program has been notoriously inadequate, a condition not to be attributed to the leaders of the program itself, but to the attendance of the freshmen.

We favor the new plan, if for no other reason than that the coeds present will be "live bait" and help entice freshmen into attending the sessions. The mixed attendance at the sessions will give the orientation program more of an informal air and we hope will take away the stuff-shirt, boring ordeal which it seems, to the new man, to be.

Freshmen usually attend the first and second sessions designed to acquaint them with campus affairs, the honor system and student government, but they tire, become less enthusiastic, and tend to steer away from the remainder of the series. Coed orientation, on the other hand, has met with considerable success because of its organizational structure. They have smaller groups with about ten women in each group. This gives the coeds a more thorough orientation.

We see no reason why mixed sessions of indoctrination of new students into campus affairs will not be a better method for all concerned. Naturally there will have to be separate sessions for the new coeds to acquaint them with the coed rules; when the coeds have these special sessions the new men could be receiving advice concerning dating in Chapel Hill and the definition of a Carolina Gentleman.

Under the new plan a student new to the University will get a more clear-cut picture of student government and life on the campus because he will have the opportunity to see an over-all picture of the whole structure as explained by the people who know what is going on.

Up and Down Broadway

'Make Mine Music' Is Fast

By Jack Gaver

New York (UP)—A fair example of the fast musical revues that delight New Yorkers is "Make Mine Manhattan" at the Broadhurst Theater.

It isn't the best of an honored line by a long shot, but the sketches are amusing, the personalities are engaging and the over-all production is pleasing to the eye. The chief fault is the lack of distinction in the music of Richard Lewine. Arnold B. Horwitt did much better in the lyrics department and proved effective most of the time with his sketches.

My chief delight in the show was the emergence of young Sid Ceasar as first rank comic. He's good as a single with his imitation specialties and he works well in sketch and song.

Ceasar has expert help from one of the better comedians, Dave Burns, who is at home in musical or straight play. Together, and with the aid of Joshua Shelley, they do a good sketch burlesquing the drama critics. Both are superb in another piece about the making of movies on the sidewalks of New York.

On the distaff side I especially liked Shelia Bond, a blond gamin who dances, sings and clowns expertly. She is real star material. Her dancing partner, Danny Daniels, also is good. The serious singing is handled by Jack Kilty, Kyle MacDonnell, a blonde dream, and Eleanor Bagley.

All in all, there's something in it for everybody, including those who didn't think too highly of the much-touted Hammerstein-Rodgers musical "Allegro." That pretentious show is well roasted in parody which leaves out none of the essentials of the original.

"Strange Bedfellows" is a good comedy idea that has gone wrong in the hands of its authors, Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements, the man and wife team which did "Harriet" for Helen Hayes a few years ago. Before the play is a third over it has degenerated into a bedroom farce that is none the less so despite the fact that all of the action occurs in a living

(See BROADWAY, page 4)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr.

SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

WS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser. SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears. SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison.
GHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson. ASST. BUS. MGR.: Mary W. Sledge. EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan, Earl Heffner
GHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette. ADVERTISING MGR.: Eaton Holden.

REPORTERS: Raney Stanford, John Stump, Jim Spence, Paul Rothman, Sally Woodhull, Donald McDonald, Herbert Nachman, Jr., George Roberts, Bob Rolnik, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Jean Baskerville, Nancy Norman, George Drew, Merrily Brooks, Nina Davis, Demont Roseman, Ruth Evans, Ashley Branch, Gordon Huffines, Elaine Patton, Elinor Woltz, Clark Stallworth.

SPORTS WRITERS: Bill Kellam, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Larry Fox, Bill Gallagher, Virginia Forward.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr.

This Changing World

People's Counter-Movement

By Bill Robertson

"There are those, and they are not few, who tell us now that liberty must retire, that democracy must retire, that labor must retire, that the Jews must retire and not be Jews, that anything that any man might question must retire, that the nation must be unified along the cautious shores of silence and beyond dissent."

The above quotation is taken from an article by Archibald MacLeish, published in 1941. Since that article was written our country has taken part in the greatest war in the history of the world. This war was fought against fascist states—aggressive and militaristic states. It was fought against states which had crushed their trade union movements, adopted anti-semitism and race hatred as an official policy, and suppressed the voices of those who opposed militarism.

These states, as is known suffered military defeat. They suffered military defeat because the majority of the peoples of the world formed a coalition of United Nations to preserve their freedoms from fascist tyranny. To say that such a war has been fought in vain is not only crudely cynical but very unrealistic. Today the forces of world progress and Democracy are much stronger than they were in 1941.

Nevertheless, it would be absurd to argue that our country, as the result of recent military victories, has suddenly become a paradise of political, social, and economic democracy. On the contrary, the big shots in our country, have decided to follow the policies pursued by our recent enemies; that is, the bankers and generals now run the show.

In mechanics every action has a reaction. In modern society a movement against the liberties of the people produces a counter-movement organized by the people. Such is the essential nature of the new Third Party Movement and such is the law of history.

This new movement may displease certain "realistic" people who know how to make a dollar or two in grain speculation. But as it gains strength and momentum it will gather around it millions of "idealistic" Americans who believe that more than enough of the good things of life can be available for everybody—if only they organize and show the will to achieve them.

"Yer growin' every day, sonny. Pretty soon you'll be too big to wear tabloids."

Campus Forum

War and Peace

By Pete Gerns

The question raised this week was on "Will UMT lead to war?". We would like to thank our contributors for their expressions of belief; we have re-printed as many as answers as space permits.

YES. "Military training may lead to war, and the factors behind military training do lead to war." James Roberts.

NO. ". . as stated by General Ike, 'it would keep other countries aware that we are prepared, but if war did come we would have that stretch of training behind us and to our benefit." R. S. Nunis and B. Stacy.

Yes. "It is a part of over-all re-militarization of our nation. It is important to the 'Preventative-War' school of brass hats as part of repriming a national war psychosis. Even if advisable to re-arm—expense would be more productive if applied to 'pure' scientific research - supersonics, medicine, etc." Paul S. Moorhead.

NO. "UMT will not lead to war unless we are destined for war anyhow - and if that is the case, then we need the training." G. S. Bruton, Jr.

YES. ". . but what's so bad about that?" William Shaffer.

NO. "I think that if properly carried out, UMT will do much to prevent another war." A. L. Stell, Jr.

YES. "History does not record that militaristic programs by various states lead to peace. On the contrary, it is only after attempts at disarmaments among states break down and armament races begin that the dangers of war increase." Bill Robertson.

NO. "Quite the contrary. I think a war is inevitable and I feel that UMT is essential." Bill Corley.

YES. "UMT strengthens the power of the military in national policy—making at the same time it calls on the public for huge appropriations, which can only be justified by a trumped-up threat of war." Henry Adams.

NO. ". . .but neither would it be much help if war were to come." Al Lowenstein.

YES. "You can't hope for lasting peace if that peace is made at the point of a gun." Bob Hennessee.

NO. "Definitely not—and it might help to maintain peace." Bob Goldwater.

Question for next Tuesday: "Are you in favor of holding a referendum on the Carolina Magazine and Tarnation?"

PAN HEL TEA

The Pan-Hellenic Council will hold a faculty tea Sunday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. All members of the faculty, their wives or husbands, are invited to attend.

Political Spotlight

Friend Dedmond Maneuvers

By Charlie Long

The spotlight fell squarely on Mr. Jess Dedmond this week, when the University Party nominated him for student body prexy. This, as my readers may well remember, is very contrary of the Spotlight's previous prediction. The truth is that up to last Monday it was anybody's game and Dedmond's political pals really turned the heat on the U. P. camp. About an hour later the C. P. met for a few minute session to double endorse the U. P. choice.

That Dedmond would have the C. P. nomination has been a foregone conclusion and acting on that basis Mr. Dedmond was left with free hands to woo the U. P. boys. We must congratulate Mr. Dedmond for as fine a piece of political finagling as has come to light in a long time.

With a U. P.-C. P. candidate in the field many minds will wander back to last spring when the S. P. and C. P. were politically married on the presidential issue. The only difference is that that marriage was strictly a shotgun affair staged by papa Tom Eller while the present nuptials seems to be a case of the blending of two souls in what must have been love at first sight. Possibly in too many ways the C. P. sees and votes eye to eye with the U. P. to maintain still their own individuality.

Everything is quiet on the S. P. front. either they can't find a presidential candidate to their liking or they are grooming a dark horse. They should get a candidate in the field as soon as possible and stop holding up the works. What about it S. P., having trouble?

Being bounced out on your ear is bad but, not being able to get in to be bounced out is even worse. That was the position of the Spotlight Tuesday when it tried to enter the University Party holy of holies. Chairman Smith backed up by his political moguls informed the Spotlight that it did not desire to have the U. P.'s secrets appear in print. Such straightforward action on the U. P.'s part should clear up once and for all the question of whether or not the U. P. is open to anyone who wishes to come in.

Earl Fitzgerald's hard working Debate Council is now in high gear on the intramural program. At present they have thirty-six teams signed up with the promise of more to come.

Yesterday Fitzgerald pointed out that a large block of the teams came from the fraternities with Kappa Alpha leading the list. Our congratulations to them for wholehearted support to what we think is an excellent program.

Along with the fraternities are dorms, campus groups and department which should make for an all around tournament.

Few people in the legislature last week, apparently caught the significance of one of the actions of President Tom Eller. When the list of appointments by the president were read, one thing stood out. Eller had sent his appointment for a vacancy on the Women's Council to the Co-Ed Senate. This was the final blow to a one-government system on the campus.

All of this goes back to the framing of the constitution when the writers of that document conceived the idea having only one government on the campus. Before the ink was dry, certain groups started hacking away at the idea. The final culmination of their work came last spring when the speaker of the Coed Senate appeared before the Student legislature and pleaded that because she had had no supper, the legislature should give the coeds complete power over their affairs.

The bill, fought by some, was permitted to pass because the very legislators who should have fought it were worrying about their political hides (spring elections were not far off) and how the coed vote would go. Nevertheless, the bill passed; the constitution was amended; the coeds got their power and haven't known what to do with it since. Forgive the analogy but, they remind one of the Atomic Commission.

Now we can see the significance of the presidents action when he followed the appointive powers bill and sent his appointment to the Coed Senate. The incomprehensible point about all this is that the coeds have twelve representatives in the legislature.

True, none of them have never said a word, except to make nominations. But they sit in there and take up space. This is not meant to be a general condemnation of coeds in government, because several of the coed legislators do have good ideas which they express in committee. The majority, however, could do their knitting much more comfortably in their dormitories and would do a great to servise to student government if they would. In plain language, if anyone has missed the point, the issue of who has power and who should have power must come up for a general house cleaning if our government is to continue to be effective.

The Spotlight gives prior warning that if the candidates in the coming spring election, U. P., S. P. and C. P. will not take issue on this and the many other trouble spots in student government, then the Spotlight will, and failure to answer will only result in some very very red faces.

Write Away

UMT: We Are Responsible

Editor:

I write this letter in praise of your editorial "A Fifth Freedom for All of Us" printed in The Daily Tar Heel of Thursday.

You have given us a sound and irrefutable reason for opposing Universal Military Training. It interferes with our "Freedom to be an Individual," our freedom from responsibility.

We are not responsible to those who have fought in war and peace to build and preserve our nation, our culture, and our civilization against any and all aggressors. This "Fifth Freedom" relieves us of any responsibility to those who gave years, limbs, and lives in the recent battle against Fascism. They have no right to ask of us that we give a WHOLE YEAR out of our lives to peacetime military training in order to preserve the victory so easily won.

These veterans of the past war are unjust in asking the youth of the nation to prepare themselves to resist any future threats to their freedom and security. Their children must not be protected from atomic and biological aggressive war at the extremely high cost of a precious year out of our own lives.

We must not be delayed in our pursuit of riches and pleasure. We must be allowed to reap the benefit of the sacrifices of our predecessors without the necessity of making the benefits secure for future Americans.

The Military must not control our fortunes for a year, for the Military teaches responsibility which we must not accept. They also teach us to love war and battle. Proof of this is apparent in the love all veterans have for the military life and for the exhilarating smell of the battlefield and for the glory of dying for their country.

Let us rally to the cause. Let us defeat the unreasonable people who would have us protect the nation's future. Let us stand on our rights to do as we please regardless of the consequences to the nation and to the world.

Oscar Bryant

Just Here

Time For Critic

By Larry B.

With the coming elections and the [illegible] dum, the ability of [illegible] ics will undergo a st[illegible] In the past we have emphasize derision criticism. People have ideas of what critic[illegible] can criticize. Only have themselves [illegible] may criticize the wr[illegible] ers, thought Pope So[illegible] is good and there is [illegible] others say there is [illegible] tive and the dest[illegible] while I tend to a[illegible] man who said th[illegible] criticism or plain

Civilization is [illegible] to a large extent on th[illegible] criticism of past mistakes, whereas [illegible] accumulated bits of knowledge have merely tended to [illegible] things down. Yet the [illegible] motion of civilization [illegible] over these stones, the [illegible] individuals subjected to "foolishness" are very [illegible] affected by it. These people usually know they are [illegible] but within themselves can find the reason.

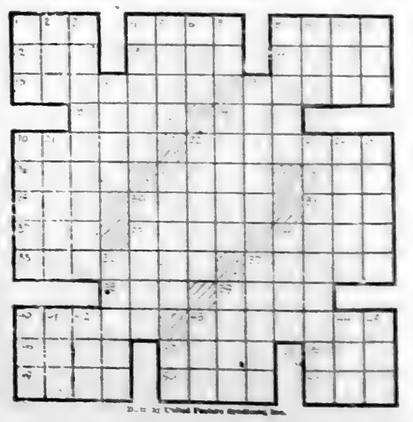
I believe the duty of [illegible] is to tell the persons [illegible] why they are wrong, in [illegible] onable manner, not just [illegible] the wrong into the [illegible] criticize the number of [illegible] tions on campus, saying [illegible] campus is full of them [illegible] o not use the overlapping [illegible] duties as a basis of criticism.

On our campus little [illegible] is put on informal accomplishments, while an abundance [illegible] placed on the social and [illegible] problems. We are here to [illegible] the knowledge to help [illegible] with these problems later [illegible] and of course some criticism is helpful. But at present [illegible] concentrate on the criticism as an end in itself [illegible] with the "minds of the [illegible] in class seems very often [illegible] way to our grasp for the [illegible] the masses.

What has this to do with criticism? A larger part of [illegible] time is spent in groups where true criticism can easily be [illegible] thrown aside and either "good" or "bad" will suffice. In an age where we hear so-called learned criticism [illegible] soon after it is given, we see no thought to the trouble of making originals. The emasculating criticisms of the past also haunt us, and the development of the power to reason is thereby discouraged. Especially with the referendum concerning our magazine or magazine coming up, we should try to give some reason for our alleged convictions.

At present I believe the [illegible] of our University paths is criticism. Some of these have been bricked, but with money the University has doubtful that further will be done to alleviate dust from most of them time. These paths seem to be very good "food" for [illegible] als. We have alumni who like to give physical [illegible] but do not have the [illegible] buildings. A simple [illegible] would be within the [illegible] also helpful.

Everything is open [illegible] cism, but let's not [illegible] things suffer from [illegible]



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZ[illegible]

ACROSS

1—Greek letter
4—Leather thong
8—Of the same kind
12—Boy
13—Away from wind
14—Premium for [illegible]
15—[illegible]
16—Rep[illegible]
18—To carry on 20—End
22—To [illegible]
24—Plots
27—Book by Zola
28—To flee (slang)
29—Literary scraps
30—Muciage
31—Bit of charity
32—Admiral's coat
33—To resound
34—Wind instrument
35—Landscape
37—Huge man
38—Part of "to be"
39—Placid
40—Swiss
43—To sub
46—Car
47—Inclined walk
48—Fresh
49—To cut
50—God of war
51—To visualize

Cagers Seek Seventh Loop Win Against Davidson Tonigh

The Sporting Picture

By Billy Carmichael III

Talk About Tournaments

WITH THE BASKETBALL SEASON now rounding the far turn and moving into the home stretch, much of the constant cage chatter has now turned to the interesting subject of post-season tournaments—both local and national. 'Tis an engrossing topic and worthy of a small spot in the current sporting picture.

The big local talk is the Conference tourney set for the earliest days of March which as in previous years, will draw the eight best of the Conference crop for a three-day endurance session on who can play the best basketball and for the longest period of time. The gala festive not only affords some good cage competition, but also gives everyone a chance to get away from home for a few days of living down the old days and livening up the new. To allow both the fustest and the mostest to be witness to the attraction, the big boys of the Conference have moved it lock, stock and backboards for the second straight year to Durham and Duke (OOOoh, it's large) Indoor stadium scenicly set on the Methodist flats.

The Price of Rhubarb

THERE IS A CURRENT RHUBARB about this tourney and it all boils down to the fact that the price of tickets for the seven-game grind has been raised from seven skins to an unprecedented nine. Letters have been coming in about the raise to just about anyone who will open them, and they all think the "up" in price is nothing short of capitalist. Yet, a short investigation of the whole matter leads one to believe that the Conference padres were very justified in calling for the extra two-spot. As in everything else, costs are rising in athlete expenses and though it might be a noble effort, it is hard to visualize the sportmen of America carrying on a one-man fight against inflation.

Add to this the fact that all of the money that is gathered in from the tourney remains in the Conference or in the Conference till for the benefit of furthering the athletic programs in this area and you find that much more reason for backing the upsy-daisy action of the loop authorities. A similiar seat to such as the National Invitational meeting in New York would cost as much as 18 dollars, which though the all-around caliber of the teams might be a trifle better there, shows that local basketball fans are still seeing a lot of capable, college cagers for their proverbial money. Some people just aren't bargain conscious.

Other Attractions

A COUPLE OF OTHER TOURNAMENTS which usually draw at least the minimum of interest are the fore-mentioned National Invitational and the better-thought-of NCAA play parties. Both events are staged in cage-conscious Madison Square Garden about the time most people are more worried about their income tax returns. The Invitation contestants are picked by a committee of Gotham cage leaders, and are chosen mainly for their records rather than their national location. The NCAA entries are also chosen to some degree on season's performance, but each of the Association's eight districts are represented in the undertaking. Half the NCAA T party is held in Kansas City and half in New York, the twain meeting on the latter site for the final feudin', fussin', and fightin'.

Thus, the nation's 16 best basketball teams tangle each March for national honors with this year's clambakes almost sure to see one North Carolina team as an entrant. State College, barring an act of God, will be back at the scene of its last year's third place triumph in the Invitational and though some will laugh rather long and heartily, Carolina could still grab a berth in possibly the NCAA. The Tar Heels, always a popular team in New York, were runners-up in the NCAA in 1946 and should they pull the possible, but improbable and settle State College's Case unexpectedly in maybe the Conference tourney, they might get invited. Athletics and the grain markets are two things you certainly can speculate in.

There is one added incentive to the boys this year an that's the Olympics. The finalists in the NCAA and the winner of the Invitational all get a berth in the big eight-team Olympic tourney which starts March 29, and that winner gets a free ride to London. With that in mind, it looks to be a rat race from here on out. May the best fan win!

Rough Play Features Clown Victory

The Carolina Clowns, featurgin of victory. McKeisnon top-up to their old array of spark and roughness, outpointed and outtumbled the strong Durham All-Stars at the Durham high school gym Wednesday night, 44-42, in a "March of Dimes" benefit cage tilt.

Over 200 fans contributed to the worthy cause and watched such gridiron stars as Charlie Justice, Art Weiner, Chan Highsmith, Jack Fitch, Max Spurlin, and Joe Wright turn hardwood conscious. But it was non-footballer Bernie McKiernan who nipped the basket enough in the last-half uprising by the Clowns to assure the slim margin of victory. McKeinan topped the scorers with 15 points, while Alvitt Loftis was high man for the All-Stars with 11 points.

Art Weiner put the contest in the bag in the closing minutes with a perfect layup shot.

Sigma Chi, Kap Sigs, Grads Feature Murals

The mural cage schedule kept up its jaunty pace yesterday on night and day shifts with 34 teams seeing action in some of the season's better games as the fraternity and dormitory teams moved into the final stages of league play.

Rampaging Sigma Chi No. 1 continued on its unbeaten ways during the day's play at the expense of PiKa N. 3, 67-19. Points Langley was the high man for he winners garnering 21 points. n another major rout powerful Grads stomped Steele, 50-25 to turn in another top flight performance.

In Other Games

Other games saw Phi Delta Chi stop Sigma Chi No. 2, 33-24; Zeta No. 3 took the measure of Phi Delt No. 3, 23-15; ATO No. 1 edged by Sigma Nu No. 1, 21-16. the battling Black Balls raced past Lewis No. 3, 31-12; and Delta Sig defeated Beta No. 2, 23-15.

Elsewhere, the Unknown outfit scored an easy 46-24 win over Honeycut Manor; the Independents toppled the Law School, 33-24; the Victory Village Mud Dobbers tripped Aycock No. 1, 27-15: Pi Lam No. 2 nipped Kap Sig No. 2, 16-12; and Zeta No. 1 staved off a late rally by ATO No. 3 to win 24-22.

More contests saw Chi Phi crush SAE No. 2, 29-17; Chi Psi No. 1 trampled Sig Nu No. 2, 28-9; DKE No. 1 gained the touch to down Sigma Nu No. 3, 33-14; and Zeta No. 2 rode roughshod over Kappa Sig No. 3, 42-21.

The feature game of the evening saw the potent Kappa Sig No. 1 team give full notice that it was a serious obstacle to the mural crown by rolling over Chi Phi No. 1 by a 52-10 margin.

Rifle Shooting

Mike Cook posted the second highest mark in the orientation shooting, posting a 164 total. Sid Varney fired the next highest score for the Grads rifle team, 137. Taylor Dodson, 127 and Lew Hayworth, 94 followed. The Grads averaged 130.5 of a possible 200.

The mural badminton program will also swing into action the first of the week with plans and schedules to be announced during the weekend.

The mural department announced that the powerful Raleigh badminton club will come to Chapel Hill next Wednesday night to face the local outfit that downed Durham earlier in the week.

Swimming Lineups To Be Picked Today

Nothing new has been added to the Carolina swimming picture since the early part of the week and the Dolphins have been energetically occupying themselves in recent days with VMI-pointed conditioning workouts.

In a preliminary meet to the varsity affair, a Carolina jayvee team will match strokes with a similar outfit from State college. It will be the first time this season that the Tar Heel tank juniors have seen action.

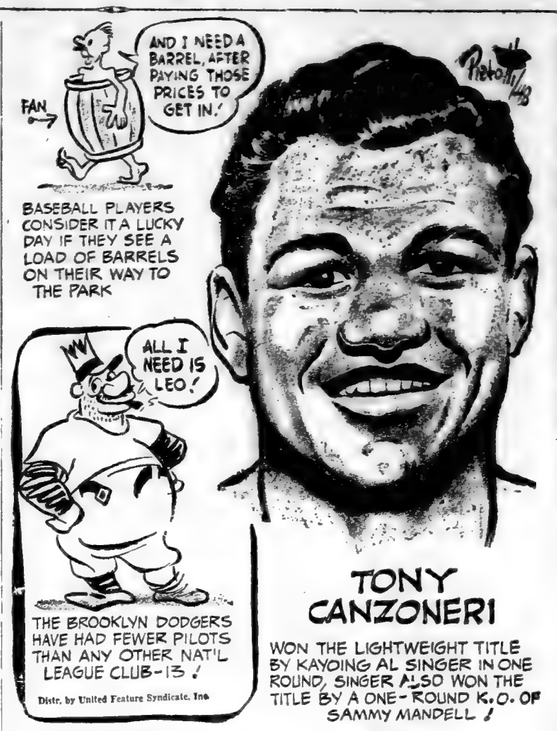
Coach Dick Jamerson was still undecided yesterday afternoon as to his jayvee and varsity starting lineups. The Tar Heel mentor is waiting until this afternoon to pick his opening splashers so that he'll be able to give the half-dozen or so crawlers who have been beached all week by various maladies a chance to recover as much as possible.

It was very doubtful yesterday whether or not regular backstroker John Bippart would be ready for competition by Saturday. The speedy Dolphin has been incapacitated all week by a sprained shoulder. Bippart had been counted on by Jamerson to start in the 300-yard medley relay.

Sprinter Floyd Drew, invalided since last weekend by a cold, is another merman whose condition is uncertain. Reserves Dan Allred and Frank McNeill, both of whom may have been slated for action in the jayvee preliminary, are other victims of the recent disagreeable weather.

All sorts of records are expected to fall in tomorrow's meet with the VMI Cadets. Dick Twining will be out to break the nine-year-old 220 yard freestyle record, promising freshman backstroker Jim Thomas is gunning for the 150 yard backstroke mark which was set in 1942, and co-captain Mike Morrow will be out to lower the time in the 440 yard endurance event.

Chi Omega, CICA Cagers Gain Close Wins in Coed Basketball



The unbeaten Chi Omega cagers moved into a certain play-off berth and the CICA lassies finished their season with only one deadlock marring their record in coed basketball competition last night.

Both tussles were close all the way, the CICA sextette edging Alpha Gam by 16-15 and Chi O nipping McIver, 18-17, in the final minutes. Smith was the evening's third victor, gaining a forfeit decision over Kenan for win number three.

B. A. Covington, with 10 tallies, led the Chi O girls to their victory, number four for them counting a forfeit triumph coming up next week. Behind 11-8 at the half and by 16-12 with less than four minutes remaining, Chi O went on a scoring spree to take the lead with some 50 seconds left. Charlotte Borders was high for McIver with eight points, while Frankie Johnston was a Chi O standout on defense. The loss was the first for McIver.

It took a second-half splurge by the CICA cagers for them to garner their win, the score being tied at 9-9 at intermission. Margaret Booth paced the winners' attack with 10 points, while Margaret Goodman stood out on defense. Alpha Gam's Becky Holton was high scorer for the evening with 11 points.

The win was the third for CICA and gave them a final record of three victories and one tie.

Wrestlers Welcome Corky Bluethenthal

Coach Chuck Quinlan's mat squad, practicing for their first match away from the Woollen gym mat, put in a lengthy workout yesterday in preparation for their coming match with Davidson next Wednesday.

With a record of one win and one defeat under their belts, the muscle men are expected to make good showing against the Cats. Their single victory was at the expense of State college, while the VPI squad barely eked out a one-point victory over the locals.

Bluethenthal Back

A welcome addition to the Blue and White crew is Corky Bluethenthal, no stranger to the local mat fans. Bluethenthal wrested on the local crew in '42 and '43. Just before the conference tournament in '43, Corky was called into Army service and was unable to enter the meet, in which he was the favorite to cop the conference crown in the 155-pound class.

Coming back to Carolina in '43, he went through the season undefeated in dual competition. In that year he wrestled in both the 165 and 175-pound classes. Had there been a tournament that year, he would have undoubtedly copped the crown.

Although he probably won't compete in the Davidson meet, he is expected to see action against Washington and Lee and VMI next week.

Locals Favored

If past records mean anything, Coach Quinlan's charges will prove too much for the Cat crew. Last year's record shows that the locals trounced Davidson, 29 to 5. Four men on this season's squad were victors over their Davidson opponents. Tom Urquhart, Oscar Gupton, Bill Kemp, and Doug Thompson led the Tar Heel attack last year and are expected to give a repeat performance Wednesday.

Weather Hampers Grid Drill Start

Carolina's winter football plans reached the no decision point yesterday when Coach Carl Snavely became undecided about the date for opening seasonal drills because of the current weather conditions.

The workouts were scheduled to open Monday, but the rain, snow and other elements have left practice fields in such a condition as to minimize any benefits that might be gained from the off-season practices.

Snavely was noncommital about the whole situation and it seems left up to the weather man exactly when the Tar Heel mentor would issue the call to local gridders.

U. S. Not to Enter Olympic Ice Hockey

St. Moritz, Switzerland, Jan. 29—(UP)—President Avery Brundage of the American Olympic committee says that all American teams except ice hockey will compete in the winter Olympic games which open tomorrow in Switzerland.

The full international Olympic committee has voted 16-10 to bar both American hockey teams.

Jayvees to Battle Hendersonvills Hi

By Dick Jenrette

Davidson's Wildcats furnish the opposition for Coach Tom Scott's White Phantoms tonight at 8 o'clock in Woollen gymnasium as Carolina goes after its seventh straight Southern conference victory.

The Phantoms, whose unbeaten record has earned them first place in the loop standings, are the definite favorites in tonight's scrap. Carolina has an overall record of 14 wins and 2 losses, a mark that Davidson can't match, but Coach Scott has warned his charges that the Wildcats have a team that is capable of giving any club a rough evening.

Duke's Blue Devils can bear witness that Davidson has a dangerous outfit this year. The Wildcats took Duke into camp earlier this season by a 44-42 margin. Although most of the Davidson players are fairly short, they play a spirited brand of ball that has netted them their share of victories.

Looking Ahead

Many observers feel that Carolina is ripe for an upset. Next Tuesday the Phantoms battle State's Wolfpack in Raleigh, and naturally the boys have been looking forward to that game since it probably will determine which team is to finish in first place in the conference standings. Davidson will be primed for tonight's test, while Coach Scott probably will have trouble in keeping his team from looking forward to the State game.

Only four boys are definitely assured of a starting position for Carolina. Captain Bob Paxton, who has scored 212 points this year, will open at one forward, and Nemo Nearman will perform at center. Norm Kohler and King Cole will start at guards. Either Roger Scholbe, Fred Swartzberg, or Coy Carson will open at the other forward post.

Reserves Ready

John Dillon, whose hook shot should be effective against the short Davidson team; Dan Nyimicz, a vastly improved guard; and scrappy Taylor Thorne are reserves due to see a lot of action.

Probable starters for Davidson are Bingham and Ashmore, forwards; Cheek, center; and Cobb and Iverson at guards. Center Buddy Cheek and Guard Whit Cobb are two of the leading scorers in the conference. Cheek has 83 points and Cobb has 73 in seven games.

Tonight's game will be the last home encounter for the Phan-

(See BASKETBALL, Page 4)

Better Hurry For Duke Tix

Students and faculty members who are eligible and who wish to attend the Carolina-Duke basketball game here February 7 have until 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to take advantage of the priority system devised by the athletic department.

Faculty members whose passbook numbers fall between 8000 and 8500 and students whose books are numbered 500-4500 can exchange their coupons for a priceless ticket. Thus far only 1,000 students, or one-fifth of those eligible, have exchanged their tickets.

Starting Monday morning all of the remaining pasteboard will be available on a first-come, first-served basis to any holder of an athletic association passbook. Tickets will be distributed this way until closing time Thursday afternoon.

From Friday morning until game time, no passbooks will be honored and all of the tickets left will go on sale to the general public. Students wishing to purchase ducats for the game will have to pay the one-dollar admission fee along with anyone else who manages to secure one of the tickets.

Members of the student body who did not exchange their coupons for the Duke contest will not be given any priority when tickets for the N. C. State game are distributed under the same system as for the Duke clash.

QUALITY FURNISHINGS at E. A. Brown Furniture Co. Next to City Hall Phone 6586

CLASSIFIED

FOR RENT 6

CHOICE ROOMING ACCOMODATIONS for male students. Westwood Drive. Call 4971 for information. (1-1690-

FOR SALE 6

FLUORESCENT DESK LAMP AND Remington threesome electric razor Inquire at 201 Bynum. (1-1688-

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 61

1948 FORD TUDOR BLACK—6 WEEKS old. For sale or trade for good used car. Can be seen after 1:00 p. m. at Pines Trailer Court, Gimes. (1-1691-

1938 FORD, TUDOR SEDAN, RADIO good tires. Caston Motor Company F-3896. (ch 1x

1942 CHEVROLET 4-DOOR, RADIO heater, seat covers. Cash or Terms. Can be seen at Foe-Mangum's Service Station. (1-1680-

1940 DE SOTA '46 ENGINE, 4 DOOR radio, heater, new paint job. Price for quick sale. See Lot No 34 UNC Trailer Court. (1-1686-

FOUND 6

FOUNTAIN PEN IN ARBORETUM Wednesday afternoon. Owner can obtain by identifying pen and paying for ad. Betty Hutson, 311 McIver. (1-1694-WALLET BELONGING TO L. L. Moore. Lost Monday, please bring to "Y" Reward! (1-1692-

LOST 1

PAIR OF GLASSES WITH PLASTIC rims in leather case, Jan. 16. Write Thomas R. Allen, Box 2605, Greensboro, N. C. (1-C1693-

BLACK COATED BONSON POCKET lighter; initials D. C. L. Contact Dialogue 314 Manly. Liberal reward. (1-1689-

COLLIE THOROUGHBRED NO collar. Answers to "Fellow." Reward. Call F-2986 (1-1685-1

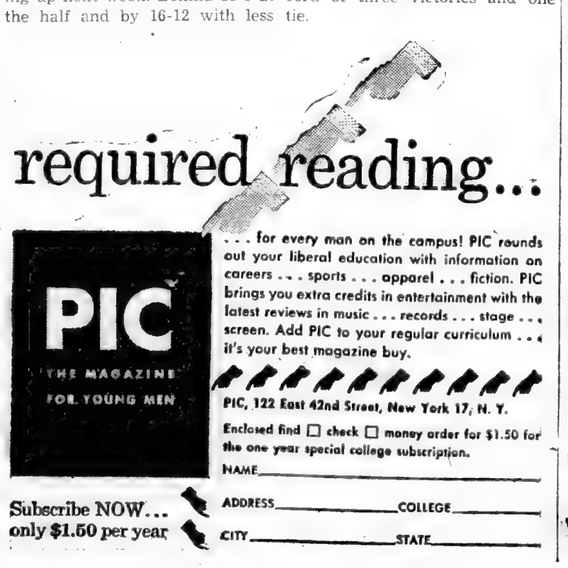
LADY'S BLACK SILK COIN PURSE Monday afternoon in vicinity Playmaker's Scene Shop or Porthole. Bill cash. Reward. Phone F-3691. (1-c1687-1

WANTED TO RENT 24

REASONABLY PRICED ROOM IN nice home by senior in March. Must vacate present quarters. Will furnish references. Contact Senior care Tar Heel. (1-1695-1

REHDER'S CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP Opposite Post Office Corner

Creme COLD WAVE Only $5



Why give them to yourself when you can get your hair neatly cut and styled and a beautiful COLD WAVE for only $5.00. Your hair deserves the best—which only the experienced operator can give.

Call us today for your next Permanent. We also give Permanents at night—call for appointments

Village Beauty Shop
Telephone 6221
Over Sutton's Drug Store

One In A Million

There's a coincidence connected with the Dentyne chewing gum advertisement in today's paper—and the odds against its happening are too astronomical for calculation.

Duke C. Willard, a PiKA and commerce student studying advertising here, drew the cartoon and won $25 in an advertising contest a few weeks ago.

The same week Duke was walking down a street in his home town of Winston-Salem when a stranger stopped him.

"Have you seen any advertisements for Dentyne recently?" he asked.

Duke said no, he hadn't seen any, but he had just won a prize for drawing one.

The inquisitive stranger turned out to be the top advertising manager for the chicle company. He was on a tour of the entire United States, and had stopped in Winston-Salem for one day.

-BERNSTEIN-

(Continued from page 1)

through a series of interviews with eight members of the History department himself interjected the issues of politics and religion. Certain members of the department were indiscreet in allowing themselves to be drawn into discussions of controversial issues involving religion and politics which had had no bearing on the decision of the argument with reference to Bernstein.

Set of Principles

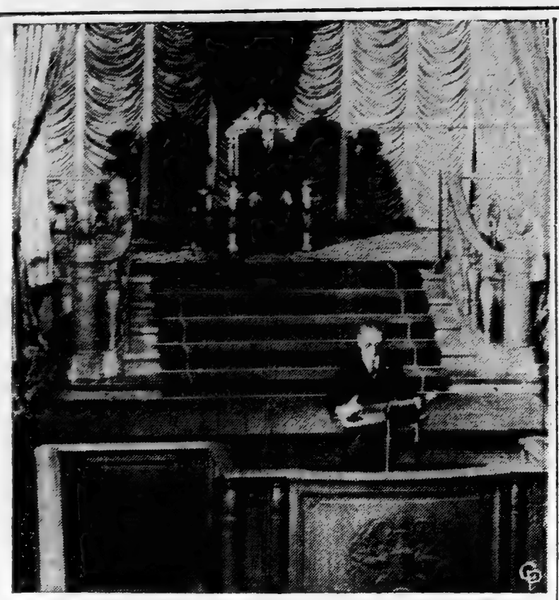
The report concluded with a set of principles approved by the committee as representing both the law and the practice of the Graduate school.

1. Departments and individual members thereof have a right to recommend or advise that a student discontinue pursuit of a graduate degree because of academic failure and work of poor or mediocre quality.

2. A department or professor may advise a student that certain personality traits and lack of objectivity in the interpretation of data and problems in the student's field of special interest may militate against professional success. Such recommendations and advice may be in the line of duty and may be humane in effect and purpose.

Grad School Jurisdiction

3. The admission of a student to courses and curricula of the Graduate school and the dismissal of a student in case of academic failure are acts of the Graduate school, not those of a department. The advice and recommendation of departments may be sought but the responsibility of the decision rests with the administration of the school.



4. A person's religious affiliation and faith and a person's political affiliations and opinions, so long as they lead to no overt act of a censurable character, are not criteria of admission; they have nothing to do with the continued residence of a student in the Graduate school; they are not reasons for denial of a right of eligibility to candidacy for a degree.

Case History

The short history of the Bernstein case is an interesting one. It broke one week ago Monday afternoon, when the party in question brought a letter to the editor and a sworn affidavit into the Daily Tar Heel office charging the History department with religious and political discrimination.

By Tuesday morning Chancellor House had requested Dean Pierson to form a committee from the administrative board of the Graduate school to investigate the case. Wednesday night the committee started a series of meetings that was culminated in the completion of the report this Wednesday afternoon when it was delivered to Chancellor House.

Bernstein, in the meantime, had withdrawn from the University and returned to his home in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. Future plans of the 27-year-old history major are not known. He is eligible, however, to return to the University at any time.

PRESIDING OVER the first truly democratic session of the Japanese Diet, Emperor Hirohito sits enthroned above the crowd during the opening ceremonies. Below, on the rostrum, is Speaker of the House Hosue K. Matsuoka, who is shown reading the opening address. (International)

Campus Calendar

5:00 p. m.—Organizational meeting of the Anti-UMT committee, Grail room.
6:30 p. m.—Recorded dinner music, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
7:00 p. m.—Wallace-for-President club, Roland Parker No. 3.
7:30 p. m.—Jewish services, Roland Parker lounges Nos. 1 and 2.
8:30 p. m.—"Five Dimes" dance, UVA clubhouse.
8:30 p. m.—"Mikado," Memorial hall.

-Basketball-

(Continued from page 3)

toms for over a week. After the State game in Raleigh on Tuesday, Duke's Blue Devils will perform here on Saturday night. Because of the scarcity of seats only a portion of the student body will be admitted to see that tilt.

Frosh To Play

Carolina's unbeaten frosh cagers will be seeking their fifth straight victory tonight when they face a mysterious Hendersville High School quintet in the preliminary at 6:15. Since very little is known here about the visitors, how the Tar Babies will fare is anybody's guess.

Coach Jim Hamilton will probably open with his usual lineup of ace jump shot Hal Ferraro and Thorne Gregory at forwards, John "Beak" Tsantes in the pivot, and Bill 'chug" White and Floyd Gilmore in the guard slots.

Others who will probably see action for the locals include forwards Hank Lebed, George Powers, center Terry Holmes, and guards Warren Morrison, Stan Goodman, and Simon Terrell.

Numbered among the Tar Babies' four victims are Newport High School, Asheville-Biltmore Junior College, Greensboro High, and Newport News, Va., High.

-Clothing Drive-

(Continued from page 1)

of the Legislature to replace Steve Millikin, who has moved out of the district from which he was elected to the body.

The following presidential appointments were approved by the student law-makers: Orientation committee—Jess Dedmond, Dick Boren, Page Harris, Don Hames, Charles McRae, Pete Gerns, Patsy McNutt; Entertainment committee—Ruth Evans; Elections board—Barbara Cashion, Bill Hipple, Fred Thompson, John Stump, Harold Suits, Wilbur McFarland; Student Audit board—David Ferebee; Budget committee—Julius Goldstein; junior representative to the Men's council—Charles Loudermilk.

The session was adjourned at approximately 9:50 with an apology from Speaker Jack Folger to legislators and visitors for the hap-hazard manner in which the meeting had run.

-BROADWAY-

(Continued from page 2)

room. If you are not sensitive to this corruption of an idea, you may enjoy "Strange Bedfellows" thoroughly because it does have a large quota of obvious laughs. They won't seem so funny, however, if you've seen a lot of shows that depend for their effects on the same type of material.

The story involves injection into the home of a wealthy San Franciscan, a former United States Senator, of a pert young leader of the suffragette cause of 1896. She has married the Senator's son, himself a United States Representative up for reelection. Both men are opposed to women voting and so are the other women of the household until the bride starts working on them. The men lose out in the end after the women resort first to the "Lysistrata method" and then to outright blackmail.

-DI SENATE-

(Continued from page 1)

training.

The affirmative opinions sited objectives ranging from handling "the Russian menace" or "preventing total chaos in another war" to simply " benefiting American youth physically" and "making the boy fresh out of high school more of a man."

The negative was equally diverse with talk of warmongering, high taxation, and "a too active peace". One speaker lambasted past military organization as contrary to all rules of decency. After two years in service he personally deemed the Army "the seephole of humanity" with officers to whom no Congress should condemn its youth except in times of emergency. Several others supported the idea that any forthcoming war would be a battle of atoms and not of mere rifles, making the customary infantry training almost obsolete.

Senator Richard Bowen, one of the leaders among the opposition, went so far as to produce another bill calling for an adequate standing army instead of universal military training. This measure was defeated as inadequate without too much further discussion before the meeting adjourned.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

The Oriental
Chinese-American Restaurant
116 E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.

Tap Room Now Open
THE BUCCANEER
Airport Road, Chapel Hill

Jerry the Tailor
OVER
N. C. CAFETERIA

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft
Prop.

LOOK AT THESE VALUES ON CANNED FRUITS

A&P SUPER MARKETS

Ann Page Tender Cooked BEANS
Vegetarian—Boston Style or with Tomato Sauce
2 16-Oz. Cans 25c

FINE QUALITY MEATS

SUPER RIGHT MEATS

Chuck Roast	63c
Boneless Rib Roast	85c
Boneless Rump Roast	85c
Center Cut Pork Chop	69c
Pure Pork Sausage	60c
T.B. Steaks	95c
Sirloin Steaks	89c
Boneless Round Steak	95c
Fresh Fryer and Hens
Sea Foods

FRUITS & VEGETABLES

Oranges, Florida	2 doz.	43c
Apples, Delicious	lb.	10c
Cauliflower	lb.	17c
Cabbage	2 lb.	9c
Carrots	2 bunches	19c
Cocanuts	2 lb.	19c
Peas	lb.	10c
Grapes	2 lb.	25c
Potato, Idaho	10 lb. bag	73c
Potato, Main	10 lb. bag	49c

Enriched Daily Dated
MARVEL BREAD
SANDWICH 18-Oz. Loaf 15c
REGULAR PAN 18-Oz. Loaf 14c
Jane Parker Donuts ..... Pkg. 19c

MILD & MELLOW COFFEE
8 O'CLOCK
1-Lb. Bag 40c • 3 Lb. Bag $1.15
Rich & Full Bodied RED CIRCLE ..... 1-Lb. Bag 43c
Vigorous & Winey BOKAR ..... 1-Lb. Bag 45c

Ann Page Apricot or Pineapple PRESERVES .... 16-Oz. Jar 25c
Niblets Brand CORN ..... 12-Oz. Can 17c
Campbell's TOMATO SOUP 2 10½-Oz. Cans 21c
Ann Page Spaghetti or MACARONI ... 3 8-Oz. Bags 25c
Mild American CHEESE ..... Lb. 53c
Sunnyfield Flour For PANCAKES .... 20-Oz. Pkg. 13c
Ann Page Blended SYRUP ..... Pt. Bot. 25c
A. & P. APPLE SAUCE .. No. 2 Can 15c
Ann Page Gelatin Dessert SPARKLE .... 3 Pkgs. 19c

PEAS
Standard Pack Packers Label 3 No. 2 Cans 29c
RELIABLE FANCY 2 No. 2 Cans 35c
SULTANA Small Sifted 2 No. 2 Cans 29c

LAYER FIGS	8-Oz. Pkg.	15c	1-Lb. Pkg.	29c
RED BAND	Self-rising FLOUR		5-Lb. Bag	58c
SHREDDED	Nabisco Wheat	2	Pkgs.	35c
MACHINE OIL	A-Penn		3-Oz. Can	9c
CORN FLAKES	Sunny-Field		8-Oz. Pkg.	12c
SUNNYFIELD OATS			20-Oz. Pkg.	15c
SPARKLE	Ice Cream Powder		Pkg.	5c
VANILLA EXTRACT	Ann Page		1-Oz. Bot.	17c
PIE CRUST MIX	Pillsbury		Pkg.	17c
Grapefruit	A&P Sections		No. 2 Can	15c

WASHBURN'S DRIED
PINTO BEANS
1-Lb. Bag 18c • 2-Lb. Pkg. 35c

WHITE HOUSE
EVAP. MILK
3 Tall Cans 34c

CLAPPS
STRAINED FOODS ..... 3 Cans 23c
CHOPPED FOODS ..... Can 10c
DRY CEREAL OR OATMEAL ..... 2 Pkgs. 31c

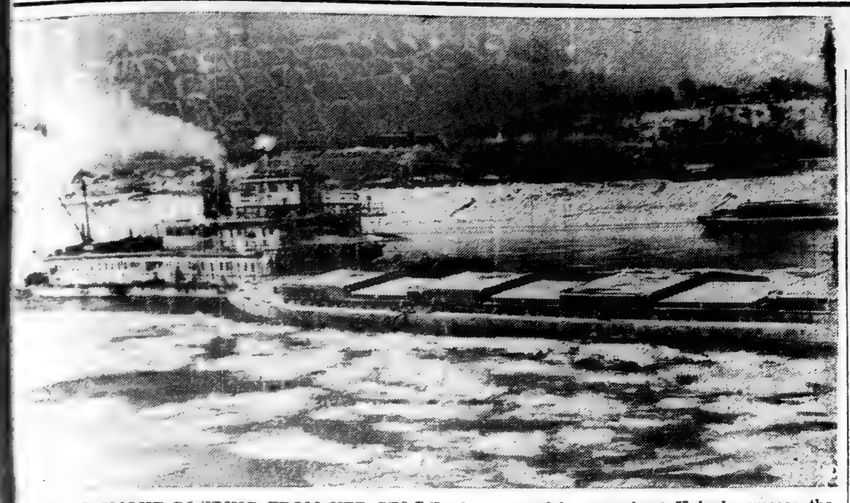
CASHMERE BOUQUET SOAP	2 Bars 25c	LUX TOILET SOAP	2 Reg. Bars 21c
OCTAGON POWDER	2 Pkgs. 17c	LIFEBUOY SOAP	2 Bars 21c
AJAX CLEANSER	Pkg. 11c	LUX TOILET SOAP	Bath Size 15c
VEL	Lge. Pkg. 34c	SWAN SOAP	2 Reg. Bars 23c

LIMITED QUANTITIES

A&P Super Markets

LI'L ABNER By AL CAP

For Naval Men—Do-Knots and Coffee—HARRY'S



LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Cloudy and slightly colder with light sleet or snow.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
Royal Welcome
Whiskey Question

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SATURDAY, JANUARY 31, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 88

WHITE SMOKE POURING FROM HER STACK, the steam-driven towboat Kokoda crosses the finish line in St. Louis, Mo., to win the 1,051-mile Mississippi River race against her diesel-powered rival, the Helena. The steam-driven craft outdistancing her rival by over 200 miles, made the trip in 11 days, 17 hours, 5 minutes. Both towboats pushed four barges loaded with 10,000 tons of freight. The Kokoda's victory climaxed the first big race on the river since 1870 when the Robert E. Lee defeated the Natchez. (International)

World Federalists Outline Subjects For Future Talks

The recently-reorganized United World Federalist group, headed by Jake Wicker, has planned a series of discussion programs for the winter quarter. James Roberts, graduate student from Hollywood, California, will serve as chairman of the discussion group. Roberts introduced four major topics from which future subjects will be drawn at the WF meeting held Thursday. The four topics include: forces motivating toward world government; problems of world federalism; implications of world federalism, and methods of action toward world federalism.

The purpose of the WF discussions will be to thoroughly inform members of these issues so that they may better know how to achieve their goals.

Hank Sewell, special student from Greensboro, spoke to the group on the world-wide effects of the Bikini Atomic Bomb test and related some of his experiences on the expedition.

The combined chapters of the Duke and the UNC World Federalists will give a panel discussion before the Rotary club in Greensboro on February 16.

Student Self-Government Is Subject of Radio Show

By Herb Nachman

The development of student government in the University system will be presented tomorrow on the "University Hour", student production of the Communications Center.

Chancellor J. W. Harrelson from State College will be on the show to introduce the round-table discussion about the new student-faculty government set-up at State.

Directed by Sandy Minnix, the production gives a dramatic history of student restrictions at State College, WCUNC and Chapel Hill before the evolution of student-self-government.

Student Representatives

The institutions will be represented by three students, two They are Alma Bullard, W. C., who will take the leads in the dramatic portion of the program.

They are Alma Bullard, WC; John Ehle of Carolina taking the part of the State student; and Bob Devardelaben, Carolina.

Starting in 1800, the script traces the evolution of student government from its earliest stages. Students entering UNC in 1800 were read a long list of regulations at their first assembly in

(See RADIO, page 4)

Tri-Delt Sorority Has Best Average

The Delta Delta Delta sorority topped all University social organizations in scholarship during the fall quarter, according to grade statistics compiled from all the fraternities and sororities and released by Fred Weaver, dean of men, yesterday. The Tri-Delt girls, with a listed membership of 27, scored 2.44 on the scale of 6 to the perfect 21 used in this report.

Values assigned to the letter grades in these figures were computed with "A" as 2, and "F" as 6. A "B" is 2, "C". is 3, "D" is 4, and "E" is 5. The calculations do not include pledges or inactive members.

Tau Epsilon Phi placed second in the Greek gradings, with an average of 2.603 for its 36 members. Third spot on the list was occupied by the Pi Lamba Phi fraternity with a score of 2.660, with the Pi Beta Phi and Chi Omega girls coming in fourth and fifth with 2.825 and 2.836 respectively.

The overall fraternity average was "C", numerically computed as 3.114.

The complete ranking of the other 21 social organizations was as follows:

Alpha Epsilon Pi, 2.840; Alpha Gamma Delta, 2.854; Alpha Delta Pi, 2.917; Delta Psi, 2.940; Sigma Chi, 3.002; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 3.042; Beta Theta Pi, 3.085; Lambda Chi Alpha, 3.099; Phi Gamma Delta, 3.120; Chi Phi, 3.146; Pi Kappa Alpha, 3.156; Phi Delta Theta, 3.164; Zeta Psi, 3.206; Kappa Sigma, 3.209; Delta Kappa Epsilon, 3.240; Sigma Nu, 3.267; Alpha Tau Omega, 3.280; Phi Kappa Sigma, 3.304; Kappa Alpha, 3.356; Zeta Beta Tau, 3.446; Chi Psi, 3.636.

SEE NO WOMEN

Miami, Fla.,—(UP)—A man who complained that his wife would not even let him look at the pictures of other women has filed for a divorce in Miami, Fla.

Vincent Spiriti says his wife clapped all pictures of women from newspapers before letting him see them. What's more, he says she turned off the radio when a woman's voice came on the air. Spiriti says she gave him only 25 cents a week allowance. However, Spiriti says, it was the last straw when his wife discovered he carried a picture of his sister in his billfold, and made him return it.

"I Talk All The Time" Says Carolina's Wittiest

By Doris Weaver

I talk all the time," says Carolina's leading master of energy, wit, and sarcasm, Billy Carmichael, III. Webster wasn't so resourceful when he invented words to describe him, but Billy has his own description of himself: "Just say I'm crazy," he said. To this reporter, he is the only person who has ever achieved such an air of mad exuberance, utter complacency, and "don't care" at the same time.

According to him, "I talk about everything whether I'm right or wrong. I believe in taking a firm stand regardless. My favorite word is 'Cliche'—I guess you'd say I'm 'cliche happy.' Evidently he is "organization happy" too, for among his extra-curricular credits are: Sports editor of the Daily Tar Heel (with Bob Goldwater); sports editor of the Yackety Yack, feature-writer for the Mag, junior member of the Publications board; ex-president of Sound and Fury; ex-J. V. basketball player; and this summer served on the Graham Memorial board of directors. This evidence brings up the question, "Do you ever study?" to which Carmichael replies, "The Dean says not, but actually I have been seen in the library on occasions—in hopes of picking up a date." He admits that he hates 8, 9, 10, and 12 o'clock classes.

A "furriner," the young commerce student (yes, that's what he is) migrated from Manhattan, N. Y., to Chapel Hill in 1940 when his father became Controller of the Greater University.

"I'm very sarcastic," Carmichael said. Then the sarcastic man stated, "I'm scared of coeds." In a less-frightened view, he declared. "Women are God's greatest gift to mankind, and Carolina coeds are his greatest work of art." When asked if there is anything he dislikes about coeds, he answered, "Yes, the fact that I can't date more of them; there are only seven days in a week." Don't all rush down at once girls, for there is still a qualification—he prefers brunettes over blondes (he is a reddish-blond). Summing up his attitude toward women, he said, "I play the field, but I have a Western outlook (Texas to be specific)."

His own best fan, the first thing he does in the morning is read his column. "It takes me about two hours to write the trash that appears in my column, and from four to six to answer the nasty letters I get because of it. I answer them all."

A member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, he complains, "My fraternity brothers frown upon me, but accept me. They let me come to meals and meetings."

Furthering his detailed thumbnail sketch of himself, Carmichael proclaimed, "I don't believe in Communism or Socialism, and as for the Bernstein instance, the only Bernstein I ever knew played in Charlie Spivak's orchestra."

World Grieves Gandhi's Death

New Delhi, Jan. 30 —(UP)— The vast subcontinent of India may be in for the worst blood bath in its turbulent history because of the assassination of Mohandas Gandhi.

It wasn't long after a Hindu assassin killed Gandhi that rioting broke out in Bombay. And the death toll tonight has reached six—with 28 more persons wounded.

Mob Violence

Mobs gathered in all parts of Bombay. Police were rushed to troubled areas and troops were put on the alert.

The mobs stalled all transit service-invaded the famous Hotel Taj Mahal, forcing it to cancel a dinner dance and private parties, reportedly looted Moslem shops. . .and stabbed and killed.

The Bombay Police say the situation now is under control—but that the police will have to keep close watch tomorrow.

In London, British officials predict that India and Pakistan —independent dominions because of Gandhi's long struggle—will flame into new fighting.

Government Rift

Responsible Indian sources in the British capital say that Gandhi's death might cause a rift in the government of India. They say that Prime Minister Nehru (nay-roo) must go. And they point out that Gandhi was the sole link between Nehru, Home Minister Sardar Patel (sar'-dar pat'-ell)—whose polices concerning Moslem and Hindu friendship Nehru opposed.

This is borne out by a dispatch from New Delhi which says a showdown may come with Pakistan and those who want war with Moslem peace and friendship.

His supporters in London believe the 78-year-old Gandhi's death is the result of a political plot hatched by Hindu extremists who refused to work toward Hindu and Moslem friendship and believe that India must be made completely Hindu. New Delhi police are going on that theory in their investigation.

People Grieve

In the midst of all the turmoil and the threats of more violence and unrest, the people of New Delhi are wailing and weeping. And their cries echo throughout the city—while their sorrow has touched all India—and the world.

Tonight the full length window of the New Delhi villa where Gandhi died was suddenly opened. And the crowd gasped as Gandhi's body—his blood soaked garment covered by a white sheet—was carried out and placed in a chair facing the crowd.

Even in death Gandhi's blessing went out to his beloved followers. His 18-year-old granddaughter folded her hands before his face as a symbol of last blessing.

Requests Cremation

Gandhi's body will be cremated—as he had asked— on the bank of the Holy Jumna (juhm'-nah) river, a tributary of the Ganges, at 12:30 a. m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow.

Word comes that he may have had a premonition of death before the three shots were fired into his frail body. Thursday night Gandhi said to his granddaughter "This is a strange world. How long can one be at the game."

When he got up this morning —the last day of his life— Gandhi told his personal attendant to bring him all his important papers. Added Gandhi, "I must reply today, for tomorrow may never be."

THE RIZNYK CHILDREN (top) think it's wonderful to have a real firehouse for a home, but the volunteer firemen at Island Park, L. I., New York, are plenty burned up about it. When the Riznyk home burned to the ground six months ago, the volunteer firemen suggested that the family live in the firehouse until they could find living quarters elsewhere. Unable to find other lodgings, the Riznyks are still in the firehouse and the smoke-eaters —out in the cold. (International)

Archduke Fights Red Communism Says They Plan World Domination

By Sally Woodhull

"Stemming the tide of communism is not enough, we must get ready to check it completely," said His Imperial Highness Archdue Otto Von Hapsburg of Austria, visiting in Chapel Hill yesterday.

Having arrived in the States about a month ago, the Archduke was in Durham to speak on the topic, "Christian Democracy or Communism?"

He came over to Chapel Hill yesterday afternoon to visit Edward Danziger, with whom he was acquainted while in Austria. He and other members of his family used to patronize the Danziger candy store in Vienna; and his father, the Emperor Carl, decorated Mr. Danziger, then corporal, for bravery in the first World War.

"The communists are pushing a showdown all over the world which will assure them, in their own opinion, of domination," the Archduke said, "and eventually they will use real war to expand further."

"We must give the world a real program, something positive to do against communism. Simply a negative stand won't help," His Imperial Highness stressed again and again.

He left Austria in '46, when "our great and trusted allies, the Russians," didn't like his presence, and he was "forcibly removed." Since then he has been in England and France, mainly in Paris. He has visited every state in this country twice, but had never been to Chapel Hill before.

He plans to return to Europe in March or April, after a lecture tour which he hopes will take him into nearly every state in the union for his third visit. He will go again to England and France, for he of course cannot return to Austria while the Russians are there.

Gillin Has Published Anthropology Text

Dr. John PP. Gillin, professor of anthropology, has just had published by Appleton-Century-Crofts, New York, a book entitled "The Ways of Men," interpreting the usefulness of anthropology in understanding the modern world.

Beginning his work with a chapter entitled "The Science of Man," he treats the individual social life and customs, the structures of human relationship, the problem of coordinating cultures, and "The Person and his Culture."

Discussing the current trends in cultural anthropology, he points out the dangers of superficial planning. Of special timeliness is his emphasis upon human resources, cultural situations, hereditary varieties of modern man, and organization for human relationships.

Fesler Heads Profs

Dr. James W. Fesler, professor of political science, was elected president of the University chapter of the American Association of University Professors at a meeting Thursday night.

Other officers include Dr. Samuel B. Knight, associate professor of chemistry, vice president; and Dr. B. L. Ullman, Kenan professor of the classical languages and literature, secretary-treasurer; in addition to the above, members of the executive committee are Dr. John N. Couch, Kenan professor of Botany; and Dr. John P. Gillin, professor of anthropology.

Spring Schedule Changes To Be Made on Feb. 9-14

By Raney Stanford

All students who desire to change any pre-registered courses for the coming spring quarter will have a chance to do so from February 9 to February 14, Edward Lanier, chairman of the University's Regristration committee, announced yesterday.

Lanier explained that since the advance registration for the spring quarter held in December, many students have had and will have to make changes during the current session, and many of these changes will also necessitate corrections to their spring quarter schedules. To prevent any jam and tie-up developing during the regular drop-and-add period for the spring quarter, the Registration committee has decided to have this special change period.

All students in the General college or the school of Commerce changing their previously-designated spring courses can check their green forms at the registration headquarters in Venable. X building prior to February 9. Arts and Science students are asked to check theirs before February 14.

Arts and Science course-changers will make their schedule corrections with the help of their faculty advisers on a "green form change record." The students will then take the change record to Venable X between February 9 and 5 o'clock the afternoon of February 14. There, registration officials will make the necessary amendments to the student's green form. Lanier stressed that these changes do not have to be cleared through Dean Well's office.

The General College will make its own announcements about the change period. The Commerce school will also post special instructions to its students in this regard.

"Changes not made during the period indicated above can only be made during the regular drop-and-add period, March 25-29," Lanier added.

FILM ACTOR Allen Jenkins is shown feeding his cat "Smiley" in the Los Angeles jail after being booked on suspicion of drunken driving. Jenkins said, "The cat was driving. I was just along for the ride." The actor pleaded not guilty. A jury trial was set for Jenkins on February 16. (International Soundphoto)

Carolina Magazine Seeking New Blood

Emphasizing a need for student-written material for the March issue of the Carolina Mag, Literary editor William Sessions urged yesterday that writers submit their works by the beginning of next week.

Sessions said that all material shorts stories, poems, essays and book reviews will be given careful consideration by the Magazine's literary board. Criticism will be given by the board members, even if the material is not accepted.

Short stories, particularly, Sessions said, are needed. "Many persons have taken the creative writing courses under Mr. Phillips Russell and Mr. Charles Eaton," Sessions, "and the stories they turned into these classes are urgently needed."

Arkansas Campus Opposes Negroes

Washington, Jan. 30—(UP)—The fight over admitting Negroes to the University of Oklahoma is being carried on loud and lustily by white students.

Today, it was the turn of those favoring segregation. But their demonstration became merely a free-for-all,. open-air debate on the campus.

Robert Watson Appointed Assistant Director of Union; Chuck Hilty Forced to Resign Post Because of Ill Health

Robert M. Watson, third-year student from Winston-Salem, has been appointed assistant director of Graham Memorial, succeeding Chuck Hilty who has been forced to leave school on doctor's orders due to ill health. Hilty is expected to resume his duties next September, though he may possibly return earlier. This will depend on the results of consultations with his physician, who has ordered "a complete rest" in order to relieve an aggravated back condition.

Already the Graham Memorial travel agent, Watson will assume his new duties Monday, while retaining his present job. As assistant director it will be his job primarily to supervise staff activities and cooperate with groups using the facilities of the student union.

In announcing the new appointment and Hilty's resignation, director Bill Shuford expressed great regret on losing Hilty's services. "Speaking for the entire staff of Graham Memorial," he said, "I would like to publicly convey to him our best wishes to him for a speedy recovery."

"In the meantime, I have complete faith in Bob Watson, and his ability to take over until Hilty returns. I am sure the student body will cooperate with Watson as they have cooperated with Graham Memorial all year."

Hours for the student union travel agency will remain the same: 2 until 6:30 every week day.

GRAHAM MEMORIAL Travel Agent Robert M. Watson assumes new duties Monday as assistant director of the Student union. Watson, who is more commonly seen dispersing travel information, as shown above, will hold the position until present director Chuck Hilty returns next fall.

$1 Dental Bill Fixed Up

HETTINGER, N. D. (UP)—A Michigan interrupted a flight to Montana to visit Dr. Lynn Hancock, local dentist. He wanted to pay a $1 dental bill he had owed Hancock since 1939, when the dentist was practicing in Minneapolis.

Concerning the Servicemen

Veterans Do Serious Work

That service men returning to college are doing serious work although the majority were not certain what occupation or profession they intended to make their life work is revealed in Dean Leroy A. Howland's annual report to Wesleyan University authorities.

Convincing evidence that the veterans are doing serious work is the fact that they constituted 92 per cent of the seniors on the honor roll.

Comparing the preferences for life work expressed as freshmen with the present intentions of the same group, it is found that 22 per cent of the group indicated no preference, 43 per cent had changed their minds during college years and 35 per cent had carried out their plans.

In other words about one-third of the group really knew prior to their college course what careers they wished to follow. Three-fifths of those whose preferences remained unchanged were headed for the professions of ministry, medicine, teaching and law.

Dean Howland's report shows that in the election of courses by departments, the English course led, with economics second, government third, the humanities fourth, and chemistry fifth. In the selection of romance languages, Spanish led with French second.

The Dean's report for the previous year showed that the percentage of students admitted who completed degree requirements was 63.9 percent for the classes of 1932 to 1941, inclusive. The effect of the war in this respect is shown in the case of the class of 1943.

This class entered college in 1939 wth 208 members. Of these, 40 by acceleration of work were graduated in January, 1943 and 50 more were able to continue in college to be graduated in June.

Eighty-one members of this class entered service prior to graduation. Of these, 12 were awarded their degrees without further residence and 46 have returned to college, of whom 44 have now graduated. Four members of the class were graduated in years other than 1943 but not because of their having been in service. It is certain that 1943 will have at least 152 graduates or 73 per cent of the original class, which is considered astonishing in view of all the difficulties and delays of the intervening years.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Whiskey Question Argument

By Drew Pearson

Washington.—When Chairman Jesse Wolcott of Michigan called his Banking and Currency Committee together to vote on extension of the whiskey holiday he swore every member to secrecy. Under no circumstances, he said, must the details of the debate be breathed outside the committee room.

However, here is the story of the whiskey debate that followed, together with another secret meeting, this one held by the big distillers.

The distillers' meeting was held in order to make sure that the whiskey holiday, due to expire this Saturday midnight, Jan. 31, would not be extended for another month. With the Senate favorable to an extension of the holiday, the distillers figured their only hope was to block the bill in the House Banking and Currency Committee of which Congressman Wolcott is chairman.

Enthusiastically the Hiram Walker representative volunteered the information that he could control Wolcott. The Senate whiskey holiday extension would be blocked in Wolcott's Committee, he said.

When Wolcott's Committee met, here is what happened. GOP Congressman Donald Nicholson, obstreperous Massachusetts freshman, sat down in Mike Monroney's seat near the head of the table and offered a resolution to table the whiskey holiday. He did this even before the resolution extending the holiday was read. His motion ended in a tie vote.

Another Republican, Frank Sundstrom of New Jersey, tried to break the deadlock with a compromise extending the whiskey holiday for thirty days but giving the distillers 4,000,000 bushels of grain per month instead of their present 2,500,000 bushels. This was flatly rejected. Republicans demanded that the whiskey holiday be completely abandoned, while Democrats refused to budge above the present monthly grain quota.

Chairman Wolcott, the man Hiram Walker said they could control, then launched into a fiery tirade against controls.

"If you are going to put controls on liquor," he exploded, "you will have to put controls on steel next. People are tired of controls!"

Democratic members fought back, led by Monroney of Oklahoma, Brooks Hays of Arkansas, Albert Rains of Alabama and Wright Patman of Texas. With the world starving, they said, Congress could not afford to put liquor ahead of bread.

They also reminded GOP colleagues that the whiskey holiday was all that was left of the Republican anti-inflation bill. The Senate bill had been heartily endorsed by Taft and not one Republican Senator voted against it. Did the House Republicans intend to junk even this?

Alabama's Rains tried to push through a motion continuing the whiskey holiday for one month with hearing to decide on a further six-month extension. But he got nowhere.

Finally Arkansas' Hays moved to vote the resolution out of committee and let the full membership vote on it. He lost, 12 to 9. All the Republicans except Stratton of Illinois voted to smother the bill in committee. Two Democrats joined them—Brent Spence of the big whiskey state of Kentucky and Frank Buchanan of McKeesport, Pa. The loudest voices for the distillers were Wolcott, Nicholson and Sundstrom.

Four Democrats bolted President Truman in the secrecy of the last closed-door Ways and Means Committee session on taxes. They voted against cutting lower-bracket taxes and restoring partial excess-profits taxes on corporations.

The four Democratic backsliders were: Representatives Bob Doughton of North Carolina, Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, Noble Gregory of Kentucky and Sidney Camp of Georgia. Doughton was the most vigorous in demanding relief for the high-bracket taxpayers.

"They've got to be considered the same as the lower brackets," argued the 84-year-old North Carolinian. "A man with four dependents under this plan would get a total exemption of $200. That's no relief for a big taxpayer."

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr.
SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael
CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser.
NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson.
NIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette.
SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears.
ASST. BUS. MGR.: Mary W. Sledge.
ADVERTISING MGR.: Eaton Holden.
SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison.
EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan, Earl Heffner.

REPORTERS: Raney Stanford, John Stump, Jim Spence, Paul Rothman, Sally Woodhull, Donald McDonald, Herbert Nachman, Jr., George Roberts, Bob Rolnik, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Jean Baskerville, Nancy Norman, George Drew, Merrily Brooks, Nina Davis, Demont Roseman, Ruth Evans, Ashley Branch, Gordon Huffines, Elaine Patton, Elinor Woltz, Clark Stallworth.
SPORTS WRITERS: Bill Kellam, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Larry Fox, Bill Gallagher, Virginia Forward.
BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr.

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

"Now it's your turn to push me."

Carolina Carousel

Royal Welcome For Dr. Frank

By R. Foo Giduz

The newspapers tell it that Dr. Frank left Indonesia Thursday, bound for New York . . . And according to Mrs. Graham, he will arive via plane at La Guardia field tomorrow morning . . . It's time to settle the hash of the sneaky anti-Graham baiters for keeps, and the student body can do it no better way than to give Dr. Frank the kind of welcome back to Chapel Hill that we know he deserves.

So as just another University student the Carousel humbly suggests that Graham Memorial hold an open house reception for the president on the first Sunday evening after he is back in Chapel Hill, since it is not yet known when he will return to UNC . . . The Grahams have open house for the student body at their home every Sunday evening when at home . . . There seems no more fitting welcome. (And we'll be glad to see photos of such an affair in the state papers!—Special note to Hon. David Clark, University trustee and notorious anti-Graham scandalizer.)

Men, this Melton mixup is no mystery at all . . . In case the news page is wondering, Melton is but definitely running for DTH editorship . . . Need it be any more official! And don't be surprised if he declares for Yack editorship and the Publications board race, too . . . Mellow Melton is really out to clean up the campus with a kapital K . . . After all, Abe Lincoln ran nine times before HE was elected to public office!

She's been smiling for several years now, and she's smiling even more today . . . That's Mrs. Peggy Jurgensen, the cheery YM CA office secretary, and everready early morning blues antidote for all Tar Hellia Sad Sax . . . So today is pay-day, and it's also Peggy's last day with the Y . . . Sure, sure, she hates to leave, loves the job, all the fellows and gals, but Peggy seems happiest of all today at the prespect of finally getting down to the Great American Woman's favorite occupation: The Home . . . Sorry as all the lads are to see her leave, they knows it's a rest well deserved.

You thousand-or-so Seniors will do well not to short-change the class plans this year . . . They're off with a bang worth being in on a week from Monday . . . It's just their first Senior class business meeting, but with it goes a band concert, movie, and entertainment skit! . . .

Campus Calendar

2:00 p. m.—Jayvees vs. State Jayvees, swimming, Bowman Gray Pool.
3:30 p. m.—Varsity Swimming team vs. V.M.I.
8:00 p. m.—Bingo, main lounge of Graham Memorial
8:30 p. m.—Gilbert and Sulivan's "Mikado", Memorial hall.

Student Audit Report

CAROLINA PUBLICATIONS UNION
Yackety Yack
Statement of Income and Expense For the Fiscal Year Ended June 30, 1947
(July 1, 1946 to June 30, 1947)

INCOME
Student Fees	$ 15,956.36
Outside Subscriptions	432.50
Advertising	1,810.00
Class & Individual Pictures	4,928.74
Organization Space	7,230.05
Sale of Books—Prior Years	5.00
Total Income		$ 30,362.65
EXPENSE
Publishing and Editing:
Salary—Editor	$ 150.00
Salary—Managing Editor	30.00
Salaries—Editorial Staff	95.00
Supplies	62.37
Postage, Telephone & Telegraph	55.35
Travel	18.79
Printing	23,761.89
Engraving	5,688.68
Photography	369.15
Repairs	6.75
Miscellaneous		$ 30,237.98
Business Management:
Salary & Bonus-Bus. Manager	$ 158.70
Supplies	32.98
Postage, Telephone, & Telegraph	65.39
Travel	10.00
Printing	12.50
Miscellaneous		$ 279.57
General Expense:
Depreciation	$ 1.27
P. U. Board Expense	493.30
Net Loss on Beauty Ball	977.88	$ 1,472.45
Total Expense		$ 31,990.00
Net Loss		$ 1,627.35

This 'n That

Abolish The Student Council?

By Bill Buchan

The twelve o'clock dinner session at the Porthole was comparatively quiet until Mac McHenry, veteran politician, began discussing the appellate power of the Student Council.

Mac, a firm believer in the "ideals which we hold dear" could see no reason for abolishing the rights of students to appeal from Men's or Women's council decision to the higher Student Council. "After all," he maintained, "if we are to continue in our democratic form of student government, we must have the right to appeal cases to higher courts."

"Yes," my friend Wilbur Amberson who happened to have the honor of sharing McHenry's table cut in, "but the right to appeal to a faculty board is the highest court. The Student Council is merely a stop in between the two."

"It seems to me that the fault of the Student Council—and the Men's council too, for that matter, is in the personnel if anywhere. You can't condemn something because the people temporarily on it are wrong." Bob Wilkensen, the famed "average" student put in his two cents.

"That merely supports my point," McHenry said, "here we have a big move on to abolish appellate powers or even abolish Council altogether just because we have the wrong people serving. That's full of hooey."

"I had a long talk recently" answered Amberson, "with a student—a law student at that—who was on the Men's Council last year. He was very firm in his opinion that the Student Council should be abolished altogether. He stated specific—"

"Naturally he would be prejudiced," interrupted McHenry, "if for no better reason than that he served on the Men's Council."

"If you don't mind, sir, I will continue" said Wilbur "he stated specific examples to me where the Student Council not only reversed decisions of the Men's Council, but also called in new witnesses, listened to lobbying from their party chairman and in general violated every rule in the book for conducting a fair and legal court."

"But, I repeat," insisted Wilkensen, "that is because of the people on the Council, not the Council itself. You just cannot condemn it on that pretense."

"Possibly true, but to quote Tom Eller, two years have passed by now and they've made no progress. The men on the C[ouncil] changed but their prec[edents] icies have not. Answe[r] can." replied Amber[son]

"Just give them [time]. That's all they need[ed]. was getting his wel[l-] der up.

"A chance you [say] Mac, this time I've [got]. They've had their [chance]. any violaters get a [fair] the Men's Council. By [law] free from outside p[ressure] any interested parti[es] them make their de[cision]. defendant isn't satisf[ied] take his case before [the] committee. There, he [will] be assured of an unb[iased] The Student Council? I[t's] ion, the boys, conscient[ious] they may be, are j[ust] their time and that [of] many other people. R[ule] the only solution."

"Amberson", McH[enry] turning red, "my opi[nion] and your judgement [are] with every word you [have]

"That is, as is ma[de] swered Wilbur, "but [I] can supply a better [one] we'll have to accept [it] abolish the student co[uncil]

UMT Will Not Bring War

Letters submitted to Write Away column must be double-spaced, typewritten, and shall not exceed 300 words. All contributions must contain the signature, telephone number, and address of the author (names will be witheld upon request.) Letters which contain obscene or libelous statements or letters which do not comply with these stipulations will not be published.

Since coming to Chapel Hill I have found a good bit of interesting material in the DTH, and have seldom missed an issue. In general, I have found that for a student publication it showed a great amount of tolerance; however, in the last few weeks it seems to have taken a definite, biased, stand on a particular issue—that of UMT. For example, in today's (January 29's) issue I find an editorial entitled, "A Fifth Freedom for All of Us", which takes a definite stand against UMT, and I think protrays the general tenor of the DTH on this topic. This, it seems to me, is not in keeping with the expressed purpose of your paper, which is that of presenting the majority opinion of the students. Certainly you have presented all the arguments against UMT, and none for it.

Of course, the fact that I am pro-UMT has something to do with it, but it seems to me that this last article has all the elements of complete asininity. It is the identical argument used before the last war by the opponents of preparedness—that an army is undemocratic, and denies freedom of the individual, and therefore this country, as it stands for freedom, should not have an army. This argument is quite sound—if you believe that the admitted evils of the army are worse than those of foreign domination. I, for one, do not, and I think that this may easily be the question we are facing. Certainly the strict discipline of the army is undemocratic, but if an army is necessary to protect us, then we should be willing to give up a measureof individual freedom to keep a much larger measure in the future.

To go on: the opponents of UMT say that if we institute UMT we are certain to have a war, that this will breed one. It is a remarkable thing that every other country of the world can institute it without it being a threat to peace, and yet we cannot. This may all be true, but I fail to see the logical necessity of it.

Another point; the opponents of this program maintain that a year's training will be of no use in the next war; that it will be one of science, with a place only for technicians. This I firmly deny, for regardless of the fact that the next war may be atomic, the fact remains that no war can be won without actual occupation of the enemy country. Of course, a gigantic softening-up process will make the task easier, but it can never make a determined nation surrender if they know that their opponent is receiving the same treatment that they are; and make no mistake, if we fight Russia, we will be taking punishment never before imagined. Even if the training received is nothing more than a lengthened Infantry basic, it will serve to make the future task easier; it will teach all of those who receive traning the basic principles and methods of the army, so that the training period in event of a future war will be considerably lessened. Furthermore, it would give the army an opportunity to catalogue these men according to their capabilities and inclinations, so that there would not be the mis-matching of man to job that was so prevalent under the arrangement of the last war.

There has also been the objection that this year of training will tend to produce a militaristic group in this country. Again drawing from my experience, I think that I can truthfully say that most of the veterans are more opposed to militarism now that they know it than they were before their army experience, when they had only vague notions of what it meant. Perhaps being in the army does tend to knock down some of your preconceived notions, generally unfounded, that all of the "brass hats" are dangerous and inhuman; there has always been in this country and unreasoning dislike of anyone connected with the military. At the same time, it does give one some knowledge of the men in the army most dangerous to our way of life, and, with this knowledge, enables one to prevent these men ever rising to power.

One last word: I am not, and do not think I will ever be, convinced that war is inevitable—in fact, I hold the opinion that if we do have war it will be caused by immeasurable stupidity, now that the world has seen what the atom can do: BUT:

I predict the Kremlin will be happy if Congress lets the UMT die.

Gaston S. Burton, Jr.

(Editor's Notes: This letter was cut due to its extreme length. Writers to Write Away are urged to follow the rules stated therein.)

What's Up in Graham Memorial

—So sorry to see Ch[uck] assistant director of the [Y] have to leave . . . Got[ten] his return from the enti[re] Chuck says its doct[or] that he take off a few [days] a good rest! . . . See what [life] in GM does to a guy!

The brainy lads from "M[en] Monastery" came out slight[ly] ter in the chess tournament [on] nesday evening . . . Se[ven] chessters turned up they [had] of playing boards . . . The [men] of chess club vs. Men of M[onk] will be continued next w[eek] GM'ers are continually ex[pert] light on their subjects—[for] fourth time in as many [days] the buildings electricity w[ent] a brown-out strike yesterd[ay] ternoon . . .

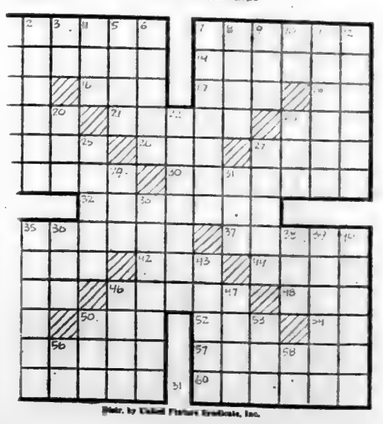
The Union's hand-of-the[-day] goes to Bouncing Bill Corb[in] dancing man . . . Bill had [the] eager students at his second [Wed]nesday afternoon dance [and] was ready to be carried [out] the end of the two-hour [per]. . . Three selections will [be] on tonight's recorded dan[ce] sic consert: Light Opera [by] by Marek Weber's orches[tra] sic of Victor Herbert by A[lbert] Kostelanetz; and "For Y[ou]

Will Admit Negroes

Fayetteville, Arkansas, Jan. 30—(UP)—The University of Arkansas has announced that it will admit any qualified Negro applying for graduate work.

It indicated however that Negroes will be barred from undergraduate students.

The Supreme Court recently ruled that states must provide equal educational facilities for whites and Negroes.



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS

1—Kind of bean
7—Confines
13—To rally
14—South American vine (var.)
15—Nickel (symb.)
16—Gun (slang)
17—Definite article
18—Prefix: not
19—Also
20—To mention
21—Electrical unit
22—To glimpse
23—Title of respect
24—Spoken
25—To place again
26—Laughingly
28—Abates
34—Brave
37—Approaches
41—Recline
42—High mountain
44—Server
45—Worthless scrap
46—Wilson's Secretary of State
48—Manuscript (abbr.)
49—Part of "to be"
50—To trouble
52—Hawaiian food
54—Note in Guido's scale
55—Place of worship
57—All
59—Breathed noisily in sleep
60—To repair pipe

1—Host
2—Mer[ry]
3—Ind[ian]
4—To [go]
5—Gho[st]
6—Nerv[ous]
7—Cr[ime]
8—For[ty]
9—Land
10—Mollusk
11—Ow[n]
12—Metric
20—Ac[t]
22—Prince
23—Sh[e]
26—Sc[ent]
27—Attor[ney]
29—Brev[et]
31—Girl's
33—Grou[p]
34—Looks [at]
35—Aviator
36—To perm[it]
38—Weapon
39—Eras[ure]
40—Way [out]
43—Within
46—Liver [part]
47—Not an[y]
48—April [fool]
52—It is [for]
53—Month[s]
54—Pro[noun]

Second-Half Rally Gives Phantoms 50-42 Win Over Davidson In Loop Play

Scotmen Register Seventh Straight Win In Circuit; Dillon High With 15 Points

By Dick Jenrette

Carolina's White Phantoms, held to a 23-23 half-time deadlock, came back with a rush in the second half in Woollen gym last night to defeat underdog Davidson College, 50-42, in a Southern conference contest.

John (Hook) Dillon, the old Carolina favorite, moved into the starting lineup for Coach Tom Scott's outfit and came through with 15 points to lead the Phantoms. Coy Carson, another reserve, also turned in a top-notch performance, counting 12 points, most of which came at oportune moments.

The win was Carolina's 15th of the season against only two losses. The Chapel Hill quint's next opponent will by N. C. State College in a game that rates as the classic of Southern conference basketball. Carolina now has seven wins without loss in loop competition and State has four successive victories. That game will be played Tuesday night in Raleigh's Memorial auditorium.

Not So Accurate

Against Davidson, the Phantoms certainly did not have one of their beter nights from a shooting standpoint. The team hit 17 of 58 for a .293 average. Carson had the best individual mark, with four goals in seven shots.

Coach Scott surprised the fans by opening a lineup composed of Bob Paxton and Carson, forwards; Dillon, center; and Norm Kohler and King Cole, guards.

Davidson opened the scoring for the evening when Whit Cobb dropped in a foul shot after just 45 seconds, but Paxton looped in a long one-hander to give Carolina the lead at 2-1. A free throw by Kohler and Dillon's layup ran the margin to 5-1 before Davidson really got started.

Wildcats Take Lead boldface ....

J. D. Ashmore got hot for the visitors and hit two straight long shots and Bob Maner made a layup. Mike Williams free shot gave the Cats an 8-5 score lead.

Dillon worked in for an underthe- basket shot and a foul shot, but Ashmore's third goal of the evening and Cheek's gratis shot enabled the Cats to keep the lead at 11-8 after about 8:30 of the first half.

Carolina Gets Hot

The Phantoms then put on a rush. Dillon earned two foul shots and Carson dropped in a set for a 12-11 Carolina lead. Paxton got an easy shot from close in, and the game began to take on the aspect of a rout.

After 14 minutes had elapsed, Carolina led by 23-16, but Scott's home boys were held scoreless for the remainder of the half. Two long goals by Williams in waning minutes pulled the Cats up

(See PHANTOMS, page 4)

Hooking the Cats

Carolina	fg	f	pf	tp	ftm
Paxton, f	5	1	2	11	3
Scholbe	1	0	0	2	0
Nymicz, f	0	0	2	0	0
Carson	4	4	5	12	0
Swartzberg	0	0	0	0	0
Dillon, c	5	5	2	14	5
Nearman	0	0	0	0	0
Kohler, g	1	2	5	4	0
Thorne	0	0	1	0	0
Cole, g	2	2	2	6	0
Ryan	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	17	14	19	50	8
Davidson	fg	f	pf	tp	ftm
Cobb, f	2	3	0	7	1
Poole	2	0	1	4	0
Cheek, f	3	7	3	12	3
Williams, c	2	2	5	6	0
Mills	0	0	3	0	0
Maner, g	1	0	2	2	0
Ashmore, g	3	1	4	7	1
Iverson	1	1	1	3	5
Totals	14	14	19	41	10

Halftime Score: UNC — 23, Davidson — 23

Officials: Jay and Husser

STATE AT WAKE FOREST

N. C. State's high scoring cagers will warm up for Carolina this evening with a Big Four contest against Wake Forest.

Matmen to Battle 'Cats Wednesday

Rounding into shape for their first match on distant mats, Carolina's muscle men put in another day of conditioning exercises yesterday in preparation for the Davidson contest Wednesday afternoon.

After the Davidson affair, the Tar Heelers will journey to Lexington, Virginia, to meet the potent VMI and the not-so-formidable Washington and Lee teams Friday and Monday nights.

Last year in contests against these three opponents, the local lands made a clean sweep by trouncing Davidson, 29-5, Washington and Lee, 28-0, and edging VMI's crew, 15-11.

Out to capture their second loop victory, the Blue and White squad boasts such standouts as Oscar Gupton, Tom Urquhart, Bill and Phil Kemp, and Doug Thompson. In previous matches Coach Chuck Quinlan's charges dropped a closely contested meet to VPI and came back in their second contest to out-muscle State's Wolfpack.

Freshman Five Rolls To Easy 70-34 Victory

There was a basketball game scheduled between the Carolina freshmen and Hendersonvill high school last night and the youths from the western part of the state finally showed up for the rather uncontested contest only to lose to the Tar Babies in a rather boring exhibit of hardwood antics, 70-34.

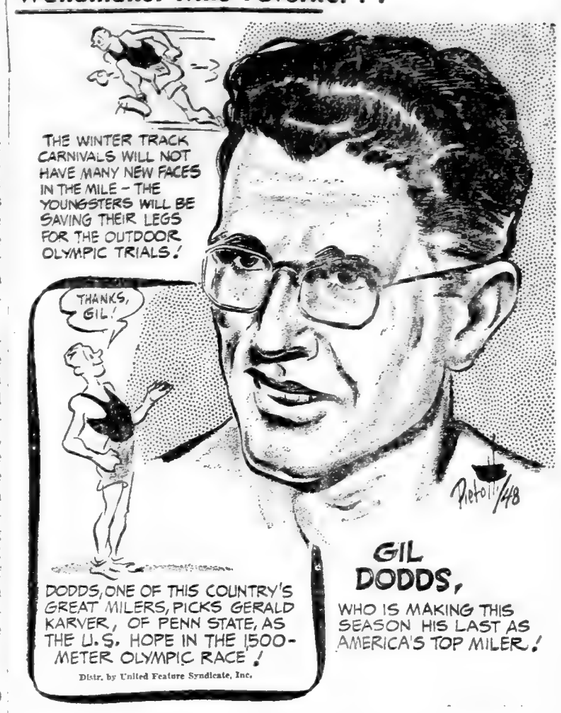
Although the visitors were willing, they just didn't have the experience or ability to cope with the somewhat more polished yearling team. Four Carolina cagers—John Tsantes, Hal Ferraro, Dale Morrison, and Thorne Gregory—broke into the double figures in the scoring column during the night's hardwood activities. The high-scoring yearling quartet tossed in 17, 16, 12, and 10 points, respectively, and if they'd been hitting the hoop with anywhere near their normal accuracy, they'd have had twice that many each.

Visitors Lead

The visitors jumped to a 2-0 lead on a long set by Whitmire and then, after Thorne Gregory's push shot from the foul circle had tied the count they went ahead on McCullough's two charity tosses. The Bearcats became quite tame after this and Ferraro and Tsantes paced an 18-point Tar Baby splurge that ran the count to 20-4 before the visitors lanky center, 6-6 John McGraw, hit with a pivot shot shortly before the first quarter's end.

Coach Jim Hamilton mercifully inserted his "defensive" second team at the beginning of the second period and they battled the Bearcats fairly evenly till the half when the locals held a 40-21 lead.

Apparently the Tar Babies had cooled off during the intermission for it took them five minutes to start hitting the bucket with any kind of accuracy. From this point onward it was just a question of how much the yearlings could score.



Gilmore Out

The Tar Babies were handicapped by the absence of Floyd Gilmore, regular guard, and they were left with only nine men. Consequently Hamilton had to use his regulars most of the time, and the high score was the result.

Tsantes turned in another first rate performance for the frosh cagers on both the offense and defense. Ferraro had trouble finding the basket quite a bit of the time but the scrappy little forward once again grabbed more than his share of rebounds.

(See TAR BABIES, page 4)

Wanamaker Mile Favorite. . .

Six Track Stars to Represent Carolina In Millrose Games in New York Tonight

New York, Jan. 30—North Carolina will be well represented in the 41st annual Millrose games in Madison Squar Garden tomorrow night by six of Coach Dale Ranson's track stars who will attempt to gain the winning ways in national indoor competition.

The Carolina entry is made up of Jack Milne, NCAA cross country champ, Jimmy Miller and Sam Magill co-Southern conference two-mile champions, Bob Black, Jack Moody and Julian MacKenzie.

Milne in Two Mile

Milne will compete in the Millrose two-mile run, along with Forest Efaw, winner of the event for the last three years, Ted Vogel, marathon champion, Horace Ashenfelter, Jim Rafferty, Tommy Quinn and Frank Martin.

Moody will face last year's high jump winner, Irv 'Moon" Mondschein, as well as John Vislocky, Bill Vessie, Josh Williamson and Dave Albritton. Moody is not a definite starter, having been floored all week with the grippe.

Coach Dale Ranson is shooting for the two-mile relay title with a team composed, in order of their running, of Black, Magill, Miller and MacKenzie or Milne. It is expected that MacKenzie will get the nod since there is not too much time between the two-mile and the relay. The Tar Heels will be pitted against teams from Columbia, Manhattan, Ohio State and Syracuse.

Wanamaker Mile

In the Wanamaker mile, the feature event of the night Gerry Karver, Quentin Brelsford, and Les MacMitchell will give chase to the king of the milers, Gil Dodds. Gil ran his first race in Boston last Saturday night and showed himself in top form by

(See TRACK, page 4)

Dolphins Face VMI Here Today Jayvee Tankmen To Meet State

By Bill Kellam

The weather outside may be frightful this afternoon but indoors in Bowman Gray pool things will probably end up being pretty warm for VMI's touring mermen for they face Carolina's Blue Dolphins at 3:30 in the main event of an aquatic doubleheader.

In the preliminary, the Carolina Blue Minnows will splash it out with State's Wolfcubs at 2 o'clock. Both clubs are composed of varsity substitutes and a spirited water fight should be on tap.

Several new faces will appear in the Dolphin starting lineup today due to the illness of several former regulars and Jamerson's desire to give every deserving squad member a chance to show his stuff.

Cadets Unbeaten

The Cadets, tutored last year to the Virginia state title by Carolina's own Ralph Casey, are unbeaten this year and boast victories over Roanoke college and George Washington. However, neither of these clubs are ranked as collegiate swimming powerhouses and the Blue and White mermen are heavily favored to cop their eighth straight win and 29th consecutive conference victory.

Cadet luminaries include Maggard in the sprints, much-heralded freshman Parks in the breaststroke, Stephens in the distance events, and Martin on the board.

Out To Set Records

According to rumors sweeping the campus, the Dolphins are swimming today's meet just to set conference records. Dick Twining will attempt to lower the 220-freestyle mark set back in 1939 by a State splasher. Mike Morrow is gunning for the 440 record established in 1941 by a VMI Cadet. Jim "The Kid" Thomas, the freshman backstroke sensation, will be splashing for a new time in the 150 backstroke event. The 400 free style relay team, composed today of Jesse Greenbaum, Floyd Drew, Steve Osborne, and freshman Jim Mericka, is also seeking a new loop mark. The old one was established last winter by State's splashers.

NORM SPER

to give other drivers a chance.

Two regulars are slated to sit out today's activities because of one ailment or another. John Bippart's bad shoulder has sidelined him and Allison Pell's bad case of sniffles has probably regulated him to bench duty.

Reserves to Compete

Hal Ingram will make his initial appearance in collegiate competition in the 50 yard freesty event if Pell is not in top shap Hard-working sophomore Joh Whichard, who has develope rapidly this year, will jump i place of ace diver Norm Spe who is taking it a little easie than usual this afternoon.

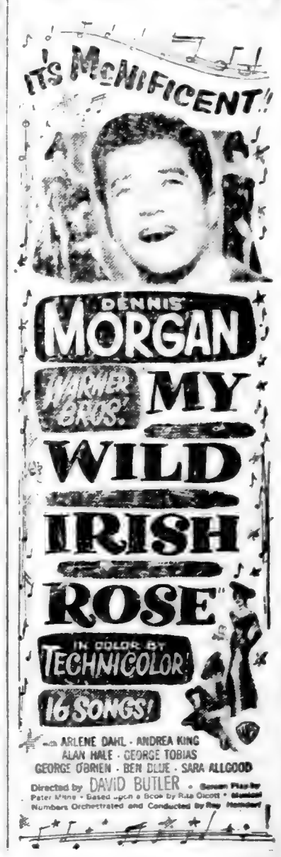
Another member of the Which ard clan. Dave by name, will ope in the 100 freestyle for the fir time this year. Walt Carnes, reserve on last year's squad, wi make his initial appearance i the breaststroke leg of the med ley relay. Bill Pritchard will b trying to start his first meet o the season. In the Florida mee Pritchard was a little too eage to get going and consequentl disqualified himself with thre false starts. Since then, the grid der has come along fast an should make a good showing to day.

Bob Ousley, the veteran letter man, and yearling Johnny Bart lett, will make their first hom appearances in the breaststroke Freshman Ed Clement will mak his backstroke debut as will Bol Elliott in the 220.

This afternoon's Dolphin line up:

Medley relay—Thomas (back stroke), Breeden (freestyle), an Carnes (breaststroke).

220 yard freestyle—Twining



(See DOLPHINS, page 4)

CAROLINA

TODAY

LATE SHOW TONIGHT
SUNDAY — MONDAY

Do You Want to See Duke Play? Here's How to Get Your Ticket

Do you want toi be sure of seeing the Duke game next Saturday?

If you do and you hold a student passbook numbered between 500-4500 or a faculty book bearing a 8001-8500 numeral, you better grab said passbook and chase on down to the ticket window office in Woollen gym before 1 o'clock today. There you can exchange a coupon for a reserved seat ticket from which vantage point you will be able to see the White Phantoms and Blue Devils cavort on the hardwood some next weekend.

But for you students whose passbooks have four digits between 4501-8500 and the proud owners with book numbers over 8500, you'll get your chance to see the big game also—starting on Monday. For the first time next week, the valuable ex-ticket will be available on a first-come, first-served basis to anyone holding an athletic association passbook, regardless of its number.

If you haven't obtained your Duke ducat by that time, you'll need more than the passbook if you go by the gym next Friday or Saturday. In fact you won't need the passbook at all. What you—and anyone else in this w ide world—will need will be one Silver Certificate with George Washington's picture. For those who don't understand, just bring a one dollar bill along and you'll get to see the game.

But as pointed out several paragraphs ago, if you already hold the lucky numbers for the Duke tussle, you can save yourself a lot of trouble just by running down to the gym this morning.

And if you didn't get to see the Daily Tar Heel until the afternoon, then we're afraid that it's just TTS — which means Tough Ticket Situation.

follow the

to Valentine

Is it a sports shirt?

Is it a regular shirt?

Yes, twice—it's both! The Arrow Doubler is styled to look equally well open-necked or with a necktie.

Doubler is made in fine white or blue Gordon oxford cloth and comes in regular collar and sleeve lengths. Sanforized labeled.* See your Arrow dealer for a Doubler today! $4.

*(Fabric shrinkage less than 1%)

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

-PHANTOMS-

(Continued from page 3)

to a 23-23 tie.

Carolina had a shooting accuracy of .229 to Davidson's .360 for the first half.

Second Half

King Cole scored a field goal and foul shot for Carolina in the first three minutes of the second stanza but three Davidson foul tosses preserved the tie at 26-26. The Phantoms took charge from there on out, never to fall behind.

Dillon's layup, Scholbe's push and Cole's set gave Carolina a 32-29 lead after 6:30. The two clubs played on fairly even terms thereafter, although Carolina at one time boasted a 39-29 lead.

During the last few minutes of the game, the Phantoms staged a freeze act which was entirely successful, although Davidson probably would have been unable to catch up regardless. Paxton's layup shot in the last ten seconds completed the night's scoring.

The game was a rough affair. Carson and Kohler of Carolina each fouled out in the second half. Davidson was awarded one technical foul shot when the Carolina fans booed one of Umpire Leroy Jay's decisions too vigorously.

-TRACK-

(Continued from page 3)

waltzing off with the event.

Fred Schmertz, Millrose games director, predicted that it would be Karver that would most test the Flying Parson. However, it seems that no one in this country can stay within 50 yards of Dodds in an indoor race.

The 880-yard run is expected to be a tight race between Fred Siskinger, last year's winner; Jerry Connolly, Fordham; Reggie Pearman, NYU; Jack Dianetti, Michigan State and Bill Hulse of NYAC. This probably will be the closest race of the night.

The Mel Sheppard 600 will pit George Guida, Villanova; John Hammack, Army; and Roscoe Browne, of the New York Pioneer club in a probably hair-line finish.

Eddie Conwell, national indoor titleholder, Tom Carey, Joe Cianciabella and Ira Kaplan will vie for honors in the 60-yard dash.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 6B

YORK PIANO FAIR CONDITION nice tone. Original owner will sacrifice for $200.00. Call L. E. Hoenig, Jr. at Colonial Press, Inc., or see at home across from Neville Bros. Service Station, Carrboro, N. C. Will deliver.

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6bb

1938 FORD, TUDOR SEDAN, RADIO—good tires. Caston Motor Company, F-3896. (ch 1x1)

LOST 12

LOST IN DITCH NEAR WATER tower—glasses in tan case. Finder please contact McNairy, 112 Saunders. (1-1699-1)

PAIR OF GLASSES WITH PLASTIC rims in leather case, Jan. 16. Write Thomas R. Allen, Box 2605, Greensboro, N. C. (1-C1693-1)

IN THE DOG HOUSE. LOST WEDding band in Bingham or Library. Monetary reward to returner of same. Lambert Bros. inside. Call F-421, Thomas J. Parker. (1-1696-1)

WANTED 24

AGENT TO DISTRIBUTE THE Greensboro Daily News in East Chapel Hill. Must have car. Weekly net about $15.00. Inquire Trailer 213, Swain Hall. (1-1697-1)

WANTED TO RENT 24B

REASONABLY PRICED ROOM IN nice home by senior until March. Must vacate present quarters. Will furnish references. Contact Senior care Tar Heel. (1-1695-1)

University Service Station
Odis Pendergraft Prop.
TEXACO

RESCUE WORKERS REMOVE THE BODY of William Marquis, 37, from a deep snow-pit at Loveland Pass, Col., after the skier and two others were trapped by an avalanche. Both Marquis and a friend, Everett H. Dierks, 32, also of Denver, were killed. A third skier, trapped in the heavy snow with them, was saved. (International Soundphoto)

-DOLPHINS-

(Continued from page 3)

and Elliott.

50 freestyle—Pritchard and Ingram or Pell.

Diving—Erle and J. Whichard

100 freestyle—D. Whichard and Pritchard.

150 backstroke—Sper and Clement.

200 breaststroke—Ousley and Bartlett.

440 freestyle—Co-captain Morrow and Basescu.

400 freestyle relay—Co-captain Greenbaum, Drew, Osborne, and Mericka.

Jayvee Lineup

The jayvee lineup:

Medley relay—Hutton, Norwood, Cox.

220-freestyle—Dietzel and Allred.

50—Doscher and Barth or Ingram.

Diving—Beam and Griffith.

100—Barth and Coart.

100-backstroke — Truitt and Hutton.

100-breaststroke—Taylor and Norwood.

200-relay—Harris, West, Langell, and Cooke.

-TAR BABIES-

(Continued from page 3)

The play setting-up of Bill White and Ray Morrison was another bright spot in the victory Ed Morgan paced the losers with 15 points and an excellent performance under the boards.

The box score:

Carolina (70)	Pos	(34) H'ville
Gregory (10	RF	(15) Morgan
Ferraro (16)	LF	(8) McCullough
Tsantes (17)	C	(9)McGraw
Morrison (12)	RG	Strider
White (4)	LG	(2) Whitmire

Subs—Carolina: Lebed (1), Powers, Terrell (3) Goodman (4). H'ville: Kalin, Burnett, Young, Littlefield.

Officials: Lee and DiChiara.

Mule Gets Wanderlust And Ties Up Traffic

CHICAGO (UP)—Sidney, a mule owned by Lucius Gates, indulges a penchant for roaming that frequently takes hi mout of his stall.

Sidney has been known to kick the stable door down when he gets the wanderlust, and he's mulishly stubborn, too.

-RADIO-

(Continued from page 1)

Chapel Hill.

A Carolina man who was a member of the class of 1800 led a rather restricted life in comparison with the varied campus ac-

Rules included, (1) All rooms and beds will be cleaned of insects every two weeks. (2) No student shall indulge in any intoxicating beverage at any time execpt for medicinal purposes. (3) If a student resided within a designated number of miles of the University, he was under the rules of the University during home vacation.

Miss Bullard, taking the part of a WC student, compares a 1948 WC coed with the 1800 Carolina man when she says, "Sometimes I feel that they think we are babies. Everyone but Seniors have to sign out if they leave the campus, why, we can't even walk through Peabody Park at night."

Present Problems

In discussing present high prices students must face, the cast gives a list of expenses at State College in 1889. At that time, county studens paid no tuition, out-of-county paid $20 for 10 mohths. Books, fuel and mediacl attention for this period was $10. Room, including furniture and bedding was the same, laundry was $7.50 for ten months and board was $80 for the year!

Bringing the student government question up to date, narrater Pete Van Zandt mentions, "Today, the Greater University of North Carolina has no specific conduct regulation. Every student is expected to conduct himself or herself as a gentleman or lady. No further definition is given. It's left to the individual to interpret the Campus Code for himself."

New Student Government

The show closes with a description of the new student government set-up at State College where the Student Council is made up of both student and faculty members, each having an equal vote.

This phase of the change is further developed in the round-table discussion, conducted by Chancellor Harrelson.

Other members of the cast include Nat White, Dick Johnson, Dick Katzin, Margie Norris, Katherine Colwell, Bill Ayers, and Joe Foster. Frigid Hooks on turn tables; Joe Butler, sound; and John Young, controls.

UNDERSECRETARY of Commerce William C. Foster tells members of the House Interstate Commerce Committee in Washington that a proposed ban on the exporting of oil supplies might be "very dangerous." The committee had recommended the ban in a report on the nation's fuel crisis. Foster noted that the U. S. imports more oil than it exports. (International)

Old Testament Class

D. Charles E. Maddry, retired executive secretary of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention will begin teaching a class dealing with Old Testament personages at ten o'clock tomorrow in the lower Sunday school rooms of the Baptist Church.

NOTICE TO GAS CONSUMERS

This Company has filed with the North Carolina Utilities Commission an application to increase the basic rates in its "Rate Schedule No. 1" applying to bills of all customers of the Company purchasing gas by regular meter. This increase amounts to ten cents per thousand cubic feet of gas used, and the North Carolina Utilities Commission has fixed a date for a public hearing upon this application, namely, February 10, 1948 at two thirty o'clock p. m. in the offices of the Commission in Raleigh, North Carolina.

PUBLIC SERVICE CO. OF NORTH CAROLINA, INC.

TWO BLOCKS WEST OF CITY HALL
You'll Find A Solution To All Laundry Problems
HELPY-SELFY
AUTOMATIC LAUNDRY
Bendix Machines
W. Rosemary St.

WHITE DANCE—Raleigh Memorial Auditorium—FEB. 4th
9 P.M. Til 1 A.M.

TICKETS AT Thiems, Stephenson's and Record Bar in Raleigh—Wendell Drug Co., Hoods of Dunn, Dugan's Radio and Sams Soda Shop in Fayetteville.
Presented by The Capital Entertainment Co.
Colored Spectators 75c
ADVANCE SALE $1.50
Tax Incl.
New Amazing Low Price for This Attraction.

LI'L ABNER — By AL CAPP

Food—For Thought! !—HARRY'S

Graham Returns Sun.

Dr. Frank Graham is scheduled to land Sunday at La-Guardia Field in New York City, weather permitting, according to the latest information received at his South building office. The president of the Greater University will proceed directly to the United Nation headquarters at Lake Success, N. Y. to report to the international assembly before returning to his post in Chapel Hill.

Miss Billie Curtis, secretary to the University's president, pointed out that by flying home by the westerly route, Dr. Graham will have completely circled the globe when he finally returns from his three-month peace-making mission.

Bingo Tonight

Twenty or more games of Bingo with cash prizes for each will be conducted at this evenings Saturday night student union Bingo session. Calling will begin at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

A fee of $ .02 per card, with no limit on the number of cards which may be purchased, will be charged for each game, and receipts are to be pooled for the winners. "Joker John" Van Hecke of the student union staff will supervise the session.

Sorrow and Fear Sweep Indian Continent; Entire World Grieves Death of Leader

New Delhi, Jan. 30, —(UP)— Sorrow and fear swept India today and, to a lesser extent, the rest of the world. . .sorrow that India lost Mohandas Gandhi, her greatest leader, and fear of what the future may hold for the Indian continent.

The Indian leader lived long enough to see the fullfillment of one of his greatest dreams, freedom for his native land.

It is because of his death that many fear violence may again engulf the Indian continent, that the Indians, Sikhs and Moslems, may again unsheath their swords which Gandhi forced them to put away by a hunger strike less than two weeks ago.

The 78 year old Mahatma died at 7:05 EST yesterday morning, a victim of three bullets fired into his frail body by a Hindu extremist.

Over the vast expanse of India, the word spread like wildfire. Grief stricken women tore their clothing in the streets, tears swept down the cheeks of bearded men.

But in Bombay, those who opposed Gandhi's policies, took advantage of the situation to start riots which raged in the city for many hours. The Bombay police commissioner now reports that he has the situation under control, but is fearful of tomorrow. Six persons died and 26 were injured in outbreaks today.

Tomorrow has been proclaimed a day of national mourning, a day to be spent in prayer and fasting. In accordance with Gandhi's wishes and Hindu custom, his body will be cremated on the banks of the Holy River which runs into the famous Ganges.

Thousands of his followers thronged the streets outside Birla palace in New Delhi tonight, demanding one last look at their leader. In deference to their wishes, Gandhi's body was hoisted to a balcony so all might pay th last respects.

To the millions of his follow ers, however, the Mahatma is no dead, according to their religion his immortal spirit will live fo ever.

He'll not be forgotten soon b millions of others around th world. Today, heads of govern ments, diplomats and just plain people the world over expressed their sorrow on the occasion of his death.

No flags flew at the United Nations, except the official flag of the UN which stood at half mast.

Inside the Lake Success build ings, the Security Council was forced to postpone its debate on the Moslem-Hindu strife.

The Council devoted a sche duled meeting to eulogies, the Council president saying that Gandhi's death had sent tragic emotion coursing throughout the world. Soviet delegate Andre Gromyko saying that the Indian prophet had left a deep mark on the history of India and he peoples.

President Truman, in a mes age to Lord Mountbatten, Gov ernor General of India, said "Another giant among men has fallen in the cause of brotherhood and peace." The Indian de legate to the UN said, "Gandhi mission in life was one of peace and good will. I hope India will recover from the shock."

WHY NOT CALL F-3801 WHEN YOU NEED A CAB?
Your Friends Do . . .
F-3801 — F-3801
INDEPENDENT CAB

PHILCO RADIOS
Sales and Repairs
Ogburn Furniture Co.
312-314 W. Franklin
Phone 5841

HELD OVER!
SUNDAY
THE MIKADO
Produced by
The Carolina Playmakers
and
The Department of Music
Tickets Available At
LEDBETTER-PICKARDS SWAIN HALL

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Cloudy and cold with light sleet or snow; possible rise in temperature this afternoon.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
A Poem About Monkeys
Soft Lights, Music
Topcoats, Brancs

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 89

Progressives Form New Party to Back Wallace Candidacy

Greensboro, Jan. 31 —(UP) Workers of the newly-formed Progressive party of North Carolina announced today they will start collecting signatures to place third-party candidate Henry Wallace on the state ballot.

The new party backing Wallace for president is under the leadership of Miss Mary Price, the former secretary of the committee for North Carolina. The committee is a state branch of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. Miss Price is state chairman for the new Progressive party.

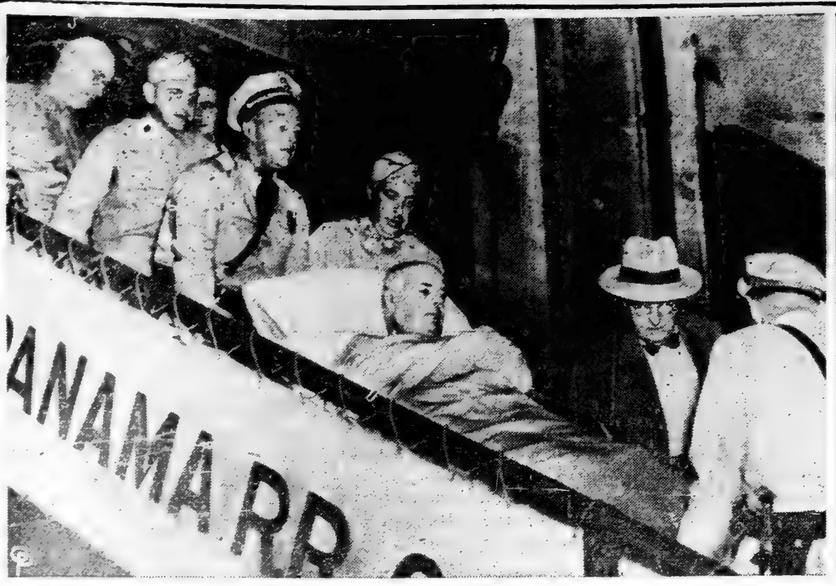
"Machine Misrule"

The 30 founders of the party have issued a statement denouncing what they call the machine misrule by the two old parties. They say government must have a "real housecleaning with a grass-roots movement."

The party, like Wallace, opposes the Truman doctrine, universal military training, and "preparations of Wall street trusts for a third world war." It says it will call for price ceilings, repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and active enforcement of civil rights.

For a North Carolina program the party advocates improved schools and Higher pay for teachers, increased old-age assistance and the abolition of the three per cent sales tax.

Wallace needs 10,000 signatures to get on the state ballot, and Miss Price says they will round up twice that number.



Meeting Planned By Wallace Club

Plans were made to hold a state-wide Wallace-ite meeting here in February, to sell copies of the New Republic in the Y, and to get Henry Wallace's name on the North Carolina ballot at a short meeting of the Wallace for President club held Friday night.

The members heard a report from Ken MacRorie who attended the organizational meeting of the state Wallace organization held in Greensboro earlier this week. He told of the election of the president of the local group, Bill Richardson, to a vice-chairmanship of the "Progressive" party, which is the name which the Wallaceites will use in this state.

Laurent Franz reported on the legal difficulties which must be met to get the candidate's name on the state ballot, and Paul Morehead reported on the progress made by Wallace on a na-

(See WALLACE, Page 4)

STRICKEN AT SEA with a serious stomach ailment, Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-N.J.), is carried on a stretcher from the S. S. Ancon at Christobal, Canal Zone. The chairman of the House Un-American Affairs Committee was on his way to check on reported Communistic activities in the Panama Canal region. He became seriously ill when the ship was caught in a storm 400 miles at sea. Efforts were made to drop blood plasma, but heavy seas interfered. Rep. Thomas is reported recovering at Margarita Hospital in Christobal. (International)

Public Transportation Almost Completely Paralyzed In State As Frigid Winter Weather Ties Up Local Common Carriers

By Chuck Hauser

The worst winter weather Chapel Hill has seen in many years took a big stride into its second week with more sleet, snow and freezing rain yesterday and the night before last to grip the Hill in an icy glaze that was neither pretty nor practical.

For the second time in a week all bus schedules out of here, as well as in the rest of the state, were cancelled. The last busses pulled out of Chapel Hill at midnight Friday, to be followed with the closing of all taxi stands in the city a short 12 hours later, at noon yesterday. The Carolina Cab company pulled its last vehicle off the streets at 12:30 yesterday afternoon, and resumption of service was not expected until possibly tomorrow if the predicted relief from the cold weather rings true.

No major accidents have been reported within the city limits yet, apparently because few motorists are willing to risk life and limb or their shiny '47's on the glassing coating which covers every street in the area.

Four-tenths of an inch of sleet had fallen in the 24 hours preceding 4:30 yesterday afternoon, when the local weather station took its daily reading, and the tiny grains of ice were still coming down as press time neared last night.

The mercury sat on 18 degrees most of yesterday, reported the Chapel Hill weather station, with a low of 14 degrees recorded in the early hours of yesterday morning following a 24-hour high of 35 degrees in the afternoon day before yesterday.

(See PUBLIC, Page 4)

Library Addition Plans Under Way

By Weddy Thorp

Plans for the new library extension are well under way, Olan V. Cook, assistant librarian, said yesterday.

Alfred M. Githens receive the engineers' report, space allotments will be decided on and final plans will be drawn up.

Selection of the engineers and uncertainty of obtaining necessary building supplies have caused delay in the progess thus far, but as soon as Architects H. Raymond Weeks, Durham and

There is the danger that this commission may not approve the project at this time, because of the tremendous increase in the cost of building.

Graham Memorial Only Ghost Of What It Was Supposed to Be

Graham Memorial is only a ghost of itself, according to the architect's drawings of the building. They show that the student center was originally planned as one section of a building which would have extended from Franklin street almost to Senior Walk.

Conceived as a memorial to Edward Kidder Graham, ex-president of the University and relative of Dr. Frank P. Graham, the project ran into financial difficulties, and seven years passed between its beginning and the completion in 1931 of the portion now in use.

The present part, about one-third as big as the one which is planned for eventual construction, cost $253,000. It repays this outlay by serving as a combination home, office, club, and recreation center for the students here.

Pressed For Space

But, according to Graham Memorial Director Bill Shuford, it could be much more useful if the full building were available. Each of the publication, all of which call the center home, is badly pressed for space at the present time.

The CCUN, student government offices, activities fund, and meeting rooms are on the average cramming two men where there is ample room for one. Completion of the building would solve that problem and permit other organizations which have no space at present to acquire an office in the building.

Auditorium, Dance Hall

However, in Shuford's opinion, the greatest improvement that a larger union would bring is a combination auditorium and dance hall to be used for small dances, rehearsals, and large meetings. A new section would fill the need being felt by the five campus orchestras for a place to practice.

If space was available, Shuford stated, a large game room with ping-pong tables, pool tables, and other equipment would be installed. Also planned for the eventual addition are a radio room, book store, and sleeping rooms for alumni and guests of the University.

Contributions for the missing sections are being received and a fund for the building is being accumulated. At present, the time of construction and its cost are not known.

But the popularity of the present union building and its great contribution to campus life are excellent insurance that it will be done.

PICTURED ABOVE are Andrew Griffith as "Ko-Ko" and Sam Hirsch as "Poo-Bah" in a scene from the Mikado, appearing for the last time in Memorial Hall tonight at 8:30. The Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera is being presented jointly by the University Music department and the Carolina Playmakers.

New Twist

Oklahoma City, Jan. 31—(UP)—The race question in state universities took a different twist today when the new Oklahoma law school refused admission to a white man, Walter M. Harrison.

The school was set up at the order of the United States Supreme Court when Mrs. Ada Louis Sipuel, Negress, demanded admission to the Oklahoma university law school.

The Supreme Court is expected to rule Monday on the Sipuel case. Attorneys for the Negro woman argued that the new three-professor school set up by the state does not satisfy the Court ruling that the state must provide equal educational facilities for whites and Negroes.

The latest event in the wave of educational race troubles sweeping the country was reported from Newark, Deleware, where the trustees of the University of Delaware have voted to admit Negroes to certain courses not available at the Delaware State College for Negroes.

One Solution

The ice skating was good along East Franklin street yesterday!

At least Bill Shotts, first-year student from Chapel Hill thought so. One look at the walking conditions underfoot and Bill dug out his ice skates that hadn't been used since his family moved here from Maryland. And they worked well as a means of getting around.

"The skating's fine except for the ruts," Shotts exclaimed during a five-minute break. "It's also a litle rough where they've already put ashes, but then everyone doesn't have skates."

"I'd like to get up a little skating party today if anyone else is interested", he informed us.

Bus Wreck Puts Two In Hospital

Lousiburg, Jan. 31 (UP)—A Virginia Trailways bus skidded off an icy highway one mile north of here today and injured at least 24 persons.

Two of the passengers are still in hospitals in Raleigh.

The bus was southbound from Washington, D. C. to Raleigh when it skidded off the highway. It slid back onto the road, clipped down a telephone pole and finally came to rest upright.

March Of Dimes Nets $581.47 With Contributions Still Out

SMOKE AND FLAMES ROAR SKYWARD from a large oil tank "farm" on the outskirts of Chicago. About 100,000 gallons of badly needed fuel went up in smoke after a fire in a small shack started off a series of explosions which completely destroyed seven storage tanks. (International)

Daniels Road Leads In Victory Village With More Than $35

By Herb Nachman

A total of $581. 47 has been collected in the campus March of Dimes campaign.

Barron Mills, chairman of the drive, said yesterday that this sum indicates only a portion of the expected final total since half of the solicitors had not reported by yesterday.

Although the drive officially ended yesterday, Mills urged that those who have not turned in their contributions do so as soon as possible.

Despite bad weather conditions and conflicting campus activities, the University Veterans association collected $16 at their "Five Dimes Dance" which officially concluded the campus drive last night. The sum collected from those atending the dance will be matched with an equal amount by the association.

Leading the campus drive at present is Daniels Road of Victory Village which has turned in $35.16. So far, the entire Village has given $71.76. Dan Sapp is the solicitor.

Quonset Hut No. 7 with 20 boys has turned in $16 to win the Quonset area. Pi Lambda Phi fraternity with 43 members is leading the fraternity group by turning in $32.01 to date.

Spencer girl's dormitory is winning in this division by turning in $36.01 to date. Chi Omega is leading the sororities by contributing $17.10.

In the men's dormitory division, Battle is leading with 40 men turning in a total of $18.

Although the drive officially ended yesterday, contributions may still be received at the Daily Tar Heel office in Graham Memorial.

GM Songfest to Be Modelled After Hit Parade of Thirties

On the theme of the "Hit Parade" radio show, and featuring the most popular songs of 1930, the first Sunday Night Song fest will hold forth in the Graham Memorial main lounge beginning at 8 o'clock this evening.

Ken Gammage is acting master of ceremonies for the program, which is to be patterned exactly after the studio broadcast of the coast-to-coast Friday night musical show, complete with specialty numbers, entertainment, commercials, and the top tunes of the era in a community sing.

Under the direction of Frank Matthews, the Song fest is to be a weekly program of Graham Memorial, replacing the Sunday night Musical Candlelight classical records concert during the winter quarter. Each week the sing will be patterned after a different national radio show.

For tonight, the cast in addition to Gammage includes announcer Mark Barker, vocalists Forrest Covington and Coline Smith, an unannounced solo pianist, and accompanist Frank Matthews. Words for each tune in the sing will be flashed on a large screen.

Yackety Yack Is Nearly Completed

One of the biggest year-long jobs on the campus is fast nearing completion today.

The board of editors, Gene Johnstone, Harold Bursley, and Ruth Evans, announced yesterday that the Yack should be finished and the last stick of type out of Chapel Hill by February 5.

With only portions of the necessarily late sports and beauty sections and "odds and ends" yet to be mailed as the week ended, the staff was working in shifts under the board of editors and picture co-ordinator Bill Duncan to get it all in by the tentative Friday-of-next-week date.

Cherry Sets Monday For Swearing Erwin

Raleigh, Jan. 31 (UP)—Governor Cherry has announced that former Congressman Sam J. Erwin, Jr., of Morganton will be sworn in as an Associate Justice of the State Supreme Court next Tuesday.

Erwin will succeed Michael Schenck of Hendersonville whose resignation was effective today.

The swearing-in ceremonies will be held in Cherry's office.

Yack Photog Johnson Specializes In Portraiture

By John Stump

"Watch the birdie" is seldom heard, but like phrases are frequently used by the Yackety Yack's corps of photographers as they struggle to elicit from willing but inexperienced subjects the pictures from which a good college annual draws much of its excellence.

The best of this outstanding crew of shutter men is Francis Lavergne Johnson with whom the Yack has contracted to have much of its more unusual work done.

Johnson's forte is portraiture and other work with living models. A professional photographer since his business days began in Chicago more than 20 years ago, Johnson has collected more than his share of honors in his chosen field.

His work has been shown in South Africa, Holland, Hungary, Chile, India, Canada, and most of the major cities in the United States. Dutch critics were especially impressed by his style, enough so that they awarded him the top prize in the color classification at their show held in Amsterdam last year.

The award, a plaque, went into a trunk containing many like it won by this modest, young-looking man who has been doing the picture work for the Carolina annual's beauty section.

Although most of Johnson's professional career has been spent in studios in Chicago and Philadelphia, he came to the Yack recommended as "the best photographer in North Carolina."

How he got here and why he stayed makes an interesting story, which is, incidentally, not uncomplimentary to Chapel Hill.

After the navy established its Pre-flight school here and soon after the beginning of the late war, it found that a competent photographer could be of great service in informing the public of just what the navy was doing in Chapel Hill.

They sent for Johnson, and until a navy laboratory was set up here later, he did all of the photography of the local unit. Even afterwards Johnson continued to do their portraiture for them.

When the navy pulled up its stakes in 1946, Johnson decided to remain. "I was tired of cramped apartments and dirty city streets and sights," is the way he tells it now.

At present he has his own well-equipped photo lab at his home on the eastern edge of the town. Questions concerning his future plans bring no definite answer, but it's a pretty sure bet that the sporty dressing, young-thinking photographer and the countrified yet somehow casmopolitan center won't be parting company for some time yet.

According to the Yack editors Johnson is a great assistance to the rest of the picture-taking staff. His work takes some of the load from the capable shoulders of Les Bodden, Wilson Yarborough, and Bill Harrison, and it is of first rate quality.

PICTURED IS ONE of the more enjoyable aspects of Gene Johnstone's work. The Yackety Yack editorial board member is shown as he helps arrange a scene for one of Francis Lavergne Johnson's Yack beauty shots. Johnson has been working with the Yack this year by arrangement through a Durham store. His equipment is his own, and he keeps it at his home darkroom.

'Carolina's Non-partisan, Free Platform'

With the Speaker's Fund bill scheduled to reach the floor of the special legislature session Thursday night, student organizations which in the past brought prominent speakers to the campus face partial consolidation. A fusion of political-minded groups to collectively sponsor the speakers of the future is, in effect, called for by the new bill.

The bill, fostered by disappointment and mild disgust on the part of certain individuals who felt that the CPU, IRC and CCUN were deceiving the public in their avowed purpose and were not getting the quality of speakers of the past, comes on the heels of Tom Eller's request that these organizations be "excluded from the budget for the fiscal year, 1948-49."

Below is a letter which we received yesterday from an erst-while chairman of the Political Union. Because it offers clarification on certain phases of bring speakers to the University, we have reproduced the letter in full in the hope that it will add weight to the bill now before the legislature.

"I hope that Bill Poslin, Ridley Whitaker and Dick Railey didn't see the DTH of January 27th, for they would have been somewhat shocked at the compliment paid to them. You see, they were all Carolina Political Union chairmen between 1941 and 1943—the time, when says your editorialist, "no one, regardless of his importance or the pressure of business, would cancel . . ." Ask anyone in the Union to let you see the files for those years. Write to Bill Joslin, whose year, although highly successful, was one of heart-break after heart-break, when one speaker after another cancelled out at the last moment. It happens all the time. Bill Kemp's record this year is a good one. The speaker problem has become more difficult.

"For one thing, when the Union was organized some thirteen or fourteen years ago, it was about the only college group that offered a non-partisan platform. Not the only college group at Chapel Hill, but the only one in the nation. TIME, of December 18, I think, of 1939, in its lead story, will confirm this. (story on Voit Gilmore, CPU chairman, bringng down the late President Roosevelt.)

"The idea spread out from Carolina, as have so many good ideas, and now non-partisian political unions dot the nation. Yale has a fine one, for instance.

"Carolina is off the beaten political track. It is difficult to get good speakers down. The poor audience which we gave Glen Taylor last year was disgraceful, especially considering the fine evening that he and his family gave us.

"I hope that the Union, and the IRC, can work together. The presentation of Ambassador Winewicz this fall was just that, a cooperative enterprise, in which the Union, which, last spring had made arrangements with the Ambassador, offered its hand to the IRC in the hope that, beginning with one speech, these two organizations could work towards their mutual aim, the bringing of provocative, authoritative, college-level-geared speakers of repute to the campus. Although there have been some slack seasons, it is my deep hope that Carolina's non-partisian, free platform will again become an outstanding place from which our nation's leaders can test out intelligent reactions to their policies. Only through free trade in the market place of ideas can intelligent, responsible democracy be realized."

Jerry Davidoff '47

Soft Couches, Low Lights and Music

This is an editorial on the advantages of the Rendezvous Room. It is also an editorial praising the present managers of above mentioned haven on their efficient management.

The first point that we would be prone to stress is that of the nice, soft, comfortable couches arranged around the fireplace. The next point is that of low lights and sweet music (most of the time), both a definite influence on, shall we say, good relations. All this, and you can purchase short snacks at the counter, such as soft drinks, ice cream, candy and cigarettes. In addition, there is a swell dance floor if the couches prove too boring.

These are merely the outstanding characteristics. One could also call attention to the up and coming entertainment provided, especially the Friday night sessions under the direction of popular Dusty Barbour. All in all, one can't help but agree that the Rendezvous Room is a swell place to hang your coat outside and take it easy inside. If you don't know, you should try it some time—soon.

Of course to operate such an attractive joint, the people in charge must be capable charactors, and they are. Every day, they're busy remodeling or doing something to add to the pleasure of the patrons. Don't hold it against them, though, that we're mad when we go down and they're closed for repairs in the afternoon, because we'll even admit that that is necessary to set up new and better procedure.

As a matter of fact, our hats are off to 'em. To them, and those soft couches under the soft blue lights.

—B. B.

Dean Susan Akers Is Attending Meeting

Dean Susan Gray Akers of the University School of Library science is attending a series of library meetings in Chicago this week and the early part of next week.

She is now participating in the pre-conference workshop for librarians and sociologists and during the weekend will attend the Midwinter conference of the Council of American Library association and a business meeting of the Association of American Library schools.

On Monday Dean Akers will participate in a conference on library education to be sponsored by the American Library association.

Woman Ex-Balloonist Craves Plane Ride

CHICAGO (UP)—One of the first women to go aloft in a balloon has a single unfullfilled ambition—to take an airplane ride.

Mrs. Irene Coffee, 60, says she's been out of the sky for more than a quarter of a century and would like to go back to it.

Back in 1902 she saw a newspaper advertisement which read. "Wanted. Young girl to make balloon ascension."

She ran away from home to get the job. She was 15 at the time.

Her first ascent was far from glamorous. She rose a modest 50 feet in the old-fashioned wood-burning balloon and settled in a Murphysboro, Ill., frog pond.

Write Away

Good Idea

Editor:

Recently in the "Tar Heel" there has been a considerable amount of controversy and discussion pertaining to the status of the "Carolina Mag" and the "Tarnation". Why not abolish both magazines and expand the "Daily Tar Heel"?

It seems that the opinion of many students on the campus is that these so-called magazines are a waste of funds since very little benefit is derived from the pages thereof.

Therefore I submit this suggestion.

G. Mitchell

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr.

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser.
NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson.
NIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette.
SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears.
ASST. BUS. MGR.: Mary W. Sledge.
ADVERTISING MGR.: Eaton Holden.
SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison.
EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Bugnan, Earl Heffner.

REPORTERS: Raney Stanford, John Stump, Jim Spence, Paul Rothman, Sally Woodhull, Donald McDonald, Herber Nachman, Jr., George Roberts, Bob Rolnik, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Jean Baskerville, Nancy Normar George Drew, Merrily Brooks, Nina Davis, Demont Roseman, Ruth Evans, Ashley Branch, Gordon Huffines, Elaine Patton, Elinor Woltz, Clark Stallworth.

SPORTS WRITERS: Bill Kellam, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Larry Fox, Bill Gallagher, Virginia Forward.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr.

Sunday Counselor

A Poem About Monkeys

SUNDAY COUNSELOR — AO

By Dr. Herbert Spaugh

Many a lesson can be learned from the humorous incidents in life. He is to be pitied who has no sense of humor. Fortunate is the man who has such and can carry it to a ripe old age. Before me just now is a letter from a 91-year-old man who during his active business life has traveled upwards of 15,000,000 miles. He says, "I came through without a scratch. I feel that the good Lord had a hand in this."

He evidently has an interesting sense of humor, as he sent me the following from his scrapbook by an unknown author:

Three monkeys in a cocoanut tree discussing things as they're said to be. Said one to the others, "Now listen, you two, there's a certain rumor that can't be true. That man descended from our noble race; the very idea is a disgrace. No monkey ever deserted his wife, starved her babies and ruined her life. And you've never known a mother monk to leave her babies with others to bunk or to pass them on from one to another till they scarcely know who is their mother. And another thing you'll never see, a monk build a fence round a cocoanut tree and let the cocoanuts go to waste, forbidding all other monks a taste. Why, if I'd put a fence around a tree, starvation would force you to steal from me. Here's another thing a monk won't do—go out at night and get on a stew, or use a gun or club or knife to take some other monkey's life. Yes, man descended—the ornery cuss. But, brothers, he didn't descend from us."

Some may say that this is utter foolishness, but it is certainly thought-provoking.

My correspondent also passes on this bit of his own philosophy:

"Many of us have been entangled in things we would like to forget. Therefore may each of us begin today and during all of our tomorrows endeavor not to be entangled with anything that will cause regret. Cultivating a disposition to see God's hand in all things about us will result in a more fruitful life, and build strong and secure bulwark to protect us against the pitfalls that beset our pathway. Let us set our mind to do more of the things we should do and less of the things we should not do."

Here is a man that I would like to meet some time. Endowed with a keen sense of humor, he has a rich philosophy of life which has brought him to the fullness of sunset years. Some of us come to those years earlier than others. It should be our aim and desire to walk with our Lord here, and we can be certain then to walk with him over there in the Father's House.

Write Away

No Paper Today

Dear Editor:

Inasmuch as I am only a student, and therefore rather dumb, I would appreciate it very much if you would be so kind as to straighten out a question that has intrigued me for some time now.

WHAT THE DEVIL HAPPENS TO THE TAR HEELS THAT ARE SUPPOSED TO BE DELIVERED TO THE MEN'S DORMS EACH MORNING?

It's usually quite an inspiration to arise when you know that a newspaper is lying outside your door containing all the local and foreign news. In other words, there isn't much poini in getting up just for classes. But it's a bit strange to find that no TAR HEELS show up. Well, one or two, but is that so good? I mean one or two per dorm. I even stayed up one night waiting for the TAR HEEL to come So I could find what manner of thing delivered them (Supposedly). Imagine my surprise and dismay that bright Saturday morning when no TAR HEEL was deposited before my door. I had to go to Graham Memorial to read it, and it was after four that afternoon before I could find one there.

Gad! sir, what's happening. I paid me money, and I wants me

(See WRITE AWAY Page 4)

YW Chatter

YW Winter Activities Moving

By Sally Woodhull

Y committees are now in the full swing of their winter quarter activities, with meetings scheduled for this week holding much interest for Y members and the campus at large.

The Recreation committee, headed by Emily Ogburn, will meet at the home of Gay Currie, public health nurse, at 724 Gimghoul road, tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. They will plan the recreation for the joint YM-YW retreat at Natural Bridge, Virginia, February 20-22, arranging for excursions to points of interest near the hotel, and for square and social dances and parties.

Miss Currie will also help the girls plan for the recreation which they direct at the White Cross and Carrboro schools one afternoon each month. In addition to games and songs for the younger children, the committee will give a course in grooming and fashions, for the older girls. Twig Branch, personnel adviser to women, will assist them.

Kathryn Hovis will speak on "Christianity in Vocations" at the Career committee meeting tomorrow. This group will also make plans for sponsoring Mrs. Charlotte Lockhead of Standard Oil, who will be in Chapel Hill February 19 to speak on "Opportunities for Women in Business."

At the Race Relations committee meeting tomorrow, the discussion on Palestine which was begun at the last meeting by Paul Furgatch of Hillel foundation, will be continued.

A program on national politics will be planned by the ... Affairs committee at their ... ing tomorrow. They will ... the two party system, an... study possible candidates ... fall's presidential election ... meetings of this group are ... to the entire campus.

The Publicity committee ... changed its meeting place ... the Pi Phi house to the Y H... and will meet there tom... to plan the remainder of ... meetings for the winter qu... Speakers for the radio jo... ism and art departments ... engaged to speak on techn... of publicity campaigns

The committee on You... Your Religion will meet ... home of Dean Katherine ... michael for a discussion of ... sonal religion on Thursday ... at 7 o'clock.

Men's Fashions

Topcoats, Braces, Jewelry

By The Fashion Editor of Esquire Magazine

That old chestnut about the fireman and his red suspenders no longer holds quite so true. Several years ago, when men started climbing into uniforms, the brace lost quite a bit of ground to the government sponsored belt. After a hitch in the service (that's a pun, son!) men had become so accustomed to the belt that they continued wearing them into civilian life—but civilian belts are as different from army belts as tweed is from khaki. The tooled, western style belt is one that's becoming a big favorite on the country's campuses. It's a heft belt finished with a bold buckle.

Another favorite is a cordovan belt; it's a rich reddish brown tone and the glossy texture of the cordovan takes on a high glow when polished—the higher the better! But if you're of the school that thinks trousers don't hang properly unless supported by braces—and this school is large—there are several types of them around to choose from: the all-elastic type, the non-elastic ribbon brace with an elastic inset in the back, and the mesh or knitted type. The loose weave in these allows a certain amount of give.

Anything that gives you twice your money's worth should be of interest to college men . . . any man for that matter. The reversible coats (remeber how popular they used to be?) are coming back again—but strong! One side tweed, one side processed cotton that laughs at the rain—goodlooking in the casual campus manner—the reversible topcoat can be worn with equal nonchalance on the nicest or the nastiest day.

When it starts to rain, just turn the other lining. The big favorite is the raglan sleeve model with slash pockets which are available no matter which side is being worn as the outside. The tweed fabrics are available in plain diagonal weaves or in the more popular herringbone weave—mostly in brown but also in grey and bluish grey.

Jewelry that has a claim to utility has always been popular with well-groomed men. Even men who think it's masculine to declaim the use of jewelry will jump at the chance to wear some if they're given an excuse for doing so—witness the widespread use of the Air Corps promoted identfication bracelet. Tie pins and clasps, for instance—if you've ever had a necktie flapping in your face when you're driving a car or running to make a class, you know how welcome the tie clasp can be. And it has an added use: some men knot their ties in such a way that ties stick straight out from the collar; a tie clasp pulls them down flat.

The good news it that the new tie clasps are bold and masculne looking—no longer delicate little chains or thin strips of metal. One in particular is a simple band, sometimes decorated with the wearer's initials, Others are shaped like arrows, nails, and swords. They're of the trompe l'oeil school—they seem to pierce the tie but don't. The collar pin is another piece of utilitarian jewelry—it kees the collar and tie looking nest from morning till night.

Society

McIver Coeds Hear Mrs. Nash Talk on Courtship, Marriage

Residents of McIver dormitory heard Mrs. Arnold Nash speak on courtship and marriage on Tuesday night. Mrs. Nash advocated numerous courtships in order that a girl might better know her own mind. She consoled worried coeds with the cheering information that there were at least twelve types of men for each individual type of girl, and that any one of these twelve types would be compatible as a future husband.

The parlor of McIver was lighted by open fire and during the talk Joyce Johnson and Mrs. Cooke, McIver hostess, served cookies and hot chocolate.

ADPi Pledge Dance

The Alpha Delta Pi's held their dance Friday, January 23, in the Carolina Inn Ballroom. As the pledges were presented, they stepped through a large heart and joined their dates at the foot of the steps entering the ballroom. The couples formed the traditional Alpha Delta Pi diamond after which the pledges laid their bouquets on the floor in a diamond shape.

Cassie Byrnes and Edith Lee Burgess, ADPi alumnae, were back for the dance, after which Sarah Montague was serenaded by the Sigma Chis.

Pi Phi Pledges

The following girls were pledged by the Pi Beta Phi sorority Wednesday, January 28: Jane Griffin, Vienna, Georgia; Jean Williams, Bluefield, West Virginia, and Susan Walton, Miami, Florida.

Norwood-Stefanou

Nancy Norwood, former UNC student, was married to Steve Stefanou, student from Jacksonville, in the Episcopal Chapel of the Cross here on Sunday, January 25.

Betty Witherspoon, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and best man was Lee Gliarmis. The wedding was followed by a reception at the Carolina Inn.

ATO Pledges Are Feted With Dance

The Alpha Tau Omegas cl... ed what was described a... "exceptional" pledge week... when they gave a dance ... night in honor of their pl... class at the Carolina Inn.

Johnny Satterfield's orch... provided the music for the af... which was followed by a ... night breakfast at the ATO ... and a champagne party.

Friday night the pledges ... given a barbeque and beer p... at Josh Turnage's place on ... outskirts of Durham. Entertainment was provided by seve... members of the pledge class, w... presented an "impartial" re... of what they thought of the ... tivities. Ears were burned an... hides were threatened.

Last weekend, as a preface ... ysterday and Friday's festivit... ATO actives gave their pledg... a banquet at the Terrace Vie... Supper club. Guests of hono... were Johnny Vann, chairman of the ATO national High Council, Dick Johnston, new chief of the province in which the Je... chapter is located, and Jim Lilly, president of the chapter for the year preceding his graduation in December.

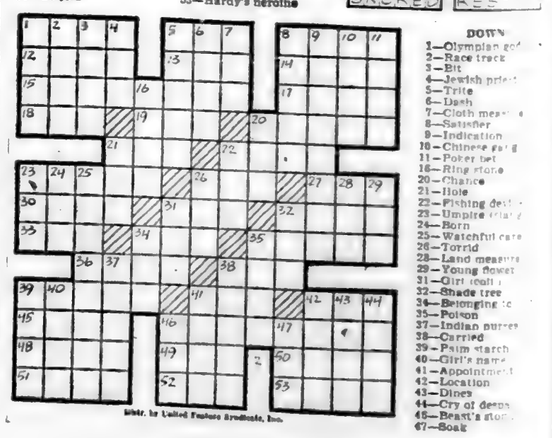
Pledge class officers are Jo... Horne, president, Rufus Byrum, vice-president, and Jim Merrick, secretary.

Phi Delt Pledges Feted With Dance

The Phi Delta Theta fraternity held a dance for its pledges ... the Carolina Inn, from nine ... one last night. Roy Cole and ... orchestra played for the affair which was attended by about 100 couples.

About 30 of the brothers ... their dates began the festivi... with a banquet in the Inn ... previous to the dance. La... their president Bill Lane ... joined the rest of the Phi D... for the dance at nine.

Refreshments were serve... the dancers during intermi... and according to all reports good time was had by all.



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS

1—Place to live
5—Sewing party
8—Bristle
12—Wrong
13—Everything
14—River in England
15—Sane
17—Hue
18—Brew
19—God of flocks
20—Row of bushes
21—Chum
22—Half-cooked
23—Up to the time of
26—To jump
27—To grab
30—To join
31—Deity
32—Beige
33—Writing gadget
34—Headpiece
35—To lose blood
36—Irish assembly
38—Scotsman's hat
39—Athletic groups
41—Spanish nobleman
42—Huge wave
45—Coin of India
46—Physical
48—Wealthy
49—Lunched
50—Girl's name
51—Lyric poems
52—Married
53—Hardy's heroine

DOWN

1—Olympian god
2—Race track
3—Bit
4—Jewish priest
5—Trite
6—Dash
7—Cloth measure
8—Satisfier
9—Indication
10—Chinese gong
11—Poker bet
16—Ring stone
20—Chance
21—Hole
22—Fishing device
23—Umpire (Var.)
24—Born
25—Watchful care
26—Torrid
28—Land measure
29—Young flower
31—Girl (coll.)
32—Shade tree
34—Belonging to
35—Poison
37—Indian nurse
38—Carried
39—Palm starch
40—Girl's name
41—Appointment
42—Location
43—Dines
44—Cry of deep
45—Beast's stomach
47—Soak

Playmakers-Music

'Mikado' Breaks Winter Ice

By Bob Sain

The joint Playmakers-Music Department production—"The Mikado" by Gilbert and Sullivan—is without doubt one of the best possible antidotes for the mid-winter willies. Light music and laughs are always welcome in January.

There is little point in singling out any one person for particular mention since all of the huge cast and auxiliary workers contributed to the over-all pleasant affect of the show. But a sense of duty makes us recognize the fine comic ability of Andrew Griffith, who is "Ko-Ko, the Lord High Executioner".

Griffith's acting was even a cut above his excellent vocal work. Working with Sam Hirsch in garnering laughs, he displayed a talent for comedy that surpasses anything this reviewer has seen south of the Main Stem.

Hirsch, by the way, played "Poo-Bah," with admirable aplomb and exhibited a surprising vocal talent. Catherine Covington's work as "Katisha", the villainess, pleased the large audience that slipped and slid to Memorial Hall Friday night.

Carl Berry and Barbara Edwards sang "Nanki-Poo" and "Yum-Yum" to the satisfaction of everyone.

Lynn Gault, who staged and designed "The Mikado", produced a striking set that contributed much to the show.

"The Mikado" opened Friday night, and tonight's show will, unfortunately, be the final performance.

Twining, Morrow Shatter Conference Records As Dolphins Triumph

Bobbing In Sports

—with—

Bob Goldwater

Foul by the Crowd

IT SEEMS RATHER useless to bring up the subject of sportsmanship all the time. Therefore, we won't bother to dwell at great length on why we think Friday night's exhibition of booing wasn't, to put it mildly, very nice.

Instead, we'd like to quote from the basketball Bible, the rule book by which they play the game. Rule 10, which goes under the heading of Fouls and Penalties, has one of its sections, number 6 to be exact, stating ever so clearly: "The coach or team follower shall not...disrespectfully address Officials or opponents. Penalty shall be one free throw for each infraction."

Now the meaning of "disrespectfully address" can probably be taken many different ways. But one of these definitely includes booing demonstrations by the home crowd while a visiting player is preparing to toss up a foul shot. Such conduct is considered unsportsmanlike by the men who wrote the rule book, by the officials calling the game, by the players themselves, and by anyone else who stops to think about it. Hence, the reason for calling a technical foul on the home team and awarding the visitors a free toss.

All those who attended the Davidson contest two nights ago witnessed such an infraction—a case of a foul being charged to the crowd because it disliked a personal foul being called against Johnny Dillon. We won't attempt to judge whether the Hook did or did not commit a foul in the final minutes of the game, a foul which brought with it a chorus of catcalls that continued while the Davidson player took his aim at the foul line.

The Booing Point

WHILE WE PERSONALLY are against booing in any and all forms, we recognize the futility of a crusade against the practice in general. But when such demonstrations by the crowd are liable to cost the ball players one point per demonstration—and some day maybe the ball game itself—that's when we consider a word of caution necessary.

To those who feel the urge for a good Boo creeping over them when the referee calls what they consider a raw decision against the Phantoms, our request is that you boo yourself out before that opposing player takes his stance at the foul line. You'll be doing the Carolina boys a favor, since they heartily dislike losing an extra point for something the folks up in the stands did.

We might add that Coach Tom Scott backs up our sentiments 100 per cent. "All the boys wish there wouldn't be so much booing," he declared. "They're out on the floor trying their best to win—and some day they might lose because of the booing. Stick a note in there asking the fans to please not boo the decisions when there's a man on the free-throw line. We like to receive the same courtesy when we're on the road, and we like our crowd to do the same here at home."

Raleigh Rumor Wrong

COACH SCOTT HAD a few other things to say during the five-minute phone conversation. Such as that he and the boys knew they were scheduled to play N. C. State on Tuesday and that the Raleigh rumor that they wouldn't show up for the engagement was definitely untrue. "There wouldn't be any use in predicting a Carolina victory," he asserted, "but I will say that I think we'll give them a tough game. We're definitely the underdogs, but we've been looking forward to this battle and the chance to do a little upsetting."

CURRENT THOUGHTS DEPT: The possiblity that Corky Bluethenthal may return to the wrestling ranks brings to mind the fact that Coach Chuck Quinlan could field a Carolina mat crew composed almost entirely of former conference champions, were it not for expiration of eligibility, medical reasons, and the battle of the books.

Six former loop titleholders and one runner-up are now enrolled in school and are forced to watch the grunt-and-groan programs from the stands instead of taking part themselves.

Don't think this lineup wouldn't make the nucleus of a national contender: 128—Hobie McKeever; 136—Tommy Hearn; 155—Irv Zirpel; 165—take your choice among Sam Mordecai, Bluethenthal, and the one runner-up on the list, Lem Gibbons, then move either one of the other two up to 175; heavyweight—Laurie Hooper.

Varsity, Jayvee Football Teams To Be Banqueted on February 14

University alumni will honor the dazzling 1947 football squad, considered by many observers to be the finest ever to represent the University, at a banquet in Lenoir hall at 7 p.m. on Saturday, February 14, it was announced yesterday by Alumni Secretary J. Maryon Saunders.

All old grads are invited to attend the stag party and meet personally Coach Carl Snavely's most glittering team, which was captained by George Sparger and Joe Wright and which was spearheaded by Charlie Justice and a host of other stars.

Saunders, however, who is general chairman of arrangements, pointed out that there will be, by necessity, only a limited number of seats. Reservations will be made in the order that applications are received with tickets priced at $2.50 each. Applications should be made to Saunders at the Carolina Inn with checks enclosed.

Members of both the varsity and junior varsity will be honored guests, along with coaches of all Carolina athletic teams. A colorful program is being arranged by William D. Carmichael, Jr., University controller, and Charles P. "Chuck" Erickson, assistant athletic director. Carmichael will act as master of ceremonies.

Although the 1947 Tar Heels were defeated twice, by Texas and Wake Forest, they played so brilliantly in their other games of a deadly schedule that, at season's end, they were generally acclaimed as one of the nation's top ranking teams.

Boxers to Weigh-in Starting Tomorrow; Trophy to Marksmen

Weigh-ins for the intramural boxing tourney begin tomorrow and will continue until Thursday in the main dressing room of Woollen gym.

The eight weight divisions to be used are: 120, 127, 135, 145, 155, 165, 175, and unlimited. Fighters must meet the weight exactly and no leeway will be given.

Boys will indicate when they weigh in if they qualify for either the novice or open division. Managers have until six o'clock tomorrow to cast their votes on the question of including an open division.

A total of nine handball teams have advanced into the second round of the tourney so far. Seven more opening round contest remain to be played off before the tournament can move into its second stanza.

The Reserve Officers association is presenting a trophy to the all-campus rifle champs. The winner will be determined by a match between the fraternity and dormitory victors. The rifle tournament proved very popular with 39 teams being entered. Of these, 17 are dormitory entries and 22 represent fraternities.

The Intramural department released its annual report yesterday. Highlighting the seven page report was the note that 3,678 different individuals participated in intramural activities in the 19 intramural activities sponsored by the department.

Monday's Murals

BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 1: SAE 1 vs. Pi Lamb 2; Court 2: KA 1 vs. Kap Sig 2; Court 3: Chi Phi 1 vs. Zeta 4; Court 4: Chi Phi 2 vs. Delta Sig; Court 5: Chi Psi 2 vs. ZBT; Court 6: Chi 2 vs. Sig Ep 2; Court 7: SAE 3 vs. KA 2.

5:00—Court 1: Phi Gam 2 vs. Phi Kap 2; Court 2: PiKA 2 vs. TEP 2; Court 3: Beta 1 vs. AEPi, Court 4: Kap Psi 1 vs. Phi Gam 1; Court 5: Everett 1 vs. Seiler Five; Court 6: Whitehead 1 vs. Cruds; Court 7: Alexander 1 vs. Graham 2.

7:00—Court 1: Lambda Chi vs. Chi Phi 3; Court 2: Phi Delt 1 vs. St. Anthony; Court 3: TEP 1 vs Lewis 1; Court 6: Miller Hall vs. Emanons; Court 7: AVC vs Graham 1.

8:00—Court 1: Oakwood Dr. vs. Field House; Court 2: Old East vs. Everett 2; Court 3: Geology Dept. vs. Comets; Court 4: Old West vs. Wesley Rockets; Court 5: Hillers vs. Ruffin 1. Court 6: Med School vs. Fire Balls; Court 7: Nash Hall vs. Black Phantoms.

HANDBALL

4:00—Phi Gam 1 vs. ATO 2.

5:00—Chi Psi vs. Lambda Chi 1.

7:00—Pi Lamb vs. PiKA.

8:00—Phi Gam 2 vs. Phi Kap Sig.

RIFLE FIRING

7:30—Stacy (orientation).

BADMINTON

7:00—(Women's gym) Wilkerson vs. Cohen; Strayhorn vs. Edwards; Armsted vs. Lewis; Billerbeck vs. Hoks.

8:00—(Women's gym) McAdin vs. Chamlett; Blount vs. Betts; Brumley vs. Wright; Boak vs. Conch.

Coach Everett Case of N. C. State kneels surrounded by four veterans of last season's Southern conference cage champions who defeated the Tar Heels by two points twice in that campaign. They are, in the usual order, forward Dick Dickey, guard Eddie Bartels, center Warren Cartier, and guard Leo Katkaveck.

Cagers Preparing Tight Defense To Meet Powerful State Attack

The big plans for the big game with N. C. State college Tuesday night got underway yesterday at Woollen gym with Coach Tom Scott and his charges attempting to cook up an immovable defense for the Wolfpack's irresistable offense.

The Tar Heels are not optimistic about their chances of upsetting the West Raleigh high-flyers but they will not walk on the Memorial Auditorium floor on game night an already-beaten crew. That much both coaches and players are certain of.

Nation's Top Offense

The locals will probably depend on slowing down the State offense, which is currently the leading point-per-game average in the nation, and the defensive question was one factor they spent a lot of time looking for the answer to in yesterday's workouts.

Norm Kohler, who was injured slightly in the first half of the Davidson clash when a flying elbow caught him in the eye, was on hand for the drills, but brought a creditable looking black eye along with him as a disturbing companion. Kohler returned to play in the second half of the game and will be ready for full service this week.

The rest of the Tar Heels are in top form and went through their paces with added vigor in anticipation of the coming do-or-die contest. Coach Scott, noncommittal on the Davidson contest, kept his boys working on defensive maneuvers in an attempt to come up with something that will stop the murderous Wolfpack attack.

Not that the Tar Heels will play a completely defensive ball game, for their real hope lies in a potent performance of their offensive ability.

Mural Standings

(As of February 1, 1948)

FRATERNITY

LEAGUE 1

Beta Theta Pi 1	4	0
Chi Psi 2	3	1
Sigma Pi Epsilon 2	3	1
Lambda Chi Alpha	2	2
Kappa Psi 1	2	2
Sigma Chi 2	2	2
Chi Phi 3	2	2
Phi Gamma Delta 1	2	2
Alpha Epsilon Pi	0	4
Zeta Beta Tau	0	4

LEAGUE 2

Phi Delta Theta 1	4	0
Phi Kappa Sigma 3	3	1
Kappa Psi 2	2	2
St. Anthony	2	2
Delta Kappa Epsilon 2	2	2
Sigma Alpha Epsilon 3	2	2
Kappa Alpha 2	2	2
Tau Epsilon Phi 1	0	4

LEAGUE 3

Phi Gamma Delta 2	3	0
Zeta Psi 1	3	1
Tau Epsilon Phi 2	2	1
Phi Kappa Alpha 2	2	1
Alpha Tau Omega 3	2	2
Phi Kappa Sigma 2	1	2
Delta Kappa Epsilon 1	1	3
Sigma Nu 3	0	4

LEAGUE 4

Chi Phi 2	4	0
Phi Delta Chi	4	0
Pi Kappa Alpha 1	3	1
Delta Sigma Pi	3	1
Sigma Alpha Epsilon 2	2	2
Beta Theta Pi 2	1	3
Sigma Chi 3	1	4
Sigma Phi Epsilon	0	4

LEAGUE 5

Kappa Sigma 1	4	0
Phi Gamma Delta 3	3	1
Phi Kappa Sigma 1	2	1
Alpha Tau Omega 2	2	2
Phi Delta Theta 2	2	2
Kappa Alpha 3	1	2
Chi Psi 1	0	3
Zeta Psi 4	0	3

LEAGUE 6

Chi Psi 1	4	0
Sigma Chi 1	4	0
Zeta Psi 2	4	0
Kappa Sigma 3	2	2
Pi Lambda Phi 1	1	3
Sigma Nu 2	1	3
Beta Theta Pi 3	0	4
Pi Kappa Alpha 3	0	4

LEAGUE 7

Sigma Alpha Epsilon 1	3	0
Pi Lambda Phi 2	2	1
Kappa Alpha 1	2	1
Phi Delta Theta 3	2	2
Sigma Nu 1	2	2
Kappa Sigma 2	1	2
Zeta Psi 3	1	3
Alpha Tau Omega 1	1	3

DORMITORY

LEAGUE 1

Seiler Five	3	0
Blackballs	3	0
Unknowns	3	1
Everett 1	2	1
Whitehead 1	2	1
Cruds	2	1
Lewis 3	1	3
Honeycut Manor	1	3
Graham 2	0	3
Alexander 1	0	3

(See MURALS, Page 4)

Loop Marks in 220, 440 Fall to Mermen Frosh-studded Team Too Good for VMI

By Bill Kellam

Coach Dick Jamerson's aquatic youth movement was hitting on almost all cylinders—eight of nine, to be exact—yesterday afternoon as his powerful Blue Dolphins splashed their way to an easy 51-24 triumph over VMI's hustling but clearly outclassed mermen. The freshman-studded Pale Blue mermen hogged first place honors with eight out of a possible nine.

It remained for two of Jamerson's veteran crawlers—Dick "The Greatest" Twining and Mike Morrow—to provide the big thrills of the otherwise thrillless meet by setting new Southern Conference records in the 220 and 440 yard freestyle events, respectively.

Freshman Jim Thomas celebrated his 18th birthday by backing in to a new dual meet record in the backstroke leg of the medley relay. The Carolina trio won this opening event of the meet handily to give the locals a permanent and ever-increasing lead.

Twining Sets Mark

The speedy Twining gave the overflow crowd—which jammed the poolside seats despite yesterday's rampage of the elements—plenty to cheer about in the second event as he smoked through the chlorine to set a new loop record in the 220. The ace from Anchorage—who swims almost as fast as an Alaskan seal—led from the first lap although the terrific pace that he set during the first 100 yeards slowed him down toward the end.

Hal Ingram and Bill Pritchard established themselves as men to watch by whizzing through the 50 for the first and second places, respectively. Ingram would have won by a greater margin but he lost some yardage by making a slow turn at the bulkhead.

Irving Erle, though still not the diver that Norm Sper, is turned in a capable performance to grab first place in this event. John Wichard made a successful season's debut to grab the runner-up spot.

Lone VMI First

The Cadet's Andy Maggard grabbed their only first place in the following 100 by outclassing the field for an easy win. Bob Hutton finished a spirited third for the Dolphins.

Norm Sper didn't exert himself very much as he easily grabbed the blue ribbon the 150 backstroke. Yearling Ed Clements, after keeping up with Sper for the first 100 yeards fell off toward the end and didn't place.

Southern Conference champion breaststroker Jerry Cook showed why he is the class of the conference with his easy victory in the 200 breaststroke Freshman Charlie Bartlett, of Chapel Hill was right at Cook's heels for 125 yards before tiring and grabbing third place honors in a photo finish with VMI's Parks and Barnes. Bartlett is another newcomer on whom Jamerson is depending for next year.

Morrow Shines

Co-captain Mike Morrow fought his way to a lead at the halfway mark and then steadily extended it as he hung up a new loop record in the 440 marathon. Although the Dolphin endurance ace and his crawling mate, Ronnie Basescu, finished over a lap ahead of their VMI competitors, the runner up spots went to the visitors when Basescu was disqualified for not touching the bulkhead on one of his turns.

The freestyle relay team missed setting a new loop record by one-tenth of a second. Composed of Greenbaum, Drew, Mericka, and Osborne, the Dolphin quartet racked up an easy victory but marred their fine performance by just missing the mark.

The scheduled preliminary contest between the Carolina jayvees and the N. C. State Wolfcubs was cancelled because of the inability of the State swimmers to reach Chapel Hill.

Summary:

300-yard relay—NC (Thomas, Breeden, Carnes). 3:08.6.

220-yard freestyle—Twining (NC), Stephens (VMI), Elliott (NC). 2:17.3 (Southern Conference record. Old record, 2:20.3 set by Reynolds, NC State, 1939).

50-yard freestyle—Ingram

(See DOLPHINS Page 4)

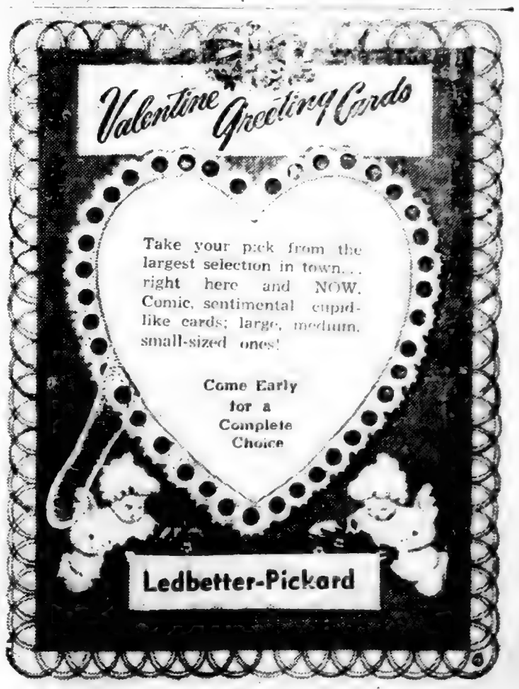
Cards Sign Camp To Play for Pay

Chicago, Jan. 31 (UP)—Jim Camp star wingback for the North Carolina Tar Heels signed a contract to play professional ball with the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football league, it was announced today.

The Schoolfield, Va. gridder played at Carolina for four years and was one of the big guns in the Tar Heel's vaunted ground attack. Shining on Coach Carl Snavely's tricky reverses, he was the leading ground gainer in the 1947 Sugar Bowl game.

In addition to his sparkling ollegiate career, Camp undoubtedly attracted the eyes of the professional scouts when he helped pace the Carolina collegiate all-stars to a victory over the Charlotte Clippers. He was also a member of the South eleven that routed the North squad, 33-6, in th Blue and Gray bowl game in Birmingham on New Year's day.

All Occasion
Flowers say it better
REHDERS
CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Opposite Post Office corner



Optical Service
DURHAM OPTICAL COMPANY
215 W. Main St.
Phone F-2141 Durham

THE HOME OF SIZZLING STEAKS

PRIVATE DINING HALLS
Open Every Day
6 A.M. to 9:30 P.M.
N. O. REEVES
305 E. Chapel Hill Street
The Palms Restaurant

"Dentyne Chewing Gum!"
"Well, rub my eyes—if I'm dreaming of delicious Dentyne Chewing Gum, don't wake me up! I'm all set for that keen, clean taste—and do I like the way Dentyne helps keep my teeth white, too!"
Dentyne Gum—Made Only By Adams

Massive Dodge motor car factory in Detroit, Mich., as the plant shuts down following orders for the curtailment of industrial gas to conserve the supply for home consumption during the present severe cold wave. All plants in the are halted production. (International Soundphoto)

New York Business Threatened by Record Freeze As O'Dwyer Stops Delivery Of Non-Essential Oil

By United Press

For the second time this winter, the weather may virtually paralyze industry in the biggest city in the nation.

Last month it was a record 26-inch snowfall.

Today, as an indirect result of the record cold and consequent fuel shortage, all non-essential fuel oil users in New York have to close down.

The threat comes as a direct result of an order by Mayor William O'Dwyer. He has ordered that effective this evening—fuel oil is to go only to essential users. That means homes, hospitals, institutions, public utilities, transportation and communication, food stores and resturants and school and health facilities.

Entertainment Out

It means that nation's capital of entertainment, the movies, night clubs, theaters as well as some plants depending on fuel oil may have to close down.

Says the Mayor, "In New York, homes still have the number priority." And he says if fuel distributors fail to abide by his priority list—he will declare a state emergency at once.

New York's fuel oil problem is typical of that faced by many communities in the nation caught in the record breaking cold wave. Emergency fuel conservation measures were taken in other cities from the Rockies to the Atlantic coast. The cold extended even into the Carolinas. Fuel shortages also caused other widespread industrial shutdowns which left some 2½-thousand workers idle. . .

As for other results of the weather—below zero temperatures have hurt service along most of the New York Central line between Chicago and New York. . .Trains running four to six hours late at some points. And two miles out of Waukegan, Illinois, a fishing boat with three men aboard is locked in the ice of Lake Michigan. Five army, navy and civilian planes dropped food to the stranded fishermen today.

Grain Situation

President Truman has taken unusual action in an effort to get distillers to cut down on the use of grain.

He has asked them not to increase their use of grain when the government's power to control grain runs out at midnight tonight.

The President said, "In order to relieve hunger in food deficit areas, it is necessary for the United States to export larger quantities of grain."

Last Thursday, the President asked Congress to extend the government's power to limit use of grain to distillers. The Senate had agreed. But the House Banking committee refused to act on the proposal.

Tax Outlook

The Democrats in the House of Representatives may have a solution to their big dilemma over taxes.

House Democratic leaders have agreed on an income tax reduction bill to be offered as a substitute for the Republican tax cut measure—the Knutson bill.

The Democrats have been stumped for a way to keep some members of the party from voting for the Knutson bill. So they will offer their alternative just before the House votes Monday on the Republican measure.

The Democratic substitue does not include President Truman's proposal, to cut everybody's taxes 40 per cent. But it does include his recommendation for higher corporation taxes. The higher excess profits tax proposal is the chief difference in the Democratic and GOP measures. Like the Knutson bill, the Democratic substitute would increase tax exemptions and extend the so-called community property split income principle to all states. House Democratic Leader Rayburn estimates the Democratic plan would mean a loss to the government of $803,000,000 in revenue compared to $6,500,000,000 under the GOP measure.

Meat Rationing

A senate subcommittee heard two more arguments today against meat rationing.

An economist for one of the nation's biggest meat packers, H. B. Arthur of Swift and Company, said that meat prices this spring may top even the record prices in 1947. He says, however, even so, he is against rationing because it will bring back the black market. A warning against black market in meat also came from R. J. Eggert, associate editor of the American Meat Institute's marketing department.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 6B

YORK PIANO FAIR CONDITION nice tone. Original owner will sacrifice for $200.00. Call L. E. Hoenig, Jr. at Colonial Press, Inc., or see at home across from Neville Bros. Service Station, Carrboro, N. C. Will deliver.

MERCURY BICYCLE 13 WEEKS OLD, complete with all accessories except a squirrel's tail. Can be seen at 140 Eagley Dr. or Johnson's Furniture Co. $47.50. (1-1751-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6bb

1938 FORD, TUDOR SEDAN, RADIO—good tires. Caston Motor Company P-3896. (ch 1x1)

HELP WANTED 8

STENOGRAPHER FOR SEVERAL month's work. Part or full-time. College graduate preferred. Apply Room 104 Alumni Monday or Tuesday (except 10-11 am). (1-1752-1)

LOST 12

LOST IN DITCH NEAR WATER tower—glasses in tan case. Finder please contact McNairy, 112 Saunders. (1-1699-1)

PAIR OF GLASSES WITH PLASTIC rims in leather case, Jan. 16. Write Thomas R. Allen, Box 2605, Greensboro, N. C. (1-C1693-1)

GABARDINE TOPCOAT TAKEN BY mistake in the Carolina Theatre or elsewhere. I have coat of other person. The coat I have does not fit. If finder of my coat will please call F-3661 after 6 P. M. and ask for Roy Bradford. I will gladly exchange with him. (1-1700-2)

NOTICE 14

WILL WILSON YARBOROUGH please bring the Yack sports pictures to the office at the earliest convenient time. (1-2000-1)

WANTED TO RENT 24B

REASONABLY PRICED ROOM IN nice home by senior who will graduate in March. Must vacate present quarters. References furnished. Contact Senior, c o DAILY TAR HEEL. (1-1695-1mg)

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

Anti-UMT Group Chooses Leaders

Garry Fullerton and Hubert Marshall were chosen to be chairmen and vice-chairmen respectively of a campus-wide anti-universal military training committee Thursday afternoon, at an organizational meeting of this group in Graham Memorial. The organizational committee agreed to choose an officer to preform the secretary-treasurer functions at a later date.

Delegates at the meet which was sponsored by the anti-UMT committee of the Chapel Hill American Veterans Committee, proposed that a publicity table be set up in the Y building to distribute material on the issue, and that every effort be made to build up interest in the coming speech on this subject to be given at the University by Brig. Gen. Holdridge on February 14. Spokesmen at the session pointed out that the principal aim to be worked for by the group, was to give information on the military training proposals to the student body and urge everyone in opposition to inform his Congressmen of his sentiments.

Chairman Fullerton called another meeting of the committee for next Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Grail room of Graham Memorial.

CPU to Discuss U. S. Militarists

The influence of military men in the United States government will be discussed by the Carolina Political Union this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock in the Grail room of Graham Memorial.

The topic, to be presented by Union member Jake Wicker will not include a discussion of Universal military training, since this is the scheduled topic for next week's discussion, proceeding Norman Thomas's February 10 speech here on that subject.

All discussions of the Union are open to the campus. They are in the form of a roundtable-panel-forum and no stands on the topic are taken by Union membership as a whole.

Chairman Bill Kemp urged complete membership attendance tonight as the CPU's part in the proposed speaker's bureau for the campus is to be taken up in a business meeting following the discussion.

–PUBLIC–

(Continued from page 1)

According to Mr. Clyde Erbanks, local amateur weatherman, the cold spell is the worst and the longest he remembers in Chapel Hill for many years.

"In the old days we had some storms that topped this one, though," he said. "Back in 1899 we had nearly two and a half feet of snow. It piled up to three feet in some places."

United Press reports that Craven county schools have closed, and that mail service has been interrupted at Sanford, while telephone companies over the state have asked their customers to refrain from making anything but emergency calls.

–Dolphins–

(Continued from page 3)

(NC), Pritchard (NC), Maggard (VMI). 24.6.

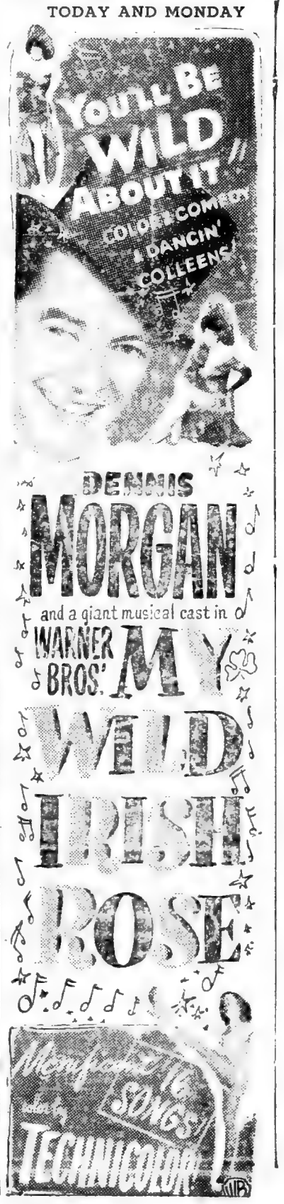
Diving—Erle (NC), J. Whichard (NC), Martin (VMI). 94.2.

100-yard freestyle—Maggard (VMI), Stephens (VMI), Hutton (UNC). 57.2.

150-yard backstroke—Sper (NC), Fleming (VMI), Pierce (VMI). 1:41.3.

200-yard breaststroke—Cook (NC), Parks (VMI), Bartlett (NC). 2:39.5.

440-yard freestyle—Morrow (NC), Fleming (VMI), Denton (VMI). 5:19.6. (Southern Conference record. Old record, 5:21:6, set by Stengela, VMI, 1941).



400-yard relay—NC (Drew, Mericka, Greenbaum, Osborne), 3:43.7.

VILLAGE
TODAY
Humphrey Bogart
Walter Huston
IN
"Treasure of The Sierra Madre"
MONDAY

with KIRK DOUGLAS · RHONDA FLEMING · RICHARD WEBB

CAROLINA
TODAY AND MONDAY

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

Ham What Am—With Eggs—At HARRY'S

NEW YORK LUMBER DEALER and lawyer, Isadore Ginsberg, weiging 301 pounds, is shown as he testified before the Joint Congressional Housing Committee in Washington. He escaped a threatened contempt citation when he turned over to the committee a complete list of the 98 dealers who had sold him scarce gypsum lath. (International Soundphoto)

–Murals–

(Continued from page 3)

LEAGUE 2

Oakwood Drive	3	0
Miller Hall	3	0
Everett 2	3	0
Field House	2	1
Emanons	2	1
BVP 1	1	2
Old East	1	2
Coons	0	3
Lewis 1	0	3
Aycock 2	0	3

LEAGUE 3

Grads	3	0
Geology Dept	3	0
AVC	2	1
Old West	2	1
Steele	2	1
Comets	2	1
Lewis 2	1	2
BVP 2	0	3
Graham 1	0	3
Wesley Rockets	0	3

LEAGUE 4

[illegible]ers	3	0
Fireballs	2	1
Ruffin 1	2	1
Stacy	2	1
Mangum	1	2
Med School	1	2
Sky Scrapers
Emerson
Alexander 2
Hut 25

LEAGUE 5

Nash
Mud Dobbers
Whitehead 2
Aycock 1
Independent
Underdogs
Hut 8
Law School
Black Phantoms
Ruffin 2

–Write Away–

(Continued from page 2

purchase. And another thing: even though we fail to get copies how come one can see literally (Quote) "hundreds of 'em" (Unquote) lying around the throughrooms of the coed dorms? That all they do—just lie there—very few people bother to read them.

But please, if you won't deliver one to my door, will you keep a copy for me in the office every day?

Fred Ross Burgess

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

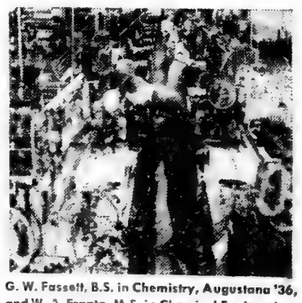
QUALITY FURNISHINGS
at
E. A. Brown Furniture Co.
Next to City Hall
Phone 6586

DU PONT Digest
For Students of Science and Engineering

Weaving of nylon yarn required the development of special sizing material

Problem solved by Du Pont men with many types of training

Each new product that is created in the laboratory seems to bring with it a new set of problems to challenge the ingenuity of the scientist. An outstanding instance of this is nylon. To make practicable the weaving of nylon into textiles, it was necessary to develop an entirely new slasher sizing material—a coating to make the filaments adhere to one another, protect the yarn from abrasion and keep it clean. Sizes used on other fibers proved unsatisfactory on nylon, because of its unique chemical composition.



Five candidates were exhaustively tested by Du Pont men. Best by far proved to be polymethacrylic acid (PMA), $[CH_2=C(C_4H_9)COOH]_x$, possibly because its acidic nature is favorable to hydrogen bonding with the polyamide structure of nylon.

Many technical problems involved

(1) After weaving, sizing has to be removed by water. PMA dissolves in water readily up to 10% at room temperatures, but precipitates between 70-80° C. A way had to be found to prevent precipitation at the normal scouring temperature of 100° C.

(2) PMA sets to a brittle, glassy material on fibers, giving a harsh wrap. Suitable plasticizers such as sulfonated vegetable and mineral oils, glycols and other polyhydric alcohols had to be found to correct this condition and permit stretching and flexing of the yarn without film impairment.

(3) Good dispersing agents were necessary so that the powdered PMA would not agglomerate as it dissolved in the sizing bath.

G. W. Fassett, B.S. in Chemistry, Augustana '36, and W. A. Franta, M.S. in Chemical Engineering, North Dakota '34, inspect woven fabric made from PMA sized nylon warp in Du Pont Experimental Weaving Laboratory.

(4) Optimum concentrations of PMA and the various plasticizers had to be determined, and application temperatures worked out for the different types of fabrics (satins, twills, taffetas, etc.) to be sized.

The basic reactions involved in making methacrylic acid monomer are straightforward:

$(CH_3)_2CO + HCN \longrightarrow (CH_3)_2C(OH)CN$
(acetone) (acetone cyanohydrin)

$(CH_3)_2C(OH)CN + H_2O, H_2SO_4 \longrightarrow H_2C=C(CH_3)COOH$
(methacrylic acid mon...)

But several technical difficulties in the manufacture of the polymer had to be overcome:

(1) The distillation of the monomer has to be controlled carefully to keep it from polymerizing in the still head.

(2) The monomer must be obtained free of any color-forming impurities that might cause permanent discoloration of the fabric by the final polymer solution.

(3) Polymerization of the monomer must be carefully regulated to get reproducible results and constant molecular weight. This is important because the molecular weight of the PMA determines the viscosity of the size.

(4) Drying the polymer presented unusual difficulties. A special study was made to find an economical drying process that would give a uniform, finely divided product adapted to rapid solution.

Credit for the development of PMA textile sizing, is shared by Du Pont men with many types of training—chemists, physicists, chemical engineers and textile experts, as well as the technical service men who worked in close cooperation with leading textile manufacturers during commercial trials.

Questions College Men ask about working with Du Pont

Where would my job be?

Openings for technical graduates may exist in any one of the 38 Du Pont research laboratories or 85 manufacturing plants. Every effort is made to place men in positions for which they are best suited and in the section of the country which they prefer. Write for booklet, "The Du Pont Company and the College Graduate," 2521-B Nemours Building, Wilmington 98, Delaware.

J. M. Griffing, Ph.D. (Organic), Columbia '45, and A. Descheemaeker, B.S. in Chemical Engineering, Lehigh '41, inspect PMA size solution and check nylon warp at head end of a slasher. In slasher sizing, entire warp is coated rather than a single thread.

DU PONT
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
BETTER THINGS FOR BETTER LIVING ...THROUGH CHEMISTRY

More facts about Du Pont—Listen to "Cavalcade of America," Mondays, 8 P.M., EST on NBC

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Increasing cloudiness; no temperature change

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
Two-court Farce
Is Shaw a Communist?
Reception for Dr. Frank

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 90

Art Melton Confirms Candidacy For Daily Tar Heel Editorship

Thurman Williams Takes Over Chairmanship Of University Party

Carolina Battles State For Conference Leadership In Raleigh Tonight

TOM SCOTT

Wolfpack Favored To Hand Phantoms Initial Loop Loss

By Bob Goldwater

The first of two battles to decide who's the top team in the Greater University of North Carolina, the Old North State itself, and the whole Southern conference, hogs the cage limelight in the South this evening when Carolina and N. C. State, both unbeaten in loop competition, clash in Raleigh's Memorial auditorium in an 8 o'clock contest.

Currently topping the circuit with a 7-0 mark, the White Phantoms must emerge on the long end of the score if they are to retain their perch. Also undefeated in the conference but with two less victories, the Wolfpack cagers nevertheless boast a better overall average for the season. Both outfits have suffered two defeats, but State has chalked up three more entries in the win column, 18 to 15.

State Favored

Despite Wolfpack Coach Everett Case's statements to the contrary, the West Raleigh lads have been installed as "slightly more than slight" favorites to teach the Chapel Hill crew a lesson in how to play the fast-breaking, attacking brand of basketball. State is currently the

(See DEFENSE, Page 3)

EVERETT CASE

Fayetteville Senior On Steering Group For Over One Year

By Herb Nachman

Thurman Williams, rising senior from Fayetteville, has taken over the chairmanship of the University party following the resignation of former chairman Miles Smith two weeks ago, party officials announced yesterday.

Williams, a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, has been a representative to the UP steering committee for over a year.

Entering the University in 1943, Williams was called into the service and returned in the fall of 1946 after serving two and one half years in the infantry.

Commerce Major

He served as a member of the Student Legislature last summer and last fall. His other activities include membership in the Minotaurs and DKE representative to the German Club. He is a commerce major.

Smith, who succeeded Alex "Zero" Davis to the party chairmanship last September, is present speaker pro-tem of the Legislature. He stated his purpose in resigning as necessary to provide more time to devote to his activities in the Legislature.

In resigning from the chairmanship of the party, Smith presents a record of varied experience in student government.

Navy Veteran

After serving in the Navy as an enlisted man for over a year, he entered the University as an NROTC student and a commerce major.

He was elected secretary-treasurer of last year's sophomore class and was chosen to the Legislature in the spring of last year.

Daniels Road, Hut 7 Win Theater Tickets

Although final tabulations from women's dormitories and sorority houses have not been made, total contributions to the campuswide March of Dimes canvass have reached $777.97, Chairman Barron Mills announced yesterday.

A few fraternities and men's dormitories have not yet made a report, Mills added, but a complete tabulation will be available at a later date.

Two winning districts were announced yesterday in a contests sponsored by E. Carrington Smith, manager of the Carolina theater and chairman of the Orange county drive. Smith is awarding prizes of theater tickets to the residents of districts about the campus which contribute the highest amounts on a percentage basis.

Winners in the Quonset Hut district are the residents of Quonset Hut No. 7, who contributed $16. The students who live in hut No. 7 will be eligible for a free movie this evening at the Carolina theater—at the 7 o'clock movie—by announcing to the cashier that they are winning residents and signing their names. Winners in the Victory Village district are the residents of Daniels Road who contributed the sum of $35.16, almost half of the total village contribution which reached $71.76. Residents of Daniels Road will also be eligible for the free theater pass today.

Candidate Gives Qualifications, Platform Planks

By Chuck Hauser

Art Melton, the never-say-die publications politician, is going to run again.

The hefty photographer from Marion confirmed his candidacy yesterday in a statement made in the DTH office. It was first revealed that he intended to run in the editorial page column Carolina Carousel, but Melton's only comment was "No comment" at that time.

The candidate is a two-time loser, once for the DTH editorship last spring and this fall for the editorship of the Yackety Yack. He lists his qualifications for the office as follows: (1) Lots of nerve, lots of ambition; (2) A little work on a lot of daily newspapers; (3) Fired from the DTH staff; (4) Can touch type; (5) Photoprapher (burly) of sorts.

Melton's plans are at present, he says, (1) To run; (2) To keep running; (3) To poll over 200 votes to make Bob Goldwater and Bill Carmichael lose their bet that he won't poll that many; and (4) To worry about how to run the Daily Tar Heel after he is elected.

Roland "Foo" Giduz, who has been appointed campaign manager, released Melton's platform yesterday afternoon. Composed of 100 planks, the document's first 95 are secret, according to Melton, but the others are (96) Put out a poorer DTH (if possible) than

(See MELTON, Page 4)

ART MELTON

Senate to Elect Handbook Editor

Barbara Cashion, Speaker of the Coed Senate, announced that the editor of the Women's Handbook is to be elected by the Senate at its next meeting.

All coeds who are interested in the position should submit a letter of application not later than Friday, February 6, to Barbara Cashion in 303 Alderman. The letter should give an account of previous publications experience, especially editorial.

The Handbook, which is sent to new coeds during the summer previous to their entrance to Carolina is to help introduce them to the way of campus life at Carolina and is the only publication containing social rules and regulations. In addition to presenting the rules to new students, the Handbook will contain a historical sketch of the University.

Phi To Meet

Members of the Phi assembly will debate the question of sending 40,000 United States troops to Palestine under United Nations control tonight at 7:30 in the Phi hall.

Proponents of the bill say that an American force in Palestine would do much to end the present strife between Jewish and Arab factions. Opponents of the bill, however, maintain that the cost of establishing and supporting such a force is prohibitive and also object to continued interference in the Holy Land by outside forces.

UVA to Entertain Pi Phi Sorority

Pi Phi sorority will be the guests of the University Veterans association tonight at their regular open house beginning at 8:30.

A informal discussion of the Universal Military Training and a discussion of the drinking problem at the veteran's club house will be held at the business meeting at 7:30, President Johny Clampitt announced yesterday.

The escort committee will meet the Pi Phi's at the club at 8:15. The business meeting is planned so that the participants will be finished by open house time.

CAMPUS PARTY

The Campus party will meet this evening in Roland Parker no. 3 on the second floor of Graham memorial.

All members are urged to attend.

Time Magazine Cites UNC Psychologist Who Asked Students to Sleep in Classes

By Charlie Gibson

A University professor who asked his students to co-operate and sleep through his classes had his usual ideas discussed in the latest issue of Time magazine.

Psychologist Charles R. Elliott, Time says, has been working here on campus with a cerebrograph on hypnopaedia. Before a Senate investigating committee suspects that two such impressive words constitute a communistic front, the magazine article goes on to explain the whole Morphean nightmare. "Hypnopaedia", is seems, was conceived by novelist Aldous Huxley in his Brave New World so that lessons could be learned through sleep-teaching. A cerebrograph is the invention of one Max Sherover and is described as "a combination record-player, electric clock, and pillow microphone."

Student Guinea Pigs

Elliott, as preparation for a Master's thesis at the University, found 40 volunteer student guinea pigs with perfect hearing, a love for sleep, and no snoring tendencies. In a Duke hospial laboratory he rigged up a brain machine with electrodes and straps remininscent of electric chairs to tell when his subjects were actually asleep and not just in the haze of typical classroom boredom.

He left twenty students sleeping in peace. While the ther 20 napped, a record repeated a pre-arranged word ist 30 times at intervals. Once all 40 awakened and listened to the same list, those who had heard it in their sleep quickly learned it by heart while those who had never heard it took much longer.

Elliott believes that sleep-teaching is similar to reteaching something a person has temporarily forgotten. He is not as definite about his opinion, though, as Time would have one believe. The magazine article says that Elliott along with inventor Sherover thinks the cerebrograph can be used to teach multiplication tables, chemical formulas, Morse code, logarithms, and vocabularies.

The local psychologist is not that certa in of the success of hypnopaedia until here is further research. After all, his experiment was conducted with only the fallowing 15 three-letter words: "boy, egg, say, art, run, not, sir, leg, bag, row, ice, out, age, box, and

(See TIME, Page 4)

Negro Registers

Fayetteville, Arkansas, Feb. 2—(UP)—A Texarkana Negro, Silas Hunt, registered today in the University of Arkansas Law school. He began the process after a conference behind locked doors with Dr. Robert Leflar, dean of the Law school.

University officials decided last week to admit Negroes as graduate students, but would not relax their race-ban on undergraduate students.

Hunt was denied admission to the University in 1946.

One other Negro who accompanied Hunt to the campus said he had intended to enroll but changed his mind after talking with Dean Leflar.

University, Chapel Hill Work To Free Community From Snow

By Raney Stanford

University and Chapel Hill maintenance workers moved into the third day yesterday of their struggle to free the community from its ice and snow blanket. Though handicapped by the lack of adequate labor and proper equipment, J. S. Bennett, University building supervisor, and G. W. Ray, town manager, both expressed the opinion that the traffic conditions were shaping up nicely considering the weather of the past week-end.

Bennett said many of his labor force live out in the country and have been unable to come to work since the ice began ti fall.

"Things like this happen so seldom it wouldn't be economical for the University to stock these snow-removal vehicles," Bennett said.

The University autrorities are using trucks and tractors to get rid of the troublesome white substance, and the city officials are laboring with one Ford truck equipped with a snow blade. Both outfits are relying heavily on dependable shovels and strong backs.

Work on Sunday

University crews were out all Sunday clearing walks in time for Monday's classes and early yesterday they spread sand on the steps of all the campus buildings. Bennett and Ray agreed that the aid of a broght afternoon sun helped their crews Sunday no little bit.

The Chapel Hill street cleaners worked Saturday evening and all day Sunday clearing a driving path down the city's boulevards.

"We were mainly trying to clear a lane down the streets," Ray explained. "So anyone who wanted to drive could shovel his way to the clear. There is still much snow and ice on the town's walks."

Delay Dorms

The University building supervisor pointed out one result of the snow storm was to help deplay even further the long-awaited new dormitories on Raleigh street.

"We hoped to have one of these ready for use by March," Bennett said, "but the cold weather, holding up the plastering and painting, have combined with a material shortage to uostpone the readiness date until Jun."

Bennett added there has been some trouble with frozen pipes in Victory Village, and with getting enough heating oil for the quonset huts, but concluded:

"On the whole, things have gone pretty well."

Henry P. Brandis Returns From Indonesia

B Donald MacDonald

The announced objective of the so-called Renville truce is to make of the island of Indonesia and independent nation to be called the United States of Indonesia," said Professor Henry P. Brandis, Jr., yesterday.

Brandis, who worked in an advisory capacity to members of the Good Offices Commission of the United Nations, returned to Chapel Hill Saturday night from Batavia, Java, preceding the expected return of Dr. Frank P. Graham.

A member of the law school faculty, Brandis left Java on the morning of January 17 when the Renville truce between the Dutch and Indonesian Republicans was endorsed aboard the U. S. Navy transport, Renville, at anchor in Batavia harbor.

Commenting on the move which will attempt to set up a new nation, built on the American plan, Brandis said that negitiations between the Dutch and Indonesians regarding freedom of the Indonesian pople point toward "a basis for final political agreement.'

However, he continued, the truce is not a final settlement. He said that th committee still has representatives there, with several members of the State department still in Batavia.

"In substance," he said, "the Renville truce is a declaration of agreement on 12 basic points and on six supplementary principles. The most important of these principles is that within not less than six months nor more than one year after the political agreement, there will be plebesites to determine whether the various areas of Java, Sumatra and Madoera will be a part of the Republic or some other state in the United States of Indonesia."

The framework of the agreement, Brandis continued, is an Indoniesian Fedration, the United States of Indonesia, which will cooperate with the Kingdom of the Netherlands in joint activities, "such as national defense, and control of high policy finance."

According to United Press reports the 12 points are of a more general nature, destined to provide for independence, cooperation, and the establishment of a democratic Indonesian state with sovereign rights. The armed forces are to be withdrawn gradually, and the United Nations is to continually follow the situation.

Brandis came back from Indonesia by way of Europe, landing in New York, then coming to Washington bfore arriving in Chapel Hill. Informed sources say that Dr Graham is now in New York but is expected to report to the State department. He will then return to Lake Success, before coming home, where the Commission members will make a report to the Security council. "It is very clear," Brandis concluded, "that Dr. Graham has done a magnificent job."

HENRY BRANDIS

Dr Graham Lands in New York City

Dr. Frank Graham landed in New York City early Sunday morning, a few hours ahead of his original schedule, and will probably return to Chapel Hill sometime late this week.

He's looking forword to getting back," W. D. Carmichael, the controller of the University, said after a long-distance telephone conversation with the school's president. Carmichael explained that Dr. Graham will go from New York down to Washington to report to the State department, and then back to the United Nations assembly at Lake Success, N. Y., to report with the other two international peacemakers on their Indonesia-Netherlands negotiations.

Mrs. Graham said her husband told her he was "well and feeling fine" when he telephoned her yesterday morning.

"Even though he's been flying day and night since he left Java," she added.

A group of students of Oklahoma University are shown in the postoffice at Norman, Okla., as they prepared to mail a package to President Truman containing the ashes of a copy of the 14th Amendment of the Constitution. They burned the amendment, which guarantees civil rights, in protest against the University's ban on negro students. Holding the package aloft is Jody Casey, a professor's daughter. (International)

The Farce Of The Two Courts

There is no need for the Student Council or its appellate power!

When the Student Constitution went into effect it established a new court, supposedly higher than the Men's or Women's Councils, but little good has come from that body since its conception. Its creators had hoped that the new system would help protect the accused against unjust treatment; it has only promoted dissention between the court systems. Several reversals of decisions have resulted in utter chaos and almost open warfare between the two courts. How can either court work with maximum efficiency under this condition.

The Student Constitution emphatically designates "final jurisdction" to the Student Council. "Final jurisdiction" is a misnomer; every student dissatisfied with the decision of the student courts is given the privilege of appealing to the faculty—a right which is a portion of the trustee regulations.

When you get right down to examining the judicial system of student government the Men's and Women's Councils, with the aid of Student Legislature, are capable of taking care of all types of cases. There is no actual need of having two courts—neither of which has the greater power, jurisdiction, or wisdom. How could there be a superiority in judgement if their qualifications for office are practically identical.

There are no advantages of a complicated system of courts. In addition to its appellate powers the Student Council has been endowed with the task of declaring the constitutionality of the Student Legislature's works. This task could just as easily be given to the Men's and Women's Councils. A joint session of the two councils (Men's and Women's) would be just as effective. The only valid argument offered by the supporters of the Student Council at the present time is: "Well, put Joe on the Student Council— after all he was in the Student Legislature when the Constitution was drawn up."

Give us another year and there won't be any of these men or women around who have this qualification over another student in the Men's or Women's Councils.

The present judicial setup is a farce. It is lacking in results and is a promoter of ill-feeling within student government. The spring election would be an opportune time to revise our court system.

Questionaires circulated among members of a foreign language class asking why they believed in studying a foreign language polled the following answers: enjoyment of the language, for professional advancement, improvement of their command of the English language, the broadening of their general outlook and the need for reading works in the original language.

Lack of sleep, "sloppy Joe" shoes, bad posture and coke and coffee diets were listed as common health problems of college women by Dr. Evelyn Rude, student infirmary physician, in a recent speech at Dallas before the American Student Health Association of the Southwest.

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

"I always said these simple, functional designs would get popular, Mister!"

World Federalist Column

Our Policy: To Abolish Policy

The following editorial is reprinted from 'The Wild Flag' by E. B. White (Houghton Mifflin); copyright by E. B. White, 1944; first published in 'The New Yorker'.

A voice from our radio buttonholed us the other evening and issued a sharp warning. Russia, said the voice, is obviously out for all she can get . . .If we know what's good for us, we will accept the challenge end enter the race. What we need is a clear, well-defined foregin policy based on self-interest.

This voice, so worldly wise, so shrewd, has enocuraged us to formulate just such a foreign policy for the United States. We are a believer is self-interest. In order, however, that our suggested policy be clear and carefully defined, we shall have to pause for a moment to inquire into the meaning and nature of policy itself.

Policy is a system of conduct shaped by expediencey. It is supported by diplomacy and it takes for granted independence of action. Because of its peculiar nature, policy is a luxury which the world can no longer afford, although the world realizes this only dimly and may not perceive it sharply for many years to come. Walter Lippmann has written a book on the subject of foreign policy, defining it as the 'shield of the republic'—an accurate term, the shield being a traditional device in war and war being the clash of two or more policies. It is impossible to envision an orderly world in which policy remains the accepted instrument of government and in which sixty or seventy nations arrive independently at a clear, well-defined foreign policy based on self-interest. such a political arrangement is essentially chaotic, and will remain so, in our opinion. It is as though eighteen ball players went out on a diamond, each having evolved his own policy regarding the bat, the ball, the glove, and the bases. One player's policy is to run directly from first to third without bothering with second. Another secretly resolves to conceal a bat in his shirt and rap the pitcher over the head with it. Another decides to keep tossing the ball up in the air and catching it, in solitary glee. It doesn't make for an orderly ball game, yet it is the system by which nations live. . .

Where written law governs people's actions (that is, in the city, in the state, in the nation), the individual does not enjoy the privilege of policy. He enjoys, enstead, the protection of codified morality and the dull, pleasant society of lawyers and cops. Yet this individual, who has himself long since surrendered the privilege of policy, still insists that his country shall exercise it. . .The question the war has raised, higher than a jet plane, is whether nations can continue to exist by policy.

In the absence of constitutional world law, in the absence of government on a planetary level, a nation has no alternative but to find a policy and pursue it. Mr. Lippmann, in his book, suggests that our foregin policy be to cultivate the right people—hich is as flimsy a program for a nation as for an individual. Such a foreign policy is not only a shield of the republic, it is practically an admission that the republic will again have to use the shield in battle. Therefore, we shall now suggest a somewhat more dificult policy. To us it seems clear and well defined. . .We propose that it shall be the policy of the United States to bring an end to the use of policy. No other policy will lead us toward peace. No other makes any sense in the long run. No other is in our self-interest, no matter how advantageous to us it may appear to be.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc. 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr.

SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

'WS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser. 'GHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson. 'GHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette.

SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears. ASST. BUS. MGR.: Mary W. Sledge. ADVERTISING MGR.: Eaton Holden.

SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison. EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan, Earl Hoffner.

REPORTERS: Raney Stanford, John Stump, Jim Spence, Paul Rothman, Sally Woodhull, Donald McDonald, Herbert Nachman, Jr., George Roberts, Bob Rolnik, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Jean Baskerville, Nancy Norman George Drew, Merrily Brooks, Nina Davis, Demont Roseman, Ruth Evans, Ashley Branch, Gordon Huffines, Elaine Patton, Elinor Woltz, Clark Stallworth.

PORTS WRITERS: Bill Kellam, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Larry Fox, Bill Gallagher, Virginia Forward.

'USINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr.

Carolina Carousel

Plans Set For Reception

By R. Foo Giduz

Thanks to Graham Memorial and Pres. Tom Eller, plans are being set to see that Dr. Frank knows the students are glad to have him back. . .At students' request GM agreed to hold an open house for the President, (with his consent), in the main lounge of the student union on the first Sunday evening after his return . . . And student government leaders are arranging a convocation in Memorial hall for the soonest date possible. . .Of course one doesn't expect to welcome Dr. Frank as they would a returning football team, but a fitting tribute is in order.

Here's the hope that this will be a true and permanent homecoming. . .As the Greensboro News summarized, in editorially reviewing the current state situation with regard to Dr. Frank, ". . . While Frank Graham's friends can be counted upon to stay in there pitching, they know that the going will be much easier if the captain of their team is in the lineup."

Prof. Henry Brandis who was with Dr. Graham in Java, beat him home, ariving in Chapel Hill Saturday night . . . And what a royal welcome he got!—It seems his wife expected him to arrive in Raleigh on the train, went over there to meet him Saturday. . . Snows set in and she had to stay overnight at the Sir Walter. . . Meantime hubby Henry arrived in Greensboro instead, and took a cab to Chapel Hill. He found no candle in the window, his home was dark, and he had no idea where the family was. . .They finally got together via telephone, but Mrs. B. reportedly couldn't get back from Raleigh even on Sunday. . .Well-wishing Tar Heels trust they're happily united by now.

Groundhog day went unnoticed for the most port. (The mighty head through the snow!). . .Cammole no doubt couldn't get his pus characters seemed happy for the warm weather, but suspiciously sorry about the shadowy foreboding of six weeks more winter, CH style. . .(God fabbid!). . .Upper-quadders built a really "zoftic" snow-Venus in front of Manly . . .Hundreds of students admiringly observed the work of art: and DTH even received a photo of her. . .Editors decided she was just too-too "zoftic" for public eyes, so Venus now reposes amidst the femme-foto art gallery on Man. Ed. Joyner Triply's news room wall. . .

All hail and greetings to journalism school's cheery chief, "Skipper" Coffin; sixty-two years young today. . .And many more of 'em, Skipper!. . .T.S. cards have followed Dogfaces even unto the Tar Heels campus. . .We are telling our troubles to a helpless frosh the other day when the H. F. ho-hummedly pulls out the following printed card (edged in black!) and hands it to us: "Your story is the sadest I have ever heard and has touched me deeply. Your troubles are termendous and your problems unparalled. Please accept this token of my sincere sympathy; may it bring relief from your woes." —And with that, the little boy pulled his trouble-telling head back into his overcoat and slowly, silently, and sufficiently squelchedly shuffled away!

Problems Explained

Concerning Circulation

To All DTH Subscribers:

This office has been deluged with complaints concerning circulation. Some have been sympathetic; others, helpful; a few, such as the individual whose piece appeared in Write Away Sunday, have been sarcastic, vindictive, disparaging.

At the outset, let it be said that every possible effort has been made and is being made to assure complete, efficient circulation. This, of course, depends not only upon the competent, efficient circulation staff of six carriers and a complaint-receiving secretary, but also upon the intelligent co-operation of subscribers. This can be given in two ways. (1) by filling out an address card, and (2) by promptly directing complaints to the circulation department.

Since the beginning of this quarter, circulation has been admittedly poor. This has been due to two factors: (1) the weather, an obstacle which anyone who has ever carried papers can fully appreciate; and (2) due to a combination of circumstances the papers are delivered to the circulation department late much of the time.

Since this is a Student Activities project, only student labor is used. This is as it should be. The only drawback is that when the papers do arrive later than the appointed hour, these student-carriers who must meet early classes, can not do justice to the routes. In an effort to reach the maximum number of students in the minimum of time that remains before classes. these men give at-the-entrance service to men's dorms rather than door-to-door. Thus a much larger segment of the student body is served, even though individuals like Sunday's complainant must wait until he gets downstairs to peruse his sheet.

With weather and printshop conditions being what they are, no fair-minded individual can criticize the honest effort that is being made to distribute the DTH as efficiently as possible.

Enough papers are put in each of the dorms for residents thereof. Inequities occur when individuals take "some for the boys on the third" and when supercilious coeds refuse to take the trouble to read what's going on. Only the allotted number is placed in their dorms. If they don't read them, that's not an affair of the circulation staff.

When less treacherous footing appears for the carriers, and the

(See CIRCULATION, Page 4)

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Bernard Shaw Called Communist

By Drew Pearson

Washington.—Bernard Shaw, famed 91-year-old Irish wit and playwright, has written an enteresting letter endorsing Henry Wallace.

However, if Wallace is not elected, Shaw says, he would prefer a Republican "because a Republican may steal a horse, where a Democrat dare not look over the hedge."

Shaw describes himself as "a Communist though not a member of the so-called Communist Party," which according to friends means that Shaw believes in theori- believes in theories of community property, etc., but not the terroristic methods used by the Communists to put these principles into force.

Shaw's letter, written to Miss Fanny Holtzman, New York attorney, follows:

"14th January 1948

My Dear Fanny,

I am not a Cobdenist Liberal, but the very opposite, a Communist, though not a member of the so-called Communist Party. On the whole, if an up-to-date New Deal European minded candidate like Wallace is defeated, I should prefer a Republican President because a Republican may steal a horse where a Democrat dare not look over the hedge; and both Republicans and Democrats must go whither events drive them in spite of their party shibboleths.

Wallace has not taken the field too early. He should have done so months ago, because it is by his public meetings that he is gathering votes; and he also, like me, need not care a snap of his finger- party he dislodges.

You write (31st December as if you were a Liberal, and believe that Cobdenist are more progressive than Fascist Troy Democrats. The case is exactly the reverse. Cobdenist Free Trade and laisser-faire are as dead as a doornail. Fascist (capture of the Socialist program by the Capitalist leaders has completely ousted Liberalism; and Socialist-democracy is on the march working its own way and driving all Capitalist parties in spite of their inertia.

Ponder this well, Fanny before you meddle in politics, especially my politics. I know what I am writing about.

G. Bernard Shaw

Note—A "Cobdenist" refers to followers of Richard Cobden, 19th century British Liberal who distrusted government intervention in trade industry but believed in peoples' movement for peace.

This Six to One Ratio

Men Are Intellectual, Lazy

By Helen Highwater

We are a little tired of hearing about the six to one ratio. To begin with, there isn't a six to one ratio. A third of the men on this campus are eliminated because they are so intellectual that in five minutes conversation they have spouted profusely about Hume's Empiricism, the Schizophremic Schism and have completely buried you in philosophical swarms. It doesn't stop there though it takes you through all the arts and sciences and it lasts for hours. All of this is very fine but there is no point in a woman sitting opposite them. A man can serve the purpose of absorbing thosé pearls of wisdom just as easily and satisfactorily as a woman. All they need or want is a listening ear—any listening ear.

Another third of the male population is eliminated because they do not care to date "Carolina Coeds." They much prefer to go home every week end and see the sweet and wholesome little girls who are staying home with Mama and learning to knit and sew. They know the Carolina Coed is too wild, goes to too many parties, is a sot and worse than all she is so independent! These gents would not be seen with a Carolina Coed. It would ruin their reputation.

That leaves a third of the men in circulation. So they take out their defeatist attitude and place it on their shoulder. There is a six to one ratio. A fellow doesn't stand a chance. He'll just stay home and study this week end. But at 7:30 Saturday night he begins to feel lonely and dials the number. The coed who goes to the phone, has perhaps been declining every possible invitation to go out just hoping for this call. But it is too late now. Her pride it at stake so she says she's busy. Yeah, she's busy all right, busy delving into calculus or reading Shakespeare. So the angry male says "I might have known it. A fellow doesn't stand a chance with this six to one ratio."

Then there's the guy who is so comfort-loving or lazy that he can't stand to stir from his fireside and quietly yawning in your face says he'll be glad when its spring. Well, from the looks of the weather it looks that such as he are going to be frozen up for some time.

But to prove my point, I know one happy male who does not fall into the above categories. When he was invited to a party by a hopeful coed, he had to take out his date book and found he had no weekend dates open for three weeks—and all diferent gals too which just goes to show what you can do with a six to one ratio.

Campus Forum

Students Favor Mag Referendum

By Pete Gerns

The magazine issue has been a hot one on this campus for quite some time, and various means have been proposed here and there to remedy the situation. Finally, one of the student legislators arrived at the bright idea of submitting the issue to the campus and letting students express their opinion in an all-campus vote. This vote will be taken on February 17, and will have the following issues for its objective: 1) combination of Tarnation and the Carolina Magazine into one variety magazine (just what the Carolina magazine represented prior to rebirth of the humor magazine), 2) publication of a strictly-humor magazine, 3) publication of a strictly-literary magazine. 4) continuation of both magazines, and 5) no magazines at all.

We questioned 215 students on the idea to give the student body a chance to express its opinion, with the result that 208 showed to be in favor of the referendum, 3 against it, and 4 indifferent to the issue. Many students reported that they heard of a rumor that some officials of student government were determined to keep the issue from them and expressed their hope that student government would continue on a democratic basis in spite of such under-handed efforts.

"Leave it to the majority—that's our principle!" Gilbert Burnett.

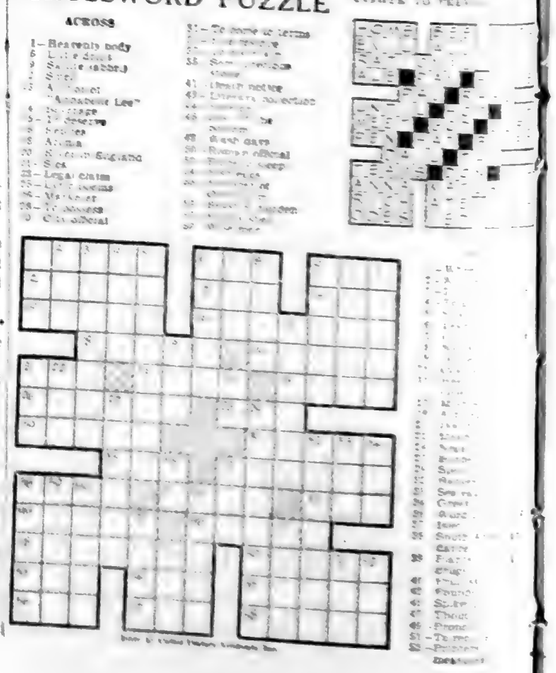
"I'm in favor of a referendum if it will improve the quality of either magazine. Nothing could hurt either publication." Paul J English.

"I believe that the will of the students should be carried out The referendum is an excellent method." E. Danziger.

Both editors are crying for material. Both may begin to have trouble getting it pretty soon. It's our money they're spending. Why not let us have a chance to say how they should spend it?" Bob Lindsay.

"Are you in favor of a student bank?" is the question for Friday. Answers can be deposited in the Forum boxes at Graham Memorial and the YMCA.

Coffee, Please



Dear Sir:

I am in favor of having hot coffee served at Lenior Hall throughout the day. Thank you. Perry Franke!

SERVICES CANCELLED

There will be ... this morning at ... tional Christian ch... were cancelled beca... bad weather condi... illness of Pastor ... Munger

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

The Sporting Picture

By Billy Carmichael III

In Dubious Battle

THE BATTLE OF THE BROTHERS—1948 version—plays its first performance of the season in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium tonight before a packed-house audience that will be out to find if it is actually true what they say about mighty State College and what they will do to poor, defenseless Carolina.

The State fans have a lot to say about the game and with the possible exception of wailing Everett Case, the Cow College cage coach, think the actual playing of the contest is a mere formality. At the West Raleigh institution basketball is next to cleanliness and the boys in those parts would rather see their Wolfpack pound the boards of some fire-proof structure than proverbially eat or sleep. State has the same outlook on basketball that most schools have on football, and since they have recruited a cage crew in the finest traditions of gridiron building, the State Collegers think they have an accomplished group of world beaters. World that is, with the exception of West Virginia and Holy Cross that have done the miracle of "upsetting" the mighty transplanted Hoosiers this season.

So, according to records and the Raleigh rooters, the game will be another routine task for their idols with nothing the Tar Heels can possibly do, being able to loosen the lethal hold of Fate. Yet, Coach Tom Scott and his condemned lot of Tar Heel cagers have decided to go through with the game since it is scheduled, and will show up in Raleigh tonight for the tilt.

Show Them the Clipping, Sam

Their performance may even surprise some. The surprise would probably come in the form of a defense that could minimize to one extent or another the devasting power of the State offense which keeps the respective janitors on the hop trying to maintain nets on the Wolfpack baskets. Carolina has shown more defensive power this season than it has offensive and ranks in the first ten nationally in this department. The Tar Heels have one of the nation's finest individual defenses too, in the form of Norman Kohler, the private "Eye" of the basketball court, who gets the nasty job of trying to induce Dick Dickey, the star State forward who sounds like the All-American boy, to submit to a policy of drastic shot economy. It sounds like an all-night job with the presure definitely on the Tar Heel New Yorker; for in his hands may lie Carolina's big chance for a big upset. Dickey is not only the leading scorer for Cow College Academoo, but seems also to be their pace setter with the overall performance of the team usually at a level with that of Dickey.

The Stable Element

NOT THAT DICKEY is the only workhorse in the State stable. He has some shot certain running mates—Jack McComas the human threat to the sonic barrier at the other forward; pivoting Paul Horvath, who takes to the court as his All-American brother, Les, did to the Ohio State gridiron; Big Ed Bartels, an ace set-shot and backboard operative; and Leo Katkaveck, the last of the pre-war State stars, or better said, the only returnee who could make the grade in the fast-stepping competition. Katkaveck is the stabilizing influence in the whole State outfit, and keeps the fast moving Wolfpack at the right operating pace and frame of mind.

Backing the Big Five up can be found a staff of competent specialists. Two of these are Warren Cartier, a better-than-average shot-maker who played with last year's State powerhouse, and a new face, shootin' Sam Ranzino, who sounds like the fellow who used to be shot out of the cannon at Ringling Brothers. Toss in Charlie Stine, Norm Sloan, Bob Hahn and a program full of others and you have an array of talent that nears the potential power of Kentucky's current quintet that was recruited like the U. S. Navy was.

The Rumble of the Humble

TO COPE WITH ALL THIS, the Tar Heels will encourt their own galaxy of stars, not as bright, but capable of doing some big shining should the night be right. Comes the big "if"—if the Tar Heels succeeed in plugging the State Big Gun attack, and can sport one of their own, there might be some rather disillusioned young gentlemen crawling into cold sacks tomorrow night. If the Tar Heels don't have it, well, no one expected them to anyway. The astronomical calculations, plus the sports writers, plus the bookies say it will be the Wolfpack by 15-17 points or maybe worse. But they've yet to play a basketball game in the stars, on paper, or in a gambling house, so there is still margin for error. Or at least there are those who hope so.

Dolphins Open Drills For VPI Meet

Despite a week spent on over-distance work with little time devoted to sprinting, the Dolphins had little trouble disposing of VMI's impotent Cadet swimmers, their first foe from the Old Dominion on this year's schedule. Yesterday the Dolphins began preparations for their meeting with VPI in Blacksburg, Virginia, Saturday afternoon.

Also slated to see duty on Saturday are the Dolphin jayvees who'll face the Norfolk Division of William and Mary in Bowman Gray Pool. The Carolina juniors were slated to tangle with State's "B" swimmers in a preliminary to last Saturday's VMI encounter but the contest succumbed to the bad weather when the Farmers were unable to reach Chapel Hill because of the icy and snowy roads.

Jamerson spent the early portion of yesterday's practice pointing out the locals' mistakes in their 29th consecutive Southern Conference victory. Then the Dolphins went through another lengthy VPI-pointed workout.

The Carolina mermen are expetced to be at full strength for their double duty on Saturday. John Bipart's injured shoulder has responded to treatment sufficiently to allow him to be ready for action against the amphibious Gobblers. Bob Ousley, the grand old man of Carolina swimming, will probably have recovered by Saturday from the cold that sidelined him during the VMI meet along with Allison Pell, who was also forced to sit out the Cadet Craw because of a case of the sniffles.

Yesterday's Mural Results

Basketball

44	Chi Phi 1	Delta Sig	18
32	SAE 3	KA 2	25
45	Beta 1	AEPi	24
24	Phi Gam 1	Kappa Psi	17
37	Everett	Seiler Five	27
38	Cruds	Whitehead 1	31
40	Graham 2	Alexander 1	38
46	Lamba Chi	Chi Psi 3	16
55	Phi Delt 1	St Anthony	4
25	Phi Kap 3	TEP 1	9
25	Emanon	Miller Hall	23
33	Graham 1	AVC	31
32	Field House	Oakwood Drive	25
40	Everett 2	Old East	22
26	Geology Dept	Comets	15
37	Old West	Wesley	24
40	Hillers	Ruffin 1	21
28	Nash	Black Phantoms	12

Forfeits

Chi Phi	over	Zeta 4
Chi Psi 2	over	ZBT
Sig Ep 2	over	Sigma Chi 2

Handball

2 Pi Lamb		Pika 0
2 Chi Psi		Lamba Chi 1
Phi Gam 1	forfeit over	ATO 2

Second Round Badminton

Taylor, Cohen, Burmley, Granford, Billerbeck, Chanlett, Boak, Strayhorn, Betts, Pugh.

—Todays Murals—

BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 1: Nash vs. Independents; Court 2: Ruffin 2 vs. Aycock 1; Court 3: Phi Delt 3 vs. Sig Nu 1; Court 4: Zeta 3 vs. Pi Lamb 2; Court 5: ATO 1 vs. Kap Sig 2; Court 6: PiKA 1 vs. Delta Gis; Court 7: Beta 2 vs. SAE 2.

5:00—Court 1: DKE 2 vs. Kappa Psi 2; Court 2: BVP 2 vs. Grads: Court 3: Lewis 2 vs. Steele; Court 4: Stacy vs. Skyscrapers; Court 5: Mangum vs. Hut 26; Court 6: Law School vs. Mud Dobbers; Court 7: SAE 1 vs. KA 1.

7:00—Court 1: Alexander 2 vs. Emerson; Court 2: Underdogs vs. Black Phantoms; Court 3: Phi Gam 3 vs. Phi Kap 1; Court 4: ATO 2 vs. Zeta 4; Court 5 Ka 3 vs. Chi Phi 1; Court 6: Phi Delt 2 vs. Kap Sig 1; Court 7: Phi Delt Chi vs. Chi Phi 2.

8:00—Court 1: Phi Gam 2 vs. Sig Nu 3; Court 2: Phi Kap 2 vs. Zeta 1; Court 3: DKE 1 vs. TEP 2; Court 4: ATO 3 vs. PiKA 2; Court 5: Lambda Chi vs. ZBT; Court 6: Chi Phi 3 vs. Sig Ep 2; Court 7: Chi Psi 2 vs. AEPi.

HANDBALL

4:00—Kap Sig 2 vs. KA.
5:00—Sig Nu 1 vs. ATO 3.
7:00—Mangum vs. Old East.
8:00—Ruffin vs. Whitehead.

RIFLE FIRING

7:30—St. Anthony (orientation).

MONOGRAM CLUB MEETING

President Bill Pritchard of the Monogram club announced that there will be a regular meeting of the Monogram Club, Tuesday night at 7:30 in 304 Woollen.

Pritchard requests that all members attend so that discussion of important business can be held.

Defensive Minded Phantoms Oppose High Scoring Staters

(Continued from page 1)

ranking offensive team in the nation, having rolled up 1564 points in their 20 games for a 78-plus average. Moreover, the "Terrors" have run their scores into the 90's and 100's on several occasions, even sported a three-consecutive-game average of 98 at one stage of the season.

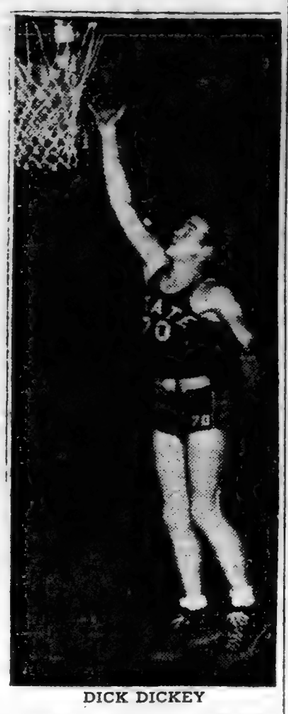
Despite all this apparent power, Case, in a display of pessimism, gives his team not much more than "a 50-50 chance of winning." "After all," Case points out, "we won't have the advantage of our home court, Frank Thompson gym. He indicated his high-scoring unit would simply try to outrun, and in that way outscore, the Phantoms.

On the other hand, Carolina Coach Tom Scott has built his team's main hopes for an upset victory around a sturdy, man-to-man defense. Eight in the country from a defensive standpoint, the Phantoms have allowed their opponents an aggregate of only 693 points, an average of 40.8 per game.

It's been along that line that the Carolina cagers have done most of their work this past weekend. Coach Scott has indicated that his starting lineup will have Captain Bob Paxton and Coy Carson at the forwards. Nemo Nearman at center, and Norm Kohler and King Cole in the guard positions.

Kohler, who held State's chief pointmaker, Dick Dickey, scoreless in the conference tournament last March, will draw the same assignment tonight. The Wolfpack star has tallied 286 points during the season, averaging 14.3 per contest.

The rest of the State lineup is expected to have Jack McComas accompanying Dickey up front, big Paul Horvath at the pivot spot, and Captain Leo Katkaveck and Ed Bartels as the guards. Horvath and McComas are also high scorers on the team, having racked up 214 and 208 points respectively, this season.



Although the emphasis is on the defensive side, the Phantoms are not without scoring punch themselves. Paxton leads the club in this respect, with 223 points to his credit. And on hand when needed will be Johnny Dillon, becoming more of a scoring threat in each passing game. "The Hook" paced Carolina to a 50-42 win over Davidson in last Friday's outing.

Other Tar Heels who will see action are Fred Swartzberg, Roger Scholbe, Dan Nyimicz, Taylor Thorne, and Rip Ryan.

The locals will make the 30-mile trip to Raleigh by bus, departing from Woollen gym at 5:30.

BOB PAXTON

DICK DICKEY

Three Unbeaten Slates Threatened In Coed Cage Tourney Play Tonight

Three undefeated records will go on the line tonight when the Carr, Pi Phi, Tri Delt and Town sextettes clash at Womens' gym tonight in the next to last evening in the coed basketball tourney.

Pi Phi, with a record of two wins and no losses meets the undefeated Carr coeds in the nightcap of the evening's double-header starting at 7:15. The latter club has only one tie game to mar their record.

The town inhabitants also sport a 2-0 slate, which they will defend against Tri Delt in a 7 o'clock tilt. The Delta Delta Delta damsels will be trying to improve their 1-1 mark in the opener.

Chi O Unbeaten

Including a forfeit win this week, Chi Omega has finished its season with an unblemished 4-0 record to be assured of at least a first place tie. However, other squads with unblemished slates have a chance to tie for the leadership if they continue their winning ways.

Carr and CICA battled to a tie game and, according to instructor Frances Burns, it will have to stand as such.

The latest standings:

Team	W	L	T
Chi Omega	4	0	0
Smith	3	0	0
CICA	3	0	1
Town	2	0	0
Pi Phi	2	0	0
McIver	3	1	0
Carr	1	0	1
Tri Delt	1	1	0
ADPi	1	2	0
Alpha Gam	1	3	0

Tuxedo Junction

—for—

TUXEDO RENTALS & SALES

Alterations Free

601 E. Trinity Avenue
DURHAM, N. C.
Phone J-1373

Tar Heel Wrestling Team 12 Strong Leaves For Davidson Match Today

Twelve members of the Carolina mat crew will leave early tomorrow morning for their first match away from the Hill with Davidson college tomorrow afternoon at 2:30

Leaving the campus at 8:30 the squad will travel by automobile to meet the 'Cats on their home mats. Coach Quinlan's squad will return home immediately after the match.

Making the trip for the locals will be Marvin Wilson who has opened in the two previous matches; Doug Thompson, winner of his only start against State; Tom Urquhart, regular 136 pounder; Phil Kemp, thus far undefeated; Carroll Fischer, 155-pound starter; Old Reliable Oscar Gupton; Bill Kemp, winner of his only start against VPI, and heavyweight John Stoioff.

Besides the regular crew, Coach Quinlan will take along Lyne Bond, Corky Bluenthenthal, Irv Zirpel, and manager Emmitt Jacobs.

After the Davidson affair the grapplers will have one day of rest and then depart for Lexington, Virginia, where they will test their strength against Washington and Lee and VMI. The local lads will leave sometime Friday in order to meet VMI Saturday night and the Generals the following Monday.

Sporting a past record of one win and one loss, the matmen will enter the Davidson match with a better than good chance to cop another victory. Last year with virtually the same crew the Blue and White men downed the 'Cats, 29-5.

Further comparing last year's records, the local champions whitewashed Washington and Lee, 29-0, and downed a strong Cadet squed, 15-11.

NOVICE ONLY

The intramural managers voted last night to have only a novice class in the mural boxing tourney.

Six Trackmen Back From N.Y.

Carolina's six trackmen returned from the Millrose games warfare with very little to show in the material way of thought but with a great deal of experience.

Jack Milne competed in the Millrose two-mile race and finished fifth behind winner Curt Stone, John Twomey, Forest Efaw and Frank Martin. Milne was clocked in approximately in 9:21, the same time that he set the University mark at the Penn Relays.

The two-mile relay foursome of Bob Black, Sam Magill, Jimmy Miller and Julian Mackenzie took a fifth place in their section and were clocked in 8:03. Coach Dale Ranson commented, "This time is only mediocre in big time competition but it should show the boys that more competition and more conditioning are the order of the day."

Jack Moody, after a week's illness, competed in the high jump but did not place although he cleared the bar at 6 feet, 2 inches. The winner was Bill Vessic of Columbia who went over 6 feet, 8 inches. Dave Allbritton, 35-year-old former Olympic champion, took second with 6 feet, 7 inches.

The two mile race was the gem of the evening according to Ranson. The whole field was bunched at the mile with Milne in about fifth spot but on the mile and a half it was still Stone, Twomey, Efaw, Martin and Milne. Stone then put on a sprint to take over.

Wildroot Cream-Oil

Get it at

SUTTON'S

DRUG STORE

Your Walgreen Agency

WINS POPULARITY CONTEST

NO, the man in this picture is not upside down! You must be reading this standing on your head. Little wonder you can't pass the Finger-Nail Test. Better straighten up and streak down to the corner drug store for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil Hair Tonic. Just a spot of Wildroot Cream-Oil grooms your hair neatly and naturally—gives it that neat, well-groomed "college" man look. Relieves annoying dryness and removes loose, ugly dandruff . . . It's non-alcoholic, so don't try drinking it. Remember, however, it contains soothing Lanolin. Get Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic today and see for yourself why it's "again and again the choice of men who put good grooming first." For generous trial supply free, send this ad with your name and address to Wildroot Co., Inc., Dept. C-D, Buffalo 11, N. Y.

EXHIBITION

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY
FEBRUARY 4 AND 5
At Varsity Store

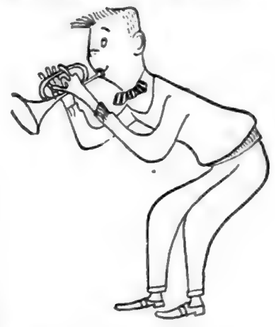
GENTLEMEN'S APPAREL FOR SPRING AND SUMMER USAGE HAS BEEN EXECUTED IN THE FAMOUS FINCHLEY MANNER WITH FULL REGARD ACCORDED DEPENDABILITY AND TASTEFUL, EXCLUSIVE STYLING.

GENTLEMEN'S SUITS
TOPCOATS • TUXEDOS • SPORTSWEAR
HATS • HABERDASHERY • SHOES

Finchley

FIFTH AVE., AT 46th ST., NEW YORK

Carolina Sport Shop



PRESENTS
Leap Year
Valentine Gifts
In Toiletries
- King's Men
  Essence
  After Shave
  Cologne
- L'Orle
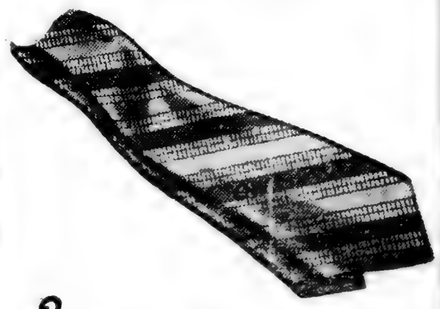
  After Shave
  Cologne

Man of Manhattan



Carolina Sport Shop

Two things every college man should know!

1. This is a hot trumpet player. When he's in (the groove), he's out (of this world). He plays this infernal machine in a band, provoking dancing, dreaming, and mayhem.

2. This is a "Manhattan" Tie. Designed by our own hep artists. "Manhattan" Ties, too, tend to provoke dancing and dreaming —even mayhem if your roommate tries to borrow 'em. See these handsome, colorful ties at your "Manhattan" dealer's.

CAMPUS FAVORITE—
Manhattan
THE MANHATTAN SHIRT COMPANY

Copr. 1948, The Manhattan Shirt Co.

Workmen are shown constructing the much-discussed balcony addition to the south portico of the White House. They are erecting a steel balustrade atop a steel girder which will support the balcony. A number of representatives and architects have criticized President Truman for planning and carrying out the structual change. (International)

-Melton-

(Continued from page 1)

this year's to make Barron Mills look like a good editor. (97) Give everybody including Ed (Triply) Joyner somebody to vote against; (98) Put more girls' pictures and less news in the DTH than this year, if that is possible; (99) At least two misplaced lines per page so that crossword puzzle fans will get a daily bonus; (100) Most of the news stories so inaccurate that journalism profs won't accuse students of copying their stories out of the DTH.

"Seriously," Melton said yesterday. "I am running so that students who don't like the present DTH regime will have a chance to express a protest vote. I stand for giving the minority a vote instead of having their editors picked in a political back room.

"Everyone deserves the right to vote for the man he thinks is best qualified (and the one his party endorses) so if the students think I am best qualified and don't belong to any party except maybe the Communist, I will greatly appreciate their vote."

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

The Young Republicans club will hold its first meeting this evening at seven o'clock in Di hall, third floor of New West, it was announced yesterday.

Storm Isolates Wilmington, Beaufort, Destroyes Power Lines, Sewer Systems

RALEIGH, Feb. 2—(UP)—Reports reaching here from isolated communities of Wilmington and Beaufort indicat an emergency due to broken power lines today.

The American Red Cross headquarters in Raleigh says local chapters have set up shelters to house families whose homes are dark and unheated. An ice storm yesterday broke power lines in the area, knocking lights and electrically-operated oil furnaces out of operation. Reports from Wilmington say live power wires in the streets form an additional hazard.

In Beaufort, the State Highway patrol says it has received a report that the city water system has failed. The patrol says salt water has been pumped into the mains in case of fire but that no fresh water is available.

The Southern Bell Telephone company says only one telephone line is in service to Wuming ton, and that is completely isolated. Coast Guard lines along the coast are also reported out of operation.

The State Hygiene laboratory here says an emergency supply of blood pasma has been rushed to two Wilmington hospitals. Officials say the hospitals asked for the plasma in case falling power lines cause serious fires in the area.

Music Fraternity Will Induct 13 Men In Pledging Ceremonies Here Tonight

The Alpha Rho chapter of the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity of America will hold the winter semi-annual pledging service tonight at 8 o'clock in the Alpha Rho chapter room in Hill hall. Harry Shipman, president of the fraternity, and Charles Stevens, Warden, will preside at the formal service.

New Members to be pledged are James Mooore, Reidsville; Sam Green, Mooresboro; Jack Clinard, Winston-Salem; Harold Andrews, Wilmington; Clifford Doll, Rutherford; Norman Clark, Oxford; Clyde Wade, Roxboro; Robert MacDonald, Little Rock, S. C.; Henry Lofquist, Asheville; James Weathers, Shelby; Frank McGuire, Asheville; Bill Tritt, Fayetteville, and Frank Groseclose, Atlanta, Ga.

Phi Mu Alpha is the campus social-honorary fraternity for musicians and those sincerely interested in music. Hal Kemp, the late popular bondleader, was a charter member of the Alpha Rho chapter and Norman Cordon, prominent basso-baritone Metropolitan opera star has been granted national honorary membership through the sponsoring of the Alpha Rho chapter. Charles B. Lutton, now the secretary-treasurer of the national fraternity, was a member of this chapter.

The Phi Mu's sponsor concerts campus and porvide a musical scholarship when funds allow. The members are outstanding in most of the programs presented at the University such as the recent production of "The Mikado," which featured both Andrew Griffith and Carl Perry in leading roles and many other members in the chorus and the orchestra. The members perform other functions such as ushering for all concerts in Hill hall and presenting annual concerts.

Greensboro-Carolina

The Greensboro-Carolina Club will hold its first meeting of the winter quarter tonight at 7:30 in 103 Bingham hall. Plans will be made for the spring dance, officers will be elected, and a report of the Christmas dance will be made. All Greensboro students are urged to attend.

Unexcused Absences

Chairman Fim Fort of the Student legislature Rules committee has announced the names of all members who have incurred unexcused abses this quarter. Those absent from the January 27 meeting, he said, must turn in written excuses to him by meeting time Thursday.

Those absent and the dates are: January 15, V. Delorenzo, and Bill Porter; January 22, Margaret Alfed, V. Delorenzo, John Gaskin, and Bill Porter; January 27, Gil Burnett, V. Delorenzo, Jack Devore, George Drew, Fern Hughes, and Bill Porter.

What's Up in Graham Memorial

GM GRIND:

Lowly table tenis comes into its own today with the completion of a partitioned game orom for ping pong in the rear of the Rendezvous. . . Opened yesterday afternoon after finishing touches by Rendezvous roustabouts Arnold Wilson and Ralph Morris, the room has two rebuilt-and-god-as-new ping pong tables. . . .They also cleared space for an art and poster shop adpacent to the game room.

Student Activities committeemen and representatives from CPU, IRC, CCUN, etc, Saturday drew up a number of constructive suggestions to be presented to the Student Legislature for Speaker's Bureau bill. . .GM needs consideration in the proposed a student employee for campus delivery work periodically. . . Interested?—It pays good money.

Tschaikovsky's Piano Concerto No. One will be played on the recorded dinner music concert in the main lounge this evening at 6:30.

-Circulation-

(Continued from page 2)

recalcitrant press acquiesces the DTH circulation staff with the aid of a sympathetic, co-operative clientele, will restore adequate, prompt, efficient service.

Owen D. Lewis
Circulation Manager

LI'L ABNER — by AL CAPP

Breakfast at Seven — at HARRY'S

Damage Is Caused to Five Autos By Snow Falling From Everette, Lewis

Five automobiles were damaged about 12:15 Sunday afternoon when the eight inch accumulation of snow from the roofs of Everett and Lewis dormitories avalanched onto the tops of the cars parked below. No persons were injured.

Most severly damaged was a green 1941 Pontiac sedan owned by Clarence "Cookie" DiChiara of Newark, New Jersey. The steel top of DiChiara's automobile buckled under the glittering assault, and after the white mound was cleared, there was a four-inch depression in the steel. But the car was still able to run.

Similarly but less severly damaged were two steel-topped Fords and two jeeps with canvas tops supported by steel struts had their tops ripped in one knifelike incision which left over a foot of snow deposited inside.

When the fall came, DiChiara and others had just removed his roommate's car from the area below the roofs and were beginning on DiChiara's. However, hearing the threatening noise of the slide, they quickly stepped back.

"I saw my car bounce as it hit", DiChiara said later. "Two more minutes, and we would have had it out."

The loss of $125 was partialy covered by insurance.

New Student List Eligible for Rooms

Students who entered summer school of 1947 are now eligible for dormitory rooms if they will contact the Housing office; 22 New East annex, by Friday. These 20 names do not include all of the boys that entered in the summer:

William K. Barker, Jr., Robert M. Barr, Ronald Basescu, Herbert M. Bateman, Herman J. Bryson, William A. Buchan, Charles G. Clapp Glenn Arthur Hastings, Cary J. Lambert, Claude P. Mackie, Jr., Ralph P. Melvin, James R. Mericka, Joseph S. Mitchell, Elbert H. Ownbey, William O'Neal Prescott, William H. Price, Edward R. Testerman, Homer S. Tolan, John F. Trotter, Morton J. Weiss.

Dr. Edwin Aubrey In YMCA Building At 2 o'clock Today

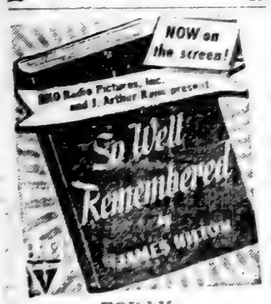
Dr. Edwin Aubrey, president of Crozer Theological seminary, Chester, Pennsylvania, and Charles E. Batten, dean of that institution, will be in the YMCA building this afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of talking to any students who are interested in full time Christian services, or who have been considering such a field, whether or not they have made a definite decision as to their life activity. Special conferences can be arranged by calling J. C. Herrin at 9742.

Dr. Aubrey is chairman of the Department of International Justice and Goodwill of the Federal Council of Churches, and a Fellow of the National Council for Religion in Higher Education. He is author of "Living the Christian Faith and Man's Search for Himself" and has contributed a chapter to "The Christian Answer."

-Time-

eat." The possibilities with four-letter words Elliott refused to comment upon, much less such mouthfuls as "echinodermata" or "antidisestablishmentarianism".

Elliott also added that sleepyhead scholars need not bother to register for Psychology 24 and 25 to get his aboratories with purely dormant ambitions.



University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

Bull's Head Bookshop
TRUMAN CAPOTE: Other Voices—Other Rooms
Browse — Rent — Buy

— MAGIC —
Ideal Entertainment for FRAT PARTIES, BANQUETS, CLUBS, DANCES
HERBERT SIMS
Debonaire Deceptionist
Member International Brotherhood of Magicians
114 ALEXANDER DORM —or— PHONE 555
CHAPEL HILL GREENSBO

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

TODAY
CAROLINA

PHILCO RADIOS
Sales and Repairs
Ogburn Furniture Co.
312-314 W. Franklin
Phone 5841

TWO BLOCKS WEST OF CITY HALL
You'll Find A Solution To All Laundry Problems
HELPY-SELFY
AUTOMATIC LAUNDRY
Bendix Machines
W. Rosemary St.

RECORDS
"LET'S DANCE"
BENNY GOODMAN'S New RCA Album
First Piano Quartet Album
Ab's Intimate Bookshop

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 6B

3 DRESSES, 1 SUIT, 1 SKIRT—SIZE 13 & 14. In good condition and reasonably priced. Call 219 A Jackson Circle, Victory Village. (1-1698-1)

MERCURY BICYCLE (3 WEEKS OLD), complete with all accessories except a squirrel's tail. Can be seen at 140 Bagley Dr. or Johnson's Furniture Co. $47.50. (1-1751-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6bb

1938 FORD, TUDOR SEDAN, RADIO—good tires. Caston Motor Company. F-3896. (ch 1x1)

WANTED TO RENT 24B

NAVAL OFFICER, WIFE, SON DESIRE to rent apartment or house, Chapel Hill. Write 1822 Croyden Rd., Norfolk, Va. (1-C1754-1)

BALDWIN'S
Marine Room
Durham
Breakfast 7:45—10:30
Luncheon 11:00—2:30
Tea Hours 2:30—5:30
Dinner 5:00—8:00
Mrs. Jennie S. Thurston
Phone 9493

JEFFERSON CAFETERIA
Hi Fellows!
in DURHAM . . .
it's the
Jefferson Cafeteria
103 E. Main St.
for FINE FOODS at REASONABLE PRICES
Lunch 11:00 a. m.—2:15 p. m.
Dinner 4:30 p. m.—8:00 p. m.
JEFFERSON CAFETERIA

NOTICE TO GAS CONSUMERS

This Company has filed with the North Carolina Utilities Commission an application to increase the basic rates in its "Rate Schedule No. 1" applying to bills of all customers of the Company purchasing gas by regular meter. This increase amounts to ten cents per thousand cubic feet of gas used, and the North Carolina Utilities Commission has fixed a date for a public hearing upon this application, namely, February 10, 1948 at two thirty o'clock p. m. in the offices of the Commission in Raleigh, North Carolina.

PUBLIC SERVICE CO. OF NORTH CAROLINA, INC.

WORTH BRAVING THE WEATHER FOR The "CAN'T-BE-BEAT" Sale

Diamonds
One lot of rings reduced
1-3 to 1-2 off
(tax included)
Dinner, cocktail, engagement, and men's rings.

Crystal
Cranberry. Regular price, $1.75. Sale price—
$1.25 each
Correct for all occasions

Watches
One lot assorted watches greatly reduced. For this sale—
1-3 off

Vases
A varied selection of lovely vases—all sizes, colors, and designs.

Wallets
Valuable letter wallets priced at—
$3.50
They were $10.00. We also have fitted cases of luggage at ONE HALF OFF.

Birthstone Rings
Beautiful stones for every birthday—either men's or women's rings—
1-3 to 1-2 off
(tax included)

Big Savings
In dresser sets, bookends, ashtrays, picture albums, figurines, autograph books, leather-covered diaries.

Costume Jewelry
Offered at
1-2 price
Pins, earrings, bracelets, silver charms, key chains, bangle bracelets.

Silver
Silver plated tea services. Regular price $25.00, Sale price—
$15.00
(tax included)

Clocks
Swiss alarm clocks. Retail value $17.94, Sale price—
$9.50
(tax included)

Silver
Silver plated trays and bowls. 38 piece set silver plate—
$22.50
(tax included)
Was $29.95

Take Advantage of This Sale Now
Wentworth & Sloan, Jewelers

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Considerable cloudiness; cool.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
Dems Dilemma
Split Over Rubish
Education Brothels

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1948

Rubish, Baker, Childress Given SP Nominations

Bill To Increase GI Subsistence Passes House, Goes To Truman

On-the-Job Pay Also Increased By Approved Bill

Washington, Feb. 3—(UP)—The House of Representatives voted today to increase living allowances for veterans in schools and colleges, after the Senate had already passed the bill.

The bill, which now goes directly to the White House for President Truman's signature, provides for single veterans to get a subsistence raise from $65 per month to $75 per month.

Married veterane who are now getting $90 per month are to receive a boost to as much as $120 in some cases. The bill passed the House by a vote of 370 to 6.

The House also voted higher benefiits to veterans taking on-the-job training. At present the ex-G. I.'s can make only up to $200 per month while working. The new bill would permit them to make up to $350 per month.

The Senate has passed a similar bill, but the minor differences must be worked out by a conference committee.

The bills were brought to the floor by Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts who moved this afternoon to suspend regular procedures to consider the measure.

Streetcar Blasted

Chicago, Feb. 3 —(UP)—A 67-year-old doctor is being held in Chicago on charges of blasting the windows of a street car with a shotgun because the motorman wouldn't give his stalled automobile a shove.

Police say Dr. Frederick Schmidt and his shotgun tied up traffic for 20 minutes. The doctor was arrested on camplaint of Peter Gerame, conductor of the street car, who said the shotgun blast was meant for him. Dr. Schmidt was returning from a hunting trip, and had six shotguns in his car.

Berry Is Sentenced

Nashville, Tennessee, Feb. 2. (UP)—Former United States Senator George Berry has been fined 10-thousand dollars for federal income tax evasion. The aging president of the Pressmens Union also was given a suspended prison term of a year and a day and was placed on probation for four years.

Zeta Psi House Damaged by Fire; Home Is Burned

Chapel Hill was struck by fire twice before dawn yesterday morning causing partial damage to a fraternity house and completely destroying a three-room Negro home.

Firemen answered the first call to the Zeta Psi fraternity house on West Cameron near the Carolina Inn at 3:35 in the morning.

In order to extinguish the blaze, firemen reported that they had to cut through two floors to reach the fire which badly damaged the attic and a first floor den.

Cause of the blaze was reported as being a faulty flue. Students will still be able to live in the large stone structure.

While firemen were still battling the fraternity blaze, they notice flames issuing from the home of Gene Atwater, colored, on Roberson St. By the time aid arrived the flames had made headway and firemen were unable to gain control of the blaze.

Atwater, his wife and seven children got out of the blaze safely, but were totally wiped out, only one ham was saved. There were no injuries reported in the fraternity fire.

'First Love' Set For '33 by Air' On Radio Tonight

"First Love", a 30-mintue original radio drama by Robert Epstein, will be presented as the fourth program of the quarter in the series "Thirty-Three by Air" this evening at 8 o'clock from studios in the Communications center.

Epstein, who wrote the play during the summer for a script-writing class, is a radio major from New York. He entered the University in 1942, and, after serving three years in the Navy, returned to school in 1946. He will graduate in June.

The drama is about a young veteran who krew up in the war, and who must choose between the insecurity of writing, his first love, or the security of a job.

John Young is the producer of the show, and other members of the staff are assistant producer, George Holloway; studio engineer, Ophelia Hooks; sound effects, Joyce Corbett, Joan Butler, John Phautz.

Original music for the production was composed by Harold Schiffman, who will also serve as organist.

SECRETARY of the Ukraine Communist Party's Central Committee, Nikita S. Kruschchev is quoted in a Moscow radio broadcast as virtually admitting to all anti-Soviet uprisings in the Ukraine. In his speech Khrushchev declared, "The Ukrainian people have already routed up a number of Ukrainian nationalists and will root up and destroy their vestiges to the end."

(International)

Civil Rights

Washington, Feb. 3,—(UP)—Democrats are up in arms over President Truman's new Civil Rights Program.

The latest moves in a day-long series of angry Southern protests against Mr. Truman's appeal for racial equality come from Democratic Senator John Overton of Louisiana and Democratic Congressman Thomas Abernethy of Mississippi.

Overton suggests that Southerners might adopt a plan of voting Democratic in local elections. Overton adds that Southerners might support Republicans or what he calls "a Southern Democratic party of our own" in Presidential elections.

Representative Abernethy proposed in a telegram to Mississippi Governor Fielding Wright that all Southern Governors join in demanding a showdown with National Democratic leaders in Washington.

Di Senate Will Hold Discussion On Frat Rushing

By Charlie Gibson

A bill that would prohibit fraternity rushing until the students concerned have had at least one quarter in residence at the University will be the subject for debate tonight when the DiaJectic Senate meets in the Di hall, third floor, New West, at 9 o'clock.

Co-authored by Senators Charlie Long and Al Lowenstein, the bill for Di consideration tonight cites confusion which the current method of fraternity rushing incurs. Increased enrollment, the bill says, makes getting settled on campus a sufficient problem within itself. Additional chaos is now brought on by fraternities' rushing new students who have not had time to become adjusted here.

The bill insists that new students make mistakes in one of the most important steps in a college career when they pledge a social fraternity hurriedly. Students, especially freshmen, are often not on campus long enough to become acquainted with the many fraternities here before making their one binding choice. Such lack of foreknowledge leads to frequent errors on the part of both individuals and fraternities.

The resolutions of the Long-Lowenstein measure are as follows: (1) The Student Legislature of the University of North Carolina, in conjunction with the Interfraternity council, shall et up new rules to control rushing.

"(2) These rules shall include a provision that a student must have been in residence at the University of North Carolina at least one academic quarter before he can be rushed by a fraternity.

"(3) Upon enactment of this bill by the Legislature all rules regarding silence periods shall immediately become effective.

"(4) The action of the Senate on this bill shall be transmitted by the clerk to the Speaker of the Legislature, the chairman of the Interfraternity council, and the presidents of the fraternities at this University."

All Senators and interested University students are urged to attend the meeting tonight and to participate in the discussion from the floor as freely as they choose.

Georgia Minister Refuses Bishopric

Savanah, Ga., Feb. 3—(UP)—A Savannnah minister, the Rev. F. Bland Tucker, has declined to become a Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church for Western North Carolina.

Dr. Tucker was elected to the Bishopric January 14. Today, he anounced in Savannah that he has sent word of his decision not to accept to the standing committee of the Diocese.

He has been Rector of Christ church at Savannah for three years. Before that, he was in Washington, D. C. for 20 years.

The Savannah minister says he feels that there is still much work to be done in the Georgia coastal city on a program he laid out for himself three years ago.

Playmakers Lab Plans Production Of Play 'Fashion'

The Laboratory Theatre of the Carolina Playmaker will present "Fashion," a play by Anna Mowatt Ritchie, next Saturday and Sunday evenings in the main lounge of Graham Memorial, according to an announcement by W. P. Covington, III, director of the production.

The play is in five acts and was first produced at Park theatre in New York, during 1845. It is generally considered to be the first American satire on the affected manners of the country's social world.

Edsel Hughes is to play the role of "Adam Trueman," the homespun philosopher, and Quentin Brown will act "Count Jolimaitre," the importation from Paris. Erle Hall will appear as "Colonel Howard," the army officer, while Sidney Shertzer is to play "Mr. Tiffany."

James Byrd will be seen as "T. Tennyson Twinkle," and Martin Jacobs is to portry "Augustus Fogg." "Snobson" will be played by Mac Shaw, and John Constable will appear as "Zeke."

"Mrs. Tiffany" is being handled by Catherine McDonald. Gloria Gunn is to appear as "Prudence," and Betty Young is playing "Millinette." Mary Jo Cain is playing "Gertrude," and Edna Dooley is "Seraphina."

The dancers include: Robert Vinson, Harry Thomas, George Upchurch, Eleanor Woodson, Forest Covington, and Elizabeth McIver.

BE NO PHILOSOPHY CLUB

The meeting of philosophy club scheduled for Thursday night of this week will not be held.

Varsity Football Star Seeks Presidency; Nomination Completes Slates for Prexies

By Donald MacDonald

Mike Rubish, varsity football star, yesterday accepted nomination by the Student party as candidate in spring elections for the office of student body president.

Mike Rubish, Varsity football player, has been nominated for president of the student body by the Student Party, it was announced yesterday. His running mates are Herman Baker and Gran Childress.

The announcement came yesterday from Student party spokesmen, completing the three party slates of candidates for the major campus office. Last week both the University and the Campus parties endorsed Jess Dedmond, former CP chairman, for the race.

Running mates for Rubish were also announced yesterday by SP officials when Herman Baker, junior commerce major from Nashville, accepted nomination to run for the office of student body vice-president. Gran Childress, present SP chairman, became the party's candidate for the dual office of secretary and treasurer.

Degree Next Year

Rubish, who will receive his degree in physical education next year, has played varsity football for three years. He is described by DTH Sports editor Billy Carmichael as "a good offensive end and a stellar pass receiver." He is a member of the Monogram club. His organizational abilities, according to SP officials, have helped the Monogram club become one of the most active and contructive organizations on the campus.

The new candidate is a member of the junior class and is a native of Weirton, West Virginia. Rubish has as yet announced no platform but has made the following statement regarding his candidacy.

Issues of Merit

"With my running mate, Herman Baker, I will work to give students the best student government we have had since its organization here. As my own platform will show, I will strive to advance issues of merit to the whole student body."

Baker, candidate for vice-president, is former Regional Chairman and Executive committeeman of the National Students association. On President Tom Eller's coalition cabinet, Baker has served for two years in the Student Legislature. During that time he did extensive work in the Rules committee.

Polysci Major

Nominee for secretary and treasurer Gran Childress is a Chapel Hill native who has served in the Legislature and was elected chairman of the Student party following the recent resignation of Charlie Long. He is a member of the junior class and is majoring in political science.

Announcement of the three candidates add three names to the rapidly-filling ballots to be placed before student voters in May elections. Besides the UP and CP endorsement of Jess Dedmond for student body president, the University party has nominated UVA president Johnny Clampitt as its candidate for the office of vice-president.

Jewish Agency Files Charges Against Arabs

Palestine, Feb. 3—(UP)—The Jewish Agency formally accused seven Arab states of agression against Palestine today.

The Agency filed the charges at Lake Success demanding that the United Nations Security Council intervene in the situation. The Council has power to order economic or military sanctions against agressor countries.

A Jewish Agency spokesman claimed that the Arab states already have made three hit and run invasions of Palestine. He adds that they plan to occupy the entire country when the British leave.

Nations named in the 22 page Jewish complaint are Lebanon, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Egypt, Yemen and Trans-Jordan. Charges are now under consideration by the UN Palestine commission which will administer the partition of the Holy Land into Arab and Jewish States.

Meanwhile in Jerusalem, Arabs ambushed a bus containing passengers from a Swiss airlines plane near Jerusalem's Lydda airport tonight. The Jewish driver smashed his way through a road barrier and drove on through a hail of bullets.

Earlier, one Jewish woman was killed and ten Jews were wounded when a bus convoy was attacked as it passed an Arab legion camp near Haifa.

Arabs bombed and broke through the walls of the city's central prison tonight and first reports said that two prisoners escaped. The raiders were apparantly trying to free a number of Arab captives.

Reports also indicate that all is not well in the neighboring state of Lebanon. The defense minister has ordered Lebanese troops to capture his brother dead or alive.

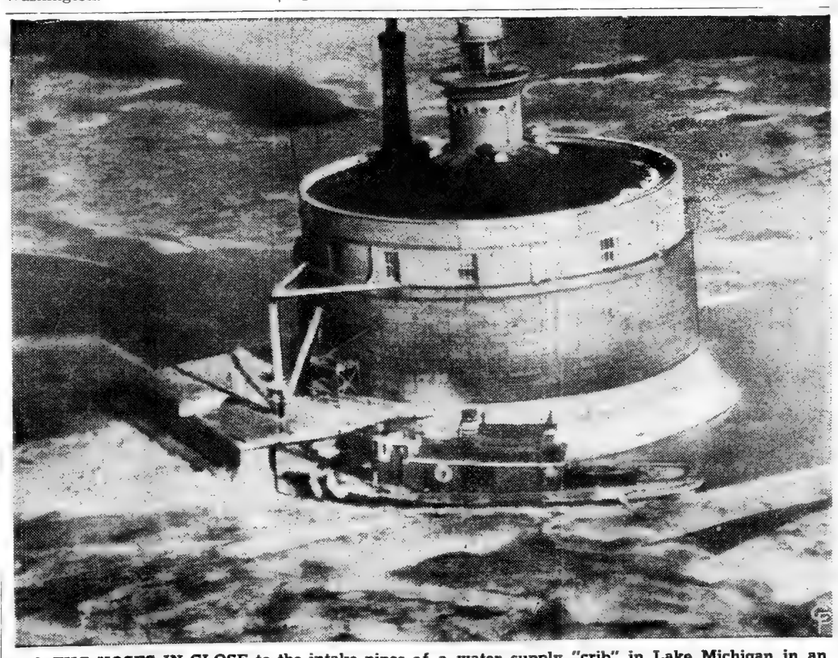
The hunted man, Emir Nohad Arslan, staged an unsuccessful revolt against the government last night. With a handful of followers, he raided the mountain town of Sofar on the main Beirut to Damascus highway. The band told frightened residents that its "Committee of Liberation" would overthrow the government. Police and trops descended swiftly on the town and after a brief battle Nohad and his fellow rebels fled to the hills.

Senior Class Will Present Memorial Hall Show Featuring Frances Johnson, Roy Cole's Music

The music of Roy Cole and his orchestra, the interpretative dancing of Frances Johnson, football movies and songs by the Sigma Chi septet—these are the ingredients of a mammoth entertainment program to be sponsored by the senior class Monday night in Memorial hall.

Benson McCutcheon, senior president, announced yesterday that Monday night's curtain will rise at 8 o'clock on the entertainment show which features both professional and campus talent. A senior class business meeting will follow the program.

Organized by a senior class entertainment committee headed by Cattie Holt and Jim McCormick, the program is designed to bring together the class for one of the final times before graduation of members in March and June.



Heading the list of entertainers is Frances Johnson, who appears through the courtesy of the North Carolina Entertainment bureau. Miss Johnson comes from California where she was the featured dancer of the Breden-Savoy Light Opera company of San Francisco. Previously she appeared with the San Francisco ballet, the Pacific Opera company and the Mt. Tamalpias ballet. After coming to North Carolina directly from an eight weeks' engagement in Hollywood, she spent the summer as a dancer in Paul Green's symphonic drama, "The Lost Colony."

Miss Johnson studied with several members of the Spanish dancing family, the Casines. It was under the guidance of Elisa Cansine that Miss Johnson made her first public appearance in San Francisco several years ago.

In Monday night's performance she will present interpretations of two popular songs, "Ballerina," and "Golden Earrings."

Music for the program will be furnished by Roy Cole, campus bandleader, and his orchestra. Cole, a senior, is a native of Forest City. Featured vocalist with his group is sax-player and vocalist George Demas.

Football movies will be presented, but the name of the game is unannounced as yet.

A TUG NOSES IN CLOSE to the intake pipes of a water supply "crib" in Lake Michigan in an effort to break an ice jam. Following sub-zero temperatures, the floes choked the pipe openings and cut off all water from nearly 2,000,000 Chicago residents. Workmen dynamited the ice to start water flowing again.

(International)

House Managers Want Fraternities To Organize Permanent Association

Len Butt, president of the Fraternity House Managers' association, has appealed to representatives of the Interfraternity council to make the house and dining room managers group a permanent, working part of fraternity life and business.

According to Butt, benefits are now being derived by only the few persons who are putting in a great deal of time to the working of the organization.

The president listed the advantages of the group as: (1) Card catalogue of dealers and manufacturers of furniture, refrigerators, brooms, etc.; (2) A firm boycott policy by all fraternities against certain merchants; (3) Cooperative for purpose of purchasing food; (4) Plans for running dining rooms during summer sessions; (5) Grading and standardization of wages of house employes; (6) Index of all available help in Chapel Hill area.

"To attain these goals," Butt stated, "it is the responsibility of each fraternity president to see that his house or dining room managers regularly attend the association's meetings every Monday night at 7:30 in the Sigma Chi house.

The representatives at the meeting should have a thorough knowledge of the number of men eating in their house, daily, monthly, and per meal board bills, room rent, wages of house manager, treasurer, waiters, house boy, steward, house mother, cook(s), and extra kitchen help.

The next meeting of the organization will be held at the Sigma Chi house this Monday night at 7:30.

DUKE TICKET DEADLINE

Today and tomorrow are the last days that students may use their passbooks to get tickets for the Duke game Saturday night. Those who do not obtain their tickets by then will have to pay one dollar for the pasteboards when they go on open sale Friday up until game time.

Education and Intellectual Brothels

Education according to the latest interpretation is a commodity which can be purchased on the open market. It has progressed rapidly from the days of the slate tablets and the times when the night's lessons were scrawled on the back of the fireplace shovel, but we wonder which method is the more effective.

With all of the people in the business to take the sting out of education the college generation will be lucky if it has a mind which functions.

We notice that in large colleges, concerns often run advertisments in the student publications announcing "There is no need to go to classes, if you don't want to—you can purchase the prof's lecture from us. We have these lectures for the semester in full." Following this is a list of the courses and the professors teaching which are available for a "price."

At Harvard the undergraduate newspaper exposed a commercial cram bureau. The "intellectual brothel", as it is designated by the Crimson, is willing to "provide tutoring for hour, mid-year and general examinations in the major liberal art studies." This is the second time that such an outfit has operated at Harvard. The other one (both have been operated by the same man) was banned about eight years ago.

According to the Crimson, "seven tutoring schools in and around Harvard Square gleaned an average of $18 from each student in the College, employing mimeographed reviews and high-pressure salesmanship."

Elsewhere in the same Crimson is an article written by a student who was "spoon-fed History". His comment on the Intellectual Brothel was: "For any undergraduate who would rather spend money than time on his course work, and who has more social engagements than scruples, professional tutoring is a Good Deal. I say this with a certain degree of authority, because for twenty dollars and six hours' work I got a B plus in an hour exam covering one third of a term's material."

Spending hard cash and a soft time under a professional who tells you what to look out for on an examination is not education. It may pay off in the high grades, but education is not a commodity which can be purchased at random from an agency. Education cannot be gained with a few hours cramming before examination periods. Rather it is the disciplining of the mind so that an individual can teach himself. Instruction is devised primarily to stimulate the mind and encourage a student to seek knowledge. Professional tutoring robs knowledge and its effervescent qualities. It leaves him with little besides some worthless A's and B's in Central Records.

It cost 75 cents to kill a man in Caeser's time. The price rose to about $3,000 during the Napoleonic wars; to $5,000 in the American Civil war; and then to $21,000 per man in the World War I. It has been estimated that it cost $50,000 for each man killed in World War II.

The Board of Directors of the American Association for the United Nations several days ago called upon the Security Council to see to it "that arrangements be made immediately for a United Nations international police force on constabulary" for Palestine, and at the same time recommended that the United States in order "to cooperate with the determination of the United Nations" should lift the arms embargo "in favor of those parties in Palestine who are willing to abide by the (General) Assembly resolution."

This sets a precedent with the AAUN (the national organization of CCUN). It is their first stand on any issue.

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

"If you have enough energy to talk about fighting another war, you have enough energy to help with the washing."

Carolina Carousel

Democratic Liberals' Dilemna

By R. Foo Giduz

As Chapel Hill supposedly progresses in social thinking more and more middle-of-the-road true liberals are becoming thoroughly confused. These are the earnest free-thinking students who revolt against the reactionary social habits of the South; who KNOW in their hearts that all men are really created equal. (Color and religion be damned!) They are also the souls who can't stomach the rabble-rousing Communist party line, which has so often and conviently hopped on the Southern liberal bandwagon to give it a red smear.

Living and learning in Chapel Hill has taught these right-wing liberals a lot. Many of them have come to a complete social New Deal since arriving. Carolina has made staunch defenders of Dr. Frank Graham and his policies of students whose families weaned them on anti-Graham propaganda. They are the NEW solid South.

Being interested in concrete results, and what they can actually accomplish in the next few years, these liberals march forward with their feet on the ground. But some of them begin to lag behind and shuffle around a bit when they unhappily find out they've been used as Communist tools.

When reactionaries, and even close-but-not-so-political friends begin calling them "Reds"—they who are more rationally anti-Communist than many of their accusers—they are left in a quandary. Though they believe in political democracy and individual liberty they also coincidentally believe in some of the same things the Communists do—fighting discrimination; battering conditions of labor; even free school lunches.

Their lot is only made more difficult by their co-liberal thinkers who wrathfully righteously line up with the Communists every time they think someone is stepping on a poor Red.

What turns these liberals sour?—Things like the Bernstein incident: A martyred Marxist with a persecution complex who trumped up a fight against the History department. When the Department, which made tactless blunders in handling the affair, began to show the true facts in the case, proved he was not the persecuted fellow he'd made himself out to be, Bernstein hastily left school before his cause should become unmartyred.

Then last Sunday "The Worker" (Communist party's southern tabloid weekly newspaper) ran a story headlined "No PhD's for Jews at UNC."—It told a half-story of Bernstein's alleged persecution and ousting on grounds of religious and political beliefs.

Thus the Reds made Kapital of this incident: Discrimination; shackling of free thought; minority persecution! And the John Q. Middle-of-the-Roaders who were trying to do justice where they thought justice was due found out all too late that all that glittered in the Bernstein incident was more Red than gold. They had been sucked in again from the left, and they were assailed as Reds from the right.

The unsteady middle line wavered. Sometimes it reeled and shook off a few earnest adherents. But others kept on plodding down their chosen road—trying to be true democratic liberals—and sometimes realizing a little of their goal.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser. NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson. NIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette. SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears. ASST. BUS. MGR.: Mary W. Sledge. ADVERTISING MGR.: Eaton Holden. SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison. EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan, Earl Heffner.

REPORTERS: Raney Stanford, John Stump, Jim Spence, Paul Rothman, Sally Woodhull, Donald McDonald, Herbert Nachman, Jr., George Roberts, Bob Rolnik, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Jean Baskerville, Nancy Norman, George Drew, Merrily Brooks, Nina Davis, Demont Roseman, Ruth Evans, Ashley Branch, Gordon Huffines, Elaine Patton, Elinor Woltz, Clark Stallworth.

SPORTS WRITERS: Bill Kellam, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Larry Fox, Bill Gallagher, Virginia Forward.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr.

Anti-Umty

Big Brass Supports UMT

By The Anti-Umty Committee

The currently proposed Universal Military Training in peacetime cannot be camouflaged in any way to make it appear to be anything but the outward indication of an aggressive war policy. It is preparation for war, preparation for forcing the views of American big-wigs down the throats of the world. There is an even greater danger that it will be used against all those in this country who are opposed to Wall Street dictated policies.

UMT is preparation for war. The passage of any such bill would be a signal to the world that the US has decided not to give its whole hearted support to the UNO. It would be a signal for beginning another armament race.

Supporters of the bill are saying in effect that security is possible only through force, that the only way to win an argument is to threaten violence.

UMT calls for time, expense and energy to be spent on establishing a military bureaucracy. The time, the expense and the energy could and should be used to better advantage in promoting peace and improving social conditions at home.

UMT has nothing worth while to offer that makes its adoption necessary. It will perpetrate the Army's oderous Jim Crow policy. It will brutalize, militarize and shatter the morals of the youth of America, indoctrinate them into the ways of blind obedience, teach them to stop thinking for themselves. It will, through the medium of Army talks, guide them in whatever way the powers that be dictate.

Under UMT the trainee would receive six months of military training and then have his choice of

1. 6 more months of training.
2. A 2 year enlistment in one of the armed services.
3. Enlistment in the National Guard or Organized Reserve.
4. Entering an ROTC college program.
5. Entering a Service Academy.

It guarantees to give at least one year of military training to every able bodied young American at a most impressionable age, and to get the rest of the people thinking in terms of the military. All of this at a time when the world is struggling for peace.

One of the strongest arguments against UMT is to be found in a glance at those who support such a program. The military brass who need a large army to retain their high rank. Business and industrial groups who would profit tremendously from the sale of the equipment and supplies necessary for the maintenance and operation of a large army. Groups known for their reactionary and discriminatory policies, individuals with anti-labor, anti-semetic, racist theories.

As the late Josephus Daniels told the Committee on Postwar Military Policy of the House of Representatives (June 11, 1945): "The propaganda for compulsory military service for American Youth is based upon three false premises: Fear. . .Cynicism. . . Imperialism. . .Certainly an examination of the results of compulsory service in France and Germany give no sufficient reason why the United States should abandon its century old Americanism and adopt European imperialism, which now in its rout finds none so poor to render its obesience. Weighed in the balance—in the acid test of war—that much-vaunted system was found wanting."

What's Up in Graham Memorial

G M GRIND

—The staff welcomes Clarence "Dusty" Barbour to their fold officially today. . .Though he's been acting unofficially heading up student entertainment in the Rendezvous since winter quarter began, Clarence is now on the GM staff T. O. . . .And a true entertainer's entertainer he is.—Drop down to the Rendezvous some Friday night when he's presenting Adagio dance routine!

Write Away

For Post Office

Editor:

A week or so ago an editorial or article, I don't remember which, appeared in the Daily Tar Heel concerning a proposed compus postoffice whereby a student would have one box number during his entire stay at the University. I read the article with interest and since then I have wondered if there would be any follow up or further comment. I think that the idea of a campus branch post-office has decided advantages. I have talked to several freshmen here in Miller and not one has failed to express enthusiasm over the plan. I have talked with students that I know at other colleges, where campus post-offices are maintained and they like them.

As the article brought out, one address all the way through college would insure fast, accurate delivery of student mail and would help lessen the burdens of South Building and the Post Office, when a stuednt changes his address. In addition, students would be relieved of that always irksome task of writing to several magazines or firms to tell them that his address has changed. Finally, such a campus post-office would provide self-help jobs for several students.

This may not seem important to many, but self-help jobs do not seem so plentiful as they once were, as evidenced by the fact that Lenoir Dining Hall was recently obliged to stop several students from working two meals per day, in order to give more people an opportunity to work.

Let's not let the idea of a campus post-office die of inertia; it has too many good features for such a fate.

Erie Cofield

Broadway

Vaudeville Talk

By Jack Gaver

New York —(UP)— Every once in a while you run into an old time vaudeville actor around town who bounced back from the decline of that amusement field to do well in another line. One such is Ray Doyle, the general manager of the famous Cavanagh's restaurant in the Chelsea district.

Ray is a small and smiling man who looks in condition to go right on with one of his song and dance routines of twenty years ago. As a matter of fact, he expends considerable more energy at Cavanagh's than he did on the stage, inasmuch as the various dining rooms, kitchens and storage rooms are spread out over two floors and the basements of two buildings.

Doyle got into vaudeville as a kid out of high school and played both as a single and with others. He played the Palace here several times.

"Why I can remember when it was possible to play continuously for a year in New York and the territory right around it," Doyle says. "It took several months to play all of the circuit in the city itself, then there were the nearby Jersey, Connecticut and other dates. I lived at the same Manhattan hotel one year and never missed a week's work."

Jane Froman, now back at work singing on a Sunday radio show on the CBS network, is recovering from the 25th operation on her leg, which was badly smashed in the Yankee Clipper crash at Lisbon five years ago. Her physicians believe the latest operation will enable her to walk unaided within five months.

To get the best rest possible, Miss Froman commutes now by plane between here and Florida. She spends five days each week in the Florida sunshine and the other two days in New York working on the program.

Robert Penn Warren, winner of the 1947 Pulitzer Prize for novels with his "All the King's Men," has gone to Italy on a sabbatical year from his duties at the University of Minnesota. The play of the same name which Warren made from his prize-winning novel has just had an experimental production here at the Dramatic Workshop under the direction of Erwin Piscator.

Graham Memorial Student Union
OPERATING STATEMENT
For the Year Ended June 30, 1947

INCOME
Student Fees		$ 20,518.90
Summer School Rent		600.00
Candy Canteen		18.56
Lounge Rental		130.00
Equipment Rental		15.00
Miscellaneous Income:
Recording Fee for "Tar Heels on Hand"	$ 8.00
Balance Barbershop Profits (1945-46)	13.29
Bridge Tournament Donations	36.00	57.29
TOTAL INCOME		$ 21,339.75
EXPENSE
General Administration
Auditing and Bookkeeping	$ 180.00
Salary—Manager	2,000.00
Salary—Financial Secretary	291.00
Salaries—Assistants	1,857.08
Office Expense	103.33
Postage and Box Rent	40.18
Telephone Rent	90.57
Telephone Tolls & Telegraph	90.28
Travel	288.74
Printing Handbook	448.50
Miscellaneous	150.38
Association Dues	25.00
Social Security Taxes	20.00
Donations—Permanent Light-Equipment for Memorial Hall	130.00
Total Administrative Expense		$ 5,715.06
Building Maintenance
Heat and Gas	$ 153.48
Repairs & Small Equipment	2,189.25
Depreciation on Equipment	517.31
Miscellaneous	154.11
Linen & Laundry	97.48
Total Building Maintenance		3,111.63
Recreation and Entertainment
Personal Services—Labor	$ 330.06
Personal Services—Entertainers	1,168.48
Newspapers & Magazines	125.35
Games & Other Supplies	294.75
Miscellaneous	178.39
Posters, Printing & Advertising	302.94
Contests & Prizes	95.00
Banquets, Teas, Etc.	328.29
Dances	2,703.30
Music Room Expense	549.06
Films & Moving Pictures	68.11
Total Recreation & Entertainment		6,143.73
Travel Agency
Salary—Agent	$ 237.72
Postage	6.67
Telephone Tolls	37.25
Miscellaneous	53.12
Total Travel Agency		334.76

(See STUDENT AUDIT REPORT, page 4)

The Brassy Taste

SP Split Over Mike Rubish

By Bob Sain

Student Party-sans seem anything but united over the choice of Mike Rubish to head their slate for '48. One topnotcher in the organization says, "I'll vote for him, naturally. But I won't work for him." The inevitable prediction: the race this year will be for the vice-presidency—SP's Herman Baker against UP-CP Clampitt. . . .

Fine stuff, this Melton-for-DTH-editor. Very amusing. No better place in the world for high humor than the DTH lead story. Melton should be elected; many of our critics deserve him. . .

Thurman Williams, new UP boss, is in the fine old political tradition at least in one respect. When he shakes hands he grabs your paw like he's going to pick you up and swing you around his head. . .

The nagging Mag question gets bigger and bigger. Check these comments, for instance:

". . .What is the purpose of the literary magazine?. . .the Mag was made for the 75 to 100 more "intellectual" readers: it wasn't designed for the average student. It then appeared to us that the only purpose it filled was supplying ten members of an editorial board with a creative hobby. . ." Tookie Hodgson? No. One Henry Moll. . . six years before Tookie got around to the echo.

And again:

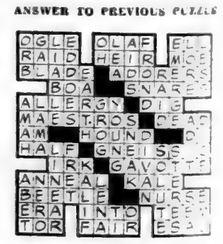
". . .the critic spoke as follows: 'The Magazine is sorry as hell; why don't you put sump'n funny in it? It seems to us that a college magazine should represent the institution's serious thought—not that its matter should be so solemn and weighty as to be wearisome but what goes in it should be worth preservation; it is true that we are not always able to get material of this sort, but we are doing the best we can . . . The Magazine should represent thought that is permanent, lasting, enduring and worth preservation . . ."

Who said it? One time Mag editor and now English prof: Phillips Russell. Quote from 1903.

What he said still makes sense and we all might do well to keep it in mind come referendum-time. As for a humor mag—you can get better jokes and better pin-ups in Esquire and The New Yorker anyway.

(Who said you couldn't get better short-stories and poetry in Harper's and the Atlantic?)

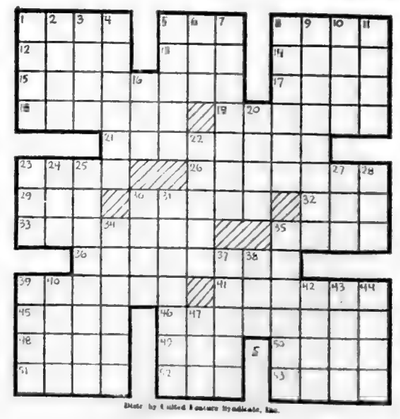
That seldom heard-about gentleman, Junius Scales, will get some rare publicity via a 3500 profile in Campus Time, an intercollegiate mag, come spring. Charlotte Newsman Charlie Markham (ex-Carolina, ex-Duke) was in Chapel Hill a couple of weeks ago for a confab with the local Communist party boss.



Dr. Evelyn Rude said on this page yesterday that common health problems of college women included lack of sleep, "sloppy Joe" shoes, bad posture and coke and coffee diets. Don't the CaroLenas wish that summed it up! Has Dr. Rude ever heard of a hangover?

Apropos headline on Sun-

(See SP SPLIT, page 4)



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS
1—To summon
5—To chart
8—Bucket
12—Wind instrument
13—Past
14—Capable
15—First
17—To breathe noisily
18—To feel stinging sensation
19 Grandson of Esau
21—Fabled city of gold
23—End of arm
26—Stretched out
29—Brew
30—Thick
32—Age
33—To move
35—To glimpse
36—Breed of dog
39—Dealer in knives
41—Analyzes grammatically
45—A dye
46—Ignorant
48—To split
49—To ripen
50—Great Lake
51—Let it stand
52—— —— Angeles
53—Communists

DOWN
1—Mudhen
2—Dugout
3—Part of torso
4—Walked
5—Having hair on neck
6—Mohammedan ruler
7—The North Star
8—Procession
9—Molluska
10—That one (L.)
11—Vegetable
16—Sick
20—Fashioned
22—Possessed
23—Kind of meat
24—Mr. Baba
25—Not positive
27—Initials of Marshall Plan
28—Period of time
30—To venture
31—Everlasting
34—Brook
35—Spookier
37—Parts of churches
38—Varnish ingredient
39—Autos
40—Single thing
42—Dry
43—Girl's name
44—Saintes (abbr.)
47—Salt

Puzzle by United Features Syndicate, Inc.

State College Powerhouse Atomizes Tar Heel Cagers, 81-42

Back Tracking In Sports

with

Morty Schaap

A Question To Consider

Now that Southern conference basketball tourney time is just around the corner the squawks are sure to fly. Every year, after the eight teams have been selected to play in the loop affair, some team that has been left out starts a jabber. They have a true gripe in most cases as the teams that stay clear of the North Carolina Big Four usually can finish with a good enough slate to qualify to go to Durham. On the other hand teams that play Duke, Carolina, State and Wake Forest, one or two games, usually take a battering and drop down in the percentages. Last year Davidson had a much better ball club than several that made the tourney yet their won and lost record did not warrant them going to the Bull city playoff.

There are several things that could be done. Number one would be a compulsory round robin play during the season with each team playing the other at least once. The second would be a system used by the National Professional football league where games against the powers must be scheduled every other year. A third might be a point system and seeding set up where top teams would be worth more points to knock off than the lower group. A fourth and what we think would be the most practical would be the division of the Conference into A and B powers. In other words we would rank in the top six teams—Duke, State, Carolina, Wake Forest, Maryland, and George Washington. The rest of the loop clubs would battle it out among themselves for a title that they would have a chance to win. It has been a long time since one of the teams out of the top six has copped top honors.

Aiding and Abetting

An above system in other sports would be advantageous to the other schools establish themselves in minor sports. If Citadel knew that they had a chance in wrestling, swimming, cross country, tennis, etc. they would get the men out for teams. But when they must face schools like Carolina, Duke, State ,and Maryland who have good coaching and ideal facilities, there is no interest. Carolina, Duke and Maryland have fought out the cross country and track titles for almost as long as they have been in existence. These schools find it very hard to schedule schools within the conference who will furnish any competition. The same holds true in other sports. To us the Conference is such in name only and is pretty much a nuisance rather than an aid. It is about time that perhaps a new disignation be given the loop so that benefits can be derived for big and small alike.

Closing Out the Horror Show

In Bob Goldwater's Bobbing in Sports, he mentioned the hazards of the home team's crowd booing. It was brought to our attention that a few years ago in the Southern conference basketball tourney in Raleigh, Carolina was tied up with South Carolina in a close battle in the finals. A foul was called and the stands went up in an uproar so the officials added a technical foul for unsportsmanlike conduct. The Gamecocks made good on both shots to tie up the game and send it into overtime. The South Carolinians then went on to win. The Tar Heel coach at that time was Bo Shepard, who to this day can remember just where the unthoughtful fan was sitting who started the commotion. The moral . . . YOU KNOW.

A New Look into Sports

Bill Pritchard, new President of the Monogram club, has been working very hard to get the schools in the South to establish 150-pound football as an integral part of the athletic program. This column has been working with him to that end and we hope that we can do something towards getting "Light-horse" football started.

At the present time there is an Eastern Intercollegiate League composed of eight colleges participating in this sport. They are Navy, Princeton, Rutgers, Villanova, Pennsylvania, Penn State, Columbia and Yale. The rules are the same as Intercollegiate football except that an agreement has been made for no off season practice, no scouting and no kind of grant-in-aid. The games are close and very exciting to watch. The speed is terrific and there is no let up in the tempo of the game.

The big drawback to getting started would be the fact that, in order to have a successful schedule, enough schools within the area would have to start too so that a schedule that would not involve too much travel could be arranged. The school could play some of the Eastern schools on a home and home basis. These games would be played when the varsity was on the road and would give the students an interesting time.

Coach Snavely is interested in the game as are several members of the Athletic council if a suitable schedule could be arranged. The cost is not too great as equipment from the varsity is used.

We are very interested in getting student opinion on the game and Pritchard or this column would be glad to receive word.

Dis and Data

Spring football practice will await the thaw according to the latest word received . . . Carolina football scouts will get a chance to catch two-teams in action, that will later clash with the Tar Heels, as September 18 will see Texas and LSU battle at Baton Rouge, La. . . . Still no word on the conflict in schedules arising between Duke-GW and Carolina-Maryland, both set for Washington on November 13 . . . Also the site for the Carolina-William and Mary game has not been announced . . . Temple basketball squad will get a chance for revenge against NYU in Philadelphia Saturday night . . . Might pull the Violets from the undefeated class.

Divided Mermen Face Big Weekend

Everybody will get into the act Saturday afternoon when Carolina's Blue Dolphins will meet VPI in Blacksburg and the Norfolk Division of William and Mary in Bowman Gray Pool. Coach Dick Jamerson will take approximately 16 mermen to meet the Gobblers while assistant mentor Ralph Casey plans to use some 19 or 20 men against the Indians.

The Dolphins spent another afternoon preparing for the big weekend and Coach Jamerson had all his metators buisly splashing away. The Tar Heel mentor disclosed that he will probably leave several of his better performers, including such luminaries as Dick Twining, Mike Morris, Norm Sper, and Bob Ousley in Chapel Hill so that they'd be well rested for the second double feature bill on the following Saturday. On February 14, the Dolphins will meet Virginia in Charlottesville and George Washington in the local pool.

The Carolina aquatic aces who'll stay home from the turkey hunt will probably put on a swimming exhibition before the jayvee-William and Mary match. Definite plans on this added feature will be disclosed later in the week by Ralph Casey.

The Dolphins broke more records on Saturday against VMI than a Petrillo agent. Seven dual meet marks went flying out the window including two Southern Conference loop top times. The Tar Heel swimmers now hold all the records for the new short length course in Bowman. Five new pool marks were also set.

Matmen Meet Davidson Today

By Buddy Vaden

Coach Chuck Quinlan's mat crew, 12 strong, will leave Chapel Hill this morning at nine o'clock for their first meet away from the Woollen gym mats with Davidson college.

Slated to get underway at 2:30, the meet will feature eight bouts in the regular weight divisions. In th 121-pound class Carolina will start senior Marvin Wilson who has opened in the two previous matches.

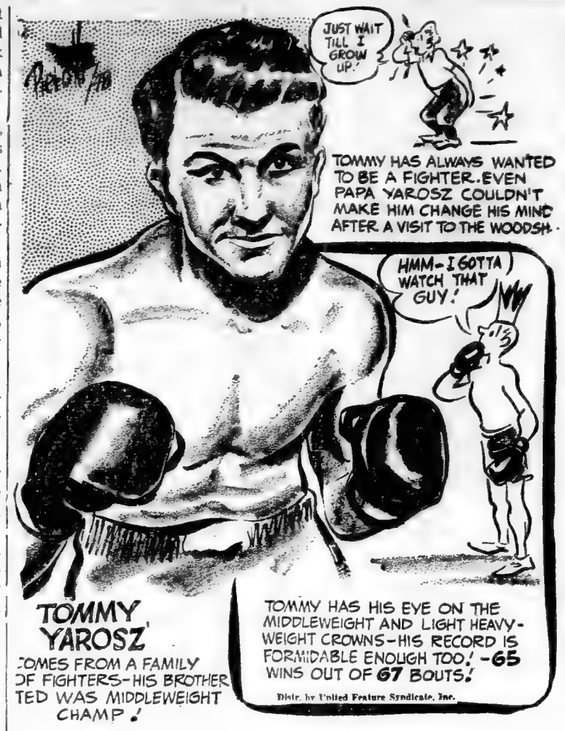
It will be Doug Thompson in the 128-pound division for the Tar Heels. Thompson, out of the VPI match with a separted rib, won his initial match of the season in the State contest.

Urquhart to Start

Tom Urquhardt, with two victories under his belt, will represent the locals in the 136-pound class.

Freshman Phil Kemp, another two-time winer, will further the Tar Heel cause in the 145-pound section.

Carroll Fischer, intramural champ in the 155-pound class who was pinned in his initial varsity match with VPI this year, but came back to win a decision in the State contest, is slated to go in his division.



Oscar "Shoulders" Gupton, 165-pound muscleman with two victories chalked up thus far, will wear the Blue and White trunks in his third opener of the year.

Bill Kemp, second half of the Phil-Bill brother combination, is slated to tussle with Davidson's representative in the light-heavyweight class. Kemp was out of the State match with a heart murmer, but won his match in the opener with VPI.

Stoioff to Try Again

Rounding out the Tar Heel grunt and groan squad is John Stoioff, heavyweight man. Stoioff lost his only match thus far this season to State.

Besides his starting crew, Coach Quinlan is taking Lyn Bond, co-captain Irv Zirpel who was declared ineligible early in the season, and team manager Emmitt Jacobs.

US Olympic Teams Lag In Competition

By United Press

Feb. 3—American athletes did well enough in the unofficial events in this, the fifth day of Olympic competition at St. Moritz, Switzerland, but when it came to the events that counted, they finished behind the field.

Barbara Ann Scott, the pride and joy of our northern neighbors, took a commanding lead over all of the women in the figure skating competition, the U. S. relay ski squad was withdrawn, and American skaters failed to place in the 10,000 meter race.

Sweden jumped back in the lead again, picking up 20 points with winners in the 25-mile cross-country ski relay and the 10,000 meter, or roughly six miles, speed skating event.

The Swedes now have 50 points, 10 1-2 more than Norway in second place. Finland in fourth position is close on the heels of the third place Swiss. Only one point separates the two. Austria widened its lead on the six-place Americans who held fast to their position despite being held scoreless today.

After Miss Scott rolled up a good margin in the first two "school" figures the judges called a halt to the proceedings due to the poor condition of the ice. Gretchen Merrill of Boston was a distant seventh with 311 and one tenth points, 55 1-2 behind Miss Scott.

The Amateur Hockey Association sextet won its third game in four starts, defeating Sweden 5-2. Jack Riley of Medford, Mass. scored twice for the AHA.

Whid Powell's
COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
Serving 12,000,000 people—12 at a time
Delicious Steaks 90c
Rosemary St. — Opp. City Hall

Three ATO Basketball Teams Victorious In Intramural Cage Competition

By Larry Fox

Kappa Sig 2 was ahead at the half, 21-16, but ATO 1 fought back to erase the deficite and surge ahead, winning by seven points, 44-37. Ken Gammage ATO, paced both teams with 23 markers. Walt Brinkley was high man for Kappa Sig with 13 notches.

The Zeta 4 Pi Lamb contest was a throwback to the old days of the cage game. After being tied up at five-all at the half-time break, Pi Lamb displayed a great burst of offensive power to edge the Zetes, 16-15. Deuward Bultman of the losers was high man with 12 counters. Bob Kaufman, Pi Lamb, scored 10.

TEP 1 outscored the number one DKE entry, 35-16. The TEPs led all the way, ahead at the half, 17-6. Dave Isaacs dropped in 17 points for TEP to capture scoring honors. Teammate Norm "Ace" Galinkin followed with 12.

Although outscored in the second period, 12-8, the stalwarts of Stacy dorm had enough of a cushion to eke out a victory over the Skyscrapers by a 22-21 count. Stacy led at the half, 14-9.

With their number two and three quintets also posting victories, ATO batted 1.000 yesterday. ATO 2 swamped Zeta 4, 36-7. The Zetes only scored two points in the final session. ATO was ahead at the intermission, 13-5. The ATO 3 squad outpointed PiKA 2 by 11 points, taking the decision, 37-26.

The Carolina Badminton club will meet the Raleigh club tonight in Woollen gym. Play is scheduled to get under way at 7 o'clock.

Today's Murals

4:00—Court 1: Aycock vs. Emanons; Court 2: Miller Hall vs. Everett 2; Court 3: Oakwood Dr. vs. Old East; Court 4: BVP 2 vs. Old West; Court 6: Hillers vs. Fire Balls; Court 7: Ruffin 1 vs. Skyscrapers.

5:00—Court 1: Phi Delt vs. Phi Kap 3; Court 2: St. Anthony vs. Kap Psi 2; Court 3: TEP 1 vs. KA 2; Court 4: DKE 2 vs. SAE 3; Court 5:Sig Chi 2 vs. Phi Gam 1; Court 6: Beta 1 vs. Kap Psi 1; Court 7: Alexander 1 vs. Honeycut Manor.

7:00—Court 1: Everett 1 vs. Lewis 3: Court 2: Seiler Five vs. Cruds; Court 3: Black Balls vs Graham 2; Court 4: Whitehead 1 vs. Unknowns; Court 5: Coons vs. Lewis 1: Court 6: BVP 1 vs. Fieldhouse; Court 7: Graham 1 vs. Steele.

8:00—Court 1: Lewis 2 vs. Wesley Rockets; Court 2: Med School vs. Hut 26; Court 3: Stacy vs. Emerson; Court 4 Mangum vs. Alexander 2; Court 5: Nash vs: Aycock 1; Court 6: Independents vs. Black Phantoms; Court 7: Hut 3 vs. Law School.

HANDBALL

4:00—Zeta Psi 2 vs. Phi Delt 2.
5:00—Lewis vs. Mud Dobbers.

RIFLESHOOTING

7:30—Miller Hall (oritentation).

QUALITY FURNISHINGS
at
E. A. Brown Furniture Co.
Next to City Hall
Phone 6586

MURAL RESULTS

BASKETBALL

35	TEP 1	DKE 1	16
22	Stacy	Sky Scrapers	21
36	ATO 2	Zeta 4	7
37	ATO 3	PiKA 2	26
33	Sigma Nu 1	Phi Delt 3	17
26	Lewis 2	Steele	24
24	Phi Gam 3	Phi Kap 1	22
44	ATO 1	Kap Sig 2	37
12	Mangum	Hut 26	18
54	Lambda Chi	ZBT	13
44	PiKA 1	Delta Sig	15
30	Mud Dobbers	Law School	27
40	Kap Sig 1	Phi Delt 2	11
36	KA 1	SAE 1	20
23	Nash	Independents	22
18	DKE 2	Kap Psi 2	14
40	Phi Gam 2	Sig Nu 3	8
22	Aycock 1	Ruffin 2	18
34	Zeta 1	Phi Kap 2	29
20	Sig Ep 2	Chi Phi 3	9
29	Chi Phi 2	Phi Delt Chi	10
36	Chi Psi 2	AEPi	11
Chi Psi 1	forfeit over	KA 3
SAE 2	forfeit over	Beta 2
Grads	forfeiture over	BVP 2
Underdogs	forfeiture over	Black Phantoms

HANDBALL

3	KA	Kap Sig 0
Sig Nu 1	forfeit over	ATO 3
Ruffin	forfeit over	Whitehead
Old East	forfeit over	Mangum

REHDER'S
CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Opposite Post Office Corner

VILLAGE
TODAY
"CRIME ET CHATIMENT"
with
HARRY BAUR
FRENCH DIALOGUE
ENGLISH TITLES

by billy carmichael III

Memorial Auditorium, Raleigh, Feb. 3—(UP)—North Carolina State College basketball team lived up to and beyond its press clippings and agricultural reputation here tonight by first planting an early lead on a rather hapless Carolina cage combination, then proceeding to cultivate the Chapel Hill lads in the art of fine basketball, and going on to plow the Tar Heels under in the last half to emerge victorious by the astronomical total of 81-42.

It was the worse defeat suffered by a Carolina basketball team in the known history of the school, but the Tar Heels could find some consolation in the fact that they were defeated by a great team having one of the great nights of a great season. The Wolfpack were all one could possibly think they might have been and then some to boot.

No one man stood out for the State entry, but instead the devastating win will go down in the books as a team win with all hands contributing to lower the Tar Heels deeper into the liability side of the scoring column.

State. Had Something

State had everything—speed, precision handling, and above all, an uncanny ability to accomplish the supreme purpose of the game, that of scoring baskets. The Tar Heels never quite got the range, primarily because they never got an abundance of shots at the basket. The Casemen amazed all the some 4,700 fans that packed the arena by continually picking the Tar Heels up in the back court and following them the length of the floor with a method of ball hawking that rattled the visitors to no small degree. The Carolina passing game never quite hit its stride and therefore, there were countless times when the Wolfpack defensemen would intercept long Tar Heel passes or simply remove the ball from their possessions while the Scottmen were attempting to come up the court.

Jack McComas, Dick Dickey, Leo Katkavek, Sam Ranzino and the rest of the Wolfpack performers hit continually from all corners on set shots, one hand shots, jump shots, hook shots and anything else that appears in the book besides being potent on the foul line.

Game Rather Rough

The game was rather rough, mainly because the vanquished got desperate at points and tried the unthinkable thing of trying to outrun and outscrap the State College team. Yet, surprisingly enough, the contest was kept well in hand by the officials and a fellow with honest intentions had a pretty fair chance of earning a decent shot now and then. There were a total of 51 fouls called during the course of the evening with the total being split evenly as possible between the two teams.

Carolina was not without a bright spot here and there. Little Taylor Thorne took an early liking to the brand of ball the transplanted Hoosiers had to play and dribbled and raced and cut with the best of the evening. The Rocky Mount guard well lived up to his name and proved to be just that in the sides of the fast stepping victors.

TOWN GIRLS TRIUMPH

The Town girls ran their winning streak to three straight games last night, downing a Tri Delt sextette, 19-14, in the coed basketball tourney. The town tenants were ahead 11-7 at the half and the combination of numbers proved lucky for them. Carolyn Guthrie of the Tri-Delts was high scorer with 13 markers.

Pi Phi, headed by Bill Lloyd, who notched 12 points, routed Carr basketeers, 18-7. Pi Phi doubled up the score at the half on the losers, 10-5, at the half.

Two-Point-A-Minute Offense Proves Too Potent For Scottmen in Raleigh

If any of the other Tar Heels gave the State entry trouble, it was big Fred Swartzberg, who was determined not to allow the State boys to have the floor and the backboards execatly to their liking. Bob Paxton turned in a not-quite-par performance, but kept the breath in the Scott team when the Wolfpack had all but stamped it out of them.

The rest of the Tar Heels were not up to their usual game, but the State team left little doubt in anyone's mind that even on a hot night the Carolina quintet will have to go a long long way to beat the West Raleigh lads.

Lead From Start

State led from the start. Horvath dropped a foul after 35 seconds which Nearman promptly matched but the big State center flipped in a field goal the next time up the floor and the Wolfpack were off to the races. They slipped to a 12-5 lead after five minutes, swept on to a 22-12 tally at the ten minute mark and then ran wild to build their advantage to the degree of 46-22 at the half. Who did the scoring for the State team was incidental for they took turn setting up each others shots and goals with a brilliant exhibition of cuts, picks and beautiful passes. It was fascinating to watch. The Tar Heels were limited to 17 shots during the opening period.

In the second half the story was much the same. State kept the pressure on to the full load and ran the score to 55-22 after five minutes had rolled by. At this point, Case started running in his

(See DEBACLE, page 4)

Three Time Loser!

N. C. State (81)	fg	ft	pf	tp	ftm
Dickey, f	5	3	3	13	1
Ranzino	4	0	4	8	0
Stine	0	1	1	1	1
McComas, f	5	3	3	13	1
Horvath, c	4	4	5	12	1
Cartier	5	1	3	11	3
Katkavek, g	1	4	4	6	3
Bartels, g	2	4	2	8	2
Bubas	1	0	1	2	0
Sloan	3	1	0	7	0
Totals	30	21	26	81	11
Carolina (42)	fg	ft	pf	tp	ftm
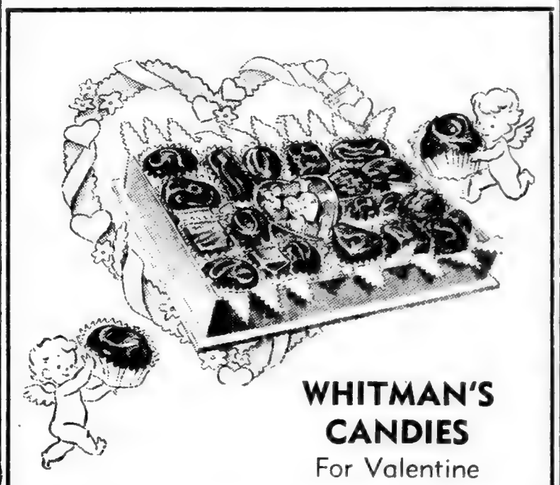
Paxton, f	1	5	4	7	1
Scholbe	1	0	0	2	0
Nyimicz	0	0	0	0	0
Carson, f	2	0	4	4	1
Swartzberg	1	1	2	3	2
Nearman, c	1	3	5	5	3
Dillon	2	1	1	5	1
Kohler, g	2	1	4	5	3
Cole, g	1	2	2	4	1
Thorne	2	3	3	7	1
Totals	13	16	25	42	12



Coed Ranay Hudson Takes First In Philadelphia AAU Swim Meet

While the Blue Dolphins were mauling VMI last weekend, a tall, comely ash-blond, Miss Randy Hudson by name, was busy in the Friendly City of Philadelphia increasing the fame of Carolina in national amateur swimming circles.

Last Friday afternoon in the AAU Open Mid-Atlantic Meet in the Quaker City, Randy came through with a top notch performance to win the 100 yard breaststroke in 1:22.3. Miss Marge Houlton, representing the Brighton-Drake Club, placed second in the event.

Sewing up blue ribbons are nothing new to this Tarboro acquatic speedster. Randy, who is a junior here and a transfer from Penn Hall Junior College, holds two state AAU records and has broken two notional women's marks. Last year the Tarboro terror of the fresh water circuit shattered the 60 yard individual medley and 40 yard backstroke marks in a telegraphic collegiate meet.

This past summer the speedy splasher set a new record in the 100 meter breaststroke event and during the summer of 1946 the versatile fem hung up a new mark in the 150 meter individual medley.

WHITMAN'S CANDIES
For Valentine
SEE OUR LARGE DISPLAY TODAY
SUTTON'S
DRUG STORE
ALL POPULAR BRANDS OF PERFUME TO THRILL YOUR LADY'S HEART
— PERFUME —
A Perfect Valentine Gift

REVEALS DRAMA
YOU'VE FORGOTTEN...

INTIMATE DETAILS
YOU'LL NEVER KNEW...

EXCITING STORIES
YOU'LL NEVER ALLOW TO ESCAPE FROM YOUR POUNDING HEART!

THE ROOSEVELT STORY
Released thru United Artists
TODAY
CAROLINA

PREVIOUS PUZZLE

DOWN
—Mudhen
—Dugout
—Part of torso
—Walked
—Having hair on neck
—Mohammedan ruler
—The North Star
—Procession
—Mollusks
—That one (L.)
—Vegetable
—Sick
—Fashioned
—Possessed
—Kind of meal
—Mr. Babs
—Not positive
—Initials of Marshall Plan
—Period of time
—To venture
—Everlasting
—Brook
—Spookier
—Parts of churches
—Varnish ingredient
—Autos
—Single thing
—Dry
—Girl's name
—Saintes (abbr.)
—Self

Today in Washington . . .

Congress Puts Meat Bill On Ice

By Joan Marble

United Press Correspondent

A bill to ration meat has been dumped into the back corner of the congressional icebox, and it probably won't see daylight again.

A Senate subcommittee has voted three to two against the meat-rationing bill. Republican Senator Ralph Flanders of Vermont—sponsor of the measure—admits it now stands almost no chance of passage.

Flanders says he'll try instead to work out what he calls some "voluntary approach" to rationing.

This action on the ration bill puts a solid damper on the administration's hopes for any kind of rationing and price-control measure this year. For the bill aimed to give President Truman only a fraction of the power he was asking. Observers agree if he can't get this, he probably can't get anything.

Marshall Plan

Capitol Hill was snowed under with Marshall plan advice today—both pro and con.

First, Secretary of State Marshall again warned that any cut in the amount asked for will threaten the success of the program.

Republican Senator William Jenner of Indiana opposed the plan in a floor speech. The Hoosier Senator declared that Marshal Stalin is fighting the plan only to insure its passage by Congress. Jenner called the recovery program a short-cut to American bankruptcy.

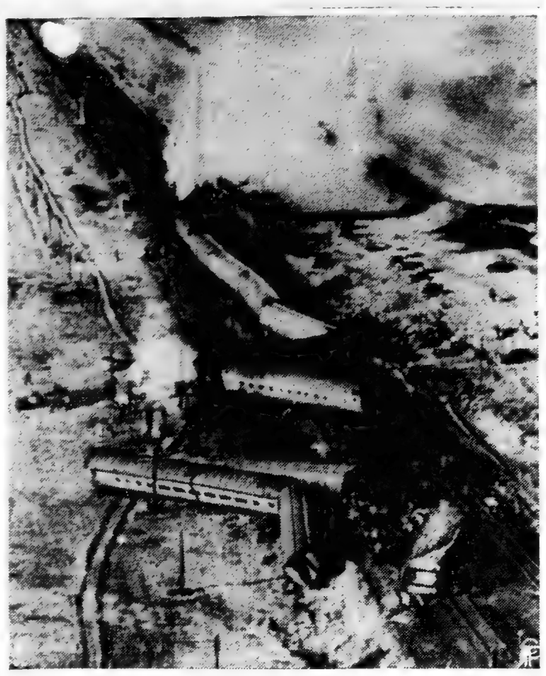
CIO President Phil Murray told the Senate Foreign Relations committee any big cuts in the program would be criminal. And Joe Curran, chairman of the CIO Maritime committee, also registered his support of the program.

But Curran wasn't speaking for all American seamen. For close to 100 left-wing merchant sailors gathered in the giant Senate caucus room to oppose the plan. The seamen—representing factions of the Maritime union and the cooks and stewards unions—claimed the CIO was "selling the labor movement down the river" as they put it, by supporting the plan.

The glowering seamen tried to hold a series of news conferences when the hearing was over. But capitol police quickly ushered them outside. Many of the rough-clad men were wearing "Wallace for President" buttons.

The final witness of the morning was Mrs. Agnes Waters of Washington, D. C. who described herself as the only women presidential candidate.

Mrs. Waters told the committee in shrill tones that anyone who favors the Marshall plan is a traitor to the United States.



"Every witness," she cried, "who has supported this bill should be arrested and tried for treason. And if I am elected president I hope I shall have the pleasure of signing their death warrants."

Committee Chairman Arthur Vandenberg banged his gavel and ended the hearing before Mrs. Waters finished her piece.

Speculation

The United Press has learned that a Democratic move to clear Brigadier General Wallace Graham and Edwin Pauley of speculation blame has failed—at least temporarily.

An authoritative source reports that Democratic Senator Theodore Green intraduced a motion in a secret session of the appropriations subcommittee today.

Sprawled across the tracks in this photo are some of the cars which overturned when the Union Pacific streamliner "City of San Francisco" jumped the rails near Ogallala, Neb. Twenty-five persons were hurt in the accident. More than 400 yards of track were torn up. (International) which aimed to clear the two men.

The motion reportedly was stalled off by a tie vote of two to two. Another vote may be held Friday, when Republican Senator Knowland of California will be present.

Politics

President Truman had his ear to the political ground today—and the murmers were both good and bad.

For one thing, southern democrats are hot under the collar over the president's civil rights program and his appeal for racial equality.

Democratic Representative Mendel Rivers of South Carolina bitingly remarked, "The solid South is not as solid as some of our leaders think."

Democratic Representative Gene Cox of Georgia commmented. "The whole thing saddens sickens me. When I read the message, I wondered whether Henry Wallace is such a bad man after all."

The good news for the President involves one of his closest friends—former Senator Burton Wheeler of Montana. Wheeler confirms he's been offered the job as chief of the American Federation of Labor's political section. This has prompted speculation that the AFL might come out openly for President Truman's reelection.

-SP SPLIT-

(Continued from page 2)

day's DTH Edit page referring to a circulation complaint: No Paper Today. Remember Sunday? That was the day hardly ayone got a paper . . .

. . . Fashionable phrase: "Aw, that's as dead as the Bernstein affair."

. . . Bill Sessions, Mag literary editor, says the February edition of the Mag will have a couple of new features: classical record comments and a book criticism column . . .

Reports Indicate Ice-Fuel Crisis Has Passed Worst

By United Press

The weatherman at Raleigh has felt a twinge of conscience about the state's recent weather so he has put out some figures on 1947 to prove that things aren't so bad after all.

The United States weather bureau at State college says 1947 was somewhat of a record-breaking year in weather circles.

The year included the wettest November on record for the state, the second coldest March and the second coldest July on record. It brought near-record high temperatures for January, frosts in the mountain valleys in June and July, flash floods in the Piedmont and unusually high tides along the coast.

The bureau recalls that last January was so warm that apples were blooming in Columbus county and the tobacco was up. Then came February and March and brought the coldest weather on record at many stations. A sleet storm last February closed rural schools and a windstorm in March broke windows in Raleigh and Winston-Salem.

So, after all, says the weatherman, things aren't really so bad now.

Raleigh, Feb. 3—(UP)— Governor Cherry says he has received good news for North Carolinians who have been huddling in fuel-short houses during the cold winter.

Cheese Blintzes Today — at HARRY'S

Cherry says Governor Wright of Mississippi has agreed to lift the weight limits on his state's highways so heavily-loaded trucks of fuel oil can pass through on their way to North Carolina.

Cherry says most of the states between Louisiana and North Carolina allow trucks weighing up to 52,000 pounds. Cherry called the Mississippi governor today and asked him to lift the limit so that fully loaded oil trucks can come straight to North Carolina without detouring through Tennessee.

Elsewhere on the weather front, officials at Wilmington say most of the damage caused during the weekend by ice and sleet has been repaired. but work is still going on to finish the job.

The worst storm in more than ten years virtually isolated the Wilmington area Sunday and much of the town was without telephone or power service.

All New Hanover county schools were closed today for the second straight day but classes will probably start tomorrow.

The Tide Water Power company says service has been restored to Carolina beach, Wrightsville beach, Maffit village, Kings bluff and Burgaw.

One power company official said "We have no estimate of the damage, but it's tremendous—the worst in the company's history."

An official of the Bell Telephone company says repair crews are gradually restoring toll service on long distance and local lines.

Workers at Wilmington passed the worst part but are working to remove fallen trees and other reminders of the storm from the streets.

-REPORT-

(Continued from page 2)

Candlelight Room
Salary—Manager	$ 500.00
Salaries—Assistants	951.01
Equipment	241.04
Net Loss from Operations (Exhibit C)	606.15
Total Candlelight Room	2,298.20
TOTAL EXPENSE		$ 17,603.38
NET PROFIT		$ 3,736.37

Asheville Girl Auditions Here

Miss Josephine Cunningham, 16-year-old coloratura soprano of Asheville, went more than the "second mile" this past week-end to make an impression on the North Carolina Symphony orchestra.

Miss Cunningham, upon recommendation of the Asheville committee of the Symphony society, went by train in company with her mother, Mrs. W. A. Cunningham, and her music teacher, Mrs. John Kemps, through the heavy snow to fulfill an audition appointment Sunday with Dr. Benjamin Swalin, director of the symphony, and the Chapel Hill committee of the symphony society.

The young singer and her companions traveled all day Saturday from Asheville, arrived in Durham at 1:30 Sunday morning (the train was almost six hours late), and reached Chapel Hill by taxi an hour later.

After only a few hours sleep, Miss Cunningham appeared before the Chapel Hill committee, singing five or six difficult soprano arias.

The committee members reported later that their determined auditioner was "in excellent voice," but that they were almost as much impressed with her determination to get here as with her singing talent.

-DEBACLE-

(Continued from page 3)

reserve strength, but except by the program, you couldn't tell them from the regulars. Nearman fouled out at the six minute mark, and this seemed to be a sign for the State lads to roar again for they did so at the tune of a 64-27 lead after ten minutes.

After this the game ran down hill with State more interested in keeping up their 78-point-a-game average than holding the Tar Heels down.

Suicide Succeeds After Three Tries

Roanoke Rapids, Feb. 3—(UP)—A Negro who tried twice to jump into the path of passing vehicles here finally succeeded today and was killed by a truck, according to Coroner R. W. Britton.

The Negro, 24-year-old Willie Barnes of Enfield, died on the way to a doctor's office. His companions said they held him back when he attempted to leap into traffic the first two times, but he slipped out of his jacket on the third try and fell in front of a transfer truck.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 6B

SMALL FRIGIDAIRE. GOOD CONdition. Phone F-2817 between 4:00 and 6:00 p. m. (1-1755-1)

REMINGTON THREESOME RAZOR. Inquire at 201 Bynum. (1-1756-1)

HELP WANTED—Male 8B

STUDENT WANTED TO DO DElivery work for Graham Memorial; pay by hour. Apply Graham Memorial office afternoons. 1-ch1x1-1

LOST 12

ONE LADIES' GOLD WRIST WATCH. Please return to DAILY TAR HEEL office. Reward. 1-1757-1

WANTED TO RENT 24B

NAVAL OFFICER, WIFE, SON DESIRE to rent apartment or house, Chapel Hill. Write 1822 Croyden Rd., Norfolk, Va. (1-C1754-1)

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

The Palms Restaurant
THE HOME OF SIZZLING STEAKS
PRIVATE DINING HALLS
OPEN EVERY DAY
6 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.
N. O. REEVES
Proprietor
305 E. Chapel Hill St.
DURHAM, N. C.

My SANITONE Dry Cleaner gets out more dirt!

for this better kind of Dry Cleaning CALL 4921
SANITONE

Yes, Sanitone, our famous dry cleaning does remove more dirt from your clothes. And, besides, the life of the fabric is preserved, colors look like new—the better press lasts longer. Yet Sanitone costs no more than regular dry cleaning.

UNIVERSITY CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POST OFFICE

"Chesterfield is my cigarette—it's Mild and pleasing"
Vallí
STARRING IN
DAVID O. SELZNICK'S PRODUCTION
"THE PARADINE CASE"
DIRECTED BY ALFRED HITCHCOCK

WHY I smoke Chesterfield
(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)
"I smoke Chesterfields because I know the kind of tobacco that's in them and I like their flavor and mildness.
"Chesterfield is in the market for the yellow, mellow, ripe tobacco. We farmers here know that. It's good tobacco."
Russell C. Day
TOBACCO FARMER, PARIS, KY.

ABC ALWAYS BUY CHESTERFIELD
ALWAYS MILDER BETTER TASTING COOLER SMOKING
Copyright 1947, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Cloudy with occasional rain

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
Know Your Congressmen?
Combination Only Answer
Competition For Lincoln

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 92

UP Nominates Bob Kirby, Charlie Stancell

IFC Establishes UNC Scholarship As War Memorial

The Interfraternity council announced yesterday that it has established a university scholarship to be known as the Interfraternity War Memorial scholarship.

Made possible by the contributions of every fraternity man at the university, the scholarship is planned as an annual award. According to Bob Nelson of the IFC, who attended the national interfraternity meeting, this scholarship is believed to be the first of its kind ever established in this country.

It will be awarded to "an outstanding North Carolina high school senior" who will be selected for the honor by the University Student Aid committee in cooperation with IFC. Selection will be made on the basis of previous record, scholastic accomplishment, and financial need.

The recipient thus selected will receive $500 per year during each of four years in residence, making the total value of the scholarship $2,000.

The administration of the award will be in the hands of the regular University Aid committee. It was set up by the IFC scholarship committee under the leadership of Eugene "Bud" Prata, its chairman.

Phi Defeats Bill To Send U. S. Troops To Palestine Under U. N. Control Plan

By Gordon Huffines

The Philanthropic assembly unanimously defeated a proposed measure to send 40,00 American troops to Palestine under United Nations' control Tuesday night at the weekly meeting of the assembly. The Phi bill was proposed as a measure to end strife between Jewish and Arab factions in the Holy Land.

Little support was given to the bill by Phi debaters as substitute bills were continually introduced before the assembly in attempts to defeat or alter the original measure.

Advocates Consultation

Leading a strong block in the assembly, Representative George Sieber introduced as a substitute to the Ways and Means bill, a measure which advocated consultation with Russia and other members of the UN over the matter of sending troops into a partitioned Palestine. The vote on the substitute bill found the assembly in a 10-10 deadlock which was broken by the negative vote of Speaker Chester D. zum Brunnen, defeating the measure.

Other alternative measures based on the principles set forth in Representative Sieber's bill were also defeated by determined members who refused to be distracted from the original measure.

Oppose Force

Strong opposition to the use of force was expressed by Phi members who advocated peaceful arbitration as the only workable solutaion in settling the conflict between the two races over the partition of Palestine. Other members pointed out that, besides the prohibitive cost of maintaining 40,00 troops in the Holy Land and the danger involved to American soldiers, such action would increase attacks by Russia and it satellites on United States "imperialism."

Referring to the strategic importance of Palestine, supporters of the bill argued that United States' military power was needed in the Holy Land to protect American interests in th near East. It was also asserted that the measure would give the UN power to provide opportunity to test the strength of the organization by enforcing the decision to partition Palestine.

Hits Partition

Asserting that the main problem was to find a way for the Jews and Arabs to live together, Representative Earnest House stated, "Peace must come from internal harmony." House expressed opposition to the partitioning of Palestine and asserted that force should not be used to enforce the UN decision.

Speaker zum Brunnen announced that Robert Morrison, former speaker of the Phi will be the guest of the asembly at a supper meeting which it to be held at the Carolina Inn tonight at 6:30.

1:30

Wallace Club Will Hear Labor Leader

Mike Ross, one of the leaders of the recently organized Progressive party of North Carolina, will be the principal speaker at a special meeting of the Wallace-for-President club, to be held in Gerrard hall tomorrow night at seven o'clock.

Ross, a combat veteran of World War II, is also a representative of the Furniture Workers, an important segment of the C.I.O. in this state. He has made an extensive study of third party movements in the South and has considerable talent as an orator.

At the time of the multiple lynching in Georgia he stumped that state, appearing before mass protest meetings of whites and Negroes. His efforts were not appreciated by the Ku Klux Klan which made serious attempts upon his life. Mr. Ross will have as his topic "The Third Party Tradition in North Carolina." His speech will be followed by a question and discussion period.

CP MEETS TODAY

There will be a meeting of the Campus party this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge No. 2 of Graham Memorial. According to party chairman Bob Haire, who announced the meeting, it will be held for the purpose of "further consideration of nominations for Spring elections."

HUGE STORES OF FOOD from the "Friendship Train" are destroyed as a Paris warehouse is swept by flames. The supplies were contributed by scores of American communities for the hungry children of France. Above, firemen play a hose on the smouldering ruins. (International)

Two Young Republican Groups Formed Here Within Two Days

Preston Stephens Heads First Club

At a meeting Monday night, a Young Republican club was formed here on the campus by a number of students.

The subject of organizing was discussed beforehand with G. N. Harvard, chairman of the Republican party of Orange county and A. A. McDonald, a prominent Republican of Durham, according to Milton Southerlin, one of the organizers of the group.

Under the advice and approval of Harvard, this meeting was called for the purpose of making a permanent organization of the Young Republican club on the campus of the University of North Carolina.

J. F. Crawford, Republican of Chapel Hill, was the guest speaker. He assured the newly formed club that the party would administer every effort toward the success of the organization.

The announced goal of the Young Republican club is the analysis and betterment of prevailing conditions in the South and keeping in closer contact with the national situation.

Officers elected were: Preston Stephens, president; Coline Smith, vice president; Milton Southerlin, secretary; and Alton S. Parrish, treasurer.

Tuesday's Meeting Draws 22 Students

Twenty-two Republican students have formed a Student Republican club here on the campus. The organization was formed at a meeting of the group held Tuesday evening in the Di senate hall of New West.

Temporary officers and committees were set up at that time. The newly elected president Bob Nelson, speaking for the entire membership, said after the meeting, "We shall apply for affiliation with the national organization, and we will work in cooperation with the state and county Republican groups."

A joint meeting of both Republican clubs will be held in the near future, a spokesman for the two groups said late yesterday. At this time it is expected that the two organizations will form one unit and a general election of officers will take place.

Other officers elected in addition to Nelson are: Peter A. Moore, secretary; and Charles Britt, treasurer. Committee heads are: Policy committee, Coline Smith; publicity committee, William Hipple; and program committee, Jerry Weiss.

Those present included Richard Cheatum, Mary Gusta Beall, Paul M. Gaskill, Charles Winston Hall, Robert Nelson, Morris Knudson, James W. Hutchens, W. H. Hipple, W. P. Penny, Jackson L. Carson, Warren J. Wicker, Clarence Hayes, Charles S. Homan, D. G. Moore, Jerry Weiss, Charles Britt, Al Lowenstein, Peter Moore, Coline Smith, Parrott Parrish, Allen Moore, and Charles Long.

Cold Winter Weather Worries Travels of Symphony Members

By Doris Thomas

The present unpleasant manouvers of the much-discussed weather man has, no doubt, won him a number of enemies, not the least provoked of these being a group of talented young musicians who, cold, tired and sleepy, straggled into Chapel Hill over the weekend to begin rehearsals for the spring tour of the North Carolina Symphony and the Little Symphony under the direction of Dr. Benjamin Swalin. The tour begins Tuesday, February 9.

Confirming the suspicion that there's more to good music than what meets the ear, are reports from the musicians and symphony tour manager, Al Pikutis, that the big job is often one of transportation rather than sharps and flats.

With ice and snow covering the highways, bus runs cancelled and train schedules far enough behind time to cause embarrassment even to the weather man himself, the young musicians, some of them lugging cumbersome instrument cases, finally reached Chapel Hill from railroad centers in Raleigh, Durham and Greensboro.

Two-Hour Wait

Miss Beth Sears who plays an oboe and English horn told of the bus she was riding between Winston-Salem and Charlotte which had to stop on a hairpin curve and wait over two hours for a highway crew to bring enough cinders to spread over the snow-covered road so they could resume the snail-pace trip. Upon reaching Durham and finding that she could not reach Chapel Hill by bus, she hired a taxi for the last 12 miles which cost her $7.50—an expensive jaunt at more than 62c a mile.

Miss Eunice Stasny who said she never realized how nice it was to be a flute player until she saw other musicians struggling with huge bass violin cases and percussion equipment on rollers, reported that she and two other

(See SYMPHONY, page 4)

Last Chance

Today is the last day that students may exchange coupons for Saturday's basketball game with Duke at Woollen gym.

Students are reminded that after today no student passbooks will be honored and that admission Saturday will be by reserved seat only.

Any tickets remaining after today will go on public sale Friday morning for as long as the supply lasts. The tickets will be priced at one dollar each.

Tickets for the State college game two weeks from Saturday will go on exchange for priority holders beginning Monday morning. Book numbers 4501-8000 and 8501-9000 will be honored during the week.

Trustees Meeting Approves Changes In Faculty Staff

By Raney Stanford

The executive committee of the University board of trustees approved the appointment of Harvey Eugene Lehman as an assistant professor of the department of Zoology at a meeting yesterday morning in Gov. R. Gregg Cherry's office in Raleigh.

The newly-chosen zoology teacher is currently engaged as a larboratory assistant at the Marine Biological Laboratory in Woods Hole, Mass. He was graduated from the University of Maryland in 1941 and received an M. A. from Chapel Hill in 1944.

Resignations Approved

The committee also approved the resignations of Howard K. Beale of the University's department of history, Earl P. Newcomer of the department of botany, T. Ross Fink of the department of education, and C. B. Robson of the politicol science department.

According to information released by the committee, Professor Beals has resigned as of July 1, 1948 to accept an appointment at the University of Wisconsin, while Professor Newcomer's release was postponed January 1, 1948 to enable him to accept a position at the University of Connecticutt.

Goes to Peabody

Instructor Fink, currently on leave from the education department, has accepted an appointment at George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tenn. Professor Robson is quitting his post as head of the political science department, but will continue to serve in the department.

The trustees group granted A. C. Howell of the English department a leave of absence during the Spring quarter so that he may serve as a visiting professor at the University of San Carlos in Guatemala. Leave was granted Professor Howell after he had been invited to take this appointment by the State department and the South American school.

Price Promoted

Daniel O. Price, of the department of sociology and anthropology was promoted to an associate professor in that department and to a research associate in the Institute for Research in Social Science at yesterday's session.

Governor Cherry is the ex-officio chairman of the committee, which is composed of 12 members of the board of trustees.

UP LEGISLATORS

Thurman Williams, chairman of the University Party, has called a meeting of all UP legislators for 3:30 this afternoon in Graham Memorial.

Five Bills On Agenda Of Special Legislature

By Chuck Hauser

The Student Legislature will meet in special sessions for the first time in 1948 at 8 o'clock this evening in Di hall.

Five items of business now reside on Speaker Jack Folger's agenda for tonight, with possibly several new bills in the offing.

What appears to be most unportant is the pending constitutional amendment bill which would take away the appellate jurisdiction of the Student council and would reduce the Men's and Women's Honor councils to mere social violation courts.

The amendment provides for the Student council to try all cases of Honor Code violations and to sit as a constitutional judging body. The Student Legislature would be given the power to settle jurisdictional disputes.

A bill to provide for the setting-up of a coed affairs committee of the Legislature is scheduled to hit the floor tonight, and strong opposition to it is expected from the feminine corner.

Three more bills are in the line-up, the list being headed by the magazine consolidation bill, which provides for a new literary-humor-variety mag under the name of the present "Carolina Mag."

The speakers fund bill is designed to bring better speakers to the campus by a pooling of the funds now alloted to the Di, Phi, CPU, CCUN, and IRC.

The banking facilities committee bill would set up a committee of the Student Legislature to study the possibilities of organizing a student bank at the University. The bill came out of the Finance committee last week but did not reach the floor for discussion due to an early adjournment.

Three Student-written Plays on Bill As Playmakers Present Experimental

By Mark Sumner

Three one-act plays will be presented tonight and Friday night at 7:30 by the Carolina Playmakers for their 121st bill of student written experimental plays. The productions will be staged in the Playmakers' theater, and no admission will be charged.

The first play is "The Terrapin Sticks Its Neck Out" by Robert Rolnik of Brooklyn, N. Y. It is under the direction of Mildred Howard, and the cast includes Leslie Thornbury, Katherine Finney, Richard Katsin, Robert Barr, Donald Draper, and Nathaniel White.

Scene of Play

The scene of the play is set in the office of the Daily Terrapin at Polk University. Frank Echols is stage manager, and Leslie Thornbury designed the setting.

The second play will be "Au Fond du Coeur" by James Gieger of Miami, Fla. James Moos has charge of directing the show, and Murray McCain is stage manager.

The cast includes Robert Gutknecht, Edwin Duke, Phillis Isenhour, Porter van Zandt, and George Upchurch. The scene is placed in Biskra, Algeria, and the setting is by Walter Creech.

"Morning Dialogue"

The last experimental was written by John Wills of Raleigh, author of last year's "Mask of the Black Bishop", and it is called "Morning Dialogue".

"Morning Dialogue" is being directed by Elizabeth Dawson, and the cast includes Sue Shanker ,and David Samples. Robert Hall is stage manager and Joseph Fidler designed the setting.

B'nai B'rith Head Makes Visit Here

Rabbi Arthur J. Lelyveld newly elected National director of B'nai B'rith Hillel foundations will visit Chapel Hill today and tomorrow.

Rabbi Lelyveld, outstanding Zionist and Hillel's Associate National director for over a year, was at one time director of the Committee for Unity of Palestine. Before taking that position he was rabbi of a congregation in Omaha, Nebraska.

On Thursday morning Rabbi Lelyveld will meet with Deans E. L. Mackie, F. H. Weaver and K. K. Carmichael.

A lunch is scheduled for one o'clock with Chancellor R. B. House and the Hillel Cabinet at the Carolina Inn.

At 4:30 Rabbi Lelyveld will be present at an open meeting in Graham Memorial lounge. All students and religious workers are invited. A social hour is to follow the meeting.

Friday evening services will be conducted at Roland Parker Lounge No. 1 at 7:30.

A TUG IS TRYING TO PULL AN OIL BARGE through the ice-choked waters of the Hudson River to its pier in New York City. Weather conditions became worse in wide areas of the nation, while hardship abated in other sections. The worst ice, sleet, and snow storm in years, left much of North Carolina helpless. (International)

Pair Will Seek Secretary Post, Cheerleader Job

Bob Kirby, 23-year-old Charlotte junior, has been nominated by the University party for the post of secretary-treasurer of the student body.

UP Chairman Thurman Williams also announced yesterday that Charlie Stancell, Chapel Hill native with several years of experience on cheerleading squads, has been nominated for head cheerleader for the coming year.

Kirby is a member of the Student council, the Grail, and is on the Dance committee for his second straight year. A commerce major and former member of the University club, he first entered the University in the V-12 program in 1943.

High School Proxy

He was commissioned an ensign, and served 36 months, returning here in September, 1946. The candidate first entered the political world when he served as president of the student body of Central high school in Charlotte.

Stancell has seen several years of service under various head cheerleaders since he first entered the University in 1936. He was forced to withdraw from school for approximately three years, and he spent three years in the Army air force as a first lieutenant. A great deal of his time in the Army was spent flying the hump from Burma to China in a C-46.

The two nominations help to close out the growing UP slate for major campus offices. The list at present carries the names of Jess Dedmond for president (co-nominated with the Campus party), Johnny Clampitt for vice-president, and Ed Joyner for Daily Tar Heel editor (triple-party nomination with SP and CP.

Acrobatic Dancer To Star GM Show

Dallas Byerly, acrobatic dancer, and his new partner, a twelve-year-old girl from Sanford, will be featured in an adagio acrobatic routine at tomorrow night's Rendezvous floor show.

The show, directed by Clarence Barbour, newly-appointed director of entertainment for Graham Memorial, will open at 10:30, running for about half an hour.

Byerly, a freshman from Sanford, has been seen before in Rendezvous shows, but this is the first campus appearance of his new partner. Described by director Barbour as a "dancing prodigy," she weighs only 65 pounds, and "stands on her hands and walks on ladders on them."

Others featured on tomorrow night's informal entertainment bill include Riqui Casino, popular singer from Winston-Salem; and Skippy Mann, who will sing a black-face number at a white, roll-around piano.

Other senses than the visual will be appealed to during the open hourse through the generosity of Edward K. Danziger, who will contribute delicacies from Danziger's candy kitchen for all attending the affair.

YWCA Junior Council Will Tour Y Building

Meeting in the Y building at 7 o'clock this evening, members of the YWCA Junior council will be conducted on an informal tour of the building by old cabinet members and student staff members.

Mrs. S. A. Rosenberg, director of Hillel foundation, and Claude Shotts, YM executive secretary, will tell the group something of their respective jobs, and a coke party will be held after the meeting.

How Well Do You Know Your Congressmen

We have never had a great deal of faith in Southern congressmen. We have found them to be, for the most part, county-style politicians who by conniving, luck and strong voices have managed to yell themselves into Washington.

Now we have less faith. Indeed, we are quite close to nausea.

That some deep South congressmen—notably Reps. Abernethy, Whitten, Rankin and Williams of Mississippi, Reps. Rivers and Dorn of South Carolina, and Rep. Cox of Georgia—oppose anti-lynch bills, anti-poll tax bills, the FEPC and any other moves to better the condition of Negroes is not unknown hereabouts. We quite understand that these bigoted gentlemen will do everything in their power to keep the Negro in virtual slavery.

But now that the South has an opportunity actually to free the Negro through the President's civil rights proposals, liberals should work against those congressmen who are yelling about "seceding" from the Democratic party.

Now is the time for liberals to act. Act to get these characters out of the Democratic party. Act to get them out of Washington.

Here is why:

In a most strange echo to Henry Wallace's famous phrase, Rep. Abernethy has called on "all true Southerners to stand up and be counted." He says that by trying to help the Negro, Truman is "hell bent on bartering or destroying us, our Southern institutions and traditions for the support of radical Negro minorities."

The "clever" Mr. Rivers from the area south of here says cuttingly, "One of these days the so-called leaders are going to find out the so-called Solid South is not as solid as some of the heads of our so-called leaders." Now if ever we saw a fine defense of segregation, that is it.

The noted Mr. Rankin says that we are spending a lot of money fighting Communism in Europe and that here President Truman is trying to "ram the platform of the Communist party down the people of the US." Mr. Rankin is mildy confused. He has gotten his Communist platform and Christian platform mixed up.

And, of course, it remains for Representative William Jennings Bryan Dorn to cap this crop of nonsense. Immensely pertinent is his suggestion that we "put first things first in this country and not try to out-Wallace Henry Wallace." His namesake would be proud.

So it goes.

We don't know just what Harry is up to with his Civil Rights program. Perhaps he is trying to pick off the Wallace vote. That seems logical, even though many think that by so doing he will lose his entire Southern block. Not likely. Southerners are born with the Democratic party in their system. They will vote for the Party regardless of what its chief spokesman says.

—B. S.

Combination Is Only Answer

By Tom Eller

Certain issues which I am certain will prove of historical importance to our student life are now facing action by the present student body. Because it is impossible to hope that the student body can be reached in any other way, I appreciate the courtesy of the editor in allowing me to discuss a few of these considerations under my old by-line. The first discussion I would like to make regards the issue of campus publications.

On January 22nd the Student Legislature passed a bill referring to you the question of whether and how our magazines were to continue. In accordance with the Constitution this vote will be taken on February 17, 1948, and will be decided by a simple majority of votes cast. You will be given the opportunity to vote in any one of six ways:

(1) You may vote for the Carolina Magazine and the Tarnation Magazine as they are presently published.

(2) You may vote for the Carolina Magazine only.

(3) You may vote for the Tarnation Magazine only.

(4) You may vote for one combined humor and literary magazine.

(5) You may vote for alternating issues of the Tarnation and Carolina Magazines in the same office and management.

(6) You may vote for no magazine.

In my opinion it is wasteful to maintain the two magazines separately as we are now doing because the two staffs could be combined without eliminating anyone who wishes to work on the publications. The friction is great and advertising competition is unnecessary. To abolish the Carolina Magazine or the Tarnation Magazine in the choice of either one for the other will leave a high complement of students unsatisfied. It should be pointed out here also that it is particularly dangerous to hope to keep any magazine completely humorous while at the same time retaining standards of discretion. To ask for alternating issues is to only bring about more conflict when the staffs are at closer quarters and will not result in continuity between issues. It seems that the choice to have no magazine is one of complete disregard for the prestige of this University in the field of publications and would necessarily constitute a reflection upon the educational values of us all. Therefore, I should appreciate your consideration of a combination which would either eliminate or minimize most of these objections.

Clearly this a question so directly concerning the student body that its decision should be rendered in the form of a referendum. However, it seems only fair and logical that some of the aspects of the question should be discussed with the voter.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

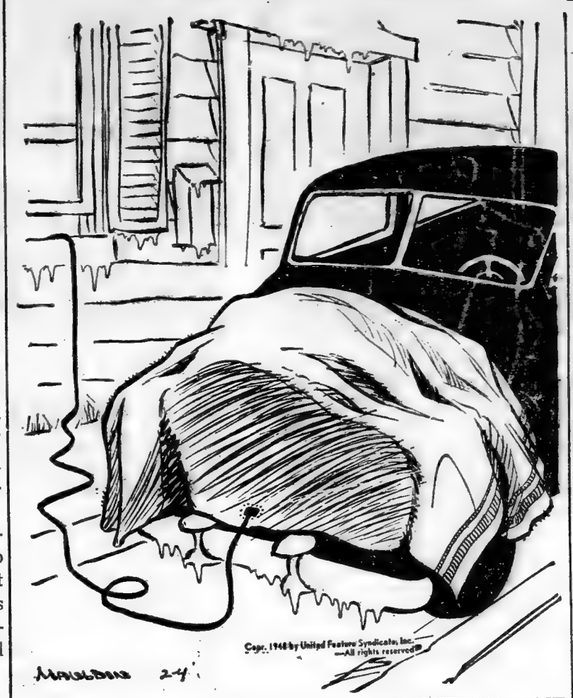
MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr.

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser. LIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson. LIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette. SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears. ASST. BUS. MGR.: Mary W. Sledge. ADVERTISING MGR.: Eaton Holden. SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison. EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan, Earl Heffner.



REPORTERS: Raney Stanford, John Stump, Jim Spence, Paul Rothman, Sally Woodhull, Donald McDonald, Herbert Nachman, Jr., George Roberts, Bob Roinik, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Jean Baskerville, Nancy Norman, George Drew, Merrily Brooks, Nina Davis, Demont Roseman, Ruth Evans, Ashley Branch, Gordon Huffines, Elaine Patton, Elinor Woltz, Clark Stallworth.

SPORTS WRITERS: Bill Kellam, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Larry Fox, Bill Gallagher, Virginia Forward.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr.

NIGHT EDITOR: Ed Joyner — NIGHT SPORTS: Bob Goldwater

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

This 'n That

Competition For Lincoln

By Bill Buchan

I don't remember anything about Herbert Hoover's reign as president. Matter of fact, the first I recall in national affairs are Shirley Temple and Franklin D. Roosevelt. Shirley was a four-year-old moppet charming millions of Americans on the screen and Roosevelt was the man who was going to "straighten things out." Now Shirley is a mother and Roosevelt has been dead for nearly three years.

Last night, a motion picture, "The Roosevelt Story" was shown at one of the local movie houses. I went because I wanted to see the screen version of his career and because in my humble way I wanted to, if possible, pay homage to one of the world's greatest men. Walter Winchell, in commenting on the picture said, "you have to see it twice... the first time your eyes are filled with tears." Naturally it didn't affect many of those who sway it in that manner, but the majority must have come away with a soul-searching thought that here was a man who might have been able to lead us to the "peace" we sought in the past war.

Roosevelt had many critics, some of them severe, but few men today can deny the great good that he did, not only for his own country, but for the his theories are currently flooding the market, but none of them are telling the small people anything they did not already know about the man who led them from depression to worthwhile living and then through a terrible war to victory.

His birthday, for many years celebrated with plush balls for the benefit of infantile paralysis, passed almost unnoticed this year. His pet charity, the March of Dimes, met discouraging results throughout the country. Back in 1937, James M. Farley remarked that the accomplishments of the Roosevelt administration would last as long as the American republic. Last? Three years after his death, we are moving steadily away. Changing times and current problems on the local and international front perhaps necessitate such a movement, but one can't help but wonder what would have happened if Roosevelt was still in office and the Democrats were selecting a man to succeed him, rather than renominating one who got the office accidentally.

Abraham Lincoln, so they tell me, was one of the greatest—if not the greatest— Americans who ever lived. I wouldn't know, both because he lived before my time and because my Southern rearing may have been a bit prejudiced. I do know, however, that when future historians (if the world last that long) add new chapters to the American history, Ole Abe will have a serious competitor for the honor. In my opinion, Lincoln will move to second place and Franklin Roosevelt will take over the coveted spot.

Mudville Mutterings

Earnest Workers Campaigned For March Of Dimes

By Dan Sapp

Well, I got scooped this week on the Daniels road March of Dimes story but at least I can add a few words of congratulations. The man who really deserves the credit for getting the thing going is Haywood Wyatt. Haywood had the job of collecting from Daniels road dumped on him Monday with instructions to turn the money in Saturday, if you remember the weather got a shade messy along in there but using his own methods Haywood got things organized and Saturday morning Daniels road had turned out 100 per cent for the March. Others who waxed their skis and helped out were Burt Brock, Tom Crittenden, Ed Greer, Charlotte Hayes and Sue Hunt.

Sunday was playday for all the kids including those of college age, some really fine pieces of ice sculpture are still standing as result. One extremely classic rendition of

(See WORKERS page 4)

Carolina Carousel

Legislature Fate To Be Decided

Fate of the long-procrastinated 13th (?) annual State Student Legislative Assembly may well hang in tonight's meeting of the unofficial interim committee on this project. . .Headed by Earl Fitzgerald of Carolina, and with members from Meredith and State, the group has taken on the job of reviving the Assembly which was dissolved by NC State (totally without authority!) last fall.

Seemingly interest in the annual meeting has been boogied off because the last Assembly (Nov., '46), headed by UNC's Bob Morrison, took the progressive step of having the state's Negro schools participate in the conference with them. . .And one and all agreed that was the most successful and harmonious meeting in their history!

The very schools which voted the last Assembly to be so fruitful have been uncouragеously silent on inquiries by the council about this year's session. The general appearance is that alumni, trustees, and administration, listed in order of their influence) have shooed off talk of this worthy project, and it may die an unevenful tragic death because of them.

Two reasons for its continuance: (1) It is a proven and progressive method of improving bettering race relations [illegible] disregarding the race issue at an already established [illegible] ter of NC students' over[illegible] ion on all issues; and [illegible] has accomplished [much] prayer to the integrity [illegible] state's students that the [illegible] let the NC State Student Legislature fall victim to the south ever-mounting racial [illegible] And a plea to UNC that they continue to back the NCSSLA and see to it we have one this year.

Say, y'really got no idea how tough it was to get into the State-Carolina cage contest Tuesday night (better we should've stood home and studied!). . .Governor Cherry walked up to the front door of Memorial Auditorium. . . Gateman says, "Sorry Governor, I got my orders. No can enter." . . .The Hon. R. Gregg finally got in through the press gate!. . .Wolfpack cheerleaders led the crowd in the chant of "We Want Coliseum" 'til they became worried about collapsing the soufh stands, what with fans standing up and stamping feet. . .

So that Roy Moose will not have outdone us on the politics, iron man stunt, Melton hereby announces himself as candidate for Senior member, Publications board, in addition to DTH editor. . .Remember that. . .No, he will not run for Mag or Tarnation editor. . .Says Mellow Man Melton: "The Daily Tar Heel is funny enough already."

Student Audit Report

Student Government

STATEMENT OF INCOME AND EXPENSE

For the Year Ended June 30, 1947

INCOME
Student Fees		$2,072.42
Interest		1.60
TOTAL INCOME		$2,074.62
EXPENSE
Administrative:
Auditing & Bookkeeping	$ 10.00
Supplies	5.88
Printing	91.70
Miscellaneous	.63
Entertainment	15.36
Total Administrative Expense		$ 123.57
Student Legislature:
Supplies	$ 65.66
Travel	255.00
Printing	82.40
Yackety Yack Space	160.00
Miscellaneous	2.30
Gifts & Donations	12.88
Total Student Legislature Expense		$ 578.24
Student Council:
Auditing & Bookkeeping	$ 10.00
Supplies	70.91
Postage, Telephone & Telegrams	58.43
Printing	30.50
Yackety Yack Space	40.00
Miscellaneous	43.43
Depreciation on Equipment	16.34
Donations & Awards	150.00
Total Student Council Expense		$ 419.61
TOTAL EXPENSE		$1,121.42
NET PROFIT		$ 952.80

Phi Assembly

STATEMENT OF INCOME AND EXPENSE

For the Year Ended June 30, 1947

INCOME
Initiation Fees		$ 67.50
Dues		31.50
Fines		.50
Gifts		75.00
Miscellaneous:
Party	$ 13.00
Pins	53.20
Banquet	31.50
Sale of Picture Frames	7.00
Snack Bar	40.00	149.70
TOTAL INCOME		$ 374.20
EXPENSE
Auditing & Bookkeeping	$ 10.00
Supplies	34.32
Postage, Telephone & Telegrams	9.85
Printing	63.85
Yackety Yack Space	80.00
Miscellaneous	70.67
Banquet & Entertainment	113.69
TOTAL EXPENSE		$ 382.38
NET LOSS TO EXHIBIT A		$ 8.13

What's Up in Graham Memorial

—GM is now supersaturated with meetings. . .Check the daily calendar on the back page and notice how nearly all campus organizational meetings are held in the student union. . .All available meeting space is usually booked solid on week nights long in advance. . .Staff is reminded again of this afternoon's meeting, 2 o'clock.

—If you can't get in the Duke game Saturday night, you can't go wrong seeing the Lab Theatre's presentation in the GM lounge of GM. . . Tonight's recorded dinner music concert will include the following selections all by Robert Schumann: Carneval suite; Symphony No. 4

Ode to an Import

Ah, little import, — little bitter pill.
No Mid-Winters. No trip to Chapel Hill.
Not enough bands — to make snow—
All dressed up—no place to go.
Gotta new dress? Oh that's too bad!
But snow-soaked lace is sorta sad.
But don't you worry, little chum!
All us co-eds will drink rum.
We'll get so merry over us
Please, sweet child, return pin.

He: "Who was that lady I saw you with last night?"

Second He: "That was no lady, that was my wife."

Write Away

Russian, Quisling Or A Fool?

Editor:

In order to concur with all that is said in the Anti-Umty article in yesterday's Daily Tar Heel it would be necessary to believe the following:

1. U. S. Gov't advocates aggressive warfare.

2. U. S. Gov't wants to force the views of American bigwigs down the throats of the world.

3. Persecution is in the offing for all anti-Wall Streeters.

4. U. S. adoption of a form of training now in effect in all other major countries would start a new armaments race.

5. UMT will brutalize, militarize, shatter the morals of, destroy the independence of all our boys.

6. The world is struggling for peace.

7. Urging of UMT is based on fear, cynicism and imperialism.

I respectfully submit that anyone who professes to believe all of that is either a Soviet fifth-columnist, a potential Quisling, or a damn fool.

Bill Patterson

Defend Americanism

Dear Sir:

The very fact that this "Harvard Felix Frankfurtering — influenced" MA admitted being a Communist excluded him from any religious affiliation and branded him as anti-American.

The privileges of so deeply rooted an Americanism as is basic in our UNC do not belong to avowed opponents of our way of life (as are all Communists).

Bringing up the reilgious anti-Semitic smoke screen was typical. I congratulate my Alma Mater on another evidence of respect for our rights to defend Americanism.

J. W. Lindau, Jr.
UNC '05

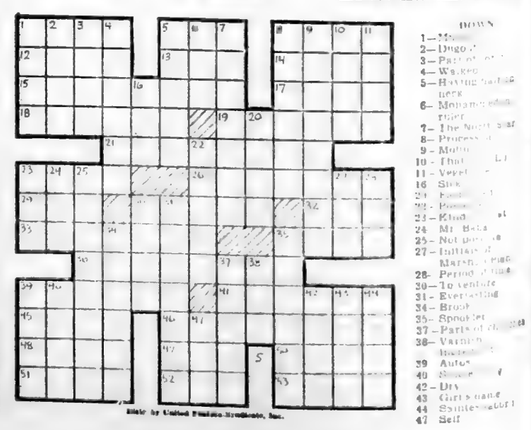
At Mealtimes

Dear Sir:

I am in favor of having hot coffee served in Lenoir Hall during mealtimes. Thank you.

Bob Golby

YMCA COMMITTEE



The You and Your Religion committee of the YMCA, headed by Jeanne Basnight and Helen Compton, will meet tonight at 7 o'clock at the Home of Dean of Women Katherine K. Carmichael for a discussion meeting.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS [illegible]

ACROSS
1 To summon
6 To chart
10 Bucket
12 Wind instrument
13 Past
14 Capable
15 First
17 To breathe noisily
18 To feel stinging sensation
19 Grandson of Esau
21 Fabled city of gold
23 End of arm
26 Stretched out
29 — Brew
30 — Thick
32 — Ago
33 — To move
35 — To glimpse
36 — Breed of dog
39 — Dealer in knives
41 — Anniverse grammatically
45 — A dye
46 — Ignorant
48 — To split
49 — To ripen
50 — Great Lake
51 — Let it stand
52 — — — Angeles
53 — Communists

DOWN
1 — Sin
2 — Drug
3 — Part of
4 — Walked
5 — Having [illegible] here
6 — Monument
7 — The North Star
8 — Progress
9 — Myth
10 — That
11 — Vessel
16 — Sick
20 — [illegible]
22 — Poem
23 — Kind
24 — Mr. Bela
25 — Not [illegible]
27 — Initials of Marsh[illegible]
28 — Period of time
30 — To venture
31 — Everlasting
34 — Brood
35 — Spouse
37 — Parts of [illegible]
38 — Various
39 — Auto
40 — Disease
42 — Dry
43 — Girl's name
44 — Saint[illegible]
47 — Self

Bobbing In Sports

—with—

Bob Goldwater

Raleigh Runaway

WE SAT IN on a basketball game over in Raleigh Tuesday night and the proceedings proved to be very enlightening. For one thing, it made us realize how Custer felt at Little Big Horn, even how State college students felt after a certain weekend last November. Then too, we were greatly impressed with the fact that N. C. State has one mighty cage outfit.

We must admit we hadn't thought so before Tuesday. Scoring 90 or 100 points against Furman, High Point, or Hampden-Sydney is certainly no definite sign of greatness. And we don't mean to stamp the Wolfpack with that label simply because they stomped all over Carolina with such apparent ease. But the fact remains—it was all too clear—that the State cagers rank with the very best college teams in the country when it comes to handling the ball, moving it up and down the court, and especially shooting it through the hoop.

It could be safely stated that the Phantoms never had a ghost of a chance after the four-minute mark. Before that time, they did manage to keep the score tied twice—once at 0-0 and again at 1-1. Then, as late as the 3 and one half minute mark, the Tar Heels found themselves only one point behind. But that's as close as they were to come, and what happened during the remaining 36 and one half minutes is the kind of history we don't like to see in the making.

Just Like Custer

THE SIMILARITY BETWEEN Custer's Last Stand and Carolina's Losing Stand is even greater than one might suppose unless he happened to be in attendance at Memorial auditorium. Like the General and his boys must have been when they met their massacre, the Phantoms' composure was disturbed no end by ear-piercing shrieks worse than any we've heard since "Drums Along the Mohawk." To say that the 3500 fans banked upward from the very edge of the court to the rafters three stories higher were loud in their cheering would be a great understatement. In fact, at times even the players had a hard time hearing the referees toot their whistles.

But as annoying as the partisan crowd may have been to the Tar Heel cagers, the State defensive style proved even more so. Acclaimed as the nation's top offensive unit, the Wolfpack showed their versatility by handcuffing the Carolina scoring power—what there was of it—almost as much as NYU had done three weeks earlier.

After scoring a basket—and that happened many, many times—the West Raleigh lads took to the defense by picking up the Phantoms in the back court and pressing them all the way down the floor. These tactics paid off in high dividends, for not only were the Tar Heels unable to stabilize their attack but they also had the ball stolen from them on numerous occasions.

And while we're mentioning State's sturdy defense, it ought to be mentioned that the Wolfpack stopped the Phantoms when they're usually at their best—at the start of the second half. Carolina didn't score for the first four minutes following intermission, and only picked up eight points in the first 12 minutes.

Cage Stamp of Approval

BUT EVEN HAD the Carolina attack been working on all cylinders, the result would still have fallen far short. It's impossible to get around the fact that N. C. State played a great brand of basketball two nights ago, stamped themselves more than ever as one of the best cage combinations ever to represent a college in North Carolina.

It's only natural that local hardwood followers should think of comparing the Wolfpack outfit with NYU, who presented Carolina with its other "slaughter" this year. It's our opinion, Coach Tom Scott's opinion, likewise that of a great many of the players with whom we've talked, that State would topple the Violets from the unbeaten ranks if they were scheduled to meet this year. Said one Phantom, "If they play in New York the way they did against us, they ought to win the invitationals next month." Which statement we heartily second!

AND FOR THOSE who thrive on statistics, here are a few that might be of interest . . . the State score was the highest ever run up against Carolina, exceeding the 67 collected by Virginia way back in 1914 . . . Bob Paxton played the full 40 minutes, and Norm Kohler sat out only five minutes . . . Five Wolfpack cagers, McComas, Dickey, Horvath, Ranzino, and Cartier, hit double figures in the scoring column . . . The Wolfpack hit with as many field goals in the first half as the Phantoms threw up, 17 in both instances.

OUR FINAL THOUGHT on leaving the Auditorium Tuesday night: If only the Fire Chief had called this one off too.

Undefeated Smith Team Faces ADPi in Lone Battle Tonight

Smith's classy lassies will be seeking their fourth straight victory of the season at 7 o'clock tonight when they tangle with the ADPi cagers in coed basketball play.

The triumphs registered by the Town and Pi Phi sextettes in Tuesday night's Woman's gym cage caperings left four teams—Chi Omega, Smith, the Town girls, and Pi Phi—sporting perfect records. However, the Chi O's have copped four wins to take a half-game lead over the three-times victorious trio. The CICA cagers are also undefeated in four contests but one of their battles ended in a tie which puts them in second place.

Three other tilts were on tap for tonight but Alderman, Spencer, and Kenan had previously dropped out of the tourney because of too many forfeits. This gives additional victories to Chi O, and McIver.

Next Tuesday night's court finale will find one less undefeated team remaining for that evening's hardwood activities are headed by the Tow-Pi Phi tilt. The Tri Delts and Carr will also clash.

Wrestlers Crush Davidson, 29-3; Jayvees Meet Duke Here

Quinlan Charges Register Second Win of Campaign

By Buddy Vaden

Davidson, Feb. 4—Coach Chuck Quinlan's Carolina wrestlers marked up their second straight victory here this afternoon by taking an easy 29-3 victory over Davidson college.

Carolina, the defending Southern conference champion, dropped the first event today when Jim Jung decisioned Carolina's Maryin Wilson in the 121-pound division. Thereafter the Tar Heels completely dominated the picture, capturing the final seven matches.

Doug Thompson, entered in the 128 division, scored the first win for the Tar Heels, decisioning Charles Kirby, 4-0. Thompson was on top of his opponent all the way, experiencing little difficulty in winning.

Two Fast Ones

Tom Urquhart and Phil Kemp each scored two quick triumphs for Carolina in the next two events. Urquhart pinned Hunk Griffiith in 2:58 of the first round, and Kemp pinned Carlyle Charles in just 1:45 of the opening round.

Turning the match into a rout, Carroll Fischer and Oscar Gupton, dependable Tar Heels in the 155 and 165-pound divisions, each scored wins on decisions. Neither had much trouble.

Bill Kemp, 175, turned in the fastest Carolina win of the afternoon, pinning Bill Alexander in just 53 seconds of the first round.

Gets Forfeit Win

With the match already clinched, Coach Quinlan substituted newcomer Lynn Bond in the unlimited division in the place of regular John Stoiff. Bond was trailing, 3-1 after two rounds of his match with Bill Moore, but in the third round Moore was hurt, and had to forfeit the decision.

The summary:

121 lbs.—Jung (D) decisioned Wilson, 14-3.

128—Thompson (C) decisioned Kirby, 4-0.

145—Phil Kemp (C) pinned Charles, 1:45 of 1st round.

136 — Urquhart (C) pinned Griffith, 2:58 of 1st round.

155—Fischer (C) decisioned Evans, 9-4.

165—Gupton (C) decisioned Price, 7-0.

175—Bill Kemp (C) pinned Alexander, 0:53 of 1st round.

Unlimited—Bond (C) won a forfeit over Moore.

Middies Down Duke, 56-46, in Annapolis

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 4 —(UP)—Navy's hot-and-cold cage outfit blew hot here this afternoon to down the touring Duke quintet, 56-46, in the annual clash between the two teams.

The Blue Devils proceed from here to Williamsburg, Va., where they will return to Southern conference competition tomorrow against William and Mary. The contest will have important bearing on the tournament chances of both teams. Duke has a 4-2 record in loop play, while the Indians, with a 4-5 mark, will attempt to pull up to the .500 level.

HANDBALL

4:00—Graham vs. Aycock.

5:00—Oakwood Dr. vs. Law School.

7:00—Stacy vs. Grads.

Carolina Cagers Try for Comeback Against Duke Club Here Saturday

Phantoms Put Aside Memories of Debacle In Raleigh as Team Prepares for Devils

By Dick Jenrette

Carolina's White Phantoms, a bewildered outfit following their 81-42 loss to State on Tuesday, put aside their awful memories yesterday and began preparations for their game with Duke's Blue Devils in friendly Woollen gym Saturday night.

Duke should not prove nearly so difficult an opponent as State, but Coach Jerry Gerrard's Blue Devils always seem to come up with a good game against Carolina. The Phantoms will have to make a terrific rebound if they are to defeat Duke, but they will rate as slight favorites regardless of the poor showing against State.

The fact that the game is being played in Woollen gym will undoubtedly aid the Phantoms in their comeback trial. Carolina has won ten straight games without loss on its home court this year.

Effect on Standings

The Duke-Carolina game will have important bearing on the conference standings. State currently sets the pace with an unblemished loop mark, and Carolina follows with one loss. George Washington, which now has two setbacks, could move ahead of Carolina in the event that Duke knocks off thel ocals for the Colonials have won ten games as compared to Carolina's seven loop victories.

About all that Carolina fans and players could say after seeing State romp over the Phantoms on Tuesday was that the Wolfpack is a great team. State's pressing defense, operated for the full length of the court, probably was the biggest single factor in deciding the encounter. The Phantoms had an exceedingly hard time in working the ball up the court, and even then the State defense was so tight that the Carolina players were unable to get off their long shots. In addition to checking the Carolina scoring, that pressing defense netted the Wolfpack many field goals. Intereceptions of Carolina passes, rushed by the State defense, enabled Jack McComas and other speedy State performers to net many easy layup shots.

Amazing Accuracy

However, State showed that it had a capable group of sharpshooters, for time after time the Raleigh team connected on long one-handed and set shots. State hit an amazing .500 percentage of its shots in the first half and had .420 for the evening. State also took considerably more shots than did the Phantoms.

Taylor Thorne, guard from Rocky Mount, was the brightest light for Carolina. The little scrapper raced all over the court, showing the State outfit that they were not the only fast players on the court.

Confused Atmosphere

The game was played before a full house in Memorial auditorium, former site of the Southern conference tournament. Most of the fans were State Students, and they kept up an uproar throughout the evening that created an atmosphere of confusion that undoubtedly aided the State team.

On several occasions, the State students began to chant "We want a Coliseum" as a reminder to college officials that there is a pressing need for a new gymnasium for State.

Farrell, Powell Top Mural Scorers With 29, 28 Points in Cage Play

The scheduled badminton match with Durham last night was postponed, but that didn't prevent one match in the mural tournament from being played off yesterday. Jack Lupton advanced into the second round by defeating Jim Wadsworth 15-13, 15-13.

Only one handball match was played yesterday. Phi Delt 1 whitewashed Sigma Chi 3, 3-0. Lewis won its match with the Mud Dobbers by forfeit.

TEP 1 scored only one field goal in the first half, but came back to erase the three-point deficit and edge out KA 2, 13-11.

Reggie Farrell notched 29 markers to pace Kappa Psi 2 to a 46-17 win over St. Anthony. The number one Kappa Psi quintet was held to one field goal in the second chapter of play, bowing to Beta 1, 54-10. Beta, led by Ken Powell, who dropped in 28 markers, were ahead 30-5 at the intermission.

Due to the junior varsity basketball game tonight, all intramural games scheduled to be played at 8 o'clock in the main gym, on courts 1, 2, 3, and 4, will be cancelled and played at another date.

Mural Results

22	Emanons	Aycock 2	10
52	Everett 2	Miller	25
61	Oakwood Dr.	Old East	23
17	Fire Balls	Hillers	15
35	Sky Scrapers	Ruffin 1	29
51	Phi Delt 1	Phi Kap 3	16
17	St. Anthony	Kap Psi 2	16
13	TEP 1	KA 2	11
41	SAE 3	DKE 2	10
31	Sig Chi	Phi Gam 1	11
54	Beta 1	Kap Psi 1	10
38	Honeycut	Alexander 1	36
28	Lewis 3	Everett 1	27
51	Lewis 2	Wesley Rockets	18
49	Seiler Five	Cruds	23
53	Black Ball	Graham 2	23
45	Emerson	Stacy	19
41	Unknowns	Whitehead 1	25
46	Mangum	Alexander 2	15
7	Coons	Lewis 1	18
18	Nash	Aycock 1	19
53	Independents	Black Phants	14
28	Field House	BVP 1	18
41	Steele	Graham 1	33
30	Hut 8	Law School	33

Medical School forfeit over Hut 26

Comets forfeit over AVC.

Old West forfeit over BVP 2.

Mural Schedule

BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 1: Sig Nu 3 vs. TEP 2; Court 2: DKE 1 vs. ATO 3; Court 3: Sig Chi 3 vs. Chi Phi 2; Court 4: KA 3 vs. Phi Delt 2; Court 5: Everett 1 vs. Cruds; Court 6: Chi Psi 1 vs. Zeta 2; Court 7: Seiler Five vs. Unknowns.

5:00—Court 1: Geology Dept. vs. Grads; Court 2: Underdogs vs. Mud Dobbers; Court 3: Phi Gam 2 vs. Zeta 1; Court 4: Phi Kap 2 vs. PiKA 2; Court 5: Phi Delt Chi vs. Beta 2; Court 6: PiKA 1 vs. SAE 2; Court 7: Phi Gam 3 vs. Zeta 4.

7:00—Court 1: Phi Kap 1 vs. Chi Phi 1; Court 2: ATO 2 vs. Kap Sig 1; Court 3: Sig Nu 2 vs. Beta 3; Court 4: Pi Lamb 1 vs. PiKA 3; Court 5: Zeta 3 vs. KA 1; Court 6: Sig Nu 1 vs. Kap Sig 2; Court 7: Emanons vs. Coons.

8:00—Court 5: Blackballs vs. ham 2; Court 5: Black Balls vs. Honeycut Manor; Court 6: Whitehead 1 vs. Alexander 1; Court 7: Miller Hall vs. Oakwood Dr.

RIFLE FIRING

7:30—TEP (orientation)

Wins Olympic Event

AT THE WINTER Olympic games in St. Moritz, Switzerland, Reidar Liakles of Norway won the 5,000-meter speed skating event, Skating against a cross-wind and a heavy snowfall, Liakles sped over the 3-mile, 190 yard distance, in 8 minutes, 29 seconds.

(International)

Heat Stymies Olympic Play

St. Moritz, Switzerland, Feb 4—(UP)—The weatherman took over today as the most important entry in the fifth winter Olympic games being held in this scenic mountain city.

A warm thawing rain made it necessary for officials to postpone four of the events scheduled for today, and with another warm day forecast for tomorrow, harried officials agree that there is a possibility some of the events may have to be cancelled.

The events postponed today were the men's and women's figure skating championships, the final three heats of the one-man bobsled race, and the non-Olympic hockey game between the United States and Canada.

When the men's figure skating competition is resumed, 18-year-old Dick Button of Englewood, New Jersey, will be the odds-on favorite to give America another first place berth.

Tar Heel Mittmen Fight at Durham In Golden Gloves

Five Carolina boxers will take part in the Durham Golden Gloves tourney which got underway last night in the Bull City.

The team will be one of three unit entries and is called the Tar Heel Athletic club. The group is coached by Joe Thigpen, last year's boxing manager

The only Tar Heels to see action last night were Rex Eatman, who battled Pat Cannada of the Durham A. C. in the 135-pound class of the open division, and John Richardson who met Bob Browning of Durham A. C. in the 175-pound division.

The four that drew byes were Bill Buffaloe, in the open 126-pound class; Jim Stafford, in the open 135-pound class; Joe Wratten in the open 147-pound class; and heavyweight Ed McGee, one of the favorites in the open heavyweight bracket.

Quints in Third Meeting of Year; Kids Play Prelim

By Bill Kellam

Last week jayvee cage coach Jim Hamilton took his charges to Raleigh where State's juniors truly slipped by the locals in what later turned out to be a not quite so one-sided preview of last Tuesday's varsity debacle.

Tonight in Woollen gym the Tar Heel jayvees tangle with Duke's Blue Imp hoopsters at 8 o'clock in an early preliminary to the varsity clash on Saturday night and the Carolina mentor has his fingers crossed in hopes that history won't repeat itself.

Hamilton wasn't too optimistic over the Bantams' chances tonight of taking their second straight victory over the Imps for the Pale Blue juniors have looked anything but world—or rather Duke—beaters during their practice session this week.

The same five that opened the State tilt—Hal Ferraro and Pete Peters at forwards, John Tsantes in the pivot, and Bill White and Charlie Thorne in the guard slots—will probably start tonight's contest. The Carolina juniors will have an added incentive to take tonight's battle for early last month, the Imps handed the locals their first setback of the season, 41-39.

That defeat broke a five-game Carolina winning streak, but a couple of weeks ago Ham's boys gained revenge for this setback by knocking off the young

(See JAYVEES, page 4)

In a special preliminary to tonight's Carolina-Duke jayvee clash, the Town Terrors will meet the Hill Hotshots in a contest starting at 7 o'clock. The two midget aggregations are currently tied in their series with two victories each. The game will be run off in four five-minute quarters.

Phone 8686

Dr. William Kohn

OPTOMETRIST

Over Carolina Coffee Shop

Office hours:

9:00-1:00 Sat.

9:00-5:00 Tues. & Thurs.

PRESCRIPTIONS

Filled Promptly

ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY

—at—

SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

JEFFERSON CAFETERIA

Hi Fellows!

in DURHAM . . .

it's the

Jefferson Cafeteria

103 E. Main St.

for FINE FOODS

at REASONABLE PRICES

Lunch 11:00 a. m.—2:15 p. m.

Dinner 4:30 p. m.—8:00 p. m.

JEFFERSON CAFETERIA

CUSTOM-BUILT CARS

won't fit a G.I. budget

but for—

$1,30

you can get

CUSTOM CATERED CANDIES

by DANZIGER'S in

"Personalized"

VALENTINE HEARTS

with your OWN message, monogram or motto

painted FREE of charge

Carolina Sport Shop

PRESENTS

POPULAR HITS

• I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover —ART MOONEY

• Gloomy Sunday —BILLY HOLIDAY

—ALBUM HITS—

• Sentimental Date with PERRY COMO RCA Victor

• High Button Shoes with original New York cast

Carolina Sport Shop

CAROLINA

James W. Fesler Elected to Post

Dr. James W. Fesler of the Department of Political Science, has just been elected president of the University chapter of the American association of University Professors.

Dr. Samuel B. Knight, associate professor of chemistry, was elected vice-president, and Dr. B. L. Ullman, Kenan professor of the classical languages and literature secretary-treasurer.

The Executive committee is composed of these officers and Dr. John N. Couch, Kenan professor of botany, and Dr. John P. Gillin, professor of anthropology.

The purposes of the American association of University Professors are "to bring about more effective cooperation among the members of the profession in the discharge of their special responsibilities as custodians of the interests of higher education and research in America: to promote a more general and methodical discussion of problems relating to education in institutions of higher learning; to create means for the authoritative expression of the public opinion of the body of college and university teachers; to make collective action possible and in general to maintain and advance the ideals and standards of the profession."

MASONS TO MEET

The Brazen Pillars, a Masonic club organized to enable student Masons to become more proficient in the Masonic ritual, will meet at the Phi Hall (fourth floor New East) this evening at 7:30. All student Masons are invited to attend.

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

THAT WINTER
A new and exciting novel by Merle Miller
at
Ab's Intimate Bookshop

AT THE ANNUAL RECEPTION given by the Congressional Club in Washington for the President and his family, Mrs. Clifford Davis (right), president of the organization, is shown welcoming the honored guests. Mrs. Davis is the wife of Rep. Clifford Davis (D-Tenn.). (International)

Campus Calendar

2:00 p. m.—Graham Memorial staff, main office.
3:30 p. m.—International Zionists Federation of American, meeting.
4:00 p. m.—Hillel foundation, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
4:00 p. m.—Campus Party, Roland Parker lounge no. 2.
5:00 p. m.—World Federalists, Grail Room.
5:00 p. m.—Women's Glee Club, Hill hall.
6:30 p. m.—Recorded dinner music, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
6:30 p. m.—Philanthropic Assembly committee, Roland Parker no. 2.
7:00 p. m.—YWCA group, Grail room.
7:00 p. m.—You and Your Religion Committee of the YWCA will meet at the home of Dean Carmichael.
7:30 p. m.—Law Wives, Horace Williams lounge.
7:30 p. m.—Students for Democratic Action, Roland Parker no. 1.
7:30 p. m.—Western North Carolina Club, Roland Parker nos. 2, 3.
8:00 p. m.—Order of the Golden Fleece, Grail room.

GETS CYCLOTRON

Sao Paulo, Brazil, Feb. 3—(UP)—Professor Marcelo Dami Souza, director physics department, Sao Paulo University, announced today that the world's second largest cyclotron will be installed here shortly, making Sao Paulo, Brazil, one of the most important atomic research centers.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 5B

SMALL FRIGIDAIRE. GOOD CONdition. Phone F-2817 between 4:00 and 6:00 p. m. (1-1755-1)

SMITH-CORONA (STERLING) PORTable typewriter. Almost new. Original ribbon. Price $75. Call F-3872 after 2:00. (1-1759-1)

LOST 12

ONE LADIES' GOLD WRIST WATCH. Please return to DAILY TAR HEEL office. Reward. 1-1757-1

LAMEDA CHI ALPHA PIN AT WOmen's gym Tuesday night, Feb. 3. If found, call Mildred Tilson, Spencer, 5081. (1-1760-1)

HELP WANTED 8

TWO CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTants to work on the books of the OLIPHANT Corporation. Long hours of work, overtime guaranteed. Permanent position for industrious young man. Interested parties see Daniels, Brown, Lyon, or Hepburn at the Sigma Chi House. (1-1758-2)

SERVICES OFFERED 19

COMPLETE MODERN RADIO, APpliance service shop now open and ready to serve you. We call for, deliver. Johnson-Strowd-Ward Furniture, 422 W. Franklin. Telephone F-3491. (ch1x1)

-WORKERS-

(Continued from page 2)

Venus was erected but it was the first to melt and is probably completely demolished by now, there's probably a moral in that somewhere.

The final reports have come in at last from the mayoral election and Perry Payne was elected. His election coincides with the election of a new council, so we're expecting a clean sweep with our new political broom.

On the bright side this week, comes the report that plans have been completed for underpinning the baracks. Work on this project should begin when weather permits.

University of North Carolina
Housing Office

To Men Students Assigned to University Housing:

If you plan to occupy University Housing space for the spring quarter of 1948, fill out this form and return it to the Housing Office, No. 22 New West Annex not later than February 9, 1948

FAILURE TO FILL OUT AND RETURN THIS FORM WILL RESULT IN THE LOSS OF YOUR SPACE.

Name
Room
Hall
Hut

-SYMPHONY-

(Continued from page 1)

girls paid $9 to get a taxi from Durham to Chapel Hill. And Patricia, violin player, said she and two friends were forced to spend the night in Durham before they could get a taxi to the university village.

"Southern Senator"

Luba Nobak, originally from Winnepeg, Canada, said she arrived in Durham laden with a cello case and a portable radio. She looked around and couldn't see a familiar face, but she did see some boys carrying fiddles so she invited herself to go along with them to Chapel Hill. A very nice old man who "looked like a Southern senator", she said, helped her with her cello.

Gene Whicker, a French horn player, said it seemed as if the train he was riding from Asheville to Durham was just convalescing from a long illness and didn't want to exert itself.

Miss Dorothy Fowler, violinist, said she was stuck in Raleigh Monday morning until several Carolina boys who had to be in Chapel Hill in time for classes offered to share the taxi they had hired. This was a $15 trip for the group.

Double Bass Trouble

Ellery Lewis Wilson and Miss Mildred Hine both found themselves stranded in Greensboro with no busses running and the trains over four hours late. Mr. Wilson's greatest concern, however, was for his big double bass which had been sent on ahead. "The strings of my instrument are made in Vienna and are very rare," he said, "and they cost about $30, so I was worried about how it would be taken care of." Miss Hine, who plays a French horn, is secretary to James McClure, head of the Farmers federation at Asheville. Her employer is such a staunch supporter of the Symphony, he gives his musician-secretary leave to play the entire tour of both the Little and full Symphony.

Slow Journey

Miss Helen Marie Lundgren, a trumpet player, was driving to Chapel Hill with her parents. "The windshield wiper kept freezing," she said, "and we had to stop every little while to scrape the ice from it. We averaged about 15 miles an hour."

According to Mr. Pikutis, who says he is Tour Manager and a field representative at times, but that the terms "trouble-shooter" and "glorified nursemaid" fit his job better, such problems of transportation and off-schedule arrivals are, if perhaps a little unusual this time because of the snow, not out of the ordinary.

Arranging for transportation, accomodations and eating facilities for an entire symphony and accompanying instruments is not an easy job. Last year, he said, he even had to arrange for three weddings while on the tour.

Wrong Auditorium

Once the orchestra arrived in a town and set up for the concert that night. When no one came to the auditorium, an investigation revealed that they had been misdirected to the wrong auditorium. In a downpour of rain, equipment had to be moved and the waiting audience had to be patient until the concert finally started half an hour late.

So, when, in future weeks, North Carolinians listen to the North Carolina Symphony, they should appreciate the difficulties of getting the musicians there as well as the music itself.

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

Delicatessen sold — to take out — at HARRY'S

Volunteer Committee of YWCA Renews Baby Sitting Service

Members of the Social Service committee of the YWCA have organized again this quarter as a voluntary baby sitters group, for the benefit of married students and their families.

Services of the group may be obtained Monday through Thursday nights free of charge, the only stipulation being that girls must be seen to and from their dormitories safely, and that they should return by 11 o'clock.

The following girls are available: Monday: Virginia Nash, 3rd Spencer, 4066; Pat Lane, Kitty Miller, Tri Delt house, 8036; Martha Rainsford, 2nd Alderman, 6096; Caroline Warren, 301 Hillsboro St., 4321.

Tuesday: Alice Jones, 3rd Spencer, 4066; Doris Beasley, Jackie Goodwin, Nancy Horner, Beverly Morrison, 2nd Spencer, 4061; Ann Anderson, Irene Williams, Archer, 6016; Ben Beale, Cattie Holt, Tri Delt house, 8036; Alberta Mercer, 3rd Alderman, 3071; and Ann Eutsler, 3rd McIver, 8066.

Wednesday: Ann Clark, June Gilbert, Effie Senn Mason, 2nd Alderman 6096; Beverly Morrison, 2nd Spencer, 4061; Heath Hartzell, 1st McIver, 7061, Betsy Lawrence, 3rd Spencer, 4066.

Thursday: Kate Conner, Dolly Colwell, 2nd Spencer, 4061; Elizabeth Browning, 2nd Smith, 6052; Martha Dan Payne, 2nd Alderman, 6096; and Jean Stoutenberg, Tri Delt, 8036.

-JAYVEES-

(Continued from page 3)

Devils, 37-31, in the Duke gym.

Tsantes Top Scorer

Tsantes still heads the Carolina scorers with 133 points in 13 games for a 10.2 average. Rangy Peters has tossed in 106 counters in 13 contests, for an 8.2 per-game clip, while Thorne's dozen-tilt 83-marker total was good for a 7 point average.

In winning 11 out of 13 starts, the Carolina juniors have hit the hoop for 660 points for a 50.7 per game clip. On the other side of the scoring column they've outdistanced their big brothers by holding their foes to only 430 points, for a 33-marker-per-con-

Science, Happiness To Be Program Topic

"North Carolina Viewpoint" will be presented by air tonight at 8:30 o'clock from the Communication Center of the University. The subject, "Has Science Advanced Human Happiness" will be discussed by Dr. L. O. Katsoff of the Philosophy department who will act as moderator.

SDA Meets Tonight To Hold Elections

The Students for Democratic Action will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Roland Parker Lounge No. 1 to elect a new president, vice-president and secretary, W. C. Dutton, retiring president, announced yesterday. The Marshall Plan Committee will give a report at this time. The meeting is open to all interested.

Quick Service
DURHAM OPTICAL COMPANY
215 W. Main St.
Phone F-2141 Durham

WINTER DRUG NEEDS

• For That Cough—
A full supply of cough remedies that check the cough and cold in a short time.

• For Chapped Skin—
Lotions of lotions to soothe and soften even the roughest skin. They're grand as protection too.

• For a Lingering Cold
Nose drops especially designed to open up and unclog those breathing passages. You'll feel better the moment you try them.

YOUR WALGREEN AGENCY
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE
For Over Twenty Years Reasonable Drug Prices

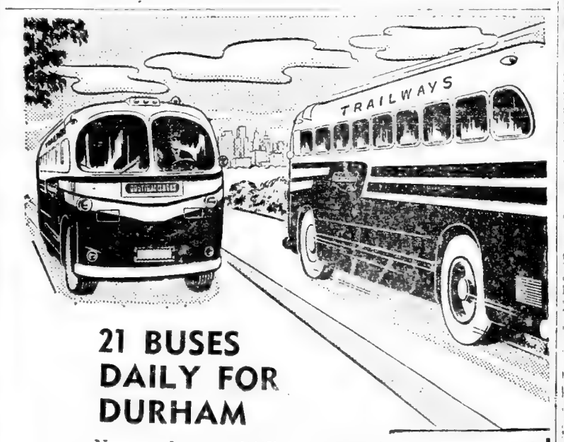
cause for American Pride...

THE TREATY OF PARIS

★ First formal recognition by any power of the independence of the United States. It provided, among other things, for the removal of all British troops from America. Article 10 of the original treaty, along with a hundred other famous documents in American history, is now touring the country aboard the "Freedom Train". Watch for this train's arrival in your area!

Parker "51"
"51 writes dry with wet ink!"

Be proud of what you write... and the way you write it!



Just hold a new Parker "51" in your hand! Note its tapered beauty. Already you know the pride of owning the world's most-wanted pen. You feel like writing! See how instantly the "51" starts—and the way it writes . . . smoothly, effortlessly, without a skip. Truly, here's a pen that reflects credit on everything you write! So, ask for the Parker "51". Two sizes: regular and new demi-size. Both with wide range of custom points to choose from. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wisconsin, U.S.A., and Toronto, Canada.

"She'll snap right out of it as soon as she gets her Dentyne Chewing Gum."

"I wouldn't have to put on this sleepwalking act if that dopey husband of mine would remember to bring home delicious, clean tasting Dentyne Chewing Gum with the rich, long lasting flavor. A lot he cares that Dentyne helps keep my teeth white."

Dentyne Gum—Made Only By Adams

21 BUSES DAILY FOR DURHAM

Never a long wait! Save money by riding these convenient and comfortable buses.

DURHAM
One way 25
Round trip . . .45

Ask your bus agent about low commuter fares.

CHAPEL HILL BUS STATION
PHONE 4261

Carolina TRAILWAYS
THE ROUTE OF THE Traildawgs

SHE WAS TROUBLE All Set on a Trigger

Stop givin' out the eye... and hangin' around Lennie, or there's goin' to be a mess... a bad mess about you!"

Hal Roach presents
MICE AND MEN
JOHN STEINBECK
BURGESS MEREDITH · BETTY FIELD · LON CHANEY, JR.

NOW PLAYING
VILLAGE

University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Cloudy with occasional rain

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
Accomplishment and Need
Combined Mag Saving
Totally Unqualified

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 93

Y Groups Plan Winter Retreat For Leaders Of Student Activities

Conference To Be Held In Virginia February 20-23

By Helen Highwater

Campus problems and world affairs as they affect a university student body will be discussed by Carolina students and representatives from other schools at a Winter Re- eat at Natural Bridge, Vir- nia, on February 20, 21, and

DR. FRANK HANFT

CAMERON P. HALL

sponsored by the YMCA and the YWCA, the retreat is open to the entire student body, and has as its theme, "A Clue to Our Purpose." Student leaders in campus politics, publications, and other organizations will attend in order to discuss their respective fields, and authorities in national and international affairs will speak, all with the aim of aiding students to visualize the goals toward which they should be working.

Principal Speakers

Cameron P. Hall, of New York City, a member of the Federal Council of Churches, and Dr. Frank Hanft, of the University Law school, will be the principal speakers, discussing national and international problems respectively.

In addition to the speeches and discussion groups, features of the weekend will include sight-seeing trips to points of interest around Natural Bridge and square and ballroom dancing. Pete Burks and Julia Ross are co-chairman of arrangements for the retreat.

Registration for the retreat will be opened to the campus as a whole next week. Claude Shotts general secretary of the YMCA has stressed that any student on campus may attend, and that the make-up of the group is by no means limited to members of the Y cabinets. Invitations have been sent to about 25 colleges near Natural Bridge to send delegates.

Transportation to and from Natural Bridge will be furnished

(See RETREAT, Page 4)

Convocation Will Welcome Graham Return

President Frank Graham, American representative on the three-man Good Offices commission that effected a truce in the Dutch-Indonesian dispute, will be welcomed home at a special convocation that will include University trustees, faculty, alumni, and students, it was announced last night.

President Graham returned to this country Sunday and is now presenting his report to the Secretary of State and to the Security Council of the United Nations. He is expected to return to Chapel Hill around February 14.

The decision to welcome him home at a general convocation, instead of a formal dinner, as was originally considered, was reached yesterday afternoon and announced by Chancellor Robert B. House following consultation with student, faculty, and administrative representatives.

Playmakers Plan Tryouts Tuesday

Harry Davis, director of "Call Back Yesterday", the next full length production of the Carolina Playmakers, announced tryouts or next Tuesday, February 10, at 4 o'clock and 7:30 in the Playmaker theater. The play is scheduled for performance March 10 through 13.

"Call Back Yesterday" is by Gene McLain, and contains parts for nearly thirty actors and actresses.

Davis said that scripts of the play have been placed in the reserve room of the library so that students who are interested in trying out for one of the many parts will have the opportunity to read the material.

He added, "The Carolina Playmakers is a community theater. All students, faculty members, and townspeople are eligible to try out for parts, or to take part in the backstage work."

Davis, associate professor in the dramatic art department, directed last summer's production of "Outward Bound" and last season's presentation of "State of the Union".

Absent Legislators

The following members of the Student Legislature were absent from the February 4 special session: Dick Boren, Lynn Blanchard, Dan Logue, Peppy Lucas, Joyce Peterson, Jane Rogers, Mary Swann.

On January 27 the following legislators were absent: Gil Burnett, George Drew.

These legislators are asked to submit excuses to Jim Fort, chairman of the Rules committee of the Legislature.

Constitutional Amendment Is Tabled; Mag Consolidation Bill Has Same Fate

By Chuck Hauser

The constitutional amendment bill which would take away the appellate jurisdiction of the Student council was tabled by the Student Legislature last night, and the magazine consolidation bill met a like fate, following heated discussion on both.

The bill to establish a Coed Affairs committee of the Legislature, the bill to establish a committee to investigate student banking facilities, the Legislature budget for the coming year, and the speaker's fund bill all passed with little or no discussion.

Legislator Tag Montague proposed a new bill to establish a committee to study the constitution with reference to the present judicial set-up and to present an amendment to the Legislature to take the place of the Eller-sponsored amendment which was tabled by the special session of the law-making body last night.

The rules were suspended by a two-thirds vote of the group, and the measure passed almost unanimously.

Also under new business was another constitutional amendment bill introduced by Jess Dedmond. Referred to committee, it provides for a holdover member on the Women's council to be chosen after the April elections from the junior members of the council elected in December. If the chairman at that time is a junior, she shall automatically become the holdover member, the bill states.

Student body President Tom Eller started the ball rolling on discussion on his proposed constitutional amendment by telling the legislators of his previous opposition to the bill last year when he sat in the Legislature.

The bill not only takes away the appellate power of the Student council, but provides for the Student council to become the one honor code violation court in the judiciary set-up, with the Men's and Women's councils becoming social violation courts.

Any appeal students may wish to make would be directed to a faculty appeal board.

"I believed the appeal would work last year," Eller stated, 'and I sat in here with the same weapon the opponents of this bill could use tonight—that the basic right of the students to appeal should never be revoked."

The president of the student body discussed the reversal of the Men's council decision by a faculty appeal board last summer, and the reversal of the Men's council decision on a scaling case by the Student council in the fall.

"The appeal must be abolished at all costs," Eller declared, going on to say, "We have spent a hazardous two years unsuccessfully trying to make the system work."

Charging into a new angle of the situation, the president stated, "A virtual clique—and I am not saying this for the benefit of the press—a virtual clique is in control of the Men's council."

Legislator Jim Vogler questioned Eller as to the meaning of the word "clique" as he used it.

"I would not like this publicized, since the Daily Tar Heel has been indiscreet in some other things they have handled recently," Eller explained, "but I would like to say that I am making no personal attacks on any members of the councils.

"Bob Broughton is chairman of the Student Council and he is a Phi Gamma Delta—I don't believe I have to say anything more there. Bill Tate, head of the Men's council, is a Phi Gamma Delta. Charlie Lambeth, on the Men's council, is a Phi Gamma Delta. South Trimble, another member

(See LEGISLATURE, Page 4)

Roy Cole Band To Furnish Music For Senior Program On Monday

By Donald MacDonald

Music will be furnished by Roy Cole and his orchestra, with featured vocals by George Demas, at the senior class entertainment program scheduled for Memorial hall Monday night.

Designed to bring all seniors together for one of the last business and entertainment meetings of their scholastic year, the program will begin at 8 o'clock. Senior class president Benson McCutcheon heads the committee composed of Cattie Holt and Jim McCormick which has arranged the program.

Roy Cole, a student from Forest City, has been connected with campus orchestras since pre-war tudent days. He has played with the college orchestras of Jimmy Fuller, Ted Ross, Charlie Wood and Freddy Johnson. When he returned to Carolina from service in 1945 he organized his own campus orchestra. Cole plays saxophone with the group, while his vocalist is also a sax-player.

ROY COLE AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Sharing Monday's spotlight will be the dancing of a professional ballet artist, Frances Johnson. Miss Johnson will dance two speciality numbers, interpretations of "Ballerina" and "Golden Earrings." She is appearing through the courtesy of the N. C. Entertainment bureau.

Football movies and songs by the Sigma Chi septet will be extra features of the mammoth show. The septet members include Bill Sunas, Buddy Lyons, B. K. Grow, Earl Somers, Bud Early, Len Butt and John Clayton. Piano accompanist is Hank Beebe.

Mullinax to Head Conservation Club

The Carolina Conservative club held its semi-annual elections Wednesday evening in Aycock Dorm. Election results found Paul E. Mullinax of Gastonia, taking over the presidency from John C. York of High Point.

The post of first vice-president was given to Banks Talley of Bennettsville, S. C. Paul Harril of Forest City was elected second vice-president, Meek Carpenter of Kings Mountain, secretary, and Charles Kauffman of Charlotte, treasurer. After the elections, present political highlights and future club activities were discussed, and a new meeting place selected.

Wallace Attacked

In the political discussions, there was no defense offered when Henry Wallace was verbally thrashed by several of the members, and the topic was closed when club treasurer. Charles Kauffman stated that the only way to deal with Henry Wallace was to ignore him completely.

The Universal Military Training question was brightly spotlighted. President Paul Mullinax declared that the anti-UMT arguments were illogical and supported his statements with illustrations. There were no dissenters present.

Decline Merger

When the topic of club activities was brought up, an offer from the Young Republicans club to effect an affiliation between the two clubs was considered and the dominantly Democratic Conservative club tentatively decided that the brotherhood could be achieved by individual members, but declined as yet to link the club as a whole with the other organization.

Plans for the annual spring banquet were discussed and formulated, and the meeting concluded with the decision to hold future assemblies in room 20 of the New East Annex each Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Laundry Will Resume Town Service Monday

Announcement came yesterday from the Laundry office that regular weekly pick-up and delivery service will be resumed for students living in town beginning next Monday, February 9.

Weekly laundry service is already in operation for students living on campus.

2:30

Beale Praises Norman Thomas Who Will Speak Here Tuesday

By Mary Ann Taber

"One of the best speakers and most well-informed men in the country," University History Professor Dr. Howard Beale says of Norman Thomas, Socialist party head who will speak here next Tuesday evening. Under sponsorship of the Carolina Political union, Thomas will speak against universal military training in Memorial hall at 8 o'clock.

Thomas will arrive in Chapel Hill next Tuesday in time to speak on American foreign policy to Dr. Beale's 10 o'clock history class. Plans for a luncheon on Tuesday in honor of the Socialist leader have been laid but are indefinite at this time.

Fills Auditorium

Those who recall Thomas' previous visits to the University in 1937-38 or '40 will remember him as the speaker who has consistently filled Memorial hall to overflowing. He has always participated enthusiastically in class seminars, open forums, and informal "bull sessions." CPU members say he responded in the question periods after his speeches as clearly and concisely as any speaker they have ever sponsored.

Twice in the past Thoma's traveling expenses have been paid by voluntary contributions, since the trips have not been part of a pre-election campaign and since it's not CPU policy to pay speakers.

Agressor For Peace

The 64-year-old leader has long been noted as an agressor for peace and has been attached to the Socialist party for the purpose since 1920. After one visit he stated, "the peace and calm which our party seeks is found at Chapel Hill." He went on to hail the university town as an 'oasis of learning".

In the past Thomas has most often spoken here in the capacity of a commentator on international and national affairs. In 1937 he pointed out to University students the trends toward Fascism in the U.S. For the topic of his speech in 1938 he chose the Sochialist program which was aimed at keeping America out of war, attacking Roosevelt's foreign and neutrality policy at that time and opposing rearmament.

Again in 1940 while stating America's role at home and abroad he said America's task abroad was keeping out of war, at the same time making democracy work at home. Once again he attacked Roosevelt's foreign policy and armament program. The latter, he said, was then costing the U. S. a million dollars for "drunken soldiers and arms that would soon be obsolete."

Scholarship Test Is Open to Coeds

The Memorial Scholarship Committee of the Katherine Gibbs School, a four-part business college for women in Boston, Chicago, New York City, and Providence, has announced the opening of its national scholarship competition for 1948. Entries will be accepted from any woman senior at an American university, and two of the applicants will be chosen by the committee to receive these tution-free benefits.

Polly Jo Evans, University graduate of last spring, is currently at the New York branch of this school, having won one of the 1947 scholarships over a nation-wide field of entrants.

All coeds interested in further information as to the entrance requirements of this competition, may procure them from Kathryn G. Cook, associate director of the University's Bureau of Vocational information, in Room 209, South building.

Bill to Abolish Fraternities Defeated by Di Senate, 19-3

By Sam Whitehall

Al Lowenstein unexpectedly pulled a bill out of his hat at the Dialectic Senate Wednesday night designed to put the Di on record as favoring the abolition of fraternties.

All the bill did, however, was to cause some excitement in what had been a relatively quite session discussing the question of whether fraternity rushing should be delayed until a student's second quarter in school. The latter was the bill originally scheduled for discussion by the body.

Bill Defeated

Lowenstein's measure was defeated 19-3 after hot debate. The three persons voting for the measure were Lowenstein, Bill Harding and Mickey McNutt.

In his charges against fraternities, Lowenstein made such accusations as the statement that fraternity presidents are sometimes ousted for standing up for the honor code rather than defending the brother who violated it.

"The Interfraternity council vetos controls student government," Lowenstein declared, going on to charge that the IFC influenced the Student council on the House Privileges board decision.

"Stultify Thinking"

Still holding the floor, the abolition-bill's creator made the statement that fraternities "stultified" thinking, and that the fraternity system was responsible for honor code violation when the choice was between the "system" and the honor code.

Defenders of fraternities on this campus in general were John Van Hecke, Charlie Gibson and Randy McLeod, among others.

The original question of the evening, the bill to recommend delaying fraternity rushing of new students until they have been in residence for at least one quarter, was passed by a 20-1 vote. The lone opponent of the measure was Marshall Pinnix.

Little Discussion

Little discussion was held on the bill, due to the obvious fact that most members of the Senate were in favor of the plan. It was introduced by Dortch Warriner.

Published not in self defense but in the belief it will be an

Rho Chi Tapping Honors Fourteen

Sam Koonce, President of Rho Chi, welcomed the following new members into the Rho Chi Society, Wednesday night at a meeting of the Student Branch North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association:

Scott Gardner, James Edwards, Sam Cavenaugh, Mary Beth Lockwood, Winfred King, Hal Hawkins, Mrs. Peggy Costner Simmons, W. M. Jordon, Thomas Mitchell, John Hood, Jr., William Forrest, Gordon Heath, William Puckett, and Rudolph Pittman.

Folowing the tapping ceremony, the new members were introduced to the society by Van Secerst.

Sechriest Given Publications Post

Stuart Sechriest, assistant professor in the University's department of Journalism, has been appointed as the new faculty member of the Publications board, Chancellor Robert B. House announced yesterday.

Sechriest, who is in his second year on th school's faculty, will serve until December 31, 1948. He replaces W. A. Olsen of the English department whose term in this position has expired.

The new board member is a graduate of the University and had been employed for several years on the staffs of various Greensboro newspapers before coming to Chapel Hill last year.

The Publications board, is composed of four student members elected yearly, two faculty advisors and one permanent nonvoting faculty member. Its function is to handle matters concerning the four student publications.

Three Featured Acts Are Scheduled Tonight In Graham Memorial's Rendezvous Floor Show

By Sally Woodhull

Skippy Mann, blackface comic singer, will be one of three featured acts at tonight's Rendezvous floor show starting at 10:30 in the campus carbaret on the ground floor of Graham Memorial. He will sing several numbers while acompanying himself at a white piano.

Also featured in the show tonight is Dick Katzin who performs under the name of Riqui Casino. A junior from Winston-Salem, he has been heard on local and national radio shows and has been very well received in other appearances. He will do several popular comedy songs.

Dallas Byerly, freshman from Sanford, will appear tonight with his new partner in an acrobatic adagio routine. A twelve-year-old dancing prodigy from Sanford, his partner will be making her first campus appearance.

Opening at 7 o'clock, the Rendezvous room will have music for dancing all evening furnished by John Hough and his trio. Hough, a junior from Washington, plays the clarinet, and has appeared with several dance bands in the eastern part of the state.

Pianist Jack Sturgell, second member of the trio, is well-known in New York cafe society, and has appeared frequently in Greenwich Village cabarets. Playing the bass fiddle for the combo is Howard Myers, junior from Winston-Salem, who also plays with the University Symphony orchestra.

The combo is scheduled to play for dancing every Friday night from 7 o'clock until closing, but the floor shows, planned by entertainment director Clarence Barbour, will go on a two-week schedule after next week's show.

Next Friday night the Rendezvous room will be converted into a New Orleans water front cafe, bead curtain, bamboo and all, with Bill Corley and Grace Blades doing the featured dance, choreographed by Bill. Records for rehearsals of the show have been lent by Ab's Book store.

At tomorrow night's open house, as at those of the past, delicacies from Danziger's candy kitchen will be furnished free, donated by Edward K. Danziger.

Story That Woman's College Banned Is Big Attraction of New Mag Issue

By John Stump

Appearance on Saturday of the January issue of the Carolina magazine featuring a story on Woman's college illustrated by the years "most revealing" cover was the news yesterday from the Mag office.

Titled "Of Cabbages and Queens," the WC story was written by Mag managing editor Charlie Gibson and is illustrated by Bill Harrison. Apparently the story's content is as secret as the atom bomb, but the story of why it is appearing is not.

According to Editor Fred Jacobson, the magazine and the WC "Corradi" had agreed to exchange impressions of the schools for publication. However, the Carolina magazine's story on WC did not meet their ethical standards and was killed. The same thing happened to their story on WC's impression of us. Gibson's story was the one they rejected, and the Mag is publishing it in self defense.

Published not in self defense but in the belief it will be an exceedingly popular feature is a pictorial "Campus Quiz" conceived and conducted by Wilson Yarborough. It features "unfamiliar shots of familiar spots", and according to Jacobson no one who has taken it so far has made a respectable score in identifying the places pictured.

"Neapolitan Nightmare" by Roy Moose will be the fictional feature of the issue. Described by Jacobson as "the Saturday Evening Post type", it is the story of the adventures of two American soldiers in the Italian black market. "Lady and The Lion" by Louis Stevens is another of the coming issue's stories that the editor classed as top secret. However, he did permit it to leak out that he believes it to be the best work of a popular campus author.

"OK Chaos", a "most unusual" story written by Howard Myers and "A Report from Switzerland" sent by a University alumnus to the magazine complete the "balanced menu being offered.

'Scholastic Accomplishment, Financial Need'

The University of North Carolina can mark up another "first" on its record.

According to Interfraternity council member Bob Nelson this University is probably the first in the country to provide a special Interfraternity scholarship.

The Daily Tar Heel wishes to commend the council for establishing this "Interfraternity War Memorial scholarship." It will serve to provide a student with $500 per year for four years of study at the University.

The award will be made to "an outstanding North Carolina high school senior" who would be chosen by the University Student Aid committee. The IFC says that a student's "past record, scholastic accomplishment and financial need" will be the bases for the selection.

It seems to us that this scholarship—in addition to the others made available through the University—is much needed, especially in the South. Many brilliant high school students never have an opportunity to become useful scientists, business executives or professional men because they cannot afford to seek higher education—and "higher education" is certainly becoming a prerequisite for success in almost every field now.

And, if our memory serves us, the most intelligent students that we remember in high school were not those fortunate persons who had enough money to buy their education—for these same well-to-do students also had money enough to buy themselves good times on nights that the poorer group devoted to study.

A recent editorial in that entertaining but not always trustworthy weekly magazine: LIFE, plumped rather heavily for a college education for everyone. LIFE would have higher education made a sort of birthright for American boys and girls just as a high school education has become.

For the purpose of this editorial we agree in part with LIFE. We believe that too many deserving young people do not get college educations because they cannot afford them. We believe these deserving, and we stress the word deserving, young people should receive all educational privileges possible. But we would like to supplement LIFE'S suggestion to this extent: competitive examinations should be given all those young people applying for higher education. In this manner, many of that not inconsiderable number of young men and women who would be content to loaf for four years at the government's expense.

We believe that the government would serve the people to the best advantage if it followed the same line now being taken by the Interfraternity council and others donating scholarships. Only those persons who are willing and able to profit from a college education should receive such education.—B.S.

Eller on Mags: Part II

Combined Mag Will Save $2000

By Tom Eller

On the same night, prior to the passage of the referendum bill, I had submitted my ideas concerning the two publications to the Legislature along with a bill which I calculated to meet the problem as I understand it. It had been pointed out many times that the friction between Carolina Magazine and the Tarnation Magazine continues from editor to ad man while both fail to serve the real purpose for which the two separate magazines are intended.

After considering all the alternatives and after having talked at length with students close to publications and with students at large, I reached the conclusion that there was no reason that the campus could not have an enlarged single magazine embodying both literature and humor and at an expense sharply less than the present cost of operating the two separately. These sentiments were expressed in the bill which was referred to a committee and which has not yet been discussed on the floor. I should like to ask your consideration of some of its provisions.

At present the Carolina Magazine is 32 pages in size. The combination of the two with the idea that they will embody both humor and literature can be made into a 40 page minimum with 8 additional pages to be added if supported by adequate advertising. It is proposed that it have double the present amount of engraving. It is also proposed that a new magazine should be managed by a board of editors composed of a man whose speciality is humor, a man whose speciality is literature, and one who likes photography. It would be understood that these candidates are to settle all personal disagreements before they submit themselves for election and that one shall be assumed to have the right of final decision in regard to make-up, etc. It is my opinion that this board of editors would assure the reader that both humor and literature would be treated. This magazine of additional service could be sponsored by approximately $8600.00 in student fees. This is a saving of over $2000.00 from the costs of two separate magazines.

Because the name Carolina Magazine is one steeped in tradition, I have recommended that it be retained for the new publication. On this point I think neither the students who favor a combination nor I, can afford to be dogmatic. Our major interest is to try to achieve a magazine which, no matter what it may be called, will take into serious account, reader interest and place that consideration above all considerations for awards, etc. Below is an approximate budget of the proposed magazine which I believe to be self-explanatory.

It is my hope that you will consider this proposal before the vote is taken on February 17th, and that you will not arrive at an irresponsible or frivolous decision.

Magazine X—Proposed Unification 1948-49

Income:
Advertising—12 pages per issue	$ 3840.00
Student fees	8600.00
	12440.00
Expense:
Printing (40 pages per issue)	$ 7620.20
Engraving	2800.00
Photo Expense	275.00
Copyright and NSPA Membership	25.00
Telephone, Telegraph, Postage	80.00
Delivery	100.00
Supplies	50.00
Transportation	50.00
Editor's salary	160.00
Managing Editor's salary	80.00
Business Magr. Commission	770.00
Y-Y Space	100.00
Publications audit expense	280.00
Depreciation	50.00
	12440.00

Note: this magazine is tentatively planned to be published at the size of 48 pages an inch. The budget is planned on a 40 page minimum, with the additional 8 pages being added if the additional ad revenue is received.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 6, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser. SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears. SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison.
LIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson. ASST. BUS. MGR.: Mary W. Sledge. ADVERTISING MGR.: Eaton Holden. EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan, Earl Heffner.
NIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette.

REPORTERS: Raney Stanford, John Stump, Jim Spence, Paul Rothman, Sally Woodhull, Donald McDonald, Herbert Nachman, Jr., George Roberts, Bob Rolnik, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Jean Baskerville, Nancy Norman, George Drew, Merrily Brooks, Nina Davis, Demont Roseman, Ruth Evans, Ashley Branch, Gordon Huffines, Elaine Patton, Elinor Woltz, Clark Stallworth.

SPORTS WRITERS: Bill Kellam, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Larry Fox, Bill Gallagher, Virginia Forward.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr.

NIGHT EDITOR: Ed Joyner — NIGHT SPORTS: Bob Goldwater

Political Spotlight

Rubish: Totally Unqualified

By Charlie Long

A mixed reaction following a stunned silence greets the SP announcement that they have picked Mike Rubish to carry the SP banner in the spring election. The Student Party, after a long fight for qualified candidates for high positions appears to have given up the ghost in that field. There seems to be no question among the interested people on the campus that Rubish is totally unqualified for the position of prexy. For the record it should be said that Rubish is no doubt a very nice person but, that does not qualify him for the top position on the campus. Being a good football player is an asset only in Kenan stadium and neither a T or single wing formation will put a piece of legislation thru the legislature.

The situation from this corner shapes up like this. Mr. Rubish was offered the position by the SP and as it happens that is the highest position on the campus Mike was no doubt taken in by the glitter. "All that glitters is not gold." The presidency is the hardest, most thankless job that a man can undertake. It requires an exhaustive knowledge of every intricacy of student government. Tact, diplomacy, and a working knowledge of each phase of our governmental system is a must for all would be presidents. The ability to handle situations as they arise comes with long practice.

That Mike acted in good faith and with all sincerity of purpose should be questioned by no one. That he is unqualified will be questioned by most everyone. That he was badly counseled by his 'friends" is a foregone conclusion.

Under the circumstances, the Student Party should reconsider their actions in the light of the duty they hold to the voters of this campus and ask Mike to withdraw. The campus at large would realize that this would be an act to be commended and not condemned. Under the present set-up it is impossible to see how they can go on.

The Purge List

"Smiles" Smith, head mogul of the UP stepped down this week and Thurman Williams moved in, culminating a neat behind the scene fight to move the UP head from the KA house to the Deke. It has been a well known fact for sometime that the Dekes have been a very disgruntled bunch of boys when it came to political control. Thus the delicate control of shifting power in the UP has now shifted in what may be a move to get ready for the spring election. The headlines said resignation, the Spotlight says purged.

Steve Milikan, efficient clerk of the student legislature leaves that body this week. Milikan, as had Gil Burnett, moved to town and so was out of district. There was, however, an agreement that Mr. Milikan would be permitted to remain in the legislature. Everything went fine until Steve made the sad error of voting with the SP and woke up to find that he was resigning. Naturally certain quarters would deny this most stoutly but, who can deny the nose on your face.

The most positive action of the week came from the Student Activities Committee on the speakers' forum issue. At their meeting last week, with representatives of the public interest groups, they drew up and sent to the legislature finance committee a complete plan for a speakers' bureau for the campus.

In the bill they gave up their control of bringing speakers in order that a more efficient body, with greater control could be set up. If approved it should mean a more complete and efficient speakers' program for the student body. Again our commendation to them for positive action.

What's Up in Graham Memorial

Staffers welcome back student travel agent Roland P. Early as a regular employee of the Union now . . . Roland used to work with Bob Watson during rush travel periods, but has now taken over completely since Watson moved up to assistant director . . . Campus organizational mail is piling up in the office mail box. Groups are again reminded to pick up their mail EVERY DAY.

GM owes many thinks to Milt Abernathy, of the Intimate Book Shop . . . Ab has thrown his store wide open for the Union to borrow any records it needs in presenting programs . . . Music for the Rendezvous show tonight is courtesy of Ab's . . .

Three selections will be played on this evening's dinner music concert: "Morton Gould Showcase"; Beethoven, Twelve Contra Dances; Tschaikovsky, Nutcracker Suit.

Campus Forum

Student Bank Considered

By Pete Gerns

General opinion regarding banking facilities operated by students on the campus ranges from indifferent to very favorable. Proposed by political parties last Spring, no action has been taken until last night, when the Student Legislature passed a bill calling for an investigation into possibilities of setting up a student bank.

We questioned student body President Tom Eller about his ideas on the feasibility of the proposed measure. Said Eller: "Last year an improvement in student banking facilities was a major plank in the platforms of the parties. We should at least study the problem, which is what I had asked the Legislature to do. I believe a study will result in improvement."

Monroe Lendreth, chairman of the Student Audit board, also is in favor of the proposal if the bank could be placed at a convenient location on the campus. He adds: "I am certain that a student bank would be an asset to the campus, would save the students time and money and would help relieve the congested condition of the YMCA."

Howard Bailey, business manager of the Daily Tar Heel, believes that a student bank would constitute a great asset especially to organizations which have a lot of banking to do on a day-by-day basis. "If we can find management willing to do a full time job and lend its every effort to improvement of student banking facilities, then the bank will be a successful venture."

He: Who was that lady I saw you out with last night?

Gee: That was no lady, that was my pet St. Bernard hound which carries brandy to people starving in the snow.

(Ed's note: so there, too!)

The following question has been suggested for Tuesday: "Do you think Truman's Civil Rights proposals are for the betterment of the South and are worth passage by Congress?"

Just Here

Village Must Become Urban

By Larry Berry

There has long been a saying in Chapel Hill that one of the reasons for the establishment of the University here was if a man would climb the hill, he truly wanted an education. In the course of time and with the rise of the Joe College or collegiate attitude in society, the climb has become a ride on which one is taken.

Recently President Truman's Commission on Higher Education recommended a system "in which at no level will a qualified individual in any part of the country encounter an insuperable barrier. Another action (advisedly using the word action in such cases) that might change the climb is the agreement between the governors of six Southern states looking toward the setting up of regional educational centers. I hate to bring in the latter because I know very little of the another step in the search for a more efficient school system.

We hear that if the plan of an education for all is carried through, it will result in 4,600,000 college students by 1960. If my calculation is correct, this leaves North Carolina considerably more than 125,000 college students 12 years from now. Of course I doubt if very many 1948 inhabitants of the University of North Carolina will still be working for their respective diplomas.

How our schools will expand is the interesting part of the education for all. Will we try to build the gigantic brain channel excavators with colossal stadiums, nation wide publicity, and freshman classes of 15,000 or more—or will we tend to the decentralization of our enormous plants for the man of the future. By this I mean the separation of the various schools of the University where they can be most efficient. We have remained consolidated supposedly because of the advantages offered by this sys-

(See VILLAGE, page 4)

This Changing World

Revised Marshall Plan

By Bill Robertson

There are certain people who think it clever to chide the supporters of Wallace for even suggesting that it is possible to give enough of the right kind of food to the Hottentots. Yet there same people are quite silent when mention is made of the Marshall Plan for "European recovery". It appears that these people (including writers for the Wall Street Journal) support the Marshall Plan for "humanitarian" reasons—while they oppose Wallace because he is "too idealistic." But then, too, there are people who lump together race-hating fascists and militant fighters for racial equality (we refer to the Communists supporting the Wallace movement) without batting an eye-lash. But let us deal with one inconsistency at a time. Let us look at the Marshall Plan.

The first fact that must be faced in any discussion of the Marshall Plan is that its primary purpose is political. In the words of Secretary of Commerce Harriman, if any of the 16 countries benefitting from the plan were to get a "Communist" government "we should lose interest in that country." This statement, it seems, makes things perfectly clear. But is it not true that planning and nationalization of key industry and banks constitute the first steps toward recovery? There has been relatively swift recovery in the countries of Eastern Europe for just this reason.

The Marshall Plan, therefore, is a plan to stop planning. It defends "free enterprise" against the advances of socialism. Mr. Stassen has already suggested that no country which we are to be allowed to "nationalize" our steel industry.

Now let us take a look at the loans themselves. Guess what the European countries will do with their precious American dollars? Must we suppose that Wall Street, which is robbing the American people daily by means of high prices, will give things away to foreign countries? On the contrary, there is every indication that the operation of the Marshall Plan will be a "green light" for a further rise in prices; for, with a foreign market guaranteed, why should we charge all the home market what we give?

In addition, the plan itself does not provide for the industrialization of Western Europe. (Have you ever heard of a big business man deliberately creating a competitor for himself?) Instead, the people of Europe will be provided with Hollywood movies, cleaning fluid, and mope. (Once you ship the first, the other two naturally follow).

Do the Wallace supporters have an alternative to this ridiculous plan to stop planning? Yes, they do. This alternative includes 3 proposals. (1) a large loan through the United Nations to the peoples of Europe. Such a move would (a) strengthen the

(See MARSHALL PLAN, page 4)

Write Away

'Brothels' Okay; System Bad

Sir:

In reference to your editorial concerning "intellectual brothels", it seems apparent that the commercial cram bureau achieved what the teacher did not.

An examination, by its very nature, is the teacher's means of discorvering what the student has derived from the course. If the professional tutor equips a student for a quiz which the teacher evaluates as an "A" or "B", the tutor has accomplished in six hours what the teacher failed to do in a third of a term.

Instead of condemning the practice, we should accept it as a warning sign and attempt to learn what is wrong with our schooling system that compels students to resort to "spoon-fed" education.

Bob Golby

Straightforward

Contributors:

I have no quarrel with anyone's convictions if they are sincere and arrived at with some thought, but I should like to go on record as being very tired indeed of the way these convictions are being expressed in the Write-Away column.

Sarcasm has its place as a literary device, but any device ceases to be effective when it is used over and over again with no variation. Surely if a person feels strongly about Negro equality or universal military training or any of the other topics which find their way to this column, he should wish to clothe his conviction in a dignity it can never receive if he enters it as just one of the crowd of topics which are written up as sarcastic satires.

There are innumerable other literary devices—some of them even less sophomoric in the hands of amateurs—which could gain more respect for their employers' ideas. There is even the device of straightforwardness: couldn't a few hardy souls say what they mean rather than sarcastically to say what they don't mean? I am sure that I would not be alone in appreciating it.

C. W. Schultz

Quoting Stokes

Editor:

The most recent piece of propaganda put out by Chapel Hill's small but vociferous crowd of Wallaceites reprints from the columns of the distinguished and completely independent political commentator Thomas Stokes an account of the convention of the Progressive Citizens of America convention which nominated Wallace for President.

Lest your readers misunderstand the attitude of Mr. Stokes, toward the Wallace movement, I would like to point out the three passages of the article omitted from the Wallace Weekly version (check with Stokes column dated Jan. 22):

"Missing at this convention was a type usually seen at the birthplace of a new political movement—hard-grained and practical labor leaders, rugged old-line Socialists, the recognized core of old-fashioned American radicalism. They have avoided this movement because of Communist participation. Nor were there any of the 'funny-money' enthusiasts who generally gravitate about dissident political groups to talk by the hour and boringly, about how everything can be solved by doing something with currency."

"This movement as yet, however, has virtually none of the practical political direction that was present in its predecessors and was so effective in the New Deal."

"It is easy, in the midst of it, for the more or less cynical observer of practical politics to discount the sort of sophisticated vortex of ideals and ideologies that this convention appeared to be."

Several other Stokes columns clarify his position. On Jan. 16 he pointed out that "progressive and independent elements within and without the Democratic party" see in the Wallace candidacy, "a political blow to progressivism from which recovery may not be quick or easy."

Speculating in his Jan. 18 column on the role of P. C. A. chairman Robert Kenny in the movement, he asked, ". . .could it be that Mr. Kenny is thinking and dreaming a little about Mr. Kenny and, through his tactics coming back into power in the Democratic party in California?"

John D. Roeder

Poem

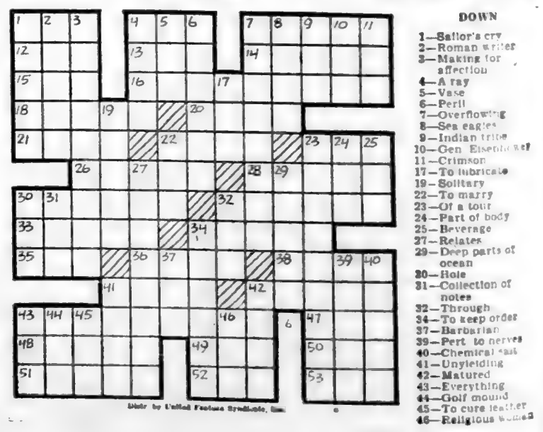
Editor:

I hope this will suffice as a reply to B. Long's "Ode to an Import" in today's (yesterday's) TH.

DROP DEAD, COED

Ah, little co-ed—especially B. Long,
You're a very good poet—but definitely wrong.
We men have been closed in a bit by the snow,
But it won't be forever—that we all know.
And to our little imports, we say "Keep that pin."
We'll write them every night, and drink our own gin.
Now back to Greensboro—again we are going,
Poor little co-ed—your slip showing.

B. Green



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS

1—Noted humorist
4—Unopened flower
7—Teutonic gods
12—Front
13—Period of time
14—Halting device
15—Conjunction
16—Reported
18—Vapor
20—Cleans as cotton
21—Kind of duck
22—To fasten together
23—To make lace
26—Cowboy
28—To worship
30—Ached
32—Soul
33—Internal
34—One of the Apostles
35—To touch
36—Norse god
38—Evergreen tree
41—To sing
42—Beasts of burden
43—Reaching
47—Word of caution
48—To discover
49—Billiard stick
50—Rage
51—Allows use of 52—Pintale
53—The heart

DOWN

1—Sailor's cry
2—Roman writer
3—Making for affection
4—A ray
5—Vase
6—Peril
7—Overflowing
8—Sea eagles
9—Indian tribe
10—Gen. Eisenhower
11—Crimson
17—To lubricate
19—Solitary
22—To marry
23—Of a tour
24—Part of body
25—Beverage
27—Relates
29—Deep parts of ocean
30—Hole
31—Collection of notes
32—Through
34—To keep order
37—Barbarian
39—Pert to nerves
40—Chemical salt
41—Unyielding
42—Matured
43—Everything
44—Golf mound
45—To cure leather
46—Religious women

The Sporting Picture

By Billy Carmichael III

Big Time Basketball

BIG TIME ATHLETICS are getting quite a boost in North Carolina and the vicinity these days from the high-flying, high-scoring Wolfpack of State College, who are currently mauling the best, better, and average teams of these here parts at the rate of two or three a week and with an average percision of 78 points a go

To most sports fans the words—Big Time Athletics—mean football, but over at the West Raleigh institution, where association with agricultural adjectives is heavily frowned upon, BTA has come to have another meaning, and by due power of reasoning. Basketball is the big sport there and they are quick to let you know it, both by performances on the court and in the stands, too. The State College coach, active Everett Case, has scoured the eastern parts of the United States, and his turning over of loose stones and local high schools has allowed the grey-headed gentleman to gather a wealth of talent that turns opponents' green with envy and opponents' stomaches from the though of having to combat this devastating menace which is now in the process of rolling to national honors.

My Indiana Home

MANY OF THE STATE LADS like Case hail from the mid-west with one state having such large representation that State College officials are considering making "Back Home in Indiana" the official school song. They play the mid-western type of basketball which is fast and rough, but still holds the balance of remaining a skill sport and not one of heavy body contact. The Agriculturists and Engineers love to run as much as they love to play and thrive on pushing the game to a tongue-hanging pace. Add the fact that they have the reserve strength on the bench to support such a move, and you find the reason why the Casemen have maintained a two-point-a-minute record for their first twenty games.

The State team is without a doubt one of the greatest teams ever to come out of the South and may possibly go further than that. They have the one great component of a truly great team, that being balance—five men on the floor at any one time who are all big threats and each capable of hitting the double figures on any occasion. How good they actually are can be expressed by the admission that even when you are seeing the old school being trampled by 39 points, they are a highly-engrossing and highly-entertaining team to watch. They bear just that.

Reminiscing

COMPARING ONE GREAT TEAM to another is always a big topic when a great team comes along and while looking back through the years for a suitable opponent for the current Wolfpack, one stumbles on the Tar Heel team of 1946. The locals were national runners-up that year by virtue of reaching the finals of the NCAA tourney in New York and missed by three points the top pedestal of the season. Bones McKinney, now BAA all-league star with the Washington Capitals was around then, together with a pair of All-Americans who no longer hold that rank in national cage circles, but that is another story. The aces were big Jim Jordan, now of the University of Kentucky, and a still locally available John Dillon. Dillon hit for over 400 points that season and was one of the top five national scorers. The rest of the quintet was rounded out by Bob Paxton, as good then as he is now, and Jim White, who has never been known to go the same way he was looking. Taylor Thorne, who defiantly held up his portion when the roof fell on the Tar Heels in Raleigh last Tuesday, Roger Scholbe, current operative, and Don Anderson, now with a semi-pro team in the state, did the relief work that year.

A hypothetical battle between the two would be quite a contest. The Tar Heels were a slow, very deliberate team that year, counting on Dillon's points from the pivot, Jordan with one and two hands from outside and general handy work and scoring punch by the others. McKinney was a great passer and would hit you in the head with the ball if you didn't watch it. The combined height of the team made for great backboard control, even against seven-foot Bob Kurland, but the main stay of the Carolina winning ability that year was their defense aptness. They had the speed to cope with the Wolfpack, the defensive powess to combat a lot of the State shooting, and a court finesse to match that which the Raleigh boys are currently sporting. It would be quite a test of race-horse tactics against the slower get-a-good-shot-then-take-it tactics of the Tar Heel-Carnevale five. State's stronger reserve strength would probably be the difference, but who can tell. That's the advantage of hypothesis.

On Things To Come

HAVING OPENED WITH Big Time Athletics, it might be well to close with it too, which brings to mind the thought that State College with its basketball powerhouse is fast becoming a BTO in BTA. In fact, with the decline of Duke University of Durham, it can be thought that State will probably take over the place of the Blue Devils as the Tar Heels' leading threat to the athletic supremacy of the fair state of North Carolina. When their new Coliseum, which sounds like the Eighth Wonder of the world, is finished, the State entry will be hard to hold, and it is safe to ascertain that the Raleigh school will not rest their Case with basketball. One has little to do, but hold one's hat and see.

Americans Improve in Olympics

St. Morits, Feb. 5—(UP—)The United States winter Olympic team had its best day of competition thus far at this Swiss resort town today. The American sportsters won two events and finished second in another in the four events held.

The victories are the first scored by Americans in the seven days of the fifth winter games. One of those—the women's slalom ski championship won by Gretchem Fraser of Vancouver, Washington—is the first individual women's ski title ever won by an American in the history of the games.

The other gold medal goes to 18-year-old Dick Button of Englewood, New Jersey, who won the men's figure skating crown with a brilliant performance in the free figures today.

There almost was a third American first place, with Jack Heaton of New Haven, Conn., favored to win the one-man bob sled. But Heaton lost out to Nino Biddia of Italy in the last three heats today, by one and four-tenths seconds. Another American, Corporal Wilbur Lee Martin of Kalispell, Montana, finished fourth; and first half leader, Jack Crammond of Britain, was third.

Duke Jayvees Score Win Over Carolina Juniors, 48-44

Juniors Miss 22 Charity Tosses; Thorne Scores 14

By Bill Kellam

Hard working Jim Hamilton was a very unhappy man last night at the close of the Carolina-Duke jayvee cage "contest" for his erratic charges had just finished blowing 22 out of 26 foul shots and consequently the ball game, 48-44.

The junior Phantoms were wilder than a Texas mustang last night on the Woollen floor with their shots, passes, and anything else they used as they dropped their third game in 14 starts and their second of the year to the Blue Imps on the Woollen court.

Charlie Thorne and Hal Ferraro were the lone standouts for the white-clad juniors in the dismal doings. Ferraro came through with several of his beautiful one-hand jump shots and Thorne's long sets kept the locals in the game during the last half. However, both were guilty along with the rest of the team of bad passes on the slow-working Carolina fast break that broke up the Tar Heel attack time after time.

Imps Score First

The Imp's Scotty York set what proved to be a ominous precedent when he opened the night's scoring after a minute and a half of play with a driving lay up. The Imps moved to a 4-2 lead before Tsantes tied it up with a lay up on a pass from Tsantes. The Endowmenteers then spurted to a 11-6 advantage before Ferraro tossed in a trio of field goals to close the score to 11-10.

Taking a perfect toss from Tsantes in the pivot, Bill Harrington drove in for a double decker to give the locals their only lead 12-11. Thorne, moving almost as fast as his big brother does, dribbled the length of the court to sink a crip and stretch the short lived Carolina lead to 14-11.

Duke Sinks Sets

The visitors then unlimbered their long range artillery and proceeded to move to a 27-20 lead at the half—mainly on six set shots. Dom Farinella and Dick Lauffer paced this Blue Devil barrage. During the first half, the locals succeeded in blowing 10 out of 10 charity tosses.

Foul Play

Duke (48)	f	ft	pf	tp	ftm
Thompson, f	2	1	5	5	3
Penny	1	2	0	4	3
Stone , f	2	2	2	6	3
Lynch	0	0	0	0	0
Powers, c	0	1	3	1	3
Major	0	0	0	0	0
York, g	5	3	3	13	4
Simms	0	0	3	0	0
Farinella, g	5	1	5	11	1
Lauffer	4	0	0	11	1
Totals	19	10	21	48	17

Carolina (44)	f	fp	pf	tp	ftm
Ferraro, f	6	0	4	12	4
Wilkerson	0	0	0	0	2
Peters, f	0	0	3	0	4
Gregory	0	0	0	0	0
Lebed	0	0	1	0	0
Hoft	0	0	0	0	0
Tsantes, c	3	1	4	7	4
Thorne, g	6	2	3	14	3
White, g	1	1	1	3	1
Harrington	3	0	4	6	5
Gilmore	1	0	0	2	0
Totals	20	4	20	44	22

Milne to Represent Carolina in Boston

Jack Milne, will be the University's lone representative in the BAA games in Boston, Saturday night.

Milne will attempt to take top honors in the two-mile event against such standouts as Curt Stone, Forrest Efaw, Frank Martin, Ted Vogel, Tommy Quinn and Jim Rafferty.

The Carolina lad came through with his best indoor effort last Saturday night in the Millrose Two-mile when he took fifth place and was clocked in 9:21. Milne left Chapel Hill by train last night and will return Sunday night.

Mural Results

BASKETBALL

45 Phi Kap No. 1	Chi Phi No. 1	8
35 Kap Sig No. 1	ATO No. 2	21
25 Sig Nu No. 2	Beta No. 3	19
25 Pi Lamb No. 1	PiKA No. 3	20
46 KA No. 1	Zeta No. 3	26
28 Sig Nu No. 1	Kap Sig No. 2	13
35 Coons	Emanons	34
74 Black Balls	Honeycutt M.	13
41 Whitehead	Oakwood Dr.	36

HANDBALL

2 Graham Aycock 1

Oakwood Drive forfeit over Law School

Stacy forfeit over Grails

IN GOLDEN GLOVES

Durham, Feb. 5—Two University of North Carolina athletes were entered in the first round of the Durham Golden Gloves tournament, and the pair came through with a win and loss in their appearances. John Richardson came through with a TKO decision over Robert Browning for the win, and Rex Eatmon, Carolina, was knocked out by Durham's Pat Cannada.

Duke Tickets

Approximately 500 tickets to the Duke-Carolina game will go on sale to the general public this morning at 9 o'clock. The price is one dollar per ducat.

Many Carolina students failed to come by Woollen gym to turn in their ticket books for reserved seats. Yesterday was the deadline, and those students who plan to attend the game but don't have a ticket now will have to pay the dollar just like the general public.

REHDER'S
CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Opposite Post Office Corner

CLASSIFIED

FOR RENT 6A

ROOM TO SENIOR OR GRADUATE student from now until September Close in. Central heat, hot water. elephone. Phone 5926. (1-C1761-1)

FOR SALE 6B

1 FOOT FRIGIDAIRE. 1930 MODEL. Excellent condition. Callahan, phone 1:57 after 5:30 p.m. (1-C1765-1)

SMITH-CORONA (STERLING) PORTable typewriter. Almost new. Original ribbon. Price $75. Call F-3872 after 5:00. (1-1759-1)

LOST 12

ONE LADIES' GOLD WRIST WATCH Please return to DAILY TAR HEEL office. Reward. 1-1757-1

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA PIN AT WOmen's gym Tuesday night, Feb. 3 If found, call Mildred Tilson, Spencer, 6081. (1-1760-1)

ON DECEMBER 7, PLAID DRAWstring purse containing blue-rimmed glasses. If found, please call 6781 or leave same at Bennetts and Blockridge, Inc. (1-C1766-1)

Cagers Seek To Regain Prestige In Duke Game

Carolina's White Phantoms got back to their normal practice routine yesterday as Coach Tom Scott mapped plans for the team's game with Duke's off-and-on Blue Devils here on Saturday night.

Members of the team and Carolina students were still talking about State College's one-sided win over the Phantoms, but the prevailing spirit on the squad was to forget the whole matter, at least until State plays here on February 21. The boys are hoping to redeem themselves with a good performance against Duke.

Carolina still boasts an imposing 15-3 overall won-lost record which makes them the favorite in Saturday's clash. The Phantoms thus far have displayed a tendency never to be upset and never to spring an upset themselves. Carolina fans are hoping their team can follow the form chart against the Devils.

Devils Get Beat

Up in Annapolis, Md., on Wednesday night, Duke sustained a 56-46 defeat at the hands of Navy's Middies, who are coached by Ben Carnevale, former Carolina mentor. Duke was behind throughout the game despite some good playing by Center Ben Collins. Last night the Dukesters moved on to Williamsburg to meet William and Mary in an important Southern conference contest.

The two biggest threats that Coach Gerard's Durham boys will throw at Carolina are Collins, who stands 6-4, and Corren (Creep) Youmans. Collins excells in all departments—rebound play, offensive shooting and good guarding. Youmans, while probably the best shot on the Duke squad, does not rate as a particularly adept defensive player.

Hughes Plays Well

Tommy Hughes, the football star, rates as the top guard for Duke. On occasions this season he has turned into a high-scorer and is on of the team's steadiest players. Others sure to figure prominently in Gerard's plans are veteran Dick Gordon, Carl Sapp, and Bill Martin.

Duke has a 4-2 record in conference play, compared to 7-1 for Carolina. Last season the Phantoms beat the Devils twice, both by rather large margins.

Carolina's starting lineup is indefinite, but Coach Tom Scott stated yesterday that he would open with the same team that started in the State game.

Jerry the Tailor
OVER
N. C. CAFETERIA

Wrestlers Engage VMI, W&L Teams

Fresh from their 29-3 triumph over Davidson college, the Blue and White grapplers will depart this morning at 11:30 for Lexington, Virginia, where they will encounter VMI and Washington and Lee on Saturday and Monday evenings.

After an 11 o'clock meal at Lenoir hall, the 14 man crew will take to the road. Traveling by automobiles, the squad will arrive at VMI early this evening.

After meeting the powerfull VMI crew at eight o'clock Saturday night, the local lads will take a light workout and then move over to the neighboring Generals' gym and tackle the W. and L. boys at 7:30.

Phil Kemp Leads

Freshman Phil Kemp is currently leading the local musclemen with a total of 13 points collected on two pins and one decision. Tom Urquhart, 136-pounder who gained his first fall in varsity competition two days ago ,is running in the second spot with 11 points.

Big Bill Kemp takes up the third spot with ten points. Having wrestled in only two matches, Kemp won both on falls.

Oscar Gupton, the piano playing muscleman, is currently running fourth with eight and one-half points. In the State contest Gupton fought Rosen to a draw, thus gaining two and one-half points.

Honors for the quickest fall thus far this season go to Kemp, who pinned Davidson's Alexander in 53 seconds of the first round

In his initial match of the season 165-pounder Lyn Bond wrestled 210-pound Bill Moore of Davidson and won the match when Moore was forced out of the match due to a leg injury.

Favored Dolphins Will Leave Today On Virginia Trip

Although the turkey hunting season is officially over, Carolina's Blue Dolphins will depart from Woollen Gym at noon today for Blacksburg, Virginia, where they'll stage a private Virginia Tech Gobbler hunt of their own tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The heavily favored local aquatic crew is expected to bring home the white meat when they return late tomorrow night in the form of their fourth straight win of the year and their 30 th consecutive Southern conference victory. If the Pale Blue mermen take the VPI meet, it'll also be their eighth in a row since last year's Navy setback.

Jayvees Have Meet

Campus swimming enthusiasts won't be without entertainment tomorrow, however, for the jayvee splashers, under the leadership of assistant coach Ralph Casey, will face the natators from the Norfolk Division of William and Mary in Bowman Gray pool at 3 o'clock.

The 19 man Dolphin squad is slated to arirve in Blacksburg today in time for the locals to work out in the VPI pool. The Carolina mermen have met the Gobblers five times since the rivalry started back in 1940, and Jamerson's boys have emerged victorious every time. Those men making the trip into the Old Dominion include Jim Thomas, Dan Breeden, co-captain Jesse Greenbaum, Bob Hutton, Bob Elliott, Hal Ingram, Bill Pritchard, Norm Sper, Gil Beam, Steve Osborne, John Bippart, Ed Clement, Bob Ousley, Ike Norwood, Ronnie Basescu, Dave Whichard, Jim Mericka, Allison Pell, and Bill Coart.

Freshmen and Sophomores

The jayvee team will be composed entirely of freshmen and sophomores, and quite a few of the men will be making their first appearance in intercollegiate competition. This meet is being staged to give the Carolina coaching staff an idea of what the boys can do in actual competition.

Football Practice

Coach Carl Snavely announced yesterday that football practice tentatively is scheduled to begin next Monday with an outdoor workout provided the weather permits. If not Snavely plans to hold an indoor lecture.

All candidates for the team should report to the gym this afternoon, as equipment will be distributed to the squad between 3 o'clock and 6.

Original plans called for the grid workouts to begin this week, but those arrangements were made before bad weather hit Chapel Hill.

Yearlings Battle High Point Here

Carolina's unbeaten Tar Baby cagers will be seeking their sixth straight victory of the season tonight when they meet High Point High School's powerful quintet at 8 o'clock in Woollen Gym. The potent Bisons are currently leading the Western Class AA Conference and will enter tonight's clash ranked as slight favorites.

The visitors, termed the state's most powerful high school hardwood crew by most observers, boast decisive victories over such neighboring teams as Reynolds High of Winston-Salem, Hugh Morson High of Raleigh, and Greensboro High. Greensboro fell before the Tar Babies several weeks ago in Woollen Gym, 50-42.

Crowder Is Tops

Heading the high scoring Furniture Citymen's attack is lanking center Richard Crowder, who has averaged over 10 points per game all season. The visitors' starting lineup will average over six feet tall.

Coach Jim Hamilton will probably open with his usual lineup of Hal Ferraro and Thorne Gregory at forwards, John Tsantes in the pivot slot, and Floyd Gilmore and Bill White in the guard spots. Also slated to see plenty of action are Dale Morrison, Stan Goodman and Hank Lebed.

The ORIENTAL
Chinese-American Restaurant
116 E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.

JUST RECEIVED
a new stock of Men's Clothes in the latest styles—just the thing for campus wearing!
New Spring Suits
In GABARDINES that fit to any occasion
In Rugged GLEN PLAIDS
for endurance in wear
Cardigan Sport Jackets
To keep the chilling breezes on the outside
Cardigan Oxfords
For solid foundation
THE Sport SHOP
120 E. MAIN ST.
Durham, N. C.

Whid Powell's
COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
GRILLED TARHEELIAS
A delicious sandwich with cheese, tomatoes, & bacon grilled together
Delicious Steaks
90c
Rosemary St. — Opp. City Hall

QUALITY FURNISHINGS
at
E. A. Brown Furniture Co.
Next to City Hall
Phone 6586

SPECIAL NOTICE TO THE CLASS OF '48

Here's your chance to qualify for a job that pays $336 a month after one year's training

A special interviewing team will soon be here to talk with men interested in U. S. Air Force Pilot Training. It is equipped to interview applicants, give preliminary physical examinations and flying aptitude tests.

You may be eligible for appointment to the March 1 or July 1 Aviation Cadet Classes. If you qualify, you begin at $75 a month, with food, quarters, uniforms, medical and dental care provided. Upon successful completion of the 52-week training course, you're commissioned a Second Lieutenant, Air Force Reserve, and assigned to active duty as pilot with the U. S. Air Force at $336 a month to start. You also get an extra $500 for each year of active service. There are many other benefits that make this one of the outstanding opportunities offered to this year's graduating class.

Why not drop in and discuss it?

CAREERS WITH A FUTURE
U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force

INTERVIEWS WILL BE HELD:

-Legislature-

(Continued from page 1)

of the council, is Bill Tate's roommate.

"I will say, however, that there are two members on the Men's council who are not fraternity men."

Off on a new tack, Eller pointed out that members of the Student and Men's councils have spoken against the constitution—not against certain parts of the document, but against it as a whole, he stated.

Speaking of the Student council and their setting precedents in trying cases, Eller declared, "They have set precedents, but they are all undesirable."

Basil Sherrill, arguing against the amendment, declared, "I like the system just as it is."

The stocky legislator stated that student government should be by the students, and that the faculty appeal was not the best way to handle the situation.

"The chairman of the Student council," Sherrill said, "should be given the power to see that procedure is established in the council. and members of the lower courts," he continued, "should be allowed to sit in on the Student council meeting when one of their cases is being appealed."

"Leave the constitution as it is," he concluded.

Ernie House, chairman of the Finance committee, took the floor to remark that the bill was very poorly prepared—that the last article stated that all parts of the constitution not nullified by it would remain in full force—but the parts that were nullified were not even listed.

House moved to table the bill, and the Legislature resoundingly backed him up.

The magazine consolidation bill was amended to make it a recommendation to the student body that they vote for a combined magazine.

According to Ernie House, the bill was reported "financially sound" out of the Finance committee, but that no further recommendation was given it.

Pete Gerns had several comments to make on the bill.

"This bill was obviously made up by people who know nothing about publications," the Legislature parliamentarian declared, referring to the measure as a "piece of trash."

"Shall we go back on our word to the student body—we promised them a referendum so they could decide for themselves what kind of a magazine they wanted."

The amendment was defeated unanimously followed by the short-order tabling of the bill.

The speaker's fund bill, as passed, provides for the "Carolina Forum" to be established to bring speakers to the campus. The Forum will receive a $600 appropriation from student funds.

Campus Calendar

5:00 p. m.—Anti-UMT committee, Grail room.
6:30 p. m.—Recorded dinner music concert, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
7:30 p. m.—Jewish services, Roland Parker lounges 1 and 2.
7:30 p. m.—Wallace-for-President club, Gerrard hall.

-RETREAT-

by cars and chartered buses. Cost of transportation and hotel will be $7, and meals may be obtained in the hotel cafeteria at popular prices.

Discussion Groups

Discussion groups will center around the following six commissions, to be headed by student leaders with faculty advisers: campus social life, campus political and organizational life, you as a student, economic tensions in our world, racial tensions in our world, and world organization and political tension.

-VILLAGE-

(Continued from page 2)

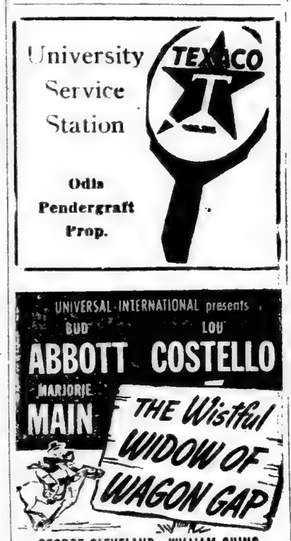
tem. The point now is whether we should continue to expand by adding buildings and equipment to our center here or by opening centers elsewhere.

Our school has already become bulky in size and we will soon have to put in some sort of transit system. Chapel Hill will have to throw aside all pretense of a village for scholars and became an urban settlement, while cities throughout the state beg for branches of the University. Our educational set-up is about as up to date in our world as the minie ball is in warfare. I realize I may be wrong, but our generation will have to pay with interest (usury) the mistakes we allow to pass by the boards today.

-Marshall Plan-

(Continued from page 2)

United Nations (b) assure "non political" use of funds to help feed the people of Europe. (c) delay the economic crisis by providing a market for heavy industry in our country; that is, machinery, etc. (2) large-scale trade agreements with the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe to enable them to buy machinery and machine tools. (3) a full program of price roll-back, price control, rationing when necessary, and the ending of speculation on food-stuffs in particular and on the miseries of the peoples of the world in general.



We might add that this wholly realistic program, which is in accordance with the best interests of the American people, might well be supported by the Carolina Conservative Club—for it must be remembered that big business is not interested in hastening its own down-fall through economic crises and depressions.

TODAY

VILLAGE

University Service Station
Odis Pendergraft Prop.
TEXACO

NOW PLAYING

CAROLINA

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

MEET
MR. J. T. FOWLER
owner and manager
OF THE NEW AND MODERN BLACKWOOD
ASSOCIATE STORE
in
CHAPEL HILL
ATTEND THE
GRAND OPENING
Today
featuring—
SEIBERLING TIRES
STEWART-WARNER RADIOS
NATIONAL BATTERIES
and hundreds of other NATIONAL BRAND PRODUCTS to service your needs fo AUTO – HOME – YORD & SHOP

FREE TO THE FIRST 100 VISITORS A BEAUTIFUL PRACTICAL GIFT

Inquire about our convenient
EASY BUDGET TERMS
DESIGNED TO FIT YOUR INDIVIDUAL REQUIREMENTS

You get a Better Buy at a
BLACKWOOD ASSOCIATE STORE
312 WEST FRANKLIN STREET
CHAPEL HILL

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

Always eat at HARRY'S — where quality never varrys

WHY NOT
Save 5c
BY BUYING THE 3 LB. BAG OF EIGHT O'CLOCK OR BOKAR
A&P Coffee

Vigorous and Winey
BOKAR COFFEE
3 Lb. Bag $1.29
1 Lb. Bag 45c
MILD and MELLOW COFFEE
8 O'CLOCK 3 Lb. Bag $1.15
1-Lb. Bag 40c
A&P Coffee gives you rich, deep-down flavor. Try it—you'll agree, no other coffee gives you more flavor, or more for your money!

A&P SUPER MARKETS

Ann Page
PEACH PRESERVES
1-Lb. Jar 23c
Ann Page
APPLE SAUCE, 2 No. 2 cans 27c
Ann Page Orange
MARMALADE 1-Lb. Jar 21c
Ann Page—With Tomato Sauce
BEANS 2 16-Oz. Cans 25c
Ann Page Prepared
SPAGHETTI 2 15½-Oz. Cans 23c
Ann Page Salad
DRESSING Pt. Jar 33c
WASHBURN'S
PINTO BEANS
1-Lb. Pkg. 18c 2-Lb. Pkg. 35c

APPLES, Winesap, lb. 10c
STRING BEANS, lb. 29c
BROCCOLI, lb 23c
CARROTS, 2 bunches 23c
CAULIFLOWER, trimmed, lb. 17c
COCONUT, 2 lbs. 19c
COLLARD GREENS, lb. 15c
TURNIP GREENS, lb. 15c
GRAPES, Red Emperor, 2 lbs. 25c
FLORIDA ORANGES, 2 doz. 35c
U. S. No. 1 POTATOES, 10 lbs. 49c
SWEET POTATOES 9c

— FINE MEATS —
CHUCK ROASTS, lb. 59c
ROAST, Boned & Rolled Rib, lb. 79c
STEAKS, Sirloin and T-Bone, lb. 89c
PORK CHOPS, Center Cut, lb. 63c
SPARE RIBS, lb. 53c
PORK LOIN AND ROAST, lb. 49c
PICNICS, lb. 53c
POULTRY AND SEAFOODS

DRIED FRUITS
FRUNES A&P Large ..... 1-Lb. Pkg. 19c
PEACHES ..... 1-Lb. Pkg. 25c
PRUNES Del Monte ..... 1-Lb. Pkg. 20c
LAYER FIGS 8-Oz. Pkg. 15c 1-Lb. Pkg. 29c

PERSONAL IVORY SOAP Bar 8c
LIMITED QUANTITIES
IVORY SOAP 2 Med. Bars 23c
LIMITED QUANTITIES
LUX FLAKES Lge. Pkg. 38c
LIMITED QUANTITIES
RINSO Lge. Pkg. 38c
LIMITED QUANTITIES
SWAN SOAP Lge. Bar 20c
LIMITED QUANTITIES
SWAN SOAP 2 Med. Bars 23c
LIMITED QUANTITIES
SWIFT CLEANSER Pkg. 11c
OLD DUTCH CLEANSER Pkg. 9c

IONA PEACHES Yellow Cling Sliced or Halves .. No. 2½ Can 25c
FRUIT COCKTAIL Libby's No. 1 Can 24c
PEAS Standard Pack Packers Label ..... 3 No. 2 Cans 29c
APRICOTS A&P Halves Unpeeled or Whole Peeled .... No. 2½ Can 29c

WESSON OIL Pt. Can 45c
SNOWDRIFT 1-Lb. Can 45c
MIS' JULIE PIE CRUST 9-Oz. Pkg. 15c
SWIFT BRAND LARD SWIFT'NING 1-Lb. Can 45c
NABISCO RITZ 1-Lb. Pkg. 31c

Nabisco Chocolate MALLOMARS 4-Oz. Pkg. 18c
Sunnyfield Flour For PANCAKES ..... 20-Oz. Pkg. 13c
Ann Page Blended SYRUP ..... Pt. Bot. 25c
Sunnybrook Grade A Large FRESH EGGS ..... 1-Doz. Ctn. 59c
Ann Page Gelatin Desserts SPARKLE ..... 3 Pkgs. 19c
Campbell's TOMATO SOUP ..... 2 10½-Oz. Can 21c
Sunnyfield CORN FLAKES ..... 8-Oz. Pkg. 12c
Sunnyfield Self Rising FLOUR ..... 10-Lb. Bag 91c

A&P SUPER MARKETS
MEATS AND FISH · FRUITS AND VEGETABLES · GROCERIES · BAKERY · DAIRY

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Partly cloudy and continued cold.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
Sit and Knit
Ingrid's Wishbone
Senator Ferguson

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 94

Wofford Nominated For Head Cheerleader In Campus Party Meet

The Campus party yesterday announced the nomination of Richard "Dick" Wofford of Reidsville to run as the party's candidate for head cheerleader in the Spring campus elections.

Woffard, a junior, will oppose Charlie Stancell, the UP nominee and as yet an unnamed Sitman. He has had one year experience as a cheerleader here, and he was a drum major at Reidsville for four years.

Also in Reidsville, he did a great deal of debating and reached the semi-finals of the state debating tournament during his high school senior year.

Upon receiving the nomination Wofford said "If elected to this post by the student body, I will attempt to convert the great Carolina spirit into the kind of noise that heartens the team and helps them win ball games."

Commenting upon the nominee, Chairman Bob Haire of the Campus party said yesterday that he impressed him as "an energetic go-getter who will undoubtedly, if placed in office, be a factor in achieving a much better spirit next year."

Haire also announced that the Campus party in its meeting Tuesday would be considering some "most important" nominations, and that any and all party members were urged to attend.

He said that with such "excellent men" as Jess Dedmond (co-nominated by the UP) and Dick Wofford already nominated, the Campus party had made a good start towards presenting the best slate available in the Spring elections. "Thus", he concluded, "we hope to have our nominees selected by the largest possible number of party members."

World Peace Program Is In Second Year

Now in its second year of operation, the High School World Peace Study and Speaking program has enrolled 102 state high schools to date according to E. R. Rankin, Extension Division head of high school relations.

Rankin said that the program is at study of the ways and means of building permanent peace. It was conceived by Oscar "o. k." Merritt of Mt. who is an alumnus of the University.

Without supporting any one controversial thesis, the program is proposed to present all responsible points of view in unbiased consideration.

The program is offered to high schools of other states who agree to comply with the requirements of the contest. A gold medal is offered to each high school enrolled. The medal is presented to the student who prepares and delivers the best speech on world peace.

A handbook is published by the Extension Division containing authoritative articles for study, a comprehensive bibliography and rules and suggestions for conducting the program.

The program is financed and sponsored by various civic organizations in the cities. A bulletin has been prepared and distributed by the Extension Division including articles by C. B Robson, Samuel R. Levering, Harry S. Truman, and George C Marshall.

A feature of the program Ranking brought out, is the fact that there is no time limit on the awarding of the medals. It is left up to the individual high schools at what time during the school year it will be conducted.

Last year's total included 200 high schools enrolled, 4,000 students studying material on last year's topic, "Is World Government the Path to Peace?" This year's topic is entitled, "How Can the United Nations be Strengthened?"

1:15

Journalism Class Plans to Present Show Tomorrow

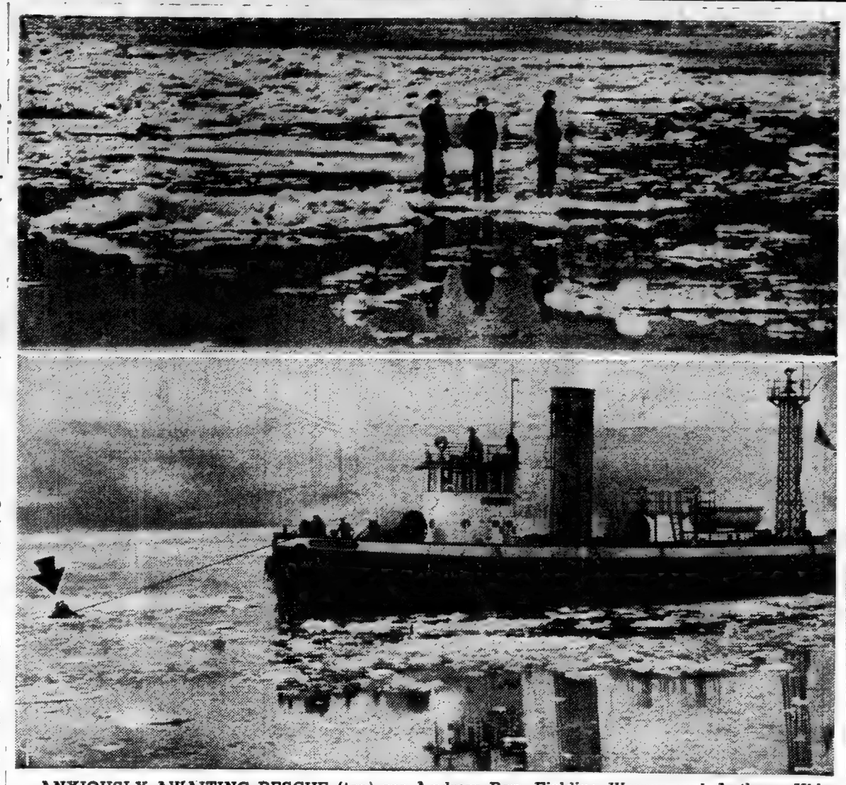
"Editorially Speaking", a radio show conceived during the war by University journalism students, will be revived tomorrow over radio station WDUK, Durham, at 12 o'clock noon.

In addition to this local broadcast, the 15-minute show will be re-broadcast at 3:45 tomorrow afternoon over the newly-organized North Carolina network consisting of 13 stations throughout the state.

Joe Morrison, journalism advisor, said yesterday that the show is being put on by members of the fall quarter class in radio news writing which will be resumed in the spring but was not offered this quarter.

Purpose of the show is threefold, Morrison said. "First, it is designed to familiarize students with state papers and worthwhile editorials they carry; second, it gives the radio news writing students experience out of class; and third, it gives the students a look at the feeling and temper of the state press since only editorials concerned with North Carolina issues are quoted."

Editorials on Sunday's show include such timely subjects as the recent death of Orville Wright, the special session of the state assembly for considering a raise in teacher's pay, parking meters, tobacco situation, amount of money in circulation, the weather and state politics.



Newspapers from which editorials were clipped include Greensboro Daily News, Charlotte Observer, Winston-Salem Journal, Kings Mountain Herald, Raleigh News and Observer, Greensboro Record, Durham Sun, High Point Enterprise, Skyland Post and Wallace Enterprise.

Goddess On Capital

Atlanta, Georgia, Feb. 6 —(UP)—The giant goddess that stands atop the Georgia state capitol must be a puzzled lady these days.

She represents peace.

But workmen repairing and repainting the capitol dome have found 38 bullet holes in the old lady, evidently the work of high powered rifles.

ANXIOUSLY AWAITING RESCUE (top) are Andrew Ray, Fielding Warren and Anthony Vida, after drifting with the tide for 30 minutes on an ice floe in the Hudson River off New York City. Below, they (arrow) hold tightly to a lifeline from the fireboat James Duane as they are pulled to safety. The boys were playing on the ice near shore when section on which they were standing broke off and floated into middle of the river. (International)

Methodist Group Youth Conference Starts Tomorrow

Members of the local Wesley foundation chapter are to present "The Rock" at the National Youth conference held in Winston-Salem February 8. Rev. Robert Nelson, director of the local Wesley foundation, is in charge of the group, and Mrs. Arnold Nash has charge of the seminars at the conference.

"The Rock" is a play from the adaptation of T. S. Elliott's poem and members of the cast include the following: Martha Mendenhall, Mae Day, Leo Nance, Jim McAllister, Ray Mills, Ed Aldridge, Ed Buckner, Marty Pearsall, Mary Lee Lambert, Margie Cameron, Doris Weaver, Lowell Perry, Ed Penland, Bob Dulin, Art Bridgman, Bob Bunch and Katherine Hovis.

Among the outstanding speakers at the conference Harold Ehrensperger, editor of Motive Magazine is included and he will speak in Chapel Hill on his return trip.

Hodgson Recovering

Tarnation editor Matt "Tookie" Hodgson who was hit by an automobile early this week is recuperating in the infirmary, nurses stated yesterday.

Ross Addresses Wallecites; Tells History of Third Party

By Sam Whitehall

Mike Ross, a union organizer for the CIO United Furniture Workers union, spoke to the Wallace for President club at Gerrard hall last night. His subject was "The History of Third Party Movements In North Carolina".

Ross, for 10 years a CIO organizer in the South, was introduced to the group by President Bill Richardson of the Wallaceite organization. His speech delivered before a small gathering which half filled the hall was well received, and at several points he was interrupted by scattered applause and laughter.

At the outset of his talk, he announced that he would go somewhat beyond his announced subject and claimed that he would present the third party "tradition" from the state and national standpoint.

Ross singled out the state of North Carolina as the only state to be controlled by the Populist party movement which enjoyed brief favor at the close of the last century. "All three branches of the state government" he told his audience, "were under the Fusion (Populist-Republican coalition) control of the 1890's".

He claimed that during their rule state government and race relations were extraordinarily good.

(See ROSS, page 4)

Morrison Speaks To Phi Assembly

Robert Morrison, former editor of the Daily Tar Heel and Speaker of the Philanthropic assembly spoke Thursday night at a special meeting of the Phi in Roland Parker lounge in Graham Memorial.

Morrison traced the growth of the Phi from its reorganization after the War in the fall of '45 to the growth of the present large and efficient body, commending the present Speaker, Chester zum Brunnen for the excellent work he is doing.

He stressed the importance of the Phi as an integral part of the campus and pointed out its far reaching influence stating that the Phi is an old and great organization.

Mr. Morrison is now teaching English at the University of Illinois and working on his Ph. D.

State Student Legislature May Be Held Sometime In April, Declares Fitzgerald

By Chuck Hauser

The State Student Legislature appears to be nearing reality, according to Earl Fitzgerald, president of the Debate council, as he announced that a meeting of the executive council of the legislature has been called for March 6 in Raleigh to prepare final plans for the eleventh annual session of the body.

"I see no way in which the legislature can be held before April," Fitzgerald said yesterday. The session was originally planned for November 28-29, 1947, but the executive council (at that time composed solely of State college students) cancelled the assembly, apparently due to the race question.

Negroes were first admitted to the legislature during the session held during the fall of 1946, which was very smooth-running, according to participants and spectators at that time.

"On March 6 we will decide exactly when the legislature will be held," said Fitzgerald, "and I am confident that it will pass the executive council."

The decision to hold the executive council meeting on March 6 was made by delegates from State, Carolina, and Meredith delegates at a meeting held Thursday night. Delegates from this campus were Lucy Jordon and Earl Fitzgerald.

According to Fitzgerald, Debate council vice-president Blanton Miller will call a meeting "probably early next week" of heads of all organizations on this campus who wish to sponsor the assembly to determine who is to attend the executive council meeting on March 6.

The University will be permitted to send seven delegates to the council meeting. Each college in the state may send one delegate per 1,000 students, with a minimum of 2 delegates.

Laboratory Theatre to Present Satire on 1845 Era Tonight

By Mark Sumner

"Fashion," the 1845 social satire and melodrama being presented by the Laboratory Theatre of the Carolina Playmakers, will open tonight at 8:30 in the main loung of Graham Memorial, and songs of the period will be one of the main features according to W. P. Covington, director.

The play, which will be repeated Sunday night, is being presented in true 1800's style, with the original songs and some entre-act skits. The featured songs will include "My Mother Was a Lady", "The Curse of an Aching Heart", and "New York, What a Charming City." The entre-act numbers include "Come On, Papa!" and "Frankie and Johnie", as well as a song pantomime and a comic skit. The music for the ball room scene was written especially for the production by Sound and Fury writer Frank Mathews.

Fashion," written by Anna Mowatt Ritchie, boasts a cast including Edsel Hughes, Quentin Brown, Erle Hall, Sidney Shertzer, James Byrd, Martin Jacobs, Mac Shaw, John Constable, Catherine McDonald, Gloria Gunn, Betty Young, Edna Dooley, and Mary Jo Cain.

No Charge

The production is being presented without an admission charge, under the sponsorship of Graham Memorial. It is being staged in front of a series of screens designed by James Riley, and will be played at floor level with the audience on three sides.

The members of the cast designed their own costumes, and the lighting for the production is being handled by Helen Brown and Frank Echols. Allen Smith is house manager, and Ellen Smith is stage manager. Harry Thomas is supervising make-up, Sybil Drake is accompanist, and Martin Jacobs is choreographer. Pat Palmer is prompter and director's assistant, and George Upchurch is handling the properties.

Annual Co-op Meeting Is Slated Wednesday

The Chapel Hill Mutual Distributors, Inc., will hold its second annual meeting next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Medical building auditorium, Co-op Board of Directors announced today.

Officers for the coming year will be elected at the meeting and the treasurer will announce the stock dividend to be paid to the holders of co-op stock. The new board of directors will also be chosen at the meeting.

Lindsay To Head Democratic Club

Bob Lindsay, junior from Greenville, S. C., was recently elected president of the UNC Students for Democratic Action.

The retiring president, W. C. Dutton, Jr. of Atlanta, Ga., was elected vice-president. Margaret Healy of Langly Field, Va., was elected secretary. Bill Grier is treasurer.

At the meeting, the chapter's committee for the Marshall plan reported on its plan for awakening further interest locally in the purposes of the Marshall plan.

Citing the need for the development of an integrated economy between all countries of eastern and western Europe, Lindsay appealed to those who wish to see a democratic Europe revived in the fight against extremist groups of both the right and left.

Dan Finkle, industrial engineer employed by the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, told the group about his work with the union.

Members discussed plans for attending the Americans for Democratic Convention in Philadelphia, February 21-23. It was announced that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will preside at the banquet meeting.

Speakers at the convention will include William Green, Walter Reuther, Senators O'Mahoney and Morse and Reinhold Niebuhr. Convention advertisements say that the meeting will be "the greatest parliament of liberals ever held in the Western Hemisphere."

DTH STAFF NOTICE

There will be a Daily Tar Heel staff party this evening. Time and place had not been decided at presstime last night. However, Frank McDonald, chairman of the arrangements committee announced that they would be posted on the office board from nine until noon this morning.

McDonald also revealed that there will be a small assessment from those who attend the affair which, he said, "definitely will not conflict with the ball game."

Kerr Scott To Run In Governor Race

Burlington, Jan. 6—(UP)—Agricultural Commissioner W. Kerr Scott has announced that he will run for Governor of North Carolina and will resign his agriculture post immediately.

Scott is in Burlington tonight for a mass meeting of Alamance County Democrats.

Meanwhile in Raleigh, Governor Cherry says he has not heard from Scott concerning the resignation or the candidacy for Governor. He says if Scott resigns from the Agriculture Department he will appoint a successor who will probably be from the department.

World Federalists Talk Nationalism

In the first discussion of the aims of the United World Federalists, the student chapter meeting in the Grail room Thursday afternoon heard Jim Roberts in a discussion designed to show the concept of nationalism as the greatest obstacle to a federation.

Roberts began the discussion and various members of the student chapter expanded his ideas. Nationalism was discussed in relation to (1) the purpose of a nation, (2) reasons leading to the failure of nations to maintain peace and (3) area of a nation's operation.

In weeks to come the UWF chapter, which meets regularly at 5 o'clock on Thursdays, will program discussions to serve the dual purpose of furnishing information of the organization and its views to visitors and new members. At the same time discussion groups will attempt to acquaint present members with new ideas and views of the constantly-changing world political scene.

All persons interested in these programs are urged by chapter president Jake Wicker to attend.

Ruark Started from Bourbon . . . . . . Grenadine Started from Scratch

'Polluted' Writing Paid Off For University Alumnus Bob Ruark

By Donald MacDonald

"I armed myself with a large bottle of bourbon," said genial Bob Ruark, "and I wrote very well polluted. I would wake up in the mornings to find 20 pages of copy I'd never seen before."

And that, in the words of her creator, is how "Grenadine Etching", the very busomy, very historical heroine of the current satirical best-seller, was born.

Ruark, Carolina graduate of 1935 and a Scripps-Howard syndicated columnist, arrived in Chapel Hill Wednesday night. "I haven't been back for any length of time in 13 years," he said, "and I want to see if there isn't enough material here for columns to keep me around for 10 or 12 days."

The idea for "Grenadine", it seems, had earlier beginnings than the bourbon episode. According to Ruark he became more than slightly piqued at the "Scarlett O'Foxes O'Harrow, turquoise type of things" which his wife, ill then with a foot ailment, began reading night after night. "I wrote a gag column shortly afterwards and threatened to create a very historical novel of my own." The threat became a reality during those bourbon nights. Ruark's ideas were these: "Take the biggest-bosomed gal you can get, give her a nice exotic name, get her seduced in as many strange countries and by as many strange men as possible—men with names like 'Stud Seven', involve her in every sort of catastrophe known to God or man, allow her to have 24 children all of whom have either two heads or no head, and then on the last page let her walk upstairs with a decanter of brandy in her hand, saying, 'I'll think about it tomorrow.'"

Mrs. Ruark, who is with her husband in Chapel Hill, collected the copy pages and stored them in a shoebox on those mornings after. Doubleday, Doran and company became very happy she did, and Mrs. Ruark was even happier. But one has only to hear the amount of those royalties to realize who was happiest of all. Just think of all that bourbon!

The versatile author and columnist first came to Carolina from his home in Wilmington to study journalism under department head O. J. "Skipper" Coffin. "One thing I learned from Skipper," Ruark confessed, "is an appreciation and a common-sense arrangement of words."

There were only about 2,200 students here then, Ruark said. They were students only in the foolish sense, remarkably interested in everything except studies.

Today's change in things, he continued, is most evident in the veterans. "The 'Y' looks like any PX. The faces are all the same. You could blow one whistle here, and everybody would put on old suntans. Give 'em a rifle and off they'd march. That, I don't like about it." But he added that such a situation is similar at every university.

Ruark is a veteran himself with service in the Navy. That came much later—after beginning his career as a copy boy on a Washington paper for $12 a week. His newspaper history is summed in his own words, "I started out honest and wound up rich."

He became sports editor of the Washington "Daily News". Sports writing, to him, is the best way to begin in journalism. The average sports writer, Ruark said, is an athlete worshipper who has a great bushel of cliches with which to worship. "I'd much rather talk to any lady wrestler in the world," he said, "than any diplomat."

During the war Ruark is remembered for his bold expose of conditions in the Mediterranean theater under Brigadier General "Courthouse" Lee. He explained exactly how he came upon the story when at Leghorn near Pisa, he was taken to lunch by a couple of sergeants "to a pigsty mess hall where we ate this lukewarm swill. I got most of my first series from General Lee's own public relations staff." There was little danger of a suit because he was furnished signed documentaries from G. I.'s and brass alike.

Later Ruark uncovered the story about Frank (The Voice) Sinatra's chumminess with "Lucky" Luciano in Havana. Sinatra threatened suit. "It was a good story," said Ruark, "because I thought it was a rather odd place for a youth leader to be, mixing with guys like Luciano and Ralph Capone."

The suit didn't pan out because again he had documentary proof. "I hollered for Sinatra's 'keeper' in New York and told him I had all the evidence."

Ruark calls his job the best newspaper job in the U.S. and he's going to hold on to it. He isn't afraid of being shot because "people largely have an inferiority complex about shooting newspapermen." His columns, which "Time" once called "belt-level stuff", give the average man's reactions to things about him—be it General Lee or Sinatra. About the UMT proposal he says, "I'm in favor of it, but I don't think it will pass as long as Congressmen have sons." Columns to him are "one part leg work and six parts being able to think while sitting down." His first column from Chapel Hill will appear in Monday newspapers.

"Grenadine, rather bawdy parody", is only the beginning of the New York columnist's book work. He has already sold an incomplete autobiography and column collection to Doubleday for fall publication. "Grenadine" took three months to write, and Ruark has five months remaining in which to finish "I Didn't Know It Was Loaded."

He calls himself lucky in journalism, and he gives this advice to young hopefuls: "There is no substitute for luck in this business. You can have talent and be a great writer, but if you don't have luck you might as well drop dead!"

On Legislators That 'Sit and Knit'

A session of our legislature is an interesting procedure to watch. For the past four weeks, we have been in regular attendance at the meetings and have learned much about student government on the campus. Legislators, for the most part, are sincere men and women who feel the importance of their duties in representing the majority of the students. However, we could not help but notice several flies in the pie that hinder proper fulfillment of the main purposes of the body.

For instance, time and again during the sessions it is necessary for the Speaker to call for order. Last Thursday night a coed legislator and her date carried on a continued conversation throughout the meeting. They were discourteous not only to the speaker on the floor but to others sitting around them. The example of this couple can be applied to the majority of other legislators and visitors. It will be acknowledged that some manner of conversation is necessary between members to discuss a surprise bill or other matters that might unexpectedly arise, but through cooperation the constant hum of noise that flows from the rear of the room to the front could be stopped.

It would be a wise move if the assembly was divided into two sections, the front section for members of the legislature and reporters, and the rear for all visitors. If party men, not members of the assembly, wish to confer with their representatives, they should go outside the room. If legislators are elected on their own initiative, there is no reason why they should require a leader of their political party near them to tell them how to vote. The separation of the members and the lobbyists will help remedy the noise situation.

During the four week period we also noticed that one small group of men, about twelve out of the fifty members, lead all discussions defend their party in debates, and introduce bills. Party men like House, Sherrill, Van Hecke, West, Fort, Montague, Dedmond, Vogler, Gerns and a very few others wage all the pros and cons of various issues. We paid special attention to certain members and saw two men who not only made no speeches, but did not even bother to vote on the majority of the issues. What are such men and women as these doing in our legislature? It is encouraging to see new members like Dotch Warriner, stand up and take an active part in the preceedings. Warriner, appointed to the group only four weeks ago, has taken an active interest in all meetings, asking intelligent questions and offering intelligent opinions.

The twenty-five and more members, including almost all the coed members, who "sit and knit," are wasting their time on Thursday nights. They are in the legislature to serve the student body and also to learn by experience. They will do neither by simply sitting back and listening week after week.

—B. B.

Reprinted from the March, 1948 issue of ESQUIRE

Copyright 1948 by Esquire, Inc.

"Which one of you guys kicked the bucket last night?"

(ED'S NOTE: This cartoon is printed as a gesture, of sorts, toward DTH Editor Barron Mills whose current address is the infirmary's "cold" ward.)

Hollywood

Ingrid's Wishbone

By Patricia Clary

Hollywood —(UP)— The shy young girl who once put a chicken wishbone under her pillow with the fervent hope that she would sing well before eight members of her family will sing soon before a world-wide audience of 80,000,000.

The girl was Ingrid Bergman, who sings on the screen for the first time in Enterprise's "Arch of Triumph."

Far better known for her acting, Miss Bergman was a serious student of singing in Sweden.

"It was my family's most ardent hope that I would choose a musical career instead of acting," Miss Bergman said. "I spent four years studying with an Iitalian teacher, Siegfriend Terlizzi."

Miss Bergman never used her voice for singing on the screen in Sweden or here until she was assigned the part of Joan Madou, the Parisian cafe singer, in "Arch of Triumph."

Despite the fact that she had not sung professionally, a continued interest in music and music coaching kept her [illegible] soprano voice at a good [illegible] She fitted easily and naturally into the cafe singing role.

She selected the Russian gypsy loves ong "Prochladna" from a group of tunes submitted by the musical director Rudy Polk and rehearsed it with him 10 times before the recording.

"I knew right away that I working with a perfect Polk said. "Her delivery nerisms and interpretation precise and complete."

Miss Bergman showed nervousness over working [illegible] a sound and camera crew of than a hundred. She was accompanied by a 37-unit [illegible] orchestra.

"Her delivery was [illegible] what the script called for in mood and expression," Polk reported. "It was the singing of a worldwise, embittered and disillusioned chanteuse. The ballad was supposed to be more than singing but character revealing as well.

This 'n That

Wilbur Wants A Wife

By Bill Buchan

"I think," said Wilbur Amberson, "that I will write a column for the Daily Tar Heel. Look at the overnight success of Helen Highwater."

Slightly befuddled and confused over the number of beer bottles on the table, his friend Bob Wilkensen wasn't paying much attention to his cohort, Wilbur, however, wasn't discouraged, and continued his argument in full force.

"Here other columnists and reporters slave away for weeks, months, even years and they get no attention, then along comes a coed, writes one column on men and she's in."

"Buddy," said Bob, "I don't want to hurt your feelings, but just what are you talking about? Don't answer that, I'M going after more beer."

"You should have seen the mail that woman got over that one column. Every thing from proposels of marriage to invitations to liquor parties. All from men, too. Now maybe if I write one about coeds and their habits, I'll get the same response from the fair sex that Helen got from men."

Wilkensen had returned loaded with brown bottles and was again listening to Amberson's prattle. "But this is Leap Year," he interrupted, "the girls will find you anyway, you don't have to seek their attention through newspaper columns."

"Your faith in me, Mr. Wilkensen is gratifying, but our friendship has caused you to fail to see the imminent danger of my becoming a confirmed bachelor."

"When you start using sentences like that, Wilbur, it's time you went home. I'll drink the other five bottles myself."

"Home? On Friday night? Never. Besides, I've got a quarter hidden in my shoe to take a taxi when we leave. Now where were we? Oh, yes, I'm getting grey hair and dying a slow death of loneliness. Bob, I've just gotta have a wife."

"Sucker!"

"No, I just want to have a sweet little thing around to cheer me up, like that song, "A Feller Needs A Girl." Course, I'm a man and when she talks too much, I'll just slap the hang out of her. But she'll be handy to have around. Yep, I've gotta have a wife."

"What does that have to do with your joining the Tar Heel staff?"

"Simple. Watson, I'll knock out a piece of literature on the advantages and disadvantages of the Carolina Coeds, some innocent thing will read it, fall in love with me sight unseen, and there I am. Of course, I'd naturally prefer a working girl who can put me through school in a manner to which I am accustomed, but then a wife is a dependent and will raise my income to $105 per month."

"Naturally."

"I think I'll go start right away. Friend, you stay here and drink all the beer, get drunk to your heart's content. As of now, little Wilbur is on the wagon and heading straight for matrimony.

NO PARKING

There will be no parking on the side of Woollen gym tonight and students and local residents are requested by University officials not to drive to the gym.

Report On Secret Meeting

By R. Foo Giduz

Now from the general sentiment floating aroundabouts recently folks seem to be giving the impression that the Student council itself is in favor of abolishing its power to hear appeal cases from the Men's and Women's councils. . .A most interesting view when put alongside of the minutes of a secret Student council meeting last fall. . .

DTH had just finished exposing an attempt by the Men's and Women's council to wrest the appeal from the higher council's hands by setting up a "faculty appeal branch" of the Student council, without going through the process of a Constitutional amendment and the resultant student body vote. . .Shortly thereafter in a closed meeting the Student Council adopted three motions, all unanimously (mebbe one dissenting vote) as follows: (1) Voted down a motion to go on record as favoring abolition of the 'appeal;" (2) Refused to go on record favoring the "faculty appeal branch" plan; (but "thanked" the Men's and Women's councils for their "consideration"); (3) favored a student body vote on any amendment to kill the "appeal." . . . And that is most simply that! . . .Don't be surprised when the recently-mentioned Frank Graham-for-Democratic Vice-Presidential-nominate movement gets some national consideration and soon!. . . it will NOT be on the Wallace ticket!. . .(Southern Democratic "secessionists" please note.)

(See CAROUSEL, page 4)

Student Government Record

By Pete Gerns

In our first article on the activities of legislature we attempted to point out its working procedure. We feel that it is necessary to give a short review: A bill may be introduced by any member of the assembly. Two kinds of action can be taken on it. One, as the Record mentioned last time, is to refer the bill to a committee where it will be properly discussed by members of the committee, where some changes can be made, and from where it will be "reported out" to the legislature in feasible form. The other path of action goes via the "suspension-of-the-rules" motion, which, if effective, provides for immediate discussion of the bill. This latter method is much less frequently used. Its greatest disadvantage is the relatively short time that can be spent in discussion before it is voted upon.

Checking through our records we find that legislature passed eighteen different bills in the course of six regular and one special session last fall. Five of these can be put under a financial heading: The first one, appropriating $250 to the CCUN, was passed on October 9. It provided that this amount be used by said organization in carrying out a program bringing speakers to the campus and as a general aid in following its budget.

A community chest committee was set up by legislature by a bill passed on the 10th of October. This committee was set up to get tangible data in campus drives and to cooperate with all solicitors in its effort to finally establish a community chest on the campus to which all students will be asked to contribute once a year and whole funds will be distributed to fund-raising projects as the committee shall be instructed by legislature. Nothing in this bill, though, prohibits any organization from soliciting among its own membership.

In the beginning of October several members of legislature believed that the finance committee of legislature did not have an accurate picture of spendings of the Publication Board and felt called upon to introduce a resolution providing for an investigation into the financial condition of the board. The finance committee was given the job when this resolution passed on the 30th of October.

On the 13th of November, after the finance committee had reported back to the assembly that the Publications Board was in sound financial condition, a bill was passed by the body over some vigorous protest to increase the funds of the board by $550— which sum was to go to the Yackety Yack to prevent a deficit in its budget.

The sum of eighty dollars was appropriated to the executive branch of our government in a bill passed by the legislature on the 19th of October. This amount is to be spent at the discretion of the secretary-treasurer of the student body as a fund for expressing condolences upon the death of students or faculty members. Just prior to this action the campus had learned of the death of "Jock" Southerland in an automobile accident and the passing of Professor Sherrill of the commerce department.

The subject of election has always been a controversial one, mainly due to ignorance of the established laws. Legislature still has to give the campus a sound election law that will stick. Two minor laws on elections were passed, one providing for a special election of editor of the Yackety Yack, passed on October 2nd, and calling for a special election on October 14th.

The other bill concerned election of freshman and junior class officers. Passed on November 13th, it provided for a special election of these class officers on November 25th.

Legislation concerning internal affairs was headed by a resolution establishing this Record. An attempt had been made last Spring under Speaker Charles Warren to print the Record at the cost of some eight hundred dollars. A resolution was passed to that effect during the summer session, providing for selection of an editor on a competitive basis. This resolution was rescinded in toto during the session held on the 16th of October and its place was taken by a measure providing for bi-weekly publication of the legislature's activities in the Daily Tar Heel. Editor Barron Mills agreed to let legislature have ¼ page every other Saturday for this purpose. A resolution embodying these essentials was passed on October 30th.

On the 20th of November the assembly saw fit to postpone its parliamentary quiz to this term so that newly-elected legislators would have the privilege of taking it.

Two bills were introduced and passed on the 4th of December. They provided that a rollcall taken at any time during a meeting shall be considered a regular roll call and any member who has absented himself from the assembly prior to it were to be counted absent. The other measure holds that all bills introduced must have two copies and that all bills shall carry a file number and floor number to ease reference.

Five bills come under the heading of "Miscellaneous". On October 2nd the legislature passed a resolution to address its expression of grief to the widow of the late Professor Sherrill. The speaker was instructed to use words of condolence at his discretion.

During its first meeting in November two bills were passed; one requested the housing authorities to notify in summer all the 30th of October and 4th of probable returning students who have not paid their fall room deposits, thus giving the student one last chance to hold on to his living quarters. The other bill established recognition of the Friendship Drive, then planned by the Department of Journalism, as a campus drive.

Two bills concerned with the National Student Association were considered and passed on December respectively. After many cries had gone up over manipulation of funds by the three student delegates who has been sent to the national NSA conference at Madison, Wisconsin the legislature saw fit to insert in a bill passed during the Spring term of last year a clause providing travel by air to said delegates. It stated that this clause was inadvertantly omitted from the original bill.

Confronted with sudden notice of a regional conference of NSA at Lynchburg, Va., legislature passed a bill to send two delegates to the confab.

With the next section of this report to the campus we will take up business transacted during this term.

There will be no meeting of the legislature next Thursday. It will reconvene on the 19th of February at 8 o'clock in the halls of the Dialectic Senate, in New West.

Thief Takes "Dough"

Salem, Mass., —(UP)—A Salem housewife says a thief reached into her oven and ran off with her dough.

Mrs. Frank Porter told city police that the dough was missing when she returned to her apartment after a short absence. The dough wasn't flour in this case it was $200 hard cash.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Memo To Senator Ferguson

(Ed. Note—Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a memo to Senator Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the subcommittee investigating Senator Thomas and other grain speculators. Pearson was the first to expose Thomas's commodity speculation, two years ago, at which time he was called a liar by the Oklahoma Senator.)

By Drew Pearson

Washington. — Memo to Senator Ferguson of Michigan:

Believing in your sincere desire to get to the bottom of Senator Thomas and his use of the Senate for private speculation, I am sending you the results of my own investigation. These may furnish you with additional leads for your own probe.

I think you will find that during most of Senator Thomas's career in the U. S. Senate, he has been active in the stock market and has not hesitated to use his position of trust to influence the market. I suggest that first you look into 128 shares of Cities Service stock held by the Senator around 1928.

Following this, I suggest that you examine the Senator's dealing in silver and cotton in 1933. At around this time his son Wilfred was employed by the old stock-brokerage firm of Fenner and Beane at its Oklahoma City office, while the Senator traded through the firm's Washington office.

During the summer of 1933 you will find that Thomas was active in the silver market, in fact had bought a considerable quantity of silver on margin, and when the silver bubble burst in July, Thomas was caught short. John Mothershead, then manager of Fenner and Beane's Washington office, called on him for more collateral which the Senator did not put up. Accordingly, he was sold out, at a heavy loss.

I think you will find that the next day, July 19, 1933, Senator Thomas then sent two blistering telegrams to the presidents of the New York Stock Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade demanding stricter regulation. The two telegrams read in part: "Today's activity in your exchange demonstrates absolute necessity for immediate adoption of a rule limiting the amount of loss on any stock during any one season."

It is interesting that the Senator did not reveal that he himself was caught short. He put his protest on the high moral plane of protecting the investing public. It is also interesting that some years later, in the spring of 1946 when the OPA urged stricter control of the cotton market, Thomas took an exactly opposite view and opposed those controls. At that time he and his wife were long on cotton and gambling on a continued rise in prices. The Senator didn't want OPA controls to interfere with such a rise.

Going back to 1933, 1934 and 1935, I believe you will find that at about the time Senator Thomas was speculating in silver, he was also making speeches calculated to increase the price of silver. He was, for instance, an active member of Senator Key Pitman's silver bloc, and also described himself as "silver adviser to Father Coughlin," in attacking the Federal Reserve Act. Coughlin later turned out to be the biggest individual buyer (through his secretary) of silver in the United States.

In speech after speech Thomas urged passage of his silver- buying bill, the remonetization of silver and the payment of soldier bonuses from silver. But he said nothing to the public about the fact that he himself had been buying up silver.

On Feb. 18, 1935 Thomas offered an amendment to the WPA-Relief Appropriation Bill directing the Secretary of the Treasury to buy silver at the rate of 50,000,000 ounces a month until one-fourth of our total metallic reserve was silver instead of gold.

To check on the Senator's early commodity market transactions, look in an old warehouse at 818 Gravier Street, New Orleans, La., where the records of Fenner and Beane are stored. To check on some of his other silver transactions, look up the records of Harriss and Vose, 60 Beaver Street, New York, though these may have been destroyed.

In other words the Senator from Oklahoma seems to have been in the stock and commodity markets during practically all of his long career.

Regarding more recent opera-

(See PEARSON, page 4)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser
[illegible]HT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson.
[illegible]GHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette.
ASST. BUS. MGRS.: Mary W. Sledge, Eton Holden
ASST. CIRC. MGRS.: Randall Hudson, Don Snow
SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison
EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan

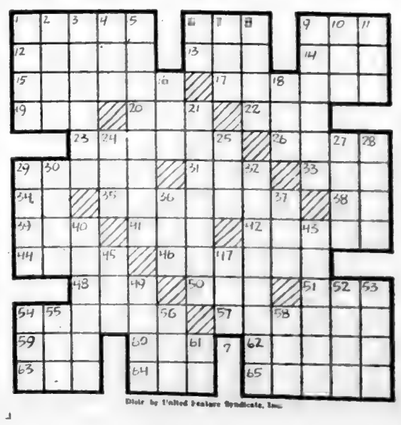
NEWS STAFF: Raney Stanford, Donald MacDonald, Sally Woodhull, John Stump, Herb Nachman, Charlie Gibson, Gordon Huffines, Margaret Gaston, Mark Summer, Paul Rothman, Nina Davis, George Roberts, Elaine Patton, Jean Baskerville, Mary Ann Taber, Weddy Thorp, Emily Baker, Miriam Evans, Doris Weaver, Nancy Black, Helen Beam, Daniel Wallace, Sam Whitehall, Helen Highwater.
SPORTS STAFF: Morty Shaap, Dick Jenrette, Bill Kellam, Larry Fox, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Bill Gallagher.
BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty, Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr., Lena Campbell, Ed Campbell, Ed Carpenter.

NIGHT EDITOR: Ed Joyner — NIGHT SPORTS: Bob Goldwater

What's Up in Graham Memorial

—Lab theatre's presentation of "Fashion" played to a large and receptive audience in the main lounge last night . . . Don't miss the show tonight or tomorrow night, if you can help it! . . . Due to this presentation Saturday night Bingo session will not be held this week . . . Likewise the Music by Candlelight program will not be held tomorrow night, in deference to "Fashion."

—It was a dead heat between "Fashion" at 8:30 and Clarence Barbour's Rendezvous show at 10:30 as to which was the best . . . Whether or not you're on of the 110 or so photo enthusiasts who signed up for GM darkroom permits, you'll still do well even as a rank beginner to take in the photography lessons today . . . Bob Coulter teaches the mysteries of developing film at 10:30 this morning, in the darkroom on the ground floor.



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS

1—Heavenly body
6 Social affair
9 To obtain
12—To worship
13—To possess
14 Beverage
15—Floating
17—To permit
19 High (mus.)
20 Moisture
22 Religious garment
23 Space for action
26—To gambol
29 Obvious
31—To seek alms
33 Age
34 Sun god
35—Tea-holding device
38—Man's nickname
39—Conjunction
41—A state (abbr.)
42—National bird of the U. S.
44—To thrash
46 Strict
48—To grab
50 God of underworld
51—Bump
54—Fell behind
57—City in Italy
59—Boring tool
60—Hearing organ
62—To deserve
63—Tiny
64—Grain
65—Growing out

DOWN

1—Town in Galilee
2—East Indian vine
3—To fleck
4—Period of time
5—Offered
6—Toward
7—Female sheep
8—Coin of India
9—To jabber
10—Cloth measure
11—Pipe joint
16—Laborious struggle
18—Mountain
21—Teetered
24—To dine
25—Yes
27—Russian sea
28—Old Elf
29—To complain
30—Shaded walk
32—Merry
36—Roman bronze
37—Household god
40—To hang loosely
43—Classes of objects
45—Label
47—Vigor
49—Brew
52—Single thing
53—To diminish
54—Legal code
55—Great wonder
56—Period of time
58—Hideout
61—Musical note

Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Carolina Faces Duke In Southern Conference Test Tonight

Swimmers, Wrestlers See Conference Action In Virginia Today

Scott's Club Rates As Favorite; 6000 Fans Are Expected

By Dick Jenrette

Carolina and Duke, who in years past have staged some of the best basketball games in Southern conference history, resume their rivalry tonight at 8 o'clock in an important loop battle that will provide some 6,000 Woollen Gym fans an evening of hard-fought basketball.

Duke which boasts a 5-2 won-lost mark in conference play, is the slight underdog in tonight's contest. The Devils, while fairly successful in their loop action thus far, have had rough going against many of their non-conference opponents. Carolina possesses a 7-1 mark within the conference and has won 15 of 18 games this season.

In a halftime exhibition, the Chapel Hill All-Stars, made up from the Hill Hotshots and Town Terrors, will oppose a group of boys from the Durham YMCA.

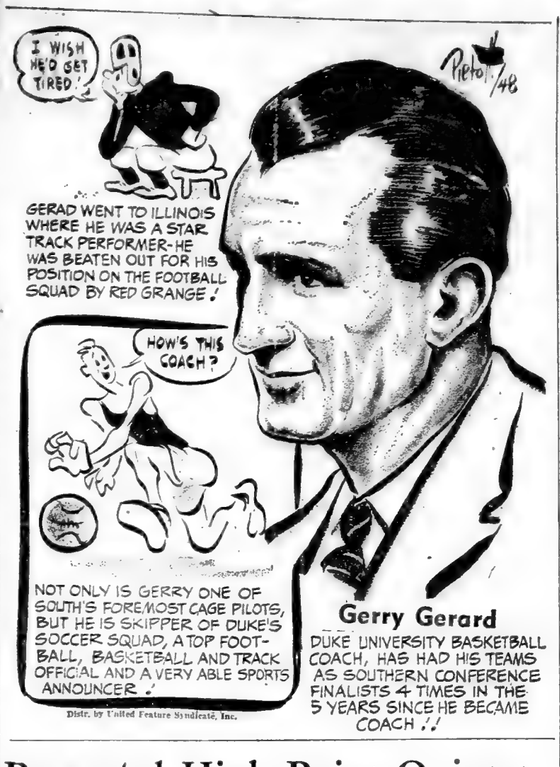
Carolina's superior won-lost mark is the reason for its favored rating. However, Duke supporters contend that their team has been showing steady improvement lately while the Phantoms have won but three of their last six games. State's crushing 81-42 victory over Carolina this week considerably boosted the Dukes' hopes for an upset.

Tom Scott, Carolina head coach, yesterday stated that he figured that his team had a 50-50 chance of beating the Devils. He is basing his main hopes for victory on Carolina's superior height. However, he commented that such an advantage usually means little in a rivalry like the one existing between Duke and Carolina.

In Previous Years

In previous years the Duke-Carolina fray was usually a good indication of who would be the conference champion. State College's Wolfpack apparently has broken up this two-team domination, so the game tonight probably will serve to determine which team will be regarded as State's chief threat for title honors.

George Wasnington, along with Duke, Carolina, and State, completes the big four of Southern conference basketball.



The game will be the third of the week for Duke. On Tuesday, Navy's Middies trampled the Devils, 56-46, but on Thursday night Coach Gerry Gerard's outfit turned back William and Mary, 45-35. In the latter contest, the Devils played extremely well on occasions—at one time holding the Indians scoreless for 13 minutes.

Ben Collins, 6-4 center, and Corren Youmans, forward, rank as the top men on the Blue Devil squad. Youmans led Duke against William and Mary with 17 points. Collins got only five points in that game but played well under the backboards. Collins is the tallest member of the Duke team.

Out For Revenge

Duke will have the incentive of revenge tonight. Last season Carolina beat the Devils by large margins in both meetings of the two teams. Two of the top members of the Duke team—Ed Koffenberger and Bubber Seward—have graduated. Carolina is also minus two of its stars in those games. They are Jim Hamilton and Jim White.

Duke	Pos.	Carolina
Ausbon	F	Paxton
Youmans	F	Carson
Collins	C	Nearman
Hughes	G	Kohler
Martin	G	Cole

Powerful High Point Quintet Noses Out Yearlings, 43-41

Frank Merriwell and his skillfull teammates with their legendary feats had nothing on High Point High's Bill Ellington and his hustling companions last night in Woollen Gym for the undefeated high school cagers from the Furniture City put on a true Merriwell finish when, paced by Ellington, the visitors came from behind in the last period to nose out the Tar Babies, 43-41.

Trailing throughout most of the game by margins ranging from one to nine points, the Bisons, sparked by the husky guard's deadly one-hand set shots, caught fire early in the fourth quarter to close a 30-39 deficit to a 41-41 tie and then triumph on fighting Mel Cooper's push shot from under the bucket.

If such happenings keep happening to his teams, Carolina coach Jim Hamilton's meagre patch of brown curls will soon be brown patch of curls will soon be white—if he hasn't torn it all out—for the likeable Tar Baby mentor went through his second straight night of agony as another one of his quintets blew a commanding lead late in the contest to succumb. Like his varsity friend, Tom Scott, the Kansan suffered in silence.

According to pre-game gossip, the High Pointers—how true—were rating themselves as tremendous underdogs and a team with less fight might have given up on the strange and spacious Woollen floor. However, the very tall and husky visitors settled down right after the opening whistle and battled the Carolina yearlings to a 11-9 score, Carolina's favor, at the end of the first quarter.

Hal Ferraro, though dwarfed by the tall Bisons, was the big man on the floor, offensively, during the opening period for he turned in a stellar performance under both boards in addition to making two beautiful follow up tipins. "Beak" Tsantes' ball hawking and passing from the pivot was another cheerful note in a sad night for the locals.

The Tar Babies doubled their lead during the next period as the victors battled them to a 23-19 Carolina lead at the half. Dale Morrison driving layups, a type of shot that lacking from the local jayvee repertoire the night before, paced the frosh during this quarter. The Bisons cashed in on six foul shots during this nine to keep them in the contest.

Things looked pretty dark for the visitors after the intermission for the yearlings, aparently playing for double or nothing, once again increased their lead two-fold. The Tar Babies' fast break was really working as they streaked to a 36-28 lead at the nd of the third period.

Then the roof fell in. After

(See HIGH POINT, page 4)

Blue Dolphins To Meet VPI

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

Blacksburg, Va., Feb. 6—North Carolina's highly-favored Blue Dolphins, minus most of their aquatic record-breakers, and VPI's feeble splashers will lock fins at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the VPI pool where the undefeated Carolina mermen will be seeking their 30th consecutive victory in Southern conference competition and their fourth straight this year.

The Dolphins arrived here yesterday afternoon minus loop record-holders Dick Twining and Mike Morrow, breaststroker Jerry Cook, and diver, Mac Erle. Freestyler Art Dietzel was a last minute addition to the Carolina traveling squad and will probably perform in one of the distance events against the Gobblers. The Tar Heel swimmers went through a workout late this afternoon to accustom themselves to the new surroundings.

Dan Breeden's outstanding performance against VMI last Saturday has won for him the starting assignment in the breaststroke leg of the medley relay. Bob Hutton has moved into a regular position in the 220 freestyle event with Bob Elliott who turned in a very satisfactory time against VMI.

Gil Beam has been turning in some good work in the past week's practice sessions to earn his first start. This will be the first dual meet that Steve Osborne has appeared in the 100.

Coach Dick Jamerson is continuing his policy of giving as many men as possible a chance to get into the lineup.

The probable starting North Carolina lineup:

Medley—Thomas, Breeden, Greenbaum.
220—Hutton, Elliott.
50—Ingram, Pritchard.
Diving—Sper, Beam.
100—Osborne, Greenbaum.
150 backstroke—Bippart, Clement.
200 breaststroke—Ousley, Breeden.
440—Norwood, Basesch.
400 relay—D. Whichard, Mericka, Pell, Coart.

McGee Gets Sportsmanship, Heavyweight Glove Awards

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

Durham, Legion Armory, Feb. 6 — Paced by hard hitting Ed McGee, the inexperienced but ever scrapping pugilists of the newly-formed Tar Heel Athletic Club, lost a very questionable pair of decisions here tonight in the Bull City and consequently finished third in the local Golden Gloves tourney.

Rugged 175 pounder Johnny Richardson, of the Tar Heel A. C., lost a deafeningly booed—by the capacity crowd of over 2,200 ring fans—decision to Charles Cole of Durham. The Carolina slugger was disqualified at the end of the three round bout for allegedly fouling the Bull City fighter in the first and third rounds. Richardson accidentally hit his opponent in the back when Cole turned his back on the Tar Heel to avoid Johnny's punishing blows.

However, smooth working Ed McGee more than made up for the disappointing judges' decisions by winning both the open heavyweight tournament crown and by being awarded the Sportmanship trophy sponsored by the Durham American Legion Post No. 7.

The 173 pound Tar Heel dukester easily defeated his 214 pound foe, William Seawell of the Greensboro YMCA, in three rounds. McGee could have easily knocked out his larger opponent but he mercifully contented himself by easily outboxing Seawell during the entire bout.

128 pounder Bill Buffaloe, of the Tar Heel A. C., won the title in his weight by decisioning Jim Mitchell of the Greensboro YMCA. Buffaloe kept his left hand in Mitchell's face throughout the match to take an easy decision.

Joe Wratren, 147 pound open divisioner, suffered a cut over an eye early in his match and subsequently lost a lone decision to Horace Emory of the Durham A. C.

Pat Cannada of the Durham A. C. decisioned Jim Stafford of the Tar Heel A. C. in the 135 pound class.

Coach Joe Thigpen commented at the conclusion of the tournament tonight, "I'm very proud of the boys and I thought that we did well to have five of six men in the finals."

ED McGEE

. . Durham heavyweight champ.

Jayvee Splashers In Action Today

Carolina's weather-thwarted jayvee mermen will open their 1948 schedule in Bowman Gray pool at 3 o'clock today when they break the chlorine against the splashers from the Norfolk Division of Williams and Mary.

The locals, who were snowed and iced out of their original opener with State's juniors last Saturday, are rated as slight favorites against the Old Dominioneers in today's clash. Last year the Blue Minnows nosed out the same team, so a tough battle is the probable prospect.

Although several of the Carolina men who are scheduled to start in tomorrow's meet have participated in varsity meets earlier this season, most of the local natators will be participating in their first meet of the year. A good showing by the juniors will probably give most of them a shot at varsity competition later this season.

Today's starters who have seen varsity action include breaststroker Charlie Bartlett, diver John Whichard, and backstroker Walt Carnes.

The probable starting lineup:

Medly—Cordle, Bartlett, and Carnes.
220—Dietzel and Allred.
50—Doscher and Griffith.
Diving—Whichard.
100—Barth and Snow.
150 backstroke—Carnes and Truitt.
200 breaststroke—Barlett and Taylor.
440—Dietzel and McNeill
400 relay—Langell, West, Harris, and Wilson

Matmen Tangle With VMI Unit

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

Lexington, Va., Feb. 6—North Carolina's Tar Heel wrestling team arrived here tonight on the eve of their impending encounter with local Virginia Military Insititute scheduled for tomorrow afternoon.

The Tar Heels rolled into town by cars some fourteen strong and looking in the best of condition for the Saturday match. Coach Chuck Quinlan was at the helm of the crew, and though he was noncommital on the subject, he had the look of a coach who had lots of confidence in the pending chances of his team.

The Tar Heels are fresh from a 29-3 defeat of Davidson college on Wednesday night and from latest reports will start the same club that made such a creditable showing in that match.

That will put Marvin Wilson, who has faced the toughest competition of any of the grapplers thus far this season, at the opening 121-pound class. Wilson will be seeking his first win of the season.

Doug Thompson, an up-and-coming Carolina star, will be at the 128-pound weight and he will be followed to the mat by Tom Urquhart, another highly-potential point getter for the Chapel Hill entry. Urquhart will be at 136 pounds.

The newest of the Kemp brother act, Phil, fills the 145 class and should continue his currently potent showing against the Cadets tomorrow. Carol Fisher is scheduled for the 155-pound encounter after which Oscar Gupton, another powerful operater will appear at the 165-weight.

ADPi Trims Smith in Court Contest

ADPi's cage sextette completed its season Thursday night by handing Smith's dribbling damsels their first part feat, by an 18-8 score.

Helen Phillips paced the ADPi girls to their victory, sinking nine points. The win provided the sorority team with a .500 average for the season, while the setback knocked Smith from playoff contention.

Two games on Tuesday will set the stage for the final part of the tournament, the playoffs, which will get under way late next week or early the following week. One playoff spot will hinge on the outcome of the Town-Pi Phi contest, featuring two undefeated outfits. In the other tilt, Carr and Tri Delt will battle for possession of seventh place.

The complete standings:

	W	L	T
Chi Omega	4	0	0
Town	3	0	0
Pi Phi	3	0	0
CICA	3	0	1
Smith	3	1	0
McIver	3	1	0
ADPi	2	2	0
Carr	1	1	1
Tri Delt	1	2	0
Alpha Gam	1	3	0

"Would you wrap the Dentyne Chewing Gum as a gift, please?"

"That dame drives me nuts! 'Wrap it as a gift,' she says! As if anybody wanted to bother with fancy gift wrappings to get at that delicious, clean tasting Dentyne Chewing Gum with the rich, long lasting flavor. Dentyne is a gift at any price because it helps keep teeth white."
Dentyne Gum—Made Only By Adams

All Occasion
Flowers say it better
REHDERS
CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Opposite Post Office corner

PHILCO RADIOS
Sales and Repairs
Ogburn Furniture Co.
312-314 W. Franklin
Phone 5841

"I guess it began when I was just a kid, making non-stop flights around the dining-room table. Later on, the town got an airport. I got to know every plane, right down to the smallest bolts and screws.

"During the war I took off with the Aviation Cadets. The folks were all for it. They figured—correctly—that it was the best way to get me into the air where I belonged.

"I made it all right. Trained in the best planes the Air Force has, and now I'm heading for transition work in jets. The pay? Now that I'm a pilot, $336 a month, plus $500 for each year of active duty. And there's plenty of room for promotions.

"But that's not the real point. Some men belong in the air. They were born wanting wings—with the action, the pride, the freedom that go with them. There's no better way to have all that, along with the world's finest flying training, than to join the Aviation Cadets. And the future—in civilian aviation or in the Air Force—is as wide open as the horizon. If you want the fast-moving life, why not drop around to the Recruiting Station in your community or the nearest Air Force installation."

U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Service

WIN YOUR WINGS
with the Aviation Cadets

Yesterday in Washington . . .

Commodity Prices Continue Tobogganing

By Joan Marble
United Press Correspondent

Washington, Feb. 6—Commodity prices have continued their toboggan-slide downward for the third straight day.

They pushed off to a fast start this morning, hit a bump around mid-day, then skidded downwards towards closing time.

Washington experts are watching the slump attentively, and wonder how long it will last.

The commodity break is beginning to affect markets all over the world. Stocks took a nose-dive in London during the day—and millions in pounds sterling were wiped out. Prices also fell slightly on the Paris Bourse.

The crop in American commodities started as soon as the exchanges opened in Chicago and Kansas City today. Traders crowded into the Chicago grain pits long before the 9:30 opening time, and some started screaming their offers to sell even before the market opened.

Three minutes after opening time, corn prices had dropped the full eight-cent limit and oats had shot downward. In Kansas City, wheat futures broke another eight cents almost as soon as the bidding began.

A mid-day rally didn't last. Wheat futures finally closed off ten cents. Corn was off eight cents, and oats were off five and one quarter. Lard futures were more flexible—they ranged from unchanged to off 35 points.

Stocks are Firmer

The stock market held somewhat firmer today. Price changes were moderate on the whole and dealings were lighter. By closing time, some 382 stocks advanced and exactly the same number declined. And the rest, about 240 stocks, remained unchanged.

The Agriculture Department has looked up from the tickers long enough to give one reason for the dropping grain prices. Its reason: Farmers are liquidating some of their livestock and poultry. They refuse to feed them high-priced grain.

Rent Bill

It's beginning to look as if that rent control bill, approved by a Senate subcommittee yesterday, is really a rent decontrol bill.

Its complete provisions haven't been revealed yet. The announcement of its approval yesterday simply described as a measure to extend rent controls another 14 months.

Today, however, it's reported that the bill includes a provision which will automatically end all rent controls in some of the nation's largest cities. According to a Senate source, this clause provides that the Federal rent director must remove all controls from cities where one percent of the houses are vacant. A quick check shows this condition prevailing in nine cities including Norfolk, Virginia; Memphis, Tennessee and Denver, Colorado. Government housing officials point out that many crowded cities have a number of vacancies—especially large mansions which are too expensive to rent. If these vacancies added up to one percent, they could throw the city onto the decontrol list.

The rent bill also is reported to contain another clause which would tend to boost prices on rental housing. This would permit landlords to boost rents if they can show that their costs have risen. A present, landlords are only permitted to increase rents if they can prove the present levels constitute a hardship.

Taxes

The Senate will go to work on the income-tax bill as soon as it's finished with the Marshall plan.

That's the announcement from Senate Republican leaders tonight.

Chairman Robert Taft of the Republican Policy committee told reporters the European Aid bill will go to the floor of the Sen afterwards. Taft said he hopes the tax-cutting bill will be on

QUITE SERIOUS IS POP "BROWNIE," 6-year-old dachshund, as he gets his first look at the litter of 11 puppies which he fathered. "Angelina," 3, is unconcerned as she feeds them in a New York kennel. (International) ate March first. And the tax bill will be taken up immediately the President's desk by April 15.

Incidentally, the Senate-House Budget committee has agreed to put a 37 billion dollar ceiling on federal spending. That's two and one half billion dollars under President Truman's budget.

Vaughan

The nation has been shuffling its high command a good bit of late, and the confusion has finally hit the White House.

For a couple of unhappy hours today, none of the military aides at the White House knew who was in charge of whom.

tI all started when the President announced that Colonel Robert Landry of New Orleans will be his new Air Force aide. Then the President's military aide and wartime crony, Major General Harry Vaughan, called newsmen in and informed them he had been made chief of the President's aides. Vaughan announced proudly that his new title would be "Chief Armed Services Aide" to the president.

Army of Three

So for a couple of hours, the burly Vaughan apparently was in command of a small White House army of three aides. But the situation didn't last long. Press Secretary Charley Ross called in reporters and announced, on the authority of the President, there would be no change in the aide set up. Vaughan would remain a plain aide, said Ross, and wouldn't outrank anyone else. Asked why Vaughan apparently had promoted himself, Ross gave this answer:

"There seems to have been some misapprehension."

General Vaughan wasn't available for questions.

Washington Briefs

The Interior Department has sent Congress a bill which would give the Secretary of the Interior control of oil and gas resources in the so-called tidelands.

One of America's top combat soldiers, Major General James Van Fleet, has been named chief of the American military mission in Greece.

And the House Armed Services committee has agreed that the government should hang on to its synthetic rubber industry.

ENTERTAINMENT REFUND

All Student Entertainment Books must be returned to the Student Entertainment Committee, 206 South building, by February 13 in order to obtain a refund, B. S. Young, chairman of the committee said yesterday. Those people who have returned their books for refund will be notified shortly that they have been received.

-Pearson-

(Continued from page 2)

tions, it might be interesting to check the account listed under "Farm Products Co." with Baine and Company and also for a short time with Merrill Lynch, Fenner and Beane. This account was handled by Dyke Cullum, about whom Senator Thomas recently said: "From time to time I have turned money over to Dyke Cullum and asked him to invest in cotton for me."

If your investigators check carefully, I think you will find that in February 1946, Dyke Cullum proposed opening an account under "Farm Products Co." with Merrill Lynch, Fenner and Beane. The brokers, however, were suspicious that it was a blind for Senator Thomas and queried Cullum closely. He replied that he wanted to use the account for himself, Ralph Moore and one other.

The brokers told him they would ask their New York office whether the account was acceptable. They also examined him closely as to why he wanted a separate account under Farm Products Co. when he was already trading heavily under his own name, while Ralph Moore was trading heavily under his own name.

Suspicious, Merrill Lynch, Fenner and Beane finally turned down the "Farm Products Co." account, though later, on October 22, 1946, by accident they accepted it. On Oct. 26, however, they asked Cullum to take the account elsewhere.

Ralph Moore, who has used the offices of both Senator Thomas and Senator Pappy O'Daniel of Texas, is now under investigation by the Justice Department.

Incidentally, it migh be worth while also to examine the accounts of Kiki Cullum and Dyke Cullum, Jr. These are Cullum's children, but I suspect that their father handles the accounts for them.

(These are a few leads which I hope may be useful to your committee.)

Drew Pearson

-Carousel-

(Continued from page 2)

Those numbers in the lower left-hand corner, front page of DTH every day are no mistake or seditionary code. . .They're inserted by the sleepy night eds to indicate what time the paper went to press that night.

Me and the Mellow Man (Melton, of course) are figuring on how to capture the coo-ed vote for DTH editorship. . . Figure we'll take a stand for abolishing the Coed Senate. . . That'll give the gals more time for socializing; less need for considering weighty worries of the world. . .And anyhow, all Coed Senate considers, so they tell us, are "problems peculiar to women!"—Or was it "problems of peculiar women?". . . Asked a coed whaf WERE some "problems peculiar to women" the other day, but she just smiled smugly and walked away. (—Note: Melton is now taking lessons from Chubby Cholly Long on "How to Win votes and Influence Public Opinion.")

Got a kick in Dr. Connor's NC History class yesterday: says the popular prof in reference to N. C.'s repealing Bigamy from the list of capital offenses: "—Don't know why it was ever a punishable-by-death crime.—Two wives is punishment enough'. . . .Maybe the death sentence was just the state's showing mercy relief after all!"

-High Point-

(Continued from page 3)

Hank Lebed's driving layup had given Carolina their biggest lead of the game, 39-30. Ellington cut loose from long range from spot all over the court. The big youngster tossed in five long sets to tie the score at 41-41

Carolina (41)		(43) High Point
Ferraro (6)	RF	(6) Hunsucker
Gregory (1)	LF	(9) Harris
Tsantes (7)	C	(10 Crowder
White (8)	RG	(12) Ellington
Gilmore (5)	LG	(6) Cooper

Substitutions— Carolina: Lebed (10), Morrison (4). High Point: Miller, White, Beck.

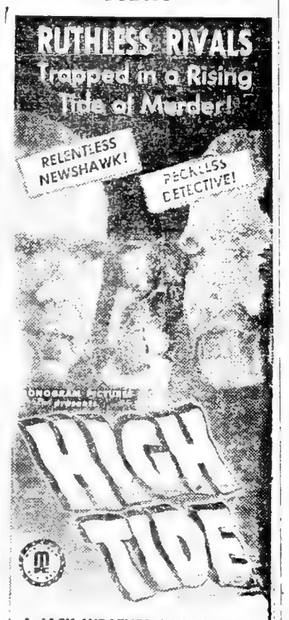
CLASSIFIED

LOST 17

SMALL BLACK AND GREY STRIPED Shaeffer fountain pen between Trailer Court and Venable Jan. 28. If found please return to Jimmie Barnett, 206 Stacy. REWARD. (1-1762-1)

GIRL'S BILLFOLD CONTAINING personal cards, small amount of change and identification card for "Dorothy Jones", Wake Forest. Finder may keep change. Please return to DTH office. (1-1764-1)

ELGIN POCKET WATCH. IF FOUND please notify Ann Tyson at 2061. (1-1768-1



SERVICES OFFERED 19

COMPLETE MODERN RADIO APPLIANCE service shop now open and ready to serve you. We call for, deliver. Johnson-Stroud-Ward Furniture, 422 W. Franklin. Telephone F-3491. (ch1x1)

WANTED 24

RIDE TO DUKE HOSPITAL OR DURham for 9 to 5 job. Share expenses. Contact Mrs. Gene Byrd, General Delivery, Chapel Hill. (1-1763-1)

CAROLINA
TODAY

A JACK WRATHER PRODUCTION
Starring
LEE TRACY DON CASTLE
JULIE BISHOP ANABEL SHAW
LATE SHOW TONIGHT
SUNDAY — MONDAY

University Service Station
TEXACO
04½ Pendergraft Prop.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C
Telephone 6816

LIL ABNER By AL CAPP

Step up to the "Brass Rail" — at HARRY'S

SO THE BUTCHER leans over the counter and gives you "for free" some hamburger, or several slices of ham. Then he hands you a dime for carting it away. Then you wake up? No you don't, if you chanced to be near St. Helens, Ore., during the peak of an almost incredible meat war. It began in this industrial town (Pop. 5,200) when a new butcher shop opened selling hamburger at 35 cents a pound. Competitors dropped the price to 29 cents, and then decided to give it away, together with 35 hams. As things cooled off it went for three pounds for $1; pot roast at 39 cents and steak, 41 cents. Townfolk are shown cashing in on the bargains at one of the butcher shops. (International Soundphoto)

-Ross-

(Continued from page 1)

Continuing his remarks, he said that until 1930 businessmen and "nice people" were opposed to public education and that when, during the 1890's "nice people" led by the churches tried to cut the University appropriation that "farmers, laborers, and Negroes" overruled them and blocked the cut.

He told of the smashing of the Fusion party in 1898 in what he chose to call a "red-shirt" movement led by, among others Josephus Daniels. Allowing that later in life Daniels was a liberal, he said that at that time Josephus was the "Bilbo-like" individual who fathered the grandfather clause.

Continuing his statements concerning the recently deceased Daniels, he said that the Raleigh editor threw "three kinds of fits"

TWO BLOCKS WEST OF CITY HALL
You'll Find A Solution To All Laundry Problems
HELPY-SELFY
AUTOMATIC LAUNDRY
Bendix Machines
W. Rosemary St.

VILLAGE
TODAY
Bruce Cabot
Constance Bennett
in
"WILD BILL HICKOK RIDES"

Let's Get together
PHILIP MORRIS
is so much better to smoke!

PHILIP MORRIS offers the smoker an extra benefit found in no other cigarette. For PHILIP MORRIS is the ONE, the ONLY cigarette recognized by leading nose and throat specialists as definitely less irritating.

Remember: Less irritation means more smoking enjoyment for you.

Yes! If every smoker knew what PHILIP MORRIS smokers know, they'd all change to PHILIP MORRIS.

CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS
TRY A PACK . . . TODAY

University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Rain with little change in temperature.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
Bernstein Letter
No Ember Remains
Spotlight Spotlighted

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No: 95

Interpretive Dancer To Entertain Seniors

Frances Johnson, interpretive dancer who has done professional work with several west coast opera and ballet companies, will highlight tomorrow night's entertainment in Memorial hall. Sponsored by the senior class, the dancer's performance will be part of an 8 o'clock program which will include the music of Roy Cole and his orchestra.

FRANCES JOHNSON

The professional dancer comes from California where she worked with the Breden-Savoy Light Opera company, the San Francisco ballet, the Pacific opera company ballet and the Mt Tamalpias ballet. She came to North Carolina after an eight weeks' engagement in Hollywood and spent the summer as a dancer in Paul Green's symphonic drama, "The Lost Colony."

Miss Johnson will dance interpretations of "Ballerina" and "Golden Earrings" in tomorrow night's program. She appears through the courtesy of the North Carolina Entertainment bureau.

Critics have acclaimed the dancer's west coast performances as "artistic triumphs" and "tremendous hits." Of her work in "The Mikado", a performance given in Spokane, Washington, the "Daily Chronical' wrote: "A strikingly beautiful feature of the performance was the dancing of Frances Johnson."

Music for tomorrow's program will be furnished by Roy Cole, with featured vocals by George Demas. Cole's orchestra was organized here in January, 1946.

The program will also include movies of one of last fall's football games, and songs by the Sigma Chi septet with piano accompaniment by Hank Beebe.

Vocal members of the septet are Bill Sunas, Buddy Lyons, B. K. Grow, Earl Somers, Bud Early, Len Butt and John Clayton.

Benson McCutcheon, president of the senior class, has announced that the program will combine with a business session to discuss important senior class business. However, this does not mean that the audience is to be limited to seniors. There is to be no admission charge, and the entire student body is invited to attend.

Registration Will Begin for Retreat Tomorrow Morning

Registration for the Winter Conference on world and campus problems to be held in Natural Bridge, Virginia, on February 20-22 will begin tomorrow in the Y lobby. Sponsored by the YM and YWCA, the conference is open to the entire student body and will have some representatives from other Southern schools. The registration booth will be open tomorrow from 9 to 5.

Registration Fee

A fee of $2 will be collected from students as they sign up for the conference this week, and it will take care of cost of transportation to Natural Bridge. Students who are planning to drive to the conference are asked to note that on the registration blanks. In addition to the transportation cost of $2, hotel bills will run $5 per student, making the cost of the weekend $7 in addition to meals.

Theme of the conference is "A Clue to our Purpose," and in addition to the feature speakers, Cameron P. Hall of New York city and Dr. Frank Hanft of the University Law school, there will be six commissions which will meet as discussion groups several time during the weekend.

Commission Leaders

Emily Ogburn and Bill Shuford will lead the commission entitled Panorama of Campus Social Life; Barbara Cashion and Tom Eller will lead Panorama of Campus Political and Organizational Life; Ruth Evans and Bob Collins, You as a Student; Ethel Perry and George Worth, Racial Tensions in Our World; and Jo Fishel and Bill Miller, World Organization and Political Tension. Leaders of the sixth group, Economic Tension in our World, are yet to be selected.

Persons planning to attend the conference are urged to register tomorrow, so that transportation and accomodation arrangements may be completed as soon as possible.

AT THE UNITED NATIONS CLUB'S annual ball in Washington, Nora Martins, daughter of Ambassador and Madame Carlos Martins, of Brazil, is crowned "Miss United Nations of 1948." Representatives of 42 nations vied for the honor. While Dr. John R. Steelman (left) attends to the informal coronation ceremony, Attorney General Tom C. Clark presents the winner with a cup. Looking on is Rep. John Davis Lodge (R-Conn.). The pageant is held to provide food and medical aid for the children of Western Europe and the Far East. (International Soundphoto)

WEEPING Mrs. Claude Axley is embraced by her husband in Los Angles after he had been ordered held on arson charges in connection with a fire on Christmas Eve in which their two little sons were burned to death. "I still love him. I'll help him get out of this," she told reporters.

Intramural Debate Tourney Slated to Begin Thursday

By Donald MacDonald

Delayed for one week to provide more time for participants to study throroughly the question of universal military training, the first round of the intramural debate tournament is now definately set to begin Thursday.

The announcement was made yesterday by EarlFitzgerald, president of the Debate council which is sponsoring the forensic tournament.

UMT Is Topic

"Resolved: That the Congress should establish a Universal Military Training program" is the question for debate. The first debate will begin at 3 o'clock in meeting places designated by the Debate council. The first beginninground is to consist of three debates per team, the second and third debates following at 4 o'clock and 5 o'clock, respectively.

From Thursday's initial round the top nine affirmative teams and the top nine negative teams will proceed to Round Two, scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, February 17.

Entrants to be Excused

All participants will be excused from classes during the tournament hours, Fiszgerald said. If there is any other conflict which necessitates the entrant's absence, he is urged to contact Fitzgerald at once.

The question of UMT has been the subject of varying public opinion since the House of Representatives proposal was made public. Various organizations have discussed it; and Tuesday night Norman Thomas, a Socialist party head, will speak in Memorial hall against the measure.

Fitzgerald said that copies of the H.R. Bill regarding UMT are available for use of the intramural debaters at the Graham Memorial office. Excerpts from the proposal have been made and these are also available at the GM office for participants.

Basis For Judging

Judging of the tournament will be made on the basis of logical progression of speech content, basic information, enunciation, emphasis, force and meeting of opponents' objections directly. This system, said Fitzgerald, is based on similar systems in use in other major colleges.

All debates Thursday will be opened to an audience.

The following is a list of organizations represented and the schedule of debates for Round One, first second and third debates. The team is expected to be at the room assigned, ready to begin at the designated hour. There will be an official judge and timekeeper in each of the rooms listed.

The affirmative team is listed

(See DEBATE, page 4)

Veterans Advisor Explains VA Rule

Under a recently released clarification of a Veterans Administration ruling, student veterans are not required to take the automatic 15-day extension of time between school terms providing they file a request to the effect that they do not wish to accept the extra pay. This request must be made 30 days before the end of the term.

Explaining this ruling, local VA training officer Elliott G. Bourne said that many veterans who are short on their remaining VA allotted school time are concerned over being required automatically to have this 15-day subsistence payment and accompanying eligibility loss marked against their total eligible school period.

In the interests of conserving this time for actual school days to be received, some veteran trainees have requested that they not be automatically considered in school for this period.

Library Program Gets Approval

A new undergraduate library science program for teaching students was aproved by the faculty at their last meeting on Friday. These added courses will enable prospective teachers to choose six full library science courses for a major, along with their required education courses qualifying them for a teacher's certificate.

The new courses are listed as Library Science 94—place of the library in the school—3 quarter hours; 95—selection and use of reference materials—5 hours; and 96—cataloging and classification for school librarians—5 hours.

Schools of Library Science officials explained the new curriculum as filling the state requirements that its public school teachers be proficient in library management and technique.

The changes were drafted by the library school and passed by the Division of Teacher Training and the administrative board of the College of Arts and Sciences before being given final faculty approval.

UMT to Be Topic At CPU Meeting

One of the most controversial topics of the day, universal military training, is to be considered at this evening's roundtable discussion of the Carolina Political union. The discussion opens at 8 o'clock in the Grail room of Graham Memorial and is open to the public.

Having also been the topic for heated debates of four other campus organizations during the past two weeks, the discussion of UMT is especially timely tonight in view of the fact that it is being considered in preparation for Norman Thomas' Union-sponsored speech here Tuesday on the same issue.

Busy Schedule Awaits Thomas Here Tuesday

Socialist Party Leader Will Speak To History Class, Attend Luncheon

By Mary Ann Taber

A busy schedule awaits Socialist party head Norman Thomas when he arrives here Tuesday morning from New York, Bill Kemp, Carolina Political Union chairman has announced.

As on past visits in Chapel Hill Thomas's day will be filled with formal and informal speech making and question answering. His first appearance will be at Gerrard hall where he will speak to Dr. Howard Beale's 10 o'clock foreign policy history class. The public is invited. Topic of his speech is not certain but will be mainly concerned with U. S. foreign policy.

The best chance for students to get to know the national figure, says Kemp, will be at the luncheon planned by the Wesley foundation of the Methodist church to be held at 1 o'clock in the ground-floor dining room of the church. One hundred tickets for the luncheon have gone on sale, distributed among campus political and religious groups. Any leftovers after tomorrow will go on general sale in the Y office.

For members of the Union there will be an afternoon tea at Dr. Beale's in honor of the guest speaker and a reception in the Main Lounge of Graham Memorial following Thomas's eight o'clock speech in Memorial hall.

The Socialist's perennial candidate for President of the United States has always been quite well received in Chapel Hill. A friend of the laborer and an advocate of liberal measures, he was cited after a speech here in 1938 by the then editor of the Daily Tar Heel as "more than a politician or a party figurehead; he appeared to be the party itself and did it justice."

In his pre-war speeches Thomas repeatedly came out against the Roosevelt foreign policy and rearmament program. After the outbreak of the war he endorsed Roosevelt and did not run in the presidential race in 1944 for that reason.

FBI Traces New SA Revolt Plot To Six Americans

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 7—(UP). The FBI has arrested six men in connection with a revolutionary plot against a South American country, presumably Venezuela.

Among those arrested are pilots of two American surplus bombers. The FBI says the planes were to be used in a bombing mission as part of the revolution. All six are charged with violating the Neutrality act which makes it unlawful to export various items, including aircraft, without a license from the State department.

The six men are accused of flying the bombers from Bush Field, Georgia, to Nicaragua, two weeks ago. They were arrested in New Orleans, Panama, and Miami, Florida.

One of the men, Edward Browder, Jr., already has been convicted of stealing guns from the government. He had been free under bond pending appeal from a one-year sentence, Browder, a native of Amarillo, Texas, is said to have recruited the other five men to fly the planes to Central America while he himself remained in the United States.

The FBI says the two pilots were to get $30,000 each to fly the planes to Nicaragua and other points in Central America, then re-fuel and return to the United States through Texas. They arrived in Nicaragua on January 26 and 27 and were put under guard at once by Nicaraguan officials.

Tarnation Readied By Staff Members In Absence Of Editor Tookie Hodgson

By John Stump

The light that didn't fail Friday night was the 300 watter in the Tarnation office where assistant editor Tom Kerr worked late into yesterday morning to meet a surprise advance in the printshop deadline.

With editor "Tookie" Hodgson in the infirmary, the responsibility for the meeting of the 9 o'clock time set for the yesterday-morning submission of the magazine dummy fell on Kerr's shoulders, and as a result of his round-the-clock work, the deadline was met in a manner that brought a commendation from Hodgson.

Kerr's work, in the opinion of Tarnation staffers, was rendered more remarkable by the fact that the printshop notified the magazine of the advanced limit at the eleventh hour.

The deadline troubles, however, were not the only problems dealt with in Hodgson's absence by Kerr and a nucleus staff created for the emergency. Working to meet the February 15 distribution date in what most staff members agree is the "normally confused" atmosphere of the magazine's office, Kerr was confronted last week with an unforeseen shortage of copy.

Refusing to take credit for filling the "holes," Kerr said yesterday that the accomplishment belongs to Bob Smith and Tom Wharton whom he calls "two of the stauncher staff members." Conferring with Kerr and Business manager Pete Gerns, who first realized that the allotted copy would not be sufficient, Smith and Wharton were able in one afternoon to find or produce the necessary new material.

"Otherwise," Kerr confided, "things went smoothly." Apparently, he told the truth, because at last reports the new issue was expected to hit the campus sometime next Saturday.

At that time, according to Kerr, the humor mag will present a more varied array of make-up and talent than was displayed in the fall issue. The yellow cover of the fall edition has also given way, to a green and sepia two-tone combination.

'Fashion' Will Be Repeated Tonight

"Fashion," the free entertainment feature sponsored by Graham Memorial and staged by the Laboratory Theatre of the Carolina Playmakers, will be repeated tonight at 8:30 in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. Last night's opening performance was played to a capacity audience.

W. P. Covington, III, director of the play said that there is a possibility of the production being held over for Monday evening.

Painting, Sculpturing Will Feature North Carolina Artists Exhibition

By Margaret Gaston

The Eleventh Annual exhibition of North Carolina artists will open with a reception from 8 to 10 o'clock tonight at Person Hall Art gallery. Containing some 71 paintings and sculptural works, the show ranges in subject matter from traditional still life to surrealistic interpretations of psychological phenomena.

The exhibition, sponsored annually in North Carolina by the North Carolina Art society, is opening in Chapel Hill under the auspices of the Student Art league of the University.

Chapel Hill painters who are represented in the present exhibition include one former student, Mable Smith Lovin; three Chapel Hillians, Clare Leighton, Irene Fussler, and Mrs. John Foushee; four students, James Moon, Maianne Manassee, Ben F. Williams, and Joseph Bolt; and an instructor and his wife, John and Jenny Rembert.

Jenny Rembert and Ben F. Williams received purchase awards of $200 respectively for paintings titled "Morass" and "Genie", which will appear in the exhibit.

These 71 paintings were selected from numerous paintings submitted by North Carolina artists. The paintings were selected last December by out-of-state judges who are eminent in the realm of art. The exhibition, circulating in North Carolina, came to Chapel Hill from Greensboro and after February 29, will be exhibited in Charlotte.

Shades Of Dan'l Boone! Says J. H. Rich

By Raney Stanford

The great American pioneer, Daniel Bone, died in 1820, but Chapel Hill youngsters have good reason to doubt it if they happen to see local resident J. Hampton Rich striding down the village streets wearing his coon-skin cap, and maybe with his long rifle thrown over one arm. And if they go trotting home to tell their mothers that they have seen Dan'l Boone, there is no harm done, for they speak better than they know.

Rich for some 30 years has been the self-appointed perpetuator of the Kentucky woodsman's memory. He was born in Davie county sometime in the "late 1800's" he says, the county where Boone's parents are buried, and all his life he talked and lived steeped in Boone lore.

His most outstanding endeavor for his pioneer hero is embodied in a series of bronze placques, one of which is mounted on the South side of Franklin street between Graham Memorial and B VP. This tablet, which has qiqued the curiosity of countless student passersby, was placed by the roadside in 1923 by D. Kemp Battle, president of the University at that time, Mayor Robinson of Chapel Hill, Dr. Archibald Henderson, and the Boone Trail Highway Memorial association. This association, for the benefit of the uninformed, is J. Hampton Rich.

"A lot of people don't understand the idea behind the Boone Trail Highway," he explains. "They think that we were only marking the old Boone trail with our tablets, but this is a 'memorial' association. The idea was to link the continent with Boone markers. We followed the Boone trail through Boonesville, the Cumberland Gap, and on to St. Louis. Here is where Boone dropped the pioneering torch," Rich continues, "but others picked it up, others who worked and lived in the Boone spirit."

So Rich tells of how he went on West on the Bridger trail, then over the Oregon Trail ,setting markers as he went, until he placed his concluding one at the foot of the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco.

But many of the observers of Rich's peripatetic memorilization of Boone are still waiting to have explained to them why he persuaded the city fathers of Boston and Miami to allow Boone trail markers to be set up in their city limits. This seems to be little removed from the actual path of the mountain man, but one of Rich's acquaintances explained:

"Undoubtedly Mr. Rich thinks that if Boone had gone that way, the tablet marks the road he would have taken."

But the exuberant Mr. Rich paid no heed and went on, eventually erecting about 360 of his markers about the countryside.

The one in Chapel Hill, a bas-relief of Boone, his gun and dog inscribed "Boone Trail Highway" and set in a slant-faced rock, is not typical of Rich's monuments. The majority of them resemble the one standing in Hillsboro, 12 miles from here, which has the pioneer and his dog set flush in the side of a 12-foot high granite arrowhead. Rich says the bronze face of the plaque was taken from a design by the famous painter-naturalist, James Audubon, who knew Boone intimately.

"The first tablets contained 300 pounds of metal from the battleship 'Maine', given to me by Josephus Daniels," he added.

Dan'l Boone's powerful, press agent has been living in Chapel Hill for the past few years, but he is still active in furthering his historical interests despite his age. He recently helped organize a historical society called "Sons of the Revolution" which has of the Revolution" which has been erecting monuments throughout the state commemorating various Revolutionary War heroes.

Rich is apt any day to walk into one of the University's history classes clad in his furry cap, and always on these occasions he is introduced to the students by the professors as "Daniel Boone". Sadie Hawkins Day always finds him a colorful participant, fitting right into the spirit of things. And about Daniel Boone he will talk to anyone, anytime.

Humor Mag Poll Reveals All; 30 Percent 'Falisfy' Figures

(Reprinted from the Ga. Tech Technique)

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—One of every three coeds on the University of Alabama campus wears "falsies," a poll by the student humor magazine indicated recently.

In an article entitled, "Is Your Girl All There?" Rammer Jammer (the Georgia Tech humor magazine) said in the holiday issue that one of every two girls at formal dances has pads inserted for the "uplift" look.

Pat Reilly, a staff writer, said he was given the "pleasant" assignment of finding out what percentage of the 3,000 to 4,000 girls on the campus wore the "gay deceivers."

"Several rather pleasant methods of investigation occurred to me but none of them seemed quite practical," he said in the article. "Eventually, I decided to take one sorority . . . and find out."

He did not reveal his eventual method but came up with these figures which he said "are entirely accurate and have not been 'padded' in any way."

Some 29 per cent wear them all the time, 19 per cent on special occasions and 52 per cent never wear them.

He said the following statements were obtained from girls answering.

"Because I've got plenty of nothing."

"What nature's forgotten, I stuff with cotton.

"Why in the hell do you think?"

He said these were typical answers of girls answering no:

"Never go under false pretenses."

"You can't fool these Alabama men."

"Take me as I am, or to hell with you."

"No room."

Southern Governors Condemn Democrats

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 7—(UP)—The Southern Governors conference has unamiously adopted a resolution condemning the Democratic party for President Truman's Civil Rights program.

The anti-civil resolution was introduced by South Carolina's Governor Strom Thurmond. It called the 10-point program advocated by the president "an outrage and an insult by Democratic party leaders who think Southern Democrats have no place to turn."

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

"I ain't scared. I'm just shy."

Not Even An Embe1

"The eleventh assembly (Student Legislative Assembly) has now been planned for February. It will be bi-racial—the only institution of its kind south of the Potomac—and thus will represent a great victory for the forces of human dignity in the South."

Such was the prophecy of Bob Morrison, instructor at the University of Illinois and a former DTH editor, in the than we and beleved that since the forces against a bi-racial than we and beleved that since the forces against a bi-racial Student Legislative Assembly had tried twice this year to abolish the organization without success everything would go off as scheduled. The latest tactic, that of postponing the Assembly possibly until April, is merely a let's-forget-the-whole-thing movement.

This is the second year and the third attempt this year that the anti-Negro forces have tried to dissolve the Assembly. Well, why doesn't the Assembly disband? It would be much better for the group to come out with a frank statement and say that they are not in favor of maintaining the organization if Negroes are permitted to attend the gatherings. It would put an end to everything. But the Assembly dassent do this.

Consequently when April comes around it may be well for them to have several new excuses to bestow upon the public. Those which have been used are not as fresh as they were in their younger days and may not have the same effect if used over and over again. The one stating there is no more need for having the mock assembly is good perennially. Inability to obtain the use of the State Capitol grows tiresome if used often.

Here are a few pretty good ones which may be used at random: (1) there may be a special session of the General Assembly sometime—in which case there would be no housing for the delegation; (2) the Chambers of the State Capitol could stand a coat of paint and the mock assembly would make too much noise for the highly nervous painters; (3) the spring thaw may not have set-in by April and some delegates may not be able to come; (4) April is the month when May examinations are just around the corner; (5) it is a season of spring fever.

Naturally all of these reasons are legitimate, and the repercussions less resounding than merely stating in no lost words, "Niggers ain't got no place among white folks."

But rather than hear all of the excuses which are offered from time to time we would suggest that the group disband. One of the primary reasons that the bi-racial assembly was proposed was to promote good will between the two races. It is evident that the wrangling between the whites of the Assembly is doing everything but this and the purpose of the organization is defeated from the start.

Happenings of the past and the dead silence interims between the dates established for the sessions have shown that the proponents of a bi-racial State Legislative Assembly are few and ill-organized and exhibit little strength in the planning and policy-setting of the group. Their efforts have hardly left a smoldering ember of life in the organization.

Y W Chatter

Dedmond Will Speak Before YW Monday

By Sally Woodhull

Jess Dedmond, candidate for president of the student body, will speak on student activities at tomorrow's meeting of the Y Public Affairs committee at 5 o'clock in the YW office. Chairman Jo Fishel has announced that all meetings of the committee this quarter will be open to the public, and that discussions will center around campus politics and the national presidential election.

At the Worship committee's meeting tomorrow, plans will be made for the Easter sunrise service in Forest theater. An annual community affair, the service will have music furnished by the high school chorus, and decorations by the Garden club. Tuesday afternoon a group of students and adults from the community churches will meet to lay general plans.

Opportunities for girls in merchandising will be the topic of the Career committee tomorrow, when Twig Branch, personnel adviser to women, will speak. Miss Branch came to Carolina from Ney York, where she was suburban buyer for B. Altman and company.

At Junior council meeting Thursday night in the Grail room the Y officers and some of the cabinet members will discuss their respective duties, and give council members an opportunity to criticize the organizational set-up.

Ten tickets to the Norman Thomas luncheon Tuesday at the Methodist church have been allocated to Y members, and may be secured at Mr. Shott's office before noon tomorrow. Thomas, who will address the campus Tuesday evening, will speak on "Forces Determining our Present World" at the luncheon.

An evaluation of this year's WSSF drive, and plans for next year's campaign, will be made by committee chairmen at a meeting in the YW office Tuesday night.

Home: Womans Place

Alliance, Ohio. (UP)—Although students of Mount Union College disagree on some questions concerning women, most agree that the place of woman in the modern world is home.

In a survey of women and men students, 84 per cent of the students said "no" to the question, "Have modern conveniences made it possible for the average woman to bear and rear children and maintain a home properly and at the same time carry on a career in business?" Only 16 per cent said "yes" to the question, and 12 per cent of those were women.

'After Careful Examination'

A Letter From Leonard Bernstein

Editor's Note: The following letter was sent to Chancellor House from Leonard Bernstein. A duplicate was sent to this office and is printed below.)

I appreciate the time and patience which Dean Pierson and his special committee have given to my charges that religious and political discrimination were involved in the history department's request that I withdraw from graduate study. However, after careful examination of the committee's report, I am forced to conclude that the evidence which the report recites and the findings which it makes from that evidence are not entirely in harmony.

In the first place, I note that the committee is unable to establish the content either of my interview with Dr. Newsome or of Dr. Newsome's telephone conversation with the Tar Heel. The committee declares that the evidence is flatly contradictory as to what was said on both of these occasions. Yet the committee does not conclude that the charges are not established by satisfactory proof, but that they are not true. I do not understand how such positive and unqualified conclusions can be reached from flatly contradictory evidence, especially when the committee expressly disclaims any idea of passing on the credibility of witnesses.

I think there is also a considerable amount of uncontradicted testimony reported by the committee which is difficult to reconcile with the committee's findings.

For example, Dr. Newsome, discussing the statement attributed to him, in the Tar Heel that "I cannot deny that Bernstein's religion and political viewpoints may have influenced some members of the department, but certainly that isn't the whole reason," objects to the form of the statement, rather than the content. He says he did not use the words "I cannot deny" and that these words imply an admission. However, he is quoted by the committee's report as saying: "I left open the possibility that there might have been one or two of those factors." The fact that such a "possibility" should be "left open" by the department head itself speaks volumes on the decline of academic freedom.

Similarly significant is the fact that Dr. Garrett "cannot swear" that he did not include religion along with "personality" in describing to me his reasons for initiating the action taken by the department. He states that, if he said it, it was in a moment of irritation." And "it is the thought of the committee" that, if he said it, "Professor Garrett was speaking as an individual and not in representation of the department of history." But I fail to see that either "irritation" or "speaking as an individual" can rob such a statement of its essential significance.

Professor Caldwell has admitted the substance of my charge when he states that he supported the action against me because of my belief in historical materialism. For the committee, he rephrased his position to state that what he really meant was that any man with a "fixed idea" is "not fit to do graduate work." He does not seem to have been asked to explain why acceptance of historical materialism is more of a "fixed idea" than rejection of it. Regardless of this, however, his statement makes it perfectly clear that his attitude in the matter was based not on my conduct nor on my work, but on his disagreement with my point of view.

Also part of the uncontradicted testimony is Professor Godfrey's frank admission that he "had advised Mr. Bernstein to go to an institution where he could find professors more compatible with his views of the materialistic theory of history." It is strange that the committee does not seem to have noticed that this advice could only be predicated on the assumption that my difficulties at U.N.C. stemmed from my professors' disapproval of these views.

I think it might be safely said that while the evidence reported by the committee leaves considerable doubt as to the degree which the department's request for my withdrawal was motivated by political and religious factors, it is not open to the interpretation that no such factors were involved at all.

One of the strongest reasons for believing that such factors were involved is that without them, the history department's explanation of the affair does not make sense.

The official explanation is that my work was "mediocre" and my personality "unsatisfactory." These charges are both so vague that they are difficult, if not impossible, to answer.

However, the committee's report notes, that, as recently as last August, when I was granted my Master's degree, my work was officially judged "between average and good." This can be reconciled with the committee's charges only on one of two assumptions: (1) That the "average" work in the department is below mediocre, which I am sure all concerned would hasten to disclaim, or (2) That there has been a substantial decline in the quality of my work since August. But the department has not claimed to me that there has been any such sudden decline, nor is there any indication of such decline in the testimony given in the committee's report. It is also strange that a final decision against a student regarding the quality of his work should be made suddenly when he has been back at school only a few days after a prolonged absence due to illness.

I believe it is common practice, as well as common sense, that a department, before taking action against a student because of his "mediocre" work, first gives him constructive suggestions as to how his work might be improved and allows him a reasonable time in which to try to improve it. The fact that the department's action, in this case, was sudden suggests that the quality of my work was not the factor which changed.

I note that the committee's report states that I "was entitled to a full explanation of the scholastic reasons mentioned in the letter since acceptance of the recommendation might involve a change of institutions or even of (my) career." I still have not received this "full explanation," nor do I find it in the committee's report.

The charge of "unsatisfactory" personality is even more intangible than that of mediocrity. I note, however, that the committee has not deemed it necessary to inquire whether veterans' problems of readjustment should be considered in connection with this point. I also note that there does not seem to be any complaint that my "personality" has led to any misconduct or friction which might injure the department. No specific personality defects are mentioned in the testimony given in the report, except Dr. Garrett's complaint that "your manner of speech is so low that I have to listen attentively to get your meaning." Aside from this trivial criticism, the testimony on my personality reported by the committee is all reducible to the formula: "I do not like thee, Dr. Fell." If some of my professors do not like me, I am sorry, but I fail to see why this fact should affect my right to be a candidate for the Doctor's degree.

In view of the fact that opposition to the views contained in a person's work may readily take the form of a charge that the work is "mediocre," and in view of the fact that antagonism toward a person's race or religion may easily take the form of disliking him personally, I think the committee would have been well advised to subject the department's official explanation to a more searching and critical examination.

Though Professor Godfrey has advised me to go to an institution where I can find professors more sympathetic to my views, I cannot accept his advice. I did not select U.N.C. in the first place in search of professors sympathetic to my views, but in search of professors committed to free trade in ideas in the Jeffersonian tradition. U.N.C.'s national reputation for academic freedom led me to believe that it was an institution where I would find such professors. I still think it is, on the whole, such an institution. It is clear, however, that it cannot remain so much longer in the present unfavorable intellectual environment unless a determined and courageous effort is made to bar from the U.N.C. campus the current trend toward heresy-hunting which is reaching such alarming proportions in other phases of our national life.

Leonard Bernstein
2733 N. Second St.
Harrisburg, Penn.

Write Away

'Spotlight' Spotlighted

Editor:

Like wagging fingers, all "spotlights" have to be pointed. One "spotlighter" on this campus, now flashing his torch from his three-story ivory tower, has promised to give you behind-the-scenes dope on student activities. His hot-foot yesterday was against Mike Rubish, "non-politician" candidate for student body president. Here's some more light on the subject to give the "spotlighter" a new look.

The spotlighter" is, admittedly, an astute politician. He gained his fame on a party platform of "ideals we hold dear." Notable of these: that his party (1) is open to all students, (2) has no "closed-door," "behind-the scenes" bossing, and (3) always discusses and nominates its candidates in open meetings.

The "spotlighter's" party did exactly that Monday night when it nominated Mike Rubish. The "spotlighter" was not present. Despite urging, he refused to come. Now he roars at his party choice. Did he so over-estimate his "candle-power" as to rely his "non-back-room" boys to do his bidding? or, does he renounce his all-students' party platform?

The hundred or so campus politicians vote for politicians on a "You-vote-for-me, I'll-vote-for you" basis. Student voters go to the polls to elect a president for the whole student body. Rubish is a candidate for student body president, not politicians' president.

The "spotlighter," by his own "ideals," should have shed his light, in person, if he wanted to influence his party nominations meeting.

Randy McLeod

Pro

Editor:

We are in favor of having coffee for sale during the day at Lenoir.

Allen Thompson
Aubrey Dixon
David Mullins

Con

Editor:

I am in favor of having hot coffee served at Lenoir hall during mealtimes. Thank you.

Bob Golby

CPU Roundtable

Seek Middle-Of-Road Solution

By Pete Gerns

On July 18, 1947, Representative Harry L. Towe, R., N. H., introduced into Congress what now is known as a bill for Universal Military Training: HR 4278.

This resolution, if passed by Congress, will, according to some quarters, give our government dictatorial powers over every teen-age boy. Others reply that it is necessary for the betterment of every American adolescent, because no man, they contend, can be an asset to society if he has not learned the fundamentals of self-discipline.

The questions: Who is right? Looking over some of the provisions of this act we find that neither side can categorically state that all advantages are in its favor.

Little known is UMT's morality provision. An advisory board with 10 to 25 members is to give advice on moral, religious, recreational, and other problems; it goes on to say that this advice need not be followed. The bill also provides for non-military training for those who are not physically or mentally acceptable for military training and for conscientious objectors. The non-military trainee is largely neglected in the bill; it is not clarified whether he is liable to the same authority, punishments ,etc.

The measure also gives a choice of ten alternatives of six-month duration after the first six months have been spent in the Military Training Corps. Such alternatives include enlistment in the National Guard, enlistment in the regular Armed Forces and membership in R.O.T.C. However, the trainee can be forced into any one of the alternatives if the quota set up for his choice program is filled.

Proponents of the resolution will tell us that it is of advantage in later life to have UMT. Questioned on whether they do not fear that it will lead to war, they answer that preparedness makes us respected. They are dissatisfied with the mode in which a fellow is brought up at home, apparently without learning the fundamentals of consideration for others, self-respect, etc.

Opponents of UMT flatly state that it will lead to war. Russia, they assert, is merely waiting for an excuse to jump on us and this may be it. They believe in laissez-faire.

There may be a sensible middle-of-the-road solution. If our educational system is at fault, if we do not learn to live in society by our standard of upbringing, why not attack the problems at the roots? Why not dig down into our educational deficiencies. Let's put the blame where it belongs. Both factions agree that here is where the major part of our trouble lies. Their only difference is in one side saying that we must propose something radical while the other side believes in letting well enough alone.

Let's get together. Do they realize that, as example, money to be alloted to the establishment of UMT would be sufficient to build two universities of the size of Carolina in every state of the Union?

PHARMACY WIVES

All wives of Pharmacy students who are interested in forming a bridge club are invited to contact Anne Koonce, at 130 Daniels road, Victory Village, or by telephoning Virginia Brantley at F-3761 before 3 o'clock Wednesday.

MAG STAFF MEETING

Members of the advertising layout staff of the Carolina Magazine will meet Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Grail room. Mel Cohen, business manager of the Mag, will present some pointers on layout and selling appeal.

Other students interested in working on the layout staff may also attend the meeting, or they may contact Sally Woodhull, layout manager.

A Joke, Son

The Artist Clears A Question of Doe

To Whom it May Concern:

In case anyone was interested enough to be confused, the cartoon on page 20 of the January issue of the Carolina magazine originally had a caption. For some mysterious and unexplained reason, the powers that be decided not to include the caption with the rest of the cartoon. So, in order that people will not think that this was modern art with a deep and hidden meaning, I will include caption as follows: The deer on the right is saying to the deer on her right, "Do you think we could make a coupla bucks by hanging around here?" So much for that.

Don McKinney

What's Up in Graham Memorial

—For the benefit of those who couldn't jam into the Rendezvous Friday night for Clarence Barbour's tip-top floor show-array of student talent, we would like to briefly review the program. —Unavoidable circumstances made the show nearly 4 minutes late, but all agreed enthusiastically that it was well worth the wait.

Far and away the highlight of the snappy, varied four-act performance was Riqui Casino's polished presentation of several popular songs in the Latin mood . . Casino, dressed in South-of-the Border troubador costume, accompanied himself on the guitar and acts with complete and perfect stage presence . . . There is an indefinable quality about his singing, which gives it a personal appeal to every individual member of the audience, and makes him a show-stealing part of any program . . . DON'T miss Casino the next time!

Newest thing in campus entertainment were the two acrobatic routines by the trio of Bob Hurley, Darrell Byerly, "Razz" Berry, and Byerly and nine-year-old Linda Faye Tillman together in a song adagio acrobatic duet . . . Both acts were capably performed, and especially appealing due to their unusual nature . . . Petite, captivating Linda Faye Tillman completely charmed the audience with her unaffected natural grace . . . With musical accompaniment and more acting experience added to these two acrobatic adagio routines they promise to go much farther than the confines of the Rendezvous Presenting a "blackface routine on a white piano" Skippy Mann was as completely at home as if in an upped Harlem back-room cabaret . . . He received numerour calls for encores, and will be a regular attraction at the Rendezvous . . . Full credit for the whole successful show is due director Clarence Barbour for his patient, professional work.

GETS

'We Want Gifts' Cry Angry Males In 'Cold War'

By Betty Heinemann

Philadelphia —(UP)— A "cold war" between the sexes has developed on college campuses in the Philadelphia area.

The issue at stake? Emancipation of the American male gift giver. Particularly on St. Valentine's Day.

"It isn't fair," said members of the new anti-gift organization "We're tired of giving something to our women and receiving nothing more than a chaste peck on the cheek. It's time for the girls to give us presents."

The group, which calls itself the "GETS"—short for the Guild of Enlightened and Thrifty Spenders—already has branched out from Temple University to the University of Pennsylvania and other nearby schools and is planning to carry its crusade to more distant fields.

The GETS have launched an advertising campaign in the fight between "them that give (the men) and them that get (the women)."

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS
1 - To eye amorously
5 - Patriot of Sweden
9 - Building wing
12 - Fuzzy
13 - One who inherits
14 - Man's nickname
15 - Cutting part of knife
17 - Woodpeckers
19 - Fur piece
20 - Traps
21 - Susceptibility
24 - To evaporate
26 - Orchestra leaders
28 - Listless
31 - Part of "to be"
32 - Hunting dog
34 - Prefix, two
35 - One of two equal parts
38 - Kind of rock
41 - To annoy
43 - Lively French dance
44 - To toughen
47 - Kind of cabbage
48 - Bug
49 - Sickroom attendant
52 - Age
53 - In
56 - To pour
57 - Rocky peak
58 - Clear
59 - He sold his birthright

DOWN
1 - Globe
2 - Girl (coll.)
3 - Responsible
4 - Taro roots
5 - Exclamation of surprise
6 - Meadow
7 - Helps
8 - Palm leaf
9 - To come into view
10 - Knowledge
11 - Smaller
16 - Diet
18 - To plunder
21 - Indian nurse
22 - Tibet priest
23 - Liquor
24 - Youthful
27 - To steal
29 - Mine entrance
30 - Gambling cube
33 - Sofa
35 - Pert. to dines
37 - To worry
39 - Dissolved
40 - Cubic meters
42 - Turkish sultan (var.)
44 - To encourage
45 - Roman despot
46 - River in Siberia
50 - Body of water
51 - Flightless bird
54 - Musical note
55 - Conjunction

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association. | Complete Leased Wire of United Press | Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor
HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr.
CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis
SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

Tar Heel Cagers Outlast Blue Devils To Annex 48-42 Win

Back Tracking In Sports

with

Morty Schaap

Operation Track

OPERATION TRACK is the next order for the maintenance crew in charge of Woollen gym. This means that the Madison Square Garden of the South must be cleared of all the stands that are up now and bring the indoor track from the Tin Can to the main floor of the gym. Stands are then erected the long way in the emporium. This operation takes place February 28.

This will be the sixth annual Southern Invitation games to be held here in Chapel Hill and which should attract a record entry in the College, Freshmen and Scholastic divisions. This will probably be the last year that the games will be run as an open competition. Next year it is expected that the old Southern conference and non-conference divisions will go back into competition. The first indoor meet was organized and run by Coach Bob Fetzer in 1930 and since then, every year has seen a huge three-ring carnival held in Chapel Hill.

Carolina waltzed off with the title last year, but it figures that they will have a tough time repeating. Georgia Tech, Maryland and Duke are expected to be the big threats with Navy, Tennessee and State as the dark horse entries.

Over the Bar

ONE OF THE BIGGEST EVENTS will be held in the afternoon part of the show with the running of the high jump. This field will include the best jumpers that the South has ever gotten together. Henry Gardner of Florida, who won the event with a record leap last year, will defend his title against Carolina's Jack Moody, State's George Pickett and Mercer's Dave Rowe. All these boys are capable of doing 6 feet 6 inches.

Another record that seems sure to be scratched from the books is the two-mile mark set last year by Jack Milne. Milne was clocked in 9:45.5. This seems to be a sure bet to go down the drain with Carolina having three boys this year, including Milne, who have all bettered the mark by some seven or eight seconds.

Space has been provided at the meet for 1120 students to see the games and the tickets are now on sale at the Athletic office at seventy-five cents plus coupon number 21. For the general public 750 seats have been set aside at $1.50.

The Carolina track team as well as many of the other loop teams will get a chance in a warm-up meet at the University of Maryland on February 21 to see just what the Conference cinder picture is. Maryland will hold their meet in the new Armory at College Park and will have it run on a flat track. This run will give a good picture of what is expected to take place in North Carolina on the following weekend.

Around the Loop

DUKE WILL BOAST plenty of strength in three events. One mainstay for the Blue Devils is big Roger Neighborgal, who holds the loop 440 and 880 crowns. He is ably accompanied in the middle distances by Loren Young, Henry Bullock and John Grisso. Jim O'Leary is back at the Durham school to try and regain the shot put title he took in 1946. The Dukesters are powerladen in the pole vault with such top flight jumpers as John Colvin, Bill Jackson, and John Bowles plus John Connor, the stellar diver on the Duke swimming team.

Maryland boasts power in the middle distances with Ed Matthews and in the distances with Bob Palmer, Conference cross country champion. Hurdlers Rube Rhuback and Mario Salvanelli give the Terrapins punch too.

Frank Magill, brother of Carolina's Sam, gives VPI a threat in the 880. Bill Rucks of South Carolina should give the Gamecocks a possible winner in the 440. Davidson counts on Ben Koop to aid in the two-mile. State boasts Jim Byler in the shot put along with Dusty Dostanko, Pickett in the high jump, Dave Dubow in the distance events and Bob Chambers in practically any event the coach wants to place him in.

Outside Power

THE BIG THREAT will be Georgia Tech who are paced by sophomore Buddy Fowlkes who was high scorer in the meet last year. He is ever dangerous in the sprints, low hurdles and broad jump. He is aided by George Bailey in the sprints and 440. Tech also has a pair of distance stars in John Corridan and Red Smith. All American tackle Bobby Davis tosses the shot for the Jackets.

So all in all the show will be a three-ring affair with events being held in the Tin Can and gym in the afternoon and the evening's finals slated for Woollen. If you have never seen track you had better get a ticket early before those fans that have seen this spectacle grab them all up.

Records Fall As Mermen Swamp VPI, 65-10; Wrestlers Come Back To Defeat Cadets, 20-8

Ousley, Relay Team Shatter Three Marks

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

Blacksburg, Vr.—Feb. 7—Shattering one conference and two pool records, North Carolina's omnipotent swimming team easily swamped the outclassed Gobblers of VPI here today before a crowd of several hundred persons. The score was 65-10 as the visitors won all nine events.

Carolina's 300-yard medley relay team of Jim Thomas, Dan Breeden and co-captain Jesse Greenbaum covered their distance in 3:03.8, almost two seconds better than the old mark posted by the Tar Heels in setting the Conference mark in 1942.

In breaking the pool record for the same event, the Tar Heel mermen had the pleasure of surpassing one of their own records, one their predecessors had hung up in 1941. The record was better by almost nine seconds.

Other Mark

The other pool mark fell in the 200-yard breastroke as veteran Bob Ousley splashed his way to a 2:30.9 victory while bettering the establishment mark of 2:35.4.

The win was an easy one for the visitors from Chapel Hill who didn't even bring some of their stars on the trip. Those coach Dick Jamerson did put in the water, though, proved quite enough for the VPIers who were never in the meet from the start.

Summary

The summary:

300-yard medley relay won by UNC (Thomas, Breeden, Greenbaum). Time 3:03.8. (New pool and SC record).

200-yard freestyle: Won by Hutton, UNC; Elliott, UNC, second; Brouse, VPI, third. Time: 2:25.2.

50-yard freestyle: Won by Pritchard, UNC; Ingram, UNC, second; Aumack, VPI, third. Time: 0:25.

Diving: Won by Sper, UNC; Beam, UNC, second; Smith, VPI, third.

100-yard freestyle: Won by Coart, UNC; Dietzel, UNC, second; L. Ronnie, VPI, third. Time: 1:00.7.

150-yard backstroke: Won by Bippart, UNC; W. Rennie, VPI, second; Dance, VPI, third. Time: 1:48.4.

200-yard backstroke: Won by Ousley, UNC; Breeden, UNC, second; McKeithem, VPI, third. Time: 2:30.9. (New pool record).

440-yard freestyle: Won by Norwod, UNC; Basescu, UNC, second; Greenlee, VPI, third. Time: 5:25.5.

440-yard freestyle relay: Won by UNC (Whichard, Mericka, Greenbaum, Osborne). Time: 3:-53.

No. Decision . . .

Jayvee Mermen, W&M Norfolk Branch Tie, 34-34, When Relay Race Ruled Out

It turned out yesterday afternoon for the mermen of the Norfolk Division of William and Mary that there was a dark lining to what had appeared to them to be a silver cloud. For Dr. Arthur Jensen, the meet's starter, interrupted their premature victory celebration to inform them that a member of their 400 yard relay had failed to touch the bulkhead on a turn and, along with the Carolina quartet, had been disqualified. Consequently, the meet ended in a 34-34 deadlock.

In added attractions to the meet, Dick Twining and Floyd Drew set new pool records in the 440 and 50 yard freestyles, respectively. Twining lowered the old mark from 5:19.6 to 5:11.2 while Drew whizzed through a 24.2 sprint. The old record was 24.4. Jerry Cook missed a new pool mark in the 200 breaststroke by three-tenths a second by doing the length in 2:37.6.

The Indians had tied up the meet in the 440 freestyle when Mayo nosed out Carolina's Frank McNeill in a fairly slow race. When the first two W & M swimmers in the medley rang up a 15 yard lead, things looked black for the Black Minnows.

Dosher Shines

However, Tom Dosher almost caught up with his foe in the third leg of the race but the victors maintained their lead in the last 100 to win. Then came the idyll shattering news by the starter to break up the victory celebration. The Carolinians were disqualified when one of their men started too soon.

Freshman Charlie Bartlett was the individual hero of the afternoon for the locals. His speedy performance in the breaststroke leg of the medley relay gave the locals their event winning lead. Bartlett also splashed to an easy victory in the 200 yard breast.

The summary:

300 medley relay: Won by North Carolina (Cordle, Bartlett

(See SWIMMING, page 4)

Monday's Murals

BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 3: Sig Chi 2 vs. Beta 1; Court 4: Phi Kap 3 vs. KA 2; Court 5: TEP 1 vs. DKE 2; Court 6: Zeta 1 vs. PiKA 2; Court 7: Chi Psi 1 vs. Sig Chi 1.

5:00—Court 1: ZBT vs. AEPi; Court 2: Chi Phi 3 vs. Phi Gam 1; Court 3: Chi Psi 2 vs. Kap Psi 1; Court 4: Phi Delt 1 vs. Kap Psi 2; Court 5: St. Anthony vs. SAE 3; Court 6: Phi Gam 2 vs. TEP 2; Court 7: Zeta 4 vs. Kap Sig 1.

7:00—Court 1: Lambda Chi vs. Sig Ep 2; Court 2: Sig Nu 3 vs. ATO 3; Court 3: Phi Kap 2 vs. DKE 1; Court 4: Delta Sig vs. SAE 2; Court 5: Sig Chi vs. Beta 2; Court 6: PiKA 1 vs. Phi Delta Chi; Court 7: Phi Gam 3 vs. Chi Phi 1.

8:00—Court 1: Phi Kap 1 vs. Phi Delt 2; Court 2: ATO 2 vs. KA 3; Court 3: Beta 3 vs. PiKA 3; Court 4: Zeta 2 vs. Pi Lamb 1; Court 5: Sig Nu 2 vs. Kap Sig 3; Court 6: Everett 1 vs. Graham 2; Court 7: Cruds vs. Unknowns.

HANDBALL

4:00—Phi Delt 3 vs. Lamba Chi.

5:00—Pi Lamb vs. Zeta 1.

7:00—Cho Pho vs. Beta 1.

8:00—Phi Gam 1 vs. Chi Psi.

RIFLE FIRING

7:30—Whitehead.

State Ducats Ready Monday

Lucky number holders of passbooks to the State-Carolina basketball game to be played in Chapel Hill on the 21st of the month, may exchange their coupons for reserved seat tickets at the Gym beginning Monday morning at 9.

Those entitled to receive ducats are those with books numbered 4501-8000 and 8501-9000 inclusive. These persons will have the entire week to draw tickets, but the Athletic office warns the inadvisability of waiting until the last day or so, because of the jam-up that will occur and the fact that the best tickets will go first.

The same practice that was observed for the Duke clash will be put in effect for the return encounter with the Wolfpack. Any seats remaining after priority holders have been taken care of, will be distributed to the rest of the entitled on a first-come-first served basis.

Conference Tourney Ticket Information

The Athletic office also made an announcement yesterday concerning the obtaining of Southern conference tournament tickets. All students who wish to purchase ducats to the tourney, should mail their requests together with $9.30 to:

Duke Station, Durham, N. C.
H. M. Lewis
Business Mgr. of DAA

No request for tickets will be handled through the local office.

Students mailing their requests should make sure that they are postmarked before February 10 as only orders so dated will be serviced. The dates of the tourney will be March 4, 5 and 6 with Duke's mammoth indoor stadium to be the scene of the action.

INDOOR TRACK DUCATS

One more ticket commodity is now currently available at Woollen Gym, and that is tickets to the sixth annual Southern Invitation Indoor games scheduled for Feb. 28. Students have the opportunity of securing tickets at the half price of seventy-five cents together with coupon 21 of their athletic passbooks. All seats are reserved and general public seats are also available at $1.50.

All those interested in purchasing admissions to the gala track festival are advised to do so now because of the limited number of seats and the usually high demand for tickets.

Grapplers Drop Two, Then Sweep Next Six

By Buddy Vaden

Lexington, Va. Feb. 7—North Carolina's hard fighting wrestling team dropped their first two matches to the Cadets of VMI here tonight and then rallied to sweep the remaining six encounters and the competition, 20-8.

Local Rock Moyer made short work of Tar Heel Marvin Wilson in the opener, pinning his opponent in the first period to give the Cadets a 5-0 lead. Teammate Rooster Hening then added three more points to the VMI total by decisioning visitor Doug Thompson.

At this point the Tar Heels began to apply the brakes to the Cadet steamroller and in the 136-pound division Tom Urquhart decisioned Bob Robertson to return the Carolinians to the competition. The next match at 145 proved to be the battle of the evening with Tar Heel Phil Kemp edging out Mac Van Hook, 8-7.

Two More Wins

In the following two classes Carrol Fisher and Oscar Gupton, two of North Carolina's finest, captured easy decisions to all but salt away the match for Carolina.

Corky Bluethenthal returned to Tar Heel mat competition for the first time in two years at 175 pounds and was forced into overtime competition to exact victory in a match that saw both furand wrestlers fly throughout the ring.

Bill Kemp moved up to the heavyweight class and found the change to his liking as he pinned Earthmole Lewis in one minute of the second period to top off the Tar Heels third victory of the season.

Summary

The summary:

121—Moyer (VPI) pinned Wilson in 2:21 of the first period with a bar and half nelson.

128—Hening (VPI) decisioned Thompson (UNC), 6-0.

136—Urquhart (UNC) decisioned Van Hook, 8-7.

155—Fisher (UNC) decisioned Allen, 8-0.

165—Gupton (UNC) decisioned Meredith, 3-0.

175—Bluethenthal (UNC) decesioned Williams in overtime period. Score tied 5-5 at regulation end, 3-1 in overtime.

Hwt.—B. Kemp pinned Lewis in 1:00 of the second period.

Monogramers Induct Members Next Week

The Monogram club will induct 27 new members at their regular meeting on Tuesday night at 7:30 in Woollen 304, it was announced yesterday by President Bill Pritchard.

Pritchard urged all members to be on hand so that a good turnout would be present to greet the new letter-winners in football, soccer, and cross country.

Second Half Spurt Nets Local Victory In Traditional Meeting Before 5,800

By Bob Goldwater

After one complete half and several minutes extra of anxious moments, some 5,700 cage fans received a Saturday night treat in Woollen gym last night when Carolina's White Phantoms roared from behind with a second-half splurge that left Duke's Blue Devils on the short end of a 48-42 decision and provided Coach Tom Scott's charges with their eighth Southern conference win in nine outings.

The capacity crowd actually numbered slightly more than 5,800, the additional 100-plus being made up of Duke followers who enjoyed the game immensely at two stages, one in either half. The first time came after the 7:20 mark in the contest, when Gerry Garard's Dukes went on their own scoring spree to oversome a seven-point deficit and eventually move into a seven-point advantage.

Then, after the home forces had regained the lead—by one slim point—two minutes after intermission, the Devils once again made with the points—five quick ones to be more specific. But that's when the Duke cheering ended for the evening, whereas the Carolina rooters were yet to have their big moments. For while the visitors' scoring remained dormant for eight minutes, the Tar Heel total leaped ahead by 12, and for the nine minutes left in the game, the Phantoms were content to nurse home their six-point margin.

Paxton Controls Boards

Curiously enough, it wasn't the leading pointmaker who sparked the Carolina team in its game-winning drive. Instead, it was the man who usually handles that role, playing last night—as always—the part of a rebound artist. That means, of course, none other than big Bob Paxton, who dominated the play under both baskets while performing for the full 40 minutes. In the scoring department, though, Paxton was off his usual pace, registering a blank in field goals and sinking but three of 11 charity tosses.

To take up the slack in the scoring column caused by Paxton's off night the Tar Heel pointmaking was well divided, with King Cole leading the way with 11 markers. Nemo Nearman was close behind with nine, and Norm Kohler, Coy Carson, and Roger Scholbe, all contributed six points to the cause.

Collins High

It remained for a Blue Devil to garner the scoring honors for the evening. Lanky Ben Collins, 6-6 center, bucketed 18 points for his 40 minutes effort, but his teammates were far behind his total.

Neither team performed particularly well in the first half, the Phantoms suffering from lack of shots taken and Duke from lack of shots made. Kohler's foul shot opened the point parade for the night, at 1:20, but Collins hooped a hook to put Duke out front. Doug Ausborn's layup was matched by Cole's set shot, and after Bill Martin sank a free throw, Carolina began a three-minute monopoly on all scoring rights.

Cole threw up a two-pointer on a sharp pass from Nearman, Carson hit with another layup, Kohler contributed a foul shot, and Nearman collected four points on 2 fouls and a follow up. That gave Carolina a 12-5 lead at the 7:20 mark.

Ever A Dull Moment

Duke	fg	ft	pf	tp	ftm
Ausbon, f	3	0	5	6	1
Skibskead	0	0	1	0	0
Youmans, f	1	1	1	3	4
Sapp	2	0	5	4	1
Armour	0	0	0	0	0
Collins, c	8	2	3	18	3
Hughes, g	2	1	5	5	1
Stark	0	0	1	0	1
Martin, g	0	3	1	2	0
Gordon	0	2	1	2	3
Godfrey	0	0	1	0	0
York	0	2	0	2	0
Totals	16	10	24	42	14
Carolina	fg	ft	pf	tp	ftm
Paxton, f	0	3	2	3	8
Carson, f	3	0	2	6	0
Swartzberg	0	0	1	0	1
Scholbe	3	0	4	6	2
Nearman, c	2	5	4	9	2
Dillon	1	1	1	3	0
Kohler, g	1	4	3	6	1
Thorne	0	0	0	0	0
Cole, g	5	1	1	11	1
Nyimicz	2	0	1	4	0
Totals	17	14	19	48	15

Halftime Score: Duke 25; UNC 23.

Officials: Culler and Jay

It also ended the Carolina scoring for six minutes. With Collins pacing the drive, the Blue Devils quickly deadlocked the count and just quickly took over a 17-12 lead, at 12:50. Big Ben tallied seven points during the purt, with Tommy Hughes and Dick Gordon collecting the rest.

Cole finally broke the slump for the Tar Heels at 13.15, but Ausbon and Carl Sapp were successful on hook shots and Duke had a 21-14 advantage at 14:10. Nearman reentered the game at this point and Scholbe came in for the first time, and the result was a spurt that carried the home team to a two-point halftime deficit.

Nearman's three-point combination and Scholbe'e one-hander gave the scoreboard a 21-19 reading at 16:55. Follow-ups by Hughes and Collins were matched by two-poniters by Kohler and Cole, and it was 25-23, Duke, at intermission.

When play resumed, Carson

(See BASKETBALL, page 4)

Badminton Club Plays Burlington Tomorrow

Carolina's badminton team, sporting a two and two record to date, will be victory-seeking again tomorrow night when the locals tangle with Burlington at 7:30 in the Woman's gym.

Swimming Tourney Trials Begin Tomorrow; Number of Boxing Entries Sets New Record

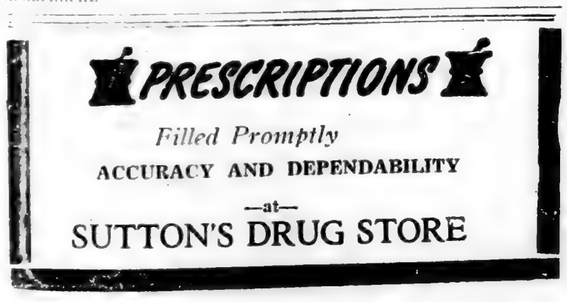
Trials for the intramural swimming tournament will begin tomorrow and the qualifying heats in the individual events will be held from 5 to 6 o'clock each afternoon through Thursday.

Next Monday afternoon will be reserved for relay and diving trials and the semi-finals in the 25 and 50-yard events will be run off the next day starting at 4. Finals in all events will be held next Thursday at 4 o'clock.

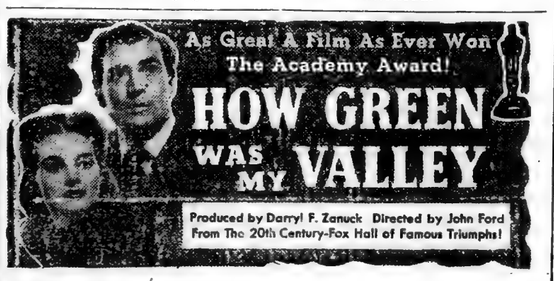
Swimmers who intend to compete in the eight scheduled events will report to either Mike Morrow or Coach Dick Jamerson, who will be representing the mural department.

The 25 and 50-yard races will be held in both freestyle and backstroke as well as the 50-yard breaststroke. A 100-yard freestyle, 150-yard medley relay, 200-yard freestyle relay and a diving contest round out the list of events.

Individuals will be permitted to enter no more than three events, exclusive of diving, and may attempt to qualify no more than once in an event. An organization may enter no more than one team in each relay and no more than two divers.



Individual winners will be awarded medals and the fraternity team winner will be awarded a team trophy.



Orientation Firing

Two more squads of sharpshooters finished their orientation rifle-firing last week. The marksmen from Stacy turned in a team average of 145 and of the top six men, the lowest score was 139 out of a possible 200. Bo McCall was high with 164 points. Red Gerringer posted 157; T. R. Harrell, 151; Bob Harrington, 148; Tom Bethune, 147; and Ted Hazelwood, 139.

Hank Wisebram paced the TEP

(See MURALS, page 4)

Dances, Pinnings, Engagements Highlight Recent Social Doings

Social doings in Chapel Hill have been few and far between this past week, excluding Archer House-Beta snow fights and some rousing games of chess in GM main lounge. The engagement of Caroline Warren of Chapel Hill to Richard Dennon of Rutherford, New Jesrey, was announced. The ceremony will take place in the spring after which the couple will move to Pittsfield, Massachusetts, where Dennon is now employed by General Electric.

Last Wednesday evening eighteen girls were formally initiated into the Alpha Gamma sorority. New members are: Lucille Arnott, Emily Baker, Lynn Blanchard, Anne Carlton, Mary Anne Daniel, Janie Blalock, Jackie Goodwin, Edith Hall, Sally Jackson, Joyce Jones, Mildred Little, Ruth McCann, Mary McGoogan, Pat McNutt, Priscilla Moore, Becky Holton, Jean Somervel and Sue Stokes.

Each girl was dressed in a formal white gown for the impressive occasion. After the ceremony, refreshments were served for the new members.

McIver girls were entertained Sunday morning with a dorm breakfast. Mrs. Cooke, McIver hostess, and Lynn Blanchard, social chairman, served. Priscilla Moore, Sue Stokes, Tommie Olive, and Ginny Trott assisted. Around 100 girls were served between 9 and 10 o'clock.

Dorm breakfasts are the custom for the twenty-three residents of Archer house. The house is closed to all outsiders every Sunday morning until 10 o'clock while pajama-clad girls with their hair in curlers sleepily slip downstairs for a few reviving cups of coffee and hot rolls. Occasionally, a Carolina gentleman arrives early to take his date to church and hastily exits completely dissilusioned at the sight of his girl with her hair rolled up on socks.

Shelley Roper of Lincolnton, a new initiate of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority, is now wearing the Sigma Chi cross of Bud Early, who is from St. Petersburg, Florida.

Members of Theta Psi Epsilon professional chemistry fraternity were entertained by the Kappa Epsilon sorority at a bridge party in the K E chapter room Monday night. The refreshments, served by Jean Snyder and Chick Slack carried out the red and white motif of the K E colors by white frosted buns, red cheese and Russian tea.

The engagement of Virginia Limbaugh to Bob Callahan, both of Asheville was annouced February 1. Ginger lives at Smith and is a third year Pharmacy student. The marriage will take place in Asheville on March 20.

Town Girls to Meet To Pick Vice-Prexy

The Town Girls association will meet tomorrow evening at 7:15 on the second floor of the Y building, President Betsy Ann Barbee announced yesterday.

Purpose of the meeting is to elect a vice-president, Woman's Athletic association representative, and a representative to the University party.

Local Sigma Nus Initiate Members

Seven men were recently initiated into the local Psi chapter of Sigma Nu fraternity. New members include: Lyn Bond, Jr., Tarboro; William Fleming Harrington, Greenville; Milton Needham Zinnant, Charlotte; Bruce Fletcher Jones, Edenton; and Daniel Charles Logue, Clairtown, Pa.

Recently the Sigma Nus played host to the Chi Omega sorority. Supper was served at the fraternity house and entertainment was provided by the pledges. The tri-Delta will be entertained this week at a dinner party.

Pi Kappa Alpha Initiation Held for Six Wednesday Night

AMERICAN fashions have caught on as far away as the South Pacific, so this Samoan bride wears a wedding gown which looks like many seen in swank U. S. shops. There is, however, one deviation from the customary apparel worn by girls going to the altar—the bride here does not wear shoes. She and the groom walked through the whole ceremony barefooted. U. S. Navy photo. (International)

Six pledges were initiated into the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity in an impressive ceremony on Wednesday night. Conducting the rites, which were held in the house chapter room, were President Graham Battle, Rocky Mount; Vice President Charles Adams, Raleigh; Secretary John Trimble, Greensboro; and Jim Phillips, Lumberton.

The six new brothers are Bob Scarborough, Raleigh; Jack Ford, Plymouth, Pennsylvania; Worth Chesson, Roper; Andrew Toxey, Elizabeth City; Robert Morrison, Raleigh; and David "Rocky" Stroud, Mocksville.

After the ceremony, the 1948 pledge class honored the new and old brothers with a cocktail party.

Chi Phi Entertains Pledges with Dance

Members of the Chi Phi fraternity entertained the pledges Friday, January 30, with a banquet and dance in the fraternity house on South Columbia street.

Pledges and their dates were introduced by Emcee A. B. Coleman and enjoyed an excellent dinner prepared under the supervision of the Chi Phi's imported chef, Terry Gaithero. After dinner, members transformed the banquet hall into a sophistocated ballroom. Music for the dance was provided by Frank Wright and his Bull City Night-Hawks.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Holds Initiation

New pledges of Delta Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon who were formally initiated in recent ceremonies are: Fred Cates, Hillsboro; Kay WWinecoff, Concord; Hugh Eberly, Norfolk, Virginia; Willard Herring, Clinton; James Reed, Reidsville; Tracy Lounsbury, Winston-Salem; Jack Burney, Charlotte; Harry Tsumas, Statesville; Everett Hampton, Kannapolis and Orville Coward, Sylva.

-Basketball-

(Continued from page 3)

immediately tied up the game with a classy fake and layup. Cole's charity toss put the Phantoms out front, 26-25, but not for long. Ausbon dumped a set. Corren Youmans put in one from the 15-foot line, and Collins registered on a jump shot, to give Duke a 30-26 advantage at 3:10. Hughes fouled out a few seconds later, and his loss apparently hurt the Blue Devils no end for they went into a tailspin from which they never recovered.

Carson started this final Carolina drive with a follow-up and Paxton netted his initial foul shot of the evening, after eight unsuccessful tries. Nearman dead locked the count at the eight-minute mark, by sinking his half of a double foul while Sapp was wasting his chance. Additional fouls by Nearman and Paxton, two one-handers by Scholbe, and a set by Cole put Carolina in the fore by 38-32 at 11-10.

And that was the ball game. Collins did his bit in trying to put Duke in the running, but sets by Dan Nyimicz, a hook and a foul by Johnny Dillon, and three more points by Kohler were more than enough to give the Phantoms their 16th win of the season.

-Swimming-

(Continued from page 3)

and Snow). Time 3:34.5.

220 freestyle: Mayo (WM) Mcneill (UNC), Allred (WM). Time 2:37.3.

50 freestyle: Cooke (WM), Dosher (UNC), Auld (WM). Time: 25.8.

Diving: Whichard (UNC), Smith (WM), McLean (WM).

100 freestyle: Cooke (WM), Barth (UNC), Welton (WM). Time: 59.4.

150 backstroke: Carnes (UNC), Lieland (WM), Truitt (UNC). Time 2:00.9.

200 breaststroke: Bartlett (UNC), Varney (WM), Lawrence (WM). Time: 2:56.5.

440 freestyle: Mayo (WM) McNeill (UNC), Rose (WM). Time: 5:52.7.

-Murals-

(Continued from page 3)

Dan'l Boones with a 152 score. Jerry Levin shot a 126 and was followed by Norm Galiken at 124 and Howard Liber at 121.

The boxing tourney which opens Tuesday drew the largest number of entries in the history of mural leatherslinging. A record breaking total of 252 boys, mostly concentrated in the 145 and 155-pound weight division, signed up. Fights will have to be staged in both the afternoon and evening in the early rounds of the tournament to accommodate the large entry list.

Cage Play

The basketball schedule will probably be concluded by the end of this week. League playoffs are slated for the week after and the dormitory and fraternity division champs will meet as part of the intramural department sports carnival.

The five-man soccer tournament will take place the last two weeks in February and the mural office urged that the managers begin getting teams together. The rules will be basically the same as in regulation soccer with a few modifications. The size of the field, playing time, number of men, and absence of a goalie provide the chief differences.

Grain-Price Drop Partially Halts On Chicago Board

Chicago, Feb. 7—(UP)—The four-day plunge of grain prices on the Chicago Board of Trade was partially halted today, but the situation still is unsettled.

Frantic selling during the past four days had sent almost all grains down their legal limit each day, as much as 10 cents a bushel in wheat.

Today, however, some traders in the grain pits apparently figured that the selling plunge was about over and started buying. Their activities served to some extent to prop up the skidding market.

They failed to check the downward trend completely, however.

One factor that may affect the commodity market is a threatened strike against six major flour milling companies. Officials of the American Federation of Labor union threatening the walkout say grain prices would be forced still lower if the strike materializes.

-Debate-

(Continued from page 1)

first, then the negative team with which it will contest the issue:

FIRST DEBATE, 3 o'clock. Caldwell 103—DKE vs. Wesley Foundation, Sam Manning, Gus Graham; Gran Childress, Bill Jernigan. Caldwell 106—DKE vs. Independents, Martin Carmichael, Francis Winslow; Bob Orman, Garland Scruggs. Caldwell 213—Beta Theta Pi vs. KA, Burt Yokley, Bob Whitlock; Welborn Phillips, Herb Howell.

Caldwell 206—Chi Phi vs. Kappa Sigma, Herb Mitchell, Tom Shelton; Leonard Carter, H. A. Whiteside. Caldwell 107—KA vs. Chi Phi, Lester Martin, John Stump; Felder Graham, Hamp Davis. Caldwell 210—KA vs. Beta Theta Pi, Don Evans, Bill Taylor; John Miles, Marshall Roberts.

Saunders 216—KA vs. Everett, Oliver Anthony, Lee Copple; Richard Bowen, Herman Sieber. Saunders 213—Lambda Chi Alpha vs. KA, Randall Proctor, Grey Adams; Don Nicholson, Joe Satterwhite. Saunders 201—Phi Gamma Delta vs. Alderman, Marion Woodbury, Bill Hackney; Joy Blumenthal, Nancee Black.

Saunders 210—McIver vs. Alpha Gamma Delta, Mintie Cantrell, Betty Webb; Lynn Blanchard, Emily Baker. Saunders 109—Sigma Nu vs. Phi Gamma Delta, Rivers Johnson, Bob Perry; Matt Hodgson, Dick Hammer. Saunders 111—St. Anthony vs. Lambda Chi Alpha, Herbert Bodman, Charles Fox; Steve Roberson, Charles B. Hughston.

Saunders 110—Whitehead vs. KA, Dortch Warriner, Marshall Pinnix; George Grizzard, Al Phillips. Saunders 113—Stacy vs. Phi Gamma Delta, John Giles, Bob Coulter; Lem Whitsett, Tom Gilman. Caldwell 108—Aycock vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon, John Bunch, Bill Payeff; Fred Bates, Bob Breeze.

Murphy III—Lewis vs. Phi Delta Theta, George Rabil, John Dameron; Bill Lane, Harry Haines. Murphy 107—BVD vs. Kappa Sigma, Morris Eller, Jack Wilkerson; Hugh Griffin, Richard Dorden. Murphy 215—Kappa Sigma vs. DTH, Bill Claybrook, Leonard OeHinger; James Spence, Gilbert Burnett.

SECOND DEBATE, 4 o'clock. Saunders 216—DKE vs. Kappa Sigma, Sam Manning, Gus Graham; Leonard Carter, H. A. Whiteside. Caldwell 103—DKE vs. KA, Martin Carmichael, Francis Winslow; Welborn Phillips, Herb Howell. Caldwell 106—Beta Theta Pi vs. Everett, Burt Yokley, Bob Whitlock; Richard Bowen, Herman Sieber.

Caldwell 213—Chi Phi vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon, Herb Mitchell, Tom Shelton; Fred Kates, Bob Breeze. Caldwell 206— KA vs. Lambda Chi Alpha, Lester Martin, John Stump; Steve W. Roberson, Charles B. Hughston. Caldwell 107—KA vs. Phi Gamma Delta, Don Evans, Bill Taylor; Matt Hodgson, Dick Hammer.

Caldwell 210—KA vs. DTH, Oliver Anthony, Lee Copple; James Spence, Gilbert Burnett. Saunders 113—Lambda Chi Alpha vs. Alderman, Randall Proctor, Grey Adams; Joy Blumenthal, Nancee Black. Saunders 213—Phi Gamma Delta vs. Phi Delta Theta, Marion Woodbury, Bill Hackney; Bill Lane, Harry Haines.

Saunders 201—McIver vs. Beta Theta Pi, Mintie Cantrell, Betty Webb; John Miles, Marshall Roberts. Saunders 210—Sigma Nu vs. Phi Gamma Delta, Rivers Johnson, Bob Perry; Lem Whitsett, Tom Gilman. Saunders 109—St Anthony vs. Kappa Sigma, Herbert Bodman, Charles Fox; Hugh Griffin, Richard Borden.

Saunders III—Whitehead vs. Independents, Dortch Wafriner, Marshall Pinnix; Bob Ormand, Garland Scruggs. Saunders 110—Stacy vs. KA, John Giles, Bob Coulter; Don Nicolson, Joe Satterwhite. Murphy 215—Aycock vs. Wesley Foundation, John Bunch, Bill Payeff; Gran Childress, Bill Jernigan.

Caldwell 108—Lewis vs. Chi Phi, George Rabil, John Dameron; Felder Graham, Hamp Davis. Murphy III—BVP vs. KA, Morris Eller, Jack Wilkerson; George Grizzard, Al Phillips. Murphy 107—Kappa Sigma vs. Alpha Gamma Delta, Bill Claybrook, Leonard OeHinger; Lynn Blanchard, Emily Baker.

THIRD DEBATE, 5 o'clock. Caldwell 210—DKE vs. Chi Phi, Sam Manning, Gus Graham; Felder Graham, Hamp Davis. Saunders 216—DKE vs. KA, Martin Carmichael, Francis Winslow; Don Nicholson, Joe Satterwhite. Caldwell 103—Beta Theta Pi vs. Phi Gamma Delta, Burt Yokley, Bob Whitelock; Matt Hodgson, Dick Hammer

Caldwell 106—Chi Phi vs. Independents, Herb Mitchell, Tom Shelton; Bob Ormand, Garland Scruggs. Caldwell 213—KA vs. Alpha Gamma Delta, Lester Martin, John Stump; Lynn Blanchard, Emily Baker. Caldwell 206—KA vs. Lambda Chi Alpha, Don Evans, Bill Taylor; Steven W. Roberson, Charles B. Hughston.

Caldwell 108—KA vs. Kappa Sigma, Oliver Anthony, Lee Coppie; Hugh Griffin, Richard Borden. Saunders 110—Lambda Chi Alpha vs. DTH, Randall Proctor, Grey Adams; James Spence, Gilbert Burnett. Saunders 113—Phi Gamma Delta vs. Beta Theta Pi, Marion Woodbury, Bill Hackney; John Miles, Marshall Roberts.

CLASSIFIED

FOR RENT 6A

ROOM TO SENIOR OR GRADUATE student from now until September. Close in. Central heat, hot water, telephone. Phone 5926. (1-C1761-1)

LOST 12

KEY CHAIN FRIDAY MORNING ON first floor Murphey. Miniature North Carolina 1947 automobile tag 184-066 attached. Please return to 108 Murphey. Reward. 1-1771-1

RED PLASTIC KIT WITH BRUSHES, Lipstick, etc. Please bring to Y office. 1-1770-1

ONE PAIR OF PINK SHELL-RIMMED Glasses between Kenan and Saunders last Tuesday morning around 9:00. Please call Margaret Healy, 7091 or 9556. 1-1769-1

GLASSES WITH WIDE TORTOISE-shell rims in brown case between Murphey and Bynum Tuesday morning. Carol Homan, 302 Alderman, 3071. 1-1772-1

SMALL BLACK AND GREY STRIPED Shaeffer fountain pen between Trailer Court and Venable Jan. 28. If found please return to Jimmie Barnett, 306 Stacy. REWARD. (1-1762-1)

WANTED 24

RIDE TO DUKE HOSPITAL OR DURham for 9 to 5 job. Share expenses. Contact Mrs. Gene Byrd, General Delivery, Chapel Hill. (1-1763-1)

LIL ABNER By AL CAPP

Hot cakes with maple syrup at HARRY'S

IN RESPONSE TO AN EDITORIAL in a London newspaper on the seriousness of the current plague of rodents in Europe, "Flash," the pet of Robert L. Kendell, New York, has been named to lead a proposed army of 50,000 felines to the continent. Kendell, president of the American Feline Society, and sponsor of the plan, said the cats would be gathered throughout the U. S. and protected by humane societies. (International)

Campus Calendar

FOR SUNDAY:

11:00 a.m.—Friends church, Grail room.
8:00 p.m.—Carolina Political Union, Grail room.
8:00 p.m.—Eleventh Annual Exhibition of North Carolina Art: reception, Person Art gallery.
8:30 p.m.—Laboratory theatre presents "Fashion," main lounge Graham Memorial.

MONDAY:

2:00 p.m.—Graham Memorial staff, main office.
2:00 p.m.—Carolina Magazine staff, Grail room.
3:00 p.m.—Student Union Board of Directors, Grail room.
6:30 p.m.—Recorded dinner music concert, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
6:30 p.m.—Pi Kappa Phi, Roland Parker lounge No. 1.
6:45 p.m.—Executive council of the Carolina Independent Coed Association, Y building.
7:00 p.m.—Order of the Grail, Grail room.
7:15 p.m.—Town Girls' Association, Y. building.
7:15 p.m.— Interfraternity Council, Roland Parker lounge No. 2.
7:30 p.m.—International Relations club, Roland Parker lounge No. 1.
7:30 p.m.—Monogram club meeting, Woollen gymnasium.
7:30 p.m.—Universtiy club, Roland Parker lounge No. 3.
8:00 p.m.—Senior Class meeting, Memorial hall.
8:30 p.m.—Dance committee, Grail room.

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO THE CLASS OF '48

Here's your chance to qualify for a job that pays $336 a month after one year's training

A special interviewing team will soon be here to talk with men interested in U. S. Air Force Pilot Training. It is equipped to interview applicants, give preliminary physical examinations and flying aptitude tests.

You may be eligible for appointment to the March 1 or July 1 Aviation Cadet Classes. If you qualify, you begin at $75 a month, with food, quarters, uniforms, medical and dental care provided. Upon successful completion of the 52-week training course, you're commissioned a Second Lieutenant, Air Force Reserve, and assigned to active duty as pilot with the U. S. Air Force at $336 a month to start. You also get an extra $500 for each year of active service. There are many other benefits that make this one of the outstanding opportunities offered to this year's graduating class.

Why not drop in and discuss it?

CAREER WITH A FUTURE U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force

INTERVIEWS WILL BE HELD:
Second Floor YMCA — 11:00 - 3:00
Tuesday, February 10 — Monday, February 16

Quick Service
DURHAM OPTICAL COMPANY
215 W. Main St.
Phone F-2141 Durham

QUALITY FURNISHINGS at E. A. Brown Furniture Co.
Next to City Hall
Phone 6586

INTO HER HEART
with LOVELY FLOWERS
from
Chapel Hill Flower Shop

University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Overcast with snow ending possibly this afternoon.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
Back Fence Boys
Broughton Advocates
Good Words For Rubish

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 96

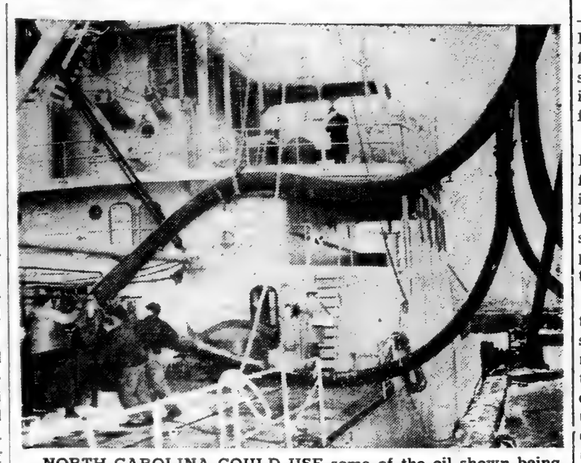
Local Coal-Burners Shiver At Home As Fuel Shortage, New Snowstorm Hit

Seven Inches Snow Falls by Presstime As Mercury Slides

By Chuck Hauser

The fuel shortage struck home yesterday.

As snow began falling, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, cold fraternity-house and private residents of Chapel Hill were on their telephones receiving one negative reply after another as they called Chapel Hill and Durham coal yards to obtain precious fuel.



H. D. Bennett, of Bennett and Blocksidge company, stated yesterday that what was in demand was known as "lump coal," and that that was also what is scarce.

"We got in a new shipment of automatic stoker coal this afternoon," he said, "and we've had some 'steam coal,' but we've been out of the lump coal for two or three days."

The "steam coal" is a variety of mixed sizes, he explained, being made up of large pieces, small pieces, and coal dust, and is suitable only for small, hand-fired furnaces.

Unencouraging reports were also received on the fuel oil situation. According to Bennett, the oil is short, and being doled out carefully to customers.

The Chapel Hill weather bureau didn't sound too hopeful about the prevailing conditions when they were contacted yesterday.

NORTH CAROLINA COULD USE some of the oil shown being unloaded from this U. S. Navy vessel at Staten Island, N. Y. The Navy lent the ship and 2, 730,000 gallons of oil to New York city while the fuel shortage prevails. But North Carolinians still woke up this morning to find that their fuel supply had dwindled to nothing in the face of a new snow and sleet storm. (International)

The temperature, said the weathermen, slowly dropped from 22 degrees at 5 o'clock to 20 degrees at 8:25 and was still sliding as presstime neared.

By midnight the snowfall had exceeded seven inches and the sky was still filled with windblown particles of ice. The snow began at approximately 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, hit the one and one-half inch mark at 5 o'clock, and chalked up four and three-fourths inches to its credit by 8:30.

Cabs stopped running again for the third straight weekend in a row, and bus schedules were discontinued out of the village also for the third time in as many weeks.

No serious automobile accidents or telephone difficulties had been reported by yesterday evening, but the Chapel Hill Police department was keeping a wary eye out for trouble.

Fuel Shortage May Get Worse Before Spring

Washington, D. C., Feb 9—(UP)—Secretary of Interior James A. Krug said today that the nation's fuel shortage may get worse instead of better before the winter is over. "And it's still a long way from being over," he stated.

Krug spoke before the Public Lands committee to give them a fill-in on what the government is doing about finding substitutes for oil. He told the group he will soon give Congress details on his plans for a $9,000,000,000 synthetic fuel program.

At the same time, Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts said that the Commerce Department has told her that it won't okay any more fuel oil exports from the East coast until the present shortage is over. It amounts to a virtual oil embargo.

The latest cold wave to hit the top half of the nation has sent the mercury below zero in widespread areas reaching all the way to the Atlantic seaboard. The town of Acribou, Maine, reported the lowest temperature in the nation—30 below.

However, for some of the people at least there may be a break soon. The weatherman says the storm that's been raging off the Pacific Northwest has brought a wave of warm air moving eastward from the Rockies. It may massage thermometers a bit in Minnesota, upper Wisconsin and Michigan by tomorrow. Whether it will last long enough to affect ponits farther east remains to be seen.

There seems to be a possibility that the atomic age will eventually come to the nation's aid.

Democratic Rep. Frank Havenner of California has brought forth a bill calling on the Atomic Energy commission for advice. The bill would have the commission report to Congress on the chances of building atomic energy plants to furnish stand-by heating supplies.

Norman Thomas Attacks UMT Tonight; Will Appear Before Gatherings Today

Haire Calls Ability Campus Party Guide

Chairman Bob Haire of the Campus party, announcing a party meeting to be held tonight in Graham Memorial, sounded what he said will be the basis of the party's policy during the coming election and campaign.

Richard "Dick" Wofford, junior from Reidsville, has been nominated by the Campus party for the position of head cheerleader in the spring elections. An ex-debater, Wofford is a member of this year's cheerleading squad. He has stated that, if he is elected, he will try to "convert the great Carolina spirit into the kind of noise that heartens the team and helps them win ball games."

Haire, whose party will consider further nominations in the meeting scheduled for tonight, called in his statement for all parties to present only the most qualified candidates to the voters.

He described the two nominations already made by the Campus party as excellent and expressed the hope that his party and all parties will maintain this high caliber in all other nominations. On the Campus party ticket so far are Jess Dedmond (co-nominated with the UP) for student body president and Dick Wofford for head cheerleader.

The regular Tuesday meeting of the Campus party will be held tonight at 7 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge 2 of Graham Memorial.

The text of his statement follows.

"The Campus party, anxious to offer the students the most capable candidates this spring, asks that those men and women who are qualified for a particular office and who are willing to contribute the time and effort necessary to the proper performance of the duties of that office obtain the backing required to elect them.

"For that reason, the Campus party shall seek during this pre-campaign period those persons who have the necessary qualifications and energy.

"We feel that only in that way will our party and all parties on the campus justify their claim to the right to select the students' candidates, and only in that way will those candidates be selected who will make a real contribution to student government at Carolina."

First Appearance To Be Made Before History Class Today

Universal Military Training will be attacked tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall by Socialist Norman Thomas.

Tonight's speech will highlight Thomas' visit to the campus although he is scheduled to speak before classes and informal gatherings throughout the day.

At 10 o'clock this morning he will speak in Gerrard hall on the subject, "U.S. Foreign Policy". Officially, the speech will be made to Prof. Howard K. Beale's history class, however, the public is invited. Dr. Beale will introduce the speaker.

More than 100 tickets are on sale in the Y office and among campus religious and political groups for those who wish to attend the luncheon to be given in Thomas' honor today by the Wesley Foundation of the Methodist church.

Following the luncheon Thomas will make a brief talk and persons attending will be given an opportunity to meet, question and talk with the Socialist party head.

Anyone unable to obtain a ticket may come to the ground floor dining room of the church at 1:30 in time for the speech.

For all members of the Carolina Political Union, sponsors of the visit, there will be a tea this afternoon at the home of Dr. Howard Beale, 741 Gimghoul road at 4 o'clock.

An open reception for the speaker will be held in the main lounge of Graham Memorial immediately following the conclusion of tonight's program.

Thomas, the author of "War: No Profit, No Glory, No Need," has long been a noted agressor for peace. He has led his party and was hailed as "the embodiment of its ideals" after a previous speech in Chapel Hill. Thomas attacked Wilson's intervention before the first World War and twice in previous speeches at the University he criticized Roosevelt's foreign policy and rearmament program.

Melville Broughton Speaks to Law Group In Gerrard Tonight

Former Governor J. Melville Broughton will address the University Law school association in Gerrard hall at 7:30 this evening, according to Bill Friday of Dallas, Texas, president of the student organization.

Mr. Broughton's subject will be "The Lawyer in the Court Room." Donald McCoy, Laurinburg, vice-president of the association, will preside, and Winston Broadfoot, Wilmington, chairman of the speakers committee, will introduce Mr. Broughton.

There will be a Law school faculty supper for the speaker at the Carolina Inn at 6 o'clock, preceding his address.

Besides his political career as leader of the liberal party and its candidate many times for president of the United States, Thomas has been an editor, social worker and pastor. At present he is writing a weekly column for "The Call" and is a frequent participant in radio forums.

Playmaker Show Tryouts Are Set This Afternoon

Public tryouts for the fourth major production of the Carolina Playmakers 30th season will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock and tonight at 7:30 in the Playmaker theater. The play is "Call Back Yesterday" by Gene McLain. Harry Davis, associate director of the Playmakers, will direct the production.

Scripts of the play are available in the reserve room of the library for those who want to study the script before tryouts.

Davis said that almost thirty roles will be cast at today's tryouts, and that some of the roles will be double cast for the present.

"I want to stress," Davis went on, "that the Playmakers is not a closed organization, but that it is a community theater as well as a testing ground for dramatic art students. Any student, faculty member, or town resident who is interested in working with the Playmakers, is cordially invited to tryout."

The play is scheduled to hit the boards on March 10, 11, 12, and 13.

Signing Continues For Y Conference

Registration for the YM-YW inter conference will continue today in the Y building according to Hank Hopkins and Charlie Britt, co-chairmen of the registration committee for the retreat.

To be held at Natural Bridge, Virginia, the weekend of February 20-22, the conference will have as its theme, "A Clue to my Purpose,' and will center its discussions around campus and world problems and their effect upon the student.

Cost of the weekend, which will include recreational features in addition to the discussions, will be $7 in addition to meals. A $2 fee will be collected upon registration and will take care of transportation.

State Gripped Again by Ice As Transportation Paralyzed

Raleigh, Feb 9—(UP)—Another snow and ice storm locked North Carolina in an icy grip again today.

The weather bureau said sleet and freezing rain is predicted in the southeastern portions of the state tomorrow, and snow for the rest of the state. The snow is expected to reach a depth of four to eight inches.

The Southern Bell Telephone Company in Raleigh stated that all phone circuits to Wilmington have snapped again under the crushing weight of the second ice storm in eight days. Freezing rain which began falling at Wilmington early today let up temporarily this afternoon, but the Weather bureau said it will begin again.

The mercury is expected to drop to 15 to 18 degrees tomorrow in Raleigh, with corresponding drops in temperature over the rest of the state, according to the weatherman.

Officials of the State Highway division and the State Highway Patrol have issued their now-familiar warning again.

They stated that snow and sleet is general all over the state and that roads are dangerous. They have advised everyone to stay off the highways except in cases of emergency.

Chief Highway Engineer Vance Baise of Raleigh declared today that some attempts already have been made to clear off the roads near Fayetteville. He said the road-scrapers found ice underneath the snow and reported it was impossible to clean the pavements. Baise said that no attempt will be made to clear the highways until the snow stops falling. He added that there may be exceptions to that rule in a few communities.

Senate Postponed

The Coed Senate meeting scheduled for tonight has been postponed due to bad weather. A special session will be called by Speaker Barbara Cashion for the election of the editor of the Women's handbook.

Cherry on Civil Rights Situation: 'No Comment' Comments R. Gregg

Raleigh. Feb. 9—(UP)—"No comment" is Governor R. Gregg Cherry's comment about the Southern governors civil rights stand, he said here today.

Cherry stated that Governor J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Governor Millard Caldwell of Florida both telephoned him, but that he told them he was not prepared to say anything yet on the Democratic party's civil rights program or the Southern governors' ultimatum to the party.

Cherry explained that he had not yet received copies of the resolution adopted at Wakulla Spring, Florida, last weekend. He said that Caldwell promised to send him a copy.

Cherry added that Thurmond, who is chairman of the committee which will make recommendations for action before the 40-day deadline expires, had promised to write a letter concerning the issue.

The North Carolina governor said that Thurmond didn't ask him to commit himself in any way on the civil rights issue. He sair the South Carolina governor just called to inform him personally that he had been named as a member of the committee. Thurmond didn't even mention any date for a meeting. Cherry explained.

Meanwhile, in Washington, the White House said President Truman was standing firm today on the controversial program which would grant more equality to Negroes.

Democratic Senator James Eastland of Mississippi proposed yesterday that the South withhold her electorial votes from any Democrat who is nominated for the Presidency. Eastland pointed out that this would virtually force the Democrats to pick a candidate acceptable to the South.

"If they don't," said Eastland, "the Democratic nominee will be doomed to defeat.

Snow, Ice Hamper Rescue Airplanes

Wilmington, Feb. 9—(UP)—Rescue planes were hampered by snow and ice in their search today for a missing P-47 fighter plane and its war hero pilot.

The Richmond News-Leader has identified the pilot as Lt. Col. John F. Martin, hero of 200 combat missions in Italy.

The plane in which Martin is believed to have been flying toward Richmond was reported missing in the Atlantic ocean a short distance off Wilmington. A pilot in a companion P-47 says he lost sight of the plane yesterday and then heard the pilot raido that he was "going down."

Air Force officials say the missing plane was due to refuel at Pope field, Fort Bragg, but bad weather interrupted radio contact and the two planes missed the field.

The other plane, whose pilot has not been identified, landed safely at Bluthenthal airport at Wilmington. The pilot was quoted as saying he came in after a quick search for his comrad.

Last night, a B-17 search plane flying nearby and a Coast Guard cutter were unable to find a trace of the P-47.

Martin, unofficially identified as the missing pilot, is a native of Culpeper, Virginia. He won 23 war decorations while on wartime duty as a squadron leader overseas.

Blaze Extinguished By Prompt Action

A small fire was extinguished about 8:30 by the prompt action of the local fire department aided by quick reporting of the blaze.

Confined entirely to a residence believed at press time to be that of Obie Davis, damage was negligible. It included scorching of wall plaster on one side of the house and some damage under the house.

Phi Will Discuss Southern Split

Whether or not the South should bolt the Democratic party will be the main issue for debate by the Philanthropic assembly tonight at 7:30 in Phi hall.

The bill was reported out by the Phi Ways and Means committee in view of recent opposition to President Truman's Civil Rights program by the Southern Governors conference. The conference, which convened in Tampa, Florida, to consider setting up a regional education institution for Negroes, has delivered a 40-day ultimatu mto Truman. The conference has stated that Southern secession from the Democratic party will be inevitable should the president refuse to retract his views on segregation.

A bill which proposes the taxation of church property in North Carolina as a means of additional revenue for the state is also slated to appear before the assembly.

Schedule Changes Can Now Be Made

Students desiring to alter their pre-registered line-up of courses for the spring quarter are reminded the University registration officials are holding a special change period for this during this week.

Arts and Science students affected will consult their advisors before going to Regisration hall, Venable X, to secure the desired changes. The hall is open now from 9 in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon for this purpose. Final date for these alterations, before the regular drop-and-add period at the beginning of the spring quarter, is the afternoon of February 14.

Commerce and General college students will consult their administration offices for instructions in regard to their own special arrangements about these changes.

Graham Detained

Latest word received at South building on Dr. Frank Graham's return to the campus from his overseas mission is that he has been unavoidably detained in Washington and Lake Success with concluding all the work done on his peace-making assignment.

It is supposed that he will arrive in Chapel Hill about the end of the week. In the meantime, Mrs. Graham has left the village to join the University's president in New York city.

Pi Kappa Phi Is Reactivated After Disbandment of 13 Years

Pi Kappa Phi fraternity, which has been disbanded here since 1935, was revived Saturday night in ceremonies at the Carolina Inn.

Disbanded in 1935 because of economic reasons, the local chapter's reorganization came about as the result of the work of students under the leadership of Col. Alex H. Shepherd, a former member and the new group's advisor.

He was assisted by Dr. Will Eddington, national scholarship chairman of Pi Kappa Phi. Aid was also received from the Duke chapter.

At the reactivation banquet held in the Inn ballroom, Theron A. Houser presented the new charter to Leland Close, who was installed as archon. Houser was introduced by Bernie Jones, executive secretary of Pi Kappa Phi. In his speech, Houser stressed the meaning and aims of the fraternity.

In accepting the charter, Close disclosed the immediate purposes of the organization on the campus. Chancellor R. B. House welcomed the fraternity back to the school and explained what was expected of the fraternity and its members and what the members should expect of their fraternity.

Following the welcoming speech, charter members and pledges were recognized by Wesley Gilbert of the Duke chapter who acted as master of ceremonies.

Officers installed at the ceremonies were Clell Bryant, treasurer; Bailey Hobgood, secretary, Leslie Jenkins, historian; Kimmy Thompson, chaplain; Joe Melvin, warden; and Kurt L. Weill, Inter-Fraternity council representative.

Zeta Beta Tau, Battle Dormitory Win March of Dimes 'Free Movie' Contest

Zeta Beta Tau, in the fraternity division, and Battle dormitory, in the men's dormitory division, have been declared winners of the March of Dimes contest by campus chairman Barron Mills.

Each of the members of these two organizations are entitled to attend free the 7 o'clock movie, "Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back," at the Carolina Theater this evening. All that is necessary to gain admittance, according to E. Carrington Smith, theater manager, is "to sign your name on the list as you enter."

In announcing the winners, Mills stated that ZBT with only 23 members collected $40.31 from its membership. Close behind them in the fraternity division was SAE whose members also contributed 100 per cent, but their per capita donations were not as large as ZBT's.

"Charlie MacRae and his helpers in Mangum really did a swell job of reaching the members of their dorm and seeing that each had a chance to make his donation," Mills stated. "In fact, they got 100 per cent counting those members who donated through their fraternity and other sources." Battle collected $18.40 from its 48 residents.

Mills urged that all of the solicitors in the coed dormitories and sorority houses who have not turned in their contributions do so this afternoon in order that the winners of these two divisions may be declared as soon as possible.

"It's hard to tell now just what our final figure for the campus drive will reach," Mills remarked, "but it will be around $1,000."

The Boys at the Back Fence

Politics in the Old North State in the coming fracas promise to become tepid enough to even get to the baby-kissing and elbow-rubbing stage. Big Jim Folsom campaigning, the kind which makes for a neighborly conversation over the back fence, may be quite prevalent this year.

Until the entry of Kerr Scott into the gubernatorial race, it looked like smooth sailing for Charlie Johnson, keeper of the State funds, but Scott, holder of a "well-done" award for his tenure as Secretary of Agriculture, promises to be a match for Johnson.

Scott is a smart politician. Being a public servant for several years, he knows how to get out the votes: foremost is the task of gaining public sentiment. With the machine backing already swinging toward Johnson, Scott knew that he had to hunt elsewhere for his votes. He began in his home county by remarking that if his home folks did not want him to run then there wasn't any need of his taking a pot shot at the governorship and being defeated in his own back yard. Then Scott turned his pockets inside out and showed that they were too bare to even attempt a running on his own—still more sympathy.

Meanwhile the dove came back to the ark bringing the greenery of life from the countryside. The home folks gave him encouragement and he chose to run. But a man in a position of public trust has no business there if he is not going to devote all of his energies there. The peoples of the State nod in agreement.

It may be too late to go out in the fields and get corn shucks to make a home-made scrub-brush, but hill-billy bands can be secured easily enough. And there's still the back fences.

Where are the Democrats?

Now that the Carolina campus can boast of two (at the last count) Young Republican clubs, we believe that the time has come for the organization of an active student Young Democrats club.

Certainly the majority of the undergraduates are of that political leaning, and it is important, particularly in view of the organizations here which boost Communism, Henry Wallace, and Bob Taft, that a vocal campus group be formed to advocate the principles of the Democratic party.

Such a group would afford a voice to those who favor the cause of the little man, the encouragement of free trade, courageous participation in world affairs, a sound tax policy, and, in general, the broad program upon which the Democratic party stands.

The people of the University are in the great majority sensible, mature individuals. They are not represented by the loud, tightly-organized minority of pinks, ultra-radicals, and soreheads of the lunatic fringe nor are they prone to advocate the accumulation of stupendous wealth by the few at the expense of the average American.

We endorse and we believe that they endorse more heartily than they do any vague, impractical, Socialistic theories the principles of freedom and lawful government under the Constitution which are the foundation of the Democratic party.

And yet there are some here who, though quick to affirm their belief in these principles, are lukewarm to the idea of a student organization. To the attention of these few hesitant Democrats, we would like to recommend a convincing pair of facts.

First, although normally inactive during their college years, the products of this University are the men who will control the party in the state. If they do not realize it, the current party leaders do, and if necessary can be persuaded to lend an ear to what the members of a Student Young Democrats club would have to say. Probably, the intelligence and honesty of those who direct the party in the state would make any forcing unnecessary, but the fact remains that such a campus group could be much more than another debating society.

Secondly, Carolina's reputation as an institution of liberal beliefs tempered by practical considerations which is little enhanced by the welter of Wintergreen-for-President clubs and United World Utopia groups would have much to gain from the move.

In fact, the need for a Young Democrats club that is actively at work for the ideals which the party champions, cannot, we believe, long escape the attention of students and student leaders here.

We anticipate the coming of such an organization and repeat that the time has come. —J.S.

Issues Plea for Maturity

Broughton Advocates One Court

By Bob Broughton
Chairman, Student Council

The question as to the efficiency of the Student Council under the present Student Constitution has been batted back and forth by various columnists and others who profess to be authorities on the intricacies of student government until the student body must be thoroughly confused as to the purpose, nature and intent of that student court. It is the purpose of this article to give some insight into the problems that have confronted that body and to clarify some issues regarding its status.

First, I would like to say that no problems, student or otherwise, were ever successfully settled by incurring the enmity and anger of various groups of persons. Provoking anger only leads to endless, irrational and juvenile refutation that tends to discredit rather than enhance the prestige of student government. This, to me, is one of the problems that we must eliminate. Petty bickering, if it has as its goal disgusting the student body has succeeded admirably. Many people have expressed the opinion that student government is really nothing more than a playtoy which the administration has given the students. They also ask why the Daily Tar Heel continues to clutter up its pages with voluminous accounts of legislative quarrels, pro and cons of campus politicians and the like. This same group contends that they are here to receive an education and do not care to be bothered about anything else. At times the view of these people seem, indeed, to have great weight and a supervicial glance about the campus would tend to corroborate their expressions.

But, to me, student government as enjoyed by the students at the University of North Carolina is a rare privilege and one which we should cherish and protect. True, it is, that students do not have absolute finality in all of their decisions, but that does not make student government the playtoy that proponents of that line of thought contend. Without the aid of student government, the job of running the school by the administration would be a hopeless and unsuccessful one. Student government, as well as other organizations, serves as an invaluable training ground for many similar problems that we all face in later life. Let's not tear down what we have built up by creating personal and petty animosities among us. Let's develop more maturity and prudence in our student government. Let's face our problems squarely and with a sense of mature deliberation that is demonstrative of thinking student bodies. Unless we can accomplish these ends, I have grave fears for the future of student government at UNC. It is not my intention to preclude the expression of wholesome differences of opinion on this campus because that is an intrinsic right that we all possess. Such expressions should be encouraged because they are an integral part of democratic systems. But when such opinions are based on false assumptions and prejudice, they do not reflect a desire to understand and solve problems but rather to give vent to these prejudices and show smallness of thought.

In regard to the Student Council, we have a problem that can only be solved by a change in the existing status of that body. I make this statement with some hesitancy because I, along with many others, firmly believe in the basic right of students to appeal. However, for two years we have attempted to make this system work but to no avail. The whole problem centers around the fact that we have two student courts exercising somewhat similar judicial powers. As long as this exists, it is inevitable that friction will develop and prove to be a detriment to the smooth functioning of the two courts. The position of the Men's Council on the appellate power is in many respects understandable. In their present capacity, they are performing an efficient and commendable job. The Men's Council gives each case at hand a thorough and exhaustive study and arrives at a decision only after most careful deliberation. This is as it should be. The difficulty arises when decisions of the Men's Council are reversed by the Student Council. It is difficult for the Men's Council to reconcile a reversal with their careful scrutiny and long hours spent over cases. They fell in such cases that these efforts have been wasted and exercised in vain. The Student Council, on the other hand, in exercising its constitutional prerogative attempts to determine whether or not justice was satisfied by the Men's Council and renders a decision accordingly. Thus, we have the inevitable situation of two courts vying with each other as to what actually constitutes justice. This, to me, is an intolerable situation and must be eradicated.

I have been a member of the Student Council for a year and have striven for a practical solution to this problem under the present set-up. No solution has presented itself and increased antagonism has been the only result. I suggest as the only solution that the student legislature propose an amendment to the constitution calling for one court system to be known as the Student Council, consisting of an equal number of men and women, the women's division to try infraction of campus and honor code concerning women and the men's division performing similar duty with the men. Both divisions, sitting together would decide constitutional matters.

Final appeal of students would rest in a faculty committee. This system would end a stormy two years of student government at Chapel Hill under the existing student constitution.

US Must Give Europe a Lift

By Bob Lindsay

Nearly everybody seems to be in favor of a Marshall plan of some kind. Why don't we write out a check and get it over with?

Well, for one thing, we want to be sure that we advance the Europeans enough help this time. Since the war, we've paid out about $12 billions to help Europe. But it helped them to keep alive and little else. There wasn't enough left over to help rebuild their industry and agriculture and trade.

This time we want to be certain Europe gets enough help. If she doesn't, she won't be able to make her own way. She'll still be dependent on us.

Then, what'll happen if the time comes when we can't scrape up the cash? What happens if Europe, unable to support herself, loses her only means of support?

Then the new Hitlers move in, the men who grow mighty on discontent and desparation.

Liberty is an idea. When there is no evidence that it works, men may doubt that it does work. They pitch in with scoundrels who offer security in exchange for liberty. When a man in a black or a brown or a red shirt says, "Follow me and I will feed you"—hungry men fall in behind him.

If we leave the Europeans to struggle by themselves, we leave them to famine and chaos. We also default to the new Hitlers and Mussolinis. And pretty soon we're back in uniform again.

The whole first year of the Marshall plan will cost us less than we paid for only three weeks of World War II. Surely, that's a small price for peace.

For the first 15 months of the program, Secretary Marshall has asked Congress to make a down payment of a little under $7 billions. Between April 1 of this year and 1952, we'll spend between $15 and $20 billions altogether.

We'll give them the money for the first year or two. After that, the money will be loaned.

They'll do most of the work. We'll give them the extra lift they need to get back into the game.

America is the only country with any wealth left. If we don't use it to help the Europeans help themselves, it'll be worthless.

If we try to keep it in our own pockets, it'll soon buy us nothing but a bigger and better war. If we flip the Europeans just enough for a cup of coffee, sooner or later we still get war.

Let's be sure we spend enough on the Marshall plan to make it work. This may be the world's last chance.

World Federalist Column

An Immediate Necessity

The greatest obstacle in the path of world federalism is not the opposition of those who disagree in principle but rather the indifference of those who, while concurring completely with its tenets, persist in regarding world government as an ideal that can be achieved only in some remote future. There are indeed few who would put themselves forward as being morally or politically opposed to the principle of world government, but unfortunately the great majority of people fall in the category of those who agree but for various reasons chose to do nothing.

The origins of this indifference are probably many. In a small group it results from a political realism and an intellectual cynicism which derives a grim satisfaction from prophesying the end of our civilization. But in the majority of cases it follows perhaps from a very human refusal to accept responsibility; thus by believing in the possibility of world government only in the future, we are able to clear ourselves morally and at the same time shift to our posterity a burden clear thinking and determ action which, by virtue of unique placement in w history, belongs almost wh to us of this generation.

It is the opinion of Federalists that we as a do not appreciate the or the urgency of our dile It is inconceivable that on world is able to evalua inevitable results of our course sort of interna agreement cannot be The immediate program of W Federalists is then to att to bring about a general re tion of the evident fact that alternatives are no longe or war but federation o struction.

Any such program must as its first point of attac indifference which we have considered. A beginning have been made if we can effect a wide realization of ideas: (1) that world govern is neither an idealist's go an optimum system, but the system under which we can dure and (2) that world go ment is not a utopia tow which we must strive thro many generations but a w life whose framework will reared in our time or not at It is the duty of every thin person to aid in the dissemi tion of these ideas now rat than insure their realization a third war in ten or twe years. If the latter should o to pass and a part of the w survive, the resulting c would leave world governme even more inconvievable tha is now.

What's Up in Graham Memorial

There will be no bridge tournament this evening due to the reception for Norman Thomas in the main lounge, beginning at 9:30 . . . This Friday's Rendezvous show, to be staged by Bill Corley, is really gonna be sump'n! —An entire evening in a New Orleans waterfront cabaret . . . But that's only the beginning.

Snow worrying you?—There's a nice cozy fireplace, music for dancing, and refreshments, in the Rendezvous both AFTERNOON and EVENING . . . The "After Dark" album performed by Morton Gould will be played on tonight's dinner music concert.

Cercle Francais

"Le Cercle Francais" will me this evening at 7:30 in ano building Y of Caldwell hall. T program includes a performanc of the Medieval farce, "l Couvrier."

Public Health Convocation

A School of Public Health convocation will be held tomorrow at 3:30 in the Medical school auditorium.

The speaker will be Mr. Robert N. Clark, Chief Public Health Engineer, Tennessee Valley Authority, who will talk on public health engineering in the TVA.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS
1—Browned bread
6—To pursue
11—Hateful
13—To bolt
14—Paid notice
15—Absorbent paper
17—Biblical city
18—Pickpocket (slang)
20—Southeast wind
21—Blackbird
22—To pace
24—Youth
25—Wager
26—Period of time
28—Stringed instruments
30—Mixed up
32—Smell
33—Out of breath
35—Hebrew month
37—To grasp
38—Temporary bed
40—Supplements
42—To incite
43—To trample
45—Resort
46—Behold!
47—Deer skin
49—Pronoun
50—All
52—The "Lily Maid"
54—Serfs
55—Musical instruments

DOWN
1—Hoppers
2—Unusual thing
3—Sloth
4—To weep convulsively
5—Bulrush
6—Third letter of alphabet (pl.)
7—Pronoun
8—Toward
9—Turns to one side
10—Uncanny
12—Spirit
13—Artist's workroom
16—To snare
19—Peeking
21—Hooded jackets
23—To color
25—Positive pole
27—Crimson
29—Town in Oklahoma
31—Official order
33—Carts
34—Female deer
36—To grumble
37—Volcano
39—To seize
41—Satisfies
43—Rocky peaks
44—Kind of pickle
47—To end life
48—No
51—Thoron (symb.)
53—Prefix: not

Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Write Away

Good Words For Mike Rubish

Dear sir:

A Daily Tar Heel columnist by the name of Charlie Long recently wrote a piece entitled, "Rubish: Totally Unqualified."

Long didn't give any logical reasons for his opinion that Rubish is not qualified to run for president of the student body. Long-said, "Being a good football player is an asset only in Kenan stadium and neither a 'T' or single-wing formation will put a piece of legislation thru the legislature."

Does that statement imply that because Mike Rubish is a football player he can't be president? Does it mean that football players are a herd of lugs brought here only to bash their way through four years of college on a football field? Long's statement is merely an old, old form of rationalization: I can't be a football player, but I got brains. However, Long's statement is paradoxically correct. It's true that being a good football player is strictly an asset in Kenan stadium, if you want to keep values strictly intrinsic. And it's true that neither a T or single wing will get legislation passed, again sticking to actual worth. But what gave Long the idea that Rubish intends to use a single wing and foothall prowess to get a law passed?

The stuff that Long puts out is the constant "holler" of those political and journalistic aspirants who would like to attribute the ruggedness and skill of an athlete to stupidity. What a crock!

Listen, it takes as much and a little more out there on that field, as it takes to be a successful college politician. If Long doesn't believe it, he ought to go out for football. No. On second thought, he'd better stick to his column. He might not have that "little more."

And all those "interested people" around here who have decided Rubish is "totally unqualified." They're interested all right. Let me say it again. What a crock! They always expound on their interests over a cup of "old world" coffee.

You've got to have "tact, diplomacy, and a working knowledge of each phase of our governmental system" to be president. Maybe Mike ought to go up to Fordham and prepare himself to ge a future diplomat at Carolina so he could run for president of the student body.

All right. So you've got to be a politician. Let's see proof that Rubish doesn't have the qualifications.

Harry Truman didn't even go to college to learn government. He even busted out of the clothing business. But he learned government. And he's a president.

Jack Fitch does o.k., being a big shot in the Grail, whatever that is. Len Szafaryn got his share of honors, besides being a bone-crushing tackle.

Mike should withdraw? Like hell he should.

Charles Craven

Carolina Carousel

Check The Community Chest

By H. Foo Giduz

Memo to Jack Folger, Speaker, Student Legislature: Last October the Legislature passed a rather ineffectual bill to appoint a committee to investigate the possibilities of setting up a Community Chest on the UNC campus, hopefully by fall of '48 . . . The group was to check with other schools, study the plan, and present a bill on this idea to the Legislature by this spring quarter.

Appointed to the committee Ben Collins (who introduced the measure), Thurman Williams, Stan Cohen, Sue Everett, and Lynn Blanchard. If they did any work at all we've been unable to uncover it; now only one members of that group, Lynn Blanchard, remains in the Legislature.

Believing the Community Chest idea to be the only practical method of collecting funds on the campus (and having overwritten the subject time after time), we request you to reactivate this group, see to it they conform with the intent of the bill as it was passed, and report back with a concrete plan within a month now!—Time is short! Thank you.

And furthermore and incidentally: Chapel Hillians had a Community Chest drive for local projects for the first time in their history last weekend . . . A $7,500 quota for six community projects . . . It was well-organized and expeditiously run-off in

Mid-Winters Dance

Dear Editor,

It has been the policy on the campus for several years now to have a Mid-Winter's Dance. For the most part, the bands brought here were top-rate but several did not live up to expectations. Therefore since we have been unable to sign a nationally known band, why not have one of our own bands to play for at least a similar affair? These campus bands of ours are in their own right far superior to several more well known that have been recruited in the past.

Possibly, along with the dance, a floor show made up of the pick of some of our own student entertainers could be presented at intermission.

To boil the above down, why doesn't someone get hot and cook up a gala affair?

Fred Fussell

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina. Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.

Complete Leased Wire of United Press

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc. 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor

HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr.

SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser

ASST. BUS. MGRS.: Mary W. Sledge, Elon Holden

SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison

NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson.

NIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette.

ASST. CIRC. MGRS.: Randall Hudson, Don Snow

EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, B. Buchan

NEWS STAFF: Raney Stanford, Donald MacDonald, Sally Woodhull, John Stump, Herb Nachman, Charlie Gib Gordon Huffines, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Paul Rothman, Nina Davis, George Roberts, Elaine Patton, Jo Baskerville, Mary Ann Taber, Weddy Thorp, Emily Baker, Miriam Evans, Doris Weaver, Nancy Black, Ho Beam, Daniel Wallace, Sam Whitehall, Helen Highwater.

SPORTS STAFF: Morty Shaap, Dick Jenrette, Bill Kellam, Larry Fox, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Bill Gallaghe Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howe Jr., Lena Campbell, Ed Campbell, Ed Carpenter.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty, Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Willia

Bobbing In Sports

—with—

Bob Goldwater

Things Aren't So Bad

WERE A STRANGER to visit Chapel Hill about this time and happen to overhear some conversation regarding Carolina's basketball fortunes to date, he'd undoubtedly reach the false conclusion that things were sad indeed. And if we hadn't known otherwise, we'd have received the same impression while filing out of Woollen gym last Saturday evening.

Two of the favorite remarks we heard were "The Phantoms sure looked bad, didn't they?", and "Were they lucky!", the "they" in both cases referring to Carolina. And our thoughts both times centered around the use of the word "they" instead of "we." A small thing, maybe, but nevertheless reflecting the idea that the White Phantoms must put up with additional opposition besides that faced on the court.

We don't mean that the local citizenry are opposing the Tar Heel cagers as they are the UMT measure—nothing as drastic as that. But there has been considerable talk to the effect that Carolina just doesn't have a basketball team this year and that without Lady Luck's blessing, the Phantoms wouldn't be winning any games.

Nor are we the only ones to hear these tales. Naturally the boys who do all the work out in the middle of the Woollen gym court get to hear all these stories too. And it certainly hasn't helped their mental state at all to hear reports on how poorly they played even while winning.

A Look at the Record

CERTAINLY A TEAM with a 16-3 record doesn't deserve all the criticism that this year's Carolina club has received. For one thing, the three defeats were inflicted by three of the nation's outstanding teams. NYU and N. C. State are judged to be among the three best in the country at the present time. Temple, the other victor over Carolina, is one of the two teams to hold a decision this season over Kentucky, the third member of Basketball's Big Three of 1948.

The list of Carolina victories, while nothing to put fear in the hearts of future Tar Heel opponents, is still quite creditable. Throw out the five warmup wins, if you want—you still have 11 entries on the black side of the ledger. And these include Tennessee, who's been killing off some of the Southeastern conference leaders; Loyola, a pretty fair team according to eastern basketball standards; Penn, an Ivy league threat, especially after last Saturday's win over Cornell.

We might also mention the victories over the fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh place teams in our own conference, plus the second-place position we occupy ourselves. As long as Carolina remains in the Southern conference, and that looks like a longer time than we'd like to see, such achievements will continue as the yardstick of Carolina basketball fortunes.

That being the case, those that profess to be giving their 100 per cent moral support to the Tar Heel cause could prove that point by simply recognizing the fact that the 1948 team is a pretty good one after all. That shouldn't be too hard to do, considering that there are a lot of other people who don't root for Carolina who think so. Besides, there shouldn't be any kick coming as long as the Phantoms continue to win more than 80 per cent of their ball games and beat Dook in addition.

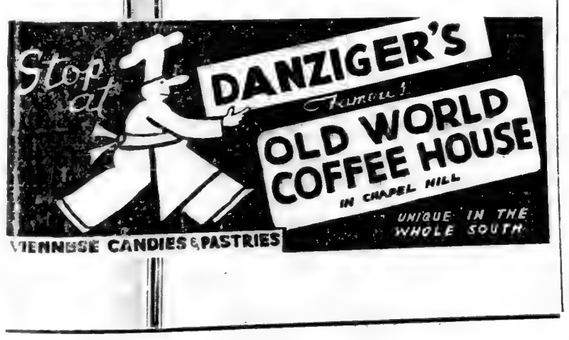
Duke Leftovers

MENTION OF THE Duke victory brings to mind several odds and ends left over from Saturday night. For one thing, a lot of people didn't know that his inability to hit the target wasn't the only thing bothering Bouncing Bob Paxton during the evening. "In fact," stated Coach Tom Scott yesterday, " I don't know how he managed to last all the way. Bob suffered a painful charley-horse two days before the game, even had to miss Friday's practice, but he still turned in a great game under the boards, despite the sore leg. I think it was the best rebound work he's done all year."

"I'll tell you a few more who played a dandy game against Duke," the skipper went on. "Rog Scholbe and Dan Nyimicz did well, and the boys and I were also very pleased with the way the crowd performed—there wasn't any booing. We hope it's the same way when State is here."

Coach Scott had one more word of praise, that being for the managerial staff, the forgotten heroes of all athletic teams. "Stick their names in the paper, they've done a fine job." said the coach. So three cheers apicce for head manager Bill Russell and his two assistants, Bill Spiegel and Jack Parks.

SHORTS IN SPORTS: Maybe this belongs in the classified section, but we'll stick it here anyway—Bob Paxton has announced that he will be available from 3-3:30 every afternoon for free-throw lessons. "Not counting weekends," says Bob . . . Look for Jack Fitch to be using a Baltimore address come next football season . . . Carolina's contribution to the umpire ranks, Frank Murray, will move up to the Piedmont league this year . . . Intramural boxing and snowball-throwing take the spotlight today. Our advice to contestants in both: "Don't forget to duck."



FREE!

ANY INSCRIPTION IN ANY LANGUAGE ON

YOUR VALENTINE CANDY HEART

MAKE IT PERSONAL

MAKE IT DANZIGER'S

Mural Boxing Action Starts Today in Gym

Intramural boxing gets under way today and one quarter of the record 252 entries will see action in the ring on the main floor of Woollen gym.

The largest group of leather-slingers is concentrated in the 155-pound class with the 145-pounders close behind in numbers. The entry list would have been much larger had the intramural managers voted to include an open class in the tournament. This way only boxers without varsity, golden gloves and service experience are allowed to compete.

Mural Schedule

BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 1: SAE 1 vs. Pi Lamb 2; Court 2: KA 1 vs. Kap Sig 2; Court 3: ATO 1 vs. Zeta 3; Court 4: Seiler Five vs Alexander 1; Court 5: BVP 1 vs. Old East; Court 6: Aycock 2 vs. Everett 2; Court 7: Hillers vs. Skyscrapers.

5:00—Court 1: Phi Gam 2 vs. Phi Kap 2; Court 2: PiKA 2 vs. TEP 2; Court 3: Kap Sig 3 vs. Sig Chi 1; Court 4: Lewis 3 vs. Graham 2; Court 5: Blackballs vs. Whitehead 1; Court 6: Comets vs. Grads; Court 7: Graham 1 vs. Wesley Rockets.

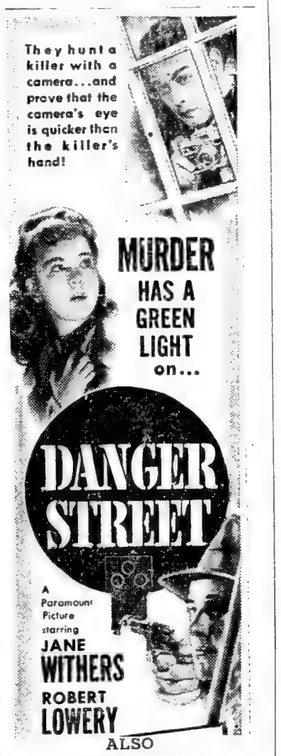
7:00—Court 1: Lewis 1 vs. Field House; Court 2: Geology Dept. vs. Old West; Court 3: Fireballs vs. Hut 26; Court 4: Ruffin 1 vs. Emerson; Court 5: Med School vs. Alexander 2; Court 6: Stacy vs. Mangum; Court 7: Hut 8 vs. Nash.

HANDBALL

4:00—Zeta 2 vs. Phi Delt 2.
5:00—Roaches vs. Ruffin.
7:00—TEP vs. Phi Delt 1.
8:00—Sig Nu 1 vs. Sig Chi 1.

RIFLE FIRING

7:30—Beta (orientation)



BOXING

155 lb. class

4:00—C. Koonce (Kap Sig) vs. W. Lyon (Sig Chi); 4:08—T. Cherry (Chi Phi) vs. D. Griffith (SAE); 4:16—P. Burkes (DKE) vs. D. VanNoppen (Zeta); 4:24—R. Watkin (Phi Delt) vs. B. Breeso (Sig Ep); 4:32—E. Watson (Phi Gam) vs. K. Barnes (Sig Chi); 4:40—I Armstrong (Kap Sig) vs. D. Fleming (Phi Gam); 4:48—R. Boren (Sig Chi) vs. W. Andrews (Phi Delt); 4:56—J. Waldron (Phi Delt) vs. H. Stacy (Phi Gam); 5:04—W. Allen (Chi Phi) vs. W. Rubin (TEP); 5:12—W. Benbrow (SAE) vs. J. Pritchett (Phi Delt); 5:20—B. Raker (Phi Gam) vs. D. Ferebee (Chi Psi); 5:28—V. Pugh (Kap Sig) vs. G. Valentine (Sig Chi); 5:36—G. Johnson (Phi Delt) vs. R. Simmons (Lam Chi) 5:44—P. Robbins (Phi Delt) vs. G. Beal (Kap Sig); 5:52—J. Harris (Phi Gam) vs. J Mead (DKE); 6:00—K. Lewis (Sig Chi) vs. H. DuBose (Chi Phi).

7:00—H. Bristol (Kap Sig) vs. O. Yokley (Beta); 7:08—G. Fitzgibbon (Phi Delt) vs. L. Godwin (PiKA); 7:16—E. Betts (Sig Chi)

(See MURALS, page 4)

W & L Takes 7 Close Decisions to Top UNC, 21-3

Milne Runs Third In Boston Event

Jack Milne turned in the best performance of his track career Saturday night in Boston when he placed third in the BAA two-mile.

Joseph M. Sheehan, in the New York Times, wrote, ". . . Curtis Stone's two-mile time of 9:06.7 at Boston, with Frank Martin doing 9:10.9, Jack Milne 9:11.7, and Tommy Quinn 9:12, which revives hope in this country's Olympic distance running prospects."

Weather Halts Winter Drills

Old man winter and football coach Carl Snavely couldn't get together on weather conditions yesterday afternoon and from the looks of things, won't be able to do so for several more days to come.

Snavely's inter football drills were scheduled to begin yesterday afternoon on outdoor areas, but a well-predicted snow fall put a crimp in this plan and forced the gridmen indoor for some time to come.

But the gray-headed Tar Heel leader is not to be completed shut out, for he plans to go ahead with his workouts, attacking the situation from the pencil and paper point of view. Classroom lectures will be held on a now undetermined schedule to lay the groundwork for the outdoor sessions if and when they can be held.

Mural Results

40 Beta 1	Sig Chi 2 13
25 KA 2	Phi Kap 3 19
PiKa 2 forfeited to Zeta 1
Sig Chi 1 forfeited to Chi Psi 1
16 AEPi	ZBT 13
29 Phi Gam 1	Chi Phi 3 23
61 Chi Psi 2	Kap Psi 1 33
47 Phi Delt	Kap Psi 2 24
10 SAE	St. Anthony 14
37 Phi Gam 2	TEP 2 29
61 Kap Sig 1	Zeta 4 12
42 Lamb Chi	Sig Ep 6
35 ATO 3	Sig Nu 3 14
25 DKE 1	Phi Kap 2 24
SAE 2 forfeited to Delta Sig
Sig Chi forfeited to Beta 2
27 PiKA 1	Phi Delt Chi 13
31 Phi Gam 3	Chi Phi 1 2
34 Phi Kap 1	Phi Delt 2 12
KA 3 forfeited to ATO 2
Beta 3 forfeited to PiKA 3
43 Zeta 2	Pi Lamb 1 23
28 Sig Nu 2	Kap Sig 3 25
18 Everett 1	Graham 2 13
33 Unknowns	Cruds 25

Monogram Meeting

The Monogram club will hold a meeting tonight at 7:30 in 304 Woollen, it was announced by President Bill Pritchard.

Twenty-seven new members who won letters in football, soccer, and cross-country will be initiated. Coach Bob Fetzer will make the address to the incoming members.

Cagers Rest After Tough Tilts; Prepare For Weekend Road Trip

Scottmen Will Face William and Mary, Maryland on Fourth Northern Jaunt

The schedule gives Carolina's White Phantoms a chance to rest up this week after two rough games with State college and Duke last week. Coach Tom Scott's boys won't see action until Friday night, when they meet the University of Maryland at College Park.

After the Maryland contest, the Phantoms will head back southward, stopping off at Williamsburg, Va., on Saturday night to meet William and Mary. Both the Maryland and William and Mary games are conference affairs, and the Phantoms will be slight favorites in both tests.

Last week's results saw the Phantoms drop from their perch at the head of the conference into second place. N. C. State amazed Southern sports experts by running roughshod over Carolina for an 81-42 victory. State now has 6-0 and Carolina has 8-1 in the loop contest won-lost column.

The Silver Lining

Despite the downfall against State, there was a bright spot in the week's proceedings. Duke, the perinnial Carolina rival, fell before the Phantoms, 48-42, thus furthering the athletic success that Carolina teams have enjoyed against the Blue Devils in recent years. The game didn't provide too much in the way of great playing, but the action was fairly close for most of the evening

The Phantoms resumed drills in Woollen gym yesterday, and Coach Scott announced that the workouts would continue until Thursday, the day on which the team will depart for Maryland. The trip will be made by train.

The meeting between Maryland and Carolina will be the second of the season between the two teams. The Phantoms won rather handily in the opener here.

Lose Star Guard

A bulletin from College Park (See CAGERS, page 4)

	W	L	Pct.
N. C. State	6	0	1.000
North Carolina	8	1	.889
G. Washington	10	3	.769
South Carolina	7	3	.700
Maryland	6	3	.667
Duke	5	3	.625
Wake Forest	4	4	.500
Citadel	4	4	.500
W. and Lee	4	4	.500
Davidson	5	5	.500
W. and Mary	5	6	.455
VPI	3	5	.375
Richmond	2	4	.333
Furman	2	8	.200
Clemson	1	11	.083
VMI	0	8	.000

Jamerson Praises Dolphins' VPI Showing; Saturday's Twin Bill To See New Lineups

An early departure from Blacksburg immediately after Saturday's meet brought Carolina's Blue Dolphins back to Chapel Hill safe and sound before the blizzards set in around this area.

Coach Dick Jamerson was well pleased with the general performance turned in by his charges against the Gobblers and he singled out several members of the squad for especial praise. Bob Hutton and Ike Norwood turned in good times in the 220 and 440, respectively, while Gil Beam's intercollegiate diving debut was also commended by the Carolina mentor.

The Dolphins will spend this week prepping for their double test on Saturday that will find half of the team in Charlottesville, Virginia, splashing it out with the chlorinical Cavaliers and the rest of the squad meeting George Washington University in Bowman Gray Pool.

Jamerson disclosed yesterday that he will keep the members of the medley relay team here to try to set a new Southern conference record in the triple feature event. Floyd Drew will also stay home to try to set a new loop mark in the 50 while other Dolphins will be churning for the 100 freestyle and 150 backstroke records.

Dick Twining will make the trip to meet the Wahoos where he'll run into some top flight competition from Williams of the Cavaliers. Both will compete in the 220 and 440.

Another lineup change in the Cavalier clash will find Mike Morrow performing in the sprints instead of in his customary 440 endurance role. Jim Mericka will probably switch from the 440 relay to the 220 while freshman Tom Dosher, who looked like a miniature Twining in the jayvee meet Saturday, may possibly start in the 400 relay against the Cavaliers by virtue of his stellar weekend performance.

Pi Phis, Town Tangle Tonight

When the Pi Phi-Town cage contest draws to a close tonight, one of the two sextettes will be in a first-place tie with the undefeated Chi Omega basketteers.

Both teams enter this crucial contest with indentical records of three wins and no losses. Tonight's game will be the final tilt for both squads.

Tri Delt and Carr will meet in the nightcap of the doubleheader which starts at 7:15, 15 minutes after hostilities commence in the initial fracas.

If the Carr cagers win they will move up into seventh place. The Tri Delts can also move into that position with a victory. The winner of the feature contest will be assured of a place in the playoffs.

At present Chi Omega is leading the league with a spotless four and nothing record

Bill Kemp Gains Carolina Points

By Buddy Vaden

Lexington, Va., Feb. 9—Carolina's grapplers made the mistake of counting seven out of eight bad eggs before they hatched here tonight in Doremus Gym and consequently Washington and Lee University's dark horse matmen squeezed past the Tar Heels in seven of eight bouts to swamp the Carolinians, 21-3.

The Tar Heel grunt and groaners had expected to rack up their third straight Southern Conference win of the year here tonight but Harry Broadbent's charges had other plans as they won their fifth out of six matches and handed the Pale Blue and White grapplers their second setback in four outings.

Bill Kemps Averts Shutout

Captain Bill Kemp saved the Chapel Hillians from a shutout by decisioning the Generals' Bill Metzel in the heavyweight bout, 6-4. Prior to this event, the hosts had piled up a 21-0 lead by taking seven hotly contested bouts by close decisions.

The Carolina's captain's youthful brother, Bill, lost his first match of the season when Ken Finley edged him 6-4 by gaining a time advantage in the final round.

In another thriller, Joe Scone nosed out Carolina's Tom Urquhart in the closest bout of the match, 2-1. The General grappler started the match with an illegal headgear and was forced to remove it early in the first round. After this until late in the final round, both men battled evenly. However, 20 seconds before the bout's close, Scone pulled a switch to get two points and the bout

Cupton Edged

In the 165 pound event, Ken Lindell of W & L slipped by Oscar Cupton, 3-2, in a closely contested event. There was no time advantage involved in this bout.

The Summary:

121—Guest (W&L) decisioned Wilson (NC), 6-0.

(See WRESTLING, page 4)

Fraternity Work a Specialty

Charles Valentine's Cabinet Shop

FURNITURE
REPAIRED
REFURNISHED
UPHOLSTERED
MADE-TO-ORDER

PHONE 9367 — PITTSBORO RD.

TWO BLOCKS WEST OF CITY HALL

You'll Find A Solution To All Laundry Problems

HELPY-SELFY

AUTOMATIC LAUNDRY

Bendix Machines

W. Rosemary St.

This Record Goes Hum-hum-humming Along!

It's JEAN SABLON'S...

"A TUNE for HUMMING"

(RCA Victor)

IN ENGLISH or French, his singing is terrific! His fans range from bobby-soxers to the lavender-and-old-lace set.

Why, he even lights his Camels with a Continental charm. Takes a leisurely puff and says: "Great!"

Yes, Jean, and millions of smokers agree with you about Camels. More people are smoking Camels than ever before!

Try Camels! Discover for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience"!

And here's another great record—

More people are smoking CAMELS than ever before!

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. Winston-Salem, N. C.

Local Ministers Form Anti-UMT Bloc

Chapel Hill Men On Record Against Training Program

By John Stump

Chapel Hill ministers appeared yesterday to be forming a solid bloc in opposition to the Universal Military Training bill (H. R. 4278) now being considered in Congress.

Statements obtained through solicitation by the local anti-UMT committee and released yesterday put four of the local clerics on record against the bill. They are Rev. David W. Yates (Episcopalian), Rev Henery G. Ruark (Methodist), Rev. J. C. Herrin (Baptist), and Director J. Robert Nelson of the Wesley foundation (Methodist).

The anti-UMT committee, which describes itself as a committee at large composed of interested released a statement from Rev. Munger of the Congregational church in which Munger recorded his opposition to the bill.

The Presbyterian minister was out of town, while the pastor of the local Roman Catholic parish and the Lutheran minister declined to comment. Leaders of other denominations here could not be reached late yesterday.

Reverend Yates said, "Universal Military Training is unnecessary and ineffective and would be injurious to our young men, our democracy, and to world peace."

Reverend Ruark opposed it because he believed it to be "one step, and perhaps a decisive one, in an un-Christian and disastrous International policy". His colleague Reverend Nelson condemned it with a release in which he quoted the statement "Man cannot attain Peace by preparing for war."

The remark given out by the Reverend Herrin were more lengthy than the others. His reasoning was that the money spent on UMT which he chose to call a "futile, wasteful, un-Christian, and inadequate system of Universal Military Training" could be much better used on good works. His conception of the solution to the problem which UMT attempts to answer was an international police force."

Commodity Markets See-Sawing

By Joan Marble
United Press Correspondent

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9—It was "Operation Sea-Saw" today on the nations commodity markets.

Grain prices, which plunged downward last week, made a slight comeback today.

A second group of commodities, cattle and hogs, hit the toboggan slide. By the day's end, meat prices had suffered their biggest break in many months.

The price of hogs slumped from one to three dollars per hundred pounds in the big livestock terminals. Heavy steers were selling for two and three dollars lower. The demand for cattle was so light that whole pens of cattle remained unsold throughout the day.

The Agriculture Department believes prices dropped because the retail demand for meat has slackened a good bit in the last three weeks.

Another reason, according to market experts, may be last week's drop in grain prices. The experts explain that farmers apparently have become jittery over the grain situation and want to sell their animals before prices drop further.

While meat prices went down, grains went in the other direction—but not very far, to be sure. Wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade closed five to seven cents higher. Corn also was up, and oats were two to four cents higher. Minneapolis and Kansas City wheat followed the upward trend. It's the first time in four trading days that grains have made a real effort to rally.

Reflection Seen

These fluctuations in commodity prices are beginning to reflect in retail stores. A Midwest grocery chain announces that it is cutting the price of bacon to 57 cents a pound. It also has cut lard six cents a pound, and flour ten cents for every twenty-five pound bag.

A spokesman for the chain says the cuts are definitely a result of the tumbling commodity prices.

Price tags are being cut in other parts of the country. Steak has dropped 13 cents a pound in some New York and New Jersey meat stores. Bacon is selling around ten cents cheaper.

Meanwhile, a congressional committee has decided to investigate the grain price tumble.

Full Inquiry

Chairman August Andresen announces that his special House committee will make a full inquiry into the market break. It wants to expose anyone with so-called "inside-information" who may have cleaned up on the falling markets.

The committee chairman says he'll ask Secretary of Agriculture Anderson to explain his reported statement that word of the Agriculture Department's grain buying has "leaked out."

The Congressman claims this so-called "leak" caused a lot of insiders to sell short. However, the Agriculture Secretary now denies there was any leak on Department buying.

Anderson is also embroiled in a fight with the Chicago Board of Trade over margin requirements. The Board wired President Truman last Friday that it's considering reducing the amount of cash which a trader must put up when he buys commodities. Anderson has telegraphed the Board he's definitely opposed to cutting the margin requirement. He says it would simply tend to increase speculation.

AVC To Meet Tonight; Will Discuss Housing

The American Veterans committee will hold its next meeting at 6:30 tonight in the Presbyterian church. The meeting has been moved up one hour in order that members of the local chapter may hear the address by Norman Thomas.

The principle item to be discussed will be the Taft-Ellender-Wagner Housing bill. Old business remaining on the calendar will also be taken up.

The meeting will be open to the general public.

-Cagers-

the home of the Maryland school, announced yesterday that Bill Wanish, star guard, had quit the team. Wanish was the club's high scorer thus far, with 169 points in 15 games. The Old Liners have a 6-3 record in conference play.

William and Mary doesn't have quite as good a loop record as have the Marylanders. The Indians have five wins and six losses in the conference and need a win over Carolina in order to stay in the running for the conference tournament. Duke beat the Indians, 46-39, last week in Williamsburg.

Carolina has just one more home game—against State here on February 21. As a halftime feature to that contest, Frank Murray's Carolina midget outfit is seeking a game with some midget team from Raleigh. The local juniors tied the Durham Coop team, 8-8, in a preliminary to the Duke-Carolina game.

-Murals-

vs. H. Dowdy (KA); 7:24—J. Moss (Kap Sig) vs. M. Little (Sig Chi); 7:32—W. Smith (Phi Delt) vs. B. Peeples (SAE); 7:40—B. House (Zeta) vs. H. Oliver (Kap Sig); 7:48—L. Jones (Sig Nu) vs. B. Merritt (Phi Gam); 7:56—E. Holmes (Beta) vs. C. Lodermilk (Chi Psi); 8:04—W. Dunbar (Sig Chi) vs. D. McLeod (Phi Delt).

Heavyweight

8:12—M. Roberts (Beta) vs. J. Brown (DKE); 8:20—L. Martin (KA) vs. A. Manning (Phi Delt).

135 lb. class

8:28—W. Isaacs (Phi Delt) vs. H. Davis (Chi Phi); 8:36—T. Wright (DKE) vs. B. Wilson (ATO); 8:44—T. Vestal (Phi Delt) vs. T. Leonard (Sig Chi); 8:52—B. Hedrick (Phi Gam) vs. J. Williams (PiKA); 9:00—T. Wharton (KA) vs. S. Larkin (Kap Sig).

-Wrestling-

128—Lonergan (W&L) decisioned Thompson (NC), 4-0.

136—Scone (W&L) decisioned Urquhart (NC), 2-1.

145—Finley (W&L) decisioned Kemp (NC), 6-4.

155—Wicknick (W&L) decisioned Fisher (NC), 5-2.

165—Lindell (W&L) decisioned Gupton (NC), 3-2.

175—Mahoney (W&L) decisioned Bluethenthal (NC), 8-3.

Hwt.—B. Kemp (NC) decisioned Metzel (W&L), 6-4.

-Carousel-

(Continued from page 2)

THREE HOURS Sunday afternoon . . . Though final tallies will not be reported until tomorrow it looks as though they went way over the top! . . . Why not on th campus?

Looks as though My Man Melton will have puh-lenty of company in the Independents race (Remember him: the next editor of DTH and chairman of the publications board!) . . . Latest presidential race rumors have Dickie Manning, Charlie Hodgson, and "Spotlight" Long running. (The latter rumor is probably pure "Rub(b)ish." but, as Jas. Wallace politically said last year, "There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip!" . . . Revisiting the old scene last weekend, SParkplug of '46-'47 Chuck Heath commented that things politic looked like they were about ready for the annual split.—He was remembering the Campus party Ceaserian operation from the SP last winter . . . If Chuck's chidings had any founding, they were probably explosively brought out at last night's SP session.

Parting word to the wise: if you're the kind who doesn't lik politician's speeches of windy assertions on national affairs, DON'T MISS NORMAN THOMAS' SPEECH TONIGHT! . . . Don't miss it anyhow . . . You won't be sorry.

Lisle Representative Will Arrive Tomorrow

Miss Rebecca Helm, representing the Lisle fellowship, will be on campus tomorrow afternoon and evening to interview students who are interested in attending the Lisle camps this summer. The Lisle fellowship is an experiment in inter-cultural living, and for many summers has conducted camps for students, one in New York State and one in Colorado.

Any students desiring an interview with Miss Helm are requested to phone the Wesley foundation office, 6287.

Also visiting the campus tomorrow will be Rev. M. O. Williams, personnel director of the Methodist board of Foreign Missions. Persons who may be candidates for missionary service may arrange interviews with him through the same office.

Perry To Speak On Child Development

Dr. W. D. Perry, the director of the testing bureau of the Education department, will speak on "Growth and Development of Young Children" at a Carolina Dames club meeting at 8 o'clock tonight.

A question and answer period will follow the address, to be given in Roland Parker lounges, Graham Memorial.

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

Consumers Guide — HARRY'S ! ! !

Campus Calendar

2:00 p.m.—Legislature Committee on Constitutional Amendments, Grail room.
4:00 p.m.—Campus Party, Horace Williams lounge.
5:00 p.m.—Women's Glee club, Hill hall.
6:30 p.m.—Recorded dinner music, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
6:30 p.m.—American Veterans Committee, Presbyterian church.
7:00 p.m.—Coed Senate, Horace Williams lounge.
7:00 p.m.—Board of Elections, Roland Parker lounge No. 1.
7:00 p.m.—Sigma Kappa Epsilon, Grail room.
7:00 p.m.—WSSF evaluation meeting, LW office.
7:30 p.m.—Phi Assembly, Phi hall.
7:30 p.m.—Carolina Dames club, Roland Parker lounges 1,2.
7:30 p.m.—J. M. Broughton will speak on "The Lawyer in the Court Room," Gerrard hall.
7:30 p.m.—Ilya Bolotowsky will speak on "Modern Art," Person hall.
7:45 p.m.—AVC open house for the ADPi sorority, Vets' club.
8:00 p.m.—Norman Thomas, Memorial hall.
8:00 p.m.—Aquinas club, second floor of the Y.
9:00 p.m.—Alpha Epsilon Delta, Grail room.
9:30 p.m.—Reception for Norman Thomas, main lounge of Graham Memorial.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6bb

1933 FORD CONVERTABLE, NEW motor, good tires, and top, new complete overhall, clean car, good heater. (1-C1773-1)

HELP WANTED—Male 8B

PART TIME SALESMAN WANTED to sell Easy Whirldry Table Washer in Victory Village after school hours. Ogburn Furniture Co., West Franklin Street. (ch 1x1)

LOST 12

KEY CHAIN FRIDAY MORNING ON first floor Murphey. Miniature North Carolina 1947 automobile tag 184-966 attached. Please return to 108 Murphey. Reward. 1-1771-1

RED PLASTIC KIT WITH BRUSHES, Lipstick, etc. Please bring to Y office. 1-1770-1

SERVICES OFFERED 19

COMPLETE MODERN RADIO APpliance service shop now open and ready to serve you. We call for, deliver. Johnson-Strowd-Ward Furniture, 422 W. Franklin. Telephone F-3491. (ch 1x1)

WANTED 24

RIDE TO DUKE HOSPITAL OR DURham for 9 to 5 job. Share expenses. Contact Mrs. Gene Byrd, General Delivery, Chapel Hill. (1-1763-1)

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

BALDWIN'S Marine Room Durham
Breakfast 7:45—10:30
Luncheon 11:00—2:30
Tea Hours 2:30—5:30
Dinner 5:00—8:00
Mrs. Jennie S. Thurston
Phone 9493

RECORDS
MEL TORME'S
Sensational Rendition of
"I Cover the Waterfront"
12-inch record
Ab's Intimate Bookshop

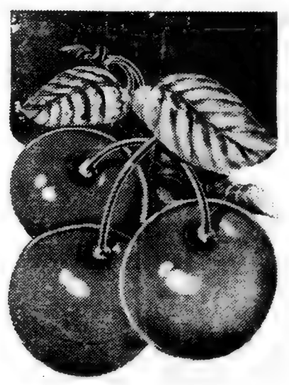
Tuxedo Junction
—for—
TUXEDO RENTALS & SALES
Alterations Free
601 E. Trinity Avenue
DURHAM, N. C.
Phone J-1373

A BRAND NEW WAY TO SAY "I Love You"
GIVE-A-BOOK CERTIFICATE
AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS ASSOCIATION MEMBER
GIVE-A-BOOK CERTIFICATE
THE NEWEST AND MOST THOUGHTFUL WAY TO EXPRESS THE ASE-OLD SENTIMENT OF VALENTINE'S DAY. LET GIVE-A-BOOK CERTIFICATES SPEED YOUR MESSAGE OF LOVE ACROSS A CITY OR A CONTINENT
Just come in and ask for a Valentine's Day GIVE-A-BOOK CERTIFICATE
Bull's Head Bookshop
University Library

ANOTHER SHIPMENT
Easy Whirldry Table Washers
• Just the thing for washing and drying clothes in bad weather.
• Washes and damp dries your clothes in the same tub.
• You do not have to touch your clothes once you place them in the EASY WHIRLDRY WASHER.
• Your clothes cleaned and ready to iron in a matter of a few minutes.
$59.95
A small down payment and monthly installments can be arranged.
Telephone us for free demonstration and delivery
Ogburn Furniture Company
Chapel Hill

sending Valentines is always such fun!
cards of every size—shape — color — for every friend. Our stock is sure to please—but come in NOW to make your selection.
LEDBETTER-PICKARD
"College Stationer"

2:30
PHILCO RADIOS
Sales and Repairs
Ogburn Furniture Co.
312-314 W. Franklin
Phone 5841



ALSO TODAY COLOR CARTOON
CAROLINA

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Durham's newest and best pawn shop
Larger Loans on Anything of Value
We appreciate your business
LOCATED 400 W. MAIN ST. AT FIVE POINTS

Carolina Sport Shop
PRESENTS

GOLF BALLS AND CLUBS
SPORT SHIRTS AND SLACKS
SPORTING BOOKS
HANDPAINTED BOWLS AND TRAYS
RADIOS AND RECORDS
U.N.C. BLANKETS
Carolina Sport Shop

Our Special Flavor for February

BLACK SWEET CHERRY ICE CREAM
Delicious, large black sweet American Beauty cherries that are preserved in syrup and honey and mixed with our rich, creamy, smooth ice cream. You will like this flavor!
Other Delicious Flavors from Which to Choose
Our Special Valentine Feature—Ice Cream in Molds and Stencils
Call for our Dairyland Ice Cream at our Chapel Hill-Carrboro Dealers and at our Retail Store
Farmers Dairy Cooperative, Inc.
Tel. F-414

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Cloudy and not so cold; possible sleet or snow.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIAL
Death Smoke
Pink Robertson
Harry Vaughan

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 97

Disarmament Only Hope Of World, Says Thomas

PLUMMETING TOWARD THE WATER 247 feet below the Golden Gate Bridge is stunt man Dusty Rhodes. Clad in a rubber diving suit and equipped with three parachutes, he died in the leap after two of the chutes failed to open. Bridge guards who tried to restrain him were unsuccessful. (International)

Sper Is SP Cheerleader Candidate

Nominee Presents Five-Point Plan To Improve Cheers

Norman Sper, (pronounced "Spear"), sophomore from Hollywood, California, yesterday accepted the Student party nomination as candidate for head cheerleader in spring elections.

The nomination was made at the Monday night SP session which also included nomination of Mike Rubish, junior of Weirton, West Virginia, and Hurshell Keener, freshman of Lenoir, to fill the recent dormitory vacancies in the Student Legislature.

Platform Announced

Announcing a platform which he hopes will be instigated whether or not he is elected, Sper said he wants student backing of teams to reach a new high this fall.

A transfer from UCLA, Sper has offered a plan to initiate card stunts, trick formation of letters and figures by individuals holding cards. He plans an amplifier for games, with recordings of college songs to be played on Fridays and Saturdays; encourages wearing of school colors and learning new and better cheers.

"My plan has been passed by Mr. Crook, Coach Fetzer, the University club and the Monogram club, and will be advanced to the C.A.A. in the meeting tonight," Sper said yesterday.

The new candidate transferred from UCLA in January of last year. Since then he has been a members of the Blue Dolphins varsity swimming team. He holds the title of senior national 3-and-10-meter board diving champion. This summer he hopes to go to London to compete in Olympic diving meets.

Swaim, Warriner Given SP Posts; Long Quits Party

By Donald MacDonald

Student party office vacancies created by the resignations of Bill Jernigan from the vice-chairmanship and John Gaskin, from the office of treasurer, were filled Monday night by the election of Bill Swaim, of Winston Salem, and Dortch Warriner, of Lawrenceville, Va., to the respective offices.

Resignations of Jernigan, a senior of Louisburg, and Gaskin, a junior of Albemarle, were only from party offices. But at the same meeting, one-time party chairman Charles Long, junior of Thomasville, resigned entirely from the party.

Jernigan said he was forced to resign from office because of "an overload of extra-curricular activities," while Gaskin reported his resignation was because of "scholastic difficulties." Long did not care to give reasons for his withdrawal from the party for publication at this time.

Erstwhile Chairman Long resigned from his office on January 8 to become editorial columnist for the Daily Tar Heel and to devote more time to his duties as Dialectic senate president. He was succeeded by the present chairman, Gran Childress, of Chapel Hill.

Other business at the spirited meeting was the appointment of a platform committee by Chairman Childress. The following members will comprise the committee: Martha Aiken, Wilbur McFarland, Bill Mackie, Hurshell Keener and Al Lowenstein.

The meeting began at 9 o'clock in Roland Parker lounges. Next regularly scheduled party meeting is set for Monday at 9 o'clock, with an executive session meeting earlier at 7 o'clock.

Eller to Attend Presidents' Meet At Georgia Tech

Tom Eller, president of the student body, announced yesterday that he will attend the second conference of the Southern association of Student Presidents on March 5 and 6 at Georgia Tech in Atlanta.

The first conference was held at the University of Tennessee in the fall of 1946. The purpose of the conventions is to exchange ideas and information on various aspects of student life in the South.

The conference, which will set up headquarters in the Tech Y MCA is being sponsored by the Student council there.

Informal discussion sessions will be held on such topics as how to make student government more effective, how to embrace a larger part of the student body in extracurricular activities, and the activities and potentialities of the National Students association.

The entire conference schedules three discussion sessions over Friday and Saturday, plus two luncheons, a welcome to Georgia Tech president Van Leer, a business session for election of officers and choosing next year's meeting place, a banquet and two dances.

Socialist Leader Presents Two Plans: Peace Through Fear, World Control

By Mary Ann Taber

"There is no hope other than disarmament in the age of airplanes swifter than sound, of rockets and radar-guided missles, and of bacteriological warfare," Norman Thomas told students last night in his speech opposing Universal Military Training.

He also told the large gathering that packed Memorial hall in spite of the snow that, "There will scarcely be victors in an atomic war. Democracy or any decent civilization will not be among the survivors."

Avert World War III

The whole hope of mankind, Thomas began, depends upon averting a third world war. He cautioned that we have no time to lose in adopting one of two plans.

First solution Thomas brought out is peace out of fear; the other peace through world government. In choosing the latter plan of action, many things such as the Marshall plan will help and universal disarmament is essential, he said.

At present, Thomas pointed out, preparing for the next war is costing the American people a large percentage of their budget. This could be responsible for the inflationary trend in our economy and probably would result in a new depression, he added.

Enough Advantages

Considering the disadvantage of the huge cost, Thomas presented the question of whether or not the advantages of Universal Military Training are enough to make it desirable.

No man will be added to our servicable army, he said. Its military advantage will be of little use and as to the national security against an attack which must come from the air, it is worse than useless.

Past history of peacetime military conscription in Europe under the totalitarian regimes proved nothing in its favor, Thomas argues. It has prevented no wars nor guaranteed any victory, he went on.

In closing, he emphasized the danger of the trend toward militarism in this country. However large an army we might mass would not frighten Stalin who could always have a larger one.

On the other hand, Thomas added, "A mighty American appeal for disarmament could reach the hearts of all peoples. Eventually men and nations might agree that no ideology or interest can win a victory in a universal graveyard."

Thomas to Stay Here During Day To Give Speeches

Due to bad weather, Norman Thomas, slated to open his day of speech making in Chapel Hill yesterday with a talk to Dr. Beale's history class in Gerrard hall, was unable to be present for the 10 o'clock engagement or for the luncheon in his honor at the Methodist church, but he will be on campus today.

In spite of road conditions Thomas was met later in the day by members of the CPU and the "Y" and driven to Chapel Hill. More than 50 members of the Union, Dr. Beale's history class, and faculty guests gathered at Dr. Beale's home yesterday afternoon for tea. For over two hours the Socialist leader talked informally with the guests.

Because of his late arrival Thomas plans to stay over and will not leave until this afternoon. As previously planned, he will speak at 10 o'clock in Gerrard hall to Dr. Beale's history class on "U. S. Foreign Policy" with the public invited. The speech which he had planned to give at the luncheon yesterday he will deliver at Gerrard hall at 1 o'clock. The topic of the 1 o'clock speech will be "Forces at Work in the World Today."

Great numbers of students flocked to Graham Memorial after the program at Memorial hall last night to talk informally with the noted speaker. Thomas has gained a reputation as a skillful question answerer on past visits here and his plans to stay over in Chapel Hill today should give more students a chance to get to know the national figure.

On his departure from the University, Thomas will go to Lynchburg, Va., where he will address a student conference at Randolph Macon Women's college on Thursday.

Total Shows 10-Inch Snow Hit Hill

A total of 10 inches of snow was the final measurement made here yesterday by M. D. Saunders, filter plant superintendent.

Saunders said that the snowfall began between 12 noon and 1 o'clock Monday and fell constantly for approximately 16 hours ending yesterday morning at 5:30.

Police reported several minor accidents during the storm with damage practically negligible. Only one, a collision at the intersection of Cameron avenue and Raleigh road, caused any appreciable damage.

The infirmary reported yesterday that no injuries had been admitted as a result of the snow.

Highest temperature yesterday was recorded at 32 degrees, low was 16 degrees.

Hour of Intramural Debate Tournament Changed to 7 o'Clock Tomorrow Night

Set originally to begin at 3 o'clock tomorrow, the first round of the Intramural Debate tournament has now been postponed until 7 o'clock tomorrow night, Earl Fitzgerald, Debate council president, made the announcement yesterday.

First debates will begin at 7 o'clock, second debate at 8 o'clock, and third debates at 9 o'clock in places designated in the Sunday edition of this newspaper.

Fitzgerald said the move has been made to eliminate the necessity of class excuses. Several participants, who would have previously been required to check with Dean E. L. Mackie, will not be required to do so.

Question for the debate tournament is "Resolved: That the Congress should establish Universal Military Training." Five-page briefs of the UMT Bill as introduced in Congress have been prepared by Charles Long and Merle Stevens. These, according to Fitzgerald, are available in the Graham Memorial office to all tournament entrants.

Officials will be present Thursday night on the first floors of Saunders and Caldwell halls, and participants are directed to ask them any questions about organization. In the event a team fails to appear at the designated room, the team there is responsible for reporting such a fact immediately to the official in charge. Pete Gerns is in charge of the Caldwell debates, and Jim Taylor will officiate at those held in Saunders.

Space does not allow a reprint of debate entrants, but Fitzgerald urges all debaters to check the story in Sunday's newspaper.

'Sweep It Clean' Tryouts Tomorrow

Tryouts for the original musical-comedy "Sweep It Clean" will be held in Memorial hall at 4:30 tomorrow afternoon. The new musical, with book and lyrics by Bob Barr and Louise Myers, and music by Frank Groseclose, is backed by Playmaker talent with profits dedicated to the Koch Memorial fund.

Feeling the need for new musicals on campus of near-professional calibre, the Playmaker group under the directorship of Marty Jacobs, aims at entertainment up to standards of other theater-minded campuses. "Sweep It Clean" is plotted with timely significance of election campaigning and is sparked with fourteen original songs.

University Drama Will Be On Radio

"The Thing in the Desert," a dramatization by Robert Schenkkan of the University radio staff, will be presented over "Thirty-Three by Air" this evening from 8:30 to 8:55. The show is being produced by Robert Rolnik with Bill Sklarsky as assistant.

"The Thing in the Desert" is the story of the excitement of the entire world caused by the discovery of a strange, unknown object in the desert. The cast includes Bob Epstein, John Ehle, John Clayton, Bob Gutknecht, Bob DeBarbelaben, Nat White, and Bob Andrew as announcer. Sound is by George Holloway, Elsie Craig, and Babe Hooks.

NO COALITION

The Coalition council will not meet today, according to an announcement yesterday by Tom Eller.

Di Senate Plans Double Meeting

The Dialectic Senate will meet twice tonight, first in an executive meeting and then to discuss "World Police Powers through United Nations."

At 8:30 in the Di hall, third floor, New West, all members of the Senate are urged to attend a closed business session to transact affairs which have accumulated so far this quarter.

Half an hour later at 9 o'clock the Senate will reconvene with all interested students and townspeople invited to participate in the discussion from the floor on a bill for world peace control yet to be presented by John Zucker, chairman of the ways and means committee.

Talk Postponed

J. Melville Broughton, former governor of North Carolina, who was scheduled to address the University Law school association last night, was another weather casualty added to the long list over the weekend.

Broughton, who was supposed to speak on "The Lawyer in the Courtroom," promised to come to the campus for the address in the very near future, Bill Friday, association president, said last night.

Senior Class Steering Committee Reveals Plans For Concert With Lunceford's Band

In an attempt to raise funds for a Senior week during spring quarter, Bill Tate has disclosed that the senior class steering committee plans now to secure Jimmy Lunceford's orchestra for concert tentatively scheduled Sunday, March 7.

Tate, chairman of the committee and also German club president, made the announcement before a Memorial hall audience Monday night at a special business-entertainment session of seniors.

Explaining the situation which has sprung from a lack of money allotted for class functions when the new budget was drawn up last fall, Tate said that a bill passed by the Student Legislature provides $400 for all classes. Of this, 80 per cent goes to the senior class, 10 per cent to juniors, and 5 per cent each to sophomore and freshman classes.

An amendment to the bill also passed in the Legislature to provide up to $2,000 more when the student body treasurer says the money has been made available.

If arrangement for the Lunceford band can be made, proceeds of the concert will go to the senior class.

Tate spoke during the business session which followed entertainment furnished by Roy Cole and his orchestra, the Sigma Chi septet, the movies of the UNC-Virginia football game, and the dancing of Frances Johnson, who appeared through the courtesy of the N. C. Entertainment bureau. An estimated crowd of 200 people braved the evening snowstorm to attend the 8 o'clock program.

Satterfield's Orchestra Will Present Concert of American Music Sunday Night

A concert of American music by Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra will be presented Sunday night at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall under the sponsorship of Graham Memorial.

Rated in an article in "Metronome" as the finest jazz band in the South, the group evolved from Charley Wood's band, popular campus group of '38 and '39. Satterfield's band broke up in June of '45, and was reorganized last fall under the direction of Nelson Benton, now drummer with the band.

Johnny himself returned to lead the group at the beginning of the spring quarter having spent fall quarter working on original composition and arrangements.

One of these original compositions, "First Suite for Wind Orchestra," will be presented at Sunday night's concert. Written in seven sections, Satterfield's suite will be a part of the first half of the program, all of which will be original music, presented in an attempt to "get away from the trite stuff."

Also in this portion of the program will be Frank Justice's "Third Suite." A student at New York university, Justice was a member of the band before his graduation from UNC in 1942.

JOHNNY SATTERFIELD

and still does much of their arranging.

Harry Shipman, first alto saxophone with the band, is author of the third original number to be presented, "Woodwind Quartet." Several original dance tunes are also on the program.

Arnold Nash Will Instruct Religion In New Courses Set for Next Quarter

The first courses in the new Department of Religion will be given next term. Professor Arnold Nash will teach a course entitled "The Christian Heritage of Western Civilization," Religion 30, at 11 o'clock in Alumni 205.

This course meets five hours weekly and will consist of an historical study of the impact of Christianity upon the life and thought of Western civilization.

The other course that he will give, Religion 31, also meeting five hours weekly, will be "The History of the Relations between Science and Religion" at 10 o'clock.

The College of Arts and Sciences and the General college will help students adjust their spring term registration to include these newly announced courses.

PUTTING AN END TO THE RUMORS of his illness or death, Premier Josef Stalin attends the signing in Moscow of the treaty of friendship and cooperation and mutual assistance between the Soviet Union and the Romanian People's Republic. He is seen in background (center) with hands clasped. An unidentified military aide bends over as Foreign Comissar V. M. Molotov (seated) signs the treaty. In background (l. to r.) are: A. Vyshinsky (eyeglasses) of Russia; P. Groza of Romania; Stalin; G. Georgiu-Dej of Romania; Mrs. Anna Pauker, the "strong woman" of Romanian diplomacy, and L. Radcanu of Romania. (International Radiophoto)

1:30

Death From Their Own Smoke

Down in South Carolina the Ku Klux Klan has beseeched the city authorities for permission to hold a parade. Chances are they will be denied the request, the same as on a previous occasion when they used a different route and carried forth their plans.

This incident affords us an opportunity to make our comment on the three K's and the Communist Party. Both of these organizations have made the public concious of their doings and enraged many citizens because their principles are contrary to those of this nation.

Many thoughtful citizens would have the government outlaw both of these organizations and other groups with similar techniques and purposes.

What has interested us is the fact that the feelings of these two organizations toward each other are mutual. Each would have the other outlawed. The Communist became enraged at the attitude of the KKK and the KKK in turn is more than a little peeved at the doings of the Communist.

What we do know is that it would be a sad kettle of fish if Congress takes it upon itself to outlaw one of these groups and not the other. Or for that matter if it outlaws both. One of the KKK's notorious feats has been its violent practices against Negroes. Last year's record of only one lynching in the country clearly shows that the KKK is steadily on the down-grade despite its recent flares and demonstrations in several Southern states.

Herein we refer specifically to the ideologies of the two organizations. There is one distinct difference between the KKK and the Communist Party. The former of these organizations has destroyed life and property—a practice which must be curbed by the civil authorities.

We don't particularly cherish the idea of letting any group which applies practices contrary to the accepted American way parade with a brass band. There's some inert quality about parades and brass bands which give a genuine appearance, but still we don't want to shovel these two organizations into the underground.

So brass bands or not we are in favor of letting both groups operate out in the open. Let them consume all of their fuel out in the open and die from their own smoke.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Fast One by Harry Vaughan

By Drew Pearson

Washington.—Harry Truman has the patience of Job when it comes to his likable, grandstanding, trouble-chasing military aide, Harry Raughan. But he nearly lost his patience—for keeps—when Vaughan tried to promote himself to be top White House aide last week. In fact, Vaughan came near promoting himself right out of a job.

Here's the inside story of what happened:

Vaughan handed the President a slip of paper, purportedly announcing the appointment of Col. Robert B. Landry as the new White House aide for the air forces. On the slip of paper, Vaughan had also listed himself as "Chief Armed Forces Aide and Coordinator of Veterans' Affairs." The other Army, Navy, and Air Force aides were listed as his assistants. This was a new departure in White House history, since hitherto all White House aides have been of equal rank. There has been no top boss.

The President glanced at Vaughans handiwork, but did not read it—the same mistake he made when Henry Wallace sent him his speech on Russia. Innocently, Truman thought it was an announcement of Colonel Landrys appointment as Air Force Aide, and gave the Vaughan list to Charlie Ross, White House publicity chief, with instructions to release it to the press.

Ross read the list later in his own office and hit the ceiling. Taking Vaughan's slip of paper, Ross rushed back to the President's office and asked if Truman had read Vaughan's memo thoroughly. The President looked at it. Then he also hit the ceiling.

Meantime, Vaughan, irked at Ross for withholding the news from the Press, held his own press conference, and announced himself as boss of all White House Aides.

For the next three hours the White House was in an uproar. No one inside the White House is supposed to make a statement to the press except Press Secretary Ross, and debate raged on the expediency of repudiating Vaughans unauthorized statement to the press. Truman was fuious at his military aide, but hesitated to slap him down publicly.

Finally, it was decided to announce that Vaughan's self-promotion announcement was a "misapprehension." Privately, however, Truman used mucn stronger language in dressing-down Vaughan for the trouble he had caused. After it was over, the precious ex-manufacturers' representative from St. Louis seemed quite content to keep his old job in the ranks of the four armed forces aides to President Truman.

Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan is trying to keep the lid on a hot feud that is raging inside his appropriations subcommittee, now supposed to be investigating Sen. Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma and other grain speculators.

At a closed-door meeting last week, Sen. Theodore Green of Rhode Island, Democrat, charged that Ferguson and other Republican members were deliberately prolonging the probe so that hearings on the speculations of Thomas, Ed, Pauley and White House Physician Wallace Graham can be held during the coming presidential campaign.

"At the rate we're going, this investigation will last until next November," Green asserted angrily. "I'm not in favor of the investigation being used as a political football."

Republican Sen. William Knowland of California, presiding in Chairman Ferguson's absence, denied that the G.O.P. was trying to get any political advantage out of the speculator probe. It would be foolish to start the hearing until the committee has made a full investigation of the market trading of Senator Thomas and others, Knowland argued.

"Well, how long is that going to take?" demanded Green. "How soon can we get started on the hearings and in what order do we plan to put on witnesses? It's high time we reached a decision about these things."

Senator Knowland replied that he couldn't answer Green's questions, because no one knew as yet how long the preliminary investigation would take. However, Green refused to accept this explanation. He was so furious that he refused to vote on a motion authorizing the investigating committee to spend an initial $20,000 for the employment of five sleuths and a stenographer.

Note—This column has already supplied Senator Ferguson a raft of material on Senator Thomas's speculaiton, and will be glad to supply a lot more if the committee is really interested.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser
NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson.
NIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette.
ASST. BUS. MGRS.: Mary W. Sledge, Eton Holden
ASST. CIRC. MGRS.: Randall Hudson, Don Snow
SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison
EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buehan

NEWS STAFF: Raney Stanford, Donald MacDonald, SallyWoodhull, John Stump, Herb Nachman, Charlie Gibson, Gordon Huffines, Margaret Gaston, Mark Summer, Paul Rothman, Nina Davis, George Roberts, Elaine Patton, Jean Baskerville, Mary Ann Taber, Weddy Thorp, Emily Baker, Miriam Evans, Doris Weaver, Nancy Black, Helen Beam, Daniel Wallace, Sam Whitehall, Helen High water.

SPORTS STAFF: Morty Shaap, Dick Jenrette, Bill Kellam, Larry Fox, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Bill Gallagher.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty, Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr., Lena Campbell, Ed Campbell, Ed Carpenter.

ONE OF THE FIRST original photos from India following the death of Mohandas Gandhi shows his body as his funeral began in New Delhi. Attendants are decking the late Indian leader with the national flag and flowers before he was cremated on a river bank. (International)

AVC Notes

Army Stands to Profit

By Henry Adams

If a bill now before Congress becomes law the American people may soon find themselves paying for one of the biggest pork barrel projects in history. The bill H.R. 4268, calls for Universal Military Training for every 18-year old boy. It is being earnestly promoted by military men who have already conceded that it would be worthless for the defense of the nation.

The President's Advisory Committee on Universal Training after questioning top U.S. brass reported that the training which would be given under UMT would not be adequate in case of war. Should a future war break out, those men who had gone through the required year of UMT would have to have many months of additional specialized training. The committee estimates that the U.S. could not be fully mobilized and ready to fight until a year after the beginning of hostilities.

Yet General Eisenhower has said that in any war of the future involving atomic and bacteriological weapons the conflict would be decided in the first 60 days. The value of several million half-trained infantry reserves amid falling atomic bombs and bacteria would be virtually nil, a fact of which military men are well aware.

We may rest assured that when they ask the public to shell out the $1,750,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 which it is estimated UMT would cost, they know the public is neither buying national security or saving any lives in future wars.

Why, then, do the brass hats champion UMT so energetically.

The military personally stand to profit from it. Those officers who are used in a UMT program would receive a temporary promotion in rank so long as it remains in effect. Thus, the whole military establishment becomes a huge vested interest concerned with getting and keeping UMT. These gentlemen are in a position to gain from international tensions and rivalries. On the other hand, a concerted drive toward peace and security makes them unnecessary. It is not hard to see that they would exploit every move which would divide the world into hostile camps and maintain domestic war jitters. How else would they get appropriations from Congress?

But there are other groups who are also promoting UMT. They, too, know that it isn't the blueprint for security it aims to be. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce, for example, has come out for it. What's their game? The corporations they represent are looking forward to the profitable trade in armaments UMT would bring.

In all the talk about national security through UMT it is generally forgotten that the only two nations which have won every war they fought for the last 100 years are Britain and the U. S.,—the only two that never relied on peacetime conscription for security.

Conscription of all the country's youth wasn't the answer then. In the present age of deadly atomic and bacteriological weapons UMT still is not the $5,000,000,000 answer.

Rebel Soldier

Old 'Unncle Bob' Won't Surrender

Graham, Texas,—(U P)—The hard feeling that the "boys in gray" once felt for the "Damyankees" has been dimmed somewhat by time. There still is one unreconstructed rebel in Texas who never has surrendered, however.

R. S. Hilburn, Uncle Bob to the residents of this farm and oil producing community, turned the head of his little mare homeward 83 years ago without the formality of surrendering. He hasn't surrendered yet.

The 102 years that he has lived have softened Uncle Bob somewhat, though. Today he takes pride in the fact that he is one of the 12 surviving confederates still living in Texas.

When only 15 years old, Hilburn looked into the fact of Capt. Lyon—a regular U. S. Army officer who commanded Union troops at the Battle of Wilson Creek in Missouri and wondered if he had fired the shot that killed him.

"He was one of the Union's best men," Uncle Bob recalls. Lyons had been breveted a general shortly before he was killed.

One time the young soldier had his gun shot out of his hand and another time the Yankees nearly shot all the bark off a tree he was using as a shelter.

His father, who enlisted with Uncle Bob, was killed at Fayetteville, Ark., a battle in which the son also fought.

Hilburn never mustered out of the Confederate Army. He and his mare, Fashion, just took off for home, but didn't stop there. The war had taken care of that and only ruins remained. He finally moved to Texas, in those days a wild country.

Superstitions Vary In Student's Minds

Ames, Ia.—(ACP)—If a black cat crosses your path or you walk under a ladder you'll have bad luck.

Those are two of the more common superstitions among Iowa State College students, according to a survey conducted there by the sociology department.

The survey was conducted to find the prevailing superstitions among students. The students interviewed were asked to name the four superstitions that they were most familiar with and those superstitions they followed.

Besides the black cat and walking under the ladder, the survey showed that breaking a mirror, crossing the zodiac in Memorial Union and three people on one match were superstitions that the students were most familiar with. Seventy six superstitions were mentioned by those interviewed.

Only 20 percent of the students interviewed followed superstitions. In general, men were not as superstitious as women.

Write Away

Robertson: The Pink Shrieker

Editor:

I hereby recommend that the name of the column "This Changing World" be changed to "The Daily Worker." Never before has a member of your staff printed such a gush of Bolshevic propaganda as was in Bill Robertson's column on Febraury 6, 1948. The same old party line followed by everyone from Stalin on down to the lowliest agitator was pulled again and again.

The column had as its so-called subject the "Revised Marshall Plan," or better still the "Wallace Plan." If Wallace be sincere in his ideals, then he is the greatest dupe in history. This plan which Robertson extolls so virtuously is as ineffective as a State Department note to Moscow. In addition to its ineffectiveness, the "Plan" occupies exactly one paragraph in Robertson's rather lengthy feature; the rest of the column is an attack upon the Marshall Plan and Wall Street. How Vishinsky and Robertson are able to link the two so closely is beyond the realm of my imagination.

If this isn't enough to show us exactly wrere M. Robertsky stands, he goes on to say: "There has been relatively swift recovery in the countries of Eastern Europe for . . . the reason of planning and nationalization of key industry and banks." How true we know that is when we have read of the assassination of Mikailovitch, the flight of the Polish opposition, the fall of the Rumanian, Bulgarian, and Baltic governments. How well it has been planned! What heppened to Greece, Mr. Robertson? No doubt you will say that capitalistic forces there are fighting the "Masses."

Like all of his collegues, Mr. Robertson isn't content until he has also allied Wall Street and our national government. He says: "Must we suppose that Wall Street, which is robbing the American people daily be means of high prices, will give things away to foreign countries?" Undoubtedly he must associate the two for it wasn't Wall Street at all, but our Secretary of State, that formulated the Marshall Plan. Of course we must give things away in an effort to prevent the starvation and unrest which precede world wars. What worth has money in compraison to the thousands of lives which the last war cost the American people?

Of course, Mr. Editor, I realize that the Daily Tar Heel disclaims all responsibility for the opinions of its columnists, but you must agree that "This Changing World" is so pink that it shrieks.

Jack English

The Truth

Friends:

In the current issue of Carolina Magazine is an article on the University Press containing a photograph of myself and my daughter. The caption beneath the illustration is as follows:

"Although creative writing classes meet in the same building, the Press offices have not published a student novel as yet. Russell proteges like John West, blinded by the illustrious, fame building advertising campaigns, prefer giant New York publishers in preference of the successful University Press."

Here is the truth of the matter as it concerns myself and most of the students associated with my writing classes. As a member of Mr. Phillip Russells writing class I entered part of my first attempted novel in the Dodd, Mead Co. Intercollegiate Contest for 1947. So did other members of the class because their eyes were opened to the fact that it seemed a good break. I was fortunate enough to be chosen runnerup in the contest, an honor that only gave me encouragement in completing the novel. I did so and have returned it to that publisher for consideration. I have sold short stories for several years, pulps, too, and was glad of the success, the humble success.

An inch or so of flooring and a shell of plaster is all that separates Mr. Russell's class from the entire first floor occupied by the Press. Every day someone read a portion of his MS, yet I never saw anyone with a hole bored in the ceiling of the Press offices, listening for acceptable material. Neither did I meet anyone on the short flight of steps connecting the two floors, rushing up to see if another young Thomas Wolfe was sprouting there. However, I did meet several representatives from the "giant" New York publishers, who were interested enough to travel a few hundred miles to interview us.

I am not blaming the Press. They know what they want, probably better than Mr. Sharpe expressed it. I would have fallen down that flight of steps accepting their bid for my novel. I still would, should it not be accepted by the publisher that encouraged my finishing it.

Writing is a rough row to hoe, and writers of articles for college magazines will learn that when one faces the competition of the professional world he will grab every card dealt him and forget suddenly exploding fame.

John Foster West

Answers Roeder

Dear Sir:

This is a rejoinder to John Roeder's letter published in the February 6 Daily Tar Heel. I feel that some points should be cleared up.

The letter implied strongly that the Wallace club omitted three passages of Stokes' column with nefarious intent to deceive the public.

Lack of space forced some cutting of the column, and the compilers omitted the parts that contributed least to the total picture. Actual comparison of the Wallace Weekly, Stokes' column, and Mr. Roeder's letter shows that it is Mr. Roeder, not the Wallace Club, who has falsified Stokes' position. Would Mr. Roeder say that Arnold Toynbee's statement that militarism "has been by far the commonest cause of the breakdown of civilization" is invalidated by failure to quote all six volumes of Toynbee's Study of History?

The letter wrenched selections from two other Stokes columns violently out of context and added them to the argument against omitting context. It said that these columns "clarify his (Stokes') position" toward the Wallace movement.

Actually the Jan. 16 excerpt shows what Stokes thinks the position of some other people might be, and the Jan. 18 excerpt shows what Stokes half suspects Robert Kenny may have in mind. Our interest is more in what Henry Wallace has in mind—a free and prosperous America.

It is obvious that the omitted passages, even alone, do not show Stokes opposing the Wallace movement. Therefore I apologize to the reader who may feel that I have said "an undisputed thing in such a solemn way."

H. S. McNairy

A Hodgepodge

Editor:

This letter is admittedly a hodgepodge.

First, let me say that you have no right to refuse to print letters which are not typewritten. This is merely to offer substantial evidence that Junius Scales was right. Only the affluent with golden trumpets are to be heard.

Second, your defense of Tar Heel distribution methods said nothing. Saturday (Feb. 7), the weather offered no resistance to circulation men, but papers did not arrive. Tar Heels invariably arrive after 11:00 A.M. on Sundays.

As I understand it, all students pay for a subscription to the Tar Heel. Why, then, are two papers left at dormitory rooms when these are occupied by three? This doesn't jibe with your statement that the correct number of papers is left in each dormitory.

It is not for the editor to reduce the number of Tar Heels distributed because they are not read. They are paid for, and may be used to light pipes if nothing else.

Meanwhile, with the money saved by reducing the number of Tar Heels printed, I suggest you hire a proof reader.

Charles Hexagon

What's Up in Graham Memorial

With spring holidays much closer than most studes realize, it's already late to be getting northbound train reservations. . . . The GM travel agent, Roland P. Early, says Seaboard is already just about full on trains from Raleigh to the north on the night of March 17, but they're trying to hold a block of reservations for UNC students. . . . Don't wait until the last minute.

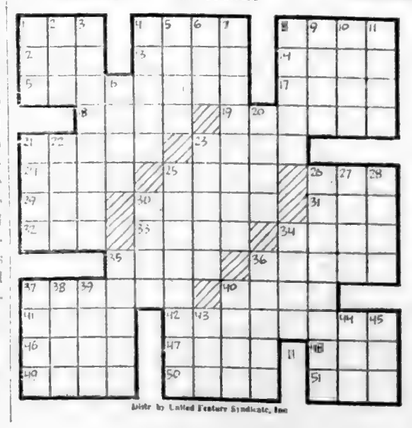
New business manager of Graham Memorial is Harry Horton. . . . A third-year commerce major from Asheville, Horton took over his duties Monday, relieving Bill Shuford. . . . Strange as it seems, the Wednesday afternoon advanced dancing classes are TOO popular! — Terpsichore Corley, maestro of the class, reports he has nearly half-a-hundred eager pupils, and the job is almost more than he can handle sometimes.

Two Tschaikovsky selections will be aired on tonight's recorded dinner music concert: the Third Symphony, and the Swan Lake Ballet.

Republicans to Hear Newsome Discussion

The Young Republicans club will hear Dr. A. R. Newsome, head of the history department, speak on the history of poetry and its development up to the present at a meeting to be held tomorrow night at 7:30 in Roland Parker lounge.

Coline Smith, vice-president of the Young Republicans, stated that the meeting is open to all interested persons.



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS

1—Spanish title
6—To be excessively fond
8—Garbed
12—In debt
13—So be it
14—To breathe noisily
15—Shining
17—Wager
18—Course of feeding
19—Casual
21—Pinochle scores
23—Poison
24—Away from wind
25—Biblical murderer
26—Fabulous bird
29—It is (cont.)
30—Italian title
31—Arab's cloak
32—Possesses
33—Shreds
34—Biblical prophet
35—Unmarried girl
36—To welcome
37—To begin
40—To search
41—Tidy
42—Insides
45—Walking stick
47—Quantity of paper
48—To share
49—Skills
50—Places
51—To assert

DOWN

1—To follow closely
2—Night bird
3—Not required
4—Tilled women
5—To leave out
6—A number
7—Instills
8—Wading bird
9—Terra firma
10—Voice range
11—To consider
16—Helper
20—Coin of India
21—Science of numbers (slang)
22—Charles Lamb's pen name
23—Loud reports
25—Bird riders
26—Baking dishes
27—Wind instrument
28—Threw
30—To fall in drops
34—Region
35—Deals out
36—Microbes
37—Peruvian Indian
38—Close
39—Bias
40—Statute (abbr.)
43—Born
44—Meadow
45—Pigpen

Local Wrestlers Encounter Duke Matmen Here Tonight

The Sporting Picture

By Billy Carmichael III

A Sporting Personality

THE PERSONALITIES that one meets in the course of following athletic competition are material enough for a book or even several volumes of very interesting reading, but there happens to be a young gentleman now in the athletic field at Carolina today who makes a very interesting story that will just fill Wednesday morning's column.

His story is one that could reach the tear jerking level if you let it run away with you, but might be better told the way he would want it told if he let you tell it at all. The fellow in question is Marvin Wilson, currently fighting at the 121-pound weight for the grapplers of Coach Chuck Quinlan.

Wilson has the born spirit of the competitor, the will to win and if that is not possible, the will to do as best as one can. He has all the qualities of the great athlete with the exception of one very important one—the physical component. Infantile paralysis hit Wilson at an early age and left, as it does with many, the scar of a crippled limb.

Three Lettermen

BUT IT TAKES MORE THAN that to stop some people and Wilson proved to be one of these. He worked to overcome his handicap and did the job well enough to letter in three sports at the local Chapel Hill high school. He did it in football, though to meet him on the street you couldn't picture him as a high school end prospect. He was noted for his hustling spirit and could tackle with the precision of the best of his teammates. In baseball he was a catcher of better than average talent, could handle the best of pitchers and threw runners out at second with amazing consistency, even if some of the pegs took an occasional bounce on the way. To say he hit his weight won't be much of a compliment to this light-limbed light-hearted lad, but he did do some creditable deeds with the willow.

Basketball was the third of Wilson's high school letter achievements and he played this sport like the rest. "I was a point a minute man in those days," he will say, "but for the time I played it was easy."

A Switch to Wrestling

UPON HIS ARRIVAL at the University which was merely a walk across town, Wilson looked over the athletic field and found that the three sports at which he was most proficient were a little out of his class. Then he stumbled upon wrestling where the littler man gets the same chance at glory as the fellow even twice his size. This was for him.

Wilson had wrestled but one match before this current year and that was a few years back when he got the call to take the mat against traditional rival Duke, which is quite an assignment for the first outing. But Wilson took it in stride as he almost did his Blue Devil opponent, losing only by a close decision.

Since that time Wilson has grappled on and off for Quinlan. This year he again resounded to the call to the canvas and is back at the 121-pound spot for the Tar Heels. In his first five encounters this season, Wilson has been forced to contend with many of the South's best wrestlers who unfortunately for the Chapel Hillian are stacked at the opening weight. This rugged competition has left Marvin victoryless, but he is still to be reckoned with in the remainder of the Tar Heel meets and Southern Conference tourney that follows.

Wilson has only had his shoulders touched to the mat once in his collegiate career, and that feat was accomplished last weekend by Rock Moyer of VMI, the current conference champ. According to Wilson, it was the first time he had been pinned since he was a baby.

Confine Him Not

WILSON DOES NOT CONFINE his athletic activities to wrestling though, and has branched out into other corners of the sporting picture. His other achievements include: one-time intramural boxing champion, an assortment of mural wrestling crowns, runner-up title in the campus ping-pong championship, and the ability to currently hit the double figures regularly with his fraternity basketball team. He plays exceptional checkers too.

Last year though, Wilson received one of the campus' highest awards, the Intramural department's cup for leading fraternity intramural manager which in laymen's language means the manager who has done the most to further the mural program in his respective organization.

Besides all of this, Wilson can challenge anyone for the title of No. 1 Tar Heel sports fan. A Tar Heel born and bred he is the son, grandson etc. of University alumni, and therefore is well versed in the spirit and tradition of the college. He takes a Carolina loss as much to heart as the ruling coach does.

So, hats off to a great competitor whose will to play has helped to move himself over a serious obstacle and upward on the athletic ladder and higher still in the estimation of Tar Heel sports fans.

Paxton, Dillon, Cole, Kohler, Nearman Pass Century Mark in Tar Heel Scoring

Mr. Rebound Leads With 223 Points; Cagers Work For Terp Game Friday

Statistics on Carolina's 1947-48 basketball team reveal that five players have already passed the century mark in the matter of points scored in the 19 games played to date.

Captain Bob Paxton heads this select group, having tallied 233 points thus far to compile an average of 12.3 per game. Norm Kohler follows with 154 markers for a record of 8.1 points in each contest.

Rounding out the top five are Center Nemo Nearman, 134; John (Hook) Dillon, 120; and King Cole, 106. Cole is the newcomer to the group. He dropped in 11 points against Duke this past Saturday to go over the 100 mark.

Other Scoring

Other members of the squad and their point totals are Coy Carson, 67; Roger Scholbe, 51; Fred Swartzberg, 35; Taylor Thorne, 31; Dan Nyimicz, 18; Mark Nathan, 7; and Fred Ryan, 4.

Bill Miller, who was declared ineligible at midseason, counted 70 points in the games in which he saw action.

In rolling to 16 wins and just three losses. Coach Tom Scott's charges have amassed a total of 1038 points, giving them an average of 54.6 points per game. The opposition has gotten but 816 tallies against Carolina, or about 42.9 per game.

One More at Home

Six games remain on the Carolina schedule, and only one of these is a home affair. State will play here on February 21 in that final tilt on the Woollen gym court. All the remaining games are conference contests. The Phantoms have a 7-1 loop record now.

Coach Scott's outfit will get its next test on Friday night against the University of Maryland up in College Park. Carolina beat the Old Liners in the first meeting here, 70-46, but Coach Scott is expecting considerably more trouble in this return match. Maryland teams have always been hard to beat on their home court, and several Carolina clubs have been upset on that court in previous years. On Saturday night, Carolina will move to Williamsburg, Va., to meet William and Mary.

The team will leave on Thursday night by train on their northern swing.

State Ducats

The Athletic Association announced late yesterday afternoon that the students who were entitled to priority for tickets for the State game on February 1, were not picking up their ducats at a very fast rate of speed.

All tickets that are not picked up by Saturday will be given to any student with a passbook on the first come first serve basis.

The ticket office is open daily from 9 to 1 and 2 to 5, on Saturday the office is open from 9 to 1.

Coed Cage Schedule

The inclement weather caused the cancellation of the two coed basketballs scheduled for tonight. The twin bill featuring Pi Phi Town and Tri Delt Carr contests will be played off next Tuesday.

The postponement will delay the end of regular competition until next week and will also leave the final occupants of first and seventh place in doubt until then. Participants in the playoffs will be announced at a later date, Miss Frances Burns announced.

Gonzales Decides on American Play; Dodds Forced Out of Indoor Running

SWIMMING TRIALS

Time trials for the intramural swimming tournament in the individual events will be held today and tomorrow from 5 to 6 o'clock in Bowman Gray pool.

Los Angeles, California—The rising young tennis star, Richard "Pancho" Gonzales, has turned down a Mexican citizenship and a sure berth on the Mexican Davis cup team.

The 20-year old Gonzales has beaten most of the top players in America last year. Gonzales' parents were born in Mexico. But "Pancho" says he got his start in America and would rather play on the American Davis Cup squad, if he can make it.

DODDS OUT FOR YEAR

Boston, Feb. 10—The mile will be a wide open event in the remaining indoor track meets this winter. The head man—Gil Dodds—is out for the rest of the season.

Dodds, who broke his own record for the indoor mile when he toured the 11 laps at Madison Square Garden in four minutes, five and three-tenth seconds two weeks ago, has the mumps. He was taken to the hospital yesterday. Today, doctors gave him a thorough examination and announced that Dodds will be unable to compete for the rest of the winter season.

McMILLIN TO LIONS

Detroit, Feb. 10—It's rumored that Indiana's Bo McMillin will step in as coach of the Detroit Lions of the National Football league.

TODAY

CAROLINA

Today's Mural Schedule

BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 1: ATO 1 vs. SAE 1; Court 2: Phi Delt 3 vs. Pi Lamb 2; Court 3: Emanons vs. Everett 2; Court 4: Chi Psi 1 vs.. Beta 3; Court 5: AVC vs. Steele; Court 6: Zeta 2 vs. Sig Chi 1; Court 7: Fireballs vs. Alexander 2.

5:00—Court 1: Lewis 3 vs. Honeycutt Manor; Court 2: Coons vs. Field House; Court 3: Lewis 1 vs. Old East; Court 4: Aycock 2 vs. Oakwood Dr.; Court 5: BVP 1 vs. Miller Hall; Court 6: Sig Nu 2 vs. PiKA 3; Court 7: Kap Sig vs. Pi Lamb.

7:00—Court 1: Hillers vs. Hut 26; Court 2: Skyscrapers vs. Emerson; Court 3: Ruffin 1 vs. Mangum; Court 4: Med. School vs. Stacy; Court 5: Ruffin 2 vs. Law School; Court 6: Independents vs. Mud Dobbers; Court 7: Underdogs vs. Hut 8.

HANDBALL

4:00—Stacy vs. Old East.

5:00—Med School vs. Oakwood Dr.

6:00—Lewis vs. Graham.

RIFLE FIRING

7:30—Alexander (orientation).

BOXING

165-lb. Class

4:00—B. Wood (DKE) vs. H. Hardisty (Sig Chi); 4:08—L. Bond (Sig Nu) vs. H. Buchanan (Phi Delt); 4:16—P. Moring (Beta) vs. M. Horton (Phi Delt); 4:24—S. Jones (Phi Gam) vs. J. Jackson (Phi Delt); 4:32—T. Gilman (Phi Gam) vs. J. Murchison SAE); 4:40—T. Stokes (Phi Gam) vs. J. Lawing (Sig Chi); 4:48—A. Webb (Phi Gam) vs. C. Mendinghall (Chi Phi); 4:56—M. Carmichael (DKE) vs. V. Mayo (Phi Gam); 5:04—B. Gearge (Phi Delt) vs. R. Gaul (DKE); 5:12—D. Dempsey (Phi Delt) vs. J. Langley (Sig Chi); 5:20—N. Howard (DKE) vs. B. DebarDelaben Phi Delt).

145-lb. Class

5:28—B. Brown (KA) vs. J Green (Chi Phi); 5:36—B. Claybrook (Kap Sig) vs. G. Dunlap (DKE); 5:44—F. Cawdle (Kap Sig) vs. T. Moore (Sig Chi); 5:52—H. Howell (KA) vs. S. Milligan (Zeta).

135-lb. Class

7:00—M. Bergen (TEP) vs. M Bunch (Sig Nu); 7:08—J. Wilkins (Phi Delt) vs. D. Alexander (Sig Ep).

145-lb. Class

7:16—J. Holbrook (Kap Sig) vs A. Parrish (Phi Delt Chi); 7:24—R. Barab (Phi Kap) vs. H Whiteside (Kap Sig); 7:32—S. Daniels (Sig Chi) vs. J. Hamrick (PiKA); 7:40—H. Whitfield (Kap Sig) vs. J. McDuffie (Sig Nu); 7:48—B. Whitlock Beta) vs. R Simpson (Chi Phi); 7:56—H. Butts (KA) vs. D. Harris (Phi Kap); 8:04—O. Smith (Kap Sig) vs. R. Kirby (KA); 8:12—B. Craft (PiKA) vs. G. Cheesboro (Beta); 8:20—B. Wood (Phi Delt) vs. F. Winslow (DKE); 8:28—H. Rouse Phi Delt) vs. R. Sloan (KA).

175-lb. Class

8:36—J. Meade (DKE) vs. H. Barbee (Phi Gam); 8:44—W. Arnold (Sig Chi) vs. S. Dillard (SAE); 8:52—D. Hammer (Phi Gam) vs. J. Leedy (Phi Delt); 9:00—W. Jennings (Phi Delt) vs. J. Miles (Beta).

Monogram Meeting Highlighted by Talk By Coach Bob Fetzer

The honor of wearing a North Carolina Monogram, highlighted the address to the Monogram club last night, by Coach Bob Fetzer. The occasion was the initiation of some 27 men who had made their letters in Fall sports.

Coach Bob reminded the letter winners of the true spirit of athletics and competition. After his brief speech, President Bill Pritchard and Mr. Fetzer presented the new men with their charms, certificates, codes and membership cards.

Committees were assigned for the spring Blue-White football game and Pritchard also selected an Executive committee made up of Gus Johnston, Jett Greenbaum and Bob Seligman. This group along with the officers will serve as a backbone for the organization.

The new constitution for the ody is expected to be ready within two weeks and the next meeting will give all members a chance to hear just what the new document contains.

In order to give members more time, the weekly meeting schedule has been changed to every two weeks. Pritchard hopes that this will enable more men to attend the regular business sessions. The meetings will be held hereafter on every other Tuesday evening at 7:30. Gatherings will be in 304 Woollen until the clubhouse is ready.

Badminton Match Off Because of Weather

The badminton match slated or Monday night with Burlington fell victim to the inclement weather and was postponed until next Wednesday night.

When the two cities met last quarter, the Chapel Hill shuttlecock chasers came out on top. The locals have a 2-2 record in league play for the season.

Mural Results

BASKETBALL

32	SAE 1	Pi Lamb 2	18
46	KA1	Kap Sig 2	9
20	Zeta 3	ATO 1	11
50	Seiler Five	Alex. 1	18
25	BVP 1	Old East	22
43	Everett 2	Aycock 2	15
43	Hillers	Skyscrapers	25
36	Phi Kap 2	Phi Gam 2	32
29	TEP 2	PiKA 2	16
61	Sig. Chi 1	Kappa Sig 3	16
27	Lewis 3	Graham 2	19
62	Blackballs	Whitehead 1	14
37	Grads	Comets	27
27	Graham 1	Wels. Rockets	24
34	Field House	Lewis 1	15
18	Geol. Dept.	Old West	17
40	Fireballs	Hut 26	14
48	Mangum	Stacy	20
36	Nash	Hut 8	34

HANDBALL

2	TEP	Phi Delt 1	1
3	Phi Delt 2	Zeta 2	0
3	Roaches	Ruffin	0

Whid Powell's
COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
GRILLED TARHEELIAS
College Educated Hamburgers
Delicious Steaks 90c
Rosemary St. — Opp. City Hall

DOES YOUR RADIO SOUND GOOD?
—see—
D. W. ANDERSON
—at—
Lloyd Electric Company
Carrboro. N. C.
—for—
Fine Radio Repairing

QUALITY FURNISHINGS
at
E. A. Brown Furniture Co.
Next to City Hall
Phone 6586

Blue Devils Boast Unbeaten Record; Carolinians Ready After Tough Trip

By Buddy Vaden

Returning home from a four-day road trip which included meets with Washington and Lee and VMI in Lexington, Virginia, Carolina's mat crew made preparations yesterday to meet Duke's grapplers here in Woollen gym tonight at eight o'clock.

The last meet on the regular schedule, tonight's tussle may be the last chance for local mat fans to see Coach Quinlan's defending Southern conference champions in action.

The Duke squad, currently sporting an undefeated record of two victories and a tie, is captained by 124-pounder Mike Kusturiss, undefeated thus far in conference competition. The only other undefeated member of the Blue Devil crew is 145-pounder Jack Wamsley.

Falcone Coach

Coached by Carmen Falcone, the Blue Devils defeated Maryland, 19-6, Georgia Tech, 26-6, and worked to a 14-14 tie with State.

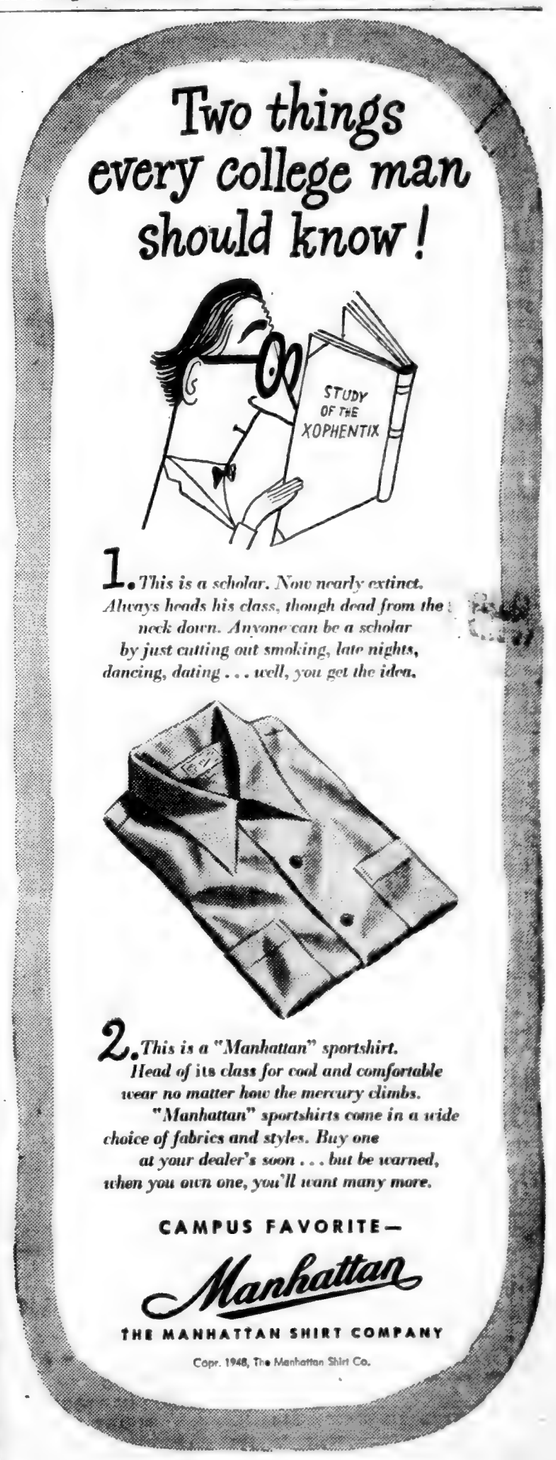
Other members of the Bull city crew expected to see action against the Tar Heel men are Bob Clark, 128 pounds; 136-pounder Joe Orzano; Garrett Billmire, 155-pound wrestler; Dick Harrison, wrestling in the 165-pound class; John McMasters, at 175; and either Bill Boardman or Lynn Dellenbarge in the unlimited class.

As a result of their meets with Washington and Lee and VMI the local lads are sporting a record of three victories against two defeats. The defeats were at the hands of the surprisingly strong Generals and VPI. The three victories were chalked up against State, Davidson, and VMI.

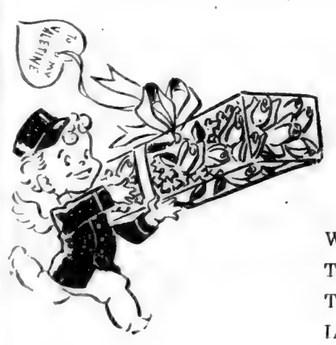
W&L Meet

The meet with Washington and Lee Monday night showed that the Lexington musclemen will be the team to beat in the Southern conference tournament come March. The Generals' team is composed of six freshmen, all with outstanding wrestling backgrounds, plus several outstanding men.

Phil Kemp and Oscar Gupton suffered their first defeats of the season in the W and L tilt. Both Kemp and Gupton lost their matches by very small margins. Another first time loser was 136-pound Tom Urquhart.



It was also the first loss for "Old Grandad" Bluethenthal, but it was only his second match of the year. His initial victory came in an overtime contest with VMI.



The only remaining undefeated member of the Blue and White crew is team captain Bill Kemp, who averted a washout in the last match by decisioning W and L's Metzel.

Miller Traded

The veteran shortstop Eddie Miller will be getting his mail n care of the Philadelphia Phillies from now on. Or at least, he will until he feels inclined to blast the Philly management as he did that of the Cincinnuti Reds.

The smooth fielding Miller was traded to the Phils yesterday in exchange for outfielder Johnny Wyrostek and cash. How much, no one knows. This completed the portion of the deal left hanging last December 12 when the Reds shipped infielder-outfielder Bert Haas to the Phils for Righthander Tommy Hughes.

FLOWERS at VALENTINE

We go our way
The Cupids say,
To bring Her
Lovely flowers.

CUPID RECOMMENDS FLOWERS

His standard test
To buy the best—
To see that
They are ours!

UNIVERSITY FLORIST
Pick Theater Building

Week-end Fare Boosts By Local Taxicabs Termed "Unauthorized Increase" By Ray

Natural Bridge Conference Plans Are Almost Completed, State Burks, Ross

Plans for the winter conference at Natural Bridge on February 20 to 22 are nearly complete, according to co-chairmen Pete Burks and Julia Ross, following nearly three months of work by various committees.

Registration for the campus at large began on Monday and is continuing through this week in the offices of the YW and the YM, sponsors of the conference said. Open to the entire student body, the affair will also have representatives from other schools near Natural Bridge.

Designed as an opportunity for interested students to discuss campus and world problems and their effect upon the University, the conference will have as its theme, "A Clue to our Purpose." Principal speakers will be Cameron P. Hall of the Federal council of Churches and Dr. Frank Hunft of the University Law school.

Emily Von Borries, Gray Simpson, Charlie Foley, and Sam Magill, working at the head of the program committee, have arranged for speakers and for the heads of the six commissions, discussion groups which will be headed by students.

Publicity and promotion are being handled by Merrily Brooks, Bill Powell, and Jack Parks, who have sent letters to various campus leaders and to organizations at other schools. Hank Hopkins and Charlie Britt are in charge of finance and registration, and Hilda Frances Lawrence and John Hough are handling transportation.

Social and recreational aspects of the weekend, which will include sightseeing trips and dances, have been planned by Emily Ogburn, Ed McLeod, and Ed Hamilton, with the help of the YW recreation committee.

Worship periods at the conference will be planned by Jo Butler, head of the YW Worship committee, and Don Broad and George Worth. Sally Lee is in charge of arrangements with the hotel.

SMILING Pat Engstrom of Miami, Florida, models a new bathing suit which, according to the manufacturers, should become popular on Northern beaches this summer. Of course Tar Heels would never want to see anything like this cluttering up Wrightsville beach. (International)

Town Aldermen Will Consider Matter Tonight

By Raney Stanford

Last weekend's violation by the Carolina Cab company of the Chapel Hill ordinance imposing a maximum charge of 25 cents on city rides will probably be brought before the town board of aldermen tonight, due to complaints of local citizens.

G. W. Ray, town manager, said yesterday that several people complained to him that while last week's heavy fall of snow and ice was on the city's streets town taxicabs upped their rates from the prescribed 25 cents. The city official said he conferred with Mr. Bartlett of the taxi company, found the reported increases were true, and they "discussed" it. Ray termed the taxi firm's actions as an "unauthorized increase."

"We increased our charges to 50 cents in town and added 25 cents to our other standard rates when the traffic conditions were at their worst," J. T. Lloyd, morning dispatcher for the carriers, said yesterday. "We removed the increase when people complained about it, and are now only charging regular fares despite the current snowfall."

The Carolina Cab dispatcher said the fares were raised due to the increase of operating costs and hazards during the bad weather now affecting the town. He cited the tire chains and increased gasoline consumption used by the company's vehicles during such weather, the danger to drivers due to icy roads, and the longer times taken on bad weather trips than normal, as some of the reasons.

"Our drivers refuse to drive under such conditions, and we don't try to make them," he continued. He stated that the company's operations yesterday were adhering to the city ordinance greatly restricted by the firm's and its drivers then refusing to carry passengers. He expressed the doubt that the company could keep taxis on the roads if the current conditions persist.

Philosophy Club Meets Tomorrow

There will be a meeting of the Philosophy club tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge No. 3 of Graham Memorial.

Dr. N. J. Demerath, department of sociology, will lecture on "Freedom of the Will: A Problem of Conceptualization." Following the lecture, Dr. Demerath will lead group discussion.

After the discussion period a brief business session will be directed by Harrison Tenney. It is requested that club members attend the meeting and that they have topics for discussion for later meetings written out ready to hand to the secretary.

Club meetings are open to all interested persons.

LOVELY SCREEN STAR Madeline Carroll receives the Army's Medal of Freedom from Maj. Gen. T. B. Larkin, Quartermaster General during a ceremony at the Pentagon Building in Washington. The actress was cited for her outstanding services for some years as a war-worker with American Red Cross units stationed in France. (International Soundphoto)

GBS Gets Foxed; Louis Is Lewis

London, February 10.—(UP)—George Bernard Shaw, who has shocked a lot of people in his time, has had the tables turned.

Last Monday, somebody telephoned the home of the playwright saying Joe Louis would like to have tea with him.

Shaw was delighted. Prizefighters are close to his heart. He wrote a play about one called "Cashel Byron's Profession."

He had heard months ago that the heavyweight champion was making a trip to England and wanted to visit him.

Tea time came around at his home outside London and who should appear but a gray-haired man with a fair complexion. He said he was flattered that Shaw remembered him. He said they met years ago in the United States. Shaw's housekeeper said today that the visitor was an American named Joseph Lewis, and that Shaw remembered him faintly. She could not identify Lewis beyond that.

Lewis sat through tea, enjoying himself and left without knowing what had happened.

Says Shaw's housekeeper: "Mr. Shaw was shocked, but he did not say a word about the mix-up."

REHDER'S
CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Opposite Post Office Corner

Dazzling Deanna in her happiest man-chase!
Deanna DURBIN
Tom DRAKE
William BENDIX
It's All Yours
with Adolphe MENJOU
WALTER CATLETT • FRANKLIN PANGBORN • WILLIAM BROOKS
ALSO COLOR CARTOON TODAY
VILLAGE

FOR SALE: AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1941 FORD SIX TUDOR SEDAN. Private owner. New motor. A. L. Bridgeman, 103 Mangum, after 7:30 p.m. 1-1775-1

1933 FORD CONVERTIBLE. NEW MOTOR, good tires and top, new complete overhaul, clean car, good heater. Call 4301, Colonial Inn, Hillsboro. 1-c177-1

LOST 12

GLASSES WITH WIDE TORTOISE shell rims in brown case between Murphey and Bynum Tuesday morning. Carol Homan, 302 Alderman, 3071

RED PLASTIC KIT WITH BRUSHES, Lipstick, etc. Please bring to Y office. 1-1779-1

WANTED TO RENT 24B

WANTED IMMEDIATELY, SINGLE room graduate student. Phone 6211. 1-1776-1

DRESS UP FOR YOUR VALENTINE WITH CLOTHES CLEANED THIS BETTER WAY!

For Valentine Day put on your favorite dress . . . the one HE likes best. But first let our Sanitone Service revive its original color and brilliance. Call us today for this better kind of dry cleaning.

APPROVED SANITONE SERVICE

PROMPT PICKUP AND DELIVERY
Call 4921
UNIVERSITY CLEANERS
Across from Post Office

LI'L ABNER

Disregard Emily Post — You can eat with your fingers — at HARRY'S

Rendezvous Starts Couples Only Rule For Friday Nights

Couples only will be the admission rule at Friday night's Rendezvous floor show, according to Clarence Barbour, Graham Memorial entertainment director.

Singing and dancing in a typical New Orleans cabaret setting will create the atmosphere of a waterfront cafe for the show, to be given at 8 o'clock in the Rendezvous room. Bill Corley and Grace Blades will be featured in their "Birth of the Blues" dance number.

"This rule is not to become a permanent policy of the Rendezvous room," said Barbour, "but because of limited facilities, and judging by the overflowing attendance at past shows, it is a necessity for this particular show."

In an attempt to preserve cabaret atmosphere, it was said, the dancers are striving for intimacy between performers and audience. The entire dance floor will be used for the show, and extra tables will be added to accommodate more couples.

The entire production ins under direction of Bill Corley.

Uninvited Guest

New York, Feb. 10—(UP)—Comedian Maury Amsterdam featured a pair of guest artists on his radio program this afternoon without even knowing about it.

And he wouldn't have known anything about it if scores of fans hadn't called W. H. N. to ask who the mysterious voices were that broke into a musical election on the Amsterdam show.

The somewhat puzzled radio men then began to make a few calls themselves and then you can say "now new words from our sponsor the mystery was cleared up."

It seems as though a couple of telephone repair men had cut into the W. H. N. transmission line and unknowingly broadcast some of their remarks about the conditions of the weather and the state of the world.

sung by Buddy Clark.

The last time he strolled off into heavy traffic he braced himself at one of the city's busiest intersections, and wouldn't move. He tied up cars and trucks for blocks in four directions.

Two policemen pushed and gave in when Gates appeared with a car towing Sidney's wagon. As soon as he was harnessed between the shafts he obediently walked away.

N. C. Revenue Experts To Assist Taxpayers

Two representatives of the North Carolina Department of Revenue will be in the City hall February 26 and 27 to assist local tax-payers filing North Carolina income and intangible tax reports. No charge will be made for this service.

Campus Calendar

Chi Delta Phi literary sorority, Grail room

Reception and dinner music concert, main lounge of Graham Memorial.

p.m.—Carolina Independent Coed Association meeting, Y building.

p.m. Pi Kappa Phi, Roland Parker lounge No. 1.

p.m.—Carolina Conservative club, Roland Parker lounge No. 2.

p.m.—Chess club, Roland Parker lounge No. 2.

p.m.—Southern Conference for Human Welfare, Grail room.

p.m. Di Senate, Hi hall, New West.

Bursley Issues C For Yack Snaps

The Yackety Yack is for any type of snap days.

That became evident when Editorial Boss Harold Bursley issued them. "We want fun and unusual ones," he it was pointed out to any picture is either (o cal) or unusual, he ed.

"That's just what I smiled.

"The Yack will snaps when the boo and while both and reimbursed bit, our thinks tributor," Rath

LEAGUE POSTP

The Layman's Chapel of the Cross poned its meeting scheduled for Febru til February 19.

University Service Station
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

Let's Get together
PHILIP MORRIS is so much better to smoke!
PHILIP MORRIS offers the smoker an extra benefit found in no other cigarette. For PHILIP MORRIS is the ONE, the ONLY cigarette recognized by leading nose and throat specialists as definitely less irritating.
Remember: Less irritation means more smoking enjoyment for you.
Yes! If every smoker knew what PHILIP MORRIS smokers know, they'd ALL change to PHILIP MORRIS.

CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS
TRY A PACK... TODAY

Librarian (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Continued cloudy with slightly higher temperatures and possibly freezing rain.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
Buttered Rum
Education
Hawgs

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 98

UP Nominates Szafaryn, Pritchard For CAA Leaders

UVA Blitzkrieged By Weather, Short Fuel

The weather and the fuel shortage combined yesterday to blitzkrieg the University Veterans association clubhouse, freezing the pipes and giving a refrigerator-like atmosphere to the entire building.

"But we'll be open again for a big evening tomorrow night, I'm sure," said UVA President Johnny Clampitt yesterday.

Some Relief

H. D. Bennett, of Bennett and Blockidge, reported that a little relief for the fuel shortage came into Chapel Hill yesterday afternoon in the form of a carload of run-of-the-mine lump coal and a carload of stoker coal. The cars total approximately 55 tons each.

"We're only giving customers a ton at a time though," said Bennett, "and sometimes only half a ton. A lot of people are temporarily shifting from fuel oil to coal because the oil shortage is even worse. It's hitting hard in the trailer camps and Victory Village where they can't make any change-over.

"We have promises of several more carloads this week and several next week, but with strikes in the coal fields and the weather tie-up, ye never know," he concluded.

Mercury Low

Meanwhile, the mercury was still hanging a little low in Chapel Hill. The local weather bureau reported yesterday's high as being 32 degrees and the low at 22 degrees. The thermometer remained around 30 most of the afternoon and began sinking as darkness came on.

The expected snow never fell yesterday, but in its place came some light rain and sleet early in the morning followed by a repeat performance late in the afternoon.

According to United Press weather reports, the state is not due for any storms tomorrow, but the day certainly won't be sunny. The forecast is cloudy with slightly higher temperatures, rain in the southeastern sector, and light freezing rain in the west and north changing to ordinary rain this afternoon. Exactly what weather conditions would hit Chapel Hill was not made clear last night.

Quonset Huts Cold

One thing was clear yesterday evening, however. The fuel oil situation was very clear in the minds of many quonset hut dwellers. With no fuel delivery yesterday afternoon, half the huts were already out of oil by around 8:30, and the others were running quite low, according to a resident of the area.

Siphoning of oil from the few huts with any left was apparently going on again last night. The answer was 'Naturally" when a hut resident was asked if pilfering was occuring.

A PERFORMING CHIMP at the San Antonio, Texas, zoo, "Trudy" dons her slipover and head kerchief as the weatherman predicts more cold weather. "Trudy" needn't worry as the temperature in the monkey house is kept constant at approximately 72 degrees. (International)

Big Freeze Hits Miller-Nash Men

"It's sorta chilly out here," a resident of Miller dormitory wailed yesterday as he explained the predicament of his dorm-mates living and shivering in Miller and Nash dormitories with around 30 window panes broken out.

The situation was created during Monday's snow-storm of a week ago, when a bunch of the lads staged a Miller vs. Nash snowball contest, and the window glass caught the worst of it.

University authorities took a "now you must pay for your fun" attitude before they would authorize repairs, and the current snowfall and freezing winds found the Miller-Nashites still wrangling over the collection of the necessary money to pay the University for the replacements.

University Building Supervisor J. S. Bennett said yesterday that an agreement had been worked out with dorm representatives, though, whereby each resident would be assessed a certain guaranteed amount, and the glass repairs should be started today.

World Federalists

At a 5 o'clock meeting in the Grail room today, the campus World Federalists will discuss negative and affirmative approaches to the advisability of a preventive war with Russia. The discussion will be led by Jim Roberts.

As a special feature of the program, chapter president Jake Wicker will lead a discussion of Norman Thomas' 4-point program for peace as presented by the CPU guest speaker here Tuesday night.

All persons interested are invited to attend the meeting and to participate in the discussions Wicker said.

YWCA Talks Set

Officers and some cabinet members of the YWCA will speak tonight to the Junior council, meeting in the Grail room at 7 o'clock. Each girl will explain her duties in the Y, and the functioning of her committee, and the junior members will criticize and suggest improvements.

Ruth Evans, Emily von Borries, Julia Ross, Marshall Spears, and Sally Lee, officers; and Katherine McLean, Doris Harrell Sauls, Hilda Frances Lawrence, and Sally Woodhull, committee chairmen, will speak tonight. The remainder of the cabinet will speak at next Thursday's meeting.

Snow, Ice Cause Injuries In Falls

Snowy walks and icy steps are taking their customary toll in injuries to University community residents, infirmary authorities said yesterday. Eight or ten broken ankles and arms were reported and one student in Victory Village suffered a spine injury in an ice-caused fall, but Dr. Ed Hedgpeth, University physician, said this injury was not believed to be serious.

Alumni Secretary J. Maryon Saunders chipped his elbow yesterday morning when he slipped on the steps of the Carolina Inn.

"We advise all students to keep inside as much as possible," Dr. Hedgpeth said, "not only because of accident hazards, but also because of the chance of colds and flu developing with continued exposure to the damp, cold weather we are experiencing."

2:15

Thomas Declares None Believe In Free Enterprise; Hits UMT

By Chuck Hauser

"The organizing ideal in America lives in the 'free enterprize' which none of us believe in," declared Norman Thomas during an address on "Forces at Work in the World Today" given in Gerrard hall at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The keynote of the Socialist leader's talk was the expression of a desire to see a passionate fight by people for the things they believe in, instead of their mere acceptance of those things as the lesser of two evils.

"An American may love his wife," Thomas said, "because Mr. Jones' wife is worse looking. In the same way, we love democracy because dictatorship is a worse system.

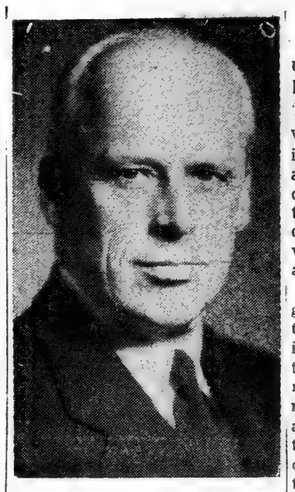
"Men must make their own histories within a given era, not accept slogans for philosophy," he said, asking for a concerted drive for new ideals and goals.

That, Thomas explained, is his reason for wanting a third party. "The third party may aid in strengthening and adding to a good two-party system in the United States," he said.

World Government

Touching on world government, the five-time Socialist candidate for president of the United States mused that he could not quite see anyone "dying for the good old United Nations."

"'One World' would be very much like a bunch of alley cats all bound up in a sack," Thomas declared. "Propinquity does not mean love or even cooperation."



On the race question, the elderly Socialist quipped, "Neither Miami nor Elizabeth Arden would be half so prosperous if the color white were really worshipped like it supposedly is.

"Unless men go into the fight against racial discrimination with the passion with which they hate war—and the same thing goes for the fight for disarmament—it will not work out."

"The times cry out for cooperation," the white-haired Thomas stormily declared.

TRYOUTS TODAY

Tryouts for the musical-comedy "Sweep It Clean" will be held this afternoon at 4:30 in Memorial hall. The 38 speaking parts, chorus, and many technical positions in the original musical are open to students, faculty and townspeople. Singers are requested to bring their own music.

Sound And Fury Releases Plans For New Show

"Roll 'Em Over" plans have been released by Sound and Fury president, director, Tommy Thomas.

Thomas says the show will be a two act musical satire on the history of "the theater's other illegitimate offspring, the movies."

"Roll 'Em Over" will begin with Cecil B. DeMille's silent comedies and "Girlie" spectacles and work its way through varied types of productions including a composer's fictitious life, a plague of monsters, vampires and werewolves, a "certain lady known as Lil," and a "sweet suffering child star."

Musical Side

Individual singers, a male chorus and a large dancing cast will comprise the musical side of the review. The dancers will do their stuff in three numbers, the most prominent of those being a first act waltz finale linked with the "glorious cause of the South during the war between the states." Included in the show's music will be three Frank Matthews original songs that Thomas calls "top drawer Matthews."

Sound and Fury writers Pete Strader, Ken Gammage, Colbert Leonard and Tommy Thomas have provided the revue's comedy. The authors have written skits and individual acts on all phases of the Hollywood industry.

"Roll 'Em Over" is scheduled to go on the boards Tuesday and Wednesday, February 24 and 25.

By Mary Ann Taber

Norman Thoma's attack on universal military training in his speech at Memorial Hall Tuesday night highlighted his visit to Chapel Hill and following the speech students were able to question him further on his views. In less formal talks here yesterday the Socialist leader commented on various other current affairs and policies.

Questioned on the Wallace program for world peace as opposed to his own, Thomas said, Wallace is opposed to universal military training, and advocates disarmament. The Wallace group offers no controls with disarmament and is "playing into the hands of the Molotovs." Wallace's criticism of the Marshall Plan as remilitarization of Europe, the liberal leader called "unfortunate and unjust," and professed to be "puzzled" by those who saw military implications in the Plan as it has been presented.

Back Marshall Plan

In commenting further on the Marshall Plan, Thomas said that "whoever opposes it aids the forces of isolation and communism." As it stands now, he said, it is a step towards bring economic life and vitality to Europe and is a defense against Communism there. The Plan, he went on must be developed to aid all Europe, and there is always danger that it may be changed at the hands of the legislators and administrators.

When asked what his immediate course of action would be to arouse the American people to appeal for universal disarmament, as he had proposed in the Tuesday night speech, Thomas pointed out that at the present there are numbers of organizations who give some service to his cause. The CIO, the churches of America, farmer groups, and the American Legion oppose rearmament. Many in the Senate have issued statements against it.

The question was asked Thomas if he ever felt a sense of futility as leader of the Socialist party which unremittingly presses its ideals on the American people with no great degree of success. To that Thomas answered "And if I did I should often feel too that it is futile to continue to live," and he added, "I would rather fail by being a Socialist and advocating the right things, than succeed as a Democrat or Republican and advocate the wrong things."

Lionel Weil Dies; Goldsboro Trustee Was Active Alumnus

Lionel Weil, 70, a trustee and benefactor of the University, died yesterday in Baltimore's John Hopkins hospital after a short illness.

Long active in state-wide agriculture and in business in his Wayne county home, Mr. Weil was one of five partner-owners of the Weil brothers department store in Goldsboro, which burned on Monday. He was also president of the Wayne Corporation, and, according to Jack Riley of the Raleigh News and Observer, was associated with every activity in Wayne county.

Gave to University

Mr. Weil was graduated magna cum laude, taking a Ph. B. degree, with the University class of 1897. He was appointed to fill the vacancy on the University board of trustees caused by the death of his cousin Leslie Weil in June 1943. In 1943, he made a substantial gift to the University to enable it to "cooperate with the Southern Council on International Relations . . . and the co-ordinator of Inter-American affairs."

One of the nation's foremost authorities on agricultural science, he long supported the state's free soil-testing service as a member of the state Board of Agriculture. He was widely known for his work on scientific agriculture and conducted considerable research on plant hormones in the South and Midwest.

His first wife, the late Ruth Heyn Weil, died in December 1941. He was remarried in 1944 to the former Mrs. May Shalleck of Baltimore, who survives. Three children, all by his first marriage, survive. They are Lionel S., a partner in Weil brothers, of Goldsboro; Mrs. David Young of Shreveport, La., and Miss Ruth Weil, at home.

During the first war, he was State chairman of the American Jewish relief campaign. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the B.P.O.E., the Rotary, and B'nai B'rith.

Tryouts To Be Held

Tryouts for roles in "Henri III et sa Cour," a romantic drama by Dumas to be presented in French by Le Cercle Francais, will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Green room of the Playmakers theater.

To be presented early in the spring quarter, the play will be directed by Walter Creech of the romance languages department. The cast will not be limited to members of Le Cercle Francais, and anyone on campus is eligible to try out tonight.

Varsity Players Sign Petition To Help Mike Rubish

Following recent criticism of Student party endorsement of Mike Rubish for student body president, a petition bearing 34 signatures was turned in to SP officials Tuesday.

The petition, which noticeably bears signatures of varsity footballers and basketball players, followed a vote taken at Monday night's SP meeting which reaffirmed an overwhelming party support of Rubish's candidacy.

"As students who know Mike Rubish well," the petition states, "we are glad to endorse him for President of the student body. He is a sincere and intelligent person, and we like the courage and feeling for teamwork which make him a good choice for a job like President. He would help to bring student government closer to the students."

Signatures of the following persons accompanied the endorsement:

Art Weiner, Nemo Nearman, John Dillon, Jim Camp, Walt Pupa, Dan Nyimicz, Don Hartig.

Croc Crocker, Jim Hamilton, Chan Highsmith, John Kenfield, Jr., Coy W. Carson, Rog Scholbe, Bob Paxton, Norman Kohler.

Mervin W. Cole, Stanly Marczyk, Billy Britt, Bill Crutchfield, Billy Baise, Joseph Stanley Thomas Kosinki III, Paul K. Plunkett.

Charlie Justice, Gran Childress, Emmett Cheek, Thomas R. Kain, Sid Varney, Joe Romano.

Fred Bauer, Joe Cospito, Monk Whiteheart, Harry Beason, Clarence DiChiara, Joe Swicegood.

Committee To Plan Spring Orientation

Preliminary plans for orientation for the spring term will be made this afternoon at a brief meeting of the orientation committee in Roland Parker lounge number 3 at 5o'clock, according to Jess Dedmond, committee chairman.

The following members of the committee are requested to attend: Walter Arnold, Harry Snowden, Emile Saleeby, Dick Boren, Page Harris, Donald Hanes, Charles McRae, Peter Gerns, Patsy McNutt.

McAllister Heads N.C. Methodist Movement

Jim McAllister, president of the Wesley foundation on campus was elected president of the North Carolina Methodist Student movement at the annual state conference in Winston-Salem last weekend. For the past year he has been state vice-president.

A junior of Roper, McAllister has been working with Wesley Foundation since he came to the University and has served it in many capacities including being Editor of the "Wesley Worker", a publication within that group.

Szafaryn Backed For Presidency, Pritchard V. P.

Len Szafaryn and Bill Pritchard have been given the University party nomination for the offices of president and vice-president respectively of the Carolina Athletic association, party officials announced yesterday.

Szafaryn, a rising senior from Ambridge, Pennsylvania, is president of the junior class, elected with a three-party endorsement, and an ex-president of the Monogram club.

Football Letterman

A varsity football letterman for three successive years, the 19-year-old commerce major was All-Southern conference tackle this year and received mention on the All-Southern team.

He is a member of the Grail, the University Dance committee, and the Interdormitory council. At present, he is serving on the Constitutional committee of the Monogram club. He is president of Everett dormitory and a Pi Kappa Alpha pledge.

Two Sports

Pritchard, who is now president of the Monogram club, has two football letters and also lettered in swimming. He is a member of the University club and the Orientation committee.

Last fall's Orientation athletic meeting in Kenan stadium for new men was conducted by Pritchard who also originated the Monogram club's annual Blue-White spring football game.

A Delta Psi, he is a member of the Interfraternity council and serves as social chairman for the group. He is a native of Chapel Hill and a commerce major.

Council To Discuss Segregation Problem

The February meeting of the Intercollegiate council for Religion in Life will feature discussion groups on three phases of the problem of segregation.

The groups will discuss segregation in interstate travel, in churches and in education and will be led by Dr. Herman Taylor, NAACP lawyer; Rev. Charles Jones, Presbyterian minister; and Dr. Tinsley Spraggins, professor of History at St. Augustine's; respectively.

This meeting which is to be held at North Carolina college for Negroes in Durham at 3 o'clock today, is a follow up of a panel discussion on segregation held last month. All interested students and faculty are

To Plan State Meet

The Wallace club will discuss plans for a forthcoming state convention of college students supporting the Progressive party at the regular weekly meeting of the organization Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge. The convention is to be held at the end of this month, but the exact time and place have not yet been announced.

Party, Not Poetry

Dr. A. R. Newsome admits he likes poetry, but he said yesterday he knows very little about its history and development.

The misunderstanding came after a misprint in yesterday's paper announced the history department head would speak on "the history of poetry and its development" to (of all people) the Young Republicans club!

Dr. Newsome will speak to the club at its 7:30 meeting tonight in Roland Parker lounge. But his subject will be as originally intended, the history of the party—Republican, that is—and its development. The public is invited.

New Student Welfare Group Names Released

By Raney Stanford

The composition of the newly-organized Student Welfare board was announced yesterday by Chancellor Robert B. House, and Board Chairman Fred Weaver said the group should begin functioning within two or three weeks.

This group is designed to plan and formulate action on any University matters not directly associated with classroom work. The main board is composed of 27 University administrators while students are represented by a 15-man advisory committee of student office-holders.

Chancellor House pointed out that with all the school's administrators conferring together on this board, concentrated and well-coordinated action could be brought to the multitudinous problems that fall into the welfare classification. The student committee will keep the board members constantly informed as to student reaction on proposals, and will bring student complaints and recommendations to the group's attention.

The group has no overall administrative authority, but Dean of Men Fred Weaver commented that any action asked for by a group of such composition would necessarily be a "strong recommendation" to the University's heads.

Students Appointed

The student advisory committee, as appointed by Chancellor House from the suggestions of Dean Weaver and Student Body President Tom Eller, is composed of Eller; Jack Folger, student body vice-president; Barron Mills, Daily Tar Heel editor; Bob Broughton, Student council chairman; Bill Tate, chairman of the Men's council; Emile Saleeby, president of the Interdormitory council; Leon Todd, president of the Interfraternity council; John Clampitt, president of the UVA; Herbert Mitchell, president of the freshman class; Barbara Cashion, speaker of the Coed senate; Dorleen MacDonald, chairman of the Women's council; Jim Vogler, member-at-large; Charles Foley, president of the YMCA; Ruth Evans, president of the YWCA; and Tom McDade, representative of Victory Village.

Eller said the position of "member at large" would enable qualified and outstanding students who do not hold campus office to take part in the decisions of the group.

Faculty Members

The full board will probably hold a session once every quarter, Weaver estimated. Its University members include Roy Armstrong, director of admissions; J. S. Bennett, supervisor of operations; Miss Katherine Carmichael, dean of women; Dean D. D. Carroll, school of commerce; Miss Kathryn Cook, associate director of placement; O. K. Cornwell, department of physical education; Dr. Harry W. Crane, consultant psychologist, University Health service; Mrs. Betty Rose Dowden, secretary, YWCA; R. A. Fetzer, director of athletics;

Joe M. Galloway, director of placement; Dr. Ed McG. Hedgpeth, University physician; Raymond L. Jefferies, assistant for dormitories; Dr. Cecil Johnson, chairman, faculty executive committee; A. K. King, graduate school; Edwin S. Lanier, director, central records office; E. L. Mackie, dean of students; W. D. Perry, director, testing bureau; Guy B. Phillips, director, summer school; Mrs. Lillian Rosenberg, adviser, Hillel foundation;

J. M. Saunders, Alumni secretary; Claude C. Shotts, general secretary, YMCA; William M. Shuford, director, Graham Memorial; Dean C. P. Spruill, General college; C. E. Teague, business manager; James E. Wadsworth, housing officer; Dean William Wells, College of arts and sciences; Fred H. Weaver, dean of men, chairman.

House Selects 15 Students For Board Advisory Group

European Recovery and Socialism

Last Sunday, on the eve of Norman Thomas' visit to the campus there appeared in several state papers an article by Leland Stowe which states that the United States does not understand Socialism. The main difficulty lies within the 90 per cent of the conservatives in this country who regard Socialism and Communism as practically identical.

Mr. Stowe says we have a right to be more than a little peeved at this situation because in European society the Socialists are "among the strongest bulwarks—against Communism." Included in this classification is strongly-Socialistic Britain and somewhat-Socialistic France.

The Marshall Plan, the only proposal which has been suggested that even halfway meets approval, would, according to the views expressed by many experts, have to be worked out in detail by the European countries collectively. This could very well be called Socialism since Socialism has been defined as governmental planning. Under this definition the TVA and other governmental projects of our time have been attacked as socialistic. Socialism in this sense is implied in that all of the European nations would have to get together and decide just what American dollars are to be used for and which country needs mining machinery and which peoples are in desperate need of farming implements. Certainly benevolent America does not want to keep pouring its dollars down a rat hole in a helter-skelter fashion.

And since European recovery, according to many, hinges on Socialism then we would do well to attempt to understand the principles of Socialism and the reasoning of the Socialists.

The short, third visit in recent years of Norman Thomas, probably America's Number One Socialist for the past quarter of a century, was welcome.

Despite the undesirable weather which is always a governing factor of attendance, the Carolina Political Union managed to publicize the event sufficiently to draw approximately 1,000 curious or otherwise interested persons.

An eloquent and perfectly-at-ease Thomas seemed at home on the rostrum and presented his points well-wrapped in factual proof. He is the kind of speaker which an audience likes—his witticism seemed unrehearsed and part of his conversation. And his variety of subject matter on which he expressed opinions should be convincing enough to give us an idea of the scope of his interests and knowledge.

Thomas coupled his beliefs against Universal Military Training with an alternative plan—Universal Disarmament program administered by an international board of control which will keep checking to see that all regulations are adhered to.

His comments on the Marshall Plan, as a Socialist, were encouraging. He believes that if administered correctly the Marshall Plan is the hope of Europe and for Peace.

As a Socialist he has helped us realize the problems of administering the Marshall Plan in Europe.

Federal Aid For Education?

The now familiar battle of words about the feasibility of a program of federal aid for education—a politics-ridden issue that has been pro and conned almost to death—is back in print again, or should we say still?

Senator George D. Aiken of Vermont has introduced a bill into Congress calling for federal aid to schools. In addition to renewing the fight for the eventual approval of the program, the bill has brought forth a volume of words, oaths, threats and moans from a variety of individuals who would rather die with states rights at their side than see schools receive financial help from the government.

The arguments against federal aid for public schools are familiar; they have been aired over and over again; breeds socialism . . . infringes on the end of civil liberties . . . our children will be seduced by the government propaganda if the latter takes over the schools.

To attempt to refute these arguments without consuming reams of paper would be useless: suffice it to say, Are the people of the United States going to stand dignantly and defiantly on "their constitutional rights" while their children "learn in one-room shanties and are taught by under paid, and in some cases unqualfied teachers?"

It seems to us that it is time the people of the United States stopped worrying about a possible loss of abstract "right" and began looking out for the welfare of their children.

As the alleged leading nation of the world, the United States possesses a school system of which she can hardly be proud.

The percentage of failures in colleges show, among other things, the lack of preparation in high schools. The elementary and high schools of the United States in general, rural areas in particular and Southeran rural areas especially, are doing an undeniably poor job. This situation has existed a long time. The states concerned have done little to remedy the situation themselves.

It seems logical that these states, having failed, would be willing to turn the task of revitalizing American education over to the federal government.

The need is for education—not rights. If America produces a literate, capable generation of college graduates in the next twenty years, the "rights" will take care of themselves.

from The Battalion,
A & M College,
College Station, Texas

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr.
CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis
SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser
SPORTS EDITOR: Charlie Gibson.
NIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette.
ASST. BUS. MGRS.: Mary W. Sledge, T. E. Holden
ASST. CIRC. MGRS.: Randall Hudson, Don Snow
SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison
EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan

NEWS STAFF: Raney Stanford, Donald MacDonald, Sally Woodhull, John Stump, Herb Nachman, Charlie Gibson, Gordon Huffines, Margaret Gaston, Mark Summer, Paul Rothman, Nina Davis, George Roberts, Elaine Patton, Jean Baskerville, Mary Ann Taber, Weddy Thorp, Emily Baker, Miriam Evans, Doris Weaver, Nancy Black, Helen Beam, Daniel Wallace, Sam Whitehall, Helen Highwater.
SPORTS STAFF: Morty Shaap, Dick Jenrette, Bill Kellam, Larry Fox, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Bill Gallagher.
BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty, Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr., Lena Campbell, Ed Campbell, Al Carpenter.

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

"Drink the rest of your bourbon, Johnny. We shouldn't waste grain with all those people starving in Europe."

Carolina Carousel

Hawgs Too Have New Look

By R. Foo Giduz

The Carouseler is no great shakes for philosophizing, but yesterday he picked up some "bon mots" that really struck home. . . Speaking of animal products in his economic geography class, Prof. Sam Emory likened hogs to the "new look" with women. . . . It seems that back in the '90's it was stylish for hog-raisers to get their porkers just as fat as possible. . . . Likewise bustled-up plump women were in the vogue. . . Came the turn of the century and hawgs and harpies alike took a "stream-leaning" trend with their meat.

Now, the observant prof mused, paunchy porkers are again coming into style, though in a modified compromise "new look" manner. . . . And women are "frilling" up their frocks better and padding their hips a la mode. . . The big question is: Who is following who? . . . And on which of the species is the "new look" more becoming?

—Jim Harrington has been working for the University Book Exchange for over 20 years now. . . He's the one who sees to it that the "Y store" is open in time for the 7:30 coffee run each morning. . . . He certainly knows enough about the store to be its manager. . . . So Jim opened up the Book Ex as usual Tuesday morning.—Then about 10:30 in the morning he heard that his wife, who had been ill for a number of days, had just died. . . .

Life is never easy for fine folks like Jim, and we who have worked side by side with him have grown to have a tremendous respect for him. . . . We can help Jim now at a time when he truly needs assistance. . . . There is a box for contributions at the cashier's booth in the Book Exchange. . . . Do you know Jim?—Remember him now.

Just for the record, and to reveal platform plank No. 98, let it be known that Mellow Melton (Remember that at the polls!) favors hot TODDIES in Lenoir hall both at mealtimes and all day! . . . (Rally' round you thirsty voters!) . . . An ardent fellow constituent of "burly photographer" recently referred to him by the chummy title of "Artless Art." . . . Kinda like that handle. —It oughta get us the Bolshevists' vote!

What's Up in Graham Memorial

The Graham Memorial Rendezvous will be transformed to a New Orleans waterfront cafe for tomorrow night's gala cabaret show, with decorations that will heighten the atmosphere of the "Birth of the Blues" routine that is to be presented under the direction of Bill Corley.

Beginning at 8 o'clock, the show will run for about 45 minutes, and will include numbers by a jazz combo, singers, and a dance team composed of Bill Corley and Grace Blades.

Contrary to the usual policy of wide-open house, no stags will be admitted to tomorrow night's show, because of the limited seating facilities. Attendance at past shows, which has been overflowing, necessitated this change.

Mudville Mutterings

Buttered Rum In Bathtubs

By Don Sapp

Our weather problems have been solved. According to a scientific minded friend who has done much research in this field, the perfect way to clear snow from the streets is to pour hot buttered rum on it. This is a very practical plan because this chemical compound can be made very easily just the way you make gin—that is in a bathtub. The recipe can probably be found in any cook book published during the early 20's. The butter is easier to come by.

From the ridiculous to the ridiculuser we find the dog question appearing again, this time in reverse. You may remember during the fall there was some talk of dogs being a nuisance in the village, now it appears that the menaces have become the menaced. No less than three pets have been rescued from overexposure since Monday night. Cockers seem to be suffering more than any other variety with the exception of daschunds. These little animals being slung so low have great difficulty navigating in the snow. One or two ingenious owners have tried putting them on stilts but stilts bear such a striking resemblence to small tree trunks, posts, etc. that they defeat their purpose.

We have a word for the amateur cabinet maker this week. If you are in need of something to put your record player on, and something in which to put your records, your problems are solved. All you need is a medium sized packing box, a hammer, a saw, the patience of Job, and you can make a very adequate record cabinet. First cover the top of the case far enough to set the record player on it. Then build a partition in the middle of the case. Leave one end open and place small slats to hold the records up. At the other end place a door and put a shelf about two thirds the way from the top, by this time you're ready for a beer. Next, two weeks later, place slate on the bottom of the shelf and you're all set. There isn't room for a picture here but it really does work. The shallow shelf at the top will hold albums laid flat or any old records that you received for your birthday and don't like. It also helps to paint it, but that is a matter of personal taste.

According to an old Proverb "No news is good news" which should make things great in the village this week.

Write Away

Redistricting Idea Had Merits

Dear Sir:

Does anyone object to a freshman running off at the mouth? The last few days I have tried to do a little straight thinking about something that I think might concern all of us. The product of this "painful" process of reasoning resulted in two or three conclusions that the more experienced on our campus perhaps consider as "green" as the freshman I am. Some of the first big political news I noticed at UNC during the last quarter was a legislative re-districting bill that was before the Student Legislature. If I remember correctly, that bill suffered the same fate which clever statesmen doom so many proposals; that of being saddled with amendments and riders that completely nullified any of its original intents and then either being tabled or passed as a toothless mockery.

I would not care to say why this bill did not pass. Perhaps it had portents that the average student did not recognize. There is even the chance that it would have proven detrimental to the purposes of some group that was powerful enough to destroy it. Perhaps our Student Legislators deemed it a hindrance to a properly functioning government of, by, and for the students.

Correct me if I err, but our legislators are supposed to represent, in about four divisions, the entire student body, are they not? (I honestly admire them for the fine job they do under the circumstances.) Self thinking and self deciding persons though they should be. I wonder if our legislature ever wonders if it is taking the right step. Doesn't it often reduce to the mere doing of what one individual thinks best? Would not the whole business prove more efficient and more democratic if each Legislator knew that he and a colleague or two were representing one or two dormitories, were responsible to the men in those dorms and that his duty was to know the will of the men there and abide by it? Would not the contact between a small group of men and their legislators be spread over the campus in a better student government? Would not the enormous number of Legislators that a person votes for without being acquainted with be sliced? Might such a system even increase the now lagging interest in elections?

Perhaps these arguments seem childish to the experienced statesman of our campus and the babble of a befuddled freshman to many. However, lets consider the redistricting plan some more. It effects us average students. What do we think of a plan whereby we could have two or three fellows representing our and neighboring dorms; fellows that we know represent us and are responsible to us?

These ideas are built around the men's dormitory system of our campus because it is the one in which I am. However, they could be applied to any other. So, let's think about it, it concerns us.

Eric Cofield

Close To The Heart

Dear Mr. Eller:

My brothers and I were grateful for both the lovely flowers which you sent for the students of Carolina and your own note of sympathy. You know, of course, that nothing was so close to the heart of my father as the University of North Carolina. There was no sense of duty in his devotion to Carolina, but a continuing, warm-hearted love for all the old place and its young men up to the time of his death.

I am sure the only request he would have to you or the students you represent would be that we send you again all his heart's wishes for the continuing effectiveness of Carolina and Carolina men in the service of the State.

Sincerely,
Jonathan Daniels

On The Council

Dear Sir:

I agree that something be done about the Student cil—BUT don't abolish it. A pellate power is necessar democracy. Now that we've up a student gove rnmen keep it (as much as poss the hands of the studen of the faculty. In the world (comparatively spe that is) supreme court juro judges) are, generally sp supreme to superior or court jurors. Why not adop policy here?

I suggest that the legi adopt an amendment to t fect that the members Men's and Women's coun elected from the undergr school, and the members Student Council be elected the graduate school since ates have a few years adv in maturity and knowledg undergraduates.

In order to remove pol prejudices as much as pos suggest that each of the political parties on campu three of the nine memb each of the councils thus ing each party to a third members. On second though, by that way they never reach a decision.

Gilbert H. Burnett

Again and Again

Dear Sir:

It seems that with the cation of the Bernstein lette February 8th that the Bern incident still has some questionable aspects. Too, the called Committee's report was recently published had the general attributes of report, which gives factual formation, and leaves the clusions and opinions to be by the reader, but seemed to just a conclusive statement wh could be opinion or otherw Perhaps THE DAILY TAR HEEL was attempting to give a v brief edited resume of the mittee's report, but if so the essential characteristic report were left out.

Suffice it to say that I have taken my information from THE DAILY TAR HEEL, and to date Mr. Bernstein seems to have made a case for himself; if invalid should prompt DAILY TAR HEEL to a correct and true report public, both in the interest the University of North Ca and Mr. Bernstein.

Such a charge as has been brought by Mr. Bernstein should not be treated lightly, either the University or by the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Robert E. Gil

MEETING CANCELLED

The meeting of the P club division of the C Dames club scheduled for t at the Presbyterian church been cancelled.

This Is It

What Is The Power Of Law

By John Roeder

Yesterday a friend told me that Universal Military Training is necessary because the United Nations cannot enforce its decisions. It has no police force.

Immediately the question of the power of law popped into my mind. I thought of the United States Supreme Court and some of its decisions. How are they enforced?

Does law have a controlling power, which needs no sanctions? The answer seems to be, "Yes."

One of the most discussed of these decisions, the decision which may soon disrupt the tranquil life in Chapel Hill, is the recent decision that the State of Oklahoma must supply a Negro woman with legal training. The case is still hopping back and forth between the State Supreme court and the United States Supreme court. But I am not interested in what the final outcome will be. This article is not concerned with the race question. It is concerned with the effect of a decision on the life of people opposed to it.

As yet no attempt has been made to use sanctions against those who will not abide by the new law. As a matter of fact, we are not sure what the law is. We don't know whether the Supreme court tried to declare Negro segregation laws unconstitutional or not.

The decision only stated that equal educational facilities must be granted Negroes and whites.

The results. Oklahoma is still battling. Already one regent in that state has declared that the idea of setting up a separate school should be abandoned. Arkansas has announced that its university will be open, on its graduate levels, to Negroes. Deleware, another state which has segregation laws has opened its university to Negroes. South Carolina is considering doing the same.

All this has been done without any sanctions, without force, without the use of a national police force.

Why has this decision, so tenuous, so uncertain, already led to these results? Is it because the law has some mystic quality which controls us? One thing is certain. It is not because any physical pressure has been brought to bear on the states which have begun to lift the color bar in their universities.

My guess is that the results are due to an undefineable force inherent to law itself.

If this can happen on a national scale, why can't it happen on an international scale? How can we say that it is not happening?

We can not abandon the United Nations merely by shrugging our shoulders and saying that it is unable to effectuate its purposes because it has no sanctions.

All law has at least one sanction. If we abondon it we will have chaos.

Whatever the power of law is, let us remember it does have a power which we cannot fight because the battle is the chaos. And after almost every battle the laws become stricter and harsher and more oppresive for those who fought them. And then we have a hard fight for freedom.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS
1—To be torne
5—To soak up
8—Strikebreaker
12—To press
13—The hawk parrot
14—Kind of lily (var.)
15—Fragments
17—Sign
18—Dinner course
19—Opened
21—Levers of the beautiful
23—European herring
26—Beverage
27—Rage
30—Fuel
31—It is (cont.)
32—To halt
33—Pasture
34—Bro
35—Obeys
36—Set apart
39—To rally
41—Speaker
45—Path
46—Not positive
48—Small nail
49—Beverage
50—Arrow poison (var.)
51—Transaction
52—Settlers (abbr.)
53—To fear

DOWN
1—Grain
2—Near East
3—Do not re
4—To beg
5—Mattress
6—River (abbr.)
7—Light lines
8—Range
9—Location of 10—Away from 11—Group of 16—Fur-bearing
20—Consumed
22—North Afri
Indians
23—Pursuit
24—Write
25—Sa
28—Crimson
29—Pigment
measure
31—Abilities
32—More dignified
34—Aviators
35—Olympus builders
37—Glove fabric
38—Robes
39—Priests garments
40—
42—Fork prong
43—Baking chamber
44—Grass
47—Ever (poet.)

Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Kemp's Pin In Finale Gives Wrestlers 14-12 Win Over Duke

Back Tracking In Sports

with

Morty Schaap

Monogram Highlights

Tuesday night, the Monogram club of the University of North Carolina inducted some 27 new members. These men were the winners of letters in football, soccer and cross country. Soccer drew the largest number of new men as it was the first year that the sport had been awarded Monograms. The club itself suffers from one big disadvantage—the lack of interest in attending meetings. This can be attributed to the fact that the organization at the present time is without a permanent meeting place. This will be remedied in the near future when they move back to their club house. It is hoped by that time, with the dining and lounging facilities, that bigger turnouts will be on hand. A good example was that over 80 men came down the night Yack pictures were taken.

The club now is reorganizing and is framing a constitution. This document will make a point to define active and inactive members. In other words, the social butterflies will be eliminated from an active position in the club unless they can see fit to attend the meetings.

Under the guiding eye of President Bill Pritchard, the club has several aims. The first is to be a service to the campus. Any form of help that can be performed will be accepted by the organization The past fall saw the group hold a "Meet the Coach and Athlete" night as part of Freshmen orientation and then come back with a dance the weekend of the Wake Forest football game. The proceeds of the dance went to the University club to aid their pep rallies. The club also sponsored the winning candidate in the Miss Payoff contest to raise funds for the WSSF.

The Blue-White Football Game

The club is planning big things for the annual Blue-White football game to be held at the end of spring football drills. For those new students who have not attended the past spring games here is a resume. About a week before practice ends the squad is split into two teams, Blue and White. Separate coaches are assigned to each unit and different offenses are designed for the contest. At half time the Monogram club awards the trophies to the Outstanding Varsity and Assistant or Jayvee coach of the year. Plans are being made to include a dance that night too.

Incidentally, last year's spring ball game was a picture of the season to come. The high powered offense was stopped by hard charging linemen and the game developed into a battle between the forward walls.

One thing that the Monogram club wishes to convey to the campus is that they are not exclusive and they wish to take an active part in the various phases of non-political life on the campus. With some 200 members in the fold this unit feels that it has a rightful place with the top honorary organizations at Carolina.

Dis and Data

With it almost a foregone conclusion that Jack Milne would get a bid to the New York AC track meet Saturday night, but somewhere along the line things went amiss and no invitation was forthcoming. Milne took it philosophically and started work for the Indoor games February 28. Incidentally, Milne's 9:11.7 in Boston last Saturday night took almost nine seconds from his previous University record of 9:20.5 set at the Penn Relays last spring. . . . Plenty of action tonight in Woollen gym when the Jayvees seek revenge against the strong Wolfpack juniors. . . . Weather permitting Jim Hamilton and Bill Miller will be in the starting lineup of the Charlotte Clippers against Wake Forest, the game is slated for Charlotte Memorial Auditorium. . . . Dub Johnson, former Carolina baseball star will be seeking the first base job for the Raleigh Caps, if spring ever arrives. . . . Cookie DiChiara, another former diamond man is still looking for the right spot, New York Yankees? . . . Will Carolina be a team without a ball field this spring? . . . Saturday is the last day to swap coupons for tickets to the State-Carolina basketball brawl. . . . Frosh basketballers will take off to play High Point school in the furniture city Saturday. Small court will probably make it tougher than last week's game in Woollen. . . . Marvin Allen making big plans for the State Class A & B basketball tourneys to be held here in March. . . . Allen also is meet manager for the Indoor Track Meet. . . . Coach Everett Case of State told clinic in Greensboro that for better basketball more tourneys are needed with better coaches and facilities. . . . Congrats to Jim Mallory, former Heel grid and diamond star on his appointment to head of intercollegiate athletics at Elon college. Mallory put out top teams while he was at Burlington High school. . . . Cliff Baucom slipped quietly out of his job as track coach at Durham high to devote his full time to his duties as principal of a Durham elementary school. Baucom was a great coach and developed some of the best talent in the State. It is a tough blow to N. C. track to see him leave his job.

FREE!

ANY INSCRIPTION IN ANY LANGUAGE ON

YOUR VALENTINE CANDY HEART

MAKE IT PERSONAL

MAKE IT DANZIGER'S

Jayvee Cagers Meet State Here Tonight

Carolina's Lilliputian jayvee cagers and State's hardwood Gullivers, barring further blizzards, will continue this season's rather one-sided brotherly rivalry tonight at 8 o'clock in Woollen Gym.

The sky-scraping transplanted Yankees will probably rate as slight favorites over Jim Hamilton's small but fast quint, but the Pale Blue hoopsters were determined yesterday afternoon when they went through a lengthy scrimmage against their big brothers to avenge the earlier 45-39 defeat handed them by the Wolfpack in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium.

Slated To Start

Coach Hamilton disclosed yesterday that he will probably open the grudge battle with his usual lineup of Hal Ferraro and Pete Peters at forwards, John Tsantes in the pivot slot, and Charlie Thorne and possibly Bill White in the guard spots. White sprained his left ankle in a scrimmage against High Point High School last Saturday morning and the scrappy guard has been troubled by the weak underpin all week. So, if the frosh flash isn't in tip top shape tonight, Bill Harrington will open in his place.

Big Chet Gurski, 6-4 center, forward Tom Davis, and guards Joe Harand and Flatbusher Al Geist led the Aggies to their earlier victory on the slippery Auditorium floor. All are well over six feet tall but smaller Tar Heel are counting on their superior speed to make up for this disadvantage.

Twelfth Triumph

The Phantom juniors will be seeking their twelfth triumph in fifteen starts tonight. Yesterday afternoon Hamilton had his boys working out against both the varsity and earlier a collection of court-inclined gridders. The juniors successfully survived the rough workout against the brawny footballers with only a few bruises to give the Scottmen a rough time before knocking off for the day.

Hamilton was fairly well pleased with his charges' showing and expected his boys to give Future Farmers' jayvees a rough night if they can hit from the foul line as well as they did from the floor against the varsity.

Scottmen Embark Tonight to Face W & M, Maryland

Coach Tom Scott and his Carolina White Phantoms will embark on their last major road trip of the season today. The locals leave Chapel Hill tonight for out-of-town engagements with the Maryland Old Liners and William and Mary's Indians this weekend.

The trip will be made by train, thus avoiding the highways which are reported in bad condition over North Carolina and Virginia.

The Phantoms, who open their current tour by meeting Maryland on Friday night, will be out to improve their rather mediocre record on road trips this season. Carolina has won five of eight games played away this season. In contrast, Scott's charges have a great record of 12 victories without defeat on the home court in Woollen gymnasium. A pair of wins this weekend would considerably improve the out-of-town record.

Hard to Beat

In quest of their 17th win of the season, the Phantoms will be big favorites to top Maryland, but for some reason the Old Liners have always been unusually hard to beat on their own court. Carolina won the first meeting between the two clubs, 70-46. However, in 1946 the Phantoms beat the Liners with similar ease in Woollen gym, only to have a battle before taking a 33-31 win in College Park, the home of the Maryland cagers.

The Maryland squad received a big blow last week with the announcement that sharp-shooting Bill Wanish had quit the team, but Coach Flucie Stewart's boys will be prepared to give Carolina a rough evening regardless. Maryland has a 6-3 record in conference play and seems a good prospect to participate in the Sou-

(See PHANTOMS, page 4)

Swimmers Hold Time Trials Today; Weekend Starters to be Determined

All was fairly quiet on the water front yesterday afternoon as Coach Dick Jamerson sent his Greenbaum-less Blue Dolphins through another routine conditioning workout. The week's pre-Saturday double-header test comes this afternoon, though, when the Tar Heel mentor will stage an intra-squad swimming meet and time trial.

The results of today's aquatic activities will play a large part in determining who'll be in the starting lineups for the week-end's double date. On Saturday the varsity squad will be halved to meet Virginia in Charlottesville and George Washington in Bowman Gray pool.

Co-captain Jesse Greenbaum strained a back muscle earlier this week and consequently may not be available for Saturday's loop test. Jamerson had planned to send his ace medley relay trio, composed of breaststroker Bob Ousley, backstroker Norm Sper, and freestyler Greenbaum, against George Washington in an attempt to set a new Southern conference record. The present medley mark was set last week by the Dolphins against VPI.

Frosh Flash

Freshman backstroking sensation Jim Thomas, who usually handles the backing chores in the medley, will be probably gunning for the conference record in the 150 backstroke event against the Colonials. The speedy yearling broke the loop mark against Navy but the Middies don't belong to the Southern circuit so neither does that particular title.

Approximately 20 men will make the trip into the Old Dominion while the same number will probably see action against George Washington.

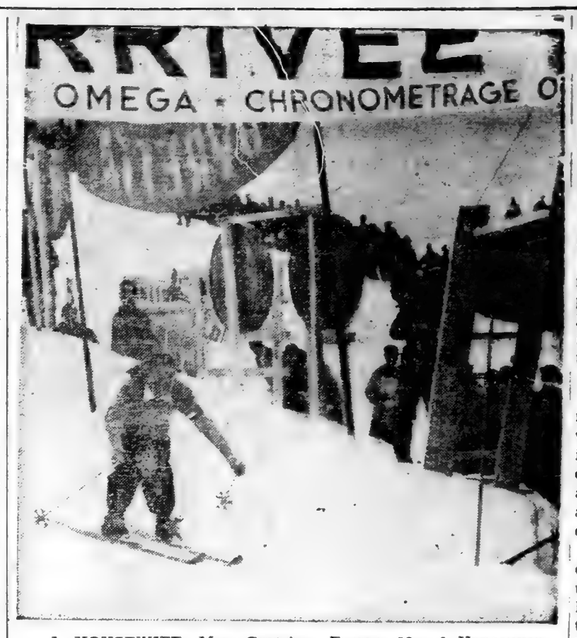
Except for the crippled Greenbaum, the squad is in good shape and the prospects are good for them to take their 34th consecutive conference victory and their fifth and sixth straight triumphs of the year.

Carolina Sport Shop

PRESENTS

Music for Listening

Old Man River
The Ravens



Night and Day
Mel Torme

Haunted Heart
Jo Stafford

Sabre Dance
Macklin Williams

Glenn Miller
Master pieces
Albums
Vol. I & II

Carolina Sport Shop

A HOUSEWIFE, Mrs. Gretchen Fraser, 28, of Vancouver, Wash., is shown as she flashed across the finish line to win the women's slalom ski event at the Winter Olympic Games in St. Moritz, Switzerland. The games, which opened with a verbal war and were plagued alternately by a hot sun or a heavy snowstorm, were won by Sweden. Switzerland won second place and the United States finished third. (International)

Pace, Lanier, Roberts, Paylor Score 10 As Lewis Beats Honeycut Manor, 40-29

It was a team victory for Lewis 3 when they defeated the Honeycutt Manor five yesterday afternoon, 40-29. All five men scored; three registering totals of 10 points and the other two notching six and four markers. Dan Hill of the manor-men was the high scorer with 12 points. Aiken Pace, Ken Lanier, and Fletcher Roberts, all of Lewis, and Roland Paylor, of the losers, counted 10 each. Lewis was ahead at the half, 14-12.

Ten was also the dominant scoring number in the Phi Delt 3-Pi Lamb 2 contest, which the Phi Delts won, 36-24. Garrett Fitzgibbon and Jim Gallion, Phi Delts, and Bob Kaufman, Pi Lamb, all reached the magic numeral.

Although behind by only two points at the half, 8-6, Miller hall fell apart at the seams permitting the number one BVP entry to enlarge its lead to an 18-15 triumph.

It was a low-scoring second stanza in the Sigma Nu 2-PiKA 3 fracas. Sigma Nu was ahead at the half, 17-12, but scored only three points after the intermission. However, they held PiKA to only two free throws in that same period.

The Fireballs lived up to their name yesterday, tripling up the score on Alexander 2, 66-22. The issue was never in doubt, the Fireballs leading at the half, 42-11. Jask Stratford personally equaled Alexander's scoring effort for the game by dropping in 22 points. He was closely followed in the scoring race by his teammate, Gene Moon, who posted an even 20 counters.

Cage Counts

26	SAE 1	ATO 1	8
40	Lewis 3	Honeycut Manor	29
36	Phi Delt 3	Pi Lamb 2	24
37	Field House	Coons	24
23	Emanons	Everett 2	19
28	Lewis 1	Old East	23
30	AVC	Steele	21
18	BVP 1	Miller Hall	15
39	Sigma Chi 1	Zeta 2	27
20	Sig Nu 2	PiKA	14
66	Fireballs	Alexander 2	22
32	Pi Lamb 1	Kappa Sig 3 Dr.	26
40	Underdogs	Hut No. 8	36
22	Mud Dobbers	Independ.	17
49	Med School	Stacy	21
36	Emerson	Sky Scrappers	20
50	Mangum	Ruffin	21

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

65	George Washington	Md.	49
38	West Virginia	Navy	37
40	Rutgers	Army	37
53	Princeton	Yale	52

Mural Schedule

BASKETBALL

4:00—Court 1: Steele vs. Wesley Rockets; Court 2: Comets vs. Old West; Court 3: Independents vs. Hut 8; Court 4: Ruffin 2 vs. Underdogs.

5:00—Court 1: Phi Delt 3 vs. Kap Sig 2; Court 2: Pi Lamb 2 vs. KA 1; Court 3: Sig Nu 1 vs. SAE 1; Court 4: AVC vs. Grads; Court 5: Black Phantoms vs. Mud Dobbers; Court 6: Geology Dept. vs. Lewis 2; Court 7: Aycock 1 vs. Law School.

RIFLE FIRING

7:30—Kappa Alpha (orientation).

SWIMMING

5:00-6:00—Last day for individual time trials.

HANDBALL

4:00—Graham vs. Aycock.
5:00—Phi Gam 2 vs. Kappa Alpha.

BOXING

155

4:00—T. Cherry (Chi Phi) vs. P. Burkes (DKE); 4:06—R. Watkins (Phi Delt) vs. K. Barnes (Sig Chi); 4:12—D. Fleming (Phi Gam) vs. W. Andrews (Phi Delt); 4:18—G. Sherrard (Phi Delt Chi) vs. H. Stacy (Phi Gam); 4:24—W. Rubin (TEP) vs. J. Pritchett (Phi Delt); 4:30—R. Simmons (Lamb Chi) vs. B. Marshburn (Phi Gam); 4:36—F. Levy (Pi Lamb) vs. P. Robbins (Phi Delt); 4:42—J. Harris (DKE) vs. H. Du-

(See MURALS, page 4)

Just out—

End As A Man

a novel by

Calder Willingham

Ab's Intimate Bookshop

Heavyweight Victory Decides Match; Fischer, Gupton, Urquhart Triumph

By Buddy Vaden

Battlin' Bill Kemp, undefeated captain of Coach Chuck Quinlan's mat squad, saved the day for Carolina when he scored a pin in the last match of the evening to bring the Tar Heels ahead from a three-point deficit to defeat previously unbeaten Duke by a 14-12 score in Woollen gym last night.

Kemp, scoring his third fall in four victories, pinned Duke's 210-pound heavyweight, Howard Heiss, in 2:12 of the second period to put the meet on ice for the locals.

Took Early Lead

Duke took an early lead in the meet that featured only one fall when team captain Mike Kusturiss and Bob Clark won decisions over Carolina's Marvin Wilson and Doug Thompson in the 121 and 128-pound classes, respectively.

Carolina came back in the third event when 136-pound Tom Urquhart decisioned Joe Orzano, 6-2 However, the Blue Devils maintained their lead and jumped ahead three more points when undefeated Jack Wamsly forced Phil Kemp into an overtime period and eked out a 4-2 victory over the local 145-pound entry.

The Tar Heels tied up the score at nine-all by winning the next two matches. Carroll Fischer decisioned John McMaster in the 155-pound class while Oscar Gupton gained a four point advantage to decision Buster Wilson at the 165-pound weight.

Duke's Dick Harrison pushed the Blue Devils ahead, 12-9, when he decisioned Corky Bluethenthal, 6-2, in the light heavyweight class.

Entering Finale

Entering the final match three points behind, Bill Kemp realized that in order to cop a victory for the locals he had to pin his opponent. After gaining a five point advantage, Kemp pinned Heiss and annexed the Tar Heels' fourth victory in six starts. Previously the match was halted for three minutes when Heiss swallowed the piece of lint from the mat.

Summary

121—Kusturiss (D) decisioned Wilson, 6-0.

128—Clark (D) decisioned Thompson, 6-5.

136—Urquhart (NC) decisioned Orzano, 6-2.

145—Wamsly (D) decisioned P. Kemp, 4-2 in overtime. The score at the end of the regulation period was 2-2

155—Fischer (NC) decisioned McMaster, 4-1.

165—Gupton (NC) decisioned Wilson, 4-0.

175—Harrison (D) decisioned Bluethenthal, 6-2.

Heavyweight—Bill Kemp (NC) pinned Heiss in 2:12 of the second period.

Referee—Al Crawford (State).

Weather Halts Coed Cagers 'Til Tuesday

Coed basketball action, halted by the bad weather, will continue next Tuesday, according to director Frances Burns, when finalists in the forthcoming playoffs will be decided. The important Pi Phi-Town and Tri Delt-Carr contests, once postponed, will be in the limelight Tuesday.

The victor of the Pi Phi-Town engagement will gain a first play tie with undefeated Chi Omega.

Three Days Remain To Get State Tixs

Students have only three more days to pick up their State game tickets, according to the Athletic Association. Lucky holders of books numbered 4501-8000 and 8501-9000 inclusive are entitled to get their reserved seat ducats anytime today or Friday, between the hours of 9 to 1 and 2 to 5, and Saturday from 9 to 1. Officials warn that students should not wait for the usual last-minute rush.

State Announces Ten Game 1948 Grid Card

Raleigh, Feb. 11—(UP)—North Carolina State announced its 1948 football schedule today, adding three new teams and dropping two former opponents.

Duquesne, William and Mary and Villanova are the new arrivals replacing Maryland and Florida. The complete schedule:

Sept. 26—Duke; Oct. 2—Clemson; Oct. 9—Davidson; Oct. 16—North Carolina; Oct. 23—Chattanooga; Oct. 30—Wake Forest; Nov. 6—Virginia; Nov. 13—Duquesne; Nov. 20—William and Mary; and Nov. 27—Villanova.

TYPING

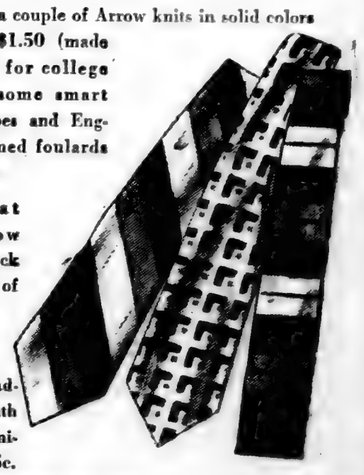
Mimeographing

for correctness

Ouida Roberts

117 N. Columbia St.

Telephone F-3416



LADIES! THROW AWAY THOSE BEAR TRAPS.

Lasso your Lil' Abners come Valentine's Day with a couple of well-chosen Arrow ties.

We suggest a couple of Arrow knits in solid colors or stripes, $1.50 (made especially for college men) or some smart Arrow stripes and English patterned foulards from $1.00.

Drop in at your Arrow store and pick out a brace of beauties.

Arrow handkerchiefs with your man's initials from 35c.

ARROW SHIRTS and TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Varsity

Phi Defeats Bill To Have South Bolt Democrates

Measure Gains Little Support As Assembly Rejects It By 20-3

By Gordon Huffines

The Phi assembly quickly killed a measure proposing that the South bolt from the Democratic party Tuesday night by a vote of 20 to 3.

Reported out by the Ways and Means committee in view of the recent opposition of the Southern Governors' conference to President Truman's Civil Rights program, the Phi measure received little support from the floor. Members of the assembly were in general agreement that a split in the Democratic party at present would solve none of the South's problems and would not prevent Congress from passing the Civil Rights measure.

Compared to 1860

Asserting that Southern secession from Democratic ranks would only harm this country by presenting a divided front to opponents of United States' foreign policy, Representative John Giles compared the present political situation to the multi-candidate election of 1860 caused by a split between Southern and Northern Democrats. Giles stated that such a move at present would add a Southern party candidate to the nominees of the three main established parties in the 1948 Presidential race, which would probably result in a Republican victory.

Representative Bill Duncan assured members that secession of the "Solid South" at this point would be the "best thing that has happened to the Republican party in years," but told the debaters that the South could gain little from such action at this time.

Little Attention

President Truman's Civil Rights program received comparatively little attention from the assembly as members argued that such issues as the Fair Employment Practice act and the federal anti-lynching law could not be defeated by breaking the traditional one party system of the South.

Expressing doubt as to whether any possible action by the Southern Governors' conference could lead the Southern people from the Democratic ranks, Representative Earnest House stated that a revolt by Southern Democrats would leave the South in the position of a third party which was not satisfied with anything.

A bill which proposed taxation of church property in North Carolina was tabled at the opening of the session to leave the floor open for debate on the main issue of the evening.

ON HIS ARRIVAL in Miami, Fla., Captain Dick Merril is met by his wife, the former Toby Wing, and son, Dick Jr. Round-the-world flier and chief pilot for the Eastern Airlines, Merril helped land a crippled Boston-to-Miami airliner at Bunnell, Fla., averting a major air tragedy. There were 69 persons aboard the plane. (International Soundphoto.)

Campus Calendar

:00 p.m.—Graham Memorial staff, main office.
2:00 p.m.—Phi Delta Kappa, Roland Parker lounge no. 2.
4:00 p.m.—Campus party, Roland Parker lounge no. 3.
5:00 p.m. — Women's Residence board, Horace Williams lounge.
5:00 p.m. — World Federalists, Grail room.
5:00 p.m.—Women's Glee club, Hill hall.
6:30 p.m.—Recorded dinner music concert, main lounge, Graham Memorial.
7:00 p.m.—YWCA Junior council, Grail room.
7:30 p.m. — Young Republicans, Roland Parker lounges 1, 2.
8:00 p.m. — American Association of University Women, main lounge.
8:00 p.m.—Americans for Democratic Action, Horace Williams lounge.
8:00 p.m.—Philosophy club, Roland Parker lounge no. 3.
8:00 p.m. — Catholic Roundtable, Grail room.
8:30 p.m.—"North Carolina Viewpoint," WHHT and WRAL.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 6B

ONE (1) DOUBLE BREASTED TUXedo in excellent condition. Size 36. Price $30.00 Phone 9691. (1-1779-1)

FOR SALE: AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1941 FORD SIX TUDOR SEDAN. Private owner. New motor. A. L. Bridgeman, 103 Mangum, after 7:30 p.m. 1-1775-1

1933 FORD CONVERTIBLE. NEW MOtor, good tires and top, new complete overhaul, clean car, good heater. Call 4301, Colonial Inn, Hillsboro. 1-c1773-1

SERVICES OFFERED 19

COMPLETE MODERN RADIO APpliance service shop now open and ready to serve you. We call for, deliver. Johnson-Strowd-Ward Furniture, 422 W. Franklin. Telephone F-3491. (ch 1x1)

WANTED TO BUY 24A

DESIRE INEXPENSIVE BASS FIDdle in reasonably good condition. Am learning. Call Jack Burney, Sig Ep House, 5791. (1-1780-1)

WANTED TO RENT 24B

APARTMENT OR ROOM WITH KITchen priviledges. March 15. Gainor. Phone 9001. (1-1778-1)

SINGLE ROOM FOR GRADUATE student. Call 9696 after 7:00 or write Robert Barnes, 108 Ridge Lane. (1-1777-1)

WANTED IMMEDIATELY, SINGLE room—graduate student. Phone 8611. 1-1776-1

Speculator Made Killing In Recent Slump In Market

By Jean Marble

United Press Correspondent

Washington, Feb. 11—(UP)—It's the same story from the commodity markets today, only it has a slightly different ending.

The price of grain dropped the full limit ten minutes after the exchanges opened this morning. However, a slight rally set in during the afternoon, and in the late trading in Chicago all wheat futures moved up a bit. The stock market also followed this pattern. Stocks slumped when the market opened, but after lunch trading improved and, by closing time, most stocks were somewhat higher.

It's too soon to tell yet whether this rally means the market break is over. There's been some improvement, but the fact remains most commodity prices are still lower than they were 24 hours ago. Today's rally in wheat didn't affect the corn market; for most corn futures dropped the full day's limit and stayed there.

Cattle and hog prices showed some improvement. Cattle held steady or declined slightly. The hog market rallied and prices went up from 50 cents to one dollar and 50 cents at cornbelt markets.

The market situation, by the way, is being reflected at the wholesale level.

Dun and Bradstreet reports that wholesale food prices broke 31 cents during the past week. That's the biggest decline since September of 1946, and it brings food prices down to where they were in the fall of 1946. Experts say it's one of the widest food price breaks in history.

In case you don't believe it, try shopping at your corner grocery store. You'll probably find butter prices down a few cents. And some of your favorite cuts of meat may also be cheaper.

Washington is keeping its eye on the market fluctuations.

-Murals-

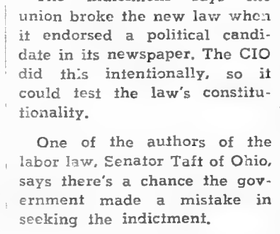
(Continued from page 3)

Bose (Chi Phi): 4:48—H. Bristol (Kap Sig) vs. L. Godwin (PiKA): 4:54—E. Betts (Sig Chi) vs. A. Walkin (Phi Gam).

5:00—M. Little (Sig Chi) vs. W. Smith (Phi Delt): 5:06—B. House (Zeta) vs. L. Jones (Sig Nu): 5:12—H. Haines (Phi Delt) vs. E. Holmes (Beta): 5:18—W. Dunbar (Sig Chi) vs. A. Phelps (Phi Gam): 5:24—D. Ferebee (Chi Psi) vs. G. Valentine (Sig Chi): 5:30—A. Williams (Phi Delt) vs. W. Lyon (Sig Chi): 5:36—B. Byerly (Sig Chi) vs. S. Lawrence (DKE): 165

5:42—G. Crowell (Phi Delt) vs. W. Smith (DKE): 5:48—T. Gillman (Phi Gam) vs. B. Ball (Phi Delt): 5:54—D. Hanson (Phi Gam) vs. G. Robertson (Phi Delt): 6:00—B. Lane (Phi Delt) vs. E. Hampton (Sig Ep).

145



6:06—H. Quinn (PiKA) vs. J. Murchison (SAE).

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

HAPPY'S the one that tarry's—At HARRY'S

Greer To Speak To Honorary In Initiation Dinner

Dr. I. G. Greer, executive director of the Business Foundation of North Carolina, will address members of Phi Delta Kappa honorary fraternity at their initiation banquet to be held in the Carolina Inn small dining room at 6:30 tonight.

According to Phi Delta Kappa President C. M. Clarke, Dr. Greer is expected to explain policies of the foundation, which is "a cooperative effort of the University and businessmen throughout the state in research and education to promote business in the state."

The banquet is to be held following the examination and induction of 15 new members into Phi Delta Kappa at a meeting in Roland Parker lounge number one at 2:30 this afternoon.

CIO INDICTED

A Federal Grand jury has indicted President Philip Murray of the CIO and his union for violating the Taft-Hartley law.

The indictment says the union broke the new law when it endorsed a political candidate in its newspaper. The CIO did this intentionally, so it could test the law's constitutionality.

One of the authors of the labor law, Senator Taft of Ohio, says there's a chance the government made a mistake in seeking the indictment.

The Senator told a Gary, Indiana, audience that the CIO newspaper may have had a legal right to support the candidate, if it was a regularly circulated newspaper.

Debate Tournament Will Begin Tonight; Teams To Be On Hand For First Round At 7

By Donald MacDonald

Thirty-six different teams representing fraternities, dormitories, campus organizations and a sorority will begin the opening round of the Intramural Debate tournament at 7 o'clock tonight.

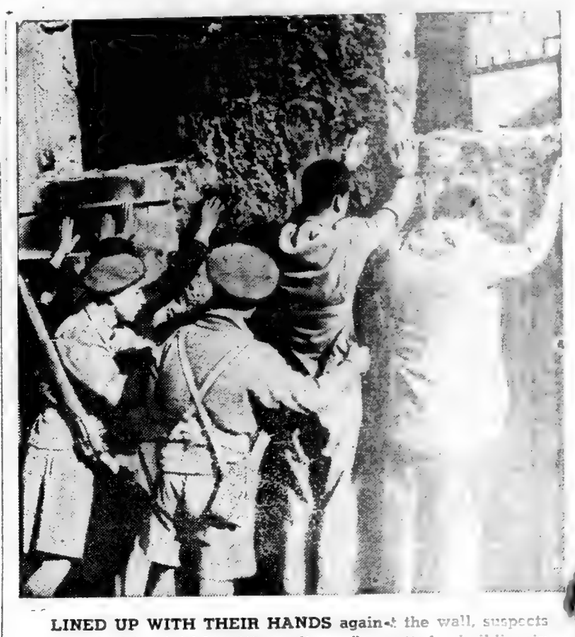
The controversial question of universal military training will be discussed, pro and con, in designated rooms in Caldwell and Saunders hall.

Fraternity Teams

Teams will be composed of two members each, and two teams will be assigned to separate rooms in the two buildings. Representation includes teams from Delta Kappa Epsilon, Beta Theta Pi, Kappa Alpha, Chi Phi, Kappa Sigma, Lambda Chi Alpha, Sigma Nu, Phi Gamma Delta, Delta Psi, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Phi Delta Theta fraternities.

Organizations represented are Wesley foundation, the Daily Tar Heel, and an independent team.

The women's dormitories, Alderman and McIver, are sending teams, as is one sorority, Alpha Gamma Delta. There will be teams from Whitehead, Everett, Stacy, Aycock, Battle-Vance-Pettigrew and Lewis, men's dormitories.



Audiences Welcome

Audiences will be welcomed to any of the debates, according to Earl Fitzgerald, president of the Debate council which is sponsoring the forensics. The second debate will begin at 8 o'clock, to be followed by a third debate one hour later.

From tonight's initial round the top nine affirmative teams and the top nine negative teams will proceed to Round Two, scheduled for Tuesday night.

According to Fiszgerald, officials will be present on the first floors of Caldwell and Saunders when the debates begin. If a team fails to appear at the designated room, the team there is responsible for reporting such a fact immediately to the official in charge. Pete Gerns will officiate at debates held in Caldwell, and Jim Taylor is in charge of Saunders debates.

Judging will be made on the basis of logical progression of speech content, basic information, enunciation, emphasis, force, and meeting opponents' objections directly. This system, said Fitzgerald, is based on similar systems in use in other major colleges.

LINED UP WITH THEIR HANDS against the wall, suspects are searched by British soldiers after a fire gutted a building in Tel Aviv, Palestine. Searches of this type are merely termed "another incident" in the violence occurring daily in the no-man's-land between Jewish Tel Aviv and Arab Jaffa. Most of the streets in the area between the adjoining cities have been reduced to a mass of rubble. (International) thern conference tourney this year.

-PHANTOMS-

(Continued from page 3)

William and Mary also will be a slight underdog against Carolina in view of its 4-5 conference record. The Indians were beaten by Duke, 46-39, while Carolina beat the Devils, 48-42, in games which provide a basis of comparison. The Indians need a win over Carolina to stay in the running for the loop tournament.

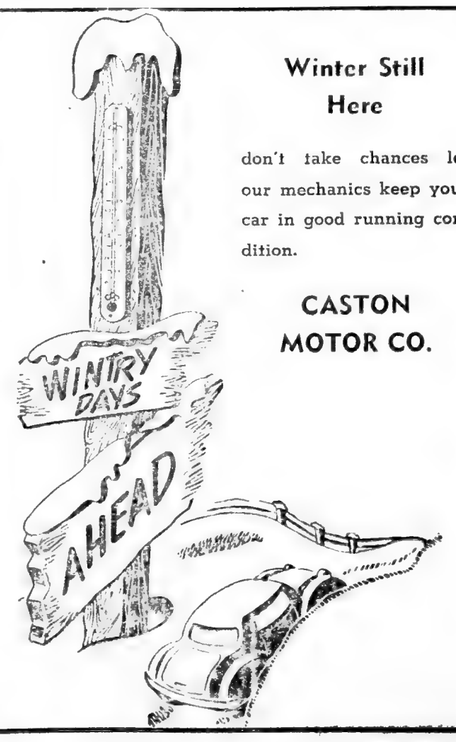
A game scheduled between William and Mary and Virginia on Wednesday night was postponed.

Expected to start for Carolina in the weekend games are Coy Carson and Bob Paxton, forwards; Nemo Nearman, center; and Norm Kohler and King Cole, guards.

Others making the trip are John Dillon, Fred Swartzberg, Roger Scholbe, Taylor Thomas, Don Nyimicz, Mark Nahoum and Fred Ryan.

Phone 8666
Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Office hours:
9:00-1:00 Sat.
9:00-5:00 Tues. & Thurs.

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

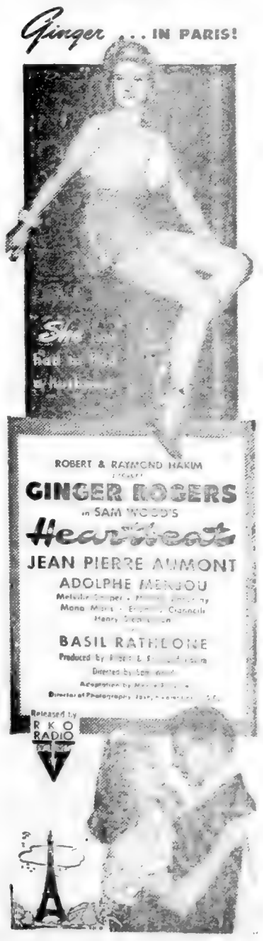


MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Durham's newest and best pawn shop
Larger Loans on Anything of Value
We appreciate your business
Located 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

"Sorry, Mrs. Higgenbotham, no exceptions. You'll have to pay your package of Dentyne Chewing Gum or you don't get in!"
"Sure, Dentyne Chewing Gum is keen-tasting! Sure, it'll help keep your teeth white! So what? Who's gonna stop you from getting yourself another pack of Dentyne—after you've seen my swell show?"
Dentyne Gum—Made Only By Adams

PREFERRED by Carolina Students
Our Banana Splits—with three kinds of ice cream topped by whipped cream, nuts, and cherries.
FARMERS DAIRY CO-OP

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.



Winter Still Here
don't take chances let our mechanics keep your car in good running condition.
CASTON MOTOR CO.

IF YOU WERE THIS MAN...

This famous love story becomes a magnificent picture...
M-G-M presents
WALTER PIDGEON · DEBORAH KERR
ANGELA LANSBURY
"IF WINTER COMES"
JANET LEIGH
RONNIE BARNES
DAME MAY WHITTY
—Also—
LATEST NEWS TODAY
CAROLINA

Quick Service
DURHAM OPTICAL COMPANY
215 W. Main St.
Phone F-2141 Durham

Ginger ... IN PARIS!

ALSO
POPEYE CARTOON
TODAY
VILLAGE

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Cloudy with intermittent rain

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
Passive Minerva
Expediency: Factor
Elections Committee

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 99

THIS AIRVIEW OF THE ICE-CHOCKED Ohio River shows the ice jam which formed at Cincinnati causing $100,000 damage and threatening flood conditions. Ice gorged twenty feet high in some places and jammed at Ludlow, Ky., with the river rising six inches an hour. Shown above are the L. & N. Bridge (background) and the Central Bridge (foreground) with the public landing dock between them. In the foreground is the new flood wall being constructed in Kentucky. One boat was reported to have sunk. (International Soundphoto)

UP Nominates Bill Duncan As Yack Editor

New Tarnation Due Tomorrow

Spirit of College, Foo Giduz, Playlet, Features of Issue

Scheduled to appear with a "new and improved" layout, the Winter issue of Tarnation is expected to be entirely distributed to the student readers by sometime Saturday.

Editor "Tookie" Hodgson's imaginative "Doings of a Carolina Gentleman" will be featured in the new issue according to Tom Kerr, the assistant editor. Heralded as "very cleverly written" and as "capturing the spirit of college life", it is the story of the problems facing a Carolina gentleman before a big dance set.

Giduz Featured

The "Saga of Roland" or "Foo to You" by Charlie Gibson is also the story of a Carolina gentleman. This gentleman, a Daily Tar Heel columnist by the name of Giduz, has received the same tongue in cheek treatment which dominated the last issue's once-over on Tom Eller.

Bob Smith's "New Year's Eve", billed as a Tarnation playlet, is the third big Winter feature. With its illustrations by Tom Wharton, it is a description of "single and double adults anointing their intestines with booze" on the American festival night.

Spread on Coed

A full page pictorial spread on the Carolina coed, compiled by Tom Kerr, completes the featured portion of the magazine. "Except", Kerr revealed, "for a top-secret feature." The only available information on the story which is being kept under wraps was that it was some Tarnation modern art written to compete with an unnamed rival publication.

Jacobson Editorial in Carolina Mag Attacked by Conservative Club Head

Fred Jacobson's editorial on the visiting committee of the board of trustees was attacked Wednesday night by President Paul Mullinax of the Carolina Conservative club.

"It is juvenile and contains a lack of intelligent criticism," Mullinax charged. He stated that Jacobson, in his editorial on the visiting committee and its inquiries into student problems, claimed that there is a lack of liberalism and progressivism on the campus.

Denying this, Mullinax declared that the fact that the SCHW and the Henry Wallace club are permitted on the campus is a fine indication of liberalism and progressivism. He stated further that the campus contains a large number of liberals, and he defined a liberal as anyone who is for the Democrat party.

Wallace Plan Out

The club decided that the Marshall plan was necessary for world peace and a motion was passed favoring the essentials of the plan. Contrasting this, the Wallace plan was unanimously rejected. In discussing this plan the club pointed out that it might have the dangerous effect of promoting Communism in foreign countries.

Among several suggestions offered for constructing the road to world peace were a proposal for U. S. industrial expansion to all foreign countries in order to promote a higher standard of living, and the suggestion that the UN assembly move its headquarters to a place where the atmosphere is more neutral and conducive to peacemaking, such as Geneva, Switzerland.

World federation was agreed upon by the club as the only solution for world peace.

Russia Main Block

Russia was cited as being the main obstruction to this program and former President John C. York stated that insulting Russia was a poor means of dealing with her. He said that Russia should be forced to acquiesce to democratic world federation through the use of economic pressure.

The Mag referendum was thoroughly debated, after which the club went on record for supporting Student Body President Tom Eller's proposal for a combined Mag and a new editor.

The next meeting of the club will be held Wednesday evening in room 20 of the New East Annex at 7:30.

HARLAND TO SPEAK

Dr. James P. Harland, popular ecturer and professor of archeology, will speak at Jewish services tonight at 7:30 in Roland Parker Lounge number 1, Graham Memorial.

Dorm Eligibility List Is Released

Students who entered summer school for 1947 are now eligible for dormitory rooms if they will contact the Housing Office, no. 22 New East Annex, by Friday, February 13, 1948. These 24 names include all the students that entered in the summer that are interested in obtaining dormitory rooms and made deposits: Giles D. Beal, Jr., James E. Bean, Dallas D. Cline, Henry P. Deal, Walter W. Ferebee, Edward S. Fleming, Felder Sharpe Graham, Robert W. Gryder, Erle F. Hall, Herbert L. Hawley, William T. Hill, Joseph A. Horne, Jr., Douglas G. Howell, Herman E. Jones, Robinson McCune, Marvin N. Nathan, Gene P. Smith.

Lawrence O. Smith, Archie H. Stroud, Chesley T. Trice, Joseph F. Vaughan, Vernel H. Williams, Richard K. Wilson, William W. Workman.

John Coleman Will Address Church Group

Dr. John Coleman, director of the commission on the university of the international World's Student Christian federation, will speak on the work of this organization at the Methodist church here Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Dr. Arnold Nash, head of the University department of religion, said yesterday.

The distinguished world traveler and mathmatician will address the Presbyterian Young People's group and the Wesley foundation, but all interested persons have been invited. A supper, costing 50 cents to those participating, will precede Dr. Coleman's address at 5:45 o'clock.

Three-Month Survey

The visiting speaker, who has been a director of this international federation with headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland for two years, is currently making a three-month survey of North American schools before going to do similar work in the Far East and Australia. While spending the week-end in Chapel Hill, he will also speaq to a mathematics seminar on Friday evening, on "A Critique of Eddington's Work on Relativity and Quantum Mechanics", a faculty group here here later that evening, and another at Duke university on Saturday. Sunday morning he will preach the sermon in Duke's famed oGthic chapel.

Won Math Award

Born and educated in Canada. Dr. Coleman first attracted the attention of the scientific world when he was a member of a three-man team from the University of Toronto in 1939 that won the Putman Mathematics award from all other competing North American universities.

Before becoming attached to the Christian Federation he taught math at the University of Toronto and at Queent university in Ontario.

In his present capacity he has visited and carried out the purposes of the federation in universities in Szechoslovakia, the four zones of Germany, France, Finland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Italy, England, and Scotland.

S & F MEETING

Sound and Fury advertising and publicity committees will meet in the Sound and Fury office at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Don Draper, Don Snow, Lenny Lieberman, Tommy Thomas, Ben Kistler and Dan Morgan are requested to attend.

AT THE WHITE HOUSE, President Truman receives his lapel emblem from film-radio comedian Bob Hope (right), after the Chief Executive had "kicked off" the American Red Cross 1948 fund-raising campaign with a $100 contribution. Looking on is Joseph C. Grew, former Ambassador to Japan and head of the Washington, D. C., drive. (International)

Di Senate Votes to Allocate Extra Police Powers to UN

The Dialectic Senate quickly endorsed giving the United Nations Security council additional powers in a meeting Wednesday night which also heard a futile substitute measure calling for stronger world federation.

A bill authored by Senator Jerry Pettigrew and presented by ways and means committee chairman John Zucker cited the present civil strife in India and similar disturbances in Palestine, Iran, Iraq, and the Dutch East Indies as evidence that the United Nations should be given adequate military forces to ensure peace throughout the world. The bill asserted that the United Nations Security council should immediately be furnished with armed forces as the U. N. charter already provides.

Other stipulations of the measure which the Di approved maintained that: "(1) That when a country is to be given its independence the U. N. should order armed forces into that country to police it until such a time as its own government may be established and capable of functioning without internal disturbances or disputes dangerous to world peace.

"(2) That in countries which are to be partitioned so as to divide rival factions, the U. N. should instruct its police forces to maintain order until such time as the country can function without internal disturbances that may effect world peace.

"(3) That until such time as this bill can go into effect, benevolently neutral countries should be requested by the U. N. to undertake this duty and be reimbursed by them for the costs involved."

World Federation Substitute

The substitute measure was called for by Senator Randy McLeod, who voiced the opinion that the United Nations had high ideals and good intentions but was too idealistic and limited in authority to accomplish satisfaction. When McLeod asked for some more active, forceful suggestion, Senator Bill Jernigan introduced a bill which he was even then in the midst of formulating. His measure was further expounded by Senator Merle Stevens, who stated that unless countries concerned formed an alliance on the basis of "population and economical importance," the result would merely be "nothing more than a debating society without powers of enforcement of its ideas."

This proposal received unfavorable comment from Zucker and Senators Cam West and Robert Bowen shortly before it was defeated by general vote of the Senate and visitors present. Almost at once another vote was called on the original measure of the evening which passed by 20 to 4.

Other Business

Prior to the floor discussion the Di appointed Bill Jernigan as its treasurer to fill a vacancy created by John Gaskin's recent resignation. Mrs. J. B. Grimes was reinstated on an active status after her absence from the forensic society for some time. Merle Stevens and Banks Talley were also initiated earlier in the evening as new members of the Senate.

ANTI-UMT COMMITTEE

The Anti-UMT committee will hold its third weekly meeting at 5 o'clock today in the Grail room. Students and Chapel Hill citizens interested in opposing Universal Military Training will be welcome.

The committee is planning to sponsor the visit of General Herbert C. Holdridge to the campus next Friday, and will discuss his visit at this meeting.

GOP Attacks All Democrats On Lincoln Day

Washington, D. C. —(UP)—The Democratic party was hauled over the coals last night by the Republicans in a series of traditional Lincoln Birthday speeches across the nation and over the radio.

Four avowed candidates for the Republican Presidential nomination—Senator Robert Taft of Ohio Governor Thomas Dewey of New York, former Governor Howard Stassen of Minnesota, and Governor Earl Warren of California—led off the attack. The G. O. P. bigwigs all said that only a Republican President and Congress can save the nation in a crisis which they insisted is as grave as the one that faced Lincoln in 1860.

The central G. O. P. theme was voiced by Republican National Chairman Carroll Reece who accused the Democrats of seeking partnership with Communists and left-wingers. Reece said the Truman administration had made a few gestures to give an impression that it "had parted company from its radical bedfellows." However, he insisted that these were only gestures.

New US Ambassador Appointed by British

London, Feb. 12 —(UP)— The British government tonight appointed Sir Oliver Shewell Franks as ambassador to the United States. He succeeds Lord Iverchapel, who is retiring from the foreign service.

The 42-year-old Franks is a shy, pipe-smoking Oxford professor who reminds his students of Sherlock Holmes. His main concern in Washington will be economics. He will be London's go-between on the European recovery program and the Anglo-American loan.

Old Staff Member Lists Improvements For Next Yearbook

By Herb Nachman

Bill Duncan has received the University Party nomination for editorship of the Yackety Yack, party officials announced yesterday.

In accepting the nomination, Duncan who is now picture coordinator for the Yack, outlined a three-point program for improvement of the yearbook.

First, Duncan plans to have the information blanks for the Yackety Yack filled out by all students when they register in the fall so as to eliminate confusion in making out the cards in Graham Memorial.

Second, Duncan said he hopes for a better system of taking individual pictures. Students could be given appointments when they register in the fall and could have a specific time and place to have their pictures made. This way, Duncan said that he hopes to reach every student and eliminate delay in getting the pictures made. He also pointed out that he could disperse photographers over the campus instead of concentrating them in one place.

Third, he proposed to give the Graduate School a separate section and he hopes to give dormitories a large section similar to the type fraternities now have. The section would have an individual picture or drawing of each dormitory, individual pictures will also be included.

Duncan is a rising senior and a political science major. He entered the University in the fall of 1946 after serving in Europe for three years. Before entering the service in 1943, he had attended Philadelphia Museum of Industrial Art and Catawba College.

In addition to his work on the Yack, Duncan is secretary of the Student Activities committee, a member of the Phi and Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Entrance Tryouts Are Set for Monday For New Orleans Debate Tournament

Announcing Debate council plans to send at least two orators and two extemporaneous speakers to the Tulane University Debating tournament at New Orleans beginning February 26, Blanton Miller, vice-president of the council, said yesterday that entrance tryouts will be held on Monday night, February 23.

Entrants are advised by council members to have a finished oration ready for the tryouts, scheduled for the Dialectic hall, New West building.

Orations given at the three day tournament at Tulane must be student-written and should not be more than 1,500 words in length.

During the spring quarter, Miller added, the council plans to send orators and extemporaneous speakers to the Grand National Forensic tournament at Fredericksburg, Virginia.

Blind Students Appreciate, But Do Not Ask For Human Assistance To Their Guide Dogs

By Donald MacDonald

Although the three blind students who use guide dogs on campus appreciate the friendly spirit of assistance from other persons, the practice sometimes hinders the training of their "seeing-eye" and "leader" dogs.

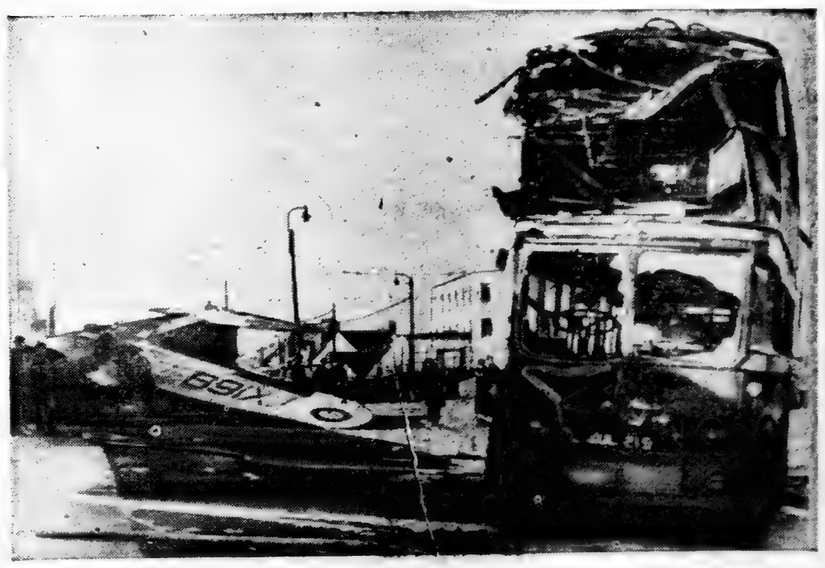
The opinion was expressed yesterday by Marshall Smith, one of the University students who is completing his education in spite of blindness. The others who use guide dogs are Daisy Smith, of Sylva, and Beatrice Metcalf, of Mars Hill.

"It isn't that we don't appreciate the kindness," Smith said, "because we really do. We know that people who offer to help are sincere. But it is in the interest of the dogs' training which leads us to beg them not to offer aid until asked."

The student is a married veteran who lives in Number 18, Carolina Inn apartments. He was a pilot of a B-24 during the war, and his total blindness is the result of having been shot down in January, 1945, just before the Iwo Jima invasion.

Before the war, Smith attended Belmont-Abbey college, in Belmont. The 27-year-old veteran is a member of the junior class here and is preparing for a degree in economics.

Smith's "seeing-eye" dog is a large male named 'Bretzel", a crossbreed between a German shepherd and a collie.



"One reason for such a request as this," Smith added, "is to avoid accidents later. If the dog is not given complete charge of his master's keeping when around people, there will be later times when the two of us are completely 'on our own.' Perfect confidence in the dog's ability will be required then. If his training has been weakened by having human assistance, it will only add to the problem."

Examples of well-meant assistance, Smith continued are such things as "persons offering to take my arm, and attempts to pet the dog." Talking to the dog does not detract the dog when he is not working, but when he is working it does throw him off.

The "seeing-eye" dog belonging to Miss Metcalf is a female German shepherd, called "Bearzy." "Bearzy" and "Bretzel" were both trained at the Seeing-Eye League in Marshtow, New Jersey. Miss Metcalf is a senior here, having transferred from Eastern Carolina Teachers college and Appalachian.

"Ace", a male German boxer, is the name of the "leader-dog" owned by Miss Smith. The boxer was trained at the Leader Dog League in Detroit. Petting is encouraged by trainers at the Detroit school, according to Miss Smith, but assistance from other persons while the dog is working will lessen the dog's capability.

Both Miss Smith and Miss Metcalf are residents of Smith dormitory.

THE WRECKAGE OF A TWIN-ENGINED RAF TRANSPORT PLANE lies in street (left) after it crashed atop the roof of a crowded double-decker electric trolly bus (right) in a congested North London street. Two fliers were killed and seven persons in the bus were injured. The Anson passenger plane was on a training flight when it crashed. Scene of the accident was about a mile from Hendon Airfield. (International Radiophoto)

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

Expediency Is a Factor

A Student Advisory Board for the Welfare Board has been appointed finally this year— half of the school year has been wasted. In the immediate past, take last year for instance, the Board was almost dormant. It did, however, stir faintly to call one meeting which did not materialize into an actual session.

This year the group seems to begin shaping somewhat earlier and promises to take more of an active part in its avowed purpose of promoting the work of all University agencies and organizations affecting the welfare of the students. Such a purpose covers a wide domain and hardly a week passes that the group could not give actual service to the campus. Under any circumstance Chalcellor House has announced that the group will meet at least every quarter.

We don't know the scope of the activities that the Welfare Board would handle or what jurisdiction it would have—to our knowledge there has not been a meeting of the Welfare Board attended by a student advisory group during our four years on campus. We do know that such a group has potentialities and, if operating, can perform a service.

We have great hopes that the close of the present school year will find the Board back on its feet and in operation.

There is need for a representative body that can collectively discuss issues of the times. Expediency is an important factor and the group should be of such a size and organization that it can take care of immediate problems.

We sound again, the keynote contained in the letter written to the members of the student advisor board—"these functions will allow for a strengthened and integrated program of student welfare through bringing to bear upon common problems the concerted judgment and energy of closely related officers of the University."

Let this be their aim.

A Guy Could Get Hurt...

We have heard reports of a coed who was rather seriously injured by some playful lads who were throwing snowballs. The snowfall over the past several days has been turned into ice and slush by the rain; consequently, snowballs are icy and a dangerous missle. The young lady we heard about narrowly missed being injured in the eye.

It requires all of an individuals efforts to pick a path in the sloppy walkaways without having to keep a lookout for balls of ice. Direct your fire to the nearest temporary building.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr.

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser

NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson.

NIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette.

ASST. BUS. MGRS.: Mary W. Sledge, T. E. Holden

ASST. CIRC. MGRS.: Randall Hudson, Don Snow

SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison

EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan

NEWS STAFF: Raney Stanford, Donald MacDonald, Sally Woodhull, John Stump, Herb Nachman, Charlie Gibson, Gordon Huffines, Margaret Gaston, Mark Summer, Paul Rothman, Nina Davis, George Roberts, Elaine Patton, Jean Baskerville, Mary Ann Taber, Weddy Thorp, Emily Baker, Miriam Evans, Doris Weaver, Nancy Black, Helen Beam, Daniel Wallace, Sam Whitehall, Helen Highwater.

SPORTS STAFF: Morty Shaap, Dick Jenrette, Bill Kellam, Larry Fox, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Bill Gallagher.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty, Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr., Lena Campbell, Ed Campbell, Al Carpenter.

This Changing World

...And Not a Setting Sun

By Bill Robertson

This week is Negro History Week. There is much to be learned in studying the history of the Negro people which may be of practical help to us in the fight for a better and more decent America. The history of the Negro people, more than the history of any other social group in our country, serves to reveal the extreme one-sidedness of American democracy. More, the history of the Negro people since the Civil War serves to reveal the historical limitations of the Democratic and Republican Parties—the limits beyond which they have not gone even in their unfulfilled campaign promises, which have been a dime a dozen.

Today there are 13,000,000 American citizens, who by virtue of continued segregation and discrimination constitute a living challenge to the lies and hypocrisy of the old-line parties which have ruled our country since the Civil War.

In 1856 the Republican Party came into being, as a third party, with the objective of abolishing slavery. As is known, this objective was accomplished; but in the course of its further development after the Civil War, the Republican Party split into two groups, one of which, the Radical Republicans, carried on the democratic tradition of the party. It advocated full equality for the Negro people. It failed to achieve its objective in the face of Ku Klux terror supported by Southern ex-slave-holding Democrats and Northern big business Republicans—the latter of whom started a new, and less honorable tradition in their party which has continued to this day.

But the period following has not been lacking in powerful counter-movements for a fuller democracy; and the success of the liberal policies of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, give all of the American people, including Negro people, positions which may serve as a base for further and more successful advances in the future. More than this, history—not just American history but all of human history—is on the side of racial democracy. For we have just succeeded in crushing a bunch of race-hating cannibals the like of which the world had never seen before. Needless to say, in the course of our victory we have discredited not a few undemocratic ideas.

History is very powerful. It may even force support of racial democracy on the part of the Carolina Conservative Club in order that "free enterprise" may be preserved. For whatever other points are disputed about the nature of the social system existing in Eastern Europe, their official policy of strong opposition to all forms of race prejudice is clear. This fact constitutes a powerful selling-point for their way of life in a world, the majority of whose inhabitants are members of "colored" races.

However that may be, there is a new Third Party Movement here at home brought into being by the needs and desires of millions of American citizens of every race, creed, and color. It is growing and developing. It is conscious of its heritage. It boldly carries forward the liberal traditions of Abraham Lincoln, Frederick Douglas, and Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Henry A. Wallace's challenging speeches before unsegregated audiences in the South have made its position clear.

Such being the facts, it is perhaps fitting that the dreams of millions of Americans, who see their goal as but the beginning of true living for everybody, are contained in the words of an American Negro poet—Paul Lawrence Dunbar:

When all is done, say not our day is o'er,
Say rather that our morn has just begun.
We greet the dawn and not a setting sun,
When all is done.

Hollywood

Babs Reeks With Rocks

By Patricia Clary

Hollywood — (UP) — Barbara Stanwyck has staked an early claim to be the leap year's most elegantly turned out bride.

It would take another royal wedding to outdazzle the outfit Miss Stanwyck will wear for movie nuptials in Hal Wallis' "Sorry, Wrong Number," at Paramount.

Miss Stanwyck's wedding gown, dreamed up by Edith Head, is of shimmering silver brocade, with a veil of expensive material and a six-foot train.

Miss Stanwyck's jewels all are diamonds and strictly genuine. The fortune in brilliants she wears when she says "I do" to Burt Lancaster includes a sparkling necklace and earring set which her husband, Robert Taylor, gave her for Christmas.

The other little baubles include a 40-karat diamond ring and a dazzling little bracelet put together with diamonds and emeralds. Instead of orange blossoms in her hair, she wears diamonds.

All the jewelry except her own pieces comes from a Beverly Hills diamond firm. Market value of the assortment is $250,000.

"A platoon of guards follows me like my shadow when I work in them," Miss Stanwyck said. "Gosh "Gosh, I simply reek with rocks."

She said the jewels were not for show but to make a point in the story.

"I'm the heiress to a drug fortune," she explained, "the cough drop queen, they call me. That's the reason for my wealth."

Director Anatole Iitvak insisted on the real Kimberly instead of glass facsimilies from the property department. All the jewelry was screen-tested before it was okayed for the wedding scene.

"Even with a 250-grand price tag," Miss Stanwyck commented, "they had to have that photogenic sparkle."

Political Spotlight

Election Committee Stalls

By Charlie Long

From its mud spattered ivory tower atop New West building the spotlight this week centers on the Legislature Elections Committee. Headed up by UP-CP presidential nominee Jess Dedmond this committee presumably has under consideration a three-fold bill covering election rules, reapportionment and redistricting of the campus. Presumably, we say, because that bill has been in committee since last summer.

A similar bill, to the one now in committee, was passed last spring by the legislature and subsequently vetoed by President Dorsett upon the insistence of his UP friends. Flaunting the constitution as though it was never written the leaders of student government sent the student body to the polls last spring to elect a legislature which no more represented the students than the Kremlin does.

The errors in the elections rules were apparent. That certain portions of the campus were not represented according to their numbers could be seen at first glance. During the Summer term of the legislature there was an attempt made to correct these errors. The attempt failed because Mr. Dedmond (he was chairman of the elections committee then) stated that he considered neither himself nor the legislature qualified or able to draw up an elections bill at that time.

The issue dragged on into the fall and ex-UP chairman Miles Smith took over. For three long months Mr. Smith played politics, and piddled and did nothing. A bill to redistrict after being slaughtered by the UP went on the table. The December elections came and we still had an unrepresentative, nondistricted legislature. In Jaunary of this year the legislature elected Mr. Dedmond chairman of the elections committee again. Five weeks, four days and ten hours have gone by since Mr. Dedmond took over and we still don't have an elections bill that would set up sensible enough rules to elect the dog catcher of Skunk Holler.

The legislature, as presently constituted, represents something. What it represents is anybody's guess. The campus needs and must have a new set of election laws, an accurate reapportionment and most importantly a fair and ungerrymandered redistricting. The time is now. The spring general election is seven weeks away.

Open Letter to Eric Cofield

Your dilemma, in trying to pick twelve qualified legislators from a field of thirty two or forty is the common dilemma of all. It will continue to be so until the students let the legislature know how they think on the issue. There are many people who will agree with the soundness of your facts, the logic of your argument but they couldn't face their political bosses if they dared vote their convictions on the issue. For your interest and for the rest of the campus the Spotlight will analyze the redistricting bill if and when it comes out of committee and also print the vote of each legislator with his political party beside it.

Student Council

Maddest man [illegible] proved to be [illegible] Chairman of the [illegible] Judiciary Board [illegible] left him out of the [illegible] Thursday night in the [illegible] when he was paying [illegible] the judiciary ability of the [illegible] Gamma Deltas. In spite of [illegible] feuds and the injection of [illegible] sonalities, the special committee on judiciary powers is [illegible] ahead with its investigation of the workings of the Council. Next Wednesday the Spotlight will run a special on the Councils and the findings of the special board.

Campus Forum

Students Favor Civil Rights

By Pete Gerns

Truman's Civil Rights report evoked a number of comments on this campus when the Forum attempted to ferret out real student opinion on the subject. The topic was considered 'hot' by many and we were left with the impression that in the students' mind the entire issue is mainly of a political connotation; viz, to enable Truman to make a stronger bid for the presidency come November, and to attract Wallace-ites who were former good Democrats.

As it frequently happens, the majority opposing the report, and any action under it, gave vent to its feelings by saying "I don't like it" while a minority voice could be heard to discuss every point of the proposed measure and defending it vigorously. This column mirrored the very same action and thought of opposing factions when it declared student opinion on the Wallace question some time ago.

The same was true with reference to the poll boxes at the YMCA and Graham Memorial. Proponents of the report were vociferous while the majority answered "No!" or "Opposed" without giving their reasoning.

"It would be impractical to make certain radical leaps; however, segregation and discrimination is just as impractical in a democracy and therefore Congress should pass a modified but firm Civil Rights Bill H. Sieber.

"I favor the principles involved in the Civil Rights report made by Mr. Truman: I cannot but feel however, that it is a strictly political measure on his part." Owen Lewis.

"Truman is trying to pull an Abraham Lincoln to keep posterity from chalking his name up with Boss Pendergast's." Name withheld upon request.

Truman's Civil Rights report is long overdue. Why has he not done something sooner? For example, as Commander-in-Chief, abolish segregation in the armed forces? The report by its existence acknowledges the power of the forces supporting the new Third Party Movement which vigorously defends civil rights." Bill Roberison.

"Legislation to secure civil rights for all U. S. citizens is favored by an overwhelming majority of the American people. Southern congressmen who oppose the bill should remember that public opinion polls show the Southern people 74 per cent in favor of Federal anti-lynching laws, overwhelmingly opposed to the poll tax and other devices of disfranchisement. Congressmen who call civil rights legislation 'Anti Southern' do so only because they cannot win an election in which a majority of the Southern people are free to vote." Henry Adams.

The question for Tuesday is: "Should students who activiely participate in student government be given semester hour credit?"

How Are Your Feet?

'Live' Pumice Will Fix Corns

Houston, Tex. —(UP)—An aching corn meant a business career for 72-year-old Joe Roy.

Roy, who learned salesmanship and the far corners of the world at the same time, owns a "live" pumice mine in Grimes County, Tex.—and that's the story of his business.

The elderly saleman, who once sold electric power plant equipment and has been around the world nine times, was walking a Houston street with that ache of all aches—a soft corn. It had been hurting, off and on, for 20 years.

An old peddler sold him a handful of powdery white rocks for $1. The peddler said it would help his aching toes.

That night, Roy doctored his foot. The next day the pain was gone. Several days later the corn disappeared.

Roy went hunting. He couldn't find the old man, but he recalled the peddler said he had picked up the stones in Grimes County. Roy headed for there.

An old man, sitting on the porch of a shanty in the midst of a weed-grown, worn-out farm, wouldn't talk business, although Roy offered him $30 an acre for his land. However, Roy did pick up some samples, which proved to be "live" pumice stone.

Roy just waited, in the meantime asking a cattle-buying friend to keep an eye on the situation for him. He waited 18 years.

"The land was so poor it would not even grow grass," he recalls, "but it was full of hundreds of thousands of tons of live pumice just two feet below the surface. The Bureau of Mines said it was the only live pumicite deposit in the country."

"It's even better for cleaning than it is for corns," Roy said, "because it doesn't have any lye or acid in it, like other cleaners. I sell it just the way the Lord made it, only I grind it and sift it first."

Roy said a bus firm and an oil machinery offered him as much as $84 a ton for the pumicite, but he turned it down.

"Why should I sell it at that price," he said, "when I can peddle it for $1,000 a ton? I could make plenty of money, too, if I could get a fancy-looking package."

Write Away

Long: 'An Honest Statesman'

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Charlie Long has been the target for sneers, smears, and severe criticism on the editorial pages of the Daily Tar Heel since he recently so openly voiced his political convictions in the "Spotlight" column.

Actually, Mr. Long needs no defense: his column stands for itself as the product of his own free and independent thinking. Those who have attacked him would do well to retain the same objectivity, since the recent attacks have been largely personal or based on broad assumptions which were not related to the real issue.

Charlie Long is to be admired and commended for saying what he thinks (also for THINKING) in no uncertain terms, regardless of opposition and disapproval. Even those who may not always agree with him politically must admit that his straightforward, outspoken, and uncompromising adherence to principles are qualities, not of a "typical" politician, but of an honest statesman.

As a citizen of rare integrity and ability, Charlie Long deserves a word of appreciation for his long record of service and competent leadership in general at Carolina. We trust that his interest and talents will continue to be directed toward constantly better government for all concerned.

Martha Aiken
Jo Eller

'Sexy Remarks'

Editor:

Those who saw the re-release of Richard Lewellyn's "How Green Was My Valley?" may have been reminded of the low level to which post-war pictures have degenerated.

Here is a story that has all the warmth, sincerity, and inspiration to hold your interest until the end and leaves one with a feeling of two hours well spent. It is a pity that current movies have fallen to the low level of morbid sex interest and body worship which a glance at the billings would seem to indicate.

A good picture of today consists of a number of prolonged kisses and sexy remarks with a bedroom scene added for real appeal.

I believe Holywood could exert a great influence for moral uplift that this post-war world needs so desperately by bringing back pictures with enduring qualities instead of continuing the current type of sex-drenched masterpieces of Lana Turner and Lauren Bacall.

W. C. Hopkins

Just Here

Minerva Stands Passive

By Larry Berry

I am of the opinion that suppressed minorities, execrable majorities, homeless dogs, and other groups too numerous to mention find sympathetic dwellings amid the gray matter of our students. We run our own student government and most of us believe we could maneuver a new ship of state better than the old boys are doing in Washington. Taken as a whole, the Carolina student body should do well in speaking on social needs and political problems.

An unknown number of organizations have proselytes working 24 hours per day on campus. The tendency at present is to encourage Lower Slobbovian measures for the protection of the phlegmatic Dodo bird. The thing to do upon leaving class is to forgive the professor any remarks he may have made concerning his subject (this forgiveness is not essential), and to forget education.

While these outside powers work on the majority of students, Minerva stands by in a passive mood. No attempt seems to be made to organize undergraduates in their fields of study. People do not seem to encourage extra-curricular studies in the classroom subjects; rather, we do the opposite.

I imagine we know much more theoretically concerning Communism than we know about our major study. Though we speak proudly from the rostrum on the merits of a State Student Assembly or discuss the vicissitudes of the world over a beer in Harry's, we shun discussion of academic matters.

Since we are here to learn, I should think that a few clubs formed in each department to encourage students could do much more than the distant attitude of many of our professors to accomplish the purpose for which the school was established. The espirit d'corps of English majors, for instance, could be greatly strengthened by an active discussion group. Let's have some congeniality mixed with encouragement for the good of our

(See MINERVA, page 4)

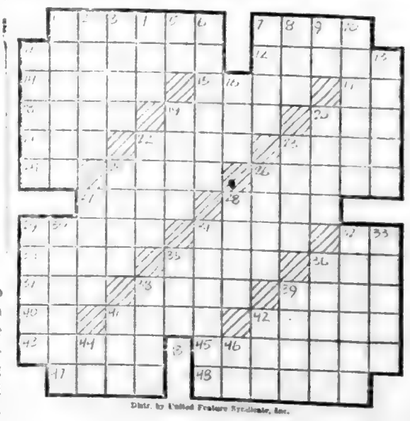
WALLACE CLUB MEETING

The Wallace-for-President club will meet Friday at 7 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge no. 3. The Daily Tar Heel stated in yesterday's paper that the meeting would be held on Tuesday and wishes to correct that statement.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE



ACROSS

1—Where king lives
7—Apple seeds
11—Yellow fruit (pl.)
12—Old mountain
14—Free flowing
15—Job
17—Raised railway
18—Dancing sword
19—Ship's mast
20—Beds of water
21—To irritate
22—Opera like vegetable
23—Fortified
24—Pleasant expression
28—Paper
29—To increase
27—To go without food
28—To grind up
29—Staggers
31—Fishing gadget
32—River in Siberia
34—Egg-shaped
35—To topple
37—Macaw
38—To obtain
39—To weary
39—Mohammedan rulers
40—Printer's measure
41—Rabbit
42—Winged
43—Kidney
45—Nullifies
47—Silver coin
48—Propositions

DOWN

1—Poor man
2—To attach
3—Path
4—Some
5—Calcium (symb.)
6—To value
7—To go by
8—Writing fluid
9—Geometrical ratio
10—Plumbers
11—Mark over letter
13—To exalt
16—To inquire
19—To turn into water
20—To glide
22—Girl
23—To breathe audibly
25—To summon
26—Brook
27—Accomplishment
28—Burrowing rodent
29—Pirate flag
30—Smoothed
31—Father or mother
32—Speaks
33—Foundations
35—On behalf of
36—Marble
38—Bundle of cotton
39—Woe is me!
41—Cut of meat
43—To ripen
44—U. S. soldier
46—What was that?

Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Bobbing In Sports

—with—

Bob Goldwater

Formula for Success

TAKE ONE SWIMMING team—strong both in quantity and quality, split it in half, send one group out on the road and keep the other at home, and the result would be two wins chalked up instead of the usual single victory. That's exactly what Coach Dick Jamerson had expected to do to his team and the opposition on the morrow until the elements stepped in to put a crimp on his plans.

The occasion under which such an occurance was to have taken place was the existence of two tank meets on the varsity schedule for the same day. Not that it was a mixup in the schedule, because it wasn't. Jamerson planned things that way several months back when he was working out a card of meets for his charges. He figured then, and later events proved him correct, that he would have a strong enough team to be able, as the saying goes, to divide and conquer.

What's more, both Blue Dolphin squads would have been heavily favored to run off with each of the engagements in which they were taking part. One group, led by Jamerson himself, will journey up to Charlottesville, Va., to take on the aquatic version of the Cavaliers. The other, directed by assistant Coach Ralph Casey, was all set to defend the home waters against the George Washington natators. Both meets were slated for the same time and two more entries could have been posted in the win column with the same dip of the pen.

But as of 8 o'clock last night, all these plans of Jamerson went for naught and all mention of the split-tem system began to be made in the past tense. The reason, as anyone could guess, was the same thing currently bothering all Chapel Hillians—Weather. A telephone call from Washington to Coach Jamerson early yesterday evening told of sleet and snow conditions up that way, asked for a week's postponement of the meet. So instead of two swimming meets tomorrow, the Blue Dolphins will take part in only one. And that one doesn't shape up as too close a contest.

Blue-White Swimming Meet

IN THAT RESPECT, Virginia isn't alone. None of the teams facing Carolina this year in dual competition—State included—comes close to this year's Bowman Gray pool tank edition, already tagged as the strongest swimming team ever assembled in the South. In fact, the best competition that the group opposing Virginia could run up against in this section would come from the outfit slated to stay here for the GW affair. According to Jamerson, "That would be one close meet."

So if weather or anything else should stop the Colonials from keeping the appointment here next Saturday, here's a suggestion to Coach Jamerson that he pit two halves of his team against each other in what would definitely be a good exhibition. And if not next week, then later in the season. Bill it as the Blue-White swimming meet and let the Dolphins take it from there!

Looking for Twin Wins

WHILE THE SWIMMERS are having their double feature cut in half, Coach Tom Scott and 11 cagers are proceeding with their ideas of twin victories to celebrate the weekend. And as in so many other things, the first one will be the harder to get.

You wouldn't think so, however, to look at the score of the first game played this year between Carolina and the opponents for the evening, Maryland. The Phantoms won that one handily, by a 70-46 runaway. But the Old Liners evidently play a more determined brand of ball on their own home court, as can be shown by what happened to Carolina last year. The Scottmen breezed to a 58-42 triumph in the Woollen gym fray of '47, only to suffer a setback on the road.

The second contest on the trip shouldn't be quite as tough as tonight's, although William and Mary has turned in some outstanding games this year. Then too, the Indians will be fighting for a tournament berth and desperately need a victory to keep their hopes alive.

The Phantoms also have additional inspiration for both games in that they are hopeful of gaining the second-seeded position in the tourney playoffs. With N. C. State virtually a cinch to top the seedings, Carolina and George Washington remain as the leading contenders for the runner-up spot that will help be a stepping stone to the finals.

Cleaning the Cuff

SHORTS IN SPORTS: Carolina's national ranking in team defense may have faded with the State game but the locals still rate in another respect. The Tar Heel cagers are among the top 10 in fewest personal fouls committed, with a 19-game average of 15.2 per . . . .And though the figure isn't at all close to being among the nation's leaders, the offensive average is 54.6. . . .Speaking of State, Dick Dunkel's weekly basketball index shows the Wolfpack to be topping the list. Kentucky is fourth and NYU is fifth. . . . Coach Carl Snavely, looking hopefully for signs of spring and off-season grid drills, mused the other day, "This would be a bad winter even up in Ithaca". . . .Chuck Simmons, late of Carolina, was the runner-up for the Teague award this year. The trophy as the outstanding athlete in the two Carolinas for 1947 went to Ed Koffenberger, the Duke cage and soccer star. . . .Lots of athletes running for campus posts in the spring elections. Mike Rubish, Len Szafaryn, Bill Pritchard, and Norm Sper are already among the nominees, with more certain to enter as the other CAA candidates.

Carolina Battles Maryland In Conference Test Tonight

Scott's Club Seeks 18th Win of Season On Terp Hardwood

College Park, Feb. 12—North Carolina's White Phantoms, open a two-day northern swing by battling the University of Maryland Old Liners here tomorrow night in a Southern conference contest that will have important bearing on the loop standings.

The meeting is the second of the season between the two teams. Carolina won the opener by a 70-46 score in a game played in Chapel Hill. Maryland will be the underdog again in Friday's fray but stands an excellent chance of springing an upset since the game is played on its home court.

In previous years, the Terps have been able to defeat some of the best teams in the nation on their court. The Maryland arena is not particularly small but the lighting is poor and the Terp fans rate among the loudest cheerers in the nation. Regardless of these factors, Carolina should come out victorious.

Seeking No. 17

Carolina will be seeking its 17th win of the season. The Phantoms have been beaten but three times this year. In conference play they have seven victories in eight outings, compared to six loop triumphs and three losses for Maryland.

Starting for Carolina will be Coy Carson and Captain Bob Paxton, forwards, Nemo Nearman at center, and Norm Kohler and King Cole, guards. This is the same combination that started the Duke-Carolina game last week, which Carolina won 48-42.

Scoring Distribution

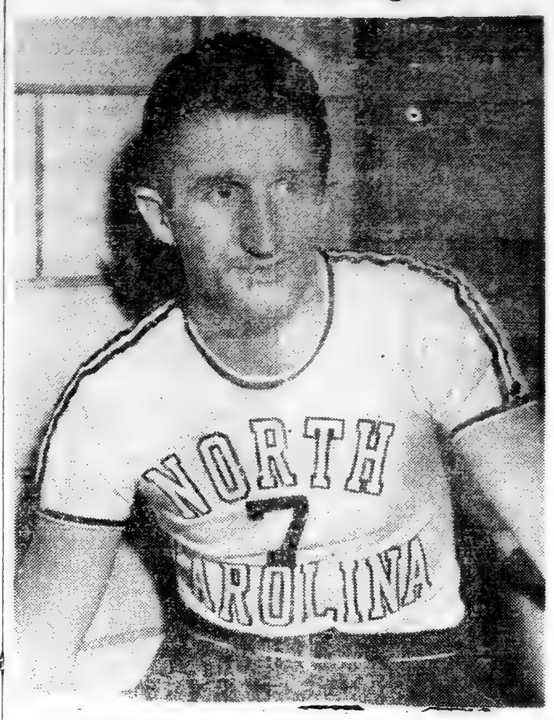
Each of the members of the starting array, with the exception of Carson, has tallied over 100 points this year. Carson did not break into the starting lineup until mid-season when Bill Miller was declared ineligible. Paxton leads the scoring with 233 points.

One Carolina substitute, John Dillon, has also passed the 100-point mark, and he gives the Phantoms good reserve strength. Other top-flight reserves are Fred Swartzberg, Roger Scholbe, and Taylor Thorne. Each will see much action.

Play Indians Saturday

A squad of 12 players made the trip here by train. On Saturday night the Phantoms will head back southward, stopping off in Williamsburg, Va., to meet William and Mary. The team will arrive in Chapel Hill Sunday afternoon.

Maryland will be at one disadvantage against Carolina. Bill Wanish, star guard, will not be present to torment the Phantoms. He quit the squad last week, with "homesickness" the reported reason. Wanish had scored 169 points prior to his departure. His long set shots were one of the features in the first Carolina-Maryland game.



Caughron, Steckroth Will Captain Indians

Williamsburg, Va., Feb. 12—(UP)—Members of the William and Mary football squad have elected their captains for the 1948 season. At their annual banquet last night they picked Harry Caughron, of Johnson City, Tenn., and Lou Hoitsma, of Patterson, N. J.

Caughron is a 200-pound tackle and Hoitsma performs at center. Both played leading roles in William and Mary's march to the Southern conference grid title last fall.

They replace Bob Steckroth and Ralph Sazio.

Faces Terps Tonight

Mervin (King) Cole, guard for Coach Tom Scott's Carolina cagers, will be in the starting lineup when the Phantoms play the Maryland Terps in College Park, Md., tonight. Cole specializes in a long set shot and has scored 106 points this season.
(Photo Courtesy Raleigh News and Observer)

Seven Championships Decided In Mural Basketball Leagues

Intramural basketball was nearing the final roundup yesterday, as five champions have been determined in the fraternity leagues and two dormitory outfits have clinched honors in their respective leagues.

Beta Theta Pi's No. 1 quint has been crowned the champion of League 1, edging out second-place Chi Psi by a one game margin. League 2's new champion is Phi Delta Theta's No. 1 club. Chi Phi No. 2 captured top honors in League 2, Kappa Sigma took the League 5 title, and Kappa Alpha No. 1 is the winner in League 7.

In the dormitory division, the Grads, who make a habit of winning titles, have clinched the top spot in League 3. Nash Hall holds the laurels in League 5.

Begins Tuesday

Championship competition for the fraternity campus title will begin on Tuesday. The dormitory championship play will not begin until later in the week.

Several playoffs are necessary to determine the champions in the various leagues in which there were no ties. In the fraternity division, there is a tie between Zeta No. 1 and Phi Gam No. 2 for the title. Sigma Chi No. 1 and Zeta Psi No. 2 are tied for the League 6 championship. A schedule of playoffs for these teams will be released tomorrow. These playoff games will be on Monday.

Dormitory Deadlocks

Ties for dormitory honors are in League 1, where the Unknowns, Blackballs, and the Seiler Five are tied; League 2, with Everette No. 2 and Field House in a deadlock; and League 4, with Mangum, Hillers, and Fireballs in a tie.

Handball competition continued yesterday, with Kappa Alpha defeating Phi Gam, 3-0, and Aycock topping Graham, 2-1.

1:30

Mural Results

48	Steele	Wesley Rockets	18
25	Independents	Hut No. 8	12
43	KA 1	Pi Lamb 2	5
34	SAE 1	Sig Nu 1	18
30	Grads	AVC	20
22	Mud Dobbers	Black Phantoms	15
30	Lewis 2	Geology Dept.	26

Law School forfeit over Aycock 1
Underdogs forfeit over Ruffin 2
Phi Delt 3 forfeit over Kap Sig 2

First Soccer Awards Made at University

The first monogram awards ever made in soccer at the University of North Carolina have been announced with the winners inducted into the Monogram club.

Ten were presented the letters. Carolina's inaugural varsity soccer team last fall won six games and lost three. It was coached by Marvin Allen.

Twelve monograms have been awarded to members of last fall's cross country team which was undefeated in dual competition. Three receiving the awards for the first time are Frank H. Hooper, Massena, N. Y.; John H Hoots, Winston-Salem, and James N. Hunt, Franklin, N. C.

The soccer awards: Joseph W Bach, Dave Boak, David W. Ferebee, Jesse K. Greenbaum, Smith M. Hagaman, Basil G. Jackson, Wayne F. Johnson, Charles J Johnston, Frank Levy, Duncan McCalman.

Jerry the Tailor
OVER
N. C. CAFETERIA

Bad Weather Keeps State-UNC Jayvees From Playing Game

Coach Jim Hamilton's Carolina Jayvees had hopes of avenging one of the defeats on their 1947-48 basketball slate last night, but that old nemisis, the weather man, stepped in to halt proceedings. State Jayvees had been scheduled to appear here but the icy roads forced postponement.

The Carolina Juniors, who dropped a close decision to State in Raleigh several weeks back, had been working hard all week in hopes of turning the tables on Coach Butter Anderson's Wolfpack juniors. However, the game will be played at a later date.

Possible Freeze

The rain yesterday afternoon left the roads in passable condition, but any freeze last night would have made any traffic from Raleigh to Chapel Hill impossible. So officials of the two schools decided that it would be better to call off the affair.

Carolina's freshmen team will see action on Saturday night. Hamilton's first-year outfit will travel to High Point, weather permitting, to meet the High Point High school Bisons, the only team to defeat Carolina this season.

High Point Favorite

High Point scored a two-point victory over Carolina in a meeting of the two teams in Woollen gym, and will be the favorite to stop the local freshmen in this return meeting. The High Point gym is considerably smaller than Woollen, and this will give the Bisons an even greater advantage.

High Point has a tall team, and Hamilton's frosh will have to be at their best to win. High Point leads the Western Class AA scholastic basketball race.

Miller To Coach

The local frosh will go through their final workout in preparation for that scrap with a drill in Woollen, but Coach Hamilton won't be around to supervise the activities. Hamilton is scheduled to go to Charlotte to play with the Charlotte Clippers against Wake Forest's Deacons in a benefit game Friday night. Bill Miller will take over the coaching reins for the day in Hamilton's absence.

Jim Hayworth, who played with Hamilton on Carolina's 1947 basketball team, will also go to Charlotte to play against the Deacons.

BANQUET POSTPONED

The annual football banquet which was slated to be held tomorrow night at Lenoir hall has been called off because of the inclement weather and the bad condition of the roads. A new date for the affair has not yet been set.

TODAY
CAROLINA

Dolphins Leave Today For Meet In Virginia

With one of their two Saturday meets cancelled—the one with George Washington here in Chapel Hill—Carolina's high-flying swimming team will leave tonight, some 17 strong, for their remaining match with the Cavaliers of Virginia in Charlottesville.

Colonial officials called Tar Heel Coach Dick Jamerson yesterday and informed him that because of existing weather conditions in the Capital city it would be impossible for the George Washington entry to carry through with their projected Southern swing. They were to have competed at State college tonight before coming to Chapel Hill.

Not Full Strength

Thus, the Tar Heels will be able to throw full strength at the Virginians in tomorrow's meet, but Jamerson announced yesterday that he plans to go ahead with his original plans and travel northward at part strength, leaving such stars as Dick Twining, Norm Sper, and Bob Ousley home to play in local waters.

Yet, even with this trio in Chapel Hill, the Tar Heels will pack a potent punch against the Virginians. In the sprints Jamerson will field Floyd Drew and Steve Osborne, with Mike Morrow possibly lending a helping hand.

The backstroke department will be capably handled by John Bippart and Jim Clements; while Don Breeden and Jerry Cook will tote the Tar Heel trunks in the the breaststroke events.

In the distance races, Ike Norwood, Tom Dosher, and Bob Hutton will do the chores with Mac Erle and John Whichard rounding the team out at the diving posts.

Three more performers will also see action and can be counted upon to score points for the Tar Heel entry. They are Walt Carnes, Allison Pell, and Frank McNeill. Their talents make them available in an assortment of strokes.

The team along with Coach Jamerson will leave by Pullman from Durham for the Cavalier city. They are expected to arrive tomorrow morning for the meet in the afternoon.

The Tar Heels will be seeking their fifth win of a season that has seen them swamp all competition. Virginia, though little is known about them in these parts, is said to be a rather formidible opponent and may give the locals their biggest test of the season

CORRECTION

The DTH intramural results yesterday erroneously reported that BVP defeated Miller Hall. The correct result was Miller Hall 18, BVP 15.

Believe It or Not

It may or may not be the weather, but students have been very slow in exchanging their passbook coupons for tickets to the State game to be played next Saturday.

Just as for the Duke contest, a priority system is being used. Students whose books are numbered 4501-8000 and faculty members whose numbers fall between 8501 and 9000 are getting first crack at the ducats, but thus far only 1,000 of the 5,000 tickets have been disposed of by the Athletic department.

The priority system will be in force until one o'clock Saturday afternoon. From Monday until Thursday any student with a passbook will be able to get a ticket on a first-come, first-served basis. Starting Friday morning and continuing until game time Saturday passbooks will not be honored and students will have to pay the one dollar general admission fee for any remaining tickets.

All Tickets Sold For Loop Tourney

Durham, Feb. 12 —(UP)—The 9,000 seats available for the 27th annual Southern conference basketball tournament already have been sold out, and plenty of mail orders for tickets will have to be returned unfilled by the conference ticket office at Duke's Indoor Stadium here.

Managers of the ticket office say that the first few mails to come through on Tuesday carried enough orders to take up all the available seats. Because the orders still are coming in, the ticket agents have issued an appeal for sports fans not to mail in any more. Also, no telephone orders will be filled.

Same As Last Year

The orders that have been accepted will be filled just as soon as possible.

The sale followed exactly the same pattern last year, when the tournament was moved for the first time to Durham. The tickets for the 1947 tournament also were sold out on the first day that mail orders were received. There were thousands of fans that were unable to get tickets then.

Last year's crowds of 9,000 per evening set a record as the largest crowd ever to witness a Southern basketball game.

The ORIENTAL
Chinese-American Restaurant
116 E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 6B

ONE (1) DOUBLE BREASTED TUXedo in excellent condition. Size 36. Price $30.00 Phone 9691. (1-1779-1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1941 FORD SIX TUDOR SEDAN. PRIvate owner. New motor. A. L. Bridgeman, 103 Mangum, after 7:30 p. m. (1-1775-1)

LOST 12

A STRING OF WHITE CULTERED knotted pearls with diamond clasp. If found please contact Sallie Lee, Pi Phi House, 8091. (1-1782-1)

WANTED TO BUY 24A

DESIRE INEXPENSIVE BASS FIDdle in reasonably good condition. Am learning. Call Jack Burney, Sig Ep House, 5791. (1-1780-1)

WANTED TO RENT 24B

SINGLE ROOM FOR GRADUATE student. Call 9696 after 7:00 or write Robert Barnes, 108 Ridge Lane (1-1777-1)

WANTED IMMEDIATELY, SINGLE room—graduate student. Phone 8611 (1-1776-1)

Fraternity Work a Specialty
Charles Valentine's Cabinet Shop
FURNITURE
REPAIRED
REFURNISHED
UPHOLSTERED
MADE-TO-ORDER
PHONE 9367 — PITTSBORO RD.

Whid Powell's
COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
GRILLED TARHEELIAS
College Educated Hamburgers
Delicious Steaks 90c
Rosemary St. — Opp. City Hall

QUALITY FURNISHINGS
at
E. A. Brown Furniture Co.
Next to City Hall
Phone 6586

PREFERRED by Carolina Students
Our Banana Splits—with three kinds of ice cream topped by whipped cream, nuts, and cherries.
FARMERS DAIRY CO-OP

FLOWERS at VALENTINE
We go our way
The Cupids say,
To bring Her
Lovely flowers.
CUPID RECOMMENDS FLOWERS
His standard test
To buy the best—
To see that
They are ours!
UNIVERSITY FLORIST
PICK THEATER BUILDING

New Orleans Cafe Will Be Theme Of Tonight's Rendezvous Show

A cast of nearly 20 singers, dancers, and instrumentalists will appear in tonight's gala New Orleans cabaret show, to be presented at 10 o'clock in the Graham Memorial Rendezvous, under the direction of Bill Corley.

Time of the show has been changed since the first announcement of it was made, but the limitation of the audience to couples only still stands, because of limited seating facilities. This ruling will be in force for tonight's show only, since the announced policy of the Rendezvous is "informality and service to the campus at large."

New Orleans Cafe

The entire show will be done in the style of a New Orleans waterfront cafe, with the cast in Negro make-up, a silhouetted background showing the iron grill work and Spanish moss associated with New Orleans French quarter, the bead curtain of the waterfront cabaret, and atmosphere of blue lighting.

Birth of Blues

Appearing in the featured dance routine, "Birth of the Blues," will be Bill Corley and Grace Blades. Coline Smith will sing during the number, and Clifford Doll will be featured on the trumpet.

Specialty numbers will be presented by three popular campus artists, Skippy Mann at the piano, and Pat Palmer and Bob Barbour, vocalists.

John Hough Trio

Music for dancing throughout the evening will be provided by John Hough and his trio, composed of Jack Sturgell at the piano, Howard Myers at the bass fiddle, and Hough on the clarinet. Music for rehearsals of the dance number was furnished by recordings lent by Ab's Book store.

Members of the chorus which will open the show are as follows: Coline Smith, Bill Corley, Bob Vinson, Nancy Tucker, Joe Majette, Ann Tucker, Tommy Thompson, Joan Farris, Mark Barker, and Pat Palmer.

UVA Removes Snow From Clubhouse Roof

Approximately a ton and a half of snow was removed from the roof of the University Veterans association clubhouse yesterday after the clubhouse was shut down because of weather conditions and fuel shortage.

Officials of the club removed the tons of snow by taking out the panels in the roof. The clubhouse closed Wednesday because of frozen water pipes and insufficient coal.

The club will definitely be open Saturday night according to Johnny Clampitt, UVA president.

-Minerva-

(Continued from page 2)

generation. We've become stuffed shirts, remote intellectuals, chug-a-luggers, and socialites, but we do not seem to come any closer to an education.

In Chapel Hill the doors swing in and the doors swing out, but the doors of the Greater University of North Carolina proper are very hard to budge. We seem to have a "New Look" for everything except the thorough education for our place in the Universal Pattern.

REHDER'S
CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Opposite Post Office Corner

Campus Calendar

4:00 p. m.—Mathematics seminar, Room 320, Phillips hall. Dr. John A. Coleman will speak on "A Critique of Eddington's Work on Relativity and Quantun Mechanics."
5:00 p. m.—Anti-UMT committee, Grail room.
6:00 p. m.—Student supper and study group, Presbyterian church.
6:30 p. m.—Recorded dinner music, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
7:00 p. m.—Wallace-for-President club, Roland Parker lounges 2, 3.
7:30 p. m.—Jewish worship services, Roland Parker no. 1.
10:00 p. m.—Floor show, Rendezvous.

Stories on Old North State Released in New Press Book

For the first time, as far as the University of North Carolina Press knows, a volume edited by a North Carolinian and devoted exclusively to short stories concerning the Old North State has made its appearance.

"North Carolina in the Short Story," edited by a professor of English in State College, Richard Walser, has just been published by the University Press.

A collection of 15 stories, the volume contains the writings of such well known North Carolina authors as Thomas Wolfe, Paul Green, James Boyd, Bernice Harris and Joseph Mitchell, as well as a number of others not so often identified with North Carolina, among them Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, with a mountain story; Wilbur Daniel Steele, with a small-town tale; and David Cornel De Jong, with a story of childhood in the middle country.

The stories, in addition to these, represent locales ranging from the mountains to the sea and characters who represent every walk of life, from sharecroppers to railroad owners, from mountain feudists to politicians.

Not all the outhors are natives of Carolina. One was born in Washington, another in Holland, another in Kentucky, others elsewhere. But they sojourned in North Carolina and preserved aspects of the state and its people in excellent fiction. The sure skill of O. Henry, Charles Chestnutt, R. P. Harris, Olive Tilford Dargan, Laurette MacDuffie, William Polk, and Frances Gray Patton is fully evident in the tragedy, pathos, comedy and drama of these Tar Heel tales, many of which have never before appeared in book form.

The editor, Richard Walser, was born in Lexington, N. C. After finishing the local schools he went to Davidson College for one year, then transferred to the University of North Carolina, from which he was graduated in 1929, with an A.B. degree, and in 1933, with an M.A. in English. For 12 years he taught English and coached dramatics in high schools throughout North Carolina.

During World War II he served in the U. S. Naval Reserve, from which he was released in 1945, with the rank of lieutenant commander.

He then taught English at the University of North Carolina for a year and in 1946 became a member of the English Department at State College.

Mr. Walser, who calls himself a "one hundred percent Tar Heel," says that his principal interest is the study of North Carolina literature and that, someday, he hopes to write a history of it.

He has made an excellent beginning toward this goal in the present volume, which may be considered a companion to his earlier volume, North Carolina Poetry, which has sold out its original edition and is now out of print.

Wesley Entertains Foreign Students

Foreign students on campus will be entertained in a Valentine party tonight sponsored by Wesley foundation, YWCA, and YMCA with Wesley foundation as host. Also a group of Women's College girls will be present.

Plans for the evening include ballroom and square dancing, refreshment, and a program especially designed for and by the foreign students. Among the numbers on the program, which will be given in floor show style, are singing by a group of South American students and an Indian folk song done by Indians. Two of the Indians will wear their native costumes.

The party theme of which is "let's get acquainted", will begin at 8 o'clock in the Methodist church. All students are invited.

YORK AGREES

Philadelphia, Feb. 12 —(UP)— Rudy York has agreed to play with the Philadelphia Athletics, according to Assistant Manager Earl Mack. An agreement was reached between the two by telephone today. York hit 21 homers last season.

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

IN WASHINGTON, Senator Robert A. Taft (R-O.) packs up a bag before leaving for a campaign swing through six states. They hold about one third the votes he needs for the Republican Presidential nomination. The Ohio Senator plans eleven speeches in Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa and Colorado. (International)

William Sasser To Give Recital

William Sasser, of Wilson, graduate assistant in music, will give a recital in Hill hall Tuesday evening at 8:30.

His program here Tuesday night will include Prelude and Fugue in G sharp minor, Bach; Sonata in E flat major, Beethoven; Intermezzo in A minor, Intermezzo in E major, and Ballade in G minor, Brahms; Valses Nobles et Sentimentales, Ravel; Chorale on a Hebrew Theme, Castelnuovo-Tedesco; Pastorale, Poulenc; and Mountain Tune, Wendell Keeney.

Lovelace of Mangum Is Athletic Manager

Oscar Lovelace, Jr., a third year student from Goldsboro was recently elected athletic manager of Mangum according to an announcement made by Pete Gerns, president of the dorm. Lovelace took the place of Ralph Holdges, who had guided Mangum to the top of the summer session league and to a fourth place in current intra-mural dormitory standings.

Gerns also announced appointment of four floor counsellors: Art Bridgman, graduate student from Shanghai, China; Redman Spruill, junior from Oriental; Joe Jenkins, graduate student from Milledgeville, Ga., and Orman Hutcherson, junior from Winston-Salem.

GLEE CLUB REHEARSAL

The Men's Glee club will have a rehearsal Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Swain hall, it was announced today.

This man is your registered pharmacist. When you bring your prescriptions here, you can depend on him to fill them with the finest ingredients.

Sloan's
Drug Store

—Also—
LATEST NEWS TODAY

VILLAGE

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

Got to Get Up Early — HARRY'S Has Breakfast Waiting at 7!!!

BIG STOCKS! BIG VALUES!
IT'S FOUNDER'S WEEK at A&P SUPER MARKETS

Come see the abundant stocks of hundreds of fine foods being featured at your friendly A&P Super Market this week. Every department is offering scores of grand things to eat . . . with prices really attractive. That's in line with our founder's policy of "more and better foods for less money." Plan to take advantage of as many of our big values as you can!

A&P Fancy APPLE SAUCE 2 No. 2 Cans 27c
Iona Sliced or Halves Yellow Cling PEACHES . . . . . No. 2½ Can 25c
Sultana Small Sifted PEAS . . . . . 2 No. 2 Cans 29c
Libby's or Sultana Fruit COCKTAIL . . . . . No. 1 Can 24c
Libby's TOMATO JUICE . . 2 No. 2 Cans 23c
A&P Whole Peeled or Halves Unpeeled APRICOTS . . . . No. 2½ Can 29c
Iona White or Golden CORN . . . . . No. 2 Can 17c
Standard Pack Packers Label TOMATOES . . . 2 No. 2 Cans 27c
Ann Page With Pork & Tomato Sauce BEANS . . . . . 2 16-oz. Cans 25c
Ann Page Peach PRESERVES . . . 1-lb. Jar 23c

MILD & MELLOW 8 O'CLOCK COFFEE 1-lb. Bag 40c · 3 Lb. Bag $1.15
RICH & FULL BODIED RED CIRCLE . . . . . 1-lb. Bag 43c
VIGOROUS & WINEY BOKAR COFFEE 1-lb. Bag 45c · 3 Lb. Bag $1.29
FINE GRANULATED SUGAR 5-lb. Bag 45c · 10-lb. Bag 89c
SUNNYFIELD SELF RISING FLOUR 5-lb. Bag 43c 10-lb. Bag 85c

Mild American CHEESE Lb. 55c
Ann Page SPAGHETTI or MACARONI 3 8-oz. Pkgs. 25c
IVORY SOAP Lge. Bar 20c Limited Quantities
CAMAY SOAP 2 Med. Bars 21c Limited Quantities
LAVA SOAP 2 Med. Bars 19c Limited Quantities
OXYDOL Lge. Pkg. 38c Limited Quantities
Ivory FLAKES Lge. Pkg. 38c Limited Quantities
Spry SHORTENING 1-lb. Can 45c Limited Quantities
Sunbrite CLEANSER 2 Pkgs. 13c
Nabisco PREMIUM 1-lb. Pkg. 25c

Fillet of Haddock, lb. 49c
Fillet of Perch, lb. 42c
Sliced Halibut, lb. 63c
Fillet of Cod, lb. 39c
Fillet of Pollock, lb 27c

Regular Ralston Pkg. 24c
Sally's Cube Starch 7-Oz. Pkg. 9c
Little Boy Bluing 3-Oz. Bot. 9c
Ann Page Salad DRESSING Pt. Jar 33c
White House Evaporated MILK 3 Tall Cans 39c

Fresh Fruits & Vegetables
Florida ORANGES, 2 doz. 35c
Rome Beauty APPLES, 3 lbs. 25c
CAULIFLOWER, lb. 17c
CABBAGE, lb. 5c
Large GRAPEFRUIT, 4 for 17c
Red Emperor GRAPES, 2 lbs. 25c
COCOANUTS, 2 lbs. 19c

Fine Quality Meats
Hormels Minnesota Brand SLICED BACON, lb. 67c
Hormels Daisy Brand—Half or Whole HAMS, lb. 59c
Rib or Loin End PORK ROAST, lb. 47c
Center Cuts PORK CHOPS, lb. 59c
Bone in CHUCK ROAST, lb. 59c
Half or Whole LEG OF LAMB, lb. 73c
Cross Cut Lamb SHOULDER, lb. 55c
SPARE RIBS, lb. 49c
Short Shank Smoke PICNICS, lb. 49c
Whole or Piece BACON SQUARES, lb. 43c
Boned, Rolled, Beef RIB ROAST, lb. 79c
Table Dressed HENS, lb. 55c
Table Dressed FRYERS, lb. 67c
SELECT YOUR FAVORITE CUT OF CHICKEN

A&P SUPER MARKETS
MEATS AND FISH · FRUITS AND VEGETABLES · GROCERIES · BAKERY · DAIRY

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Partly cloudy and colder with probable rain.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
What Mag?
Lee On Frats
Queer Complex

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 100

WHILE FLAMES ROAR THROUGH a furniture and carpet plant in Trenton, New Jersey, firemen shoot a stream of water onto an adjoining building in an effort to check the spread of the fire. Flames gutted four nearby buildings. Damage is estimated at about $1,000,000. (International)

Tornado Strikes Farms Seven Persons Killed

Meridian, Mississippi, February 13—(UP)—a toronado struck a farming area about two miles from Newton, Mississippi, at approximately 1 o'clock this afternoon. At least seven persons are known to be dead and at least 15 seriously injured.

At least 15 houses were destroyed and a Gulf, Mobile and Ohio freight train was cut in two by falling trees. The full extent of damage to the train is not known as yet. The front part of the train went on to Laurel, Mississippi, and the engineer says no one was injured.

Houses Blown Down

Two of the injured have been taken to Rush infirmary in Meridian. Mrs. Martha Bishop, of Decatur received serious face lacerations and a crushed hip. She said that she suddenly looked out of her house to see everything turning black as the wind demolished the house.

She states that she saw many persons in houses that had been blown down, and that she feels sure some of her relatives died unless they were removed from the debris of their homes.

Joseph Just, 57, of near Newton, suffered severe injuries in the lower part of the body when his home was destroyed. He told nurses at Rush infirmary in Meridian that he saw many injured being removed from ruined houses.

The highway patrol in Meridian reports that patrolmen have found it difficult to get into the devastated area near Newton because of trees and debris across the roads leading into the section.

Governor Fielding Wright of Mississippi was in Newton at the time the tornado struck but was not injured. He arrived back in Jackson and said he did not know that the tornado was as serious as it turned out to be.

Strickland Gets 10 Year Sentence For Extortion

Wilson, Feb. 13 —(UP)— The trial in Wilson of Robert James Strickland for extortion and blackmail has ended. Judge Clawson Williams has sentenced the young concrete contractor to serve 10 years in prison.

Both Strickland and his wife burst into etears when Judge Williams read the sentence.

Strickland was charged with threatening Everett Blake with murder unless he placed 15-thousand dollars in a flower pot and put it in the cemetery. Blake reported to police and then placed a decoy pot in the graveyard. Strickland was arrested near the spot and the FRT identified his typewriter as the one which wrote the extortion note.

In a surprise move yesterday, Mrs. L. L. Reedy testified that Strickland also contacted her and offered to tell her the whereabouts of her estranged husband in return for $500. Her young and pretty daughter backed up the testimony.

Blake told the court that the note included a clipping of a murder at Smithfield and said ,that it would happen to him unless he produced the $15,000.

In sentencing Strickland today, Judge Williams told him "The courts of this State do not tolerate mobsters, racketeers, and such, the seeds you have planted here in Wison county will not be allowed to flourish, the clipping which you enclosed along with the extortion letter is in reality a confession of first degree murder. Therefore Robert James Strickland, I sentence you to 10 years in the State prison to wear felon's stripes."

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

The Men's Glee club will meet in Swain hall tomorrow night at 7:30 instead of Hill hall as had been previously announced.

Floods Nearing

Raleigh, Feb. 13—(UP)—Tar Heels close to rivers in Eastern North Carolina are growing anxious.

The Cape Fear, Neuse and upper Roanoke have risen to within a few feet of flood level. The weatherman says that rain will fall again tomorrow but heavy rain is predicted for Sunday night or Monday.

At Fayetteville, the Cape Fear river has risen to 31 feet, within four feet of flood level. The Neuse river at Neuse has reached 13 feet, only one foot below flood stage. At Smithfield, the Neuse has reached 16 feet, two feet below flood level.

The upper Roanoke river was reported nearly one foot above flood stage at Williamston.

UWF Discusses Atomic Control In Thursday Meet

Leading a detailed discussion regarding atomic energy control and its posible effectiveness, Jake Wicker, president of the student chapter of United World Federalist, presided over the chapter's regular Thursday discussion meeting.

Wicker gave specific mention to the program advocated by Norman Thomas, Carolina Political union guest speaker here recently. Thomas' program calls for (1) atomic control, (2) Universal disarmament through effective control, (3) defeat of the universal military training proposal and (4) approval of the Marshall plan.

Chapter members participated in Wicker's discussion as to how atomic control can be successfully instituted, on the possibility of Russian cooperation, and on American security.

Members were urged by Wicker to attend the speech by General Herbert C. Holdrirge, expected here shortly to speak under the sponsorship of the Anti-UMT committee.

Dr Graham Receives Truman's Thanks For Services Rendered United Nations

From United Press Wire Reports

Dr. Frank Graham was received at the White House in Washington yesterday and personally thanked for his services to the United Nations by President Truman.

"You and the committee have had a profound influence in putting into practice the ideal of world law and order," President Truman wrote the University's president, complimenting him on his peacemaking mission in Indonesia. "The effectiveness of United Nations machinery as demonstrated by your work has given new hope to those who have faith that by such democratic processes this ideal can be realized."

The other members of the three -man group which worked out the truce between the Dutch East Indians and their mother countries and accompained Dr. Graham on his visit to the Chief Executive were Dr. Paul Van Zeelan, former prime minister of Belgium and Justice Richard Kirby of Australia.

Tenders Resignation

Graham, who was the United States member of this United Nations Security Council Committee on good offices in Indonesia, also handed in his resignation yesterday and was immediately appointed a special adviser to the State department by Secretary George Marshall.

About this appointment, the President wrote Graham that he was "happy to know that you will remain on call to make available your services in the field of Indonesian affairs, in which this government has a continuing and friendly interest."

Treaty Signed

The Chapel Hill educator and his fellow commission members finished their lengthy and involved task on January 17, when they negotiated the signing in the harbor of Batavia, Javia, of a truce which Dr. Henry Brandis, member of the University Law department who accompained Dr. Graham on the delegation, called the "basis for final political agreement" and the paving of the way for the eventual independance of the Indonesian people.

Dr. Graham has been in the United States since February 1, completing the final details of his special assignment, with the State department in Washington and the United Nations headquarters in Lake Success, N. Y., but after yesterday's honors and his advisory appointment, he should be free to return to the University.

Senate Committee Approves The Four Year Marshall Plan

Washington, Feb. 13,—(UP)—The Senate Foreign Relations committee tentatively approved the four year Marshall Plan tonight.

Included in the agreement is a provision that American aid would be limited to five-billion, 300-million dollars for the first 2 months, starting April 1.

The committee's unanimous decision is still subject to review at a final meeting next Tuesday, but there appears little doubt that it will go to the Senate floor in its present form.

The decision is a clear-cut victory for president Truman and Secretary of State Marshall. This is a relatively small reduction since the administration had originally asked for six-billion, 800-million for the first 15 months.

A committee member. Senator George of Georgia, says the measure makes clear that the aid program will be a continuing one, even though it has fixed a spending limit for only the first 12 months.

In France, the foreign office says a conference of the 16 Marshall Plan countries is now under discussion. The United States feels that such a meeting was unnecessary about a month ago but that now the conference plan has been revived and a French Foreign office spokesman says a meeting is likely within the next two months.

Story Contest Is Offered To Coeds; $1,000 In Prizes

Mademoiselle Magazine has announced a short story contest featuring $1,000 in prizes, for women undergraduate students.. April 15 is the deadline for the stories, which must be from 3,000 to 5,000 words in length.

The best two stories will be awarded $500 each and will be published in the August, 1948, issue of Madamoiselle, which reserves the right to buy all other acceptable stories at regular rates. Stories which have already appeared in undergraduate publications will be acceptable, but only if they have not been published elsewhere.

The stories must be submitted to College Fiction Contest, Mademoiselle, 122 East 42 street, New York 17, N. Y. They must be typewritten double-spaced and writeen on one side of the paper only. All entries must be accompanied by the contestant's clearly marked name, home address, college address and college year.

Some Mademoiselle stories usually find their way to the annual anthologies of best American short stories. Several of the stories which have been printed have been the author's first published work. The magazine is mainly for women between the ages of 18 and 30 and attempts to reflect their interests and ideas.

Past issues of Mademoiselle have included stories by undergraduates of Wellesley, Vassar, Cornell, Bennington, UCLA, Sarah Lawrence and Bennington, as well as many other schools and universities.

Mademoiselle will assume no responsibility for the manuscripts and will return only those accompanied by a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Vets Must Choose Desired Program

World War II veterans are eligible for training under the GI bill or the Vocational Rehabilitation act (Public Law 16) while they are taking training in certain courses financed by other federal appropriations, Veterans administration ruled recently.

Accordingly, veterans must select the federal program under which they prefer to enter certain types of training.

VA said that certain courses financed by federal appropriations are available to veterans as well as to other persons. These are separate from the training programs established for eligible veterans under Public Law 16 and the GI Bill (Public Law 346). Among such courses are:

(1) U. S. Public Health training programs for persons receiving fellowships or salaries from state and other grant-in-aid funds derived wholly or in part from federal appropriations.

(2) U. S. Maritime commission training programs.

(3) Resident training programs in hospitals, clinics, medical or dental laboratories owned or operated by the U. S. government.

(4) Residency training for physicians and dentists in the Department of Medicine and Surgery of the Veterans administration.

Melting Snow, Rain Cause Flood Damage; Thousands Are Homeless in Three States

By United Press

Old man weather was using a new combination of winter weapons yesterday as he struck with floods in three southeastern states and along the Ohio river.

Floods caused by melting snow, breaking ice jams, and fresh rains were forcing thousands to evacuate their homes in Mississippi, Tennessee and West Virginia.

Red Cross Bury

In Mississippi, the Ytonca river has flooded rural Quitman county causing the Red Cross to send boats, tents, cots, and 500 blankets to the homeless. No estimate of their numbers was available.

However, Red Cross figures boxed that a similar, though more severe, condition in Tennessee had made 3500 homeless at Bifall last night. Waters of the engaging Duck river, which is causing the devastation, were nearing the 1902 record flood level of 48 feet at that time.

The two hardest hit Tennessee towns were Shelbyville and Columbia. In Shelbyville, a town of 15,000, the water supply was paradoxically cut off by the flood, and emergency squads worked to evacuate persons from endangered dwellings as water lapped at the windowsills.

Flood Closes Schools

Lowland homes were also being evacuated in Southern West Virginia as swollen Tug creek rose from its banks to flood the business district of the mining town of Williamson. At least two Mingo county high schools had to be closed as officials feared that further rise in the creek waters would block roads and maroon pupils in the schoolhouses.

High water in the Cincinnati area was welcomed last night, however, as residents noted a gradual break in the ice of the Ohio was easing it downstream The river city has feared for the past few days that a sudden break would permit the ice to pound harbor facilities and shipping in the area to ruins.

The break in the cold wave was bringing some relief to industrial fuel users.

Chapel of the Cross Will Hold Communion

There will be a celebration of Holy Communion at the Chapel of the Cross at 9:30 tomorrow morning especially for students.

Other services during Lent will be Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday at 5:15 in the afternoon; Wednesday at 4:30; Holy communion during the week, Wednesday at 7:15 in the morning and Thursday at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Kappa Sigma Leads Debate Tournament; Teams Announced for Tuesday's Round

At present leading the Intramural debate tournament is the negative team of Kappa Sigma, composed of Hugh Griffin and Richard Borden. Following closely is the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority team of Alice Middleton and Emily Baker.

The following teams will debate in round two. Tuesday night at 6:45 and are requested to come to 108 Caldwell at that time; the affirmative teams are listed in order of their rank: Whitehead, Dortch Warriner and Marshall Pinnix; Stacy, John Bunch and Bill Payeff; KA Lester Martin and John Stump; DKE, Sam Manning and Gus Graham; Chi Phi, Herb Mitchell and Tom Shelton; Lambda Chi Alpha, Randall Procter and Grey Adams; McIver, Mintie Cantrell and Betty Webb.

The negative teams going into the semi-finals are: Kappa Sigma, Hugh Griffin and Richard Borden; Alpha Gamma Delta, Alice Middleton and Emily Baker; Chi Phi, Wm. H. Stewart and Hamp Davis; Daily Tar Heel, James Spence and Gilbert Burnett; Independent, Bob Ormand and Garland Scruggs; Wilborn Phillips and Herb Howell, and George Brizzard and Al Phillips.

Judges for this round were Terry Sanford, Institute of Government; Norman Mattis, Eng-

(See KAPPA, Page 4)

Novelist Turns Farmer . . . . . Uses Early-bird Tactics

James Street Puts Earthworms 'In Harness'

By Donald MacDonald

Early birds and Novelist James Street have something in common—worms.

On his 122-acre farm off the Pittsboro highway, Street is experimenting in land fertilization by using a compost rapidly decomposed by earthworms. The best selling author of "The Gauntlet," "Tap Roots," "The Biscuit Eater" and other stories is attempting to prove that lumbricus terristris—the earthworm is the greatest little farmer of all.

Known throughout this area as an organic farmer as well as an agricultural one, Street bought a poor cut farm in this section two years ago expressly to prove "that soil can be made rich."

Important Worm

"There's no such thing as poor land," the writer remarked, "but there are a lot of poor fools who live on the land. The earthworm is the most important agent in land-building. God Almighty made it that way; and after all, God Almighty never made any mistakes, except when He made man."

Summarizing a few aspects of organic farming, the 43-year-old novelist told of a German scientist's discovery of the NKP theory—that plants use nitrogen, phosphate and potash to grow. "Soon afterwards, the American people, who are so profit-minded, decided to chance the theory.

"What the scientist overlooked," said Street, "is known in soil as trace elements. It is true that nitrogent, phosphate and potash are found in virgin earth, but dozens of other materials—among them cobalt and manganese—are put in by processes of decomposition and building up. There must be some agent to pull all these in together.

Fertilizer Right

"We organic farmers, called by others a 'fellowship of crackpots', contend that the earthworm is that agent. Artificially putting NKP into the soil kills earthworms. But it is impossible to get the government, which of course must continue to protect the fertilizer industry, to recognize the fact. So our experiments have to be conducted only by individuals. The fertilizer people naturally hate the hell out of us."

With his sons, Jack, 21, and Jimmy, Jr., 23, both war veterans, Street began his experiment. They secured the help of Eddie, whom Street calls "a typical North Carolina Negro farmer." But Eddie has proved himself more than typical—better, outstanding—through his efficient management of the 40 acres in row cultivation and the 45 acres in cleared pasture land on the Street farm. In his neat little office behind his white frame house, Eddie studies scientific farming pamphlets and maps out his working program. Street calls Eddie, "the brain, the brawn, and the gasoline-user" of the outfit.

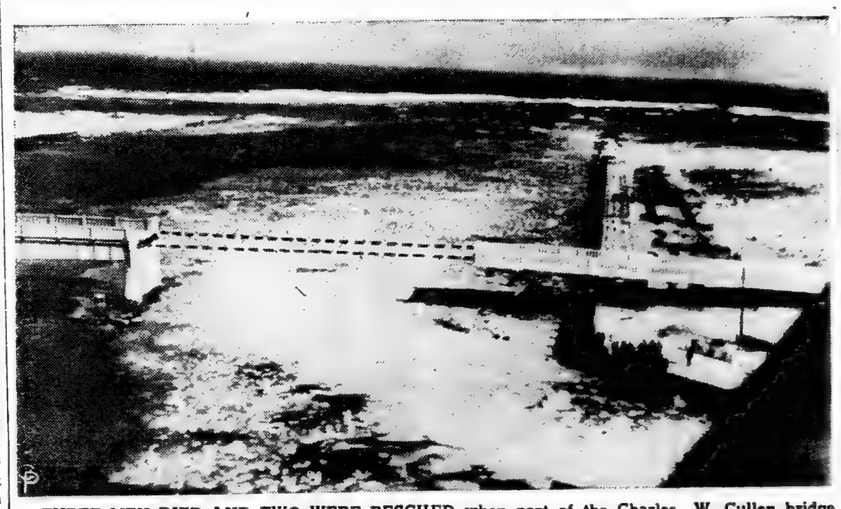
For the earthworm experiments the novelist and short story writer ordered spawn from a worm farm in Michigan. Five dollars bought him more eggs than he needed.

Prolific, Like Rabbits

In two boxes, about four feet long and two feet high, Street prepared his spawn beds. The eggs were laid in one half of the box, for in a month's time the prolific worms were to double themselves and fill the entire container. Three layers of soil, green matter or dead leaves and manure were kept moist by sprinkling and kept warm inside Eddie's office. Chicken feed and crumpled toast were laid atop the beds for feedings. There the worms took care of their propagation and slithered into maturity.

Eddie's ability in stone-masonry, itself a vanishing art in North Carolina, made possible the building of a compost pit. Young Jimmy explained that although they can be made smaller, dimensions of the Street compost are 60 feet long, five feet high and 12 feet wide.

Fresh manure, green matter, dead leaves and soil are heaped together, Jimmy added. The ma-



(See STREET, page 4)

Plane Safe In Air; Lost On Ground

Raleigh, Feb. 13 —(UP)— If anyone has any doubts that the fog hanging over North Carolina is about as thick as it can get, this story from the Raleigh-Durham airport should be the convincer.

A military C-47 transport plane landed in the soupy weather today entirely on instruments. Officials in the control tower couldn't even see the plane as it let down gingerly on the runway.

The punch line to the whole affair is that the plane got lost after it was on the ground. The fog was so thick the pilot could not find the parking ramp and had to taxi around until he located the right place.

THREE MEN DIED AND TWO WERE RESCUED when part of the Charles W. Cullen bridge (broken lines) at Rehoboth, Delaware, collopsed, plunging an automobile and a truck into the icy Indian River. Those who survived the ordeal were James Clark, Dover, Del., who swam to safety, and William Quesada, Cambridge, Md. Both were taken to a hospital. Constant ice pressure had weakened the span supports. (International)

DeVyes to Address Local Administrators

Dr. Frank T. de Vyves, director of the North Carolina Merit System council, will speak on "The Program and Problems of the Merit System council" at the first meeting of the campus chapter of the American Society for Public Administration on Monday.

The meeting, at which the local chapter will be launched and organized, will begin at 8 o'clock in Room 208, Caldwell hall. All members and prospective members of the ASPA are invited to attend.

Which Magazine D'Ya Like?

It is plain to see that something is wrong with the mag set-up at Carolina. People—including the staffers for both mags—are definitely not happy about the mags.

From the Carolina Mag viewpoint (as best we can interpret) a combination magazine is desired, i.e. abolition of Tarnation and more money for publication of Carolina Mag.)

Strangely enough, that would seem to be the objective of Tarnation top men, also. This stand by Tarnation has been explained as reflecting humor editor Tookie Hodgson's desire for co-editorship of Carolina Mag. (Considering the source of our "information," however, the view may be biased.)

As we remember t, magazine editors Hodgson and Fred Jacobson (Mag boss) were at a recent meeting of the Di Senate to plead their respective (and similar) causes. Hodgson got up, talked about humor, his device of giving one type of answer to the press and another before august bodies like the Di, and came out, we thought, for a combination mag (contrary to yesterday's Tarnation editorial). His slant seemed to be against the excessive amount of "literary" stuff in the Carolina Mag.

Jacobson kept his seat, sent literary editor Bill Sessions up before the bunch to talk about projected changes in literary policy.

And so it has gone for the past few weeks. All those in the publications group have thought about the set-up, some have reached conclusions. But, for some reason, there is no agreement.

In the end it seems to boil down to this: will the Carolina Mag attempt to please the students or will the Carolina Mag attempt to become a respected college publication? (No, it s generally beleved, it cannot do both.)

At any rate, the referendum is due Tuesday and students will have an opportunity to say what they want in magazines. Some publications workers have merely shrugged their shoulders and said, "The dorm men wouldn't know a good piece of writing if they saw it." Others have answered, "Okay, so they won't. They know what they want, anyway."

Offhand, that seems to be a pretty good answer. But do the "dorm men" know what they want? It is our belief that the campus as a whole will not vote for its three actual alternatives: a humor mag or a literary mag or a combination mag. The campus will be voting for Tarnation or Carolina Mag—publicatons which it must be admitted are not very good representatves of any of those three classifications.

Comes now the pitch:

In voting, students must remember that the mag editorships change in April. The Carolina Mag or Tarnation for which you vote Tuesday will not be the Carolina Mag or Tarnation that will land in front of your door after April. Magazine editors change a magazine to suit their personalities.

Therefore, students must not base their votes on the admittedly rather weak examples of different types of magazines that they have read or pitched into the fireplace for the past five months. They must vote for (1) a literary magazine, (2) a humor magazine, or (3) a combination magazine.

Which of the three is most needed on the campus?

It's your ballot.—B.S.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Queer Complex About Liberalism

Drew Pearson

Washington.— Boss of the Bronx Ed Flynn, who has a great deal to do with picking Harry Truman for vice-president at Chicago, has a queer complex about liberalism. He has repeatedly urged Truman to appoint a Negro as Federal Judge in New York in order to attact the Negro vote, yet he turns round and tries to undercut a Government agency which protects the economic welfare of both Negroes and Whites.

This is what the charming Ed was up to when he visited at the White House this week.

His visit was aimed at persuading Truman to appoint Paul Rowen of Boston to the Securities and Exchange Commission, and simultaneously to make Ed Hanrahan of New York chairman.

On the surface, this sounds innocent enough. But below the surface, it happens that Hanrahan already a member of the SEC has come under the influence of Wall street to such extent that it's a foregone conclusion that as chairman he would try to throw overboard the Holding Company act, one of the greatest landmarks in FDR's battle against the big utilities.

It also happens that Rowen is pledged in advance to vote for Hanrahan for chairman.

Finally, it happens that Ed Flynn's law firm represents some of the best-paying firms along Wallstreet. 'Nuff said.

Only other thing to do is watch and see whether Truman follows Flynn's advice. Inside word is that he's inclined to do so.

Alice Roosevelt Longworth, Bob Taft's best socialite booster, has a new word for Dewey. In 1944 she called him "The little man on the wedding cake." Now she says: "Dewey is a souffle. He never rises twice." . . .It was Alice who said of Calvin Coolidge: "He must have been weaned on a pickle." . . . Biggest wearers of Wallace buttons are the colored people. . . That's why Democratic leaders privately have virtually given up New York state as lost, especially if Dewey runs. Wallace, they figure, will swing all the Harlem vote, and Dewey would take most of the New York Jewish vote. Also, Wallace will carve out a sizable hunk of the New York City labor vote. . . .

Tammany leaders are so glum about Truman's prospects in New York state that many have already decided to sit it out.

They're more interested in 1949—the election for Mayor of New York. . . Jim Farley is all for the Republicans when it comes to the income-tax and the Taft-Hartley bills. That's one reason he says he can't make too many political speeches now—it might be embarrassing. . . It was Jim Farley who gave Senator Howard McGrath his first job as U. S. Attorney in Providence, R. I. That's one reason McGrath is so strong for Farley. . . .Friends suggested to Tom Watson (International Business Machines and Eisenhower's political mentor) that Ike run for Governor of New York in 1950. This would get him back in the Presidential race in 1952. Watson was noncommittal.

Even on the stock market it's sometimes a fact that mighty oaks from little acrons grow. Take, for instance, the mysterious attempted stock flotation for Kaiser-Frazer automobiles.

On Feb. 2, Henry Kaiser, the big West Coast shipbuilder who had the nerve to invade Detroit to build automobiles, sat down with his bankers to iron out final details of a $17,000,000 stock flotation. Kaiser had successfully carried out his auto threat, was turning out 1,100 cars per day at the Willow Run plant, had made $5 per share during his first year of operation. He now wanted money to push production to 1,500 cars daily.

Participating in the conference were Otis and Co. of Cleveland, The First California Company of San Francisco, and Allen and Co. of New York. Kaiser-Frazer stock, it was agreed, would be sold to the public on February 4, at $13 a share but it was also agreed that to keep the price up the day before, Kaiser would buy his own stock at $13.50.

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

"An' what would YOU suggest we do with our spare time, lady?"

Write Away

Why Spend Millions On UMT?

Letters submitted to the Write Away column must be double-spaced, typewritten, and shall not exceed 300 words. All contributions must contain signature, telephone number, and address of the author. (Names will be withheld upon request.) Letters which contain obscene or libelous statements or letters which do not comply with these stipulations will not be published.

To the Editor:

May I correct a possible impression resulting from the headline on ministers' statements re Universal Military Training in Wednesday's Daily Tar Heel? No "Anti-Umty" bloc (?) was formed, and the opinions were not issued concurrently!

Because two statements were inadequately quoted, I should like to enter them again for publication-since we consider very valuable the views and logic thereof:

L. Rev. J. C. Herrin, Baptist Church:

"According to the best military analyst I know—Hanson Baldwin, New York Times, U. M. T. would serve no useful purpose since a large Army will be obsolete in the future methods of waging war. Every dollar we have to spend today should be used to prevent starvation and death-throughout the world. Why spend millions preparing to defend ourselves against unknown enemies, when the reconstruction of life undoubtedly would prove a stronger guarantee against wars?

"What we all need is an indoctrination for Peace according to the teachings of all great religions. U. M. T. would of necessity provide just the opposite. No nation of itself can meet successfully the attack from a coalition of nations intent on making war. The only hope is an international police force through the nations united for world government. Universal Military Training would document our lack of faith in the current efforts of sincere and able leaders from most of the nations in our world. I am opposed to this futile, wasteful, un-Christian, and inadequate system of Universal Military Training!"

H. Rev. Robert C. Nelson, Director of Wesley Foundation—"Many good citizens sincerely believe that peace-time conscription would secure our freedom from War, but the witness of history and atomic science disprove such a theory. 'Man cannot attain Peace by preparing for War!'"

Martha Aiken

U.S. Must Discharge Commitments

Dear Editor:

If the United States is to discharge its world wide commitments effectively, she must have a potentially strong and efficient army. This object, which this writer regards as a necessary one, can only be achieved by Universal Military Training. To use the conventional abbreviation, if the UMT law is not passed, this writer is sorely afraid that the future will be able to cite another example, furnished by this nation, of too little, too late.

Though the author of this letter is not a candidate for president, he thinks that it should be fairly obvious to anyone with a discerning mind that a strong army is to a nation just as a strong and efficient police force is to a city, or a large dog to a home. The purpose of all three is the prevention of aggression or, in other words, territorial and personal robbery.

Curiously enough those who took delight in pouring vitriolic redicule on the Selective Service Act were also those who criticized Roosevelt the loudest because Japan found the United States unprepared in the Pacific.

Military life does not teach a man to forget his heritage; it teaches him how to protect it.

Irby C. Nichols, Jr.

Hollywood

Squeaky Bed-springs Tabooed

Hollwood (UP) — Squeaky bed-springs have cost 20th Century-Fox a neat sum.

They tied up production for several hours while Linda Darnell and Kirk Douglas were playing a scene in a bedroom for "The Walls of Jericho."

Miss Darnell was gorgeous, as usual, in a nightgown with her "Amber" blonde hair falling around her shoulders. But the director seemed to think that somebody would be listening to her lines—instead of looking at them—and that's where the springs come in.

The actress playfully pushed Kirk Douglas, her movie husband, into one twin bed—an iron affair of 1908 vintage—mussed up his hair, took a last peek at herself in the mirror and bounced into the other bed.

The springs groaned so loudly that they blotted out her dialogue.

Old-timers who remembered the days of rusty springs thought the realism was perfect but director John Stahl was horrified.

"Oil them," he ordered. The prop men went to work with oil while Miss Darnell, standing around in her nightie, explained that she was wearing a slip underneath.

"You have to, in the movies," she said, "or you're not decent. It's a clever trick, too, trying to get in bed gracefully with a slip binding your legs."

The springs were dripping oil and Miss Darnell got in bed again. More squeaks. She plopped down on another spot. Still squeaks.

Stahl roared that he wanted some modern box springs. He hid them under the bedding and that was fine, except the carpenters had to saw the legs off to make the bed look like Douglas'.

Everybody was happy then except the property department. They hauled the 1908 bed springs over to a quiet corner and took turns lying on them.

"We've got to find these squeaks," they said. "Gene Tierney's got to sleep here tomorrow."

Beware of Women Who Circle Around

Indianapolis,— (U P) —L. W. Dickerson, an upholstery shop proprietor, was annoyed when a young woman circled around him several times as he showed her samples.

After she had left the shop, Dickenson discovered that $95 was missing from his wallet. He deduced that the girl lifted the wallet, pocketed the money and returned the billfold to his pocket as she paced the room.

What's Up in Graham Memorial

—X "Joker John" Van Hecke being out of town for a few days, "Jolly Cholly" Ufen will call the Bingo tonight in Graham Memorial . . . Weather being what it is, we heartily recommend this for a wholesome (and possibly profitable) evening of enjoyment . . . Mickey McNatt will assist, and all the cards you can keep up with may be played for the nominal fee of $.02 each per game; winner takes the proceeds.

That's 8 o'clock, Graham Memorial main lounge.

Interior decorations of the Rendezvous are improving the looks of the place every day . . . Just the simple stunt of mixing in some soft red lights with the aqua green bulbs makes the place much more intimate . . . Any suggestions for further improvements or decorations.

Dean States Frats Must Prove Worth

Middlebury, Vt.—(I.P.)— F[ra]ternities will be compelled in t[he] next few years to prove that th[ey] can make a significant contribu[tion] toward college education[al] purposes," commented W. Stor[y] Lee, Dean of Men at Middlebur[y] College, after reviewing decision of the thirty-ninth annual National Interfraternity Conference, held recently in New York City and attended by over 500 Deans and fraternity representatives.

Pot shots are being taken fraternities from all angles," [he] continued. "They are now on t[he] defensive in many colleges, a[s] despite the militant attitude the National Interfraternity [Con]ference in insisting that frat[er]ties have the right to discrimi[nate] as much as they wish in [the] selection of members," consi[der]ation is being given on m[any] campuses to the banning of f[ra]ternities with discrimination the motive.

The Conference went on record strongly favoring discrimination. The keynote address was given by David A. Embury, past chairman, who maintained that fraternities have the right to impose whatever restrictions they see fit. Mr. Embury said:

"The college fraternity is the closest knit, most intimate group to be found anywhere outside the family group. The members live together, eat together, sleep together, date together, and share each other's joys and sorrows. What then could be more natural, more important than that in choosing new members they should seek men with the same racial, religious, social and cultural backgrounds as their own?

"But it is one thing to say that a group may omit such restrictions—that is democracy. It is quite a different thing to say that a group must omit them—that is regimentation. . .If you or I want to form a fraternity whose membership shall belimited exclusively to bowlegged men, it is our privilege to do so. Our bowlegged fraternity does not infringe on the rights of the knock kneed man or the man with straight legs, because, they too are free to form their own groups."

Dean Lee does not question the "right" of fraternities to limit membership on the basis of physical infirmities, race, religion, and political conviction, but he maintains that it is a narrow approach to a far-reaching problem.

"The college can not exist for one purpose," said Dean Lee, "and the fraternity within the college, for another purpose. One of the objectives of higher education is to bridge differences of religion, politics, and creed—to bring an understanding among men of varying beliefs and backgrounds, so that they may live together with a degree of amicability.

"While fraternities may create bonds among a group of men with similar likes and dislikes they will be defeating the large purpose of education in remaining aloof from men who do not follow their pattern. Compromises are possible among fraternities, and not to admit such compromises is inviting eventual defeat of both educational and fraternal ideals. Brotherhood of men is a good fraternity ideal, but Brotherhood of Man is the college ideal. The two ideals can be brought closer together without damaging any fraternity organization.

"It makes little sense for the N. I. C. to urge that foreign students be housed and fed [in] American fraternity houses to help create international understanding, while urging at the same time discriminatory lines be drawn for our own citizens. Demarcations bound to contribute toward national confusion."

Dean Lee does not favor [abo]lizing well-organized fraternities at Middlebury College [which] have discriminatory clauses in their national charters. Granting of house privileges and placing of men with varying interests and backgrounds can accomplish approximately the desired purpose. But the aim of liberal education should be carried over into fraternity life.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

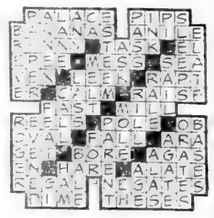
CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

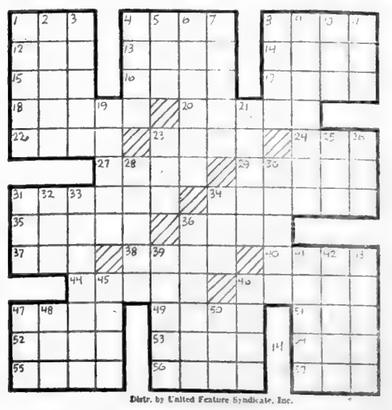
NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser
NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson.
NIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette.
ASST. BUS. MGRS.: Mary W. Sledge, T. E. Holden
ASST. CIRC. MGRS.: Randall Hudson, Don Snow
SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison
EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan

NEWS STAFF: Raney Stanford, Donald MacDonald, Sally Woodhull, John Stump, Herb Nachman, Charlie Gibson, Gordon Huffines, Margaret Gaston, Mark Summer, Paul Rothman, Nina Davis, George Roberts, Elaine Patton, Jean Baskerville, Mary Ann Taber, Weddy Thorp, Emily Baker, Miriam Evans, Doris Weaver, Nancy Black, Helen Beam, Daniel Wallace, Sam Whitehall, Helen Highwater.
SPORTS STAFF: Morty Shaap, Dick Jenrette, Bill Kellam, Larry Fox, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Bill Gallagher.
BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty, Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Katryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr., Lena Campbell, Ed Campbell, Al Carpenter.



Woman's Government Association

Statement of Income and Expense
For the Year Ended June 30, 1947



INCOME
Student Fees		$2,689.40
Fines		4.00
Miscellaneous Income		14.50
TOTAL INCOME		$2,707.90
EXPENSE
Senate:
Auditing & Bookkeeping	$ 30.00
Supplies & Materials	16.70
Printing	142.85
Yackety Yack Space	80.00
Miscellaneous	42.76
Orientation	324.63
Donations	1,070.00
Co-ed Senate	142.10
Dances	63.00
Total Senate Expense		$1,912.04
Interdormitory Council:
Printing	$ 4.50
Repairs & Equipment for Dorms	.60
Total Interdormitory Expense		$ 5.10
Town Girls Association:
Entertainment (1945-46)	$ 17.53
Total Town Girls Expense		$ 17.53
TOTAL EXPENSE		$1,934.67
NET PROFIT		$ 773.23

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

ACROSS
1—Small rug
4—Additional
8—U N concern
12—Single thing
13—Smooth
14—Bare
15—Noise
16—Need
17—Waste allowance
18—Drug-yielding plants
20—Uncanny
22—Allowed use of
23—Monster
24—Hearing organ
27—Capable
29—Raccoon's cousin
31—Tented
34—Severe lecture
35—Sprite in "The Tempest"
36—To shower
37—Chess piece
38—Mine entrance
40—Finishes
44—Declarer
45—Free meal
47—To moderate
49—Companion
51—To contend
52—Good trick (slang)
53—Pert. to the ear
54—To wander
55—Beginner
56—Head support
57—Grain

Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

DOWN
1—Pert. to mode
2—Infirm
3—Part of carpentry joint
4—Sea gulls
5—Eggs
6—To fail to keep promise
7—To go in
8—One opposed
9—Soup bowls
10—Poem
11—Convened
19—Military stockade
21—To repulse
23—Ancient
25—Puss
26—Plowed
28—Quit (slang)
30—Fall flower
31—Movable piece
32—Macaw
33—Church of a monastery
34—To permit
36—Captain Kidd
39—Devil
41—At no time
42—Milk farm
43—Cubic meter
45—Pert. to aircraft
46—Ready-made cravat
47—Fly
48—Come
50—Nervous twitch

States Must Worth

—(I.P.)—"Fra- ompelled in prove that they ficant contribu- ge educational nted W. Storrs at Middlebury ewing decisions th annual Na- rnity Confer- y in New York d by over 500 ity representabeing taken at all angles," he are now on the y colleges, and ant attitude of fraternity Con- g that fraterni- to discriminate y wish in the bers," consider- iven on many banning of fra- scrimination as

e went on re- avoring discri- eynote address vid A. Embury, who maintained have the right ver restrictions Embury said: aternity is the intimate group where outside The members together, sleep together, and s joys and sor could be mor important tha new member men with the ous, social and unds as their long to say that ch restrict- nocracy. It is thing to say t omit them— ion. If you or fraternity whose ll delimited ex- ressed men, it is do to Our bow- does not in- ts of the knock- the man with cause, they too, m their own s not question fraternities to p on the basis nities, race, re- ical conviction, s that it is a ch to a far- m.

n not exist for nd Dean Lee, s to within the r the purpose. t yes of higher ide differences s and creed— standing among eliefs and back- ney may live ence of amica-

s may create up of men ed dislikes, ng the larger in remain- who do not Compro- ong frater- that such e eventual ational and hood of ery ideal. Man is the ideals can ether with- fraternity or-ace for the Lehigh stu- and fed in houses to and under- at the story lines en citizens- contribute ession."

favor pena- fraternities which houses in Granting pledging ntests and establish ap- real purpose. ical education over into fra-

The Sporting Picture

By Billy Carmichael III

Impending Olympics

FROM THE LOOKS of the nation's sport pages these days, you can't mention a promising young athlete this year with tagging him as a prospective Olympic star, and every race or contest that is held whether here or there as an Olympic warm-up trial etc. For this is Olympic year and the American sporting picture is filled with those who would like to and those chosen few who will make the trip to London this summer to represent the United States in the games.

Carolina has its prospects along with the rest of the colleges and athletic clubs of America. Norman Sper (rhymes with cheer) is a definite possibility in the platform diving events; Jack Milne is coming fast and is a threat at any distance from 1,500 metres up; and Chuck Simmons, lately of the University, who found academic obstacles harder to hurdle than the ones on Fetzer field, will have a good chance in the decathlon (overall performance in ten events) with an outside chance in the hurdles.

The Tar Heels had one star in the 1936 games which were held in Berlin in the days when Adolph Hitler was Adolph Hitler. Harry Williamson was his name and he ran the 800 metres which is the Olympic equivalent to the local half mile. Williamson was one of the best tracksters Coach Bob Fetzer and Dale Ranson have ever turned out besides being one of the greatest athletes in the history of the school. Williamson was the number three United States 800-man running behind Johnny Woodruff, the Negro ace from Pittsburgh, who went on to win the event for the American entry.

But the Kitchen Sink

THE OLYMPICS have just about everything imaginable. They don't play American football and baseball, although there is a move to add the latter event to the curricula. Besides the forementioned swimming and track which are the big events on the summer program, there is wrestling, gymnastics, fencing, shooting, equestrian, weight-lifting, cycling, yachting, rowing, canoeing, boxing, field hockey, polo field handball—whatever that may be, water polo, soccer, and basketball.

The American teams usually do pretty well in all events even though they participate at home very little or none at all in some of these sports. Even if they could play them, the big question would be—do the American sports writers know enough about them to even cover them, which leaves one open for a lot of comment.

Basketball, it may come as a shock to some, is a rather big sport in Olympic competition. Of the sixty-odd teams that took part in the 1936 session, the majority entered the cage competition which the Americans ran off with. For the record, Canada finished second in the event with the Mexican entry placing third. Ben Carnevale, former Tar Heel cage coach and headman of Carolina's great 1946 team who is now head mentor at Navy, was a member of the United States' team which didn't even have a close game.

Getting Off the Track

SPEAKING OF OLYMPIC basketball, the system of picking the team to represent this country in London this summer has been modified from the old form. Formerly the best seven players of the best college team in the country along with the best seven amateurs outside of college competition composed the American entry. This year there will be a tryout tournament in New York on March 27, 29, and 31 to which eight teams will be invited. Three of these will be National AAU aggregations, one will be the national YMCA champ with the collegians to be represented by the NCAA tourney finalists, the winner of the National Invitational and the winner of the Kansas City tourney for smaller college schools.

On the basis of performance in this event seven college players and seven outside amateurs will be named to compose the American entry. With the NCAA getting two teams in the event and Invitational only one, the reason is obvious why all hands will be seeking NCAA bids. The clash in this area comes from the fact that both Kentucky and N. C. State are in this same district which points to a dog-eat-dog affair for the post. Reports from authoritative have it that the NCAA won't have the Kentucks because of the open-U. S. Army style recruiting methods they have used in securing their ball team.

And further reports from the West Raleigh extension of Indiana U. can be deciphered to read that State has exams during the Invitational and therefore couldn't possibly make any thing but the NCAA T-party. All of which boils down to the fact that Everett Case has briefed the Olympic Coaching job and won't mind having it with or without a couple of his point-pouring lads along to relieve the monotony of the trip. Others mentionable for the coaching job are Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, Hank Iba of Oklahoma A and M, Carnevale, and Howard Cann of NYU. To mention the possible players that might go would take more space than Editor Mills allows, but most of those who have seen him are a little partial to the efforts of the Academoo's Dick Dickey. Not bad for an amateur.

All Out Show

GETTING BACK to the Olympic games themselves, the host country usually goes all out to put on a good show for the visiting

(See COLUMN, page 4)

State, Duke 'Battle' Tonight

The Blue Devils of Duke will attempt the impossible this evening in their big indoor stadium when they try to do what 20 other teams have failed to do this season—defeat the mighty N. C. State quintet.

Weather permitting, close to a sellout crowd of 9,090 is expected to be on hand for the "contest." The Raleigh fans in attendance will be looking for their favorites to roll up another of the big scores for which they've gained national recognition this year, and all indications point to that happening.

Duke will be hoping for a repeat performance of last year's clash, when the Blue Devils upset the heavily-favored Wolfpack 60-53, in one of the four tilts which State lost during its regular season.

State Coach Everett Case has expressed fears that his charges might have a bad night in one of their remaining tilts, and according to the old law of averages, such a night is due any game now. Winners of 20 of 22 starts this season, the Wolfpack cagers have bagged their last 11 in a row since losing to Holy Cross in an overtime period in the Sugar Bowl basketball classic.

TWO BLOCKS WEST OF CITY HALL
You'll Find A Solution To All Laundry Problems
HELPY-SELFY
AUTOMATIC LAUNDRY
Bendix Machines
W. Rosemary St.

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

Phants Rally In Final Minutes To Nip Maryland, 51-47

Blue Dolphins In Action At Virginia Today

Carolina Mermen After Fif th Win

Carolina's Blue Dolphins—18 of them—took the pullman route to Charlottesville, Va., last night where they will go after their fifth success of the season this afternoon in a non-conference engagement with Virginia.

The Dolphins rank as heavy favorites to swim off with the honors in today's scrap—to heavy, in fact, that several members of the team remained in Chapel Hill. Among those left behind are such stalwarts as Dick Twining, Jesse Greenbaum, and Bob Ousley. Still another of the top luminaries, Norm Sper, is making the journey strictly for insurance reasons and is expected to see action only if needed.

Sprint Events

As a result of missing mermen and changes in events, the Tar Heel tankmen will be lining up with their strongest performers in only two events, the two sprints. Floyd Drew and Steve Osborne will handle the 50-yard chores, while the 100-yard speeders will be chosen from those two and Co-Captain Mike Morrow. Morrow will also make his first appearance of the year in the medley, swiming the freestyle leg behind John Bippart and Dan Breeden.

Another change is slated for the distance events, where Jim Thomas, a star backstroker, will switch over for one meet. Bob Hutton will be his running mate in the 220 and Ike Norwood will do the same in the 440.

The other events will have Jerry Cook and Breeden in the 200-yard breaststroke, Bippart and Jim Clements in the 150-backstroke, and Mac Erle and John Whichard taking care of the diving assignments. The 400-yard relay will have Tom Dosher, Frank McNeill, Walt Carnes, and Allison Pell.

Jamerson to Scout

Accompanying the team on the trip northward will be assistant Coach Ralph Casey, while Coach Dick Jamerson will take advantage of the Duke-Georgia Tech meet in Durham to do some scouting. Carolina faces both teams before the end of the season.

Top performers for Coach Ray Heildors' Cavaliers is freestyler Bill Williams, who will probably triple in the 200, 100, and 440. Williams captured individual scoring honors in last year's meet, which Carolina won by a 48-27 score.

Other outstanding swimmers for Virginia are breaststroker Harry Satz and diver Dave Juetter.

Ticket News

All students and faculty members with a number one priority for entrance into the Carolina-State game next week lose that top rating this afternoon at one second after 1 o'clock when the ticket window at Woollen gym closes.

Despite the fact that the scrap will feature one of the best teams in the nation, only 2,500 tickets have been exchanged so far. Students with passbooks numbered between 4500-8000 and 8501-9000 had all of this week to turn in coupon number 20 for a reserved seat at the second meeting of the two teams.

Starting Monday and lasting for four days, any passbook holder may exchange coupon 20 for a reserved seat, regardless of passbook number. All tickets remaining after Thursday will go on general sale for one dollar next Friday and Saturday.

TYPING
Mimeographing
for correctness
Ouida Roberts
117 N. Columbia St.
Telephone F-3416

PHILCO RADIOS
Sales and Repairs
Ogburn Furniture Co.
312-314 W. Franklin
Phone 5841

Mural Standings

FINAL BASKETBALL STANDINGS

FRATERNITY

LEAGUE 1

Beta Theta Pi 1	7 0
Chi Psi 2	6 1
Lambda Chi Alpha	5 2
Sigma Pi Epsilon 2	5 2
Phi Gamma Delta 1	4 3
Sigma Chi 2	3 4
Kappa Psi 1	2 5
Chi Phi 3	2 5
Alpha Epsilon Pi	1 6
Zeta Beta Tau	0 7

LEAGUE 2

Phi Delta Theta 1	7 0
Sigma Alpha Epsilon 3	5 2
Phi Kappa Sigma 3	4 3
St. Anthony	3 4
Delta Kappa Epsilon 2	3 4
Kappa Alpha 2	3 4
Tau Epsilon Phi 1	2 5
Kappa Psi 2	2 5

LEAGUE 3

*Phi Gamma Delta 2	6 1
*Zeta Psi 1	6 1
Tau Epsilon Phi 2	5 2
Alpha Tau Omega 3	5 2
Pi Kappa Alpha 2	2 5
Delta Kappa Epsilon 1	2 5
Phi Kappa Sigma 2	2 5
Sigma Nu 3	0 7

*Tie to be played off.

LEAGUE 4

Chi Phi	7 0
Pi Kappa Alpha	6 1
Phi Delta Chi	5 2
Delta Sigma Pi	4 3
Sigma Alpha Epsilon 2	3 4
Beta Theta Pi 2	2 5
Sigma Chi 3	1 6

LEAGUE 5

Kappa Sigma 1	7 0
Phi Gamma Delta 3	6 1
*Phi Kappa Sigma 1	4 2
Alpha Tau Omega 2	4 3
Phi Delta Theta 2	3 4
Chi Phi 1	2 5
*Kappa Alpha 3	1 5

*Have one more game to play.

LEAGUE 6

Sigma Chi 1	7 0
Zeta Psi 2	6 1
Chi Psi 1	5 2
Sigma Nu 2	4 3
Pi Lambda Phi 1	3 4
Kappa Sigma 3	2 5
Pi Kappa Alpha 3	1 6
Beta Theta Pi 3	0 7

LEAGUE 7

Kappa Alpha 1	7 0
Sigma Alpha Epsilon 1	6 1
Sigma Nu 1	4 3
Phi Delta Theta 3	3 4
Pi Lambda Phi 2	3 4
Kappa Sigma 2	2 5
Zeta Psi 3	2 5
Alpha Tau Omega 1	1 6

DORMITORY

LEAGUE 1

*Unknowns	6 1
*Seiler Five	6 1
*Blackballs	6 1
Cruds	4 3
Lewis 3	4 3
Everett 1	3 4
Honeycut Manor	2 5
Whitehead 1	2 5
Graham 2	1 6
Alexander 1	1 6

*Tie to be played off.

LEAGUE 2

*Everett 2	6 1
*Field House	6 1
Emanon	5 2
Miller Hall	5 2
Oakwood Drive	4 3
Coons	3 4
Lewis 1	2 5
BVP 1	2 5
Aycock 2	1 6
Old East	1 6

*Tie to be played off.

LEAGUE 3

Grads	7 0
Geology Dept.	5 2
Lewis 2	5 2
Comets	4 3
Steele	4 3
Old West	4 3
AVC	3 4
Graham 1	3 4
Wesley Rockets	0 7
BVP 2	0 7

LEAGUE 4

*Hillers	6 1
*Fireballs	6 1
*Mangum	6 1
Emerson	4 3
Med School	4 3
Sky Scrapers	3 4
Stacy	3 4
Ruffin	2 5
Hut 26	0 7
Alexander 2	0 7

*Tie to be played off.

LEAGUE 5

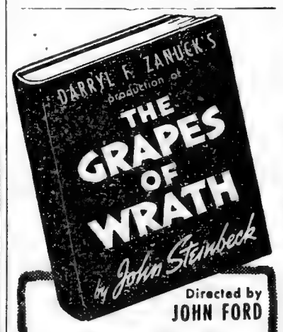
Nash Hall	7 0
Mud Dobbers	6 1
Underdogs	6 1
Aycock 1	4 3
Independents	4 3
Hut 8	3 4
Law School	3 4
Black Phantoms	1 6
Ruffin 2	1 6
Whitehead 2	0 7

Mural Boxing in Third Round; Tank Trail Results Released

Action in the fraternity division of the intramural boxing tournament is moving along and some weight classes have already advanced into the third round.

The 15-pound class has already completed the third round of the tourney. The welterweights have nine men in the third bracket and seven bouts to go. The middleweight group started out with 57 entries to lead all weight groups.

All of the heavyweights have advanced into the second round, but all except four fighters received byes and only two bouts were staged. There have been no bouts in the 127 and 121-pound classes.



Swimming Trials

Trials for the individual events in the swimming tournament have been completed and the best times were released yesterday by the intramural department.

Tag Montague, DKE paced the qualifiers in the 25-yard freestyle by doing the distance in 0:11.8. The best time in the 25-yard backstroke, 0:14.4, was turned in by Kappa Sig Walt Jones. Lyn Bond, representing Sigma Nu, did the 50-yard breaststroke in 0:33.3 to lead in that event. Sid Gardner, KA, turned in 0:26.4 in the 50-yard freestyle.

Roy McKenzie, carrying the standard of Phi Gamma Delta, swam the 50-yard backstroke in 0:32.6, to lead the field home. Jim Blount of Sigma Chi did the fastest 100-yard freestyle in 1:06.7.

These figures not only represent the best fraternity times, but also the top campus speeds.

Directed by JOHN FORD
Tom Joad . . . HENRY FONDA
Ma Joad . . . JANE DARWELL
Casy . . . JOHN CARRADINE
Grampa . CHARLEY GRAPEWIN
Rosasharn . DORRIS BOWDON
Pa Joad . . RUSSELL SIMPSON
A 20th Century-Fox Encore Triumph!
NOW PLAYING
CAROLINA

Tar Babies Meet High Point Today

The temperature rose slightly yesterday and with it rose the chances that Carolina's Tar Baby cagers would journey to High Point through the icy countryside this afternoon to meet the Furniture City's high school quintet tonight.

Jim Hamilton's once-beaten yearlings will be seeking revenge for last Friday night's 43-41 hotly-contested trimming by the Bisons in the form of their sixth triumph of the season. During last week's fracas on the spacious Woollen court, the Tar Babies missed 17 foul shots.

The Carolina mentor, who last night performed against Wake Forest college for the Charlotte Clippers, will probably open with his usual lineup of Hal Ferraro and Thorne Gregory at forwards, John Tsantes in the pivot, and Bill White and Floyd Gilmore in the guard slots. Yesterday afternoon, White was still somewhat handicapped by a weak ankle and, if he isn't in top shape, Dale Morrison will probably start in his place.

Former White Phantom forward Bill Miller sent the frosh cagers through a lengthy workout yesterday afternoon during Hamilton's absence and part of the session was spent in perfecting a zone defense for possible use against the Bisons on their junior-size gym floor.

Others making today's trip include Hank Lebed, Stan Goodman, George Powers, Terry Holmes, and Simon Terrell.

In addition to the one loss to the Bisons, the Tar Babies have garnered five victories this season, hitting their high with a 70-34 win over Hendersonville high school.

Ed McGee Shines In Raleigh Ring

Carolina's Ed McGee captured the light-heavyweight open crown in the 10th annual Eastern Carolina Golden Gloves tournament which was concluded in Raleigh Thursday evening.

McGee gained his latest title with a knockout triumph over last year's 175-pound champion, Warren Liles of Raleigh. The Tar Heel ring star kayooed his opponent in 1:48 of the first round.

Before meeting Liles, McGee had entered the finals on Wednesday night with a third-round kayo over Ralph Cope of State college. In addition to the cup for the light-heavy championship, McGee was awarded a traphy as the most popular fighter in the tourney and still another cup for being the outstanding boxer.

The championship was the second in as many weeks for McGee, a junior from Hamlet. Last week, he captured the heavyweight crown in another Golden Gloves tourney, this one in Durham.

RKO PRESENTS
John Laraine
WAYNE · DAY in TYCOON
COLOR BY TECHNICOLOR
with
SIR CEDRIC HARDWICKE
JUDITH ANDERSON
JAMES GLEASON
ANTHONY QUINN
RKO RADIO
LATE SHOW TONIGHT
SUNDAY — MONDAY
CAROLINA

Scottmen Recover from 13-Point Deficit To Gain Loop Win; Play W&M Tonight

College Park, Md., Feb. 13—Losing by 13 points with six minutes left in the game, the White Phantoms of North Carolina staged a near-miraculous rally in the dying moments to nip a fighting Maryland team, 51-47, in a hard-fought Southern conference clash here tonight.

One injury note marred the post-game victory celebration, however. Midway through the first half, guard Norm Kohler hurt his knee and sat out the rest of the contest. Kohler is not expected to see action tomorrow night when the touring Carolinians oppose William and Mary in another loop struggle. The Tar Heels will proceed to the camping grounds of the Indians at Williamsburg, Va., tomorrow morning.

Up until the late Carolina outburst, the highly-partisan crowd of 4,000 were cheering their favorites on to what appeared to be an easy triumph. Ahead by five points at halftime, the Old Liners moved 10 tallies ahead before the Phantoms were able to score in the second half. Twice the margin was as high as 13, the last such time coming near the 14-minute mark.

"Most Spirited Play"

It was at that point that the Phantoms suddenly caught fire and began to show what Coach Tom Scott termed "their most spirited play of the season." With Bob Paxton and Roger Scholbe pacing the way in the matter of registering points, the visitors finally managed to tie up the ball game at 45-all with 1:45 left in the game. Scholbe's layup following one of his own one-handers, a long set by King Cole, and another long one-hander by Paxton, provided the tying markers.

Scholbe immediately broke the deadlock and sent Carolina into the lead for the first time in the evening with a one-hand set. Maryland again knotted the score but with 18 seconds remaining, Paxton connected on a push for the winning points and a 49-47 lead. Before time ran out, the Old Liners missed two field goal attempts and Nemo Nearman captured the second rebound, dribbled the entire length of the floor, and registered the crusher with a layup.

The game started out as a nip-and-tuck affair, staying that way for 10 minutes. After that time, the home forces pulled ahead by five points and held that margin for a 26-21 advantages at intermission.

Carolina had a hard time breaking into the scoring column in the second half, a foul shot by Nearman finally breaking the ice after five minutes of play. By this time, Maryland was 10 points in front, increased the gap to 13 at the 10 minute mark, and still had that lead four minutes later when the Tar Heels began

(See PHANTOMS, Page 4)

Really a Rally!

Carolina (51)	fg	ft	pf	tp	ftm
Paxton, f	4	4	4	12	1
Scholbe	5	0	1	10	1
Carson, f	1	1	3	3	3
Swartzberg	0	1	0	1	0
Nearman, c	2	0	1	4	1
Dillon	2	3	2	7	1
Kohler, g	1	0	0	2	0
Thorne	1	2	1	4	0
Cole, g	3	0	1	6	1
Nyimicz	1	0	1	2	1
Totals	20	11	14	51	8
Maryland (47)	fg	ft	pf	tp	ftm
Edwards, f	3	2	1	8	0
Siegrist	0	1	2	1	0
Wright, f	5	0	2	10	0
Brown, c	6	1	4	13	2
Lann, g	0	1	4	1	0
Crescaze	1	0	1	2	0
Smith, g	3	6	2	12	2
Totals	18	11	18	47	4

Officials: Fox and Heft.
Halftime score: Maryland 26, Carolina 21.

It's new!
It's the talk of the campus
It's "comfort contour" collar styling

Here's "Comfort Contour" the new marvel of collar styling, now featured on all Van Heusen shirts. Low-setting, neater, smarter, it's making the grade on every campus from coast to coast. You'll find it on fine white shirts and exclusive Van Heusen patterns, all Sanforized, all laundry-tested, in your favorite collar models. $3.50, $3.95 and $4.95. Phillips-Jones Corp., New York 1, New York.

You're the man most likely to succeed in
Van Heusen Shirts
TIES · SPORT SHIRTS · PAJAMAS

We Have Completed Our Remodeling
And Invite You to Come in and see the
New Spring Clothes
That Have Recently Arrived
JACK LIPMAN

Food Prices Are Dropping Fast

Experts Say Some Food Items Beat Products Down

Washington, Feb. 13—(UP) Government experts say that the marked down price tags on some food items dropped farther and faster than the commodity exchanges.

Federal economists point out that it generally takes up to three months for retail prices to catch up with wholesale market trends. The continuing retail price cuts indicate that some retailers have made what they call competitive price cuts.

Spot Price Check

The Bureau of Labor Statistics is paying close attention to the rapid retail price declines. Tuesday it will begin a spot check of retail prices in 12 cities, designed to give a more current check on the cost-of-living than previous surveys.

Skidding commodity market prices are still working their way down to retail and wholesale levels. Two large grocery chains in the New York area tomorrow will cut butter prices to 85 cents a pound, a total drop of 12 cents a pound in one week.

A spokesman for the meat industry reported further declines in wholesale meat prices today. The Dun and Bradstreet barometer of 30 basic commodities dropped further today for another 1948 low.

Prices See-Saw

On the commodity markets, grain prices see-sawed wildly. At the Chicago Board of Trade, corn for delivery in May and July fell the legal limit when the market opened, went up and down, and finally dropped the limit again at the close.

However, July wheat showed a gain at the close of trading for the first time since the market broke last week. One of the leading traders said that the market looks 'healthier" and that the end of the break in wheat may be at hand.

Farm Program Changed

In Washington, a Senate Agriculture subcommittee has drawn up a bill which provides for major changes in the Government's program for supporting farm prices.

-Kappa-

(Continued from page 1)

lish; Roy L. Ingram, Geology; Randolph Hamilton, Political Science; Roy Armstrong, Administration; Ed Lanier, Administration; Bill Darden, History; Dr. Mary C. Engstrom, English; Dr. Richard Jente, German; R. P. Stovall, Economics; Dr. R. S. Osborne, English; Dr. P. M. Cheek, English; E. W. Schadtt, Economics; Clay Cochran, Economics; Gerald Barrett, Economics; Dr. A. G. Engstrom, French; and L. B. Ashby, Economics.

Satterfield Orchestra Scheduled to Give Free Concert Tomorrow in Memorial Hall

By Sally Woodhull

In a free concert sponsored by Graham Memorial, Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra will present a program of American music tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall.

Reorganized last fall, the orchestra has been rated as the "finest in the South" by "Metronome", the Bible of the music business; and John Hammond, top music critic and president of Columbia Records has predicted "unlimited success" for the group.

Original Music

The entire first half of Sunday night's program will consist of original music, including compositions by Satterfield, who spent the fall quarter studying and composing; Frank Justice, a UNC alumnus and former member of the band now studying at New York university; and Harry Shipman, first alto sax with the band. The remainder of the program will consist of popular dance tunes.

Featured vocalist with the band is Carolyn Talley, of Danville, Virgina. A piano teacher in Danville, she studied at Richmond Professional institute.

Maestro of the Keys

Sam Andrews is featured on tenor sax solos, while Jerry McDuffie handles trumpet solos. Charlie Strong and Norman Delancey are featured trombones, and Satterfield does the piano solos.

NELSON BENTON handles the drums with Johnny Satterfield's orchestra, which will present a free concert tomorrow night in Memorial hall.

Baptists To Give Valentine Party

The Baptist Student union will entertain its active members with a social meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the Baptist church.

The party will celebrate Valentine's day. Decorations will follow the red and white Valentine theme and refreshments will be served to the gathering, said Betsy Huggins, social chairman, and Milton Bliss, her assistant.

Chancellor Robert B. House will speak at tomorrow morning's worship service at 11 o'clock on "The Layman's Task in the Church." Tomorrow night at 6 o'clock, the union will discuss the topic "Is Communism Compatible with Christianity," at the regular meeting. A similar topic last Sunday brought forth many arguments on both sides of the question, but no decision was reached. Charles Cunningham, program director, announced that the discussion would be continued this week.

-Phantoms-

(Continued from page 3)

their drive.

Paxton, with 12, and Scholbe with 10, were high for the Phantoms. Thirty-five of Maryland's 47 points were scored by three players, Brown having 13, Smith 12, and Wright 10.

The triumph was the ninth conference win of the season for Carolina, against one defeat. It also gave Coach Scott and his charges a 17-3 record for the year.

HONORARY LEADER OF THE AMERICAN BOY SCOUTS, President Truman receives at the White House a bronze statuette and a report on year's activities of the organization. The ceremony is witnessed by a top-ranking Scout from each of the nation's twelve regions.

(International Soundphoto)

-Street-

(Continued from page 1)

nure heats the soil, sets the bacteria in the soil working on the leaves and breaking the matter down. The earthworms are then scattered here to help with decomposition.

"One way to speed the process," said Jimmy, "is to turn the material occasionally; but the worms will break it down just as quickly. The finished prduct, called 'real soil', we take to the fields for fertilization."

Compost Material

In preparing the compost—the Streets will eventually have four pits—green matter of any sort is used; like weeds or spoiled hay. "We even strip the trees around here," Jimmy remarked. He further explained that it is best to use sheep manure if it is at hand. In reality, Jimmy said, the earthworms need not be brought to the compost. They will point their heads—or tails—underground and find their way.

According to Street, interest in earthworms is not so recent. Charles Darwin, who didn't spend all his time studying monkeys, once doubted whether "there are many other animals which have played such an important part in the history of the world."

"Frankly," the stumpy, prematurely grey novelist admitted, we paid three times too much for this farm. But a purchasing price to me is always judged by desire. It was an old farm and the owner had planted the land to death in tobacco year after year. We paid $30 per hour for bulldozers to clear some of the pasture land."

When Street completed remodelling Eddie's house, built a barn, a seed house and Eddie's office, he began raising purebred Hampshire hogs. The author sells the Hampshires, cross breeds registered Hampshires with registered Berkshires; and for his own use, crosses registered Hampshires with Tamworths. "North Carolina," Street explained, "is the capital of Tamworth hog-raising. They are slow growers but I'll take a Tamworth for the best bacon in the world."

"Beat Dook"

He has named the Hampshires after cartoon characters, like Gravel Gertie and Mammy Yokum, and plans to name one for each state song, as "Arkansas Traveler" and "Alabama Bound." His huge Hampshire is called "Beat Dook."

Street never plans to grow tobacco on the farm. "A tobacco farmer better forget about organic farming," he warned, "because the land will be made so rich his tobacco will not be considered bright leaf." He will grow corn, sweet potatoes, strawberries and truck vegetables. He'll raise whitefaced cattle, and in part of the cleared land he plans to grow grapes. There will be some grain, some clover.

For Street the worm-raising has valuable propaganda purposes. "Farmers all around here will say, 'some dumb city-fellow is raising fishing worms', and perhaps will come over to see. That will give us a chance to spread this idea of organic farming."

The idea is spreading itself, in fact. This spring the hard clay on the rocky farm will look richer, and the clover will grow greener.

Varmints

In a Y-crotch between two rolling hills, Street has built a 30-foot dam for a spring-fed fishpond. "We had some ducks around here," he said, "but varmints got them. Eddie said they were minks, but I believe they were foxes."

The presence of the fishpond makes one thing definite. Even if the organic farming is not adopted rapidly, the author's worm-growing will be of a more practical value. When he wants to catch a bass or a perch from his pond, Early-bird James Street will have the worms he needs.

Campus Calender

10:45 a.m.—"Musical Merry-Go-Round," WDUK, WRAL.

8:00 p.m.—Baptist Student union social gathering.

8:30 p.m.—Square dance, Presbyterian church.

9:30 p.m.—Preparation service for Corporate Communion, Episcopal Parish house.

1:30

CLASSIFIED

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

THE BAND LOOK MAGAZINE PREdicts as the "Band of '65" in person—DANCE 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. Thursday, Feb. 19 CLAUDE THORNHILL and his orchestra, featuring Fran Warren and Gene Williams, Alamance Roller Dome Intersection Highways 54 and 70, Burlington, N. C. Admission $2.00 plus tax. (1-1781-2)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 62B

1941 FORD SIX TUDOR SEDAN. PRIvate owner. New motor. A. L. Bridgeman, 103 Mangum, after 7:30 p. m. (1-1775-1)

FOUND 6C

MALE BLACK PUPPY ABOUT 6 months old—Friendly and housebroken. White streak on chest, long tail. Owner call Mrs. Daniels, Psychology Bldg., or Nathan's Hop. (1-C1764-1)

SERVICES OFFERED 19

COMPLETE MODERN RADIO APpliance service shop now open and ready to serve you. We call for, deliver. Johnson-Shreve-Ward Furniture, 422 W. Franklin. Telephone F-3491. (tfn 1x11)

WORK WANTED

GENERAL WOODWORK AND INSIDE carpentry. Modern furniture made to order. Write Box 651, Chapel Hill for prompt service. (1-C1785-1)

WANTED TO RENT 24B

MINISTER AND WIFE DESIRE apartment or trailer to rent for both summer sessions. Reply Box 12950, c o DAILY TAR HEEL. (1-1783-1)

LI'L ABNER By AL

Don't Just Eat! — Dine!! — at HARRY'S!!

A CIGARETTE CAN BE MILD

-Column-

teams. The Germans built several stadiums and a complete village of living quarters for the athletes in 1936 and the English plans to do the same this summer on the outskirts of London.

The games were last held in the United States back in 1932 with the Winter session—this year's edition of which closed last week in Switzerland—being held up at Lake Placid and the summer outing being reeled off in Los Angeles. The Americans usually win the track and swimming and basketball, and most of the time hold their own in the other sports. The nephews and neices of Uncle Sam edged Japan for the swim title in 1936 and ran up enough points in the shorter running and field events in the track to capture that crown that year too. The cage history related.

Wrestling in the Olympics is divided into two classes—as-Catch-Can and Gracco-Roman. The former is the way it's done in American college competition with the latter a hold from the old Olympics a couple thousand years ago when it was as it still does. The object in the G-R is only to take your opponent to the mat, but only with the use of the hands and grips as opponent only above the waist which means there are more than in the Catch-as-Etc. Trial without instruction is held Al Crawford, now head groaner at State, is a former collegiate wrestler.

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Clear and Colder.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
Champion of Beliefs
One Man's Opinion
DTH Society

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 101

Truman Signs Subsistence Bill; Increase Is Effective On April 1

Single Veterans Get $10 Increase; Ceiling Remains

Washington, Feb. 14—(UP—President Truman today signed legislation increasing subsistence for single veterans attending school from $65 to $75, effective April 1.

The bill also raises the monthly subsistence allowence for veterans with one dependent from $90 to $105 and those with two or more dependents from $90 to $120.

The Veterans Administration has estimated the increases will cost the Government approximately $217,000,000 a year. There are now 2,000,000 veterans attending school under the G.I. bill.

The measure, which was backed strongly by veterans' organizations, was passed by the Senate last summer and by the House on February 3.

Present ceilings of $175 a month on combined earnings and allowances for veterans without dependents, and $200 for those with dependents, are not changed by the new law.

A veteran with dependents who is earning $200 a month or more while he goes to school will collect no subsistence allowance. If his salary comes up to only $150, he will get a $50 allowance.

The limit is the same as that in effect for veterans taking on-the-job training, also under the G.I. bill.

A bill to raise the trainees ceiling has passed Congress. It is awaiting action of a conference committee to settle differences in figures in the House and Senate versions.

If this ceiling eventually is raised, it will not affect veterans in school who work part time. The measure applies only to those working full time.

TARNATION STAFF

All members, prospective members, and assistants of the Tarnation staff will have a meeting in the Tarnation office at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening.

All staffers are asked to attend this important meeting, and anyone interested is invited.

Referendum Scheduled Tuesday; Students Will Express Choice of Campus Magazine

Literary magazine or humor; combination or none—the students will decide as they go to the polls Tuesday to register their answers to the great magazine question.

All of the regular campus polling places will be open to enable as many students as possible to express their preferences in the ballot box. ID cards will be marked, as is customary, when the student's ballot is cast.

The dicision made in the referendum, according to the Student Legislature bill which provided for it will be binding on that body when it makes appropriations for the next school year.

Each of the polls, Gerrard hall, Lenoir hall, Alderman dormitory and Aycock dormitory will be in operation from 9 to 6 o'clock on Tuesday.

The six alternatives presented for campus consideration are; (1) The Carolina Magazine, (2) Tarnation, (3) A combination literary-humor magazine to be known as the Carolina Magazine, (4) Both the Carolina Magazine and Tarnation as at present, (5) Alternating issues of each magazine, (6) No magazine.

In order for "No magazine" to be registered as the decision it must receive a majority of all votes cast.

If "No magazine" does not receive a majority, the other choice which receives the highest number of votes will be considered as the preference of the student body.

Youth Group To Hear Dr John Coleman

Dr. John Coleman will speak to members of the Presbyterian Youth group of the Wesley foundation tonight at the Methodist church.

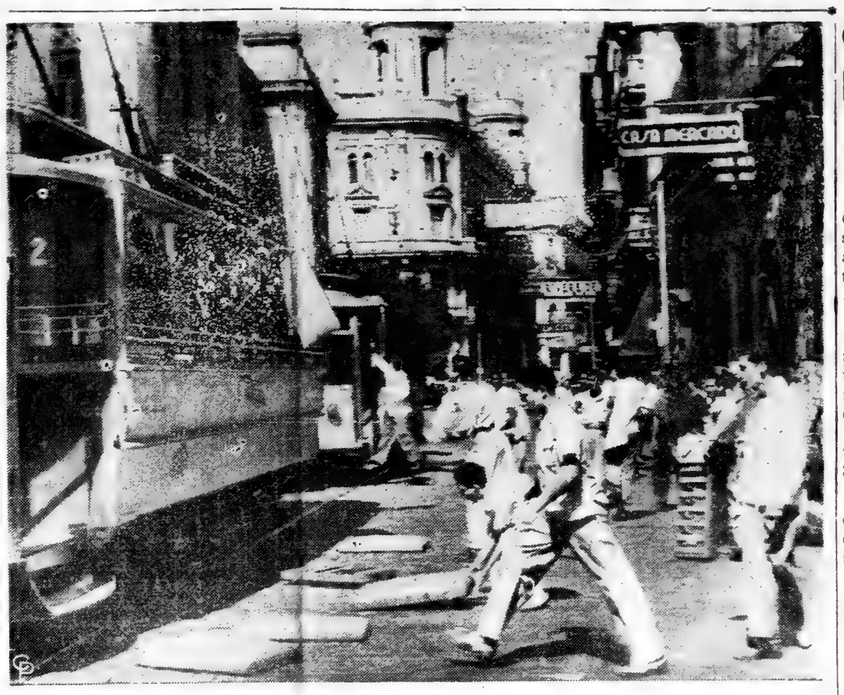
The program will be preceded by the usual Sunday night supper at 5:45. Canterbury club members will also be present at the meeting. The whole day is one of student prayer around the world sponsored by the federation.

Phi Alpha Deltas To Hear McMullan In Memorial Hall

Harry McMullan, state attorney general, will speak to Phi Alpha Delta, professional legal fraternity, at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening in Manning hall.

McMullan's subject will be "The Place of the Attorney General in State Government." According to Worth Folger, justice of the local chapter, it will be discussed with special reference to North Carolina.

A native of Washington, N. C., McMullan took his undergraduate and law degrees at the University. He is a former head of the state Sales Tax and Industrial commissions and served as assistant attorney general before assuming his present position.



Although he will speak primarily for the benefit of Phi Alpha Delta, other interested persons will be welcomed.

IRC To Scrutinize Russo-German Pacts

The secret Russo-German wartime treaties will be the subject of a report and discussion at the Monday evening session of the International Relations club.

The meeting will open at 7:30 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge No. 1 of Graham Memorial with a report on these clandestine agreements between Stalin and Hitler by Jack White. An open discussion will follow, and all interested parties are invited to attend and participate.

Dr. Graham Returns; Homecoming Is Planned

HAVANA STREET CARS GET A SEVERE GOING-OVER from rioting students who hold a sympathy demonstration for fellow students in Guantanamo, Cuba, who are complaining over the lack of educational facilities. Pictured above, frenzied students hurl seat cushions back into the halted trolleys, smashing the glass windows. Police arrested hundreds after quelling the demonstration with tear gas. (International Soundphoto)

Cheerleaders, Band Scheduled to Lead Demonstration for University President

Dr. Frank Porter Graham arrived in Chapel Hill late last night, according to a reliable source, although the University president could not be reached for comment.

A homecoming demonstration is being planned for Dr. Graham this afternoon, with students meeting in the Y court at 5 o'clock and proceeding to the president's home from there.

Call for Info

Cheerleaders and band members are being contacted this morning on plans for the celebration. Those that have not been reached by this afternoon, however, may receive information on the scheduled events by calling the Daily Tar Heel office after 3 o'clock.

Dr. Graham resigned his post on the United Nations Security council commission Friday and received the personal thanks of President Truman for the work he had done at that time. His arrival in Chapel Hill was not expected as soon as today, though.

Procession at 5

The band is scheduled to sound the call for the gathering shortly before 5 o'clock, and the procession to the president's house will begin as soon after 5 as possible.

The demonstration was planned several days ago by student government leaders, but the unexpected early arrival of Dr. Graham caught many by surprise.

" Dr. Frank," as the president of the Greater University is affectionately known, will only be in Chapel Hill for one or two days. It is understood that he will appear before a meeting of the Board of Trustees in Raleigh tomorrow, and will return to New York to join Mrs. Graham Tuesday.

Gen. Holdridge To Make Address Condemning UMT

Brigadier General H. C. Holdrige, U.S.A. retired, candidate for the Democratic nomination for president of the United States, will speak against universal military training at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in Memorial hall.

Sponsored by the Anti-UMT committee, the general will also be present at a luncheon to be given in his honor at the Carolina Inn Tuesday. At that time, all interested persons may, according to Anti-UMT Publicity Chairman Tenney, meet and talk with the general.

Holdridge, who is running at present with the backing of the People's party, has as his platform "No more depressions, no more wars, and no compromise with capitalism."

A native of Wyandotte, Michigan, the general graduated from West Point with the class of 1917 and eventually became commandant of the adjustant general's school. He was honorably retired in February 1944, and now lives in Carmel, California.

At the present time, he is a member of the AVC, and has served at one time as the executive secretary of the Amvets.

His newspaper "Action" decrys the "boycott" that the "NAM press" is giving to General Holdridge's program.

Last Westerner to See Ghandi Alive

New York, Feb. 14—(UP)—Photographer Margaret Bourke-White revealed today that she was one of the last Westerners to see Mohandas Gandhi alive.

Only nine hours before his assassination he told her he no longer wanted to live in a "world of darkness and madness," she said.

Miss Bourke-White said she had a 21-minute interview with Gandhi in New Delhi on January 30, the day he was slain.

He joked with her during the conversation, calling her "Miss Torcher" because he didn't like the flash bulbs that popped every time she snapped his picture. She said he argued that the atomic bomb should be met with prayer instead of bomb shelters. Then he wound up the interview by selling her two autographs for 30 cents each. Miss Bourke-White says she doesn't think he had any premonition of his death.

"I knew that he had always said he wanted to live to be 125, so I asked him why he had that hope. He said he had lost hope," she stated.

Miss Bourke-White said he gently told her, "I no longer want to live in a world of darkness and madness."

Then he looked down for a moment at his spinnig, and added, "But if I am needed—rather commanded—I'll live to be 125 years old."

Scott Steps Out as Head of N.C. Agriculture; Will Spend Full Time Running for Governor

Newsome Speaks On GOP History

Dr. A. R. Newsome, head of the history department, spoke Thursday evening on the history of the party at a meeting of the Young Republican club.

An informal discussion was held after Dr. Newsome's talk in which past and current politics were debated. On the topic of present Southern politics, Dr. Newsome was in favor of a strong second party in the South for the purpose of counter-balancing the relatively oversized southern Democratic party.

Coltrane Takes Over Post After 11 Years As Scott's Assistant

Raleigh, Feb. 14 —(UP)— W. Kerr Scott of Haw river stepped out of his post as head of the North Carolina Agriculture department today and D. S. Coltrane, who was Scott's assistant during his 11 years in office, is new Agriculture commissioner.

Scott resigned from his office to "spend full time running for governor." He says no man can carry on a real campaign for high office and still do his job as a state official.

The blunt-spoken Scott is latest to announce for the governorship and still the only one who has officially filed for the post with the State Board of Election.

The new commissioner, himself a farmer, says he will not run to succeed himself when Scott's unexpired term is up. Coltrane says he will support Lieutenant Governor L. Y. (Stag) Ballentine.

At ceremonies today, employees of the Agriculture department presented a parting gift to Scott. They gave him a silver service, presented "as a token of love and esteem."

CPU Will Discuss Truman's Program

The topic under discussion at the meeting of the Carolina Political union tonight at 8 o'clock in the Grail room of Graham Memorial will be Truman's civil rights program.

The group will examine the problem as one of the explosive and basic problems facing the country today and will consider its acceptance by the Southern governors who threaten to lead a Southern secession from the Democratic party.

The Rev. Charles Jones of the Presbyterian church will be the main speaker of the evening. The discussion will be introduced by E. B. Jeffress of the CPU. Other student members of the union will introduce and discuss the topic.

Wallacites Meet; Endorse Taylor

The Wallace-for-President club endorsed Democratic Senator Glenn Taylor of Idaho for vice-presidential nominee of the Progressive party in the forthcoming national elections at a weekly meeting Friday night.

Senator Taylor has previously announced that he does not wish to be considered for the position of Wallace's running mate.

Presiding over the meeting, Chairman Bill Richardson announced that a state convention of college students supporting the Progressive party will be held on this campus February 28 and 29. A state planning committess will meet here today to consider plans for the convention which will be attended by delegates from North Carolina colleges.

Richardson also announced that Leonard Nelson, head of the National Youth division of the Wallace campaign, will be here at least a week before the convention to confer with campus leaders of the Wallace movement.

Students May Work For Marine Commissions

Eligible students at the University again this year may be enrolled in the Platoon Leaders class for training leading to a commission in the Marine Corps Reserve, Captain Lawrence W. Smith, Jr., USMC, announced yesterday.

Captain Smith, an instructor with the NROTC here, has been named procurement officer for the PLC program.

The Platoon Leaders class, conducted at the Marine Corps schools, Quantico, Virginia, is designed to permit eligible students to receive reserve commissions in the Marine Corps without persuing military studies during academic quarters. Students in the present freshman, sophomore and junior classes, and who are more than 17 years old and who will not be more than 25 when graduated, are eligible for the training if physically qualified.

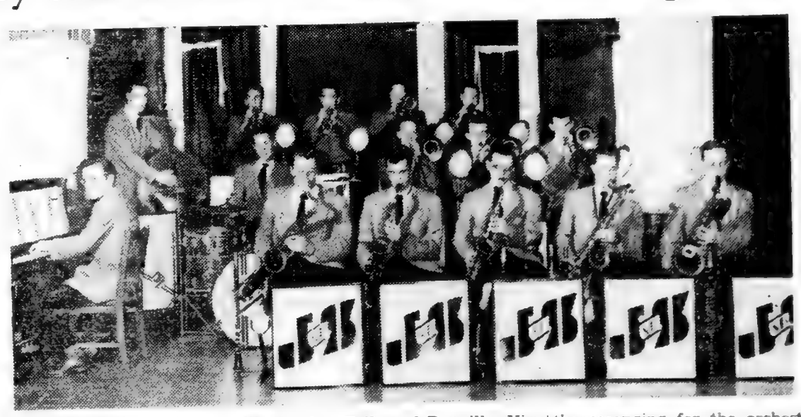
Three UNC Men

Last year three University men completed the advanced training in the Platoon Leaders class and will be commissioned on graduation. They are Walter R. Talley, of Bradenton, Florida, Louis T. Breuninger, of Washington, D. C., and William Edwards, of Richmond, Virginia.

Members of the Platoon Leaders class attend one or two summer training periods of six weeks each. Students enrolled when freshmen or sophomores attend two summer training periods while students enrolled as juniors in college, with one year of previous military experience, are required to attend only one training period—the advanced.

During the first training camp, students are corporals and are paid $90 a month. Trainees are given the rank of sergeant and receive $100 monthly during the advanced course. In addition to this pay, each candidate receives quarters, subsistence, clothing, medical attention, and transportation at government expense from his home to camp and return.

After successful completion of the required periods of military training and after graduation from college with a baccalaureate degree, Platoon Leaders are eligible for appointment to the commissioned ranks as second lieutenants, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve. A limited number of graduates will be commissioned in the regular Marine Corps.



Members of the PLC are enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserve, Class III (d), and promoted to the rank of corporal. Advanced students who enlist will be elevated to the rank of sergeant on reporting to Quantico for the advanced training. Class III (d) reserves in PLC are ordered to active duty only at their own request, unless the president de-

(See MARINE, Page 4)

NO. THIS ISN'T IWO JIMA, but just part of the instruction in the platoon leaders class of the Marine Corps reserve officer training program. Here members hit the beach of the Potomac river at Quantico, Virginia, where summer instruction is held. The class enables college students to earn reserve commissions in the Corps upon graduation through summer instruction without drills or military classes during the school year.

Six Original Compositions Will Be Played By Satterfield's Orchestra This Evening

Six original compositions will be included in tonight's concert of American music by Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra. To be presented at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall, the concert is sponsored by Graham Memorial and will have no admission charge.

A 15-piece band composed entirely of students, the group was reorganized last fall, and has played many colleges and towns throughout North Carolina and Virginia. Featured vocalist is Carolyn Talley of Danville, Virginia.

Frank Justice, a former member of the orchestra, is composer of four of the original works to be presented tonight: "Meditation of a Faun," Lullaby to a Sleepy Faun," "Saturday Night Session," and "First Suite for Wind Orchestra."

Justice, who is from Raleigh, graduated from the University in 1942, and is now doing graduate work in music at New York university. He still does much of the arranging for the orchestra.

"Opus 3-4, A Rondo for Reeds," was written by Harry Shipman, first alto sax with the orchestra. Satterfield's "First Suite for Wind Orchestra" will also be preformed for the first time tonight.

Second half of the program will be composed of popular selections by such American composers as Duke Ellington, Cole Porter, David Raskin, and Hoagy Carmichael.

Champion of His Beliefs

The prospects of Peace are comparable to a rough diamond. Under the hand of a skilled craftman its facets are so designed that the stone has balance, beauty and glimmer. The most beautiful diamond can become practically worthless if designed by anyone other than a proficient craftsman.

That is why Dr. Frank Graham was selected by the United Nations as a member of the three-man board to settle the grievances between the Dutch and the Indonesians. Each potential facet of the Dutch East Indies had to be designed so that it had these qualities. The rough stone has been weighed, balanced and ready for the cutting and polishing. The work of the designers is over, the cutting will have to be done by the peoples of the Dutch East Indies under the directions left by the commission.

We can be proud of the task which Dr. Frank has just completed. The work accomplished by the commission has done much to make President Truman and the peoples of the world have renewed faith in the potentialities of the United Nations and world Peace.

Seldom have there been great men such as Frank Porter Graham. We use the word "great" hesitantly because of its connotation since Alexander the Great. Dr. Frank is great in that he is unselfish, and a realist with a pinch of idealism. He is a man with a sense of fairness with a current much deeper than a column of warm air which changes with the ideals of the company present.

On campus, in Washington and in faraway places such as Batavia, Dr. Frank is the same man—a fact which some are inclined to forget. His sense of realism, fairness, and his love of peace are undeniable. He is always a champion of his beliefs.

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

"Zey are still living right. A month ago zere wasn't room in ze bed for little Jacques."

Wants Combination

One Man's Opinion On Mags

(Ed's note: Mr. Dillon's opinion of the mag dispute would, perhaps, more properly have been printed in the Write Away column, but due to its extreme length we present it as an article, not necessarily reflecting the opinion of the DTH.

By P. McNeer Dillon, Jr.

Numerous clear thinking writers have written on the pressing magazine referendum; they have in some cases shown complete non-partisanship, but they have all touched two essences, two fundamentals. None of them considered seriously of discussing extensively the possibility of the vote going toward no magazine at all. Neither have they urged any other than clear, unbiased or unprejudiced consideration of the issue.

The idea of no magazine is certainly ridiculous enough to warrant a little serious attention. An intelligent student body would never cut its own throat over a mob-like prejudice. One main bias is toward the "literaryness" of the come as fashionable and in-Carolina Magazine. It has bestinctive to damn the Carolina Mag now as it was for the ladies of the Victorian Age to be as frail and delicate as possible and to faint at the slightest provocation. It is as distasteful to see such results from a contemptible fad now as then.

The Carolina Mag can certainly be improved—for that matter it is improving more and more; the disgusting and discouraging thing is the mob attitude of condemnation when a vaster number of the mob are non-thinkers who damn it before they even read it. I say that to condemn it carelessly is to cut their own throats because their money is its support. The magazine broadcasts the best talent coming out of the student body to a collegiate and to another reading world outside of this locality; it is the property of the students in that they may use it for the publication of their better writing. It is theirs to work for and learn by, should they so desire. It is theirs for a broader education. Its loss would stop the outlet for a large part of their creative talent

The Tarnation, the humor magazine, has as well its place. Its importance as a representative publication of a student body is inescapable. College without fun or at least sense of humor would indeed be insipid. A person without any sense of humor would not only be insipid but dissatisfied with himself. So be it with respect to publications—humor is the spice and the salt; its the rub on the wax of literature that makes it sparkle. It, as well as the Carolina Mag,shows every indication for improvement, yet . . .laughter will soon take on new delight.

Larry Berry said in his column, "Just Here," in the DTH of January 30. "Everything is open to criticism but lets not try to make things suffer from foolishness." There is almost sublime wisdom in that statement. There is certainly plenty to be criticized—but intelligently. I must criticize the present two-magazine arrangement. There is worry of confusion when both mags go to press simultaneously. There is needless and fruitless competition in writing and proofreading. There is always present a certain awkwardness due to the incoordination. It is innately from its conception until now a very poor set-up: what a useless waste of money!

Now that I have criticized, I should like to point out what is simply the best—just have one publication with both humorous and literary aspects. The single magazine would not only be bigger and broader in its scope. Our student body president, Tom Eller, has very aptly pointed out the fuller benefits and capabilities of a combined magazine; as well, he has suggested a means of coordination which is as good an outline of what the final result will probably be as I can imagine. The fact still stands that combined mags would be better.

To damn both of the magazines would be ridiculous. To allow personal or fashionable prejudices to influence the favoring of one mag over the other would be to allow a gross distortion of the representation of the publications; either the serious or the witty would or could foster a half complete contentedness. Exclude all sore-headedness, all the popular damnation, all the prejudices, and combination is the only answer to the woe of diverse publications. Mental distortion will tend to create some physical distortion—and so would it be with the magazines.

Ca'lina Ca'sel

Besides This Type Of Girl

By R. Foo Glidz

—Our first reaction was a sort of Well, I'll be damned, but. . . ." Among around the other equally gullible J. Colleges, we [illegible] rather blatant totally unreliable ad for the Marathon Sandwich Opus No. 2 of the humor mag.

Top of the ad is conventionally enough entitled "The Marathon." Under that is a cute cut of a babe on a beach. Then, referring back to this, the ad copy goes on rather bluntly and states: "Besides this type of girl we have good food. . .Open day and nite." —Things I never knew about Toemane's!

Boss Pete Germs, the ever-efficient business manager who drew up the ad smilingly swore he had no malicious intent insinuated in the copy. But, gentlemen, just read that ad once over quickly and see what you think.

Now we never consider the Marathon to be any Paragon of purity. But by the same token we never think it is a place where "Besides this type of girl we have GOOD FOOD." (That's the way the copy was written.) . . .Can't deny that now and then Toemane Tommy's hash has been adequately edible. And the joint is truthly "open day and nite." But though many wimmen of many varying virtues may be seen around the Marathon at almost any hour, NEVER do we see that "type of girl," a comely lass in a bathing suit, draped over their counters.

And to make the whole ad more insulting, Germs placed it right across the page from a little box entitled "Easy Money Department."—All most perjurious, unless Tommy can start proving a lot of changes in his hash house, but soon!

Remarks from other local low-lifes brought up the following these: (1) So that's where all the Carolina coeds are; (2) Well, didn't you know that about the Marathon; (3) I didn't know about the "good food; (4) that's just my "type."

—We're going right down and check up.

Counselor

Benefits and Responsibility

By Dr. Herbert Spaugh

Again I reprint by request:

Suppose the word, God, and everything pertaining to His worship were removed from the language of men? Suppose the word, Christ, and everything related to Him were likewise removed? Suppose these words were taken out of your life? What would happen?

Henry Van Dyke raises this question in his fascinating story, "The Lost Word," and by skillful use of his imaginative pen, holds up before us a possible picture which is terrifying to view. You should read the book.

He takes us back 1,500 years, and introduces us to a young man, Hermas, the son of a wealthy but pagan resident of Antioch, who had joined the Christian Church with a group of other young men after long and careful instruction. As a result, he had been disinherited by his father. After a while he became restless and rebellious against the "restrictions" his new religion laid upon him. One day in an especially rebellious mood, he met an old philosopher, so-called, to whom he made bitter complaint. The old man said that he could go back to the old life, and have fame, wealth, success, if he would give up one word in life and all that pertained to it—Jesus Christ.

The young man yielded, and soon he was called home to the bedside of his dying father who begged forgiveness, and plead with his son to give him that new faith which he had. He could not, as he had lost the word, and the old man died miserably.

Fame, success, and wealth came to him. He married a beautiful girl, had a gorgeous home, but was unhappy. His wife suggested that they pray, but he said he could not. Then his nine-year-old son, of whom he was very fond, became critically ill. Again he wanted to pray, but could not.

His Christian teacher, whom he had driven from his home, learned of his distress and came to him, told him how grievously he had sinned, thinking to live his life without God. Hermas fell on his knees in humble confession. His wife joined him in sincere prayer, and the lost word was restored and a new communion re-established in God.

Young people especially, and all those who think that the Christian religion is something which can be treated lightly or dispensed with, could read this story with profit.

Just use your imagination. Take the two words, God and Christ, out of our language and all that pertains to them; take out the Church. Would you want to stay here?

Consider all the benefits which have come to mankind by reason of Christian civilization, even those many material things which have emerged from this civilization. Do you want to do without them?

If we are willing to share the benefits, we should certainly be willing to share the responsibility. Go to a church, join it, and support it.

Y W Chatter

Coed Get-Together Planned

By Sally Woodhull

In order that Y members and other interested students may understand more clearly the policies of the YWCA, its stand on various issues, and the general attitudes of the group which determine these policies, this month's Co-ed Get-Together will be devoted to a discussion of the outlook of the Y.

On Monday, February 23, members of the Junior council will present a panel on the "Actions" of the policy forming body for YM's, YW's and Christian Association, which met at Urbana, Ill., in December of 1946.

Sally Lee, membership chairman, is in charge of the program, and Barbara Ann Pope, Sue Stokes, Maria Davis, Mary Glen Salter, and Ida Constable, are helping to plan it. They will stress particularly the points of policy affecting Carolina.

Tomorrow's committee meetings will be the last ones for the month, since all committees attend the Coed Get-Togehters on the fourth Monday of each month. Only opportunity for coeds to meet as a group, the Get-Togethers are not restricted to Y members.

Walter Spearman of the journalism department will speak to the publicity committee, meeting tomorrow in the library on the second floor of the Y building. First of a series of speakers designed to acquaint committee members with publicity techniques, he will stress newspaper campaigns.

The Worship committee will meet at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Robert Nelson, and Mr. Nelson will speak to them on "The Significance of Easter."

Society News

CICA Has Eight New Members

Eight girls were initiated into the Carolina Independent Club Association Wednesday night in the CICA room in the Y. New members are Doris Griffin, Bethtown; Hut Craig, Mt. Holly; Betty Long, Salisbury; Margaret Booth, Apex; Lillian Kyle, Birmingham, Ala.; Gloria Penn, Allentown, Pa.; Dorothy Knott, Hickory, and Vivian Hux of Latta, S. C.

The candlelight ceremony was conducted by Sara Bess Pearson, president of CICA, who was assisted by Mary Elsie Reeves and Mary Swann. Each girl was given a white carnation and a copy of the constitution.

A coffee hour was held for the new members after the ceremony. The refreshments were served by Marty Hinkle and Sonny Dellinger who were assisted by the Y Branch Personnel Advisor to Women.

There will be no meeting of the CICA on Wednesday night. CICA, Pan-Hell and the Stray Greeks will sponsor Mrs. Charlotte C. Lockhead, representative from Standard Oil Company, who will speak on "Opportunities for Women in Business" on Thursday, February 19 at 8 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

The executive council meeting will be held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Y instead of Monday as originally scheduled. All committee chairmen for the fashion show are requested to be present.

Butler Elected

Joan Butler of Dade City, Fla., was recently elected president of Chi Omega sorority. Other new officers are: vice-president Mary Frances Johnston of West Palm Beach, Fla.; secretary, Margaret Yokley of Mt. Airy; treasurer, Estelle Jones of Jacksonville, Fla.; pledge trainer, Pat Muirhead, Durham; rush chairman, Anne Cooper Knight, Tampa, Fla.; house manager, Barbara Anne Covington, Plant City, Fla.; social chairman, Alice Jones, Charlotte; corresponding secretary, Nancy Pendleton, Elizabeth City; Panhell representative, Tandy Lacy, Hopkinsville, Ky.; athletic chairman, Dottie Dellinger, Lexington; and Town Girls representative, Betty Anne Cooper, Durham.

The following girls were initiated into the Chi Omega sorority on January 28 and 29: Carmen Grimsley, Dean Calaverne, Iris Cheshire, Betty Anne Cooper, Barbara Dalton, Peggy Egerton, Mary Frances Johnston, Nancy Lacy, Stella Lemmler, Anne Jones, Jean McKinnon, Pat Muirhead, Kirk Myers, Nancy Pendleton, Mary Ann Tuner and Marjorie Yokley.

The Chi Os were entertained [illegible] Dicks entered all except [illegible] legs with flasks and the girls guessed the pets they liked best. The Chi Os will entertain the Delts on Monday, February 17 with a [illegible]

Tri Delts

On the nights of February 5 and 6 nineteen girls were formally initiated into Alpha Sigma chapter of Delta Delta Delta. The new initiates are as follows: Frances Bickett, Raleigh; Ann Clark, Candor; Babs DeWitt, Charlotte; Mary Dillard, Greensboro; Dolly Ann Dunaway, Spartanburg, S. C.; Betty Emory, Chapel Hill; Marion Hammock, Raleigh; Dudley Hill, Durham; Camille Jonas, Ponte Verde, Fla.; Babs Kerr, Alexandra, Va.; Joan Lucas, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Betty McDonald, Gastonia; Martha Dan Payne, Greenville, S. C.; Martha Ralmsford, Edgefield, S. C.; Barbara Ann Pope, Raleigh; Hilda Sharkey, Chapel Hill; Mary Rors Sherrin, Concord; and Elinor Woltz, Raleigh.

On Saturday morning February 7 following initiation on Friday night, a buffet breakfast was given in honor of the new initiates. At this time the Scholarship Cup was presented to Elinor Woltz for her straight A average.

Town Girls

[illegible] president of the Town G[illegible] ...night. She w[illegible]

At the same meeting [illegible] initiation elected Carolyn D[illegible] to the post of W.A.A. representative and Hilda Sharkey University party delegate. [illegible] Betsy Ann Barrow pointed Mary Mac Kea[illegible] Helen Phillips to serve [illegible] representatives to executive council.

Nancy Shields was [illegible] TGA model for the fashion [illegible] Carolina Independent Club [illegible] Monday.

Alpha Gams

[illegible] the Alpha Gams [illegible] the new initiates. Each [illegible] was presented with a [illegible] with the colors worn [illegible] favor. During the dinner [illegible]

Barbara Poole, president of Alpha Gams, Rosella M[illegible] president of the pledge [illegible] made the response. There was [illegible] a presentation of [illegible] awards to the following [illegible] scholarship award—Sue S[illegible] model pledge award—J[illegible] Jones; most activity point[illegible] Fishel, Mary Ann Daniel, Jo[illegible] Snyder, and Lynn Blanchar[illegible] closing Carolyn Driver read [illegible] Alpha Gam purpose and [illegible] sorority song "Candlelight [illegible] Time" was sung.

Write Away

Leave Well Enough Alone

Letters submitted to the Write Away column must be double-spaced, typewritten, and shall not exceed 300 words. All contributions must contain signature, telephone number, and address of the author. (Names will be withheld upon request.) Letters which contain obscene or libelous statements or letters which do not comply with these stipulations will not be published.

TO THE STUDENT BODY:

Permit me to present the side of those students who desire to see The Carolina Mag and Tarnation published separately.

Tarnation was created to quench the demand for a variety magazine with emphasis on humor. It was hoped that this magazine would capture college life in a humorous spirit to compare favorably with the humor issues from other schools in the country. We believe the last two issue of Tarnation have achieved this purpose to the extent that it is deserving of the support of all students on this campus who are interested in seeing their money invested in a variety magazine.

Those who oppose the separate publications argue The Carolina Mag is already a combination of serious literary endeavor and humor. They further plead that separate publications are too expensive and a combination of the two would mean a bigger and better magazine. We believe it would mean a bigger Carolina Mag.

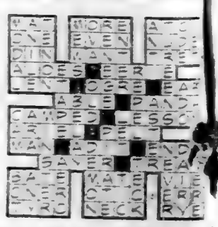
If the Carolina Mag were made a literary quarterly and Tarnation were published the other five months of the year under separate editors but one buisness staff, expenses would be no higher than the cost of a combined magazine. At the same time, we would have the advantages of a longer period between issues [illegible] for better make-up, more time for accumulation and selection of material, more job opportunities for students seeking experience, and more [illegible] ized publications.

There is a definite need and appreciation here at Carolina for both kinds of publications. Our enviable national reputation demands that we contin[illegible] activities in this field. However we do not believe that serious literary work and collegiate humor are compatible under the same editor or the same cover.

The competition which exists between our two magazines today is the best assurance we have of improved publications in the future. Your vote for publication of the Carolina Mag and Tarnation separately will permit students to have a literary quarterly of which we can all be proud and a variety magazine with campus-wide appeal.

Bill Miller

What's Up in Graham Memorial



GM GRIND:

—With each succeeding Friday night show the Rendezvous staff swears it's the biggest crowd they've ever had. . .And so they said about this past Friday night, which was sparked by Bill Corley's New Orleans low-down style corberet show. . .It was a snappy show, perfectly timed, well-done in detail, and all-in-all set an ideal mood for the evening.

If you like good music—not just hit parade numbers, but good music—Johnny Satterfield's new coming-out concert tonight is the place to hear it. . .From GM, many thanks to Johnny and his 15 musicians for their FREE concert.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS

1 Portuguese
5 Mohammedan [illegible]
8 Small fish
12 Unworthy
13 Part of letter
14—Hessian bodies
15 [illegible]
16 Large [illegible]
17 [illegible]
21 Commercial agencies
24 Wicked fairies
28 It rained
29 Hits
31 [illegible]
32 Kicked
34 It rest
35 Is good
36 Stress in contests
37 Morning [illegible]
39 Past time
40 [illegible]
42 Announcement [illegible]
44 Street [illegible]
45 Pace of hand
47 Cheer
51 In [illegible]
54 Driveway
56 Coin of India
57 Ireland
58 Pleasant
59 Style

DOWN

1—It's chewed
2 Sell
3 Neighborhood
4 Parts of [illegible]
5 In direction of
6 Gun [illegible]
7 High [illegible]
8 Fingerless glove
9 Frozen water
10 Salute
11 Raised railways
14 Mounds
18 Wine [illegible]
19 Part of Union
21 Man's name
22 Unfrue
23 Herring
25 Money paid back
26 To measure
27 Mixture
30 Jelled maple sap
33 Measured
38 Treat with knife
41 Pare
43 Large pole
45 Arable letter
47 Intimated
[illegible] Boy Scouts
[illegible] Religious garment
49 Female ruff
50 Body of water
52 Compass point
53 To obstruct
55—Railroad (abbr.)

The Daily Tar Heel

[illegible] Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published [illegible] examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official year daily on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office [illegible] of March 3, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

[illegible] columns are their own and are not necessarily those of the [illegible]

[illegible] Wire [illegible]

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

HOWARD BAILEY
Business Mgr.

EDITORS: Bob Goldwater
Bill Carmichael

Champion of His Beliefs

The prospects of Peace are comparable to a rough diamond. Under the hand of a skilled craftman its facets are so designed that the stone has balance, beauty and glimmer. The most beautiful diamond can become practically worthless if designed by anyone other than a proficient craftsman.

That is why Dr. Frank Graham was selected by the United Nations as a member of the three-man board to settle the grievances between the Dutch and the Indoneasians. Each potential facet of the Dutch East Indies had to be designed so that it had these qualities. The rough stone has been weighed, balanced and ready for the cutting and polishing. The work of the designers is over, the cutting will have to be done by the peoples of the Dutch East Indies under the directions left by the commission.

We can be proud of the task which Dr. Frank has just completed. The work accomplished by the commission has done much to make President Truman and the peoples of the world have renewed faith in the potentialities of the United Nations and world Peace.

Seldom have there been great men such as Frank Porter Graham. We use the word "great" hesitantly because of its connotation since Alexander the Great. Dr. Frank is great in that he is unselfish, and a realist with a pinch of idealism. He is a man with a sense of fairness with a current much deeper than a column of warm air which changes with the ideals of the company present.

On campus, in Washington and in faraway places such as Batavia, Dr. Frank is the same man—a fact which some are inclined to forget. His sense of realism, fairness, and his love of peace are undeniable. He is always a champion of his beliefs.

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

"Zey are still losing weight. A month ago zere wasn't room in ze bed for little Jacques."

Ca'lina Ca'sel

Besides This Type Of Girl

By R. Foo Giduz

—Our first reaction was a sort of "Well, I'd always thought so, but. . . ." Asking around the other equally gullible J. Colleges, we received pretty much the same reaction to Tarnation's rather blatant totally unsubtle ad for the Marathon Sandwich shop on page 32 of yesterday's Opus No. 2 of the humor mag.

Top of the ad is conventionally enough entitled "The Marathon." Under that is a cute cut of a babe on a beach. Then, referring back to this, the ad copy goes on rather bluntly and states: "Besides this type of girl we have good food. . .Open day and nite." —Things I never knew about Toemane's!

Pious Pete Gerns, the ever-efficient business manager who drew up the ad smilingly swore he had no malicious intent insinuated in the copy. But, gentlemen, just read that ad once over quickly, and see what you think. . .

Now we never consider the Marathon to be any Paragon of purity. But by the same token we never think it is a place where "Besides this type of girl we have GOOD FOOD." (That's the way the copy was written.) . . .Can't deny that now and then Toemane Tommy's hash has been adequately edible. And the joint is truthly "open day and nite." But though many wimmen of many varying virtues may be seen around the Marathon at almost any hour, NEVER do we see that "type of girl," a comely lass in a bathing suit, draped over their counters.

And to make the whole ad more insulting, Gerns placed it right across the page from a little box entitled "Easy Money Department."—All most perjurious, unless Tommy can start proving a lot of changes in his hash house, but soon!

Remarks from other local lowlifes brought up the following these: (1) So that's where all the Carolina coeds are; (2) Well, didn't you know that about the Marathon: (3) I didn't know about the "good food; (4) that's just my "type."

—We're going right down and check up.

Counselor

Benefits and Responsibility

By Dr. Herbert Spaugh

Again I reprint by request:

Suppose the word, God, and everything pertaining to His worship were removed from the language of men? Suppose the word, Christ, and everything related to Him were likewise removed? Suppose these words were taken out of your life? What would happen?

Henry Van Dyke raises this question in his fascinating story, "The Lost Word," and by skillful use of his imaginative pen, holds up before us a possible picture which is terrifying to view. You should read the book.

He takes us back 1,500 years, and introduces us to a young man, Hermas, the son of a wealthy but pagan resident of Antioch, who had joined the Christian Church with a group of other young men after long and careful instruction. As a result, he had been disinherited by his father. After a while he became restless and rebellious against the "restrictions" his new religion laid upon him. One day in an especially rebellious mood, he met an old philosopher, so-called, to whom he made bitter complaint. The old man said that he could go back to the old life, and have fame, wealth, success, if he would give up one word in life and all that pertained to it—Jesus Christ.

The young man yielded, and soon he was called home to the bedside of his dying father who begged forgiveness, and plead with his son to give him that new faith which he had. He could not, as he had lost the word, and the old man died miserably.

Fame, success, and wealth came to him. He married a beautiful girl, had a gorgeous home, but was unhappy. His wife suggested that they pray, but he said he could not. Then his nine-year-old son, of whom he was very fond, became critically ill. Again he wanted to pray, but could not.

His Christian teacher, whom he had driven from his home, learned of his distress and came to him, told him how grievously he had sinned, thinking to live his life without God. Hermas fell on his knees in humble confession. His wife joined him in sincere prayer, and the lost word was restored and a new communion re-established in God.

Young people especially, and all those who think that the Christian religion is something which can be treated lightly or dispensed with, could read this story with profit.

Just use your imagination. Take the two words, God and Christ, out of our language and all that pertains to them; take out the Church. Would you want to stay here?

Consider all the benefits which have come to mankind by reason of Christian civilization, even those many material things which have emerged from this civilization. Do you want to do without them?

If we are willing to share the benefits, we should certainly be willing to share the responsibility. Go to a church, join it, and support it.

Society News

CICA Has Eight New Members

Eight girls were initiated into the Carolina Independent Coed Association Wednesday night in the CICA room in the Y. New members are Doris Griffin, Elizabethtown; Hut Craig, Mt. Holly; Betty Long, Salisbury; Margaret Booth, Apex; Lillian Kumli, Birmingham, Ala.; Gloria Peters, Allentown, Pa.; Dorothy Knott, Hickory, and Vivian Wise of Latta, S. C.

The candlelight ceremony was conducted by Sara Blair Pearson, president of CICA, who was assisted by Mary Ellen Reeves and Mary Swann. Each girl was given a white carnation and a copy of the constitution.

A coffee hour was held for the new members after the ceremony. The refreshments were served by Marty Hinkle and Scotty Dellinger who were assisted by Twig Branch, Personnel Advisor to Women.

There will be no meeting of the CICA on Wednesday night. CICA, Pan-Hell and the Stray Greeks will sponsor Mrs. Charlotte C. Lockhead, representative from Standard Oil Company, who will speak on "Opportunities for Women in Business" on Thursday, February 19 at 8 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

The executive council meeting will be held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Y instead of Monday as originally scheduled. All committee chairmen for the fashion show are requested to be present.

Butler Elected

Joan Butler of Dade City, Fla., was recently elected president of Chi Omega sorority. Other new officers are: vice-president Mary Frances Johnston of West Palm Beach, Fla.; secretary, Marjorie Yokley of Mt. Airy; treasurer, Estelle Jones of Jacksonville, Fla.; pledge trainer, Pat Muirhead, Durham; rush chairman, Anne Cooper Knight, Tampa, Fla.; house manager, Barbara Anne Covington, Plant City, Fla.; social chairman, Alice Jones, Charlotte; corresponding secretary, Nancy Pendleton, Elizabeth City; Panhell representative, Tandy Lacy, Hopkinsville, Ky.; athletic chairman, Corinne Grimsley, Greensboro; activities chairman, Barbara Dalton, Winston-Salem; personnel and political chairman, Marietta Duke, Greensboro; social and civil service chairman Jean McKeithan, Bethesda, Md., and vocational chairman, Jane Casstevens, Clemmons.

The following girls were initiated into the Chi Omega sorority on January 23 and 24: Corrine Grimsley, Jane Casstevens, Ida Constable, Betty Anne Cooper, Barbara Dalton, Peggy Egerton, Mary Frances Johnston, Tandy Lacy, Stella Lassiter, Alice Jones, Jean McKeithan, Pat Muirhead, Kate Myers, Nancy Pendleton, Mary Ann Taber and Marjorie Yokley.

The Chi O's were entertained by the Phi Delts at a dinner party on Thursday, February 5. They chose their dinner partners in a very unique manner. The Phi Delts covered all except their legs with sheets and the girls picked the pair they liked best. The Chi O's will entertain the Dekes on Monday, February 16. with a tacky party.

Tri Delts

On the nights of February 5 and 6 nineteen girls were formally initiated into Alpha Sigma chapter of Delta Delta Delta. The new initiates are as follows: Frances Bickett, Raleigh; Ann Clark, Candor; Babs DeWitt, Charlotte; Mary Dillard, Greensboro; Dolly Ann Dunaway, Spartanburg, S. C.; Betsy Emory, Chapel Hill; Marion Hammock, Raleigh; Dudley Hill, Durham; Camilla Jonas, Ponte Verde, Fla.; Babs Kerr, Alexandra, Va.; Joan Lucas, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Betty McDonald, Gastonia; Martha Dan Payne, Greenville, S. C.; Martha Rainsford, Edgefield, S. C.; Barbara Ann Pope, Raleigh; Hilda Sharkey, Chapel Hill; Mary Ross Sherrin, Concord; and Elinor Woltz, Raleigh.

On Saturday morning February 7 following initiation on Friday night, a buffet breakfast was given in honor of the new initiates. At this time the Scholarship Cup was presented to Elinor Woltz for her straight A average. Hilda Sharkey received the Pledge Award.

The Tri Delt social calendar was full this week with the Alpha fraternity entertaining them Tuesday night at a buffet dinner. On Thursday the Tri Delts played bridge with the ATOs.

The Tri Delts have added three new pins to their list Lil Hotard, now wearing a Beta pin of Harold Bell; Lucas has added to her Stars and Crescent pin; Talley's ATO pin. Maxine Powell is pinned to Eddie Pika.

Town Girls

Letsy Pearson, from Chapel Hill, was elected president of the Town Girls association at a meeting on Tuesday night. She succeeds Liz Hazlitt.

At the same meeting, the association elected Carolyn Guthrie to the post of WAA representative and Hilda Sharkey a University party delegate. President Betsy Ann Barbee appointed Mary Mac Kear and Helen Phillips to serve as junior representatives to the executive council.

Nancy Shields was chosen TGA model for the fashion show which will be sponsored by the Carolina Independent Coed association in March.

Alpha Gams

Monday evening at the Carolina Inn the Alpha Gams held their annual Rose banquet honoring the new initiates. Each pledge was presented with a small gift with the sorority symbol as favor. During the dinner a toast to the pledge class was made by Barbara Poole, president of the Alpha Gams. Priscilla Moore, president of the pledge class, made the response. There was also a presentation of several awards to the following girls: scholarship award—Sue Stell; model pledge award—Jo Jones; most activity points—Fishel, Mary Ann Daniel, Jean Snyder, and Lynn Blanchard. In closing Carolyn Driver read the Alpha Gam purpose and the sorority song "Candlelight Time" was sung.

Wants Combination

One Man's Opinion On Mags

(Ed's note: Mr. Dillon's opinion of the mag dispute would, perhaps, more properly have been printed in the Write Away column, but due to its extreme length we present it as an article, not necessarily reflecting the opinion of the DTH.

By P. McNeer Dillon, Jr.

Numerous clear thinking writers have written on the pressing magazine referendum; they have in some cases shown complete non-partisanship, but they have all touched two essences, two fundamentals. None of them considered seriously of discussing extensively the possibility of the vote going toward no magazine at all. Neither have they urged any other than clear, unbiased or unprejudiced consideration of the issue.

The idea of no magazine is certainly ridiculous enough to warrant a little serious attention. An intelligent student body would never cut its own throat over a mob-like prejudice. One main bias is toward the "literaryness" of the come as fashionable and in-Carolina Magazine. It has bestinctive to damn the Carolina Mag now as it was for the ladies of the Victorian Age to be as frail and delicate as possible and to faint at the slightest provocation. It is as distasteful to see such results from a contemptible fad now as then.

The Carolina Mag can certainly be improved—for that matter it is improving more and more; the disgusting and discouraging thing is the mob attitude of condemnation when a vaster number of the mob are non-thinkers who damn it before they even read it. I say that to condemn it carelessly is to cut their own throats because their money is its support. The magazine broadcasts the best talent coming out of the student body to a collegiate and to another reading world outside of this locality; it is the property of the students in that they may use it for the publication of their better writing. It is theirs to work for and learn by, should they so desire. It is theirs for a broader education. Its loss would stop the outlet for a large part of their creative talent.

The Tarnation, the humor magazine, has as well its place. Its importance as a representative publication of a student body is inescapable. College without fun or at least sense of humor would indeed be insipid. A person without any sense of humor would not only be insipid but dissatisfied with himself. So be it with respect to publications—humor is the spice and the salt: its the rub on the wax of literature that makes it sparkle. It, as well as the Carolina Mag,shows every indication for improvement, yet . . .laughter will soon take on new delight.

Larry Berry said in his column, "Just Here," in the DTH of January 30, "Everything is open to criticism but lets not try to make things suffer from foolishness." There is almost sublime wisdom in that statement. There is certainly plenty to be criticized—but intelligently. I must criticize the present two-magazine arrangement. There is worry of confusion when both mags go to press simultaneously. There is needless and fruitless competition in writing and photography. There is always present a certain awkwardness due to the coordination. It is innately from its conception until now a very poor set-up; what a useless waste of money!

Now that I have criticized, I should like to point out what is simply the best—just have one publication with both humorous and literary aspects. The single magazine would not only be bigger and broader in its scope. Our student body president, Tom Eller, has very aptly pointed out the fuller benefits and capabilities of a combined magazine; as well, he has suggested a means of coordination which is as good an outline of what the final result will probably be as I can imagine. The fact still stands that combined mags would be better.

To damn both of the magazines would be ridiculous. To allow personal or fashionable prejudices to influence the favoring of one mag over the other would be to allow a gross distortion of the representation of the publications; either the serious or the witty would or could foster a half complete contentedness. Exclude all sore-headedness, all the popular damnation, all the prejudices, and combination is the only answer to the woe of diverse publications. Mental distortion will tend to create some physical distortion—and so would it be with the magazines.

Write Away

Leave Well Enough Alone

Letters submitted to the Write Away column must be double-spaced, typewritten, and shall not exceed 300 words. All contributions must contain signature, telephone number, and address of the author. (Names will be withheld upon request.) Letters which contain obscene or libelous statements or letters which do not comply with these stipulations will not be published.

TO THE STUDENT BODY:

Permit me to present the side of those students who desire to see The Carolina Mag and Tarnation published separately.

Tarnation was created to quench the demand for a vanity magazine with emphasis on humor. It was hoped that this magazine would capture college life in a humorous spirit and compare favorably with the humor issues from other schools in the country. We believe the last two issue of Tarnation have achieved this purpose to the extent that it is deserving of the support of all students on this campus who are interested in seeing their money invested in a variety magazine.

Those who oppose the separate publications argue The Carolina Mag is already a combination of serious literary endeavor and humor. They further plead that separate publications are too expensive and a combination of the two would mean a bigger and better magazine. We believe it would mean a bigger Carolina Mag.

If the Carolina Mag were made a literary quarterly and Tarnation were published the other five months of the year under separate editors but one buisness staff, expenses would be no higher than the cost of a combined magazine. At the same time, we would have the advantages of a longer period between issues permitting for better make-up, more time for accumulation and selection of material, more job opportunities for students seeking experience, and more specialized publications.

There is a definite need and appreciation here at Carolina for both kinds of publication. Our enviable national reputation demands that we continue activities in this field. However we do not believe that serious literary work and college humor are compatible under the same editor or the same cover.

The competition which exists between our two magazines today is the best assurance we have of improved publications in the future. Your vote for publication of the Carolina Mag and Tarnation separately will point out to students to have a literary quarterly of which we can all be proud and a variety magazine with campus-wide appeal.

Bill Mi[illegible]

Y W Chatter

Coed Get-Together Planned

By Sally Woodhull

In order that Y members and other interested students may understand more clearly the policies of the YWCA, its stand on various issues, and the general attitudes of the group which determine these policies, this month's Co-ed Get-Together will be devoted to a discussion of the outlook of the Y.

On Monday, February 23, members of the Junior council will present a panel on the "Actions" of the policy forming body for YM's, YW's and Christian Association, which met at Urbana, Ill., in December of 1946.

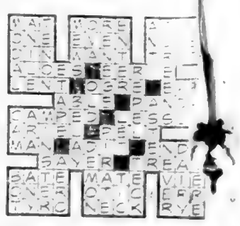
Sally Lee, membership chairman, is in charge of the program, and Barbara Ann Pope, Sue Stokes, Maria Davis, Mary Glen Salter, and Ida Constable, are helping to plan it. They will stress particularly the points of policy affecting Carolina.

Tomorrow's committee meetings will be the last ones for the month, since all committees attend the Coed Get-Togehters on the fourth Monday of each month. Only opportunity for coeds to meet as a group, the Get-Togethers are not restricted to Y members.

Walter Spearman of the journalism department will speak to the publicity committee, meeting tomorrow in the library on the second floor of the Y building. First of a series of speakers designed to acquaint committee members with publicity techniques, he will stress newspaper campaigns.

The Worship committee will meet at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Robert Nelson, and Mr. Nelson will speak to them on "The Significance of Easter."

What's Up in Graham Memorial



GM GRIND:

—With each succeeding Friday night show the Rendezvous staff swears it's the biggest crowd they've ever had. . .And so they said about this past Friday night, which was sparked by Bill Corley's New Orleans low-down style carberet show. . .It was a snappy show, perfectly timed, well-done in detail, and all-in-all set an ideal mood for the evening.

If you like good music—not just hit parade numbers, but good music—Johnny Satterfield's new coming-out concert tonight is the place to hear it. . .From GM, many thanks to Johnny and his 15 musicians for their FREE concert.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS

1 Equipment
5 Mohammedan cadet
8 Small fill
12 Unsightly
13 Part of tactics
15 Heavenly bodies
17 Waiters
18 Latin poems
20 It rises
21 Continent plateaus
24 Worsted fabric
28 Hurried
29 Hits
31 Close
32 Killed
34 To rest
35 To weed
36 Greek mountain
37 Hearing organs
39 Past time
40 Birds' homes
42 Address familiarly
44 Greek letter
45 Pace of hand
47 Oases
51 To mingle
54 Dressier
56 Coin of India
57 To bed
58 Distant
59 Stalk

DOWN

1 It's chewed
2 Self
3 Remoteness
4 Parts of ministries
5 In direction of
6 Gun sharply
7 High cards
8 Fingerless glo
9 Proved valid
10 Solid
11 Raised railways
14 Mounds
16 Wise man
19 Part of Dutch
21 Man's name
22 Unfair
23 Herring
25 Money paid back
26 To associate
27 Mister
30 Boiled maple sap
33 Mistletoe
38 To cut with scissors
41 Pace
44 Large pots
45 Arabic letter
47 Initials of
50 Bay goose
48 Religious garment
49 Female ruff
50 Body of water
52 Compass point
53 To obstruct
55 Railroad (abbr.)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association | Complete Leased Wire of United Press | Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr.
CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis
SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

White Phantoms Battle William And Mary Down To Wire For 63 To 61 Victory

Teams Deadlocked at 29-all at Half; Giermak of Indians High Man With 22

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel)

Williamsburg, Feb. 14 — Deadlocked at the half, Carolina's White Phantoms battled even up with the William and Mary cagers here tonight until the final minute of the game when they scored the basket that clinched the victory for them by a 63-61 count.

The score was 29-all at the half in the rather rough game that saw two Indian first-stringers go out on fouls.

Once again it was Bob Paxton, leading pointmaker and captain of the Phantoms, who sparked the Tar Heels to their seventeenth victory. Paxton scored 18 points to lead the visitors in that department and amply lived up to his title of Mr. Rebound.

However, high scoring honors went to the Indians' big center, Giermak, who played the entire game and dropped in nine field goals and four charity tosses for 22 big markers. Nemo Nearman, his opposite number notched 14 points.

It is hard to point out the highlight of the close contest which was waged nip and tuck until the final gun. Teach and Robinson, who accounted for four and eight points respectively fouled out and were replaced by the only two substitutes W & M used.

In fact, Carolina won the game on the foul line. Scoring only 24 field goals, against 26 for the the Indians, the Tar Heels dropped in six more free throws than their opponents to clinch the verdict.

Roger Scholbe continued to shine in a supporting role, sinking five of his favorite one-handers and a foul shot for 11 points King Cole had to carry much of the playmaking burden because of Norm Kohler's absence. Kohler injured his ankle several games back and didn't even dress for the W & M clash.

McMillan, set shot ace of the Indians, was dangerously close to ejection for committing more that the allowed number of personal fouls, but he still made 13 points on six long sets and a

ROGER SCHOLBE
. . . shines in relief

Whew!

Carolina (63)	fg	f	tp	p
Paxton f	7	4	18	0
Carson f	0	3	3	1
Scholbe	5	1	11	1
Nearman c	4	6	14	2
Dillon	2	0	4	3
Nymicz g	0	0	0	0
Thorne	1	0	2	1
Cole g	5	1	11	1
Totals	24	15	63	9
W & M (61)	fg	f	tp	p
Teach f	2	0	4	5
Sokol	2	0	4	0
Robinson f	4	0	8	5
Ozenberger	0	1	1	1
Giermak c	9	4	22	3
McMillan g	6	1	13	4
Bunting g	3	3	9	2
Totals	26	9	61	20

Halftime score: 29-29.

Tomorrow night the Phantoms will journey to Wake Forest where they'll meet the Deacons in a return engagement. The Phantoms will be seeking their 11th victory in 12 conference outings and their 19th triumph out of 22 starts this season.

The Scottmen will probably be rated as heavy favorites by virtue of their easy 56-35 shellacking of the Deacons on the Woollen court back in January. However, Bill Miller was the big man for the Phantoms that night and his present absence plus the fact that the game will be played on the Wake Forest floor may set the stage for an upset.

Heading the Deacs, who have copped 14 out of 23 contests, are high-scoring Jack Gentry, lanky Deran Walters, and ace floorman Willard Kaylor. Freshman Stan Najeway and Jack Mueller have also been hitting the hoop pretty consistently for the Wake Forest quint this season.

Norm Kohler reinjured the same knee which he had twisted in the Temple clash and consequently may not be able to see much action against the Deacons. Dead-eye Dan Nyimiez or Taylor Thorne will probably open in his place if the Phantom defensive ace isn't ready to go. Forwards Bob Paxton and Coy Carson, pivotman Nemo Nearman, and guard King Cole will probably round out the Carolina lineup.

State Edges Duke In Thriller, 44-43

Durham, Feb. 14—(UP)—Duke scored a moral victory over State college last night, but the final tabulations showed that the Wolfpack had eked out a 44-43 win over the Blue Devils.

Close to 9,000 people witnessed the first game in two years in which State has been held to such a low score. The game is the seventh conference win for the Raleigh cagers, with no loop defeats to their credit.

The second half, which started out with State leading 23-18, was the exciting part of the game. Everett Case's boys stayed ahead most of the time, but the Blue Devils tied the score at one point, 33-33, and kept it tied up to 36 all.

60 Scholastic Mermen Entered In Annual Meet Here Saturday

Entries in the second annual Southern Interscholastic Swimming Championships, scheduled in Bowman Gray pool next Saturday, have topped the 60 mark, swimming coach Dick Jamerson announced earlier this week.

A highlight of the winter sport's card here, this year's championships have already attracted talent from four states and indications point to keen competition in the nine-event program.

Georgia Military Academy, Atlanta, and runner-up to the last place Staunton Cadets last year, will have 18 entries in the water carnivel. Coach Jamerson said that Staunton would be unable to defend its title because of a schedule conflict.

Entry blanks have also been received from Valley Forge Military Academy, Pa., Randolph Macon Academy, Va., and a number of North Carolina high schools. Officials expect a large representation from Central High School, Charlotte, and other class AA conference schools. Chapel Hill high school is also expected to enter several swimmers in the meet.

Dual Meet Records Fall As Blue Dolphins Sink Virginia, 54-21

Freshmen Lose To High Point

By Morty Schaap

High Point, Feb. 14 —Although behind at the end of the second and third quarters, the High Point high Bisons never gave up fighting and captured their second straight victory over the Carolina freshman cagers, 36-35.

Cooper and Hunsuker, who scored ten points apiece for the Bisons made the two buckets in the closing minutes of play that put the Pointers in the lead and broke the back of the Tar Baby offensive. Floyd Gilmore took two long desperation shots at the basket just before the final gun that came within a hairbreath of bringing about a Carolina victory.

Harris, High Point forward, was high man in the game with 13 points. Tsantes played his usual outstanding floor game and led the Tar Babies with 10 markers. Hunsuker and Crowder of the victors also notched 10 each.

The last time the two quintets met in Woollen gym the Pointers scored a 43-41 victory. This was

The box score:

High Point (36)	pos.	UNC (35)
Hunsucker (10)	LF	(3) Ferraro
Harris (13)	RF	(8) Lebed
Crowder (10)	C	(10) Tsantes
Cooper (2)	LG	(2) White
White	RG	(6) Gilmore

Carolina subs: Gregory (3), Goodman, Terrell, Morrison (3).
HP subs: Ellington (1).

Sports for All. . .

Handball, Tank Finals, Cage Playoffs On Intramural Agenda for Coming Week

By Larry Fox

Basketball playoffs, relay and diving trials, and quarter final handball matches are all on tomorrow's mural agenda.

Nor will the excitement end Monday. The handball tourney is expected to end later this week, the swimming finals come off Thursday, inter-league basketball playoffs will be continued throughout the week, while the boxing tourney and orientation rifle firing will move along as usual.

On Tuesday, the semi-finals in the swimming tourney will be run, off beginning at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Several heats will probably be required in many of the events to choose the men who will swim in Thursday's finals.

Decide League Champs

The champion in fraternity basketball leage three and dormitory league two will be decided in the Zeta 1-Phi Gam 2 and Everette 2-Field House clashes. The first contests to break the three-way deadlocks in the number one and four dorm loops will also be played tomorrow. Fraternity division playoffs begin Tuesday at 7 and the dorm finals start the next afternoon at 4.

Three dormitory teams are already in the semi-finals of the handball tournament and the winner of tomorrow's Lewis-Aycock match will join Oakwood Drive, Stacy and the Roaches in that bracket. The quarter final contestants are all lined up and ready to fly at each other for the title in the fraternity division tomorrow.

Soccer Deadline

Play in the five-man soccer is scheduled to begin late next week and unless old man Pluvius intervenes, it is slated to be completed by the end of the quarter. Otherwise it will fill the gap in the spring session before softball play begins. Organizations may enter as many teams as they wish, but they must get their entries in by Thursday deadline.

Top Ten

At present there are 25 rifle teams that have not completed their orientation firing. The highest score, as of February 12, according to figures released by the mural department was 167 posted by Ken Lindsey of Alexander. Mike Cooke of the Grads

(See MURALS Page 4)

Two Matches on Card For Badminton Club

The Carolina badminton club takes on two opponents in the next three days as a result of one match already being on the schedule for tomorrow and last week's contest being postponed until Wednesday.

Tomorrow night at 7:30, the local birdie chasers will face the Raleigh club in the Women's gym. Then, on Wednesday, they again see action, this time against Burlington in another home encounter.

Both outings will be league affairs. So far this year, the Tar Heel racquet-swingers have chalked up a 2-2 record in loop play

Floyd Simmons Leaves School

Floyd "Chuck" Simmons, leading Tar Heel hurdler, has withdrawn from school in order to devote his full time to readying himself for the Olympics slated for London this summer.

The Charlotte ace made the announcement himself and added that he felt he could not best train for the big world event and handle the academic load necessary to remain in school.

Simmons' immediate plans call for him to run in the Natinoal AAU Indoor championships in Madison Square Garden next Saturday night. He will compete in the 60-yard high hurdles.

After that the Tar Heel timbertopper will probably participate in the majority of Olympic preparatory meets, an abundance of which are being run this year. He will train in California.

Simmons came to the University in the fall of 1946 after having seen service in Italy with the 10th Mountain division. He was a member of the varsity football team that year and saw considerable service before suffering a broken vertabra in the Wake Forest game.

After recovery Simmons became one of the Tar Heels leading tracksters, the high point in his running career coming last summer when he won the national junior AAU hurdles and placed second to national champ Harrison Dillard in the senior event.

Simmons was named to the American pre-Olympic team which toured central Europe last summer. He was undefeated in continental competition.

MIKE MORROW
. . .leads Dolphins.

Glub, Glub!

300-Medley—UNC (Bippart, Breeden, Morrow). Time—3:13.6 (dual meet record).

220-freestyle—Williams (V), Thomas (C), Hutton (C). Time—2:18.9 (dual meet record).

50-freestyle—Drew (C), Osborne (C), Windsor (V). Time—24:3 (dual meet record).

Diving—Erle (C), Juetter (V), Phillips (V).

100-freestyle—Morrow (C), Pell (C), Windsor (V). Time—55.6 (dual meet record).

150-backstroke—Bippart (C) Watchkenfeld (V), Herbech (V). Time—1:47.4.

200-breaststroke—Cooke (C), Breeden (C), Cox (V). Time—2:37.8 (dual meet record).

440-freestyle—Williams (V), Thomas (C), Norwood (C). Time—5:11 (dual meet record).

400-relay—UNC (Carnes, McNeill, Dosher, Drew). Time—4:03.5.

Tar Heels Better Four Meet Marks

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 14. With dual meet records lowered in six of the nine events, the Blue Dolphins of North Carolina captured seven first places to breeze to an easy 54-21 triumph over Virginia here this afternoon.

Four of the new meet marks were turned in by Carolina swimmers, while Bill Williams, the Cavaliers' ace distance man, picked up the other two as well as registering both of his team's first-place finishes. Leading the Tar Heel scoring were Co-Captain Mike Morrow and newcomers Floyd Drew and John Bippart, taking one first each and figuring in relay wins. Morrow and Drew also produced new meet records in the 100 and 5 freestyle, respectively, while Bippart came home first in the backstroke.

Medley Mark Falls

The other times to topple were the medley and breaststroke runs. Bippart, Dan Breeden, and Morrow combined to lower the former mark, while Jerry Cook churned his way to a new meet and pool record in the breaststroke.

In the diving, Mac Erle nosed out Virginia' Dave Juetter, 88 1-2 to 87 1-2. Erle's margin of victory was gained on the degree of difficulty of his dives. The remaining first place was recorded in the 400-yard relay, where Wade Carnes, Frank McNeill, Tom Dosher, and Drew won by almost 50 yards.

Although finishing second in both distance events, Jim Thomas turned in one of the best Carolina performances of the season. In the 440, the Baltimore freshman bettered the conference mark made only last week by Morrow by 3.6 seconds. It was his first appearance of the season in the distances, the backstroke being his usual specialty.

Tomorrow's Murals

BASKETBALL

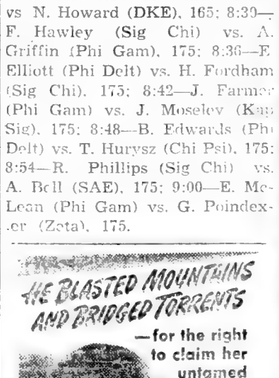
4:00—Court 1: Zeta 2 vs. Sigma Chi 1; Court 2: Everett 2 vs. Field House; Court: Hillers vs. Fireballs; Court 4: Zeta 1 vs. Phi Gam; Court 5: Phi Kap 1 vs. KA 3; Court 6: Seiler Five.

HANDBALL

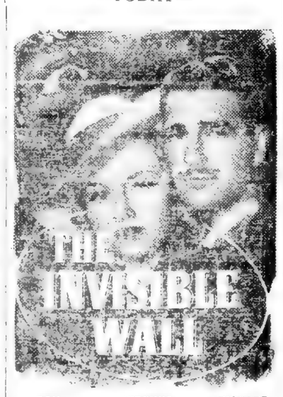
4:00—Beta 1 vs. Phi Delt 2.
5:00—Chi Psi vs. TEP; Lewis vs. Aycock.
7:00—Pi Lamb vs. KA.
8:00—Sig Chi 1 vs. Phi Delt 3.

RIFLE FIRING

7:30—Mangum (orientation).



BOXING



4:00—M. Wilson (Zeta) vs. W. Johnson (Kap Sig), 120; 406—W. Spaugh (KA) vs. C. Earp (Phi Delt), 120; 4:12—D. Phillips (Kap Sig) vs. J. Chambliss (Zeta), 120; 4:18—G. Berger (TEP) vs. Hollingsworth (Kap Sig), 120; 4:24—T. Gregory (Zeta), vs. B. Johnson (Phi Delt), 127; 4:30—T. Young (Phi Gam), vs. I. Watkins (Kap Sig), 127; 4:36—S. Taylor (DKE) vs. K. Hoffman (TEP), 127; 4:42—G. Morgan (Phi Delt Chi) vs. R. Sheely (Phi Delt), 127; 4:48—J. Lanier (Phi Gam) vs. W. Isaacs (Phi Delt, 135; 4:54—G. Boren (Zeta) vs. T. Wright (DKE), 135.

5:0—J. Lee (SAE) vs. T. Leonart, (Sig Chi), 135; 5:06—J. Williams (PiKA) vs. Browne (Zeta), 135; 5:12—J. Back (Phi Delt) vs. J. Orr (Phi Gam), 135; 5:18—T. Wharton (KA) vs. P. O'Briant (Phi Delt, 135; 5:24—J. Wilkins (Phi Delt) vs. E. Davenport (Phi Delt), 135; 5:30—J. Holbrook (Kap Sig) vs. R. Barab (Phi Kap), 145; 5:36—B. Brown (KA) vs. J. Thrash (Phi Delt), 145; 5:42—J. McDuffie (Sig Nu) vs. R. Simpson (Chi Phi), 145; 5:48—J. Murchison (SAE) vs. G. Dunlap (DKE), 145; 5:54—J. Stokes (Phi Delt) vs. F. Cawdle (Kap Sig), 145; 6:00—B. Craft (PiKA) vs. B. Wood (Phi Delt), 145.

7:00—W. Wright (Sig Chi) vs. H. Howell (KA), 145; 7:06—B. White (Phi Gam) vs. H. Watkins (Phi Delt, 145; 7:12—J. McCrary (Kap Sig) vs. G. Cain (KA), 145; 7:18—R. Sloan (KA) vs. A. Garrou (Kap Sig), 145; 7:24—P. Flowers (Chi Psi vs. H. Hardisty (Sig Chi), 165; 7:30—A. Webb (Phi Gam) vs. L. Bond (Sig Nu) 165; 7:36—M. Horton (Phi Delt) vs. H. Hamilton (PiKA), 165; 7:42—S. Jones (Phi Gam) vs. C Kipp (Sig Chi), 165; 7:48—W. Robinson (TEP) vs. T. Stokes (Phi Delt), 165; 7:54—W. Smith (DKE) vs. T. Gilman (Phi Gam)

8:00—W. Haywood (Phi Delt) vs. M. Carmichail (DKE), 165; 8:06—E. Graham (Sig Chi vs. H. Morrow (Phi Delt, 165; 8:12—B. George (Phi Delt) vs. J. Basington (Sig Chi, 165; 8:18—W. Tate (Phi Gam) vs. J. Langley (Sig Chi), 165; 8:24—J. White (SAE) vs N. Howard (DKE), 165; 8:30—F. Hawley (Sig Chi) vs. A. Griffin (Phi Gam), 175; 8:36—E. Elliott (Phi Delt) vs. H. Fordham (Sig Chi), 175; 8:42—J. Farmer (Phi Gam) vs. J. Moseley (Kap Sig), 175; 8:48—B. Edwards (Phi Delt) vs. T. Hurysz (Chi Psi), 175; 8:54—R. Phillips (Sig Chi) vs. A. Bell (SAE), 175; 9:00—E. McLean (Phi Gam) vs. G. Poindexter (Zeta), 175.

VILLAGE
—TODAY—

All Occasions
Flowers say it better
REHDERS
CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Opposite Post Office corner

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

How smart do you have to be to have money?

HAVE YOU EVER said about someone who had more money than you . . .

"Where did that fat-head get his money? Why, I'm twice as smart as he ever was."

Well, we don't doubt it for a minute. But . . . are you as smart about one little thing as he is?

Are you smart enough to save money as well as earn it?

Many an otherwise smart person never could—until now.

But thanks to the Payroll Savings Plan, millions now are building themselves a cozy future with U.S. Savings Bonds.

The beautiful part of these plans is that you don't have to keep exerting your will power payday after payday, making the effort to save.

You just use that old will power once—by signing up for Payroll Savings. Then your saving is done for you—automatically.

So don't envy the fellow you're "smarter" than. Let the other fellow envy you!

Start the New Year right! Join the Payroll Savings Plan right away!

Sure saving because it's automatic—U.S. Savings Bonds

Farmers Dairy Cooperative, Inc.

Service Insurance & Realty Co.

Russia Releases Third Document Reply

Soviet Bureau Says Britain Sought Treaty

Washington, Feb. 14 —(UP)—Russia trained her propaganda sights on Britain again today as Moscow issued the third installment of the official Soviet reply to the American State Department's release of German documents on the Hitler-Stalin pact.

The Soviet Information bureau asserted that Britain sought a non-aggression treaty with Germany less than two months before the war started. The Russian accusation also said Britain tried to divide the world into two sephers of influence. France was also accused of double-dealing.

The chief basis for the new charges is a series of talks which took place in July, 1939. The Russian memo said Hitler's economic advisor discussed the proposed pact with British Foreign Trade Secretary Hudson.

The Russians based their account of the talks on captured German documents, but they could have just as well quoted British and American newspapers published shortly after the talks took place.

The discussions received wide publicity both in England and the United States, and in London they caused quite a scandal.

As soon as the secret talks became public in late July, 1939. Prime Minister Chamberlain disavowed them. Hudson explained that he was talking purely for himself in suggesting the agreement under which he hoped Hitler would turn towards peace instead of war.

The British Foreign office said today Russia has warned that it will not recognize any decisions made at the coming Western Powers conference on Germany. The Moscow radio said similar protests have gone to Paris and Washington. The Russians said the meeting on Germany is a violation of the Potsdam decision to treat Germany as a single unit.

The Soviets also renewed their campaign against the presence of American military advisors in Iran.

NO LESS THAN SEVEN QUEENS attended the Louisana State Society Mardi Gras and Queens Ball in Washington, D. C. They are: Metonka-Bama Beal, Queen of International House, New Orleans, La.; Gloria Landry, Queen of the Orange Festival, Buras, La.; Celia Mount, Queen of Sugar Cane, Batchelor, La.; Elsie Winter, Queen of Sweet Potato Yambilee, Lake Charles, La.; Betty Green, Queen of Maine White Potato, Presque Isle, Me.; Joan Vail, Queen of Strawberries, Hammond, La.; and Mary Toso, Queen of Rice Festival, New Orleans. (International)

-Marine-

(Continued from page 1)

clares a state of national emergency.

Education and Service

Captain Smith pointed out that the Marine Corps policy in the state of a proclaimed emergency is to make available to officer candidates time to complete their basic education, then order them to active officer training duty.

The Marine officer said that interested students, who can meet the requirements listed below, should see him at his office in the Naval armory on South Columbia street:

(1) Be a male citizen of the United States. (2) Be a freshman, sophomore or junior in good standing, (3) Not be a member of any other military organization, including the Naval or Air Force ROTC, (4) Sign an agreement to serve for the required periods of six weeks active duty. (5) be unmarried and agree to remain so until the completion of the senior course of summer training.

20-20 Vision

Also, students are required to be of the specified age, and be physically qualified in all respects, including 20-20 vision in each eye without glasses, in accordance with Navy standards for newly commissioned officers.

Captain Smith will be available in his office to inform students of the pertinent facts about the program and assist in completing the application form. He stated that all enlistments will be completed in Chapel Hill and that no travel will be involved until summer training.

Quick Service
DURHAM OPTICAL COMPANY
215 W. Main St.
Phone F-2141 Durham

QUALITY FURNISHINGS
at
E. A. Brown Furniture Co.
Next to City Hall
Phone 6586

University Announces Courses In New Librarian Curriculum

The University has just announced a new curriculum designed to fit the requirements of the North Carolina department of Public Instruction for full-time and part-time school librarians.

In the new program teachers holding a bachelor's degree and a class A teacher's certificate who desire to do school library work may obtain the prescribed 27 quarter hours in library science by attending summer school for a summer and a half without interrupting their teaching income, it was said.

They may also come for the regular academic year of three quarters and take either the regular library science program leading to the degree of B. S. in library science or the new school library program of six courses in library science and also take three courses in an academic subject.

Under the new plan undergraduates will be able to take a major or a minor in library science as part of the work for their A. B. degree in the junior and senior years," the announcement said. "It will thus be possible for a sprospective school librarian to obtain the requisite hours in a subject field, library science, and education in the regular four year college period to be certified by the State Department of Public Instruction."

The School of Library Science has added to its faculty a new member, Miss Margaret E. Kalp, who is regarded as particularly qualified in the school library field. Miss Kalp received a B. A. degree from the New Jersey college for Women, an M. A. in library science from the University of Michigan, and has done additional work in the School of Education at Rutgers university and at Bucknell university. She has had experience in school libraries in the east and mid-west, and has taught in the library schools of Hampton Institute and George Peabody college for Teachers.

-Murals-

(Continued from page 3)

and Dr. McCall from Stacy are tied for second with 164 records. Stacy placed three other men in the top ten. T. R. Harrell and Red Gerringer both shot 157 to tie for fourth position and Bob Harrington tied for ninth with 148. The Alexander marksmen placed two men besides Lindsey among the leaders. Jim Sowell and Al Blankenship were deadlocked in seventh place with identical totals of 151.

Hank Wiscbram, TEP, was the only fraternity sharpshooter to place in the select group. He shot 152, which was good for sixth place. Herman Coleman, Lewis, tied for ninth with 148.

The field in the boxing tournament is predominantly fraternity. The dorm division started out with approximately 27 entries while the Fraternities entered the remainder of the 252 total. The dormitory 120-pound class has only one contestant while there are no fighters in the 127-pound group. The largest number of mitmen in the dorm division is in the welterweight group—six.

Charles Vache Is State President Of Episcopalians

Episcopal students of North Carolina, who met in Raleigh last week-end for their eleventh annual conference, elected Charles Vache of the University as their new state president.

Delegates from college campuses throughout the state assembled at Good Shepherd and Christ churches to hear addresses by Edwin A. Penick, Bishop of the Diocese of North Carolina, and Rev. M. George Henry of Charlotte. Workshop discussion groups led by Dr. Harold A. Trigg, President of St. Augustine's college, and outstanding clergymen of North Carolina were an important feature of the week-end assembly.

Vache, a junior from Franklin, Va., has been active in Episcopal student work for several years. Former president of the local Canterbury club, he is now secretary of the student vestry of the Chapel of the Cross.

Other delegates from this campus included Earle Page, retiring conference president, Paul Harmon, David Whittier, Katherine Royall, John Williams, Sue Stokes, Charles Joyner, and Helen Neighbors.

Hodgson Denies DTH Editorial

Explaining that "I nearly choked on my hominy grits and salt pork" when he read yesterday morning's Daily Tar Heel editorial on the magazine referendum, Tarnation Editor Tookie Hodgson yesterday stamped into the newspaper office with an angry denial of the representation of his views that the editorial contained.

Written by DTH staffer Bob Sain, the editorial, according to Hodgson, implied that he (Hodgson) was in favor of a combination magazine. "Fallacious though highly imaginative" was the way that the Tarnation editor described it.

"I have," he declared, "never made any statement that a combination magazine was at all feasible or advisable." He went on to state that he favors the continuance of the present setup with Tarnation and the Carolina Magazine existing as a humor and a literary magazine respectively.

The editor went on to describe Sain as a member of the literary staff of the magazine and as "naturally quite anxious to have a combination which will be a larger and even more obtuse Carolina magazine."

No matter which of the three available referees is working, the fighters can be assured of having an expert as the third man in the ring.

Three Referees

Coach Mike Ronman heads the trio. Ed McGee, winner of the light-heavyweight title in the Raleigh Golden Gloves tourney, and Joe Thigpen another boxing instructor will also take regular turns calling the fights.

In addition to the referee, two judges will be on hand to hand down the decisions on the fights according to the intercollegiate boxing rules. Charley Lambeth, former varsity boxer, Crowell Little, jayvee football coach and ex-member of the Carolina boxing team, and Max Reed, assistant football coach, will take turns judging along with the three referees.

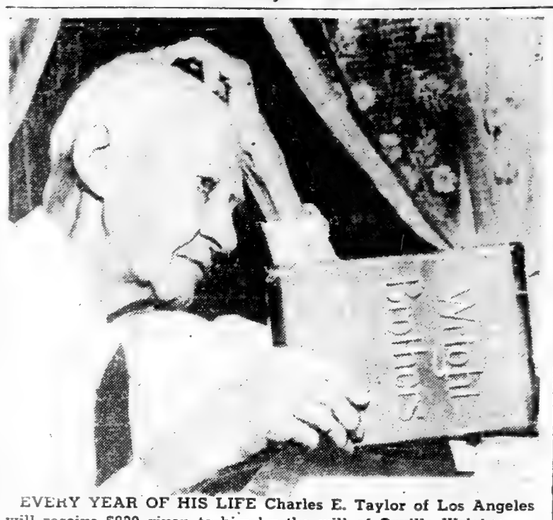
CLASSIFIED

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

THE BAND LOOK MAGAZINE PREdicts as the "Band of '48" in person—DANCE 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. Thursday, Feb. 19—CLAUDE THORNHILL and his orchestra, featuring Fran Warren and Gene Williams. Alamance Roller Dome—Intersection Highways 54 and 70, Burlington, N. C. Admission $2.00 plus tax. (1-1781-2)

HELP WANTED 8

POSITION OPEN FOR COMPETENT combination bookkeeper and secretary with growing concern. Chance for advancement. Box 907 Chapel Hill, N. C. (ch 1x1)



WANTED TO RENT 24B

MINISTER AND WIFE DESIRE apartment or trailer to rent for both summer sessions. Reply Box 12950, c o DAILY TAR HEEL. (1-1783-1)

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

Why Take Vitamins — A Meal at HARRY'S Is Better

EVERY YEAR OF HIS LIFE Charles E. Taylor of Los Angeles will receive $800 given to him by the will of Orville Wright, one of the inventors of the airplane. Taylor aided the Wright Brothers in building the engine for their first plane. (International Soundphoto)

Minister Admits Paddling Students

Brighton, Mich, Feb. 14—(UP)—A mild-mannered Mennonite minister and school teacher told a jury today that "A paddle does wonders in a school room."

Then the six-man justice court jury decided that he was innocent of assault and battery charges brought by the father of one of the Mennonite's pupils.

Ezra Beachy, the teacher, was brought into court after he used an 18-inch length of maple flooring on 12-year-old Richard Shaner and one other boy whom he caught throwing chalk in the class room.

Beachy admitted he turned the boys over a table and paddled them with the board.

"I teach three grades at the same time and it is absolutely essential to keep at least two of them quiet," he said.

McIver Entertains With Tea Dance

The girls of McIver dormitory entertained Friday afternoon at a tea dance celebrating Valentine's Day.

The color scheme of pale green and pink was carried out by the refreshments which included iced lime punch, served by Mary Kellam and Frances Morgan from the crystal punch bowl and pink heart-shaped cookies served from crystal platters. The table was covered by a lace table cloth and decorated by candle sticks.

The dancing which began at 4 o'clock continued until 7, with 50 guests participating.

Campus Calendar

10:00 a. m.—Student Bible class, sponsored by the Presbyte church, Graham Memorial.
12:00 noon—"Editorially Speaking," WDUK.
1:30 p. m.—"The University Hour," WPTF, WDUK WTIK
2:00 p. m.—Wallace-for-President club, Grail room.
3:00 p. m.—Intercollegiate conference for World Student Chr ian confederation, John A. Coleman, secretary W. C. S. F., Gerrard hall.
4:00 p. m.—Friends church, Grail room.
6:00 p. m.—Student supper and study group, Presbyterian chu
7:30 p. m.—Men's Glee club, Swain hall.
8:00 p. m.—Carolina Political union, Grail room.
8:00 p. m.—Concert of original compositions, Johnny Sat[illegible] orchestra, Memorial hall.

TOMORROW

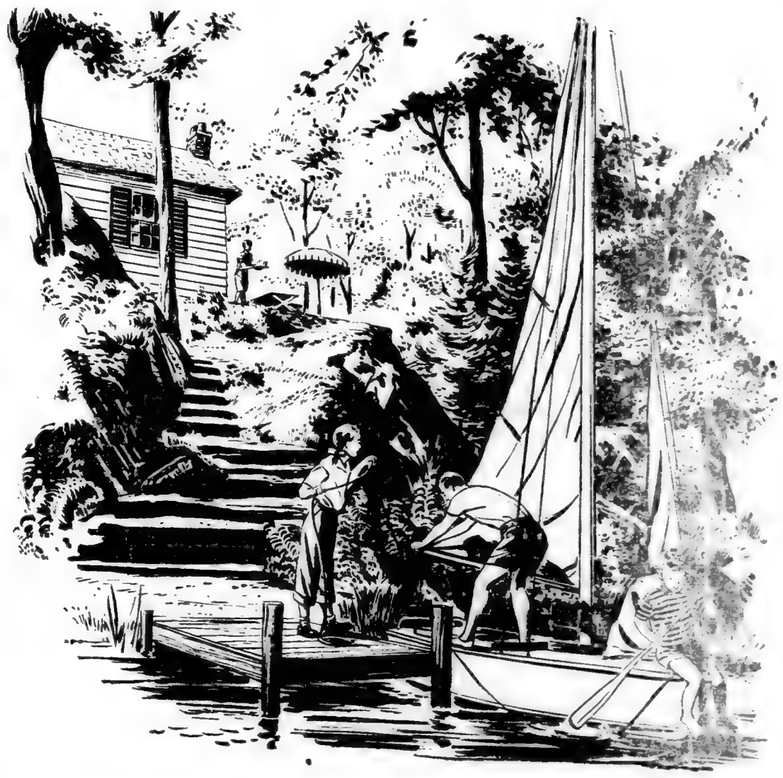
3:00 p. m. Pre-parenthood study course, Health department building.
4:30 p. m. Men's Glee club, Hill hall.
6:30 p. m.—Recorded dinner music, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
7:00 p. m.—Order of the Grail, Grail room.
7:15 p. m.—Interfraternity council, Roland Parker lounge no. 1.
7:30 p. m.—Phi Assembly, Phi hall.
7:30 p. m.—International Relations club, Roland Parker lounge no. 1.
7:30 p. m.—University club, Roland Parker lounge no. 3.
8:30 p. m.—Dance committee, Grail room.

Writing Class Mag To Appear in March

Close on the heels of Tuesday's Mag-Tarnation referendum there will appear a literary competitor of both.

Each winter quarter, the students in Professor Phillips Russell's creative writing class (Journalism 63) combine their best contributions for the course into a magazine which bears the title, "Bud".

Sam Summerlin is editor of the magazine which will be mimeographed and distributed only as souvenirs to class members.



The magazine will be completed by the end of the quarter.

University Service Station
Odis Pendergraft Prop.
TEXACO

YOU'LL BE MONEY AHEAD WITH LAST YEAR'S TOPCOAT CLEANED THIS BETTER WAY!

SANITONE SERVICE
Gets Out More Dirt
Yes, our Sanitone Service really pays for itself. Your old coat will look like new again. The original feel of the fabric is restored, and colors are brought back to life again. Try it today.
SANITONE

PICKUP AND DELIVERY
University Cleaners
PHONE 4921

"Nobody was ever sorry he saved!"

Save the easy, automatic way . . . with U.S. Savings Bonds
The Bank of Chapel Hill
Sutton's Drug Store

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Partly Cloudy and Mild With Occasional Showers.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
Anilorac Lesuorac
One Magazine
Tradition

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | No. 102

Students Decide Mag Issue Today In First Campus Referendum

General Herbert Holdrige To Speak On UMT Tonight

By Donald MacDonald

One of the few military men who oppose universal military training, Brigadier General Herbert C. Holdridge, will speak against the UMT proposal at 8 o'clock tonight in Memorial hall.

General Holdridge's Chapel Hill visit is co-sponsored by the local American Veterans committee and by the Chapel Hill Anti-UMT committee

Other Talks

Preceding his Memorial hall appearance, Holdridge, who seeks the Democratic presidential nomination, will speak at 1:30 this afternoon and at 6:30 this evening in the Faculty room of the Carolina Inn. The public is invited to both meetings, but it is understood that lunch and dinner will not be served. In addition, Holdridge will discuss his political platform before several political science classes in Caldwell hall this morning.

The candidate seeks the presidential nomination on an anti-UMT, anti-capitalist and anti-war policy platform. A strong opponent of UMT, he declares that the American Legion has "broken up meetings through fear of reprisals. Its speakers have resorted to brass knuckles and below-the-belt tactics" in order to advance universal military training. Holdridge strongly attacks "propaganda which seeks to discredit anyone daring to set himself publicly in opposition to the Washington war machine."

Spoke in Raleigh

The speaker arrived in Chapel Hill last night via Raleigh where he spoke to a mixed audience in the Unitarian church at 8 o'clock. He also delivered a 15-minute broadcast over Radio station WPTF last night.

For his Memorial hall address, to which all persons are invited, there will be no admission charged.

A native of Wyandotte, Mich., Holdridge entered West Point after the position of his family's income compelled him to stop school in the eighth grade and prepare himself through self-study. He was graduated from the military academy in 1917, and has subsequently received a master of arts degree in social sciences from Columbia university, and two honorary Doctor of Laws degrees.

Sasser Featured In Piano Recital Set for Hill Hall

William Sasser, a pianist, will be featured this evening in the first of three outstanding programs scheduled for this week in Hill hall auditorium. Sasser's recital will begin at 8:30. His program will vary from the classical works of Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms to the modernistic and less familiar works by Ravel, Castelnuovo - Tedesco, Poulenc, and Wendell Keeney.

Helen McGraw, pianist especially noted for her unique gift for modern music and particularly American music, will appear in Hill hall auditorium Thursday, February 19, at 8:30. Compositions by Aaron Copland, Prokofieff, Leo Sowerby, Scriabin, and Shostakovich reflect her interest in the modernistic and one selection by Beethoven will represent her interpretation of the classical music.

Miss McGraw has appeared annually in Chapel Hill for the past several years and her appearance here Thursday will be a courtesy program given as a part of a southern tour. In addition to the program at Hill Music hall, she will play over the University Communication Center radio program, 'The Musical Merry-Go-Round" on Saturday morning, February 21, at 10:45.

Joint Recital

Friday, February 20, at 8:30 in Hill hall auditorium, Dick Cox, baritone, and Bill Waters, pianist, will present a joint recital. Cox's program will include four English lute songs from the Elizabethan period, two operatic arias from the classical period, and four French songs from the late romantic and modern periods. Waters' program will include Men-

(See SASSER, page 4)

Cherry Backs Educational Separation

Raleigh, Feb. 16—(UP)—Governor Gregg Cherry signed today the Southern Governors' proposal calling for establishment of separate regional professional schools for whites and Negroes.

Cherry said his signature does not commit the state. In fact, it does not commit anybody but himself. He added that he will not actually be able to do anything toward getting North Carolina to participate actively in the plan.

He pointed out that the legislature must put its stamp of approval on the plan and must appropriate funds before the state can join with others in establishing regional schools to teach such subjects as veterinary medicine, forestry and dentistry.

Cherry added that he won't even be Governor by the time the next legislature meets.

Nevertheless, he already stated that he approves the plan in principle. He said the basic reason for it is sound. No one Southern state can afford to build and maintain schools for all types of advanced education that should be made available to its own residents. "If all the states cooperate," Cherry said, "the need can be met and the standards will be high."

Cherry is the tenth Southern governor to approve the tentative plan. He will send the proposal to Governor William Tuck of Virginia tomorrow.

The regional schools will not become a reality until legislatures of six Southern states have approved and the Congress of the United States has given its consent.

Trustee Report Asks Expansion Raise In Wages

From United Press Wire Reports

Raleigh, Feb. 17 — Dr. Frank Graham, president of the Greater University, addressed a meeting of the Board of Trustees in Governor Cherry's office here this morning, after which the Visiting committee of the board submitted a report asking for expansion of the University to 10,000 students, raising faculty salaries, better faculty housing, classroom space, and an additional $50,000 for organized research in the Graduate school.

Governor Cherry read a letter to the Trustee from President Truman thanking them for permitting Graham to go to Indonesia as United States representative on the Good Offices committee of the United Nations Security council.

"Notable Contribution"

The president's letter praised Dr. Graham's patience and skill in effecting "a notable contribution to the making of world peace."

Thomas J. Pearsall of Rocky Mount was named to take the late Josephus Daniels' place on the Executive committee of the board. Pearsall is speaker of the state House of Representatives.

Urgent needs of the University, besides those listed above, were pointed out by the committee as being adequate sewage disposal, an addition to the library, storage facilities for property, machinery, and supplies, a School of Commerce building, an extension to the Law school, buildings for the School of Public Health, Romance Languages, the English department and Pharmacy school, and a new YMCA building.

State Coliseum

The Trustees also emphasized

(See TRUSTEE, page 4)

Y Conference Registration To End Today

Students planning to attend the Natural Bridge winter conference this weekend should complete their registration today in either the YM or the YW office, according to Pete Burks and Julia Ross, co-chairmen of the conference.

Registration received before 5 o'clock this afternoon will be sent on to the hotel today, assuring preference of rooms, Burks said. He also stressed the importance of registrations being completed today so that transportation arrangements may be completed.

Already Registered

Among students who have already registered are leaders in student government, publications, all the sororities and most fraternities, church groups, public affairs groups such as CPU, and many other campus organizations. Aim of the conference is to secure broad enough representation to afford intelligent discussion of campus-wide problems.

Other Schools

Nearly 20 applications from students at other schools have been received, and it is hoped that they will be able to relate experiences on their campuses to problems at Carolina. Phases of campus problems to be discussed, in addition to world affairs, include social life, political affairs, racial tensions, and the value of the college experience.

Cost of the weekend will be approximately $7 in addition to meals. The $2 fee collected at registration will pay for transportation to and from Natural Bridge. Students will leave Carolina Friday afternoon, either by car or by chartered bus, and will return Sunday afternoon.

ARTIST TO SPEAK

Ilya Bolotowsky, nationally known artist and instructor, will talk on "Modern Art" at an open meeting of the Student's Art League, at 7:30 this evening at Person Hall Art gallery. Mr. Bolotowsky is at present guest instructor in art at Black Mountain College. His talk in Chapel Hill, originally scheduled for last Tuesday, was delayed by bad weather.

Test of Current Publication Needs To Offer Choice of Six Proposals

Students will cast their ballots from 9 o'clock this morning until 6 o'clock this evening in the first referendum in the history of student government at the University.

The issue at stake is whether or not the campus has at present the type and number of magazines it wants and needs.

Publications Men Give Observations On Magazine Vote

With the first campus-wide referendum ever to be held under the student constitution scheduled for today, publications men and politicians have joined the average student to watch eagerly for the result.

Concensus among those who would comment yesterday was that a small vote will mirror the opinion of less than half the students.

Jacobson Wants Combo

Editor Fred Jacobson of the Carolina Magazine declared, "We of the Carolina magazine ask that all students vote tomorrow. I personally am going to vote for a combination magazine, because I believe it will be the most economical and practical solution, but I ask that each student vote absolutely as he pleases so that the result of the referendum will satisfy the campus at large.

Hodgson Opposed

Tookie Hodgson of Tarnation stated, "A combination is a device instituted by Carolina Magazine partisans to eliminate the competition offered by Tarnation. It has been advanced by Tom Eller, a person who is in no wise qualified to offer legislation on publications. It is Tarnation's belief that Eller's opposition to Tarnation stems from a profile written about him which he evidently did not think befitted his presidential dignity. If the students want a humor mag, they had better vote for one tomorrow or else become reconciled to the fact that they will become stepping stones for the grandiose and rather stultifying advance of puerile prose and ponderous platitudes portrayed in the pulp pages of a publication pubescent people ponder in private — otherwise known as the Carolina Magazine."

Except for Hodgson and Publications board treasurer Ed

(See PUBLICATIONS, page 4)

The student body was called upon in May of 1946 to ratify its constitution, in May of 1947 to amend that document, and today voters are again being given the chance to express a direct voice in the government of the campus.

Polling Places

The four regular campus polling places will be open at Gerrard hall, Aycock dormitory, Lenoir hall, and Alderman dormitory. Official University identification cards will be necessary to obtain a ballot.

Six choices will be listed to pick from: (1) Carolina Magazine, (2) Tarnation, (3) Carolina Magazine and Tarnation as they now exist, (4) A combination publication to be named the Carolina Magazine, (5) Alternating issues of the Carolina Magazine and Tarnation, (6) No magazine at all.

Called by Legislature

The referendum was called by the Student Legislature in an act passed during the January 22 session. The bill states that unless the "No magazine" choice receives a majority of votes, the Legislature will abide by the top vote-getter of the other five in drawing up the 1948-49 campus budget.

The following persons vote in Gerrard hall: Residents of Carr, Smith, coeds not in dorms, Steele, BVP, Old East, Old West, Nash, Miller, Whitehead, men in fraternity houses, men in town, Victory Village, Pittsboro road trailer camp.

Aycock dormitory: Residents of Aycock, Graham, Stacy, Everett, Lewis, Quonset huts, Alexander.

Lenoir hall: Residents of Mangum, Manley, Grimes, Ruffin, Emerson field house, Fetzer field house.

Alderman dormitory: Residents of Alderman, McIver, Kenan, Spencer.

12:00

UVA Secures Federal Income Tax Data For Local Veterans

Fields Clark, secretary of the University Veterans Association, announced yesterday that the UVA has obtained a composite bulletin on "Federal Income Tax Data for Veterans."

Clark says the bulletin gives exemptions, forms to be used, tial information pertaining to filing of veterans' income tax.

Through the services of the "Army Times Vet-Letter," a complete compilation of the deadline dates for all veteran benefits, World War II, up to August 1, 1947, is also available at the UVA clubhouse.

It was also announced that the association has a complete list of the battles and campaigns of World War II for the information of veterans in determining possible entitlement to battle credits.

These and other bulletins pertaining to veterans may be examined any afternoon from 2:15 to 3:45 at the UVA clubhouse behind Lenoir hall, Clark said.

Johnny Ciampitt, UVA president, has called a board of governors meeting for 5 o'clock this afternoon to arrange a long-range program of social activities and to set up an information bureau to provide information on legislation which pertains to veterans.

Women's Careers Topic of Speech

Mrs. Charlotte B. Lockhead, lecturer in charge of the Standard Oil company's Adult Education division, will speak on "Careers for Women" in the main lounge of Graham Memorial, Thursday night at 7 o'clock.

Her visit is being sponsored by the Carolina Independent Coed Association, the YWCA, Stray Greks and the Pan-Hellenic organization. A guest of Miss Kathryn Cook, Assistant Director of the Bureau of Vocational information, she is here to attend a meeting of prominent state civic leaders which will be held tomorrow to discuss adult education.

OPEN HOUSE CANCELLED

The UVA open house is cancelled for tonight due to conflicting programs of the group invited.

Phi to Discuss U. S. Petroleum Reserves

A bill advocating federal control of United States petroleum reserves will be introduced before the Phi assembly for discussion at 7:30 tonight in the Phi hall.

Supporters of the measure maintain that government control will eliminate the current oil shortage and provide for equal distribution of petroleum products.

Yack Staff Proves a Little Effort Goes a Long Way as Records Fall

By John Stump

Records have fallen all over the Yackety Yack office this year as a small task force of students have worked to, in the words of picture co-ordinator Bill Duncan, "give Carolina the biggest, best, most colorful annual she has ever had."

But the work and the records that haven't gotten into the papers are the ones set up by the business staff. This year's staff, according to manager Dick Gordon, has been the most successful in recent history.

A few of their achievements are: most advertising sold in a decade, almost $3,000 in bad debts collected, and an excess of income of $400 over the budgeted amount.

The problems faced by this year's business staff have been finding and operating more efficient ways to solicit advertising, making the advertising copy of interest to the reader, and making the proposition pay.

As yet, it is not known whether or not the Yack has made a profit this year. However, if they have been able to do so, Gordon declares that the credit for the achievement belongs to Betsy Anne Barbee, Betty Vashaw, Ted Fussel and Jay Colvard.

These four students sold advertising all over the eastern part of the state, and in Raleigh, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, and Durham. In Chapel Hill, they convinced reluctant merchants that over $1,000 worth of advertising would pay.

When the results were tallied, the advertising sold was considerably in excess of the pages allotted to that part of the book. However, the board of editors, Gene Johnstone, Harold Bursley, and Ruth Evans, far from displeased, allotted an additional eight pages to the successful salesmen.

Office work on the publication has been handled by Gordon and Carter Taylor. They have mailed more than 200 letters, arranged for the extra 8 pages of advertising, and placed snapshots in the advertising section to make it more interesting to the reader.

When the business section of the book was mailed yesterday, the work was just beginning for Taylor and Gordon. They must collect from the 50 per cent of this year's advertisers' and page holders' bills which are still out and complete the work of auditing the book.

When asked last night for comment on the record of his staff, Gordon was unreserved in his praise of them. He declared, "This year the job of Yack business manager has been immeasurably lightened by the best and hardest working five people with whom I have ever associated."

That opinion would seem to be borne out by the record.

One Library Science School Male Off for New York With 26 Women

By Nelson Warner

Being the only man in a school with 29 women would offer enough experiences to gratify most men. But spending a five-day trip to New York City with 26 of those women is a prospect that predicts worry for Marvin Hogan, the only male student in the School of Library Science.

Hogan says that at least one incident has taken place to indicate what is in store for him when he leaves Chapel Hill with Miss Susan G. Akers, dean of the library school, and 25 women students for the field trip, stops in Richmond, Washington, Baltimore and New York. In answer to Dean Akers' request for accommodations at the Washington Hotel in New York, Hogan said the hotel manager told Miss Akers, we are not with a man and ladies . . ."

Hogan said, will consist of regular curriculum work each day. The group will visit libraries in the four cities and hear lectures within the libraries. The visits are to be in the form of directed tours. Most of the students have already made their plans for the evenings, since the evenings will be free to them. As for his own plans, Hogan said, "The girls will have to look out for themselves, because I've already made reservations for several plays in New York."

In addition to Hogan, the following students will accompany Dean Akers: Miss Anne I. Armstrong, Mrs. Dorothy W. Atkins, Miss Dorothy Avery, Mrs. June F. Clark, Mrs. Anne Wythe Crosser, Miss Mildred Elyna Eller, Miss Margaret Joan Farris, Miss Dorothea Furber, Miss Jessica Graham, Miss Gene Dare Harrison, Mrs. Helen D. Harrison, Miss Patricia Howard, Mrs. Majorie Miller, Miss Mary Eleanor Parker, Miss Lorenna Jane Ross, Miss Ronda Sawer, Miss Florence Tyler, Mrs. Ethel C. Wakefield, Miss Betty Elaine Warren, Miss Ann C. Wheeler, Mrs. Nancy White and Miss Martha Wilkerson.

Leaving Chapel Hill March 15, the students will stay the first two nights at a hotel in Washington in order to visit that city and Baltimore, after having spent the first day in Richmond, March 17-20 they will spend in New York, and will then be free for the regular spring holiday of one week.

Champion of Them All . . . . . . In Convertible Weather

Dr. Frank Receives Generous Welcome Home

By Chuck Hauser

In weather so balmy that the top was down on a Plymouth convertible across the street, Dr. Frank Porter Graham walked out on his front porch and waved his hand in friendly greeting to the hundreds of students standing on his front lawn at 5:15 Sunday afternoon.

"Let's go, Dr. Frank, welcome home!" rang down sunny Franklin street where cars were lined up in rows in front of the Greater University president's stately white-pillared home.

With a procession from Y court led by Cheerleader Jerry Pence, and the University band playing under the direction of Earl Slocum, the crowd of approximately 500 students marched to the strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers" down Raleigh street to Dr. Graham's house and up on his lawn.

Color Contrast

As the large door slowly opened, and the little figure with the contrasting white hair and black overcoat stepped out on the porch, cheers and applause hit the air like a fall Saturday afternoon with Charlie Justice doing broken-field running.

Student body President Tom Eller went up the steps and shook Dr. Graham's hand, as the beloved educator was heard to say, "Glad to see you. . .you are still president, aren't you?. . . Well, I guess we're both still president, then. . ."

As banners proclaiming "Welcome, Dr. Frank" waved in the background, Eller spoke on behalf of the student body.

"It is a tradition of the Carolina student body to welcome its champions regardless of victory or defeat. Today, however, it is our distinct privilege to welcome home the champion of them all, Dr. Frank Porter Graham."

"Great to Be Back"

"I appreciate deeply this generous welcome," Dr. Graham answered. "It is great to be back in Chapel Hill, for there is no place quite like it.

"There are 70,000,000 people living in Indonesia where I have been,and through the great teamwork of Belgium, Australia, and the United States we have been able to help them.

"A beginning has been made, a foundation has been laid, a framework of principles has been agreed upon, but the house is still to be constructed.

"The Rest of My Life"

"I have to go back to the United Nations tomorrow afternoon to finish my reports, but I hope I can come back here soon for the rest of my life."

Dr. Graham has been in Indonesia for the last two months with a Good Offices commission of the Security council of the United Nations, and he aided in the January 17 truce-signing in the Batavia, Java, bay which ended the Dutch Indonesian warfare. He left Chapel Hill on October 5, 1947.

"Dr. Frank" arrived in Chapel Hill at approximately 11:30 Saturday night on a Trailways bus through Durham from Raleigh, after having missed connections with Hubert Robinson, who was supposed to pick him up in Raleigh.

Hat Pulled Down

According to students who recognized him on the bus, the University president was apparently attempting to be as unrecognizable as possible, with his hat pulled down over his forehead.

Asked after the rally Sunday whether or not he had to stand up on the bus, Dr. Graham answered by admitting that it was crowded.

"Yes, I had to stand up part of the way, but there was a young fellow who looked like he was going to be very uncomfortable if I didn't take his seat, so I sat down," he chuckled.

Tom Eller told the Daily Tar Heel yesterday that he wished to express his personal thanks to Cheerleader Jerry Pence for the word he had done during the rally, and to extend grateful appreciation to Band Director Earl Slocum for his part in the demonstration.

"I would also like to thank the students and band members who participated in the rally for their splendid spirit," Eller said.

If You Don't Know -- Don't Vote

People are always telling you to—"vote!" Just vote, they always say. Part of democracy and all that. Well, it is, It is part of democracy; it's a privilege, but it is also a responsibility.

So we're saying—"don't vote in the mag referendum today!"—don't vote at all unless you know what you're voting for, unless you know your vote is right!

Here is the issue:

Students—since last year when Tookie Hodgson was able to sell the campus a humor publication—have been dissatisfied with the Carolina Mag. It has been lifeless; it has been dull; it has been "too literary." It has been something that the majority of students did not want. The magazine referendum this afternoon is expected to get the students something they do want—and it will, if the students know what they are voting for.

The referendum grew out of student disapproval of Carolina Mag principally. There was some dissatisfaction with the first issue of Tarnation and that, of course, added coals to the fire. Then, too, there was a great deal of confused politicking by numerous BMOC's who didn't have anything else to do. At any rate, you have a referendum today; you have the privilege of choosing any one of these things:

(1) The Carolina Magazine, which now has the disapproval of many for being too literary, too dull.

(2) Tarnation, which, it must be admitted, has not been able to be very funny in its first two issues.

(3) Both magazines, which would not seem very logical because of duplication of purpose, waste of money. (Carolina Mag is supposed, now, to be half humor, half serious material.)

(4) No magazine at all, which seems to us like cutting off your nose to spite your face, or [redacted]

(5) A combination of the two magazines—humor and literary. This would be a "variety" magazine, offering entertainment to the students as well as a laboratory opportunity for serious writers.

The Daily Tar Heel favors this fifth alternative—a combination or variety magazine. Such a publication is, actually, the only answer. Since students do pay for their magazine, they deserve the right to enjoy it; since it is necesary that budding writers have a place to present their not-always-bad and frequently excellent material, they deserve a right to a laboratory.

We have heard the frequent comment that in every gathering of more than two citizens in a college community you find someone who harbors literary aspirations—and we believe it to be very close to the truth. There are many student writers in Chapel Hill and they can't be dismissed with a muttered, "Long-hair!" These student writers—men and coeds—will, some of them, be the professional writers ten or fifteen years from now. Give them a chance.

And, of course, there is a need for humorous stories, cartoons, jokes in a campus publication. Well, perhaps not a need, but certainly a desire. People need to laugh at themselves; it's healthy, or something.

At any rate, students seriously pursuing learning need a break now and then. Students pursuing, in addition to learning, a literary career need an outlet for their creative talents.

The magazine problem is not insoluble; all that is needed is clear thought. The answer is, of course, a combination magazine.

Tradition on Their Feet

We understand that Giles Horney, supervisor of buildings and grounds, and a crew of about eight men worked all night to remove the snow from the walks and streets around the campus. The men, after seeing that it would be impossible to return home and get back to work the following morning on time, decided to stay up the whole night and try to keep the bi-ways cleared. Their decision and work greatly facilitated students on the way to classes the following morning.

While the snow was firm, the going was not too bad, but simultaneous with the melting snow came running noses caused by sitting in classes for several hours with wet feet.

Snow covering the brick walkways melted and the water found its way to an outlet, but the majority of student-trodden walks were thick with mud and mire. And as we heard one of our professors express it, we "don't give a damn about carrying tradition around on our feet."

We understand that the bricked walkways which we have now were constructed with funds that were not used and the University hastened to put the money into a worthwhile project before it went back into the State treasury.

It would be very helpful now if the University were able to look around in its various accounts and find enough money here and there to attempt to finish the paving of the walkways.

One of the first causes which the Tar Heel tried to advance for the betterment of the campus was urging the administration to pave the walkways. That was nearly a half century ago and students are still carrying tradition around on their feet.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.	Complete Leased Wire of United Press	Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Business Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser
LIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson.
LIGHT SPORTS EDITORS: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette.
ASST. BUS. MGRS.: Mary W. Sledge, T. E. Holden
ASST. CIRC. MGRS.: Randall Hudson, Don Snow
SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison
EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan

NEWS STAFF: Raney Stanford, Donald MacDonald, Sally Woodhull, John Stump, Herb Nachman, Charlie Gibson, Gordon Huffines, Margaret Gaston, Mark Summer, Paul Rothman, Nina Davis, George Roberts, Elaine Patton, Jean Baskerville, Mary Ann Taber, Weddy Thorp, Emily Baker, Miriam Evans, Doris Weaver, Nancy Black, Helen Beam, Daniel Wallace, Sam Whitehall, Helen High water.

SPORTS STAFF: Morty Shaap, Dick Jenrette, Bill Kellam, Larry Fox, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Bill Gallagher.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty, Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Ka'thryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr., Lena Campbell, Ed Campbell, Al Carpenter.

Campus Forum

Credit For SG Work Okay

By Pete Gerns

This week the Forum put itself to the task of getting student's opinion on whether credit should be allowed for work in student government. The campus was generally in favor of such action but imposed several ifs before it would admit the feasibility of such a measure. The conditions were: 1) A committee set up by students qualified to determine eligibility toward semester credit, 2) standards by which qualification must be ratified, and 3) short course of indoctrination in student government activities before the elected take office. Several students felt that it would be unfair to include only those in student government under such a system and favored coverage of all students in student extra-curricular activities.

In trying to determine an analogy between eligibility for journalism credit and eligibility for possible political science credit the Forum found these facts: A student has to notify the department of Journalism that he will work for credit on the DTH; credit as determined by quality and quantity of work done by the DTH over a period of time; the managing editor of the DTH notifies the department when credit is given and final okay is handed down by the department. Reporters, i. e., are given about five hours of credit in journalism for work done over a period of three terms.

If such a system could be established under which students taking an active part in student government it would be favored by the majority of students whom this column contacted.

"I am in favor of giving credit for active participation in student government if it can be accurately determined when a student is eligible for it." Joyce Peterson.

"I definitely do not believe that student government politicians should receive hour credit." Walter W. Ferebee.

"Student government is more vital than the majority of non-specialized courses." Sandy McEachern.

"Why should they (get credit)? It is another type of extra-curricular activity or a sounding board for personal squabbles." H. W. Johnston.

"One has to spend much time on it and it teaches one to live democratically." E. Danziger.

"The big catch is the word 'active'." S. Burgess.

"It takes up endless energy, interminable amounts of time—so why not give credit?" Stewart Covington.

"I definitely do not believe in credit of any form for student government work." D. C. Wyatt.

The Forum will follow up the matter more closely and report back to the campus on the stand of the faculty on this subject.

For Friday we would like to have the following answered: "Do you favor the re-establishment of dormitory stores?"

Anilorac Lesurac

Vote For Combined Mag

By R. Foo Giduz

With the objective of influencing thousands of voters, CC dips into WHY you should vote for a "combination" magazine today. . .Frankly, we're against the referendum to begin with, since the issue cannot be phrased so as to be voted upon impartially: i. e., humor vs. literary content, instead of Mag vs. Tarnation. . . But if y'gotta vote on the question, kindly try to do it on the basis of humor vs. lit and not with a cynical eye towards Terrible Too-the-Crook's Tarnation or Jawbone Jake's miserable mag. They're leaving soon!

Here's WHY for the combination: (1) Each mag ALREADY has and will continue to have both humor and literary content; (2) flagrant waste of money under this present duplicate set-up; combine the two and nearly halve printing and staff costs (fact!); (3) unhealthy dissipation of efforts under two mags; public gets tired of each calling the other nasty names in print; (4) most popular mags in the country (Esquire, New Yorker, Colliers, etc.) are COMBINATIONS; (5)printshop staff is admittedly and undeniably NOT equipped to satisfactorily handle both mags; (6) general tempering of both publications to better suit popular tastes will be accomplished.

—Failure to vote today will be the same as casting a vote for "no magazine." . . .The easiest thing in the world to do is to damn both mags. . .That's the watchword we're hearing in all bull sessions nowadays. The lads who say this are the ones seldom interested enough to vote on any other question, but they'll really be out in force today. So if you don't vote, you're helping them.

Elexion predixion: "No Mag" will get the largest vote, but will not get the required majority: merely a plurality; thus, the vote for a "combination" which will come in second will be put into effect since it will have the next highest plurality. . .And the referendum and mag-humor contempt of the campus will be shown in that less than 1,00 votes will be cast. This will not be any indication of student opinion! With five choices on each ballot, there will be a mighty close vote: five tallies one way or the other may swing it.

Don't be a narrow-minded dope at a liberal university. . . Vote for a combination magazine.

SDA Spotlight

No Marshall Plan--No Hope

By Bob Lindsay

We are handing out a lot of money under the Marshall Plan. In fact, before 1952 we will have handed out between $15 and $20 billions.

Who gets all this money?

Most of it will go to 16 nations of Western Europe that still have free governments. The list includes United Kingdom, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Greece, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland, and Turkey. Western Germany also figures in the estimates.

But wait a minute, you say. A lot of these countries have Socialist governments. Why should we support anybody who doesn't practice capitalism?

Well, first of all, you can't practice capitalism if you don't have any capital. If you are down to your last stockpile of coal, you have to guard every ounce of it. If you tried to practice free enterprise with it, you'd lose precious ounces in the friction of the open market. And, first thing you know, your stockpile is gone completely.

When you are so terribly short of coal—or anything else—you have to ration it. And to do that you have to have some central control. Socialism is the only choice.

But even if these countries could afford to practice capitalism, we couldn't force it on them. We can't make them over in our own image. For that's exactly the thing we have accused the Rusians of doing. That's blackmail, and we don't play that way.

After all, the Socialist countries chose Socialism of their own free will.

If we try to interfere with their choice, the Marshall Plan will fail. The Europeans will figure that the Russians were right all along. They'll figure that the Marshall Plan is a scheme to bring them under the heel of Wall street.

But you're still skeptical.

Look at England, you say. They told us if we would only advance them a couple of billions, everything would shape up. So we advanced it to them and here they are back, asking for more.

Looks like their Socialism squandered the money, you say.

It's true that they've spent the money. But they haven't squandered it. In fact, there are two good reasons why they have had to spend more than they thought they would at the time of the loan.

First, they had the most terrible winter last year that they've had since the 1880's. The money had to go for emergency relief.

And, second, prices of U. S. goods went higher and higher and ate up the loan much more rapidly than anybody had figured.

The Socialist government in England hasn't had bad management. It's had bad luck.

The hope of the world depends on the economic recovery of free peoples in Europe. If we refuse to help free socialistic countries under the Marshall Plan, we smash the hope of the world.

And then if hungry, bitter men come clawing at our throats, we'll have only ourselves to blame.

TARNATION STAFF

All members of the Tarnation editorial staff are reminded that there will be a meeting this evening at 7 o'clock in the Tarnation office.

Write Away

Humor For All The Students

Letters submitted to the Write Away column must be double-spaced, typewritten, and shall not exceed 300 words. All contributions must contain signature, telephone number, and address of the author. (Names will be withheld upon request.) Letters which contain obscene or libelous statements or letters which do not comply with these stipulations will not be published.

Mr. Hodgson,

Tarnation purports to be representative of student humor yet I find it almost exclusively preoccupied with doings and sayings of a "typical" fraternity man—wealthy and slick with the women. I am sure that that type of character, if there be such on this campus, is in the minority and that most of us are rather ordinary guys—minus cadillacs and harems. That picture of myself in the frat house is certainly not representative of the monk-like austerity of the quonset hut in which I live.

Your assumption is, I suppose, that we are all mordinate social climbers and that we get a vicarious "charge" out of reading about the forbidden pleasures of this world. And you are probably right, but I want you to know chum, that there is one guy that has weighed that kind of life in the balance and found it—unbalanced. You can have your dissipations, I'll take my pleasures in a simple and lasting form and if I have my choice I'll have my humor reflective of that life.

Where do I think you should get your humor? Mainly from the comical happening in a classroom and secondly from dormitory life. The classroom is the only universal bond between all groups on the campus, it is the focal point around which our lives are centered (whether we wish it so or not) and our inability to find anything amusing in that situation is indicative of our lack of true humor.

Amusing situations abound on all sides if we only have the eyes to see them. Look at the students reactions to foreign affairs: the world-saving reformer with the inadequate personality, the sublime indifference of petty lives to these momentous times, the fool with the fool-proof plan of salvation, the frenzied attempts to solve problems by ignoring them, and the untter ridiculousness of a life in this age without a faith or a hope. Perhaps that is tragic instead of comic but in the last analysis it is supremely funny because those of us who think we understand this situation are as impotent as a stupid playboy to arrest this process of disintergration which we are witnessing. And we are all going to be dragged down to Hell together. Ha, Ha.

Raymond Mills
Hut No. 36

Recipe for Peace

By Bonnie Simmons

The other day as I sauntered down the gravel paths, I chanced by a local cafe and went in. The compensations for someone's nickle floated rhythmically upon my left ear. But with the Right ear, mind you, and I did say, "right" I heard the words, "World Government".

Well, I'd heard of it before. I stood by the door and just enjoyed the smell of good food. The table was right there beside me, and you know how it is. At first, I sort of listened because I didn't have anything else to do.

A young fellow at the end of the table flicked the ashes from his cigarette and said, "Well, I wish I knew the answer. . ." Then the girl sitting beside him said that the answer was clear.

"That's why I believe in United World Federalist," she said.

"Oh, of course," this time it was a smaller fellow at the other end of the table, "We all agree with you. He paused for a moment. But the thing of it is, how can we make other people see the need for some sort of action?"

I wanted to see who would answer that one. Just then, another member of their party, a European, no doubt, said, "It is true that people who have security do not want change." He went on to say that people don't worry much about anything until something happens.

I don't know; the whole thing interested me. All of a sudden, I was smacked right between the ears with a mental dynamo. I could not deny it. It is high time I and several million other people stop beating around that proverbial bush and do something constructive if we expect this old world of ours to turn over and spin right.

I just stood there and listened for a while. I could tell that this business of world government is more than a theory on a scrap of paper. World Federalists feel that United Nations is a

(See RECIPE, page 4)

Passing Sentence

Dear Sir:

I hope that I have not waited too long to voice an opinion on the magazine question.

As a graduate student who has taken almost no part in campus political life I felt that it was not my place to "sound off," but I have now reached the boiling point.

For two years I was the editor of the Window, the University of Colorado literary magazine, and therefore I feel that perhaps I may be able to contribute something.

If the students enjoy the "humor" in Tarnation, there is nothing wrong with keeping it—this discussion will not concern itself with the worthiness of humor magazines, which is a debateable point.

WHAT ABOUT THE CAROLINA MAGAZINE? Is it worth keeping? At present it is a mixture of everything and lacks direction. The humor is weak, the fashion articles contribute nothing to the majority of students, and the other articles are equally assinine; however, the literary portions have merit, enough to justify the [redacted]azine. At this point I to ask why the stud[redacted] not have the opportun[redacted] for a purely literary ma[redacted]

Whoever framed th[redacted] that are to be voted [redacted] ed to create with th[redacted] getting, a desired [redacted] people agree that [redacted] wrong, they also [redacted] wrongs don't make [redacted] eliminating every[redacted] one with nothing [redacted] on an absolutely [redacted]

Is there a solution? I [redacted] there is. If the studen[redacted] Tarnation, let them [redacted] Change the Carolina M[redacted] a literary quarterly. [redacted] enough talent on this [redacted] turn out a really [redacted] literary magazine, one that [redacted] make Carolina known [redacted] out the country—we would [redacted] be judged solely on the qua[redacted] of our football teams. Sev[redacted] colleges are known primarily [redacted] the magazines that they prod[redacted] and there is no reason wh[redacted] South shouldn't have a first[redacted] quarterly.

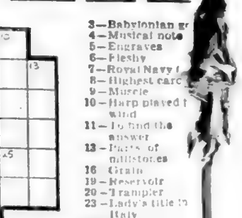
Tom Eller made [redacted] about costs and cam[redacted] fantastic budget of $12[redacted] combined magazine[redacted] amazed me. In 1946 [redacted] for five issues of [redacted] was under $2,000. and [redacted] made from sales and [redacted] in fact, $400 was conse[redacted] high for any single [redacted] ducing the number of [redacted] using cheaper paper [redacted] 20 per cent of the cost.

I am ready to admit that students are not interested literary magazine; however value to those who work and who publish in it is than enough. UNC prod Thomas Wolfe among other writers, and it is not be comprehension that a Wolfe might get the encou ment to continue writing stead of abandoning it, literarly quarterly.

In conclusion, I should propose that a purely quarterly be published h should be supported equal student and academic fund it should solicit a limited ber of outside manuscr[redacted] aren't we literate enough h[redacted] have such a magazine?

Jonathan Mar[redacted]

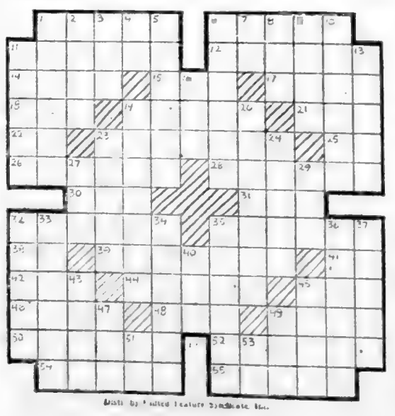
What's Up in Graham Memori[redacted]



—Are you-too a social [redacted] because you don't know the [redacted]er mores of Culbertson an[redacted] wood. . .A good chance to [redacted] up on your game tonight [redacted] Graham Memorial bridge [redacted] ment. . .It's all in fun, a[redacted] guarantee your partne[redacted] shoot you for trumping [redacted]

One lucky lad picke[redacted] easy Fiver, as the jacke[redacted] at Saturday evenin[redacted] lounge Bingo session.

for a Friday evening [redacted] soon, to turn the whole G[redacted] Memorial building into a [redacted]val" for one evening. [redacted] to be sponsored by camp[redacted] ganizations, peanuts, pink l[redacted] ade, dancing gals, back [redacted]



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PU[redacted]

ACROSS
1—Sword
6—Packing case
11—Avenue
12—To fasten firmly
14—City in Russia
15—The heart
17—Wriggly
18—Meadow
19—To interfere
21—To conquer
22—Virginia (abbr.)
23—Part to diet
25—Paid notice
26—To embellish
28—Gains knowledge
30—Insect
31—Land measure
32—Headpiece
35—Skirted about
38—Like
39—Reacher
41—Musical note
42—Edge
44—Lowest point
45—Rear of ship
46—Drink
48—Man's name
49—Wind instrument
50—Devout man of Jerusalem
52—Inmates
54—Route
55—To state

DOWN
1—River
2—Region
3—Babylonian g[redacted]
4—Musical note
5—Engraves
6—Fleshy
7—Royal Navy [redacted]
8—Highest card
9—Murcie
10—Harp played [redacted] wind
11—To find the answer
13—Pieces of milestones
16—Grain
19—Reservoir
20—Trampled
23—Lady's title in Italy
24—Measures of distance
27—To shut out
29—Portuguese [redacted]
32—Barks
33—Egyptian [redacted]
34—Coaches
35—To show
36—Attempt
37—Appointments
40—Girl's name
43—Mother
45—Chin-shaped
47—Joined
49—Former prefixing spe[redacted]
51—Wind off
53—Chopping

Distributed by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Phantoms Lose To Wake Forest, 53-47, For Second Loop Loss; Jayvees Win

Back Tracking In Sports

with

Morty Schaap

Old Age Security

THE SCOREBOARD ON THE WALL said Wake Forest 60, Clippers 52.

As some 500 fans filed their way out of the Charlotte Auditorium only one word was on their lips, that "Pappy." Yes, Pappy Hamilton stole the show in that basketball game and his valiant efforts were labeled as the finest individual performance in Charlotte all year. Tombstone or the Wizard of Weir, as the grand old man of the hardwood has been dubbed, ran through Wake Forest like flour in a sieve. He accumulated 25 points in 38 minutes of play and passed the ball off on many other occasions when he had sure drive-in points

Jim Hayworth also wore the White and Gold of the Clippers and turned in a creditable floor game and fed the ball well to set up quite a bit of the scoring. Hayworth also was the lad that sank a foul that gave the Clips their only lead of the evening.

Before the contest both Jims and yours truly were guests of J. B. Clark on the WAYS sports show and it was at this session that Hayworth told the radio audience that they need not worry about the Clips scoring as Ham would fill the bucket. When the show closed out the shiny headed Kansan asked if Hayworth were trying to put the pressure on him. It proved that there was none later on.

A visit to the offices of the local newspaper brought the touring entourage into contact with two journalists who lately were members of the DTH and now are making a living at practice. The party adjourned to the local eating place where Hamilton, Hayworth and other members of the club worked on their plays and the journalists worked over their brews.

It came time for the Clips to dress and the newspaper triumverate rolled on to the gym and watched the Charlotte Queens trip the Major Cola team from Winston-Salem.

Wake Forest was first on the court resplendent in their black jerseys and then the Clippers paced by playing manager Dan Miller came on the court. Speculation ran among the fans as to how bad the Clips would get beat in their last game of the season. The club has a fine record of not having won a game and even losing to a women's team.

However with new blood in the line-up the Queen City team stayed in the running all the way and only when the exhausted starters could go no more did the Deacons pull away. But to quote one of the players from Carolina, "Ham's arm just fell off."

When the final gun sounded an ambulance rushed to the scene and carted Hamilton and Hayworth to the local hostelry for a well earned rest.

The good book said Hamilton, eight field goals, nine fouls for a total of 25 points. Also his nine foul points were in ten attempts which should be an example for the Hamilton protegees. (They missed 44 chances from the free throw line in their last three games.)

Hayworth had not bucketed but did drop three fouls in six attempts.

The Night Was Young

The next stop for the tired journalists was a personal interview at the hotel with the weary athletes. A liquid transfusion was brought along and the newspapermen exhibited top hook shots with Kruegers hitting the icy waters from all angles with shots from either hand. Bill Keene, a High Point alumnus, who stands some 6 feet 7 inches also was interviewed.

During the course of the discussion many dead soldiers were buried, and many good heads lost but a fine story was learned and to quote one Eddie Allen, "What was missing from Carolina this season was evidenced tonight in the game at the Auditorium."

It came time to leave, mainly because of the lack of subject matter, the case had been terminated and no others were on hand. And besides the downstairs people thought that a hotel was a place to sleep in.

Buffing the Bison

The contingent arrived in Chapel Hill just in time to gather the forces of freshman cagers to attack High Point High school and try to end their fourteen game winning streak. The object came close to achievement as the Tar Babies had a six point lead with about four minutes to play. However success was not in the offing as the high schoolers intercepted three passes and racked up a 36-35 victory. Again the men of Hamilton scored more field goals than their opponents but with only eight charity throws for the evening, of which they made five, Carolina could not cope with the eight foul throws for 23 chances hit by the Bisons.

Tony Simeon, head basketball coach at High Point, deserves much praise for the fine job he has done and his club should be odds on favorites in the Class AA tourney at Durham next month. This team is tall and fast and play exceptionally well in the clutch. His boys should go a long way when they matriculate at the colleges of their choosing.

Coed Sextettes in Twin Bill Tonight

The final doubleheader of the coed basketball tourney will be staged tonight with a playoff spot the prize for the winner of the Pi Phi-Town contest.

Both sextettes enter the crucial clash with identical records of three wins and no losses. The victor will go into a first-place tie with Chi Omega, currently leading the loop with an unblemished 4-0 slate. The tussle starts at 7 o'clock.

Seventh place will be the objective for both teams in the nightcap scheduled for 7:15. Tri Delt and Carr meet in this clash and the victor will move into the lucky position.

Playoffs for the league championship commence Thursday. Spectators are welcome both nights.

Deacons Splurge In Second Half

By Morty Schaap

Wake Forest, Feb. 16—A last two-minute drive by a scrappy Wake Forest team took all the fight out of Carolina's White Phantoms and gave the Deacons a 53-47 win in a game played here in Gore gymnasium before a capacity crowd.

The hero of the contest was lean Deran Walters, Wake pivot man who poured 15 points through the bucket in the second half while the Phants were held to only 19.

Carolina got off to a fast start with Roger Scholbe and Nemo Nearman tallying crip shots in the first minute of play. King Cole made it 6-0 with a long set. Wake Forest bounced right back with a pair of crips by Jack Gentry and Willard Kaylor.

Biggest Lead

The Tar Heels took their biggest lead of the half at 10:45 when Cole slipped through for a layup to give the Scottmen a 19-12 advantage.

Wake Forest came back and kept nibbling at the Blue and White lead and with just ten seconds left in the initial stanza Jim Patton hit the cords with a set shot from almost half court to cut the Phantom halftime lead to 28-24.

Coach Murray Greason must have given his club plenty of inertia during the intermission and impressed his charges just how much a win meant to their chances for a spot in the loop tourney. The win gave Wake Forest a .500 average for conference play. The defeat for the Tar Heels was the second in 12 starts in loop play.

Deacs Take Lead

Whatever it was, the men of Greason came back on the court and gave the home town folks something to cheer about. Red O'Quinn dropped a pair of foul shots, Kaylor dropped in a pair of crips and Walters pushed in a layup to give the Deacs a 32-29 lead after 2:15 of the period.

Coy Carson dropped in a one-hander to bring the visitors within two points but Kaylor dropped in a set. At this point the Tar Heels put on their only spurt of the half and Nearman was good on a crip, Carson hit with a foul, Cole layed in a two-pointer, Carson hit with a crip and Nearman a foul to put Carolina out in front, 38-34.

But at this point Walters took over and for the remaining nine minutes and forty seconds he tallied a one hander, a hook, a layup and a pair of fouls, Gentry and O'Quinn also hit with set shots. In the meantime the Tar Heels took a lot of shots but could not hit and from the time that Dillon hit with a hook at 16:25, they could not tally a point.

The last minute of play saw Wake Forest put on the freeze and force Carolina into fouling Tee Thorne and Scholbe went out via the five personal route.

Ebb Tide . .

Mermen Prove To Be Fishes Out Of Water

Although there was a water shortage and consequently a drop in the quality of Carolina's performance in Charlottesville last Saturday afternoon, there was no scarcity of Carolina points during the Dolphins' 51-24 swamping of Virginia.

Some Sermon . . .

Wake Forest	fg	ft	pf	tp	ftm
Najeway	0	2	4	2	0
Gentry	5	0	0	10	4
Schlosser	0	1	0	1	1
Walters	6	3	1	15	6
Patton	1	1	2	3	0
O'Quinn	1	3	1	5	1
Mueller	1	0	1	2	2
Kaylor	7	1	5	15	2
Totals	21	11	14	53	16
Carolina	fg	ft	pf	tp	ftm
Paxton	2	2	4	6	2
Swartzberg	0	0	0	0	0
Scholbe	3	1	5	7	0
Carson	3	1	2	7	3
Nearman	3	2	4	8	2
Dillon	1	1	1	3	0
Nyimicz	0	2	1	2	0
Thorne	0	0	5	0	2
Cole	7	0	1	14	0
Totals	19	9	23	47	9

Switch in Starters

Another "New Look" entered the swimming picture last weekend when assistant coach Ralph Casey switched several men from their regular events to new spots in the starting lineup.

Jim Thomas swam in the 440 and 220 and turned in excellent performances in both. Coach Dick Jamerson observed yesterday, "If Thomas continues to improve in these events along with his backstroke performance, it will give us better strength for the conference meet."

Mike Morrow switched from the 440 to the 100 and performed very capably under the adverse conditions. Jamerson expects this change to give the team more balance.

Praise for Divers

Jamerson also singled out Mac Erle's diving for praises. According to observers at the meet, the Dolphins' also came close to taking the third spot in the event. John Whichard just missing out.

The local mermen will work out under the direction of Ralph Casey this week while the Carolina head mentor is in Birmingham, Ala., for the meetings of the Southern District of American Association of Health and Physical Education.

While in the Pittsburgh of the South, Jamerson will turn from aquatic to forensic activities for he'll deliver a paper on "Studies in Fatigue" at the meeting of the

(See MERMEN, page 4)

All Sold!

There are no more tickets available for the Carolina-State basketball game slated for Woollen gym Saturday night, it was announced late yesterday afternoon by the athletic department.

Seats remaining after priority holders had been taken care of last week were placed on exchange yesterday morning at 9 o'clock on a first-come-first-served basis. By 4:30 the ducats had all been claimed by lucky students who called for them.

There will be no further issuance of tickets to the State game as none remain and therefore none will be placed on public sale.

Because of fire department regulations, no standing room entries will be sold.

GM Will Sponsor Ping Pong Tourney

Graham Memorial is again sponsoring a one-night table tennis tourney to be held Thursday night, Nancy Tucker, GM recreation officer, announced yesterday.

Play begins at 7 o'clock in the new game room and a campus champ will be crowned before the night is over. Coronation will consist of the presentation of a book of theater tickets.

Tar Heel tennis ace Ray Morris is the defending campus titleholder.

Juniors Triumph By 61-60 Score

Wake Forest, Feb. 16—Carolina's jayvee team has been mighty weak on foul shots during the season but tonight it was that weapon that enabled them to take a 61-60 win over the Baby Deacons of Wake Forest. Bill White, curly-headed guard, was the lad that dropped in the winning chairity toss with seven seconds to go.

The game was played in Gore gym before a capacity crowd. John Tsantes paced the Juniors scoring with 22 points.

The junior Deacs jumped to a six-point lead as the clock showed 1:30. After that Tsantes put on a scoring spree and the game became a nip-and-tuck battle. At 15.20 the UNC jayvees finally managed to take a 23-22 lead on Hal Ferraro's crip shot.

The Hamilton squad then put on a spurt and took a halftime lead of 29-22. Sandy Hoft's play under the board helped Carolina.

The Wakemen came out with blood in their eyes and at 8:35 the Deacs took the lead, 40-38. Charlie Thorne's set shot tied it up, 40-40, and from thereon down to the wire the teams swapped field goal for field goal.

Henry Bowers paced the Deacons with 18 points.

The Summary:

UNC JV (61)	pos	Wake Forest (60)
(8) Ferraro	F	Warren (4)
(1) Peters	F	Kersh (13)
(22) Tsantes	C	McCotter (14)
(7) White	G	Dinsmore (7)
(9) Thorne	G	Bowers (18)

Substitutes: Carolina: Hoft (4), Harrington (3), Lebed (2), Gilmore (5), Morrisson (0), Gregory (0).

Wake Forest: Watkins (0), Hicks (4), Baublis (0) Reagan (0).

Officials: Brooks and Hipps.

TRACK TRIALS

Coach Joe Hilton announced that time trials in the sprints and hurdles would be held this afternoon at 5:30 in the Tin Can.

Mural Schedule

BASKETBALL

Playoffs to determine dormitory and fraternity division champions.

4:00—Court 1: Blackballs vs. Unknowns; Court 2: Hillers vs. Mangum.

7:00—Court 1: Chi Phi 2 vs. Sigma Chi 1; Court 2: Phi Delt 1 vs. Beta 1; Court 3: Kap Sig 1 vs. KA.

HANDBALL

4:00—Oakwood Drive vs. Stacy.
5:00—Roaches vs. Lewis.

RIFLE FIRING

7:30—Sig Ep (orientation)

SWIMMING

4:00—semi-finals in individual events. All dorm men who tried out for the 25-yard free-style, 25-yard backstroke, and 50-yard freestyle will swim in the semi-finals. Dorm men who are in the 50-yard backstroke, 50-yard breaststroke, and 100-yard free-style will go straight into the finals on Thursday.

BOXING

4:00—M. Parker (Stacy) vs. D. Mann (Hut 26), 165; 4:06—H. Merchant (Aycock) vs. O. Gupton (Emerson), 165; 4:12—S. Harris (Graham) vs. F. Bowman (Old East), 165; 4:18—J. Joseph (Seiler Five) vs. D. Bunting (Emerson), 165; 4:24—F. Cahoon (Lewis) vs. A. Bluethenthal (Emerson), 175; 4:30—D. Snow (Whitehead) vs. B. Kemp (Med Sch), 155; 4:36—J. M Cawley (Town) vs. I. Zarp (Emerson), 155; 4:42—R. La (Nash) vs. W. Thomas (Hut 2 145; 4:48—G. Vestal (Oakwo Drive) vs. J. Stewart (Seil Five), 145; 4:54—P. Carris (M Sch) vs. R. Hansen (Emerso hw.

5:00—J. McLean (Sig Chi) C. Worsley (Sig Nu), 175; 5: —B. Jones (DKE) vs. R. Har (SAE), 175; 5:12—B. Killef (Phi Delt) vs. J. Combs (K Sig), 175; 5:18—N. Galink (TEP) vs. B. Cowan (Kap Si hw; 4:24—J. Stillman (Chi P vs. T. Pyron (Sig Chi), hw; 5: —O. Evans (Phi Delt) vs. Perry (Zeta), hw; 5:36— R. Po son (Phi Gam) vs. J. Brov (DKE), hw; 5:42—H. Allen (S Chi) vs. J. Godwin (Phi Del hw; 5:54—S. Manning (DKE) J. Spears (Beta), hw; 5:48— Weinstein (TEP) vs. A. Ma ning (Phi Delt), hw.

Mural Results

29 Sigma Chi 1	Zeta 2
38 Field House	Everett 2
30 Hillers	Fireballs
27 Phi Gam 2	Zeta 1
68 Blackballs	Seiler Five
KA 3 forfeit over	Phi Kap 1

HANDBALL

2 Phi Delt 2	Beta 1
2 Chi Psi	TEP
2 Lewis	Aycock

LET'S KEEP OUR HUMOR MAG
Go to the Polls
Today
And Cast Your Vote For
TARNATION
(Advertisement Paid for by Friend of TARNATION)

TWO BLOCKS WEST OF CITY HALL
You'll Find A Solution To All Laundry Problems
HELPY-SELFY
AUTOMATIC LAUNDRY
Bendix Machines
W. Rosemary St.

TRAILWAYS LOW FARES
Save You Money!

—SAMPLE FARES—

Chapel Hill to:	One Way
ASHEVILLE	4.10
CHARLOTTE	2.80
CHARLOTTESVILLE	3.80
GREENSBORO	1.00
WASHINGTON	4.85
NEW YORK	8.25
RALEIGH	.60
NORFOLK	3.45

(Plus Fed. Tax)
CHAPEL HILL BUS TERMINAL
Phone 4231

National Trailways
Carolina TRAILWAYS
THE ROUTE OF THE Trailmasters

EXHIBITION
WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY
FEBRUARY 18 AND 19
At Varsity Store

GENTLEMEN'S APPAREL FOR SPRING AND SUMMER USAGE HAS BEEN EXECUTED IN THE FAMOUS FINCHLEY MANNER WITH FULL REGARD ACCORDED DEPENDABILITY AND TASTEFUL, EXCLUSIVE STYLING.

GENTLEMEN'S SUITS
TOPCOATS • TUXEDOS • SPORTSWEAR
HATS • HABERDASHERY • SHOES

Finchley

FIFTH AVE., AT 46th ST., NEW YORK

Carolina Sport Shop
PRESENTS
For your enjoyment
Radios
by BENDIX and MOTOROLA
In Portables
In Table Sets
In Combinations
and Pick-ups
by MAGNAVOX
Radio-Phonographs
in beautiful console sets

Exclusive Dealer in Chapel Hill
Carolina Sport Shop

Debating Activity Continues Tonight

Debate Council president Earl Fitzgerald yesterday asked the following teams for the Second Round of the Intramural Debate tournament to be present in Caldwell hall, Room 108, by 6:45 tonight.

Independent (Negative) Bob Ormand; Doc Scruggs. Alpha Gamma Delta (Neg.) Jacksie Middleton, Emily Baker; Chi Phi (Affirmative) Herb Mitchell, Tom Shelton; (Neg.) William H. Stewart, Hamp Davis.

Daily Tar Heel (Neg.) James Spence, Gilbert Burnett. Delta Kappa Epsilon (Aff.) Sam Manning, Gus Graham. Kappa Alpha (Aff.) Lester Martin, John Stump; (Neg.) Welborn Phillips, Herb Howell; George Grizzard, Al Phillips; Don Evans, Bill Taylor. Kappa Sigma (Neg.) Hugh Griffin, Richard Borden. Lambda Chi Alpha (Aff.) Randall Proctor, Gray Adams. Phi Gamma Delta (Aff.) Marion Woodbury, Bill Hackney. McIver (Aff.) Mintie Cantrell, Betty Webb. Whitehead (Aff.) Dortch Warriner, Marshall Pinnix.

SENIOR RINGS

Lee Blackwell, representative for L. G. Balfour Co., will be in the Y today to take orders for class rings.

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

NOW PLAYING
VILLAGE

BALDWIN'S
Marine Room
Durham
Breakfast 7:45 10:30
Luncheon 11:00 2:30
Tea Hours 2:30 5:30
Dinner 5:00 8:00
Mrs. Jennie S. Thurston
Phone 9493

This man is your registered pharmacist. When you bring your prescriptions here, you can depend on him to fill them with the finest ingredients.
Sloan's
Drug Store

Campus Calendar

1:30 p. m.—Coffee hour with Brig. Gen. Holdridge, Carolina Inn cafeteria.
4:00 p. m.—Executive Council meeting of the Carolina Independent Coed Association, Y building.
5:00 p. m.—Pan-Hellenic council, Grail room.
5:00 p. m.—Women's Glee Club, Hill hall.
5:15 p. m.—Lenten services, Episcopal church.
6:00 p. m.—Canterbury club, Episcopal parish house.
6:30 p. m.—Coffee hour with Brig. Gen. Holdridge, Carolina Inn cafeteria.
6:30 p. m.—Recorded dinner music, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
7:00 p. m.—Bridge tournament, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
7:00 p. m.—Campus party, Roland Parker lounge no. 3.
7:00 p. m.—Sigma Kappa Epsilon, Grail room.
7:30 p. m.—Johnston county club, 207 Alumni building.
7:30 p. m.—"H 23" club, Horace Williams lounge.
7:30 p. m.—Carolina Dames club, Roland Parker lounges nos. 2, 3.
7:30 p. m.—Illustrated lecture on modern art, Person hall, by Ilya Bolotowisky of Black Mountain College.
7:30 p. m.—Elisha Mitchell Scientific society, 206 Phillips. Speakers: R. H. Wiley and A. T. Brauer.
7:30 p. m.—Lecture by Brig. Gen. H. Holdridge sponsored by AVC committee, Gerrard hall.
8:30 p. m.—Concert by William Sasser, pianist, Hill hall.
10:30 p. m.—Reverend David Yates speaks on "Why and How of Lent," McIver dorm vespers.

—Publications—

(Continued from page 1)

Joyner, other comments mirrored Jacobson's desire for a combination magazine. Joyner commented that "We should continue the present setup until Tarnation has an opportunity to show what it is capable of presenting.

Publications board chairman Gene Johnstone and members Julia Ross and Billy Carmichael endorsed the idea of a combination magazine. Their view was supported by student body president Tom Eller who said, "Under existing conditions, I believe a combination, with regard to both humor and the literary aspect, to be the best solution."

YATES TO TALK

Reverend David Yates, rector of the Episcopal church, will present an informal discussion of "The Why and How of Lent" tonight at 10:30 in McIver dormitory.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

Rinehart Will Lead Forum on Chemistry

A discussion of "What Chemists May Expect of Industry and What Industry Expects of Chemists" will be conducted by Dr. H. W. Rinehart of the duPont Company this evening at 8 o'clock in Venable hall. Dr. Rinehart is personnel director of the Rayon division of the duPont company.

Dr. Rinehart's address is sponsored by the local (Rho) chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma, a professional chemical fraternity. The chapter has been active in sponsoring programs designed to familiarize students with the field of chemistry.

—Mermen—

(Continued from page 3)

Research section on Friday.

G W Here Friday

The Dolphins will return to Southern conference competition Friday night when they'll meet the George Washington Colonials at 8 o'clock in Bowman Gray pool. The meet was originally scheduled for last Saturday but the recent spell of arctic weather forced its cancellation.

The men who didn't make the Virginia trip will return to action against the capital city crew. The Dolphins will also be stroking for several more loop records.

On Saturday afternoon the campus pool will also be frothing with activity for the second annual Southern Interscholastic championships will be held at 2:30.

—Trustee—

(Continued from page 1)

the fact that students need more contact with the faculty outside the classroom, and recommended the completion of the State college coliseum at Raleigh.

In regard to faculty salaries, to which the greater part of the committee's report was devoted, the members declared, "We have attempted to maintain a big league staff with minor league salaries . . . but we cannot continue to depend upon loyalty of the faculty and the charm of Chapel Hill to operate a University."

It was reported that 100 regular faculty members have resigned between 1940 and 1948, among them one dean, two directors of the University Press, 23 professors, four associate professors, 22 assistant professors and 43 instructors.

Debt to Family

The primary reason for these losses, it was pointed out, have been financial — substantially higher salaries elsewhere. "Each of the persons involved expressed regret in leaving, but each felt he owed his family a higher degree of financial security than could be expected here," the report said.

Less crowded classrooms are urgently needed by the students, the committee continued, so that they may benefit by improved teaching conditions. The report said, however, "Students and the entire faculty and administration have done very well under the present conditions."

Most Valuable Experience

The 29-page report went on to say, "We do not believe that a teacher's duties begin and end in the classroom. For a student, one of the most precious and valuable of all college experiences is the ability to make contacts with the faculty outside the classroom," the members agreed.

The report also questioned the advisability of suspending classes on Saturday, explaining that a mass exodus of students from Chapel Hill over the weekends was a distraction from studies and dangerous from the point of highway accidents.

Fraternity Work a Specialty
Charles Valentine's Cabinet Shop
FURNITURE
REPAIRED
REFINISHED
UPHOLSTERED
MADE-TO-ORDER
Phone 9367 Pittsboro Rd.

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

Mary had a little lamb — at HARRY'S

—Recipe—

(Continued from page 2)

beginning. Funny though—every beginning has to have an ending. The question, simply, is will that ending be peace or pieces?

That's one reason it seems smart to me to do something now while we still have a little time. Strengthen the U:N. Build a World Army. Let's have fair and equal control. To do that, we'll have to have fair and equal representation. We've got to work together to stabilize the world's economy. World Federalism is all of this and more too.

You bet, be skeptical. But while you're at it, be sensible. Ask questions. Attend meetings, and by all means, Read! Know world affairs, and consider the plans for solving some sort of answer. At any rate, I can't quite figure out how we can sit around in a complacent, smug way and be optomistic about the state of affairs now.

Then as I moved on to another table at last, I felt sort of stimulated. World Federalism provided food for thought all right. But better than that World Federalism is a recipe for action!

PHYSICS CLUB

The Physics club will meet this evening at 7:30 in 212 Phillips.

Will Speak Here Former Governor

Former Governor J. Melville Broughton, whose scheduled address here last week was postponed because of the weather, will speak in the Playmakers theater tomorrow evening at 7:30.

His appearance is being sponsored by the University Law School association, headed by Bill Friday of Dallas.

"The Lawyer in the Court Room" will be the subject of Mr. Broughton's talk which will be open to the public.

Donald McCoy, Laurinburg, vice-president of the Association, will preside, and Winston Broadfoot, Wilmington, chairman of the speakers committee, will introduce Mr. Broughton.

There will be a Law school faculty supper in honor of the speaker at the Carolina Inn at 6 o'clock, preceding the address.

—Sasser—

(Continued from page 1)

delssohn, "Variations Serieuse Op. 54," one of Mendelssohn's three sets of variations for the piano: "Six Charmes" for the piano by Frederic Mompou, a contemporary composer who cultivates a new type of primitive expression characterized principally by the lack of key signatures, cadences and bar-divisions; and two Debussy Preludes—"Des pas sur la neige" and "Les collines d'Anacapri."

DAMES CLUB

Postponed last week, the meeting of the Carolina Dames club will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in Roland Parker lounges.

Tuxedo Junction
—for—
TUXEDO RENTALS & SALES
Alterations Free
601 Trinity Avenue
Durham, N. C.
Phone J-1373

RECORDS
FOR ROMANTIC MUSIC
ENESCO
ROUMANIAN RHAPSODIES
Nos. 1 and 2
Ab's Intimate Bookshop

Bull's Head Bookshop
SCOTT'S STAMP CATALOGUE 1948; 1948 WORLD ALMANAC
Browse — Rent — Buy

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

CLASSIFIED

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

THE BAND LOOK MAGAZINE predicts as the "Band of '48" in person—DANCE 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. Thursday, Feb. 19—CLAUDE THORNHILL and his orchestra, featuring Fran Warren and Gene Williams. Alamance Roller Dome—Intersection Highways 54 and 70, Burlington, N. C. Admission $2.00 plus tax. (1-1781-2)

FOR SALE 6B

PUPPIES—COLLIES, COCKER SPANiels, and Beagles. Nathan Veterinary Hospital, phone 4531. (ch 1x1)

HELP WANTED 8

POSITION OPEN FOR COMPETENT combination bookkeeper and secretary with growing concern. Chance for advancement. Box 907 Chapel Hill, N. C. (ch 1x1)

LOST 12

WILL THE PERSON WHO TOOK THE fashioned tailored, size 40 long, Comets Hair overcoat from the DKE house Sat. night please return same. (1-1786-1)

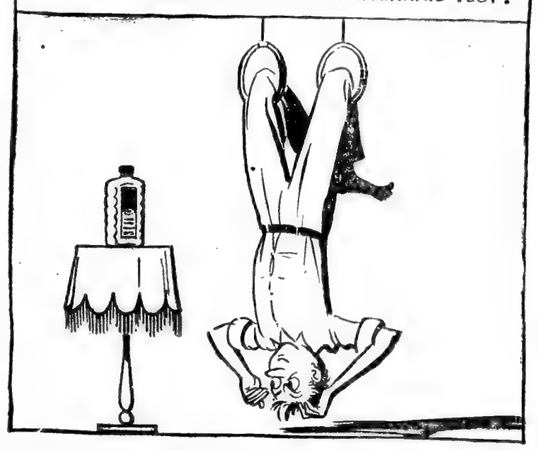
RIDES WANTED 18

RIDE TO ATLANTA, GA., FRIDAY. Call Sport's office DTH between 2 and 4. (1-2000-1)

SERVICES OFFERED 19

COMPLETE MODERN RADIO APpliance service shop now open and ready to serve you. We call for, deliver. Johnson-Strowd-Ward Furniture, 122 West Franklin. Telephone F-3491. (ch 1x1)

WANTED TO RENT 24B



MINISTER AND WIFE DESIRE apartment or trailer to rent for both summer sessions. Reply Box 12950, c o DAILY TAR HEEL. (1-1783-1)

MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Durham's newest and best pawn shop
Larger Loans on Anything of Value
We appreciate your business
Located 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

Wildroot Cream-Oil
Get it at
SUTTON'S
DRUG STORE
Your Walgreen Agency

NEW WAYS TO MAKE THE FAMOUS FINGERNAIL TEST!

IF you're not the athletic type, get yourself a Siamese twin to doodle your noodle. Then, at the first sign of dryness or loose dandruff, head (get it?) for the drug store for a tube or bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic. Just a little bit will help you get ahead (get it again?) with women, if you have nothing better to do. Wildroot Cream-Oil grooms your hair neatly, naturally—without that gooey look. Relieves dryness and removes embarrassing loose dandruff. Wildroot Cream-Oil is non-alcoholic. Remember, however, it contains soothing Lanolin. Try Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic today. See for yourself why it's "again and again the choice of men who put good grooming first!" For generous trial supply free, send this ad with your name and address to Wildroot Co., Inc., Dept. C-B, Buffalo 11, New York.

Miss Your Dinner (if you have to)
Miss Your Date (if you must)
—but don't miss...
THE NEWEST, MOST THRILLING TALENT HUNT IN AMERICA
INCLUDING TOP STARS FROM THE COLLEGES...
"PHILIP MORRIS NIGHT WITH HORACE HEIDT"

• Every Sunday Night Over NBC, PHILIP MORRIS FINDS A STAR in a search for the great stars of tomorrow. Performers from all over the country ... including the top talent picked from the colleges! Music, drama, thrilling entertainment ... weekly prizes of $250 ... and to the winner of the year — movie and radio contracts, plus a grand prize of $5000 in cash!
Yes! For perfect listening, make a date for Sunday night and hear the stars of tomorrow with PHILIP MORRIS! And for perfect smoking...today, tomorrow, always...light up a PHILIP MORRIS, America's FINEST Cigarette!
BE WITH US EVERY SUNDAY NIGHT OVER NBC...UNTIL THEN
CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept).
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Partly cloudy, rather warm

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
Pig In A Poke
Pressure vs. Pressure
Mills Stones

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 103

Tarnation Defeats Combination By Four Ballots

Holdridge Says Diplomacy Is Only Hope

Retired Militarist Seeks Nomination For White House

By Donald MacDonald

"The nation's only line of security is in the diplomatic line," said retired Brigadier General Herbert C. Holdridge last night in a Memorial hall address attacking universal military training. "We must rid our government of our military leaders, exchanging all the experts of hot and cold war for men of good will and peace."

One of the few military men to oppose UMT, Holdridge seeks the Democratic Presidential nomination. His 8 o'clock address was co-sponsored by the local American Veterans committee and by the Chapel Hill Anti-UMT committee.

Three Points

Outlining three constructive points for keeping prepared for war, if war is to come, Holdridge called for: (1) a striking force built on new weapons, (2) home defense forces mobolized around the National Guard, and (3) democratization of the Army and Navy, permitting and encouraging voluntary, not compulsory enlistment.

The speaker, who seeks nomination on an anti-UMT, anti-capitalist, anti-war policy platform attacked the controversial UMT proposal from five major standpoints.

"First, the propaganda campaign waged in this country to put UMT over," Holdridge declared, "stems directly from the Pentagon building, from the head military men in Washington."

Arguments Weak

From the standpoint of national security, he continued, no one of the Army's arguments will stand up far under the kind of war that World War III will be."

On a third point, which the speaker called a "youth movement," he said, "All these so-called social advantages—such as health, discipline, travel, on-the-job training—are so much eye-wash. They are only an attempt to deceive the American people."

The general spoke next against the militarization of the nation's government, calling such leadership as the American Legion, "very dangerous."

"Illegal War"

His fifth major point of argument, based on an international slant, was designed to show that all UMT can do is to create international ill-will. "We are now actually in an illegal war in Greece," the former general said.

Yesterday morning, Holdridge spoke before several political science classes. At 1:30 and at 6:30 he spoke before informal gatherings in the Faculty room of the Carolina Inn.

Against Truman

Running for the Democratic nomination against President Truman, Holdridge has declared that if the Democratic party does not return to the liberal policies of Roosevelt in 1948, "1952 will be too late." The candidate has strongly attacked "propaganda which seeks to discredit anyone daring to set himself publicly in opposition to the Washington war machine." Holdridge has expressed a fear that big business may bring "planned depression" in 1948. He has announced himself in favor of an international world federation, the FEPC, a national housing program, temporary rationing of scarce commodities, Federal penalties against speculators, and safeguards on property rights for all U. S. citizens regardless of race or creed.

11:55

Eighty-odd Students Register to Attend Virginia Conference

More than 80 registrations have been received so far for the winter conference at Natural Bridge this weekend, according to Hank Hopkins and Charlie Britt, co-chairmen of the registration committee. Last minute applications received today will be wired to the Natural Bridge hotel tonight, they said.

Students attending the conference must check with the YM or YW office today or tomorrow to determine leaving time and method of transportation. Most cars will leave at 1:15 Friday, but one will leave at 12 o'clock and one at 4:30.

Scene of Conference

Scene of the conference is the Natural Bridge hotel, located in the Valley of Shenandoah, on a 1600-acre estate. In addition to the meetings of the conference, varied recreational features, including trips to points of interest nearby, have been planned.

At Friday night's opening session, the problems of "This Complex Age" will be presented by the two principle speakers of the affair. Dr. Cameron Hall of New York city, member of the Federal Council of Churches, will discuss the national aspects of the question, and the international emphasis will be provided by Dr. Frank Hanft of the University Law school.

Six Commissions

Saturday morning will be devoted to a discussion of the relation of Christian students to these problems; under the title "The Christian Imperative," and to meetings of the six student-led commissions. These groups will meet several times throughout the weekend to discuss various aspects of the issues raised in general sessions.

Donnie MacDonald and Sam McGill will be student leaders of a panel to be held Saturday afternoon at which student solutions to these problems will be presented. Gay Currie, public health nurse with the District Health office in Chapel Hill, will present the view of the community, and Dr. Hall will present the broader, overall view.

In addition to those mentioned above, other faculty personnel will attend the conference as advisers to the commissions. Warren Ashby of the Philosophy de-

(See CONFERENCE, page 4)

Barnes, Nathan Head UP Sophomore Slate

Kyle Barnes of Winston-Salem will head the University Party slate for Sophomore class nominations.

Barnes, who is running for Sophomore president, attended R. J. Reynolds High School where he was president of the honor society, and speaker of the House of Representatives. He received letters in football, track and band and was named on the Winston-Salem all-star football team of 1946 and 1947. He is president of the Sigma Chi fraternity pledge class.

Running for the office of vice-president will be Marvin Nathan from Norfolk, Va. Nathan is a member of the Carolina Political Union and played with the freshman basketball squad. He is a Tau Epsilon Phi pledge.

Calvin Koontz of Raleigh will be the UP candidate for sophomore Social Chairman. He was a member of the North Carolina Student council, while in high school, vice-president and subsequently president of the student body, a member of the Honor Society, president of the sophomore class, and is an Eagle scout. Last summer, Koontz attended the International Scout jamboree in France .

Seeking the office of secretary of the class will be Herb Nachman from Augusta, Ga. In high school, Nachman was managing editor of the newspaper, captain of the debating team, member of the Beta club, and a member of the Gold "R" society. He is a DTH staff member and night editor, and secretary of the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity pledge class.

James Gwyann of Mexico City is aspirant for the office of treasurer on the UP ticket. He is a member of the Glee club and the Freshman Friendship council. While attending high school in Mexico City, he was a member of the Yearbook staff. He is a Sigma Nu pledge.

Recommendations to Trustees Urge Raises in Entire Faculty Wage Scale

Additional information on the requests by the Visiting committee of the Board of Trustees to the full board Monday were received here yesterday. The committee's report, which centered mostly on faculty salary and living conditions, also urged plans for expansion of the University to 10,000 students and more classroom space for the students here at present, among many other things.

The low salary scale provided for faculty members was hit hardest by the reports, and backed vigorously by President Graham and Controller Carmichael.

The recommendation was made that the following wage scale be put into effect as soon as possible:

Instructors — 2,700 - $3,600 (currently $1,800 to $2,500), assistant professors — $3,800 - $4,500 (currently $2,800 - $3,500). associate professors — $4,500 - $5,500 (currently $3,800 - $4,500), professors — $5,600 and up (currently $4,800 - $6,000).

Controller Carmichael, commenting on the present wages, said, "A faculty is a university. And if we don't have good staffs, we might as well take down the sign saying that we are a university. Due to our low salaries, our best folks are being drained from our faculties."

Law, Med Schools Plan Annual Prom

The annual informal dance sponsored jointly by the Law and Medical schools, will be held this Saturday night in the Women's Gym from 9 until 12.

Music for the affair will be provided by Roy Cole's orchestra, with a 20-minute intermission floor show by Graham Memorial's entertainment bureau.

Included in the floor show will be Fred Fussell, impersonator and comedian, and the bureau's acrobatic group consisting of Bob Hurley, Darell Byrely and "Razz Berries", the acrobatic comic.

The committee in charge of arrangements is headed by H. L. McKeever from the Law school, and Hewitt Rose from the Medical school.

Expected attendance is 500 with admission by card only. Chaperones for the dance will be members of the graduate schools.

THIS AIRVIEW OF THE TOWN OF COLUMBIA, TENNESSEE, shows how the overflowing Duck River flooded the town's thoroughfares and isolated many homes. The river rose to 52 feet, breaking the record of 48 feet set in 1902. More than 150 families were removed from their homes. High waters in Southern States were receding as sunny weather came on the heels of a heavy two-day rainfall. (International Soundphoto)

Forensic Team Meets DukeDebatersToday In Durham Match

The University will be represented this afternoon by Charlie Long and Herbert Yates in a varsity debate with a Duke university team in Durham at 3 o'clock. Question for the debate is: "Resolved: that a world federal government should be established."

Carolina debaters Long and Yates will take the affirmative stand, according to Earl Fitzgerald, Debate council president.

The next Varsity debate, Fitzgerald announced, will be held on Saturday when Wake Forest brings two teams here to compete with two Carolina teams. The same question of world federation will be the topic of the Wake Forest debate. Scheduled for 3 oclock, the debate will be held in the Di and Phi halls.

Coed Winners Named In March of Dimes

Spencer, in the coed dormitory division, and Chi Omega, in the sorority division, have been declared winners of the March of Dimes contest.

Each of the individual members of these two groups are entitled to attend, free, the seven-o'clock movie at the Carolina Theatre this evening.

The coeds of Spencer contributed a total of $36.01 under the leadership of Eloise Jacobi. Chi Omega members donated $17.10, with Grey Simpson serving as chairman.

AFTER A FLIGHT from the Panama Canal Zone, Rep J. Parnell Thomas (R-N. J.) is assisted from the plane at the National Airport, Washington, D. C., by Comdr. George Heap, Commander of Air Transport Squadron One. Thomas, chairman of the House un-American Activities Committee, was stricken ill while en route to the Canal Zone on committee business. He will enter the Walter Reed Hospital. (International)

Reorganized Student Welfare Board To Discuss Housing, Cars, Weekends

The newly reorganized student welfare board will hold its first meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in Room 301, Venable hall, Board Chairman Fred Weaver said yesterday.

Dean Weaver expressed the hope, in a letter to board members and members of the student advisory committee, that all would be present at the initial session of this group, which has been set up to plan University action on all student matters not relating to classroom work.

The following subjects will be discussed at Thursday's gathering, Weaver said:

1. The operation of automobiles by students.

2. A plan for housing first-year students and graduate students, and for assignment of new dormitories.

3. Should we try to modify the use of the week-ends?

Measure to Make Qualifications Compulsory For Top Campus Offices Rises in Di Tonight

By Charlie Gibson

New campus election regulations and educational opportunities for Southern Negroes will be debated tonight at 9 o'clock on second floor New West when the Dialectic Senate takes up two bills which are expected to touch off hot argument.

First measure on the agenda will be a special bill proposing additions to the elections stipulations which now govern the student body. This bill includes seven articles of pressing importance that come just when the campus political parties are busy at selecting the candidates whose names are to be listed on ballots next May.

Qualifications for Candidates

Official qualifications for certain categories of candidates are outlined in the first two of the seven articles. These articles place limitations on who would be eligible for nomination to an executive position on student publications or in student government. Service for two terms in the student legislature or the student councils would be a prerequisite to anyone's running for the presidency, vice-presidency, or secretary-treasurer's post. Would-be editors would also be required to work at least two-quarters on the publication in question before obtaining nomination.

Election Validity

Three of the remaining articles specify what should make an election valid or void. To fill offices in student government or on publications, at least one half of the eligible students would have to vote. Elections declared void because of insufficient votes cast would be restaged within two weeks with the candidates unchanged or renominated. In event of a second invalid tally, the Dean of students would appoint eligible persons to hold the positions in question, excluding from consideration all those whose names appeared on the two disqualified ballots.

The sixth article knocks the "spoils system" through which material awards, such as promises of appointments, are used to influence votes. The bill suggests that anyone found guilty of such promises or of threats and intimidations should be dismissed from the University.

The decision the Di reaches tonight will be transmitted to the president of the student body and the speaker of the student legislature.

Once the elections regulations measure is disposed of, the main bill of the evening will be presented for open discussion from the floor. It maintains that: "It is apparent that Negroes in the South do not have equal educational opportunities; and that this condition, being compatible with neither the spirit nor the letter of the Constitution of the United States, perpetuates a condition of regional degeneration."

It resolves that: "Committees from the legislatures of the Southern states shall meet to draw up plans and request appropriations from these states to establish regional schools which will afford to Negro students opportunities for education comparable to that received by students anywhere in the country."

Musical Instruments Will Tell Story Of Religious Faiths in Radio Drama

"Symphony In Discord," an original radio drama by Robert Epstein, will be presented on the "University Hour" on state wide network Sunday afternoon at 1:30. Originating in the Swain Hall studios of the Communications center, the program will be produced and directed by Epstein, with Bob Andrew assisting in the scripts production.

Epstein, a senior from New York, wrote the drama in observance of National Brotherhood Week. It is an allegoric "Peter and the Wolf" type narrative with words and music tracing inter-religious relations from the beginning of time. Musical instruments represent the various faiths. Harold Schiffman, University music student, has composed original music for the production.

Mrs. Ann Genden, president of the Inter-Faith Council of the Women's College at Greensboro, which is sponsoring the program, will introduce the show and Governor R. Gregg Cherry, will close the program with a short talk on the age-old problem.

Members of the cast are two girls from Woman's College, Lucia Gollarte and Lorraine D'Lugin.

FINAL YACK PICTURES

Pictures of the YMCA cabinet, YMCA general membership, Freshman friendship council, and Carolina Conservative club will be taken this evening at 7:30 in Gerrard hall.

Carolina Magazine To Leave Campus After 104 Years

By Chuck Hauser

The 104-year existence of the Carolina Magazine was as good as terminated yesterday and Tarnation took over as the official University of North Carolina magazine publication, effective at the beginning of the new fiscal year on July 1.

The first actual referendum ever held on campus brought 1,552 student voters out of yesterday's spring weather and into the polls to give the decision to Tarnation over a combination magazine by four votes.

169 For No Mags

Tarnation received a total of 504 votes as opposed to the combination's 500, while Carolina Magazine polled 22, the two magazines as they now exist ran third with 267, alternating issues of Carolina Mag and Tarnation raked in 90, and no magazine at all was backed up by 169 voters.

The referendum was called by a bill passed in the Student Legislature on January 22, which provided for the six choices on the ballot: (1) Carolina Mag, (2) Tarnation, (3) The two magazines as they now exist, (4) A combination magazine, (5) Alternating issues of Carolina Mag and Tarnation, (6) No magazine at all.

The bill stated that unless "No magazine" received a majority of the votes, the highest vote-getter of the other five choices would be abided by when the Legislature drew up the 1948-49 campus budget.

Two Issues To Go

Tarnation, which emerged as yesterday's victor, was first established by the Student Legislature last spring, when it appropriated $4,400 for four issues of the publication. The first edition came out this fall, followed by Editor Tookie Hodgson's number two child within the last month. The magazine will publish two more issues before the end of the spring quarter.

The Carolina Mag, with four issues behind it for this academic year, will print four more before its death knell is sounded when the fiscal year begins.

Ballot Breakdown

Breakdown of the voting shows that out of the 1,552 ballots cast, 774 were from Gerrard hall, 287 from Aycock dormitory, 461 from Lenoir hall, and 30 from Alderman dormitory.

In Gerrard hall, the voting was split with CM taking 15, Tarnation 272, two magazines 115, combination 241, alternate issues 43, and no magazine 88.

Aycock dormitory: CM—2, T—93, two mags—52, comb.—101, alt.—16, no mags—23.

Lenoir hall: CM—4, T—136, two mags—95, comb.—141, alt.—27, no mags—58.

Alderman dormitory: CM—1, T—3, two mags—5, comb. 17, alt.—4, no mags—0.

Co-op Will Hold Meeting Tonight

There will be a general membership meeting of the co-op tonight at 8 o'clock in the Auditorium of the Medical building. All members are requested to attend, in order that elections may be held and plans made for the next year's operations.

The present board of directors wishes it made clear to the members of the co-op that the directors are responsible for the handling of considerable amounts of their money, and that it is to their own interests to see that they are present when that board of directors is elected.

The meeting tonight will replace the one scheduled for last Wednesday, which was cancelled owing to the unpleasant weather.

Mills-Stone

Man Here Plays Fine Piano

By Barron Mills

If some morning around 7:30 ayem half-awake or half-crocked you stumble into Graham Memorial main lounge, slap a rusty two-bits down on the top of the baby grand and expect to receive in return a foamy draft beer you'd better wake up. The Student Union has not converted it into a dive. That Joe over in the corner playing jazz and scat numbers on the baby grand is not a paid entertainer he's only playing because he's "got nothing better to do."

The chances are that if you wander into Graham Memorial before the eight-o'clock class, sandy-haired Jimmy Hancock a sophomore from Danville, Va., will be plugging away with nimble fingers such jazz as you have never heard before, and then changing the tempo to ree-bob and give out with a husky-throated, "When We Begin to Clean the Latrines." Jimmy claims he "borrowed" the number from the army show "Stars and Gripes."

"You can imagine how effective it is if you have a bunch of GI's on the stage of a troop ship, with mops and all of the props in hand. One fellow is gold-bricking over at the side and bursts out in song. Then the sarge comes over with his oral proclamation and the gold-brick answers with "A short time ago I didn't even know that latrines had existed. . . then I enlisted."

Jimmy interrupted his line of chatter, "Listen fellow you don't want to interview me. If you want to hear a good pianist you ought to see Johnny Satterfield." Then with a far-away gleam in his eye and an enraptured look Jimmy continued, "Why I have only had two and one-half years of music; I haven't been with any big timers. Did you hear the Satterfield concert yesterday. I missed it. My wife was working and it's mighty hard to get back and forth on the bus during the weekend."

Jimmy then elaborated on his early morning playing by explaining that he rides over from Durham with another student who has an eight-o'clock class. "You see I don't have a class until nine and so for nothing better to do I amuse myself. I guess my playing doesn't amuse anyone but myself."

Modest Jimmy, sitting before the keys with the poise and rhythm of a big-timer, persistently claims that his playing is good only to provide a background for a "bunch of kids who want to blow their brains out." But at 7:30 ayem you too will swear that he sounds like a professional in a hot spot.

* * *

We got inquisitive yesterday—but being inquisitive isn't bad if you learn something by being inquisitive. Since the snow-fall we have noticed girl's legs (we did before, too). Seventy-eight per cent of the girls have black marks across the back of the calves of their legs. Naturally, being the crusader we are, we immediately thought that the housemothers in the dorms were fastening the coeds to shackles to the bedpost nightly. Only one phone call was necessary to disperse our belief. "Those blasted boots can rub a person the wrong way."

Bill Patterson, last quarter chairman of the IRC, has been having great fun with his latest antics. Bill, who is still remembered among many campus circles for the words which he and Manny Margolis tossed back and forth in 1946 is always interested in national affairs as well as campus happenings. Bill walked into the office the other day wearing a blue button inscribed with white lettering.

"Gad, I remarked. Not Bill Paterson, the gentleman who is chummy enough with Nell Battle Lewis to supply words for several of her columns on Communism at the University."

Our faith in human nature was revived when we scrutinized the button closer and noticed that it was a home-made hand-painted job—Blue, just like the Wallace buttons, but containing the word "Wallass".

Our comment: If Bill Robertson can wear a necktie with a scene depicting the bondage of workers under the Taft-Hartley law, then we see no reason why Patterson cannot wear a "Wallass" button.

Settling for a Pig in a Poke

It's still months before time to begin pre-registration again, but it's never too early to consider improvements over the old system. The present system has been fairly well received by the masses, but still there are gripes about the pig-in-a-poke business—registering without the opportunity of knowing who your instructor for the course will be.

The following is a portion of an editorial we reprint from the Purdue Exponent because it includes several excellent reasons why a student is entitled to know who will be his instructor.

"Some years ago at Purdue it was customary to publish the names of the teachers of various courses in the schedule of classes. Evidently so many of the poorer instructors were shunned by the students that it was deemed necessary to revert to a policy of secrecy concerning the teachers and their teaching schedule.

"Is there really such a fundamental and underlying disadvantage, if the students have knowledge of the names of teachers of courses? Why all the "hush-hush" around registration time? Why the refusal of department heads to inform an inquiring student of the schedule of a popular and efficient teacher? The procedure seems a good cover-up for the inefficient and disliked instructors.

"It is indoubltedy true that freshmen students, infamiliar with the university staff, should be assigned to courses with unknown teachers. That seems logical enough, but when a junior or senior is denied the choice of a good teacher, or when information is withheld from him concerning teachers of courses, it all seems rather foolish.

"When a course is completely filled, a student would understand that he would have to make a second choice or take the instructor that he can get. That is more satisfactory than to have no choice at all.

"As a matter-of-fact, the process of teacher selection might be a very good thing for the staff. Such should serve as a challenge to the less desirable instructors, as well as a signal, that it was time for them to "get on the ball" and improve their teaching methods.

"Granted that students are not always correct in their choices, judgments, and criticisms of teachers. Yet students have an uncanny sense of detecting the second-rate instructor or in uncovering the counterfeit.

"It is a well-known conclusion in educational psychology that a student does better work with a teacher whose method and personality he likes. A survey of the so-called popular teacher would be surprising in revealing that he gets so much out of his students in the way of work. Electing a course should carry along with it the student's prerogative of selecting the teacher, as far as possible.

"Better teacher-student relationships might be encouraged if the upperclassmen, at least, could have some choice in selecting their teachers. The very principle of exercising a freedom would engender good results."

AVC Notes

Fight Pressure With Pressure

By Henry Adams

Opponents of UMT can get some profitable hints on how the public is being propagandized by organized powerful vested interests by close examination of a "Memorandum to Mr. Hearst on Universal Military Training." This interesting document, sent to William Randolph Hearst by Edward C. Lapping of the Hearst Newspapers Washington Bureau, reports that Congress is reluctant to pass a UMT bill this year. The fear is that public sentiment against it is growing and it would hurt Congressional incumbents at the polls.

To overcome this reluctance Lapping "respectfully recomends" to his boss that the Hearst chain do three things to get quick action on UMT:

1. "Opponents point to endorsements by generals and admirals and say that only the military really want universal training. It is suggested that we need more pressure from mothers, teachers, student leaders, civic leaders, etc."

2. "Put every Congressman on the spot, demanding a yes or no answer, by deluging all of them with telegrams from veterans' organizations, civic groups, ordinary citizens, putting this three-point question:

" 'Do you believe universal military training is needed now?

" 'Will you vote for military training at this session of Congress?

" 'Will you sign a petition to discharge the rules committee from further consideration of the universal military training bill now before the rules committee, thus bringing it to the floor of the House of representatives may be placed on record as for against the bill?"

"The telegrams must be framed to obtain a direct yes or no reply. They must be prevented from evasion with such replies as, 'I am for a strong Army and Navy and air force. but—,' then going on to find fault with the specific measure pending."

3. "An editorial or series of editorials that might be entitled, 'yes or no on UMT,' or 'YOU answer, Mr. Congressman, before we vote,' or 'Stalling helps Stalin.' Such a campaign might stir up groups depended upon to send telegrams.

"The main idea is to organize a mass of representative constituent groups who will demand straight answers and action now, implying that further evasion will displease the voters at home.

"Sincerely,
"Edward C. Lapping"

Thus does the mighty Hearst chain get under way with a crusade to convince the erring Congressman that the folks back home have spontaneously risen in righteous indignation to demand that UMT come and take their boys away for a year in the Army.

Interested Chapel Hill parties would do well to take note of the proposed Hearst tactics. We can think of no better way of expressing opposition to peacetime conscription than to take Mr. Lapping's recommendations and putting them into practice. Send letters and telegrams asking the three yes and no questions. Make sure you let your Congressman know where you stand and your reasons for it. It takes pressure to counteract pressure.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the Daily Tar Heel.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.

Complete Leased Wire of United Press

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Bus. Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser
NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson
SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears

ASST. BUS. MGRS.: Mary W. Sledge, T. E. Holden
ASST. CIRC. MGRS.: Randall Hudson, Don Snow

SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison
EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan

NEWS STAFF: Raney Stanford, Donald MacDonald, Sally Woodhull, John Stump, Herb Nachman, Charlie Gibson, Gordon Huffines, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Paul Rothman, Elaine Patton, Jean Baskerville, Mary Ann Taber, Weddy Thorp, Emily Baker, Miriam Evans, Doris Weaver, Nancy Black, Helen Beam, Daniel Wallace, Sam Whitehall, Helen Hightower.

SPORTS STAFF: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette, Bill Kellam, Larry Fox, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Bill Gallagher.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr., Lena Campbell, Ed Campbell, Al Carpenter.

FOR THIS ISSUE:

NIGHT EDITOR: Ed Joyner — NIGHT SPORTS: Morty Schaap

"We kill each other only for food. We're a little short-handed around here and we can't waste lives on politics and religion."

This 'n That

Third Booth from the Front

By Bill Buchan

The third booth from the front at the University was occupied as usual by Wilbur Amberson, Bob Wilkensen and Mac McHenry. The steaks had just been cleared away and the boys were getting into a royal discussion on beer drinking when Joe Bayberry joined them.

Joe is a strict teetotaler, opposes bitterly any form of intoxicating beverages and makes a point of visiting all the local breweries each night to add salt to his wounds.

"Sit down Bayberry, if you want to", Bob invited, "but not one dern word on the pro and con of beer drinking. I love the stuff. Matter of fact, I'm seriously considering taking out a permanent lease on this booth. Might as well, Amberson always drags me into it."

"Drags you? Buddy, I was peacefully studying King Lear until you came up with one of your bright ideas for just "one" before we retired for the night. We've been here for two hours and you even bought us a round of steaks."

Mac McHenry interrupted got to pay for the things Make him mad after he footed the bill."

Bayberry had heard all needed. "That is just what mean. Here you came do for supposedly one bottle a you've been here drinki yourself to hell for over two hours. Gentlemen, you a rotten."

"Rotten he says. Fell you'd get down off that pe and live for a change, you much better about the wo

"I might suggest a trip Street in Raleigh," said sen. One cold look fro berry, however, and he the idea.

"I'll tell you, Joe McHenry, "I figure th to the individual. If he w drink beer, thats his bu he wants to cut off his t thats his business. Its n yours and why don't you it alone. Stick to your lo someplace else besides a tavern."

Wilbur was getting woun up. "I might state as an ex ample, Bayberry, an incident I had with a friend of mine several weeks ago. This guy is straight-laced, or thinks he is. He saw me under rather unfavorable circumstances or evening and since that time has made it a point not to speak to me. That attitude is child ish and out of place on the Carolina campus."

"He's a man who stands up his ideals." commented berry.

"Yes, but at his own expe There's no future in it. He I will be around here for a lo time, do you suppose we sho go on ignoring each other j because of one bottle of beer"

"I agree," said McHenry know the case. Silly as all out."

"Gentlemen," interrupted Wi kensen, "I find that there now 12 beer bottles on the tabl Thats all for one night. Time we were departing. I've donated enough profits for this time. And as I depart, Mr. Bayberry, please in the future, give me your le tures under different circu stances. If I'm sober, they m do some good."

His last sentence was in va for Bayberry, with one backw sarcastic glance, was going the door.

This Is It

Control On Russian Music

By John Roeder

Many of us have an "I like it because I like it" understanding of music. We have listened to and enjoyed the music of Shostokovich, Khatchturian, and Prokofieff. Some of us were shocked when we read that the Central Committee of the Communist Party in the Soviet Union denounced these composors.

Music to us is the representation of an emotional experience, deep rooted in the soul of the composer. We appreciate it because it relates an experience which cannot be expressed in another form. It represents intangibles of the human spirit.

Regulating music is close to the regulation of the souls of men.

In America we have an idea of what thought control is. In some vague, and in some not so vague ways, the expression of some of our thoughts has been controlled. That control is usually social. Sometimes it is accomplished by laws. We need only to look to the State Department and the Civil Service to see what appears to be a form of control.

But we have never attempted to control the Spirits of Americans.

The Communist Central Committee's decrees declared that music must recognize the heritage and traditions of the Russian past. It commanded that music must recognize its deep organic connection with the people. The Committee said that the works of the condemned composers "smell strongly of the spirit of the modern bourgois music of Europe and America" reflecting a "progressive wasting away of bourgois culture."

The Propaganda and Agitation Division of the Communist Central was given the job of seeing that composers produce "a high quality of ideological works." It ordered organizational changes in the Asr Committee of the Soviet Government to accomplish this.

These orders have the odor of Naziism. Hitler ordained that the German people exist as the incarnation of their pagan heritage. He demanded the destruction of anything or anyone who might influence the Volkgeist.

Hitler attempted to control the spirits of men. He could not.

The Soviet constitution allows freedom of expression if it conforms with what the State believes will strengthen the Soviet. On June 6, 1931 the Soviet Administration of Literary and Artistic Affairs forbade the spread of anything creating agitation against Soviet authority.

It is an easy step from freedom of expression to control. It is an easier step from control of expression to attempted control of thought. It would seem that the next logical step is an attempted control of the spirit.

We are safe here. Our Constitution guarantees freedom of speech. We the people of the United States will not allow that freedom in our Constitution to be abridged. In a world in which the trend of many nations is toward the limitation of freedom we must retain ours.

Will we always be allowed to compose the music which is in our spirits? Will we always be allowed to listen to the music which will lift our souls, whatever it may be?

We have, Russia's recent actions to guide us.

Write Away

A Rose by Any Name . . .

Dear Sirs,

Considering all the reams of copy published recently concerning the merits and future status of the Carolina Magazine, it is a source of some amazement to me that no one has yet suggested the one SURE way to popularize the Mag among the members of the student body. This is surprising since the Daily Tar Heel has employed this scheme with great success for some time. Allow me to illustrate.

Quite often I read lengthy articles concerning various subjects on the Editorial page. They always seem to say either too much or too little, but anyway they say it wrong and invariably leave me with internal feelings ranging from indignation to nausea. By the time I complete such articles, I am usually fit to be tied. But then suddenly at the end, like a glowing benediction, there appears a name such as S. Wallace Snipely, Jr. or R. Cantro Hotchkiss. In an instant the entire character of the piece changes for me. I regard it with new understanding and clip it out carefully to send home to Mother. Who could condemn an article with such a signature?

Sometimes the name appears at the top of the article, and this is even better.

I have tested this theory by obliterating the names from before or after such articles and showing the nameless works to my room mates. They literally cut them to pieces! Then, several days later, I show them the same articles with names intact and they always praise them rapturously! If the Carolina Magazine would only use such impressive signatures, who among us could fail to find the Mag irresistible?

F. Jackson Matthews, I

Suffering Lasses

For all the sound and fury in this perennial battle between the sexes, do our local lasses suffer more from having missed dates, romances, love, and marriage—as these relative terms are variously interpreted and experienced—than do our local men? I think that the lasses do suffer more, whatever the implication and or lesson.

Male depracity, suicide, criminality, and phi bete resulting from long vigils by silent telephones notwithstanding, the men just naturally have means so multifarious, many, and damnright blatant by which to sublimate and purge their libidinous thwartings that those possessed by the so-called "weaker sex" are comparatively infinitesimal.

Still more significant is the obvious truth that many of the vicarious satisfactions common to both sexes are seldom utilized by the girls for reasons of pride, social disapproval, stigmata ultimata, and so forth.

I've yet to see a guy refuse to be seen in public on Friday or Saturday night, alone, for fear of what it might reveal concerning his social savoir faire. Ah men! And I have it a priori that statistics on sleeping roommates being needled, kneaded, prodded, and pummelled at sixteen o'clock by drunken drools are weighted heavily in disfavor of the males. Ah wimmin'!

If this be error—and hath me fooled,
I never whit nor no man ever drooled.
(Ah, phooey!)

Herbert S. Hendricks

Sunny Side Unsafe

Milton, Mass. — (UP) — The sunny side of the street is no place for pedestrians in February's sunshine, a Harvard professor of meteorology contends.

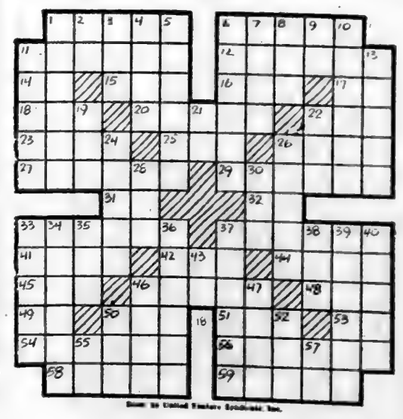
"February sunshine is bright and will melt snow on sunned roofs enough to lossen avalanches," said University's Blue Hill Observatory.

"Cautious pedestrians," he added, "will walk on the shady side of the street."

GLOUSTER, O. (UP)—W. F. Ridgley, 85, and Mrs. Anna Grubbs, 83, were married here.

WHAT'S UP in Graham Memorial

—Entertainment's perking for spring . . . Tentatively scheduled now are a pair of camp band concerts, and a program poetry by Vincent Cassidy . . . Office staff got a ticket the other day when they received the following postal, addressed to the Student Council: "Please question all freshmen on gambling, communism activities going on in your school. Some are getting bad ideas and some are even losing their shirts. —Signed worried kin!" (—Gosh, it worries us, too!)



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS
1—A twenty-fourth part
6—Church courts
11—Home of king
12—Newspaper executive
14—Comparative ending
15—Fastener
16—To cut
17—Chinese unit of weight
18—Devoured
20—To exclude
22—To compute
23—Fights
25—Child
26—Away from wind
27—Mocks
29—Comes in
31—Sun god
32—Pronoun
33—Near by
37—Extras
41—To wander
42—To tear
44—Dwarf
45—Flying mammal
46—What bees make
48—Girl's name
49—Conjunction
50—Barbarian
51—Negative
53—Pronoun
54—To fail in promise
56—Dealer in dry goods
58—Drugged
59—Part of flower

DOWN
1—Container
2—Man's nickname
3—To hit
4—Caustic fluid
5—Beliefs
6—To tell
7—Scent
8—Bit of advice
9—Toward
10—To join with metal
11—Fruits
13—Is borne
19—Female sheep
21—Hobo islands
22—Beverage
24—Part of blood
26—Bouquet
28—Plowed
30—To bite
33—Bower
34—Made loud noise
35—Cereal grain
36—Hummed
37—Pays out
38—Distilled molasses
39—Glossy coating
40—Beef animal
43—Within
45—Large
47—Time long past
50—Marching cry
52—To rap
55—Word of rejection
57—Father

The Sporting Picture

By Billy Carmichael III

Low Luck Lads

CAROLINA's BASKETBALL TEAM which must break mirrors and walk under ladders in their proverbial spare time, are still finding their luck cold as the proverbial cucumber these days. First they lost Bill Miller on the eve of the New York venture; then they caught State on the Wolfpack's hottest night of the current campaign; and now Norm Kohler is lost by virtue of a knee injury. The result of all this misfortune was very obvious as the Cats sank into defeat Monday night at the hands of hard-to-beat-at-home Wake Forest.

Now, what more can happen to the Tar Heels can not be ascertained, but everyone, of course, hopes the Fates may at least feel the Scottmen have had their share of mishaps and call off the dogs, proving lightning can't strike four times in the same place. As it is, the cagers stand to lose their last three games. They face ultimately State here in the home finale on Saturday and the Wolfpack, after being scared out of their Ball-Brand shoes in Durham on Saturday, will be back on the raw meat diet and hunting for blood.

After this harrowing experience, the Tar Heels journey to Charlotte early next week to face rough, tough little Davidson who is a hard team to beat anywhere, let alone in Charlotte or the vicinity. The Wildcats proved this against the budding Blue Devils of Duke earlier in the season. The Tar Heels' last game will be the return engagement with the Dukes themselves also to be performed on the road in the Methodist's mammoth indoor stadium. The Scottmen took their traditional rivals into camp earlier in the season, but without Kohler they will look like a team that is playing without Kohler.

Knocked Knee

THE NEW YORK GUARD tore his knee badly in last weekend's game with Maryland and has a very indefinite future on the Carolina hardwood. Knee injuries are very troublesome things and are tricky about healing and tricky about staying in playing condition. The extent of Kohler's injury is not yet known, but he will definitely not play in the remaining three games, with an outside—slim—chance prevailing that he may make the tournament.

Speaking of tournaments, the Tar Heels will make the Southern conference event regardless of future performances; 10 league games they have already won will carry them that far.

While the Scottmen are rusting on their laurels, State and Duke will play again tonight for the second time in four days. As forementioned the Dukesters pushed the State lads to the utmost over the weekend before the current national leaders skimmed home by benefit of Colgate's dental cream. Duke played its best game of the season and verified the fact that they are a hot and cold ball team. State played its worst game of the year, at least from the point of view of shot percentage. (26 per cent), but proved to all that potential champions that they are, they had the poise to pull the game out of the fire.

Ah! Sweet Mystery

STATE HAS YET TO PLAY a great game in Duke Stadium having appeared there five times in the two years since the triumphant coming of Everett Case. They lost to Duke there in the regular season last year, won three straight to cop the tourney there last year, and eke out last week. Last year's loss speaks for itself, and of the three tourney tilts only one was tough, the one in which Pack topped the Pap Hamilton-led Carolina by two points in the finals. Now this lack of ability to display their top-flight of basketball in one particular arena sets one to thinking. It can't be the large crowds that can be jammed in the Duke gym for the State lads play against bigger crowds in New York on several occasions. It is also doubted that the name of Duke can so terrorize the mighty Casemen, which leaves one with no other choice than to look for some smaller detail of distraction.

The solution, though sounding a little far-fetched, may be found in the mechanical means of the Duke gym. For those who are unfamiliar with the Methodist layout it might be well to explain that the backboards and baskets are supported from the floor with the supporting sturctures standing right behind the ends of the court. That they are padded is true, but that they offer a serious mental or not physical threat to a fast-cutting team like State can also be given support. Confirming factors to the statement are the facts that at least one performer has suffered a serious head injury on the obstructions since the gym was biult and that Jack McComas, the Wolfpack's flying forward missed a half a dozen driving lay-ups in the first half of the near-upset.

Whether or not this be the truth of the matter, it seems it might be well for the Duke officials to correct this hazard as a safety precaution if not a convenience for competitors. Madison Square Garden has a higher roof than Duke, so the question is mechanically possible. The basketball players of America should organize for better working conditions.

Track Team Will Compete In Two Meets

As a final tuneup for the indoor meet here next Saturday, Jack Milne and Bob Black will compete in the National AAU indoor meet in Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Milne will compete in the three-mile run and Black in the 600-yard run. Some 13 other members of the Carolina squad will journey to College Park, Md., to take part in the First Annual University of Maryland Indoor games.

Coach Dale Ranson has not decided definitely who will make the jaunt for the Terrapin meet, but expected to lead the invasion are highjumper Jack Moody and shotputter Bob Seligman, both Conference champions in their specialties. Others expected to go are hurdlers Bob Morrow, Dick Taylor and Hunter Heggie. Halstead Holden, Julian MacKenzie and Mark Burnham will try for points in the middle distances and Sam Magill, if the YMCA conference at Natural Bridge, Va., ends in time to make train connections to Washington, will be in the two-mile. The rest of the sprinters and distance men have not as yet been selected.

Maryland will be odds on favorites to capture the title from such schools as Carolina, State Duke, Navy, Catholic university, Loyola of Baltimore, Johns Hopkins and many others.

TRACK DUCATS

Tickets are now on sale at the Athletic association for the Sixth Annual Southern Invitation Indoor games at Chapel Hill on Saturday February 28.

Students may purchase tickets for seventy-five cents plus cupon No. 21 General public admission is $1.50.

Nearing the End . . .

Fraternity Cage Playoffs Down To Semi-Finals

Over 100 spectators were present last night when the first playoffs in the fraternity division of the intramural basketball tourney were staged.

Sigma Chi 1, Beta 1 and KA 1 joined the Phi Gams in the semi-finals bracket by virtue of victories. Phi Gam, winner of a special playoff game with Zeta 1 to determine the champion of league three, received a bye.

Playoffs for dorm league championships were held in the afternoon. The Blackballs turned the heat on the Unknowns and ground out a 58-40 victory. Art Weiner, high man for both teams, dropped in 20 points in a winning cause. Randy Watson hit for 16 counters for the Unknowns. The championship of dormitory league four was at stake when Mangum and the Hillers clashed yesterday afternoon on court 2. Ahead 23-14 at the half, Mangum poured it on in the next chapter and walked off with a 45-20 decision.

—Todays Murals—

BASKETBALL

5:00—Court 1: Grads vs. Field House; Court 2: Blackballs vs. Mangum; Court 3: Phi Gam 2 vs. Sig Chi 1; Court 4: Beta 1 vs. KA 1.

HANDBALL

4:00—Phi Delt 2 vs. Chi Psi.
5:00—KA vs. Phi Delt 3.

BOXING

145-lb. Class

4:00—A. Parrish (Phi Delt Chi) vs. R. Barab (Phi Kap); 4:06—J. Thrash (Phi Delt) vs. S. Daniels (Sig Chi); 4:12—J. Muschison (SAE) vs. H. Butts (KA); 4:18—R. Kirby (KA) vs. F. Cawdle (Kap Sig); 4:24—H. Howell (KA) vs. H. Watkins (Phi Delt) 4:30—G. Cain (KA) vs. R. Sloan (KA).

175-lb. Class

4:36—J. Folger (Kap Sig) vs. J. Mead (DKE); 4:42—W. Arnold (Sig Chi) vs. D. Hammer (Phi Gam); 4:48—W. Jennings (Phi Delt) vs. A. Griffin (Phi Gam); 4:54—H. Fordham (Sig Chi) vs. B. Harrington (Sig Nu).

5:00—J. Farmer (Phi Gam) vs. T. Hurysz (Chi Phi); 5:06—R. Phillips (Sig Chi) vs. G. Poindexter (Zeta); 5:12—J. McLean (Sig Chi) vs. B. Jones (DKE); 5:18—J. Combs (Kap Sig) vs. T. Stratford (Phi Gam).

165-lb. Class

5:24—H. Hardisty (Sig Chi) vs. E. Hampton (Sig Ep); 5:30—A. Webb (Phi Gam) vs. B. Byerly (Sig Chi); 5:36—H. Hamilton (PiKA) vs. C. Kipp (Sig Chi); 5:42—T. Stokes (Phi Delt) vs. G. Robertson (Phi Delt); 5:48—W. Haywood (Phi Delt) vs. E. Graham (Sig Chi); 5:54—J. Langley (Sig Chi) vs. N. Howard (DKE).

127-lb. Class

6:00—D. Lindsay (KA) vs. T. Gregory (Zeta).

135-lb. Class

7:00—W. Isaacs (Phi Delt) vs. G. Boren (Zeta); 7:06—J. Lee (SAE) vs. J. Williams (PiKA); 7:12—P. O'Briant (Phi Delt) vs. C. Northend (Phi Gam); 7:18—J. Orr (Phi Gam) vs. J. Wilkins (Phi Delt).

155-lb. Class

7:24—W. Lyon (Sig Chi) vs. T. Cherry (Chi Phi); 7:30—K. Barnes (Sig Chi) vs. D. Fleming (Phi Gam); 7:36—G. Sherrard (Phi Delt Chi) vs. W. Rubin (TEP); 7:42—D. Ferebee (Chi Psi) vs. R. Simmons (Lamb Chi); 7:48—F. Levy (Pi Lamb) vs. H. Du-

(See MURALS Page 4)

High Jump Field Has Many Stars

By Morty Schaap

(This is the first of a series of articles on the various events in the Sixth Annual Southern Invitation indoor games).

When the big track carnival gets under way in Woollen gym a week from Saturday one of the top events will be run off in the afternoon and that is the high jump.

The field of jumpers will be the best ever gathered in the South and should produce a new record. The top performance for the high jump was set last year by Henry Gardner of Florida who cleared the bar at 6 feet and 2 and one-half inches. He just managed to shade Dave Rowe of Mercer.

Add to these boys this year such stellar stars as Jack Moody, Conference outdoor champ and record holder, George Pickett of State, who cleared 6 feet 4 inches in a meet with VPI last spring. Bill Crandall of Maryland, Billy Joyner of Carolina, all of whom have cleared the bar at 6 feet

JACK MOODY

2 inches and better and you have top competition.

Also basketball players who have done better than six feet may be entered, if their schedule allows, this would bring into competition such stars as Dick Dickey of State and Doug Ausbon of Duke.

For the first time, since the meet originated, the bar will be raised to 5 feet 6 inches instead of the usual two inch lower standard.

With such a field though, it probably would be more feasible to start the jumping at the Madison Square Garden height of 6 feet. Moreover, Moody has faired well over the indoor circuit and he is the former National scholastic champion.

So track fans if you have your ticket and want to see some more top flight competition, see the high jump on the afternoon program.

Incidently, Moody is the holder of the Conference record. His leap passed the loop mark at 6 feet 3 inches in the outdoor meet last spring and his jump of 6 feet 4 inches in the Brooklyn K of C games this winter, unofficially betters the school record.

Carolina Faces Tough Opponents In Final Games; State Next Foe

Norm Kohler's Knee Injury May Prevent His Playing in Any of Remaining Tilts

Carolina's White Phantoms, a tired group of boys following three rough games in four days, got in a day of rest yesterday before beginning preparations for their meeting with N. C. State's Wolfpack here on Saturday night.

Because of the loss of regular guard Norm Kohler, the Phantoms face rough going from here on in. State unquestionably will prove a tough foe on Saturday, and Duke and Davidson, next week's opponents, both will be hard to top, since both games will be out-of-town tilts for Carolina, and Duke and Davidson will each be gunning for revenge for earlier losses to the Phantoms.

Kohler's knee injury definitely will keep him from participating in any of the remaining regular season games. It is also improbable that he will be in shape to play in the conference tourney next month. He sustained his injury in the Maryland game last week.

The Loss at Wake

Kohler's loss probably had a great deal to do with the Phantom's 53-47 loss to Wake Forest on Monday night, but there was also a natural letdown that was a deciding factor in the game. Carolina had to stage sensational rallies to beat Maryland, 51-47, and William and Mary, 63-61, on Friday and Saturday. Wake Forest was primed for Carolina, and three close games in such a short space of time was simply too much for the team.

The Phantoms also probably were looking forward to the State game this weekend and could not reach their peak against Wake Forest.

The loss did not affect Carolina's second-place standing in the conference, but at the same time it virtually eliminated any chances the Phantoms might have had of taking over first place in the conference. Carolina now has ten wins and two defeats in loop play while State has a perfect 7-0 mark.

George Washington's Colonials appear the biggest threat to Carolina. The Washington school has 12 wins and but three losses in the conference. George Washington barely scraped by Washington and Lee, 66-65, on Monday night.

The big meeting between Carolina and State this Saturday is already a sellout. The Phantoms will attempt to revenge a humiliating 81-42 loss to Coach Everett Case's team in Raleigh in the first meeting.

McGee Participating In Golden Gloves Battle in Charlotte

Ed McGee, Carolina boxing star without a college team to represent, will fight with the Charlotte YMCA unit in that city's Golden Gloves tournament in which action gets under way today.

McGee left for the Queen City yesterday, and weighed-in at the 175-pound bracket yesterday afternoon. Winner of the heavyweight title in the Durham Golden Gloves and the light-heavy crown in a similar tourney in Raleigh, McGee will rank as one of the favorites in the lower weight division in this meet.

The tourney will take five days, with the finals being held next Monday. Coach of the group with which McGee will fight is Joe Murnick, former ring mentor at the University.

Badminton Club Defeats Raleigh

Paced by tennis stars Clark Taylor and Vic Seixas, the Carolina badminton club defeated the Raleigh bird chasers here Tuesday night, 4-2.

Both Seixas and Taylor won their singles matches and the feature match of the evening saw the two netters team up in one of the doubles encounters to defeat the state doubles champions, Council and Anderson, 19-17, 15-8.

Taylor had little difficulty in his solo encounter, disposing of Raleigh's Hugh Kyger, 15-5, 15-0. Seixas defeated Council in straight sets also, 15-5, 15-3.

H. S. McGinty supplied the other Carolina victory by outplaying Cole, 15-4, 15-6.

Raleigh captured the other two tandem battles. Kyger and Cloyd teamed to triumph over Watson Pugh and Ham Strayhorn, 15-3, 15-7 and Frank Murray and McGinty lost to Burnham and Cole, 15-3, 15-12.

The victory gives the local badminton players a three and two record for the season with one more match to go. The next match is with Burlington and is slated to be played off here tonight.

Kramer, Riggs Receive Top Sporting Awards

Los Angeles, California, Feb. 17—(UP)—Former Davis Cup star Jack Kramer will receive The Helms Foundation Sportsfolio award tonight in Los Angeles as the outstanding amateur of 1947.

The award will be made before Kramer takes the court for his 30th match against Bobby Riggs. Riggs, who will be honored as the top pro tennis player of last year, drew within one match of Kramer last night when he defeated Jack for the 14th time, 6-3, 6-3.

MILLS WINS

London, Feb. 17—(UP)—Light Heavyweight Freddie Mills defended his British and European title today by knocking out Pacho Bueno of Spain in the second round of a scheduled 15-rounder.

Mills weighed 173-pounds, two pounds lighter than Bueno.

Rickey, Bradley Open Fire on Each Other Over Negro Ball Players in Big Leagues

Wilberforce, Ohio, Feb. 17—(UP)—Branch Rickey, President and owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers, blew the lid off the red hot behind the scenes story of the entry of negroes into big league ball last night.

In a speech at a football banquet given by Wilberforce State University, a negro school in Ohio, Rickey claims credit for the way being cleared for the chance given to Jackie Robinson and other negro players.

Despite a resolution passed by the 15 other major magnates he went ahead with his campaign. He also says he does not believe that any credit can be given to a so-called "communist" backing for the entrance of the negroes into big time baseball. All this is supposed to have taken place in April, 1945.

Rickey said he "pulls no punches" and "let them say I have been misquoted" but ask them to prove it by producing a copy of the resolution which they made sure I never saw.

Cleveland, Feb. 17—(UP)—A former big league baseball club owner—Alva Bradley of Cleveland—says that Branch Rickey's version of the Jackie Robinson deal is untrue. Rickey has charged that all other 15 major league owners voted against permitting Negro ball players in the Majors in the spring of 1945.

REHDER'S
CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Opposite Post Office Corner

DOES YOUR RADIO SOUND GOOD?
—see—
D. W. ANDERSON
—at—
LLOYD ELECTRIC COMPANY
Carrboro, N. C.
—for—
Fine Radio Repairing

QUALITY FURNISHINGS
at
E. A. Brown Furniture Co.
Next to City Hall
Phone 6586

BOOTS . . . We Have Them!
. . . a new shipment of rubber boots and galoshes to keep you dry when wet weather comes. In brown, red, and blue . . .
COME IN TODAY FOR YOURS!
Chapel Hill's Foremost Department Store
BERMAN'S

A Best-Seller Becomes a Best Picture!

UNIVERSAL INTERNATIONAL presents
CLAUDETTE FRED
COLBERT MacMURRAY
"The EGG and I"
from the best selling book by BETTY MacDONALD with MARJORIE MAIN
LOUISE ALLBRITTON • PERCY KILBRIDE
BILLY HOUSE • RICHARD LONG
NOW PLAYING
CAROLINA

Two things every college man should know!

1. This is a college professor. Very smart, but somewhat baffled by the ways of man. Theory-thinker. Popular in Washington until recently. Thinks life is something you look at through a microscope.

2. This is a "Manhattan" button-down oxford shirt. Very smart, too. Its wonderful low-slope collar rolls just right and fits just right. See this most popular of college men's shirts at your "Manhattan" dealer's now.
CAMPUS FAVORITE—
Manhattan
THE MANHATTAN SHIRT COMPANY
Copr. 1948, The Manhattan Shirt Co.

College Delegates Plan State Meet Of Wallace Clubs

Twenty-five representatives of North Carolina colleges met on the campus Sunday to discuss plans for the state-wide conventions of "N. C. Students for Wallace" to be held at Chapel Hill on February 28-29.

Among the colleges which have already pledged to send delegates to the convention are A&T, Bennett, Black Mountain, Duke, Davidson, E.C.T.C., Elon, Fayetteville State Teachers, Guilford, Lutheran Immanuel, N. C. State, N.C.C., St. Augustine, Shaw, J. C. Smith, W.C.U.N.C., W.C.T.C., Wake Forest and Presbyterian Junior College for Men. In addition 20,000 calls to the convention will be distributed to students all over the state this week.

Two-day Program

The planning committee for the convention announced a program for the two-day meeting which will include keynote speeches by Bill Richardson, Chairman of the Wallace for President club here and Leonard Nelson, National Director of Students for Wallace followed by a student symposium on such topics as "Wallace and the high cost of living," "Wallace and Civil Liberties" and "Wallace and peace."

The afternoon session of the first day's meeting will be devoted to panel discussions of program and policy to be led by leaders of the Progressive Party of North Carolina. The Saturday session will wind up with an evening mass meeting to be addressed, it is planned, by O. John Rogge, nationally known attorney and possible vice-presidential running mate with Mr. Wallace.

Religious Service

The Sunday meeting of the convention will open with an interfaith religious service to be followed by a general discussion of program and policy and the election of officers to serve in Students for Wallace, N. C.

SOCCER DEADLINE

The final deadline for entries for the five-man soccer tournament is 6 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Campus Calendar

3:00 p. m.—Mathematics seminar, 320 Phillips hall. Speaker: T. F. Hickerson.
3:00 p. m.—Coalition council, Grail room.
4:00 p. m.—Bull's Head Bookshop tea. Dr. R. E. Coker, speaker. Staff room library.
5:00 p. m.—Chi Delta Phi, Grail room.
5:15 p. m.—Lenten services, Episcopal church.
6:30 p. m.—Recorded dinner music, main lounge of Graham Memorial.
7:00 p. m.—Wallace club, Horace Williams lounge.
7:30 p. m.—Pi Kappa Phi, Roland Parker lounge No. 1.
7:30 p. m.—Carolina Conservative club, Roland Parker lounge No. 2.
7:30 p. m.—Chess club, Roland Parker lounge No. 3.
8:00 p. m.—"Sounds of the Sageland," by Alice and Harold Allen. Audubon Screen tours sponsored by Chapel Hill Bird club. Pick theater.
8:00 p. m.—Southern Conference for Human Welfare, Horace Williams lounge.
8:30 p. m.—"Thirty-Three by Air," WRAL, WHHT.
9:00 p. m.—Di Senate, Di hall, New West.

Radio Cast Will Present Program

At 8:30 tonight "Thirty-three by Air" will present a half hour dramatization, "The Greatest Man in the World". The program is produced by Bob Hall and Ophelia Hooks.

"The Greatest Man in the World" concerns Jack Smurch, a smart-alec amateur aviator, who becomes a hero when he makes a trip around the world in a one-motored plane. While the President of the United States and his cabinet are in a quandary as to what should be done with him, Smurch is finally pushed out of a window accidently at the signal of the President.

Heading a cast of 17 are Bob Andrew, Bob DeBarlelaben, Mac Shaw, John Clayton, and Cookie Covington. Sound is by George Holloway and Merrily Brooks.

PROSPECTIVE TEACHERS

There will be a meeting of all students who are prospective practice teachers in the fields of English, social studies, science, mathematics, and foreign languages for the Spring Term, 1948, Monday, February 28, 7:00 o'clock, Room 201 Peabody.

-Conference-

(Continued from page 1)

partment will act at resource leader for the group on racial tensions in our world. A graduate of Maryville college and of the Yale Divinity school, he is now getting his Ph. D. degree from the graduate school at Yale.

Bill Shuford, director of Graham Memorial, will act as leader, with Emily Ogburn, of the commission on social life at Carolina. A UNC graduate, Bill returned to Chapel Hill to study after leaving the army, and soon took over the directorship of Graham Memorial.

The commission on "You as A Students" will be led by Ruth Evans and Bob Collins, with Dean Fred Weaver as faculty adviser.

DOG'S RIGHTS UPHELD

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UP)—Dogs have their rights in this state. An Olympia resident was arrested and required to post $50 bail after running over a stray mongrel on a downtown street. The charge was hit-and-run driving.

IT'S AN IDEA

SALEM, ORE. (UP)— Salem police deduced that the thief who stole a bottle of whiskey and a wheelbarrow of kindling wood at the same time wanted to keep warm—inside and out.

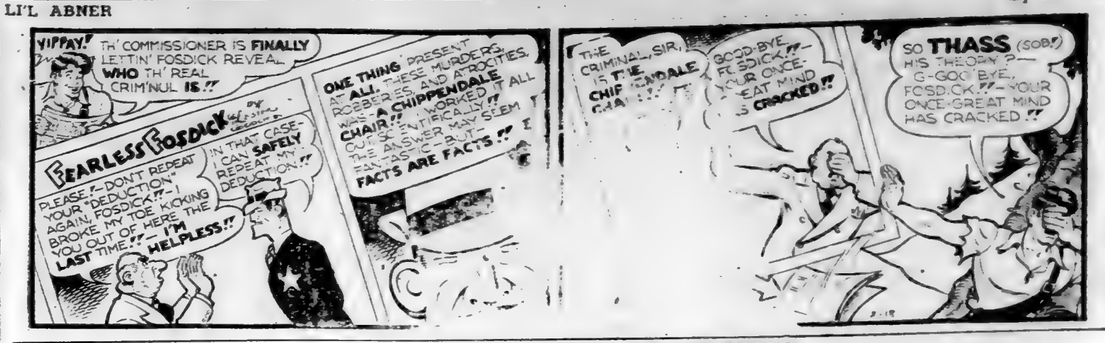
AAF Seeks Cadets For Air Training

The United States Air Force Officer Procurement team will be on campus today to qualify applicants for aviation cadet training with the currently expanding US Air Forces.

All interested students are invited to come to the Air ROTC building in the barracks annex behind the Naval armory between 8 and 5 o'clock. At that time Captain John L. Eichar, officer procurement team chief, and First Lieutenant Lewis B. Miller, team recorder, will be present to represent headquarters of the Fourteenth Air Force in Orlando, Florida.

Captain Eichar announced that at the time applicants are interviewed, both mental and brief pre-physical examinations will be concluded.

Group Will Probe Taxi Overcharges



The Chapel Hill board of aldermen last Monday night passed a resolution authorizing the mayor to appoint a special committee to look into complaints that some of the local taxicabs were charging 50 cents, instead of the required 25 cents for city rides, during the bad weather of the last two weeks. The aldermen also asked this special committee to check the compliance of Chapel Hill taxis with all the town regulations governing their operating permits.

The committee that was picked by Mayor R. W. Madry consists of Town Manager G. W. Ray and two members of the board. Their report is to be submitted in writing to the full board.

SHERIFF TAKES RAP

HOLLISTER, Calif. (UP)—When jailbird foresters began cutting down a big locust tree in the yard between the jail and the court house, office workers leaned out of windows and began betting on which building it would fall. The locust toppled and all bets were off. The tree fell on the car of Sheriff Arthur Fruits.

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

Cheese Blintzes Today at HARRY'S

Theater Will Show Wild Life Movie

A color movie showing the animal and bird life of the Western sagelands will be presented at the Pick theatre at 8 o'clock this evening by Alice and Harold Allen, radio and screen artists who are expert nature photographers.

Entitled "Sound of the Sageland," it will be the third in a series of five outdoor movies being brought here by the Chapel Hill Bird club and the National Audubon society.

Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, or by season ticket. Part of the proceeds will be used to buy bird books and other nature material for the Chapel Hill public schools.

Student Summer Camp Job Interviews Begin

All students interested in summer camp work can secure interviews today and tomorrow through the University's Vocational Guidance office with Charles F. Wright of the Madison Settlement house of New York.

Wright will be on the campus these two days to talk with any men or women interested in being employed as camp councilors for the Madison House summer camp. Appointments to see the camp representative can be made through Kathryn G. Cook, associate director of the Vocational Bureau in Room 209, South building.

Groups Must Appoint Fashion Show Models

The Carolina Independent Coed Association requests that the following fraternities and organizations appoint a model for the CICA Spring fashion show which will be presented March 2: Chi Psi; Delta Kappa Epsilon, Zeta Beta Tau; Kappa Alpha; Pi Lambda Phi; Pi Kappa Alpha; Sigma Pi Epsilon; Tau Epsilon Pi; and Grail and the Men's Interdormitory council.

CICA asks that these groups do so as soon as possible as all other fraternities, sororities and campus organizations have made arrangements. Genevieve Trott and Betty Long are co-chairmen in charge of the fashion show and can be reached at 311 McIver.

-Murals-

(Continued from page 3)

Bose (Chi Phi); 7:54—H. Bristol (Kap Sig) vs. E. Betts (Sig Chi); 8:00—W. Smith (Phi Delt) vs. B. House (Zeta); 8:06—E. Holmes (Beta) vs. W. Dunbar (Sig Chi).

Heavyweight

8:12—N. Galinkin (TEP) vs. J. Pyron (Sig Chi); 8:18—B. Perry (Zeta) vs. R. Poisson (Phi Gam); 8:24—H. Allen (Sig Chi) vs. H. Weinstein (TEP); 8:30—J. Spears (Beta) vs. A. Dixan (PiKA).

145 Dorm

8:36—C. DiChiara (Everett) vs. R. Lane (Nash); 8:42—J. Stewart (Seiler Five) vs. Summelin (Med Sch).

165 Dorm

8:48—M. Parker (Stacy) vs. H. Merchant (Aycock); 8:54—S. Harris (Graham) vs. D. Bunting (Emerson).

175 Dorm

9:00—W. Kirk (Mangum) vs. T. Walker (Med Sch).

155 Dorm

9:06—J. McCawley (Town) vs. I. Zirpel (Emerson).

SENIOR STEERING GROUP

Senior class steering committee will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday in the Grail room, according to President Benson McCutcheon.

Up where the ceiling's unlimited and the horizon's as wide as the world! Up where there's freedom and adventure—and a man can dare to do what no man's done before!

You're on your way up there when you join the Aviation Cadets. After a year's pilot training, it's silver wings for you—and a commission as Second Lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force Reserve.

You are eligible if you're single, between 20 and 26½, and have completed at least half the requirements for a degree from an accredited college or university (or can pass an equivalent qualifying examination).

You'll fly the very best planes during your 12 months of pilot training. Then, after graduation, you'll pilot jet fighters and bombers. And you'll get a starting salary of $336 a month. During your three years on active duty you'll be given a chance to win a commission in the Regular Air Force.

This is a priceless opportunity for alert young men with the urge to carve their future in American aviation. Ask for details at your U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station. Or, write to Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Section, Washington 25, D. C.

U. S. ARMY AND U. S. AIR FORCE RECRUITING SERVICE

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

Whid Powell's
COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
• Hamburger Steak Plate
Hamburger Steak, Hash Brown Potatoes, Lettuce and Tomato Salad, Toasted Bun—70c
Rosemary St.—Opp. City Hall

NOW PLAYING
VILLAGE

CLASSIFIED

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

THE BAND LOOK MAGAZINE PREdicts as the "Band of '48" in person—DANCE 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. Thursday, Feb. 19—CLAUDE THORNHILL and his orchestra, featuring Fran Warren and Gene Williams. Alamance Roller Dome—Intersection Highways 54 and 70, Burlington, N. C. Admission $2.00 plus tax. (1-1781-2)

FOR SALE 5B

ZENITH CABINET MODEL RADIO-Record player combination. Features Cobra Arm, frequency modulation, and short wave. Also fine collection of classical and semi-classical records. Phone 9882. 1-1782-1

35 MM ARGUS C-2. COUPLED RANGE finder and case. See F. T. Meriwether, 74 Trailer Camp, after 1:00 p.m. 1-1787-1

ARGUS A2F—35MM CAMERA. STOP opening: f4.5. 1-25 to 1-200 second, bulb, time exposure. Price $15.00. Raymond Harwell, 190A Jackson Circle, or 109 Phillips. 1-1788-1

PUPPIES—COLLIES, COCKER SPANiels, and Beagles. Nathan Veterinary Hospital, phone 4531. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

CONVERTIBLE PLYMOUTH 1933. NEW motor job. $250.00. Contact N. C. Barnes at 6 Old Frat Row after 3 p.m. Call 8031. 1-1791-1

FOUND 5C

MONEY ON FRANKLIN STREET Tuesday. Call 8281. 1-1790-1

HELP WANTED 8

POSITION OPEN FOR COMPETENT combination bookkeeper and secretary with growing concern. Chance for advancement. Box 907 Chapel Hill, N. C. (ch 1x1)

RIDES WANTED 18

RIDE TO ATLANTA, GA., FRIDAY. Call Sport's office DTH between 2 and 4. (1-2000-1)

SERVICES OFFERED 19

24 HOUR RADIO REPAIRS. OGBURN Furniture Co. Phone 5841. 1-ch1x1-1

WANTED TO RENT 24B

APARTMENT WANTED FOR STUdent couple without children. Write 29 Old West. 1-1789-1

Library (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Cloudy and continued warm

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
Pig In A Poke
Pressure vs. Pressure
Mills Stones

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 104

Varied Measures Face Legislature This Evening

The Student Legislature faces a variety of business tonight when it meets at 7:30 in Di hall for the first meeting of the second session of the winter quarter.

A bill to amend the student constitution is one of the top measures on the agenda, according to Speaker Jack Folger. The amendment, introduced two weeks ago by Legislator Jess Dedmond, makes provision for a holdover member on the Women's council.

Dedmond, chairman of the Elections committee, will also present a new set of election laws, according to Folger's agenda.

Presidential Appointments

Presidential appointments from Tom Eller's office will come before the law-makers for approval tonight, and Parliamentarian Pete Gerns will discuss results and action on his parliamentary procedure examinations.

Folger said that "consideration of the magazine issue may arise, following the referendum on Tuesday which cut short the existence of the Carolina Magazine and established Tarnation as the only University magazine publication, to become effective on July 1, the beginning of the 1948-49 fiscal year.

Law Is for All, Broughton States

"The cry of the underprivileged child, the sigh of the over-burdened mother, the inexpressible longing of the forgotten man, must find expression in the law if it truly observes its historic function and adequately interprets the human spirit," former Governor J. Melville Broughton declared in an address here last night under the auspices of the University Law School association.

"If this note of human interest be lacking, whether the law emanates from the lawyer or from the highest court in the land, it is not responsive to the deepest needs of those who can look only to the law and the courts for their protection," said the former Governor, who is a candidate for the United States Senate.

Lawyer in Courtroom

His subject was "The Lawyer in the Courtroom." He spoke in the Playmakers theatre. Donald McCoy, Laurinburg, vice-president of the Law School association, presided, and Winston Broadfoot, Wilmington, chairman of the speakers' committee, introduced Mr. Broughton, who was honor guest at a Law school faculty dinner preceding the address.

Broughton said that "lawyers are by training and experience conservative in their thinking and are inclined to look backward to precedents rather than forward to progress. This characteristic has long been the subject of criticism, in part warranted, but in large degree unjust.

"While precedents should properly be reviewed in the light of conditions existing at the time they were established, real principles are eternal. Short cuts to economic or social programs which ignore sound principles of law and government are but a mockery."

Woodhouse to Attend National ADA Meet

Dr. Edward J. Woodhouse, professor of political science and former mayor of Northampton, Massachusetts, will attend the national conference of Americans for Democratic Action in Philadelphia this weekend as delegate from the Chapel Hill chapter.

Student branch of the organization, Students for Democratic Action, will send Al Lowenstein as their delegate, with Charles Sellers as alternate. Approximately 15 faculty members students will also attend the convention.

CIO Unions Open New Spring Drive For Pay Increase

By United Press

Labor's drive for a new round of wage increases this spring began to take shape yesterday.

Two large CIO unions started the ball rolling. The United Auto Workers formally asked the Chrysler corporation for a flat 30 cents an hour pay hike and other benefits. Actually, the demands represent nearly 35 cents an hour more because they call for a health insurance plan, a pension program, a guaranteed weekly wage and other side-issue benefits.

The UAW asked that negotiations start next Tuesday. Wage talks between the auto workers and General Motors will start later this month. The union plans to conduct both negotiations simultaneously.

Another CIO group—the powerful United Steel Workers—also wants more money. The 175-man Wage and Policy committee okayed a demand for what it termed substantial pay increases. Union President Philip Murray said that the 229-million dollars in price increases received by the industry since October should allow it to grant a "reasonable" increase.

In Washington, industry sources say that soft coal mine owners will meet next Wednesday to take up the United Mine Workers threat to strike over the issue of miners' pensions. Thus far the owners have turned down the demands of union head John L. Lewis for pensions of 100-dollars a month for miners at the age of 60. Lewis has told the operators that he considers their refusal a breach of contract. And that he feels free "to take any independent action" to bring about his demands.

Juntor Council Ends Series Of Meetings

In the last of a series of leadership training meetings, the Junior council of the YWCA will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the Grail room to hear reports of committee chairman of the Y. Analysis and criticism of the work of committees will follow the reports.

Committee chairmen who will speak include Jo Butler, Sunny Sunstrom, Ferne Hughes, Emily Ogburn, Harriet Gurley, Dee Oakey, Jo Fishel, Jean Ann Ramsdale, Rachel Woodley, Merrily Brooks, and Helen Compton.

Phi Defeats Bill for Federal Control Of Petroleum Resources by 9-5 Vote

The Phi assembly defeated a measure favoring federal control of petroleum reserves in the United States by a 9 to 5 vote Tuesday night at a regular weekly session in the Phi hall.

Introduced by Representative Jim McNider, the Phi bill accused private industry of negligence in developing synthetic processes of petroleum to supplement the present estimated reserve of 20,000,000,000 barrels of oil and favored limited government control of the oil industry. The measure advocated the appropriation of $8,000,000,000 by Congress for the construction of plants to produce synthetic fuel from coal, establishment of government controls over research and production, and the regulation of price and allocation of petroleum products.

Representative McNider told members that under present policies, the United States could not maintain its self sufficiency in petroleum production in the event of another war. He stated that the government should "oversee the oil industry" in order to bring about more efficient production and to ease the present oil shortage.

The opposition bloc of the assembly contested the bill on the grounds that the oil shortage would be alleviated if an adequate number of tankers and pipe lines were constructed to transport the oil to consumer areas. Members maintained that the discovery of new reserves waskeeping up with production and government control to conserve oil was unnecessary.

Representative Page Harris, attacking government control, asserted that government regulation of the petroleum industry would lead to fuel oil rationing, the establishment of price controls, and the creation of government agencies to handle the program. He added that such action would also incite black market activities.

Helen McGraw To Give Recital In Hill Tonight

HELEN McGRAW

Helen McGraw, pianist, will appear in piano recital tonight in Hill Music auditorium at 8:30.

Tonight's recital will be given by Miss McGraw as a part of a southern concert tour. In addition to the program at Hill hall she will play over the University Communication Center radio program, "The Musical Merry-go-round" on Saturday morning, February 21, at 10:45.

Tonight's Program

The program in Hill hall will consist of: Bach, Prelude, E-flat major; Chopin, Fantasie, Op. 49: Prokofieff, Sonata No. 2; Sowerby Cypress Swamp; Copland, Cowboys Amble (from Billy the Kid); Scriabin, Poem; Shostakovich, Danse Fantastique and Polka; Beethoven, Sonata, Op. III.

Miss McGraw has a unique gift for modern music, especially American music. She has studied with the eminent Russian pianist Alexander Sklarevski at Peabody Conservatory. After graduation from Peabody, she won the Walter W. Naumburg music award in a nationwide contest and made her debut in Town Hall, 1930.

Extensive Career

She has played extensively in this country and abroad, in concerts, as soloist with orchestras, and with other artists in chamber music since being a master-class pupil of Alfred Cortot at the Ecole Normale, Paris.

Miss McGraw opened the first annual Festival of American music at the National Gallery in Washington in 1944. The success of this program, broadcast to South America, led to her re-engagement to open the second Festival in 1945. Each year she plays a new program featuring such composers as Hindemith, Antheil, Barber, Copland, Sowerely, Shostakovich, Piston and Villa-Lobos.

2:45

SP Frames Action For Non-Partisan Student Councils

Emphasizing a need for non-partisanship in student government—particularly in Men's council offices—the Student party has passed a bill which will ask the University and the Campus parties to consider the issue. . .

Dortch Warriner, of Lawrenceville, Va., SP treasurer, and Bill Mackie, of Chapel Hill, were elected committee members to approach the proper UP and CP officials with the Student party plan.

According to Chairman Gran Childress, the SP plan calls for a committee composed of two members from each political party to take action in nominations of non-partisan candidates in the offices of Men's council. Party members at Monday night's meeting expressed the necessity for and the need of having non-partisanship on the council.

"The object of the Student party," said Childress, "is again in the interest of student government. We hope that the other parties will cooperate in this very important work."

After discussion of the council bill, the meeting continued in the form of a nominating convention. Cam West, party campaign chairman, advised all candidates named for spring elections to obtain their literature and campaign posters before the last-minute rush.

Childress announced a 9 o'clock meeting for the party in Roland Parker lounge No. 1, on Monday of next week. The SP steering committee will meet two hours prior to the party session.

Petition Being Circulated Will Request Literary Quarterly to Replace Magazine

Apparently more people mourn the passing of the Carolina Magazine than the 22 students who voted for it in Tuesday's referendum.

A petition is now circulating on campus to request the establishment of a literary quarterly to replace the publication whose 104-year existence recieved a thumbs-down vote in the first referendum ever to hit here.

Early Action

"We expect to have between 800 and 1,000 signatures on the petition by tomorrow night when the Student Legislature meets," Carolina Mag Literary Editor Bill Sessions said yesterday.

Strong Backing

The petition reads, "We, the undersigned students, urge the establishment of a literary quarterly at the University of North Carolina."

The document already bears the signatures and has the support of Mag Editor Fred Jacobson, Tarnation Editor Tookie Hodgson, Mag Managing Editor Charlie Gibson, Tarnation Business Manager and Associate Editor Pete Gerns and Tom Kerr, among other prominent publications personalities.

Tookie Hodgson, head of the victorious humor magazine, stated yesterday afternoon that he has supported and will continue to support a literary quarterly at the University.

Sentiment in the state on the death of the Carolina Magazine was also reported running high yesterday evening.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

The Young Republicans will hold a meeting for the election of permanent officers tonight at 7:30 in Roland Parker lounge, Graham Memorial. A representative of the State Federation will be present at this meeting.

WINSTON-SALEM CLUB

The Winston-Salem Carolina club will meet tonight for a half hour at 7 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge No. 1 of Graham Memorial to plan its forthcoming Easter dance, according to Bob Haire, president of the Twin City group.

All those from the Winston-Salem vicinity who are now enrolled in the University are invited to attend the meeting tonight and to contribute their ideas and services for the March dance.

TO HOLD DANCE

Following the successful School of Public Health student-Faculty dinner and dance held last month, plans have been made for a dance to be held at the Chapel Hill country club on the evening of Saturday, February 28.

Arrangements are being made by the student association committee of the school. Members of the faculty will be guests of the student body.

DTH, Alpha Gam Lead In Debating

Now leading the debate tournament after the second round held Tuesday night is the DTH team followed by Alpha Gamma Delta. Both are negative teams.

The following teams, meeting at Caldwell 108 Thursday night at 6:30, will participate in the finals. Affirmative teams: Chi Phi, Herb Mitchell and Tim Shelton; K. A., Lester Martin and John Stump; Whitehead, Dortch Warriner and Marshall Pinnix. Negative teams: DTH, James Spence and Gilbert Burnett; Alpha Gamma Delta, Alice Middleton and Emily Baker; Independent, Bob Ormand and Garland Scruggs.

These debates will each be judged by a panel of three judges composed of faculty members.

Judges for Tuesday's contest were: Warren Ashby, philosophy; Martin E. Lean, philosophy; Mrs. Schadtt, Economics; E. W. Schadtt, Economics; Dr. F. G. Gil, political science; Randolph Hamilton, political science; Norman Mattis, English; William Darden, History; and Clay Cochran, economics.

Student Body President Tom Eller and Tom Lockhart, speaking extemporaneously, took the place of an absent team.

RIDES TO CONFERENCE

Students attending the Natural Bridge conference this weekend who have not yet checked with the Y office on details of transportation must do so today, according to Hilda Frances Lawrence of the transportation committee.

All cars will leave from the Y on Friday, and students will be asked to check out with the Y as they leave.

Legislator Is Banquet Guest At Inn Tonight

JAMES B. VOGLER

James B. Vogler, a member of the state General assembly, will speak at 7:30 this evening to the members of Delta Sigma Pi professional commerce fraternity.

Vogler's address will be the highlight of a fraternity banquet to be held at that time in the Carolina Inn. Members of the commerce school faculty and fraternity members have been issued special invitations to the banquet.

Vogler, a Charlotte man and a candidate for state treasurer in the forthcoming Democratic primaries will discuss "The Future of Small Business." A well known businessman himself, Vogler is executive secretary of the state food dealers association.

He also serves as editor of the North Carolina food dealer's magazine, vice president of the national food dealer's association and president of the Charlotte Optimists club.

Public Tryouts Set for Lab Play

Public tryouts for "The Inspector General", third major production of the Labratory Theatre of the Carolina Playmakers, will be this afternoon at four o'clock in the Playmaker theatre, according to an announcement by James Byrd, play director.

"The Inspector General", by Russian novelist and playwright Nikolai Gogol, is a satiric comedy in three acts. It is generally conceded to be one of the greatest European comedies of the past century, and is a high spirited satire on official crookedness and human stupidity.

This version of "The Inspector General" is by John Anderson, well-known critic, and it was made especially for Jed Harris who produced it in the Hudson Theatre, New York, in 1930.

"The cast calls for thirteen men and seven women," Byrd said, "and all people interested in working with the production are urged to come to tryouts."

"And be sure to point out," he added, "that we are just as interested in people who are new to the Lab Theatre as we are in the old standby's."

The production dates for "The Inspector General" are set for April 10 and 11, and the play will be presented in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

Alpha Gamma House Damaged In $6,000 Fire

By Herb Nachman

Occupants of the Alpha Gamma sorority house of Battle lane were homeless last night as the result of a fire late yesterday afternoon which caused damage unofficially estimated at upwards of $6,000.

A fireman at the scene attributed the cause of the blaze to spontaneous combustion of a sofa in the third story attic of the house. The sofa ignited nearby combustible materials which caused the blaze.

The fire was reported at approximately 4:45 yesterday afternoon. C. E. Hornaday, local insurance agent who estimated the damage, said he was driving past the house and noticed the blaze. He informed the occupants of the flames and immediately notified the fire department.

Ten-Minute Clearance

Two trucks of the Chapel Hill fire department responded to the call within five minutes. Shortly after the alarm sounded, students from nearby dormitories and Franklin street swarmed to the scene, removing all furniture and personal belongings from the building within ten minutes after the arrival of the engines.

Spectators who lined the street and sidewalk were sprayed with water shortly after firemen arrived when a hose which had been brought up through the house into the attic poured water through a front window. The crowd was approximately 650 persons.

Water Damage

The main cause of damage was due to water which soaked through the ceiling from the attic and completely flooded the second floor. Students who remained after the engines left the scene were forced to punch holes in the upper ceiling in order to allow the water to drain off.

Flames began on one side of the attic and spread rapidly, scorching personal belongings which were stored in trunks. The sorority's files were completely destroyed along with 20 evening dresses, furniture and luggage which were stored there.

Smoke, Heat Hamper

Firemen were hampered by intense heat and the thick smoke that filled the attic. Flames appeared on the outside of the building only once, on a corner of the roof.

According to a neighbor Louis Graves, the structure was probably saved by fireproof roofing, put on the house after a fire in 1923.

Graves said the house is owned by E. K. Graham, administrative official of Washington university and the son of a former University president. It had been occupied by Alpha Gamma Delta for almost three years.

Appreciation Expressed

Mrs. G. W. Clarke, the sorority housemother said, "I want to express my appreciation for what everyone has done in helping to clear the house and provide homes for the girls until the house can be made liveable again."

Meanwhile, an executive committee meeting of the sorority, held last night, announced that tentative plans will be to abandon the house until it can be repaired or another one secured. Barbara Poole, president of the sorority said that national Alpha Gam officials would be contacted immediately for advice.

W. L. Brooker, Graham's agent, said that the house was "adequately insured," although he would not give the exact figure. A sorority official commented that the house would be abandoned at least until firemen informed them of the extent of the damage and if the house would be safe for occupancy.

The nine occupants of the house are Barbara Poole, Gene Snyder, Betty Robinson, Helen McCann, Nell Ring, Gwynn Finley and Jean Garrow.

After having supper at the ATO house, the girls spent the night at various sorority houses and dormitories.

Snavely Leaving?

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 18—(UP— The Cleveland Press said today that one of the nation's top-flight football coaches, Carl Snavely, will become coach of the Los Angeles Dons in the All-America conference.

The majority stockholder of the Dons, Ben Lindheimer, admits Snavely is in the running, along with six other coaches. Lindheimer won't say who the other six are, however.

Snavely, who is 54 years old, coached at North Carolina in 1934 and 1935, after seven years at Bucknell. He coached at Cornell nine years, then went back to North Carolina in 1945 for three seasons.

The Los Angeles job was left vacant when Dud DeGroft was ousted at the end of last season.

(Reached at his home late last night, Coach Snavely's comment was, "You can't believe all you hear. Somebody has a vivid imagination.")

Weatherman Puts Damper on Spring

Chicago, Feb. 18—(UP)—The weatherman put a damper on that early spring feeling over most of the nation yesterday. He says Old Man Winter is waiting around the corner.

In Chicago, the weather bureau says below zero temperatures are expected tomorrow night in the Red River valley between Minnesota and North Dakota. It says that the cold wave might spread over the rest of the nation.

However, on the pleasanter side, it says the Southern and Eastern states can expect more warm weather before they start freezing again.

The danger of floods from the Ohio river is a little less tonight. The flood waters of the Ohio are going down but precautions against floods are still being taken in Mississippi.

CP MEETING

The campus party will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge No. 2 of Graham Memorial to consider further nominations for the spring elections.

Chairman Bob Haire last night asked that all party members and interested persons be present so that nominations made will represent the sentiments of as many party members as possible.

Largest Collection of Novels About Civil War On View at Library With Book-making Show

The Wilmer Collection of Civil War novels, largest of its kind in the world, is now on display in the library.

Another exhibit there this week shows the developement from original manuscript to finished product of a new book, "This Great and Wide Sea," by Dr. Robert E. Coker, head of the University Zoology department.

The Wilmer books, all of them first editions, were presented to the library in 1946 by the original collector, Rev. Richard H. Wilmer, Jr., of Washington.

Both past and contemporary novels of the Civil war, from Stephen Crane to Ben Ames Williams, are included in the 1946 volumes of the collection. The library has agreed to supplement the present collection wherever possible by adding current new titles and supplying such old ones as opportunity and means will permit.

The un-reprinted "Miss Ravenel's Conversion from Secession to Loyalty," written in 1867 by J. W. DeForest, which is the first Realistic novel in American literature, is included in the collection.

In sharp contrast to this there is on display a landmark in American Romantic literature, "Surry of the Eagle's Nest," by John Esten Cooke, a southerner on General Lee's staff. "Cora O'Kane or the Doom of the Rebel Guard," by Sergeant J. Winston, is one of few remaining out of thousands of cheap paperbound books which flooded the market during and immediately following the Civil war. A copy of the only printing of this volume is included in Mr. Wilmer's collection as "an index to the sensational tastes of the time."

FOREIGN STUDENTS

There will be a meeting of Foreign Students this evening at 7 o'clock on the second floor of the YMCA building.

Business of the meeting will include choosing a name for the club, election of officers, and rulings on membership.

Mills-Stones

No Free Love In The Village

By Barron Mills

"Chapel Hill has a reputation for being 'liberal', but its people conform publicly to the strict morality of the small southern town. Free love is frowned upon. The preachers talk hellfire-and-brimstone from the pulpits." This is a portion of one of the columns which Robert C. Ruark wrote about Chapel Hill and his alma mater last week.

The "free love" potion of this article brings to mind a time when Tar Heel readers came within a hair's breadth of being subjected to a dissertation on "free love" right on this editoral page.

As editor of the bi-weekly Tar Heel, Bob Morrison had received correspondence from some gracious reader in the form of a several-page discussion of "free love." As editors have campaign promises to fulfill, so did Editor Bob. He had pledged himself to publish all letters submitted to the editor. With this on his conscience he sent the letter down to the printshop. Dismayed typesetters put the words into lead; Shorty Hoenig slapped the type into the form, and once on the press, the copies began to roll off. But before half a dozen copies were printed the press was halted. As a dramatic climax the form was taken from the press and the letter replaced with material of not such an explosive nature. The copies that were printed are now as precious as gold. But we are certain that none reached the mothers of staff members.

Since, to our knowledge, this has been the only attempt to bestow the principles of "free love" on Tarheelia this fairly well corroborates Mr. Ruark's statement.

His remarks regarding "hellfire and brimstone" being uttered from the mouths of the preachers of the college community would be more difficult to substantiate. Certainly the Rev. Charles Jones could not be placed in that category and neither could Dr. Das Kelly Barnett, the Baptist parson until last fall at which time he was elevated to Dean of the school of religion at Mercer university in Macon, Ga.

* * *

Over in our dormitory a very indispensable part of the furniture in the head went on the blink last week and the plumbers tagged it with a big sign "out of order." Likewise day before yesterday the fixture was suffering from an overworked condition. Also there was a sign "out of oder." But the Carpathian mountains are thousands of miles away!

* * *

Attention Archaeology majors: If you want to know just how Salome looked, the sinister princess whose seductive dancing, the Bible relates, so inflamed the Tetrarch Herod that she asked and received in return the head of John the Baptist, it is now possible. Dr. Paul I. Ilton, noted archaeologist and collector, has discovered a small marble head, with enigmatic and sensuous features.

Says the publicity release which we received recently: "Above all, the face itself is startlingly expressive of such a character as Salome is known to have been, from every historical reference seductive, sensuous, at once child-like and depraved. The mouth wears a strange smile. The over-full lower lip is petulant and passionate. The statue is made with rare artistic skill and feeling."

Yep, it sounds like Salome.

WHAT'S UP in Graham Memorial

GM's chess club seems to have uncovered a touch of genius . . . Student Bill Long, a regular participant in the Wednesday night sessions of the "knights and pawns" fans, recently defeated Prof. John Lasley, ace chess player of the University math department . . . Return match rumored.

The table tennisters cross rackets again tonight in the year's third ping-pong tournament . . . There's a drawer full of jewelry, class notes, purses, wallets, and assorted addenda in the office lost and found compartment.

Appellate by National Definition

A special committee composed of representatives from various phases of student government, met Tuesday afternoon to consider a solution to our confused court system. At that time, Bill Crisp appeared before the aggregation and pleaded with those present to give the appellate power of the Student Council a try under a new system. That system, according to our impression, is similar to the actual practice in our national courts. The appellate court does not take it upon itself to go through the complete case again, duplicating the whole court process. The student tried by the lower court does not come before the appellate court, neither is the name of the student known by the Student council.

Here is a sample case:

John Ringlo is tried before the Men's Council for cheating on an accounting lab. The Men's council considers all of the evidence of the case and passes sentence on Ringlo. Following this an accurate report of the complete case and the sentence is compiled for the permanent files of the Council and for future use.

Ringlo, after hearing of his sentence, does not believe that it is fair because he knows of similar cases and the sentences were not so harsh. For this reason he feels that he has reason to appeal to a higher court. He does; whereupon the Men's council looks back into their files on the case and these records, which contain only a file number and not the name of John Ringlo, are given to the Student council. The Student council's duty is not to have a retrial. Their task is simply to examine the case history and determine if the sentence, in the light of past cases, is fair in all of its aspects. Never is there a retrial on part of Student council nor is the name of the person concerned in the case known to the members of the council. If any member is informed of the identity of the defendant, then that person should not be permitted to review the case.

In this manner, the councils, by keeping their files on the various categories of offenses, would build up a tremendous archive to determine the fairness of a sentence.

This system, we believe, is very superior to the one employed in the past—reopening cases and re-enacting the trial. It is not a personal issue between the members of the lower court and the appellate court.

What we admire in this system is that it is completely devoid of personalities when it gets to the appellate stage. The appellate court does not know the identity of the defendant nor the plaintiff, if any. Neither do they know how the individual members of the lower court voted on the case.

We will be hearing more of this proposed system. It will be considered further by the appointed committee next week. We urge them to consider all of its aspects. All that it would take for it to go into effect would be the decision of the councils.

The Kids Will Appreciate It

It was brought to our attention recently that the annual sale of Easter Seals for the benefit of crippled children in North Carolina will begin in the near future Our informer also pointed out that through the sale of these seals, the sponsoring civic organization uses all the total receipts in helping children plagued with any sort of crippling ailment. And it is all for children in North Carolina. .

Such a program is worthy of consideration by those who regularly donate to worthwhile causes. The majority of our nationwide "charity" drives are subscribed to because they are widely publicized through national means, thus reaching more of the American public. In the Easter Seal sale, we find a serious conscientious program that is no doubt hampered because of its small scale operation, yet it works on a larger scale to aid the citizens of North Carolina.

Kids maimed or confined to their beds with infantile paralysis, in addition to other diseases or injuries are aided by this worthy drive. They are the boys and girls who live next door to all of us but who are forced to remain indoors because of their handicaps. With the money realized from the sale of Easter Seals—all the money—they will have a better chance to join the others on the ball fields or in the school rooms.

Supporters of the Easter Seal sales in the state are looking for an organization or group on the Carolina campus to sponsor the sale this year. Here is an opportunity for the numerous clubs, church groups or possibly the "Y" to back a worthy cause. Anyone interested in the welfare of their fellow man would be doing a real deed of service by contacting the Kiwanis Clubs and learning more details, and arrange to sell the seals on our campus.

B. B.

Never Trust the Weather

As any newspaper reporter saddled with reporting the weather will tell you—you can't trust the gentlemen who make the rain, the snow, the breezes or fine spring weather like we have been having of late. You can't trust them, and therefore these same weather-saddled reporters have learned not to write a story about the fine spring weather because tomorrow it might snow.

Matter-of-fact our barber told us yesterday afternoon that the biggest snow he ever saw in Chapel Hill came in March. He neglected to mention which March.

Be that as it may, we are enjoying the green-tree smile of sunshine; we are getting our kicks from the fine young people basking on the grass (damp though it may be) before Graham Memorial. We even saw a robin a couple of days ago.

Further evidence that the poet's season has arrived is in the smiles passing between young men and young women in the paths.

One can look forward to standing room only in the arboretum for the next couple of nights.

And has anyone else noticed that as warm weather begins the coeds appear increasingly steatopygous? Friend of our mentioned today that the women hereabouts become one degree more attractive as the thermometer reading climbs one degree higher.

It is a fine old tradition that in the spring a young man's fancy.

If you don't believe it take a look at the store windows where bright ties, pastel sweaters and such are being displayed. If you don't believe it, try eavesdropping on the line the gentlemen are spouting in the Y court. There is no question about it: when spring comes, the sap rises.

It may be a false spring, but we will accept the illusion.

—B.S.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the Daily Tar Heel.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.

Complete Leased Wire of United P...

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Bus. Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser

NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson

SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears

ASST. BUS. MGRS.: Mary W. Sledge, T. E. Holden

ASST. CIRC. MGRS.: Randall Hudson, Don Snow

SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison

EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan

NEWS STAFF: Raney Stanford, Donald MacDonald, Sally Woodhull, John Stump, Herb Nachman, Charlie Gibson, Gordon Huffines, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Paul Rothman, Elaine Patton, Jean Baskerville, Mary Ann Taber, Weddy Thorp, Emily Baker, Miriam Evans, Doris Weaver, Nancy Black, Helen Beam, Daniel Wallace, Sam Whitehall, Helen Highwater.

SPORTS STAFF: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette, Bill Kellam, Larry Fox, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Bill Gallagher.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr., Lena Campbell, Ed Campbell, Al Carpenter.

FOR THIS ISSUE: NIGHT EDITOR: Ed Joyner — NIGHT SPORTS: Bill Carmichael

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

Carolina Carousel

You've Got It --- Now Eat It

By R. Foo Giduz

—Nice weather we're having, isn't it . . .

"The voice of the people has spoken!" —And so spake blase Basil Sherrill, author of the magazine referendum bill, (he smiled when he sed it though!), in referring to Tuesday's Mag mortuary . . . It's just a pretty sad commentary on the train of thought of we of the "younger generation." . . . And those who bewilderedly wonder "What is becoming of the . . ." seems most justified.

Now there seems absolutely NO dispute to the fact that a literary publication at UNC is necessary . . . At least 504 Tarnation tub thumpers haven't let it be publicly known . . . So then, whereintheheck did those 504 illiterate Whiz-Bang addicts germinate from? . . . Send 'em all to Dook, we say! . . . Even triumphant Took-the-Crook himself has signed a petition for a literary quarterly. (Thanks, Took.)

Well, the issue is definitely and totally settled for this coming year, The movement for a literary quarterly is already well started, and we say full steam ahead. —It should be a good experiment; and on that same line here's hoping Jake and his lame-duck session staff will to put out the best Carolina Magazines yet in the four remaining issues

(Never hurts to TRY to educate the masses.)

It's obvious the vote was made on a basis of T vs. CM, and as it should have been, on a basis of humor vs. literary. The referendum was wrong to begin with—Students didn't vote Tarnation into being . . . So you like Tarnation and don't like the Mag, eh? —Often felt that way too. —Also would rather drink beer than study. Therefore why are we in school at all? —That makes just about as much sense.

Okay all of you "narrow-minded dopes at a liberal university." Now you'll know not to believe Carousel's "elexion prdedixions."

As Prof. Phillips Russell, the literary creative chief of the Univ. put it . . ." . . . I wonder what the other schools in the nation will think when they hear that the great University of North Carolina has abolished its century-old literary magazine and now has only a humor publication . . ."—Make it funny, Took!

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Taft Wants Dirt On MacArthur

By Drew Pearson

Washington. — It is considered more than significant that a crack reporter for the Cincinnati Times-Star, owned by the Taft family has left for Australia to cover the route which General MacArthur took on his northward advance from Australia to the Philippines.

The reporter is Douglass M. Allen, Jr., who left for Australia early in January and is scheduled to hit Korea and Japan around April 15, working his way north through the Philippines and the battle-scarred Pacific islands.

Inside word is that Allen will do a little quiet probing of certain incidents surrounding MacArthur's campaign, which, during the war, were shrouded by censorship. One of these is the famous jungle mansion which MacArthur had the Seabees build for him on a hill overlooking Hollandia.

MacArthur aroused Navy resentment—at times, even bitterness—during his northward advance to the Philippines. And if he decides to become a Presidential candidate, obviously it would not hurt his rival candidates, including Senator Taft, to have certain hitherto censored information told to the American public during the crucial days just before the Republican Convention in Philadelphia.

A backstage row is developing over whether the diary of Joseph Goebbels belongs to the United States Government or to the Herbert Hoover Library.

The Goebbels' diary, about 7,000 pages long, was recently discovered in Germany by friends of Herbert Hoover while Hoover was on a survey of Germany's economic conditions. The diary has been carefully edited and annotated by Louis Lochner, former ace Associated Press correspondent in Berlin, and is shortly being released to American newspapers by the North American Newspaper Alliance, with book publication handled by Doubleday & Co., Inc.

However, the Alien Property Custodian claims that all former property of the Nazi government in the American zone of Germany now belongs to the American people, and that the profits from the Goebbels diary should go to the U. S. Treasury. Justice Department officials also claim that the original of the diary should be deposited in the Library of Congress, though friends of Herbert Hoover have already made plans to deposit it in the Hoover Library.

Hitler's propaganda minister kept a most meticulous day-to-day account of his hate plans and his conversations with Hitler. Part of the diary is devoted to diatribes against the Jews and Catholics and tells of vows to liquidate both religions after the war. It is obvious from the diary that Goebbels was insane.

Note—Louis Lochner has done an excellent editing job, with cross-references to the many Nazi figures mentioned in the Goebbels diary.

The public-utility lobby has long been known as the most brazen in Washington, while Senator Ed Moore of Oklahoma has long been known as the tool of one section of this lobby—the gas and oil interests.

But just how brazen this lobby is and how closely it is linked with Senator Moore has leaked out only recently in connection with the appointment of Burton Behling to the Federal Power Commission.

Shortly after Behling's name was first sent to the Senate to be a Federal Power Commissioner, he received a summons to report to Senator Moore's office. There, much to his surprise, Guy Woodward, Moore's chief assistant, introduced him to F. M. Porter, president of the Mid-Continental Oil and Gas Association.

Together, Woodward and Porter tried to back Behling into a corner on the price of natural gas. Particularly they wanted to know how he stood on the famous Rizley Bill which would permit the gas companies to hike gas prices just at a time when customers can least afford it and when gas companies are already making record profits.

Behling was then preparing an exhaustive report on natural gas for the Commission, and to disclose his position in advance would have been unethical. He refused to commit himself.

Whereupon Senator Moore held a political club over Behling's head and blocked his confirmation to the Federal Power Commission.

Moore's bludgeoning was so raw-faced that FPC Commissioner Harrington Wimberly, a fellow Oklahoman, wrote the Senator a letter of protest.

"It seems to me improper," Wimberly commented, "for anyone to seek at this time any commitment from Mr. Behling as to what his position on this very important matter will be before he has had an opportunity to complete his study."

However, whether because of Moore's political club or because of his own personal conviction, Behling has now recommended exactly the price boost for natural gas previously demanded by Senator Moore and his friend, gas-lobbyist Porter.

Incidentally, Moore is now delighted to try to push through Behling's confirmation to the Federal Power Commission.

Mudville Mutterings

Speeders Ignore Traffic Signs

By Dan Sapp

What are we going to complain about now? At last the powers that be have set the ball rolling and the underpinning is being put up around the barracks.

Village political machinery was set into motion again Monday night for the first time in some weeks. Mayor Perry Payne called the meeting but due to some misunderstanding only a few representatives were present so nothing official was done. The members who did attend, however had a good opportunity to get acquainted with the new mayor and some subjects were discussed informally. Among the matters discussed was the ever-recurring playground and community center project which will take some doing but should certainly be worth the effort.

There still seems to be some people in the village, or who drive through the village, who don't seem to take the speed limit signs very seriously. They are placed in prominent places but in case you haven't noticed them, they read: 10 miles per hour on many streets and 15 miles on some others. A number of residents have the right idea and yell at the speeders to slow down. If this doesn't work take their licence numbers. Modern children may be tough but cars are tougher.

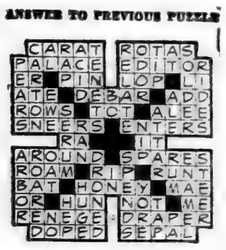
Mr. and Mrs. Bob Durand of Jackson Circle are becoming quite well known in these parts for their musical programs. Each Saturday night the Durands have open house with music to which Bob says, "All friends and acquaintances are cordially invited." Bob's record collection includes over 800 classical recordings.

The SBI At Work

Of Students in Quandaries

By Sergei Burgess

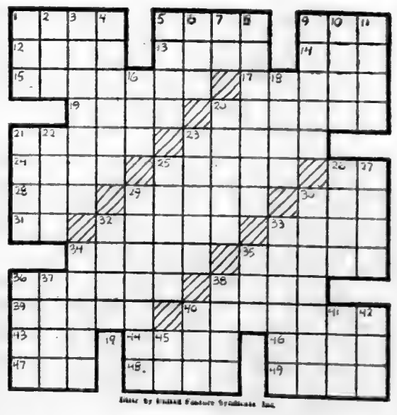
In a recent issue of Carousel my cohort mentioned an amazing advert that appeared in the campus' future solo mag Tarnation. This ad, promulgated by Toemane Tommy and his Marathon Sandwich Shoppe contained, as you probably know by now, a photo of a gajuss babe and then a gentle reminder that, "Besides this type of girl we have good food." Mr. Giduz was interested in discovering the location of "this type of girl." Investigations by the SBI (Sergei Burgess Investigators) prove that one might find the babe in that mysterious little room behind the juke box.



Tarnation brings to mind Pete Gerns, the mag's worthwhile worker. And Pete naturally makes us think of his now-famous "Campus Forum", appearing twice a week or so in the Tar Heel. As a curious person . . . Well, as a person with curiousity, there are a few queries that I'd like to see the stoodents answer. F'instance, do you prefer green hair on coeds or mermaid? If on coeds, why? What is your favorite color scheme? (And the guy who said, "Plaid.") If anyone is interested, they can phone me an answer. I'm listed in the stoodent directory.

Now that Tarnation (It seems that my mind is on mags today) has replaced the Carolina Mag as the official effusion of UNC, it seems that we wouldn't hurt things by breaking away from some more traditions. Suchly: instead of one and only one April Fool's Day DTH per year, why not just one serious DTH per annum. To continue, don't forget to vote for me as a write-in candidate for Yack editor. I'll put out one every quarter rather than every year.

On a note of Sobriety: There hasn't been a big—a really big—beauty contest on the campus But this time let femmes judge the race rather than males. Or to make the thing really interesting, have two groups of judges. One all male and the 'tother all female. The two results should be amusing, if nothing else.



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS

1—Arabian garment (pl.)
5—To go by water
9—To scrub
12—Trick
13—Wager
14—Land measure
15—Light cotton fabric
17—To burn
19—Mud
20—Spice
21—To act
23—Apt
24—Fashion
25—High school year
26—Call for silence
28—Wrath
29—Crabs
30—Dined
31—Tellurium (symb.)
32—Criminal burning
33—Ball of thread
34—Winged
35—Inclined walks
36—Royal home
38—Musical passage
39—Sailor's greeting
40—Token
43—Edge
44—Gen. Bradley
46—Chinese coin
47—Fuss
48—Memory
49—Kind of fish

DOWN

1—Great wonder
2—Small piece
3—In the fashion
4—Arab
5—In sound mind
6—Own (Scot.)
7—Pronoun
8—Injuries
9—Where cattle graze
10—To incite
11—Brew
16—Anger
18—Taverns
20—Untried
21—To give off
22—Additional
23—Kind of tea
25—Flavor
26—To pace
27—Cute
29—Farm machine
30—Book of facts
32—Cry of despair
33—West Pointers
34—Texas battle
35—Gypsy
36—Kind of rubber
37—Greedy
38—Wrap for burial
40—Dull finish
41—Afternoon party
42—Ancient
45—Month (abbr.)

Bobbing in Sports

—with—

Bob Goldwater

Everybody Agrees

THE WEATHER WAS Nice yesterday—Nice with a capital N—and no one considered that fact more than the gentlemen who use Woollen gym as their base of operations. Moreover, quite a few of the coaches—both those with winter and springtime duties—readily gave their views on the subject that occupied everyone else's attention.

Commented Walter Rabb, as he directed several of this year's diamond hopefuls to start limbering up, "If this continues, we'll get in some good baseball practice when regular drills get under way."

And Ralph Casey, in the absence of Dick Jamerson down Alabama way, exclaimed, "Fine day for swimming," and to his charges, he directed, "Everybody in for a dip!"

Down in the main office of the Woollen athletic establishment, Chuch Erickson had golf on his mind as he anticipated "going out and shooting a few holes."

Chuck Quinlan was brief and to the point, with a hale and hearty, "Everything's sunny on the wrestling and weather front."

Over in the Tin Can, Dale Ranson took time out to think about the situation, finally drawled, "Well now, we're not too concerned about the weather outside, what with the indoor meet coming up. And not only that, but we also. . . .".

It wasn't the present weather as much as that of last week that bothered Carl Snavely. "The field's still wet, so we'll wait awhile," observed the Silver Fox. "Now if it can only stay that way."

John Kenfield is currently out of town, but if he was around he'd probably mention about the fact that "Everyone's making a big racquet' about all this beautiful weather."

Last, but not least, Tom Scott, when queried as to how things nape up for Saturday night, responded, "Lovely day, isn't it? Hope I still think so Sunday morning."

Terrible Terrors

FOR THOSE WHO don't realize it, Coach Scott actually has much more to think about than the weather. For invading the local hardwood come Saturday evening is the terrible—but not Red—Terrors of N. C. State, with basketball mayhem on their mind and a blood-thirsty look in their eyes. The object of their attention will be the job of putting the big brown ball through the little white hoop enough times so as to accomplish three things:

1. Score more points than do the Phantoms.
2. Maintain their high-scoring pointmaking pace,
3. Continue to roll to national cage honors.

Needless to say, State will be a heavy favorite to fulfill all three objectives, especially the former. For despite gaining the advantage of playing on their own familiar court—recent statistics give 10 points as the advantage gained—the Tar Heel cagers will be minus Norm Kohler, their brilliant guard. Withouta doubt, Carolina loses on the exchange.

But while things definitely don't look too promising for Saturday, all hope is not lost for the locals. For one thing, the doctors have returned a verdict of "maybe" in regard to Kohler's chances to get back for limited action in the conference tournament next month. And for another, Carolina is at least certain to gain entrance into the tourney, while such powers as Duke, Wake Forest, et al, are still in danger of having to buy their way in to view the proceedings.

Coming Attractions

BUT WITH THE weather as warm as it was yesterday, much of the sports spotlight was focused on the attractions to come up next quarter after basketball, swimming, wrestling, and indoor track have called it quits for another season. Schedules are still being compiled for the four spring sports, but tentative arrangements point to the curtain-raisers for the out-in-the-open-under-the-sun activities coming up as follows:

Baseball—with Springfield on March 24.
Tennis—with Michigan State on March 29.
Golf—with Harvard on March 30.
Track—first team effort to be Carolina Relays on April 30.

It might also interest those taking book on where the Carolina baseballers will do their baseballing this year to know that Emerson field is expected to be in shape in plenty of time for the opener. The recent good weather (there we go on the weather again) allowed the completion of the seal on the concrete heat tunnel, and the big ditch running alongside the field has finally been filled in. So all that remains is to clear off the field and put it back in good or better condition as when the digging started. At that, it could stand the improvement.

LOCAL BOY MAKES GOOD DEPT. Carolina's number one referee and umpire delux, Frank Murray, hit the Big Time in the refereeing ranks last night when he called the State-Duke game over in Raleigh. The State athletic department asked Murray to handle the job after Dick Culler decided the Raleigh fans were a little too demonstrative in their objections to his decisions.

Swimmers Gunning For Last Records

Carolina's Blue Dolphins, who have recently been making more records in Southern conference pools than was the Decca company before January 1, will be gunning for the three remaining loop marks that they don't hold and their 35th straight victory in conference competition when they face George Washington's mermen in Bowman Gray Pool at 8 o'clock on Friday night.

Head Coach Dick Jamerson has been in Birmingham for a physical education conclave since Thursday but his able aide, Ralph Casey, has had the Dolphins furiously churning the chlorine of the local pool in th's week's practice sessions.

According to Casey, the Carolina tankers are in tip top physical shape and will be ready to add the conference records in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle and the 400 yard freestyle relay. Floyd Drew and Mike Morrow will be out to set new sprint marks, while the speedy relay quartet of Jim Mericka, Jesse Greenbaum, Steve Osborne, and Drew will also be splashing for a record.

More than 75 contestants have entered the nine-event Interscholastic Championships which will be staged in Bowman Gray pool at 2:30 Saturday. The entries are still pouring in and are expected to top the 100 mark. Georgia Military Academy, last year's runner-up, has entered a team and is ranked as the favorite.

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

Intramural Swim Finals In Bowman Gray Tonight

By Larry Fox

Finals in the intramural swimming tournament will begin at 7:30 tonight and the water will continue to churn in Bowman Gray pool until all 16 events will run their course.

First event on what promises to be an all-night agenda is the fraternity 25-yard freestyle. Tag Montague will probably be installed as favorite in this event on the basis of his 0:11.8 time in the semi finals, which rated as the best in the division. Eddie Knox did the distance in 10 seconds flat in the dorm division, but he will have to compete with last year's winner in the event, Art Quackenbush.

Quackenbush represented the Med School last year when they scored a clean sweep to capture the title in their group. He is still swimming with the medics.

Backstroke Event

Phi Gam's Bob Tomlinson turned in a 0:14.2 25-yard backstroke in the semis and is favored to capture that event tonight. Last season John Bippart captured that event plus the 50-yard backstroke to supply two of the five ATO victories in the tourney. This year, however, he is doing his swimming for Coach Dick Jamerson and the Blue Dolphins.

Dan Steigman, varsity football player swimming for Kappa Sig, did the 50-yard breaststroke in 0:32.4, but he will have to compete with Chuck Berman, TEP, who set an intramural record last year while winning that event.

Boo Walker, of the Med School, won the dormitory diving title last year and enters the springboard competition as favorite.

Swimming Gridder

Knox, who also plays a little blocking back for Coach Carl Snavely, turned in the best time in the 50-yard freestyle, a classy 0:26.5. In the fraternity division, Chuck Holder, SAE was only two tenths of a second behind Knox's time. Holder holds the record for the 50-meter freestyle, 0:29.7, which he set in 1946.

Best fraternity time in the 50-yard backstroke was posted by Roy McKenzie, Phi Gam, 0:37.6. The current record for the 50-meter distance was set by Bippart last year.

The Med School, represented by Walker, will probably take the 100-yard freestyle. Walker won the 100-meter event last year and will be out to retain his title.

Defending champs are entered in both divisions of the 150-yard medley. The medics, who won last year, are unopposed in that event and will be swimming against the stopwatch tonight.

Mural Schedule

25-yard Free Style

Fraternity: P. Montague (DKE), B. Tomlinson (Phi Gam), C. Hutaff (KA), G. Harrington (Sig Nu), W. Haywood (Phi Delt), H. Frend (KA).

Dormitory: I. Zirpel (Emerson), R. Pettit (Graham), J. Kennedy (Miller), W. Vest (Emerson), E. Knox (Emerson), A Quakenbush (Med School).

50-yard Back Stroke

Fraternity: W. Jones (Kap Sig), MacDuffie (Sig Nu), T. Gilman (Phi Gam), R. Tomlinson (Phi Gam), D. Logue (Sigma Nu), R. Smith (KA), B. McCleod (Phi Delt).

Dormitory: J. Curtin (Lewis), T. E. Walker (Med School), J. Kennedy (Miller), W. Griffitn (Lewis), R. Pettit (Graham), W. Vest (Emerson).

50-yard Breast Stroke

Fraternity; C. Berman (TEP), D. Smith (SAE), H. McKeever (Phi Gam), D. Steigman (Kappa Sig), P. Faroute (Phi Gam), P. Frend (KA).

Dormitory: D. Bunting (Emerson), S. Smith (Lewis), R. Moses (Graham), F. Mills (Med School).

Diving

Fraternity: H. McKeever (Phi Gam), B. Dungey (Sigma Nu), C. Rose (Kappa Sig), J. Kirkland (Zeta), B. George (Phi Delt), H. Frend (KA), H. Farlow (KA), H. Jenkins (Kappa Sig).

Dormitory: E. Knox (Emerson), B. Phiwehart (Lewis), R. Peck (Emerson), T. E. Walker (Med School), A. Garris (Med School).

50-yard Free Style

Fraternity: C. Hustaff (KA) W. Haywood (Phi Delt), J. Langley (Sigma Chi), C. Holder (SAE), S. Gardner (KA), D. Logue (Sigma Nu).

Dormitory: E. Knox, (Emerson), A. Moritz (Aycock), W. Parkinson (Med School), I. Zirpel (Emerson), W. Vest (Emerson), R. Pettit (Graham).

50-yard Back Stroke

Fraternity: R. McKenzie (Phi Gam), W. Jones (Kappa Sig), G. Valentine (Sigma Chi), R. Smith (KA), D. Dempsey (Phi Delt), B. Aldridge (Lambda Chi), B. McCutcheon (Phi Delt), M. Horton (Phi Delt) J. McCrary (Kappa Sig).

(See MURAL, page 4)

Current Titleholders Slated to Defend Quarter and Half Mile Crowns in Games

By Morty Schaap

(This is a second in a series of articles analyzing the various events in the Indoor track meet)

Middle distance events always prove to be the most interesting contests in a track meet. The 440-yard run or quarter-mile and the 880 or half-mile always produce a thrill. The events are in the Sixth Annual Southern Invitation games a week from Saturday in Woollen gym.

The champions in both events will be back in competition in the meet to try and defend their laurels. Ed Matthews of Maryland will be out to take the quarter and Roger Neighborgall of Duke will try and make it two years straight in the half.

Chief competition in the quarter will be furnished by Bob Black, freshman at Carolina and former National scholastic champion, Loren Young of Duke, Art Garibaldi of Navy, Chuck Chambers of State, Norm Rucks of South Carolina and probably

Carolina Sport Shop
PRESENTS
Record Listening
Now Is The Hour
Charlie Spivak
Margaret Whiting
Bing Crosby
Because
Perry Como
I Cover The Water Front
Mel Torme
Carolina Sport Shop

Of Dubious Condition

NORM KOHLER

Cagers Resume Drills; Kohler Definitely Out

Resuming practice after a day of rest on Monday, Carolina's White Phantoms began their preparations for their game with N. C. State College here on Saturday.

Coach Tom Scott held to his regular practice procedure for the team yesterday, with work on both offense and defense being the order of the day. Scott says he has no special scheme planned to stop the high-scoring Wolfpack, but the Carolina mentor did travel over to Raleigh on Tuesday night to see State subdue Davidson, 89-52. The victory was the eighth straight for Coach Everett Case's conference leaders.

The status of Norm Kohler, Carolina guard who injured his leg in the Maryland game last week, still is a big question mark. Kohler is still taking treatments and he definitely will miss the remaining games on the regular schedule. If the injury responds to treatment he may be ready to go when tournament time rolls around.

Jayvees Promoted

In an effort to take up the slack left by Kohler's injury, five of Coach Jim Hamilton's jayvees will be promoted to the varsity squad for the State game. The five are John Tsantes, Charlie Thorne, Bill Harrington, Bill White, and Pete Peters.

Coach Scott stated yesterday that he had not definitely decided on his starting lineup for the State fray. Bob Paxton is sure to open at one forward, and Nemo Nearman and King Cole will open at center and guard respectively. Scott said he was planning to start Roger Scholbe, the one-hand shot specialist, at the other forward opposite Paxton. The guard post still has not been determined, with Taylor Thorne and Dan Nyimicz the two top candidates.

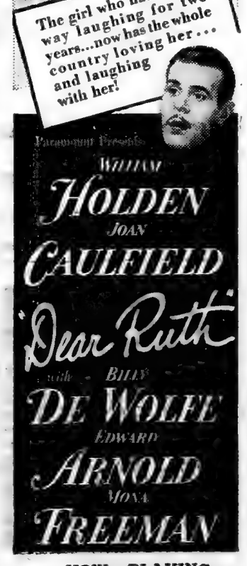
Home Court Helps

State won the first meeting between the two teams, scoring an 81-42 victory in Raleigh. However, the Carolina supporters take satisfaction in the Phantom's unbeaten record on the home court and the fact that in previous years State teams have always had a rough going in Woollen gym.

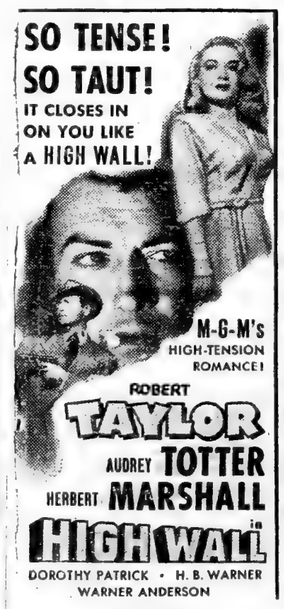
There was one startling surprise in conference action this week. Clemson's cellar-dwelling Tigers upset Duke 53-47, in a game that startled the Devil rooters. Duke now faces rough going if it is to clinch a berth in the conference tourney.

George Washington, another one of the strongest teams in the Southern circuit, had a close call Tuesday night before beating 15th place VMI, 51-45. The Colonials nevertheless, now boast a 13-3 loop won-lost mark.

Town Drops Pi Phi In Coed Cage Test



Town's basketball sextet handed Pi Phi's cagers their first defeat, 28-15, in one of the crucial games of the final coed tourney doubleheader last night. Tri Delt defeated Carr by a one-point margin, 13-12, in the nightcap of the twin bill.



The victory for Town placed them in a first place tie with unbeaten Chi Omega, holding an unblemished 4-0 slate. The campus champ will be decided next Tuesday when these two teams clash at 7 o'clock in the Women's gym. Betsy Ann Barbee and Carolyn Gunther led Town scoring last night with 10 points each while Bill Lloyd topped the losers with 10 also.

Pro Basketball

79 New York Washington 75

The Rage of the Stage..
Now... the smash hit of the screen!

The girl who had Broadway laughing for two years...now has the whole country loving her... and laughing with her!

Paramount Presents
WILLIAM HOLDEN
JOAN CAULFIELD
Dear Ruth
with BILLY DE WOLFE
EDWARD ARNOLD
MONA FREEMAN
NOW PLAYING
VILLAGE

Blackballs, Sigma Chi, Grads Gain Cage Finals

Big news in the fraternity basketball playoffs was the postponement of the Beta 1-KA 1 fracas. Intramural director Walter Rabb explained that the contest was called for a combination of reasons.

"We felt that it would be better for the intramural program if we called the game now and replayed it later on a larger court with a new set of officials," Rabb stated.

Behind at the half, 15-14, the Betas were leading by 13 points, 29-16, with about eight minutes to play when the game was called.

The Blackballs reached the finals of the dormitory playoffs by edging the Mangum eagers, 27-26. Purcell Jones hit for 12 points to pace the winners and teammate Leon Mitchell notched nine. Hugh Powell notched 12 markers to lead Mangum.

Sigma Chi moved into the finals of the frat division by defeating the Phi Gam 2 basketeers, 38-18. Ernest Martin scored 12 points and Bob Brannon, 10 to lead the victors. Tom Stratford led the Phi Gams with seven counters. The Phi Gams were behind at the half 17-8.

In the other basketball game played yesterday, the Grads took a one-point decision over Field House, 25-24. Bill Edmundson led the Grads in the scoring department with 17 points. Sam Cothran notched 10 for the losers.

State Routs Duke In Raleigh, 70-37

Raleigh, Feb. 18—(UP)—The North Carolina State Wolfpack basketball team proved here tonight their apparent supremecy over the Duke Blue Devils which they failed to show last Saturday by running the Durhamites ragged before some 3,700 fans in Memorial Auditorium to annex an easy 70-37.

The losers came within one point of beating the Raleigh lads last week, but tonight the Southern Conference league-leaders controlled the whole show from start to finish in a game that was rather sloppily played at a-mile-minute--pace.

Dick Dickey was the high man for the winners tossing in combination of eight field goals and eight foul shots for an aggregate of 24 points.

Tar Heel Badminton Team in 6-0 Shutout Win Over Burlington

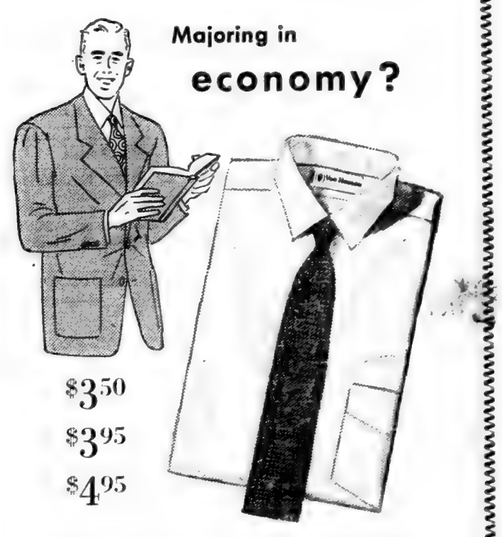
The Carolina badminton team closed its season last night with a record of four wins and two losses by virtue of a 6-0 shutout win over the Burlington bird chasers at Woollen gym.

The summary:

Singles—Taylor (NC) defeated Lamm, 15-5, 15-5; McGinty (NC) defeated Willing, 15-10, 15-0; Pugh (NC) defeated Brannock, 15-6, 15-2.

Doubles—Taylor and Pugh defeated Lamm and Brannock, 15-7, 12-15, 15-10; Strayhorn and McGinty defeated Smith and Newbourn, 15-8, 15-5; Smith and Wadsworth defeated Williams and Morton, 15-3, 15-1.

Ping Pong Tourney Set for GM Tonight



Graham Memorial is sponsoring a one-night table tennis tourney tonight, according to an announcement by Nancy Tucker, GM recreation officer. Play will get underway in the new game room at 7 o'clock and a campus champ will be crowned before the night over. Coronation will consist of the presentation of a book of theater tickets.

Mural Schedule

Rifle Shooting

Naval Armory 7:30—Phi Delta Theta.

Phone 8686
Dr. William Kohn
OPTOMETRIST
Over Carolina Coffee Shop
Office hours:
9:00-1:00 Sat.
9:00-5:00 Tues. & Thurs.

Majoring in economy?

$3.50
$3.95
$4.95
Yes, prices are an important item in every college man's curriculum these days, and that's one thing that makes Van Heusen shirts so popular. For these fine shirts are priced amazingly low! Other things that college men like are: smart new low-setting "Comfort Contour" collar styling; the action-tailoring; the figure-tapered fit; the tug-proof pearl buttons. In whites and exclusive patterns, in your favorite collar models. Sanforized—these shirts will stretch your budget but they'll never shrink out of size. You get a new shirt free if one does. $3.50, $3.95 and $4.95. PHILLIPS-JONES CORP., NEW YORK 1, NEW YORK.
You're the man most likely to succeed in
Van Heusen Shirts
TIES • SPORT SHIRTS • PAJAMAS

They're better looking—— ——They're longer lasting
Van Heusen Shirts
from
JACK LIPMAN'S

Mrs. Charlotte Lochhead Speaks Tonight On 'Carcers For Women'

Mrs. Charlotte B. Lochhead, director of the Adult Education Division of the Public Relations department of Standard Oil company will speak here tonight on "Careers for Women" at 7 o'clock in Graham Memorial. Mrs. Lochhead's visit is being sponsored by the Carolina Independent Coed association, Pan-Hell, the YWCA, and the Stray Greeks.

Mrs. Lochhead has had wide experience with discussion groups, and has assisted executives in various divisions of the company to organize discussion forums with other businessmen, ministers, educators and labor leaders. She has traveled extensively and had contact with many influential people in the adult education field.

Before she took her present job with Standard Oil company in 1942, she worked as vocational counselor and educator with the YWCA in Boston, Mass., and Brooklyn, and did public relations work with Packard Business school and Bloomingdale's Department store.

CHARLOTTE LOCHHEAD

-Mural-

Dormitory: W. Griffith (Lewis), J. Wratton (Emerson), J. Curtis (Lewis), T. Holbrook (Everett), Manning (Med School), E. Washington (Emerson).

100-yard Free Style

Fraternity: J. Langley (Sigma Chi), J. Blount (Sigma Chi), P. Montague (DKE), J. McCrary (Kappa Sig), H. McKeever (Phi Gam), Harrington (Sigma Nu).

Dormitory: A. Mortiz (Aycock), T. E. Walker (Med School), E. Washington (Emerson), T. A. Hearn (Emerson), S. Smith (Lewis), R. Jones (Lewis).

150-yard Medley

Fraternity: Phi Gam (J. McKenzie, P. Firoute, B. Tomlinson), Kappa Sig (J. Rogers, R. Barab, C. Homan), Sigma Chi (G. Valentine, J. Blount, J. Langley), SAE (A. Holder, J. Smith, D. Smith), Sigma Nu (D. Logue, C. Snow, B. Harrington), Phi Delt (D. Dempsey, W. Haywood, G. Turner).

Dormitory: Med School (A. Quackenbush, H. Manning, F. Mills) swim for time.

200-yard Free Style Relay

Fraternity: KA, Kappa Sig, Phi Gam, St. Anthony, Phi Kap, Sigma Nu.

Dormitory: Emerson, Medical School.

Wallace Club Hears UMT Query Tomorrow

A report on the conference held in Washington last week against Universal Military Training will be the main feature of the meeting of the Wallace for President Club to be held in Gerrard Hall tomorrow night at seven o'clock. The meeting was attended by four members of the local Wallace Club. Bill Richardson, local chairman and vice-chairman of the State Committee of the new Progressive Party: Vera Scales, John Myers and Jerry Hodgson.

DEAN TO SPEAK

Dean Katherine Kennedy Carmichael will speak on "Devotions" at tonight's meeting of the YMCA committee on You and Your Religion. Meeting in the Y library at 7 o'clock, the group will hold an informal discussion following Miss Carmichael's talk

CHEMISTRY JOB INTERVIEWS

J. M. Galloway, director of placement announced yesterday that R. R. Ralston, representative of General Electric company will be on campus today. He will interview prospective chemistry candidates for B. S., M. S., and Phd. degrees for jobs with the company. Interested persons should contact the placement office, room 209 South building.

Talley To Assist Marine Recruiter

Walter R. Talley, of Bradenton, Fla., has been named by the Commandant of the Marine Corps to assist Captain Lawrence W. Smith, Jr., USMC., in the procurement of eligible students for the Marine Corps Platoon Leaders class.

Talley, a Sergeant in the Marine Corps Reserve (Inactive), last summer attended the advanced training for veteran students at Marine Corps School, Quantico, Va., and will receive a commission in the Marine Corps reserve as second lieutenant on graduation. He was in training for the six-week course offered for veterans with at least a year in the armed forces.

The Platoon Leaders class is open for eligible students of the freshman, sophomore, and junior class who enroll for the program. Talley and Captain Smith have the necessary data concerning the PLC program.

Talley resides at the ATO house, and Captain Smith has his office in the Naval armory on South Columbia street.

Campus Calendar

2:00 p.m.—Charlotte club dance committee, Roland Parker lounge No. 2.
2:00 p.m.—Senior class steering committee, Grail room.
4:00 p.m.—Campus party, Roland Parker lounge No. 2.
4:30 p.m.—Young Democrats, Roland Parker lounge No. 1.
5:00 p.m.—World Federalists, Grail room.
5:00 p.m.—Women's Glee club, Hill hall.
5:15 p.m.—Lenten services, Episcopal church.
6:30 p.m.—Recorded dinner music, main lounge.
7:00 p.m.—Freshman Friendship council, YMCA.
7:00 p.m.—Mrs. Charlotte Lochhead, public relations director, will speak to women students on "Careers for Women," main lounge.
7:00 p.m.—Golden Fleece, Grail room.
7:00 p.m.—Ping-pong tournament game room.
7:00 p.m.—You and Your Religion committee, Y library.
7:00 p.m.—Winston-Salem club, Roland Parker lounge No. 1.
7:00 p.m.—YWCA Junior council, Grail room.
7:00 p.m.—Carolina Independent Coeds association, main lounge.
7:30 p.m.—Student legislature, Di hall.
:30 p.m.—Law Wives bridge club, Horace Williams lounge.
7:30 p.m.—Student Republicans club, Roland Parker lounge No. 1.
7:30 p.m.—Western North Carolina club, Roland Parker lounge No. 2.
7:30 p.m.—Student for Democratic Action, Roland Parker lounge No. 3.
7:45 p.m.—Carolina Dames club knitting and sewing group, Y building.
8:30 p.m.—Piano recital by Helen McGraw, Hill hall.
8:30 p.m.—"North Carolina Viewpoint," WHHT and WRAL.

Symphony to Give Evening Concert Here On Sunday

PROF. EARL SLOCUM

The University Symphony Orchestra, directed by Prof. Earl Slocum, will give a concert Sunday evening, February 22, at 8:30 in Hill Music Hall. The public is invited.

A varied program will include the new composition, "Brassy Prelude," by Rudolph Ganz, just written last year. Other selections will be Beethoven's "Lenore No. 3 Overture"; Franz Schubert's Symphony No. 5 in B flat major, and the Polovetsian Dances from the opera, "Prince Igor," by Alexander Borodin.

Guest Soloist

A feature of the program will be Dohanyi's "Variations on a Nursery Rhyme," written for solo piano and orchestra. Mrs. Margaret Leinbach Kolb of Winston-Salem, will be guest soloist.

The Orchestra, which is composed of students, faculty and townspeople, gives three formal concerts a year and furnishes accompaniment for various choral works and for light operas presented by the Carolina Playmakers and the Music Department.

SOCCER DEADLINE

All entries for the five-man soccer tourney must be in by 6 o'clock this evening.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6815

Quick Service
DURHAM OPTICAL COMPANY
215 W. Main St.
Phone F-2141 Durham

Fiction
Step Down Elder Brother
By Josephine Niggli
Februrady Book of The Month Club selection
Ab's Intimate Bookshop

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Durham's newest and best pawn shop
Larger Loans on Anything of Value
We appreciate your business
Located 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

CLASSIFIED

ANNOUNCEMENT 1

THE BAND LOOK MAGAZINE PREdicts as the "Band of '48" in person—DANCE 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. Thursday, Feb. 19—CLAUDE THORNHILL and his orchestra, featuring Fran Warren and Gene Williams. Alamance Roller Dome—Intersection Highways 54 and 70, Burlington, N. C. Admission $2.60 plus tax. (1-1731-2)

ONE BELIEVER IN THE ABILITY of the campus writers to write literary material and the capacity of the Carolina Students to accept same would like for anyone sharing these sentiments to come by or leave a note at 29 Old East. Purpose in mind being the establishment of a literary quarterly. (1-1794-2)

FOR SALE 6B

ZENITH CABINET MODEL RADIO-Record player combination. Features Cobra Arm, frequency modulation, and short wave. Also fine collection of classical and semi-classical records. Phone 9882. 1-1792-1

PUPPIES—COLLIES, COCKER SPANiels, and Beagles. Nathan Veterinary Hospital, phone 4531. (ch 1x1)

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

CONVERTIBLE PLYMOUTH 1933. NEW motor job. $250.00. Contact N. C. Barnes at 6 Old Frat Row after 3 p.m. Call 8031. 1-1791-1

HELP WANTED 8

POSITION OPEN FOR COMPETENT combination bookkeeper and secretary with growing concern. Chance for advancement. Box 907 Chapel Hill, N. C. (1-C1795-1)

SERVICES OFFERED 19

COMPLETE MODERN RADIO APpliance service shop now open and ready to serve you. We call for, deliver. Johnson-Strowd-Ward Furniture, 122 West Franklin, Telephone F-3491. (ch 1x1)

WANTED TO RENT 24B

APARTMENT WANTED FOR STUdent couple without children. Write 29 Old West. 1-1789-1

LIL ABNER By AL CAPP

Educate yourself in Shakes-beer—at HARRY'S

BE WISE... ECONOMIZE... FOR WISE BUYS... BUY ANN PAGE!

We're featuring a little "wise owl" this week to guide you to the Ann Page wise buys . . . guaranteed top quality at a saving. Ann Page Foods are A&P's finest, made of carefully selected ingredients in A&P's own modern Ann Page food factories.

ANN PAGE FOODS A&P's FINEST

A&P SUPER MARKETS

SPARKLE . . . Ann Page Gelatin Desserts . . 3 Pkgs. 19c
MACARONI . . Ann Page or Spaghetti . . 3 8-Oz. Pkgs. 25c

Ann Page Grape Jam ..... 2-Lb. Jar 39c
Ann Page Blended Syrup ..... Pt. Bot. 25c
Iona Lima Beans ..... 2 16-Oz. Cans 19c
Ann Page Vanilla Extract ..... 1-Oz. Bot. 17c

Ann Page Salad Dressing ..... Pt. Jar 33c
Sultana Peanut Butter ..... 1 Lb. Jar 29c
Ann Page Salad Mustard ..... 1-Lb. Jar 15c
Ann Page Prepared Spaghetti ..... 2 15¾-Oz. Cans 23c

BEANS . . . Ann Page Boston Style or With Tom. Sauce . . 2 16-Oz. Cans 25c
PRESERVES . . . Ann Page Peach . . 1-Lb. Jar 23c

WHITE HOUSE EVAPORATED MILK 3 Tall Cans 39c
MILD & MELLOW COFFEE 8 O'CLOCK 1-Lb. Bag 49c 3 Lb. Bag $1.15
VIGOROUS & WINEY BOKAR 1-Lb. Bag 45c 3 Lb. Bag $1.29

NOW A&P GIVES YOU LOWER FOOD PRICES

During the past week you have noticed lower prices on many important food items in your A&P Food Stores. These prices are a direct reflection of the reduction in the market cost of the food to us, which we are able to put into effect promptly because of three basic policies of conducting our retail business. First, we endeavor to buy our food from primary sources of supply such as farmers, meat packers and grocery manufacturers and move it directly to our stores and warehouses. This keeps down the cost of distribution to us and the price to you at all times. Second, when the cost of food to us goes down we do not wait until we have exhausted supplies on hand, but endeavor to reflect reductions in our retail price promptly. Third, we are food merchants and not food speculators. We do not build up great reserves of food at any time. We are in the market day to day buying food to meet our customers' day to day needs. You can always be sure that A&P prices will follow the market trend and that any further reductions in the cost of food to us will promptly result in lower prices in our stores. You can trust A&P to give you lower prices whenever and whereever it is possible. You can trust A&P to give you the best quality food and the most food for your money.

SWIFT PREMIUM HAMS
WHOLE OR STRING ENDS

Whole or Shank end SWIFT PREMIUM HAMS lb 53c
BUTT END HAMS lb 55c
Swift Premium BACON lb 69c
Whole or half—Swift's LEG O' LAMB lb 59c
Square cut SHOULDER OF LAMB lb 39c
Super Right BEEF ROAST CHUCK lb 59c
Rib or Loin End PORK ROAST lb 47c
Pattie or Link BROOKFIELD SAUSAGE lb 59c
Short Shank SMOKED PICNICS lb 49c
FATBACK lb 25c

Select Your Favorite Cut of Chicken
FRYERS, Table Dressed lb 64c
HENS, Table Dressed lb 55c
HADDOCK FILLETS 49c
PERCH FILLETS 42c
COD FILLETS 39c
SCALLOPS 96c

SUNNYFIELD SELF-RISING FLOUR 5-Lb. Bag 41c 10-Lb. Bag 80c
IONA SLICED OR HALVES PEACHES No. 2½ Can 25c
A&P FANCY APPLE SAUCE 2 No. 2 Cans 27c
MOTTS OR RED CHEEK APPLE JUICE Qt. Bot. 15c
STANDARD PACK PACKER'S LABEL PEAS 3 No. 2 Cans 29c
IONA WHITE OR GOLDEN CORN No. 2 Can 17c
CAMPBELL'S TOMATO SOUP 2 10½-Oz. Cans 21c

Newtons ..... 7¾-Oz. Pkg. 19c
Wheaties ..... 8-Oz. Pkg. 14c
Swift Jewel ..... 1-lb. Pkg. 34c
Sunnyfield Flour For Pancakes .. 20-oz. Pkg. 13c
Selfrising Flour Pillsbury .... 5-lb. Bag 49c
Sunnyfield Corn Flakes ..... 8-oz. Pkg. 12c
Sno-Sheen Cake Flour Pkg. 41c
Libby's Tomato Juice .... 2 No. 2 Cans 25c

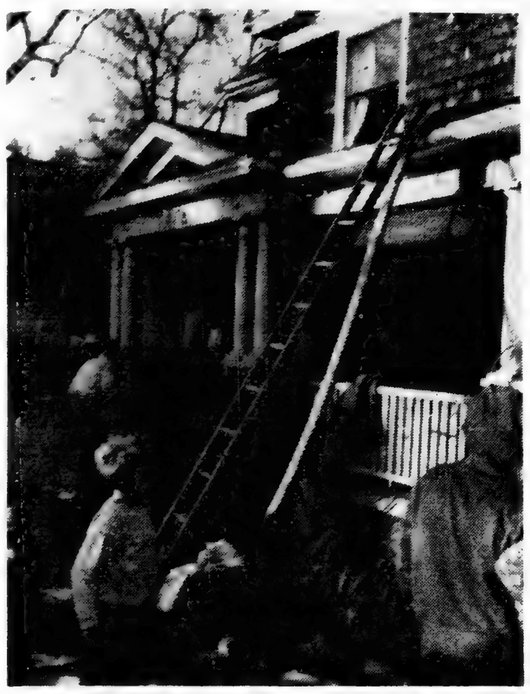
Daily Dated MARVEL Sandwich BREAD 18 Oz. Loaf 15c
Jane Parker HOT CROSS BUNS Pkg. 25c

NECTAR TEA BAGS 50 Ct. Pkg. 41c

IVORY SNOW Lge. Pkg. 36c LIMITED QUANTITIES
SPIC & SPAN 2 Pkgs. 43c
OCTAGON SOAP 2 Bars 19c LIMITED QUANTITIES
SUPER SUDS Lge. Pkg. 36c LIMITED QUANTITIES
DUZ Lge. Pkg. 36c LIMITED QUANTITIES
DREFT Pkg. 33c LIMITED QUANTITIES
OCTAGON SOAP FLAKES Lge. Pkg. 36c LIMITED QUANTITIES
PALMOLIVE SOAP 2 Bath Size 29c LIMITED QUANTITIES

A&P Super Markets

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48



WEATHER
Considerable cloudiness; windy and becoming cooler.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
General Holdridge
Raleigh Restaurants
Literary Quarterly

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 105

Student Legislature Approves New Set Of Election Laws

STUDENTS ARE SHOWN above removing furniture and personal belongings from the Alpha Gam house which was damaged by fire Wednesday afternoon. First estimate of damages was set at $6,000 or more. Members of the sorority have been unable to obtain storage space for furniture while repairs are underway and requested yesterday that anyone having space please notify Barbara Poole at Alderman dormitory. (Photo by Roland Giduz courtesy of Durham Morning Herald.)

$260,000 Bond Issue Passed For CH Street Improvements

The Chapel Hill Board of Aldermen at their regular meeting this week passed unanimously a bond ordinance calling for the expenditure of $260,000 for permanent improvements, mainly for a new sewage disposal plant and sewage lines and paved streets, and set Tuesday, April 6, as the date on which citizens will be asked to approve the ordinance by a majority vote of those participating in the balloting.

The sewage plant calls for an expenditure of $230,000, and new sewage lines are put down at $192,302. Improvements on the old plant are estimated at $15,198. These figures total 425,000, and the University, which shares this service jointly with the town, will pay $225,000 of the $425,000 or approximately 55 percent.

Constructed more than 20 years ago, the present sewage plant is now 100 percent overloaded and health officers say it constitutes a serious health menace to the community. The lines as well as the plant itself are heavily overloaded and the manholes overflow in some sections of the community at times.

A total of $35,000 is set up in the bond issue budget for streets. This includes asphalt or tar paving for nine dirt streets, totaling 17,000 square yards, and seal coating for 20 streets, totaling 46,000 square yards not covered in last fall's street improvement program.

The amount set up for equipment totals 25,000. This includes the following items: Caterpillar clam-shell tractor, to be used mainly for garbage disposal by land fill method, $12,000; motor grader, to be used mainly for streets, $5,000; three trucks, $6,000, and miscellaneous items, including mowing machines, sewer cleaning equipment, and new calculator and other office equipment, $1,400.

Gas Fumes Kill Two At Princeton Lab

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 19—(UP)—Two Princeton university graduate students and a college employe are in serious condition at Princeton, New Jersey hospital, after being knocked out by gas fumes.

Two other workers were killed by the fumes which escaped while being transferred from a tank to cylinders at the university's chemical laboratories.

Member of Board To Succeed Weil

Raleigh, Feb. 19—(UP)—Governor Cherry has appointed a member of the State Board of Agriculture to fill the unexpired term of the late Lionel Weil of Goldsboro. Weil died recently in a Baltimore hospital.

The new board member is Dr. R. E. Earp of Selma. He will serve on the Board of Agriculture until May 4, 1949.

Earp is a native of Johnston county and operates one of the county's largest farms. He is a graduate of Wake Forest college and the University of Pennsylvania Medical School. Dr. Earp practiced medicine in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and returned to Johnston county in 1936 to take up farming.

Nazis Ruled Innocent Of Killing Prisoners

Washington, Feb. 19—(UP)—The American War Crimes court in Nuernberg, Germany, has ruled that it was no crime for the Nazis to kill captured members of resistance forces who failed to live up to the rules of war.

The Tribunal says most of the partisan bands that harrassed German troops in the Balkans didn't wear proper uniforms or insignia. Therefore, says the Tribunal, they didn't follow the rules of war and thus weren't entitled to be treated as prisoners of war.

However, the American court did take action against Nazi defendants found guilty of killing other Balkan civilians who had attacked the Germans.

Elmendorf Heads Carolina Co-op For Coming Year

John Elmendorf was named to head the University co-operative for the coming year at the group's annual meeting Wednesday night in the Medical building auditorium. The new board of directors who will take office with Elmendorf, consists of Tom McDade, vice-president; Joan Templeton, secretary; Dan Price, treasurer; Clay Cochran, J. M. Lear and Henry Saunders.

Co-op members also heard the financial report for the past year and voted their thanks to the retiring treasurer, Dr. Kottke. Elmendorf said the excellent financial conditions of the Co-operators allowed a 5 per cent dividend on all stock held in the concern, and also an additional 5 per cent return to ex-G.I. purchasers on sales received in the group's grocery store.

McNairy is Chairman

The Co-ops Education committee was increased at last Wednesday's session, and Herbert McNairy was chosen as the new chairman.

Members at the meeting also discussed the possibility of operating a Co-op filling station in Chapel Hill.

"The Co-op board of directors wants to thank all members for their support and cooperation during the past year," President Elmendorf said. "At the same time, it is definitely urged that all those who feel able to help in any of the work of the Co-op make themselves known to us. We have already solved some of our hardest problems, but there remain still more ways in which to work together to help provide some relief from the pressure of high living costs here in Chapel Hill."

Jack Girard Seeks Senior Presidency On UP Ticket

By Herb Nachmann

Jack Girard of St. Petersburg, Florida, will seek the office of president of the Senior class on the University party ticket.

Girard is a member of the Student Legislature, member of the Inter-Fraternity council, served on the Yack staff for two years, and was president of Chi Phi for two terms.

He entered the University in the fall of 1942. After serving in the army, he returned to Carolina last fall as a commerce major.

His running mate will be Ed Davenport from Winterville, N. C. Davenport is a member of the Legislature and the Elections committee and is chairman of the Kappa Alpha rushing committee. He is a transfer from Wake Forest where he was a member of the debating team. He served in the Navy during the war.

Seeking the office of Social chairman of the class will be Jack Thompson, a transfer from Tulane university where he was freshman and sophomore class social chairman.

A Sigma Chi, Thompson is social chairman of the fraternity and originated the Sigma Chi sweetheart derby and ball. While in Louisiana, Thompson was assistant manager of the Colonial Golf and Country club.

Running for the office of secretary on the UP slate will be Elizabeth Leggett from Annapolis, Md. She was a member of the Honor council and on the dean's list while in junior college. Since entering Carolina she has been active in "Y" work, has been on the dean's list and is the University party representative from the Tri-Delt sorority.

Rita Adams from Scotland Neck, N. C. and a transfer from Agnes Scott college in Atlanta, Ga., will seek the post of treasurer. While in Agnes Scott she was assistant editor of the Agnes Scott newspaper, member of the freshman cabinet, debating society and was division chairman of the Lecture association.

Since entering Carolina she has served as a member of the House council at McIver dormitory, is a member of the DTH staff and the University News bureau.

Di Senate Endorses Magazine Petition; Racial Question Brings Hot Discussion

An endorsement of the current petition for a campus literary quarterly was the one measure passed Wednesday night in a two-hour meeting of the Dialectic Senate which featured numerous other bills and substitutes, ammendments and counter-ammendments, and a veritable circus of tabled ideas.

The strongest contention of the evening was Senate Bill No. 4 to the effect that Negro students should be given equal educational opportunities in the South. The bill, reported out of the Ways and Means committee by James Southerland, proposed that committees from the legislatures of the Southern states should meet to plan and request state appropriations to establish regional schools for colored people.

Bill Jernigan spoke to brand regional schools idealistic but impossible, citing the existing fourteenth amendment of the constitution and past legal cases as evidence of inadequacy. He presented a substitute bill maintaining that the legislatures within the respective states should plan and finance their own schools individually and not with the states combined into regions.

Run on Amendments

Several ammendments arose. One was Charlie Hodgson's move that the states decide the amount of their own appropriations, and his views were quickly defeated by oral vote. Another idea was Merle Stevens's motion that admission to Southern graduate schools should not be determined by race or color. It was defeated. The last opinion formally voiced was Gran Childress's insisting that before anything was done to afford Dixie Negroes "education comparable to that received by students anywhere in the country", as the original bill specified, white students in the South, too, should be given educational facilities equal to those already enjoyed by students in the North. This, too, met defeat before the entire Negro educational measure along with Jernigan's substitute bill was tabled for Di debate at some later date.

The magazine referendum was

(See DI SENATE, page 4)

Joyner Discusses Lawyer Problems

Practical problems facing the lawyer in the removal of suits from the state courts to federal courts were discussed by Colonel William T. Joyner of Raleigh at a luncheon session of the Vance Inn chapter of Phi Delta Phi, international legal fraternity, at the University.

The luncheon, held at the Carolina Inn, was the occasion for the installation of officers for the spring semester of the University Law school.

New officers are Robert Stockton, Winston-Salem, magister; Livingston Vernon, Morganton, clerk; Walt Brinkley, Lexington, exchequer; and Francis Parker, Charlotte, historian.

Commerce Frat Hears Jas. Volger Discuss Business

"Success is the ability to grow to a respected position in your own community," James B. Volger declared at a banquet sponsored by the Delta Sigma Pi professional Commerce fraternity at the Carolina Inn last night.

Mr. Volger, executive secretary of the North Carolina Food Dealers association and candidate for State Treasurer, reviewed the history of small business associations in North Carolina and the nation.

Stating that only some 70,000 of the more than 400,000 food stores in the United States belong to an association of any kind, Volger cited both the need and influence of the Food Dealers association.

Recalling the days when he first entered the business world as being a lonesome, hard journey, he said the North Carolina association had been largely influential in having certain household necessities removed from the sales tax list in this state and pointed to present efforts of the association to break the taxes on oleomargarine.

Urging the members and guests to remove the object of money from their ambitions, the speaker stated that the fundamental ingredients of thrift, honesty, and dependability, coupled with vision and a willingness to change with the times, will automatically bring success and friends.

He asserted "There is as much opportunity for success in small business today as there was 30 years ago, and perhaps more."

Pointing to small businesses as "the backbone of the nation," the Charlotte legislator cited such organizations as the Lance Packing company and Radio Station WBT as having been humble beginnings by men, "willing to see an idea through."

Following the talk a Delta Sigma Pi key was presented to Mr. A. C. Gaskill who was recently initiated into the fraternity as a faculty member.

LEGISLATURE ABSENCES

The following members of the Student Legislature were absent from last night's meeting and are requested to turn in their excuses to the Rules committee by the next meeting of the lawmaking body, according to Rules committee Chairman Jim Fort:

Margaret Allred, Dick Allsbrook, Norman Black, Len Butt, George Drew, Edie Knight, Dan Logue, Wally Robertson, Jim Volger.

Women's Council Holdover Amendment Is Passed; Other Changes Proposed

Literary Quarterly Magazine Proposed In Bill Introduced by Basil Sherrill

By Chuck Hauser

After being revised by amendments too numerous to count, a new slate of campus election laws was passed unanimously by the Student Legislature last night.

The new set of regulations was brought out of Jess Dedmond's Elections committee early yesterday evening, but the evening was worn late when Speaker Jack Folger's gavel rapped to announce the approval of the measures by the Legislature.

Council Amendment

The constitutional amendment providing for a holdover member on the Women's council also passed the law-making body, with only one opposing vote. The amendment will go before the student body for ratification in the April 6 general campus election.

Under the heading of new business on the agenda, Legislator Basil Sherrill introduced a bill to establish a literary quarterly magazine on campus, to be known as the Carolina Magazine.

Underwrite to $2,000

The bill provides for the Mag to be supported through voluntary subscriptions and advertising, and to receive no appropriation from the Legislature. That body is to underwrite the publication to the extent of $2,000, however.

An amendment to the constitution brought to the floor from the Ways and Means committee by Sherrill in the absence of Chairman Tag Montague was recommitted by motion of Jo Farris. The amendment provided for all business passed by the Coed Senate, with the exception of social regulations, to be approved by the Student Legislature.

To Abolish HPB

Speaker Pro Tempore Miles Smith introduced an amendment to abolish the House Privileges board. As in the case of other new business introduced, it was referred to committee for consideration at next week's session.

Ernest House, chairman of the Finance committee, also brought forth changes to the constitution—two of them.

The first amendment House presented provided for the inclusion in the constitution the power of the Court of the Interfraternity council to try its own cases with regard to violations by fraternities of standing agreements set up within the fraternity system. This addition to the document is in answer to the attacks on the Interfraternity council which have recently charged the council with violating the constitution.

Impeachment Power

The second House amendment provides for the power of impeachment of student government officials. Provisions of the measure specify that a majority vote of the Legislature will be necessary to start impeachment proceedings and that a two-thirds vote of that body, sitting in judgment on the accused, will be necessary to oust the person concerned.

Executive appointments from President Tom Eller's office approved last night were all concerned with seats on the Student Legislature. The following persons were seated by the body: Joe Leery, Gene Turner, Johnny Clampitt, Herschel Keener, and Ralph Sherrill. Mike Rubish's name was approved by the Legislature but he was not present to be sworn in with the others yesterday evening.

The elections laws, as presented out of committee, as amended, and as finally passed will be discussed at length in a future issue of the Daily Tar Heel.

12:00

Snavely Comments

By United Press

Football Coach Carl Snavely has admitted having "some discussion" with the professional Los Angeles Dons.

Snavely has opened up just a little following published reports that he has been offered the job as coach of the Dons, members of the All-American Football conference.

The Carolina coach puts it this way, "The Los Angeles Dons and I have had some discussion relative to their coaching position, but no commitment of any kind has been made."

Declining to say anything more than that, Snavely goes on to announce the Tar Heel football team will begin winter practice sessions next Monday. The practice has been postponed several times because of bad weather and field conditions.

Los Angeles, Feb. 19—(UP)—The Los Angeles Dons admitted today that they have offered their head coaching position to Carl Snavely of North Carolina, but the club says that the Grey Fox has not signed yet. He is expected to give an answer within the next few days, it was reported.

Cold Wave Heading Towards East Coast

By United Press

Old man winter still seems to have plenty of life left.

The north central states are in the grip of another cold wave. The Chicago weather bureau says the cold will go as far South as Oklahoma and Arkansas and probably will reach the Atlantic coast by Saturday.

The mercury has dropped to below zero at many places in the midwest, registering drops of as much as 50 degrees since midday yesterday.

With the cold wave fanning out over the northern part of the country, the South is having its troubles with floods. Army engineers say more than 400,000 acres of low land in the Mississippi delta are under water. In Mississippi, national guardsmen are working shoulder to shoulder with 300 convicts to reinforce the levees south of Greenwood.

Plans for Quarterly Literary Magazine Up for Discussion at Meeting Tuesday

By D. Francis MacDonald

As a result of general campus interest shown in a petition which has been in circulation since Wednesday, persons interested in forming a literary quarterly have planned a meeting to be held at 7 o'clock Tuesday night in the Roland Parker lounges in Graham Memorial.

The decision to meet formally came early yesterday afternoon after the petition had been signed by over 1,100 persons, more than the necessary one-tenth of the University student body.

Next week's meeting is expected to include a general discussion regarding the possibility of establishing a literary quarterly to replace the 104-year-old Carolina Magazine, after its announced death as a result of Tuesday's magazine referendum.

If it is definitely decided that a quarterly-issued literary publication should be born, the discussion will turn towards the question of a publisher and by what methods funds will be appropriated.

Also on the meeting's agenda will be the possible election of a committee chairman to head the motion, a secretary and four possible committees—executive, finance, prospect, and organization.

The petition, which began its campus circulation Wednesday afternoon, reads, "We, the undersigned students, urge the establishment of a literary quarterly at the University of North Carolina."

Before the Student Legislature, expected to bring the referendum results up for comment, met last night, the document bore the names of Tarnation Editor Tookie Hodgson, Mag Editor Fred Jacobson, Mag Managing Editor Charlie Gibson, Tarnation Business Manager Pete Gerns, Mag Literary Editor Bill Sessions, DTH Editor Barron Mills, Tarnation Associate Editor Tom Kerr, DTH Managing Editor Ed Joyner, and other prominent publications figures.

A FARMHOUSE NEAR EAST BRADY, Pa., is completely engulfed by the rising flood waters sweeping over the banks of the Allegheny River as heavy ice jams back the waters up in many sections. Several buildings in the area were demolished as the ice choked waters surround them. Officials called the situation "unpredictable," reporting that a long ice gorge continues to jam the section. (International Soundphoto)

Mills Stones

Gen. Holdridge: Chief Crackpot

By Barron Mills

A man who may very well, in my own estimation, wear the badge denoting him as the chief crackpot of all the crackpots, is the General H. C. (no relation to Court House) Holdridge. The retired general is a man who would have us believe that he endured the caste system of the army and the kicking around of the military-minded for 30 years (until he reached the grade of Brigadier General) suppressing the pressure inside of him which was not relieved by the normal safety valve of all army gripes—bull sessions.

I just can't tag along with the man who pats the crowd on the back which happens to be in his surroundings. The caste system in the army is not something which was built up over night. Even the General readily admits that the caste system is a hangover of the Prussian militarism. It would seem that as an officer in the army, who must follow the command of the higher link, he himself would have had to practice the caste system. Now that the general is out of the army he is taking it upon himself to plug for the vice-presidential nomination (we will not say democratic) and sees that the army methods peeve ex-GI's and can be shaped into a vote-getting device.

Don't misunderstand us. We do not approve of the army's methods, but neither can we trust the general's sincerity.

* * *

This one thing was not enough to set us dead straight against Civilian Holdridge. His inconsistencies in statements confused the issue and again tagged the speaker as a hypocrite.

In answer to a statement concerning Wallace, he stated that he did not string along with Wallace because he is in no position to accomplish anything this year. Later he stated that his own "People's Party" was established, not as a hope of accomplishing any political victory, but solely for educational purposes. Would someone kindly inform me what the general means. He says he did not go in with Wallace because he thought Wallace was not in a position to accomplish anything and yet the group he did go in with is only for educational purposes???

"In 1952," continued the speaker, "Wallace may be in a position to accomplish something." Evidently the General had received the wrong pitch from the tone of the question about Wallace. Little did the general know that a high percentage of the approximately 150 present were active Wallace boosters.

Still, in pushing the question further, the Wallacites did not catch the clue dropped by the ex-general, who lives in the shadow of the Pentagon building. He said in effect, that after the Democratic Party nomination he may be in a position to say nice things about Wallace. This would indicate that if Holdridge does not get the Democratic Party nomination for vice-president (and there's no reason in his kidding himself; he won't) he would join up with the Wallace faction.

WHAT'S UP in Graham Memorial

Spring (if such be the case) is great stuff. . . Where the main lounge and Rendezvous used to draw fair sized crowds both afternoon and even[illegible] social[illegible] for[illegible] student[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

Carolina Jayvees Edge Duke, 44-41; Dolphins Meet George Washignton

Charlie Thorne Is Leader of Attack In Waning Minutes

By Morty Schaap

Durham, Feb. 19—Two baskets in the last two minutes of play by little Charlie Thorne enabled Coach Jim Hamilton's Carolina Juniors to defeat the Duke University Juniors, 44-41, in a thrilling preliminary to the Duke-Virginia varsity tilt here tonight.

The win enabled the Chapel Hill outfit to even its season series with the Blue Imps at two games apiece.

Carolina was trailing 41-40 in tonight's fray with just 1:05 remaining in the game, but then Thorne took charge. The Rocky Mount youth hit a long set shot to give his team a 42-41 edge, and he then proceeded to ice the decision with a layup shot just a few seconds later.

Minus Tsantes

Coach Hamilton's juniors were playing without the service of John Tsantes, regular center and high scorer. Tsantes has been promoted to the varsity and stayed in Chapel Hill to work out with Coach Tom Scott's cagers who are preparing to meet State College tomorrow night.

Duke held a 27-22 margin at half-time tonight and appeared on its way to another win over the Carolina boys. But in the second half Coach Hamilton ordered his charges to switch to a zone defense, a system that is not used often in games this year. The result, however, proved satisfying, for Duke could get but 14 points in the second stanza.

The game did not turn up with too much in the way of brilliant playing by either team, with the play being ragged on both sides.

Scoring Leaders

Hal Ferraro, the jump artist from Kansas, set the pace for Carolina tonight with ten points. Thorne, who did his scoring in the clutch, accounted for nine. Farinella, a guard, led the Duke team in scoring with 14.

Sandy Hoft, a rangy veteran, replaced Tsantes at center for Carolina and turned in a creditable performance. He scored six points.

The box:

Carolina	Pos	Duke
Ferraro (10)	LF	(9) Thompson
Peters (3)	RF	(3) Powers
Hoft (6)	C	(0) Simmons
Thorne (9)	LG	(14) Farinella
White (6)	RG	(7) Penny

Carolina substitutes: Gregory (1), Wilkerson (6), Lebed (2), Harrington (1), Gillmore. Duke substitutions: Stone (4), Lauffer (4).

Paxton Still Leading Team Scoring Parade

By Dick Jenrette

Bob Paxton, Carolina's ace scorer, showed signs of regaining his early season scoring punch over this past weekend, accounting for 36 points in leading the Phantoms to two wins in three games. Bob has now upped his seasonal scoring total to 269 points.

Of this total, 140 of Paxton's markers have come in conference play, making him the seventh top scorer in the Southern conference. Chet Giermak, William and Mary, leads the loop with 191 points. Paxton holds the distinction of being the top conference scorer from the Big Four schools—Carolina, State, Duke, and Wake Forest.

With an average of 12.2 points per game, Paxton holds a big lead over his team mates in the individual scoring column. Nemo Nearman, the rangy center, has forged into second place, having accounted for 160 tallies and an average of 7.3. He replaces the injured Norm Kohler, who has missed the last two games. Kohler holds third with 156 points.

Cole Advances

King Cole, whose set shots have been hitting with great accuracy in recent games, ranks next, with 137, and John Dillon, who sees action as a reserve, still has managed 134 points for the fifth spot in the scoring totals.

Coy Carson, 80, and Roger Scholbe, 79, are the other leaders. Scholbe performed particularly well this past week, scoring 28 points in three games.

Coach Tom Scott's charges continued to average in the 50-point bracket in total points a game. The team average is 54.5 to 44.4 for the opposition. Carolina has 1199 tallies overall to 977 for its opponents.

Individual Marks

A brief glance at the other individual marks show that Paxton is the only player to have scored in all of the team's 22 games. He also holds the individual high point total for one game—19 against both Hanes and Maryland.

Four Phantoms have seen action in every one of the games. These boys are Paxton, Nearman, Cole, and Dillon. The latter three have scored in each of the games but one.

The highest offensive evening for Carolina this year came against Elon, in a 74-22 win. The low was 34 in a loss to NYU. The team has won 18 games and lost four this year.

Team Scoring

Player, Pos.	G.	Tp.	Avg.
Paxton, f	22	269	12.2
Nearman, c	22	160	7.3
Kohler, g	20	156	7.8
Cole, g	22	137	6.2
Dillon, c	22	134	6.1
Carson, f	21	80	3.8
Scholbe, f	18	79	4.2
Thorne, g	20	37	1.9
Swartzberg, f	20	36	1.8
Nyimicz, g	18	22	1.2

Titles Are Decided In Mural Swimming

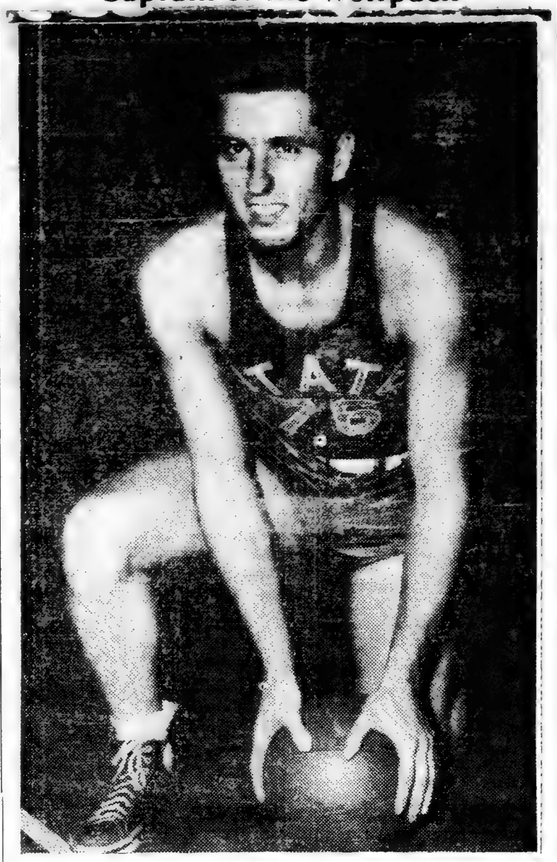
Emerson was the winner of the dormitory intramural swimming championship and Phi Gamma Delta walked of with top honors in the fraternity division of last night's big swimming meet in Bowman-Gray Memorial pool under the direction of the Carolina mural office.

Phi Gam had 37 points to barely nose out KA, with 35, for the frat honors. Kappa Sigma was a close third; with 33 points. Other top teams in the fraternity division were SAE, 14 points, and Sigma Nu, 12 1-2.

Emerson made a runaway with the dorm laurels, scoring a total of 16 1-2 points to 40 1-2 for the Med School. Lewis had 14, Graham had 9, and Aycock had 7 for the other leaders.

Knox Stands Out

Eddie Knox, brilliant Emerson natator, was easily the top individual performer of the evening. He gained top honors in four of nine events to be high scorer for the evening. Montague of DKE, was the only fraternity man able to gain more than one first place. Montague was victorious in both the 25-yd. freestyle and the 100-yd. freestyle.



Following is a summary of the winners in the dormitory division: 200-yd. relay—Emerson (Knox, Zirpel, Wratten, and Best); 100-yd. freestyle—Moritz Aycock); 150-yd. relay—Med School (only entrant); 50-yd. backstroke—Wratten (Emerson); 50-yd. freestyle—Knox (Emerson); breaststroke—Moses (Graham); 25-yd. backstroke—Curtis (Lewis); 25-yd. freestyle—Knox (Emerson); diving—Knox (Emerson).

Fraternity division: 200-yd. relay—KA; 150-yd. medley relay—Phi Gam; 100-yd. freestyle—Montague (DKE); 50-yd. backstroke—McKenzie (Phi Gam); 50-yd. freestyle—Gardner (KA; diving—McKeever (Phi Gam); 50-yd. breaststroke—Steigman (Kap Sig); 25-yd. backstroke—Logue (Sig Nu); 25-yd. freestyle—Montague (DKE).

SWEATERS ARRIVE

The Carolina Sport Shop announced yesterday that Monogram sweaters for fall quarter letter winners have arrived at their store. There are sweaters available for the players on the cross country, soccer, and football teams.

Captain of the Wolfpack

Coach Everett Case's N. C. State college wolfpack is primarily noted for its offensive ability, but in guard Leo Katkaveck the Raleigh outfit has one of the better defensive performers in the South. Katkaveck, the only senior on the squad, is the captain of this year's outfit. State meets Carolina in Woollen gym tomorrow night.

George Washington Threatens Carolina's Runnerup Position

George Washington's Colonials continue to push Carolina for the runnerup position in the Southern conference, and at the latest tabulation of team standings, the Phantoms held no more than a slim 20 percentage points over the Colonials.

George Washington has 13 wins and three losses to ten triumphs and two setbacks for the Carolina club within the loop. Carolina must defeat N. C. State, conference leader, in their meeting Saturday night in order to preserve its second-place rating.

George Washington is favored to cop all its remaining loop games, but Coach Tom Scott's Carolinians face rough going against such improving outfits as Davidson and Duke in addition to State.

Opponent's Need Wins

Carolina already has a bid to the loop tourney next month all wrapped up, but Davidson and Duke, two of the teams remaining on the schedule, are having a real battle in order to qualify for the tournament. Those two clubs will be doubly hard to beat because of their determination to finish among the top teams in the loop.

The tourney will begin on Thursday, March 3, and continue through Saturday night. State, Carolina, and George Washington are the only clubs definitely assured of a berth.

Phantoms Work Hard

Coach Scott and his Phantoms continued a program of heavy

(See PHANTOMS, Page 4)

Standings

Team	W	L	Pct
N. C. State	9	0	1.000
N. Carolina	10	2	.833
G. Washington	13	3	.813
S. Carolina	7	5	.583
Davidson	8	6	.571
Maryland	6	5	.546
Duke	6	6	.500
Wake Forest	5	5	.500
VPI	5	5	.500
Wash. & Lee	5	6	.454
W & Mary	5	7	.417
Furman	3	8	.273
Richmond	2	7	.222
Clemson	2	12	.167
VMI	1	9	.100

REHDER'S
CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Opposite Post Office Corner

Fraternity Work a Specialty
Charles Valentine's Cabinet Shop
FURNITURE
REPAIRED
REFINISHED
UPHOLSTERED
MADE-TO-ORDER
PHONE 9367 — PITTSBORO RD

Carolina Tankmen To Face Weak Foe In Local Contest

By Bill Kellam

Carolina's omnipotent Blue Dolphins, who have been ruling the chlorine-saturated waves of Southern conference pools during recent years as completely as the U. S. Navy dominated the Pacific during 1941-45, will face George Washington their probable 35th consecutive loop victim, tonight in Bowman Gray pool at 8 o'clock. The undefeated Dolphins will also be seeking their sixth straight victory of the season.

The Colonials, who are taking their initial plunges in intercollegiate competition this season broke into the win column for the first time this year when they topped Catholic University earlier this week. The capital city chlorinators have dropped several conference meets including setbacks by VMI, VPI, and Washington and Lee. Their big-best splash is made by captain Fite, who is both a sprinter and diver.

Lettermen To Start

Coach Jamerson is slated to return to Chapel Hill from a Birmingham meeting on Saturday in time to direct the Blue and White mermen. His advent will also mark the departure from the lineup of most of the members of his early season youth movement. Jamerson is returning his lettermen to action in order to recover the four league records now held by State's unbeaten tankers.

Jamerson's ace medley trio, composed of Norm Sper Bob Ousley, and Jesse Greenbaum, will be out to better the new loop mark set by State against VPI earlier this week. Apparently there is something in the water of the Old Dominion A & M

(See DOLPHINS, Page 4)

Trackmen Off Today For Maryland Meet

A party of 12 runners and field men will leave Chapel Hill at 1:30 this afternoon to compete in the first annual University of Maryland indoor games to be held in the New Armory in College Park, Md.

Besides this party Jack Milne and Bob Black departed last night for New York City to take part in the National AAU meet in Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Among the leaders that are going to the Terrapin meet are conference champions Sam Magill, Jack Moody, and Bob Seligman. After the running of this meet much will be known of the strength of the respective schools in the Indoor games at Chapel Hill next weekend.

Duke, State Entered

Coach Joe Hilton is accompanying the squad on this swing into Diamond Back territory. State College and Duke have also entered full teams in the meet at College Park.

Those making the trip are Seligman, Moody, Magill, Hunter Heggie, Dick Taylor, Stan White, Mac McLain, Julian Mackenzie, Mark Burnham, Halstead Holden, and Dave Willis. Three of these boys, White, McLain, and Willis will be making their first performance in collegiate competition.

Milne, NCAA cross-country champion is entered in the three-mile run. Black will run in the 600 and will find his chief opposition in the person of Villanova's George Guida.

Chunk Simmons, late of the University, will also compete in the national event. Simmons is entered in the 60-yard high hurdles. Warren Halliburton, of NYU, is favored to cop the event.

11:05

Kramer Claims—

San Francisco, Feb. 19—(UP)—Jack Kramer, former amateur tennis champion in singles, went on a verbal rampage yesterday, saying that there is not a single outstanding amateur tennis star in the world now. He also criticized those persons who have spread rumors that his professional cross-country series with Bobby Riggs was "fixed."

On the first count, Kramer claimed that anyone of a dozen players could win his vacated crown. He added, "The current crop looks so weak that it is doubtful an amateur good enough for a drawing card could be developed before 1950."

Kramer made one exception—his friend Ted Schroeder. But Kramer says that Schroeder probably prefers to stick to his job of selling refrigerators.

Jack says that's too bad, for he himself expects to make $100,000 in pro matches this year.

The ORIENTAL
Chinese-American Restaurant
116 E. Parrish Street
Durham, N. C.

Those Big Boys Aren't Gridders— They'll Toss Shot in Indoor Meet

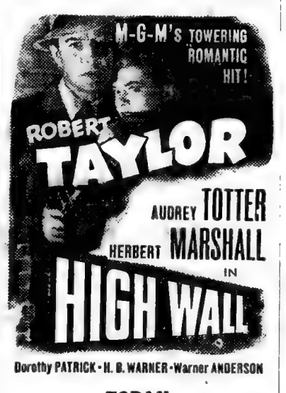
By Morty Schaap

(This is the third of a series of articles discussing the various events in the Sixth Annual Southern Invitation Indoor games.)

The mammoths that will appear in shorts and shirts on the floor of Woollen gymnasium on February 28th are not strays from Coach Carl Snavely's football practice but bona-fide trackmen. Yes these Goliaths are the men who will be flipping the 16-pound shot for the championship in that event.

Bob Seligman of Carolina will be out to defend his championship but will get stiff competition from Jim O'leary of Duke who held the championship in 1946. O'leary was out of school last year but has come back and all reports has hit his stride. State will add two shot putters in the form of Jim Byler and Steve Dostanko. Both these men can top 45 feet and should be close. The dark horse will be Norm Messerole of Tennessee who has been reported as having put almost 50 feet. If he can get off a toss of that distance in the games he will be the sure winner.

Other men who will try to dethrone Seligman include Jim Goodman of Maryland, Tom Wham of Furman, Jim Gardinier of Duke, Bob Leonetti of Wake Forest, Bill Wilson of South Carolina, and possibly Bob Davis of Georgia Tech.



Incidently all of the above men are football players with the exception of Seligman and any coach might have quite a line with these boys, especially having All-American Bob Davis of Georgia Tech to spearhead it.

NO COMMENT

Boston, Feb. 19 —(UP)— Ford Frick, president of the National League, refused to comment on Branch Rickey's recent charge that club owners objected to the signing of Negroes for professional ball in the National. Frick stated he has "no comment now and will have none in the future."

QUALITY FURNISHINGS
at
E. A. Brown Furniture Co.
Next to City Hall
Phone 6586

Whid Powell's
COLONIAL HOUSE SYSTEM
Delicious
WESTERN STEAK PLATE
—Come in and try it—
Rosemary St.—Opp. City Hall

TODAY
CAROLINA

NOW PLAYING
VILLAGE

GRAND OPENING—VISIT OUR NEW Whitman's
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE
REFRIGERATED CANDY DEPARTMENT

EVERY BOX YOU BUY HERE IS GUARANTEED FRESH
Whitman's Candies are kept at a cool, even temperature—assuring that your particular favorites are as wonderfully fresh and flavorsome as only Whitman's can make them. Let your taste be the test—discover how candies that are perfectly confected can taste when they've been perfectly protected.

Frozen Fresh Whitman's
Available Anytime At
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE
"Over twenty-three years service"

Carolina Carousel

Lost History Notes and Worried Neighbors Add to Complications of Alpha Gam Fire

By R. Foo Giduz

Now there's nobody likes a fire better than us, especially when nobody's getting hurt or nothing hot is getting burnt. . . Don't misunderstand it: CC is an unofficial member of the C.H.F.D. and is always the first back-seat firefighter at any blaze . . . —Truly sympathize with Alpha Gamma Delta in their catastrophic and untimely loss, but seldom does any fire go by without its lighter incidents. . . .

Now take the Carouselor, for instance. (You kin have him, he don't want him.) . .He lends his history notes to hapless AGD who lives in the house. . .Fire comes along and the Carouselor dashes into the house like a good Boy Scout and hauls out everything he can find in one room but quick!. . .So yesterday he looks out the room he cleaned out contained his carefully-taken history notes.—And they are G-O-N-E with the winds.

The gentleman who reported the blaze, C. E. Hornaday of Service Insurance and Realty company was allegedly taking a prospective buyer around to the building when they discovered the hot time in the old house. . . CH Weekly editor Louis Graves, who lives next door looked out the window, saw hundreds of people in the AGD yard—He thought it nothing at all unusual; merely figured the Alfagams were having another party.

Prof. John R. Booker of the English dept. lives on the south side of the sorority house. . .So being a naturally cautious gentleman, Dr. Booker telephoned his home on hearing the alarm to find out if it was his own residence. . .Getting no answer he called the AGD's; went through a detailed series of apologies for disturbing them; explained his apprehension, and asked if they would mind looking out to see if his home was burning. . .Blunt was the reply to his innocent query: "Will you get the H. . . off the line; our house is burning down!"

Climax to the whole worx was naturally in DTH's chronicle of the incident yesterday: " . . .fireman attributed the blaze to spontaneous combustion of a sofa. . ." —Well naturally; you know about the Alpha Gamma Deltagals!—Spontaneously, no less!

Baritone, Pianist Appear Tonight In Student Recital

Richard Cox, baritone, and William Waters, pianist, will appear in the first formal student recital of the year tonight at 8:30 in Hill hall.

Cox, a student of Paul Young, is a junior music major from Raleigh and a member of Alpha Rho chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. He has done solo work with the Men's Glee club and was featured in a formal recital last spring.

Waters, from Roanoke Rapids, is a student of Virginia Hare. He is also a junior music major and member of Alpha Rho of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. The recipient of the Graham Lynch music medal for outstanding work in music in high school and the Kay Kyser musical scholarship for 1946-1947. Waters has acted as accompanist of the Men's Glee club on several occasions.

Included on the program tonight will be four English lute songs from the Elizabethan period, two operatic arias from the classical period, and four French songs from the late romantic and modern periods.

Science Students Offered Positions

All science students who will finish their Junior year this spring. and are interesting in securing employment with the Naval Scientific Service, can secure applications and information about this opportunity from Kathryn G. Cook, associate director of the University's Vocational Guidance Bureau, Room 209. South building.

Chemistry, math, and physics majors who qualify can receive special training with the National Bureau of Standards. the Naval Ordnance laboratory, and the Naval Research laboratory, during the summer months, and then obtain leave to return to the University to complete the work required for their degrees, Miss Cook explained. Positions, which are open to men and women, start in the governments subprofessional series and pay $2,394 a year.

Gaskill Is Initiated Into Delta Sigma Pi

Albert C. Gaskill, faculty member at the University, was initiated into Delta Sigma Pi, Commerce Prefessional fraternity, last week as an honorary member.

Gaskill received his B. S. in Commerce in 1943; he is a Certified Public Accountant; a member of the American Institute of Accountants, and of the North Carolina Association of Certified Public Accountants.

Gaskill has been in the Department of Commerce since November, 1943. At present he is the faculty advisor for the Brazen Pillars, a Masonic group recently formed on the campus.

WIVES GET BREAK

Chicago, —(UP)— The Chicago Dental Society is coming to the rescue of the long-suffering wife. It's a device to prevent her husband from grinding his teeth in his sleep. The society has developed a small plastic piece which fits over the teeth and cuts out the noise, even if it doesn't stop the motion of teeth grinding.

-Dolphins-

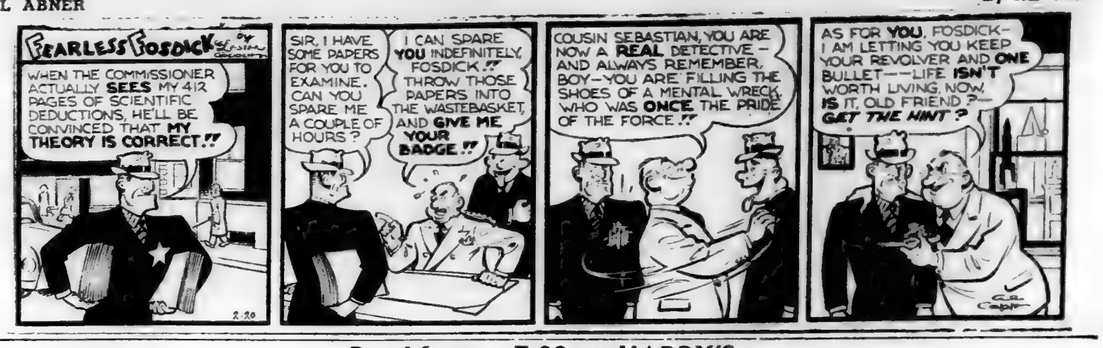
(continued from page 3)

school which is conducive to record-setting for it was in the same puddle that the Dolphins set the previous mark several weeks ago. The Aggie mermen lowered the record only slightly so the chances are good that a new mark will be set in the local pool tonight.

State Holds Marks

The West Raleigh swimmers also hold the conference records in the 50, and 100 freestyles and the 400 relay freestyle. Speedy sprinter Floyd Drew will be stroking the 50 yard mark while Bill Pritchard and former distance man Mike Morrow will be splashing for the 100 title.

-Phantoms-



(Continued from page 3)

drills in preparation for State in their workout yesterday. With the loss of regular guard Norm Kohler, Carolina is the decided underdog. The boys have ample reason for wanting revenge despite the odds. State won the first meeting 81-42.

Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves addressing the U. S. Conference of Mayors in New York, the wartime director of the Manhattan Project which developed the atom bomb, said: "If civilization is to prosper and survive by the achievements of man, scientists who conceive and engineers who develop must be more perfectly prepared to expand than their predecessors."

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

Breakfast at 7:00 at HARRY'S

ARAB SNIPERS CROUCH behind the old city wall (top) in Jerusalem during an attack on the Jemin Moshe quarter of the city. Bottom, four members of the Haganah stand guard with their dogs inside a Jewish settlement in the Negev, the desert area in southern Palestine. They keep constant watch against Arab destruction of the reservoirs. To prevent further bloodshed and to insure partition of the Holy Land, the Palestine Commission has advocated an international army. (International) brought up by Richard Bowen, who asked the Seante to vote that there be a run-off with only the choices of Tarnation and a combination literary-humor magazine in order to reach a more decisive conclusion that the 504 to 500 vote of last Tuesday.

-Di Senate-

(Continued from page 1)

Before discussion on the run-off had progressed far, Randy McLeod moved another of the evening's substitute ideas and successfully gained Senate approval for the petition now being circulated among the student body for the reinstatement of the Carolina Mag as a literary quarterly.

The only other bill remaining on the agenda scheduled was a special bill concerning qualifications to be considered for political nominations here. This measure was also to have suggested additional regulation of campus elections. However, after trying twice during the evening to present this particular bill, Charlie Gibson tabled the proposal he himself had made through the Ways and Means committee in order that it might receive more thorough consideration later.

The meeting Wednesday adjourned with an announcement from Jerry Pettigrew, chairman of the Di membership committee, that several vacancies for new members were now available. Anyone interested in becoming a member of the Senate was invited to contact Pettigrew or Charles O. Long, Di speaker.

THIEF TAKES SCHOOL BUS

Washington, Feb. 19 (UP)— It may sound odd, but a thief has stolen one day's education from 50 school children in Pendleton county, Kentucky.

Someone walked off with the school bus. However, the vacation won't last. Tomorrow an emergency bus will be put into service.

Jerry the Tailor
OVER
N. C. CAFETERIA

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

Campus Calendar

2:00 p.m.—Charlotte club, Roland Parker lounge No. 1.
3:00 p.m.—National Intercollegiate Bridge tournament, Horace Williams lounge.
5:00 p.m.—Anti-UMT committee, Grail room.
5:15 p.m.—Lenten services, Episcopal church.
6:00 p.m.—Student supper and study group, Presbyterian church.
7:00 p.m.—Wallace club, Horace Williams lounge.
7:30 p.m.—Jewish services, Roland Parker lounge No. 1.
8:30 p.m.—Piano and voice recital, William Waters and Richard Cox, Hill hall.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 6B

ZENITH CABINET MODEL RADIO-Record player combination. Features Cobra Arm, frequency modulation, and short wave. Also fine collection of classical and semi-classical records. Phone 9682. 1-1792-1

'42 ROYAL HOUSE TRAILER, GOOD condition, reasonably priced. See at Pines between 2 and 3 P.M. R. C. Potter. 1-1796-1

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1937 DESOTO 4-DOOR SEDAN, $375. Caston Motor Co., Phone F-3891. (chlx1)

HELP WANTED 8

POSITION OPEN FOR COMPETENT combination bookkeeper and secretary with growing concern. Chance for advancement. Box 907 Chapel Hill, N. C (1-C1795-1)

SERVICES OFFERED 19

SEWING FOR INFANTS AND SMALL girls up to size 3. 124 King St., Victory Village. 1-1793-1

WANTED TO RENT 24B

APARTMENT WANTED FOR STUdent couple without children. Write 29 Ofi West. 1-1789-1

SMALL APARTMENT. BETTY AND Joe Reid. Write Box 701. 1-1797-1

THE SHACK
120 W. Rosemary
"Just a Whisper Off Franklin St."
Serving:
Beer
Sandwiches
Eggs — Pickles
Walk a Block and Save a Dime

"I'm Western Electric. I back up your Bell Telephone Service with equipment and supplies."

AMERICAN TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO. AND ASSOCIATED COMPANIES
BELL SYSTEM

There's a good reason why WESTERN ELECTRIC is in this family circle

Western Electric is a member of the Bell System family circle for exactly the same reason that your local Bell Telephone company is a member—to assure the close teamwork that is essential for efficient, economical, nation-wide telephone service for you.

As the supply member of the family, Western Electric makes telephone equipment, buys all kinds of supplies, keeps these things in stock at 29 distributing houses for delivery to the telephone companies, and installs central office equipment.

This unified service of supply results in many economies to the Bell Telephone companies and, in turn, to you who use the telephone.

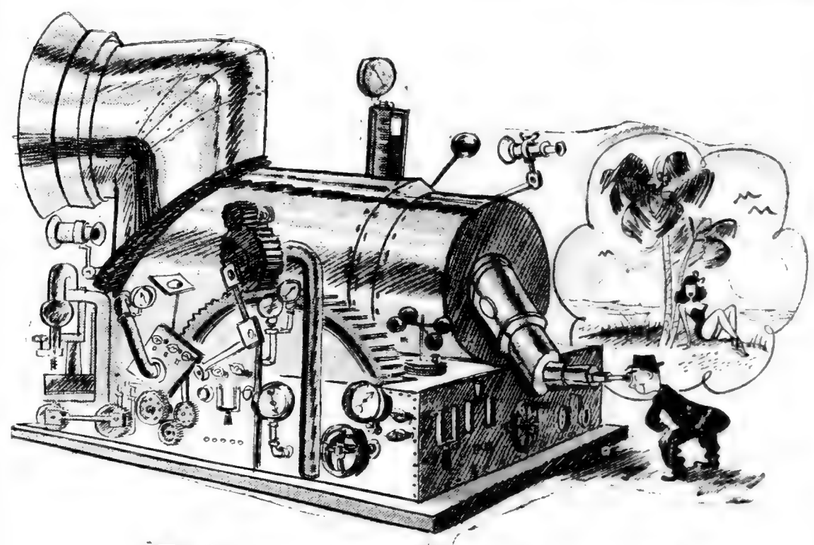
Since 1882, Western Electric has been a member of the Bell Telephone family—helping to make your service the world's best at the lowest possible cost.

Western Electric
A UNIT OF THE BELL SYSTEM SINCE 1882

The making of women's and children's wear requires

VISION FOR THE FUTURE

Creative versatility is a keystone of success in a field in which styling and production techniques must be re-marshalled four times a year to meet the seasonal demands for spring, summer, fall and winter apparel.



KNOWLEDGE FROM THE PAST

A thorough background of artistic and technological understanding is demanded by the need to anticipate in advance the needs of the market, prior to the presentation of new lines to the public.

Introducing

The Women's and Children's Wear Industry to
THE AMERICAN COLLEGIATE PUBLIC

A series sponsored by "Women's Wear Daily," a Fairchild Publication, 8 East 13th St., New York 3, N.Y.

A fantastic idea?

We have here a telescope with extraordinary powers.

All you have to do is point it in the right direction and you'll see that South Sea Island you've always dreamed about. Or those gay, flower-filled streets of Paris in the Spring. Or any other place you've always had your heart set on going some day when all your heavy responsibilities are over.

Sometime a device like this might really be fact instead of fancy. But, extraordinary as it will be, there's one thing it won't ever be able to do. And that's provide the means for you to get there.

That's something you'll have to do for yourself.

For most people, the easiest—and often the only—way to do it is by means of a constant, regular savings program like the Payroll Savings Plan. Having a specific amount deducted from your salary regularly for the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds is one of the simplest, safest ways of accumulating money.

The special Bond-A-Month Plan for those who have checking accounts is another convenient way of saving money.

Either way is safe. And rewarding—both in security and return. A Bond that costs you only $18.75 now will be worth $25.00 in ten years.

Just make sure now that, if and when your opportunity comes, you'll not only be ready and rarin' . . . but able to go.

Save the easy, automatic way—where you work—where you bank

WENTWORTH & SLOAN
JEWELERS
167 East Franklin Street

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Partly cloudy and colder.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
Parlor Clown
Joyner's Tough Time
Student Government Report

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 106

Warriner, Pinnix Capture First In Intramural Debate Tourney

By John Stump

Dortch Warriner and Marshall Pinnix representing Whitehead dormitory are the winners of the intramural debate tournament according to an announcement made yesterday afternoon by Debate council president Earl Fitzgerald.

Runners-up were the Daily Tar Heel representatives Jim Spence and Gilbert Burnett.

The two teams emerged as victors from an original field of 36 teams who debated the controversial Universal Military training issue under Debate council sponsorship.

According to some of the old-faculty members, the 72 entrants who took part in the 76 debates during the course of the elimination made the tournament the "biggest and most competitive ever held at Carolina."

An exhibition match between Warriner and Pinnix, who support the affirmative side of the issue, and Spence and Burnett for the negative will be held in Memorial hall on March 6.

The varsity debate team is scheduled to hold two debates with Wake Forest this afternoon at three o'clock, Earl Fitzgerald, the president of the Debate council, said last night.

The subject of the debates, one of which will be held in the Di hall in New West and the other in the Phi hall of New East, is United World Federalism. It was not known at presstime what side of the topic the Carolina orators would take.

At that time, the winning teams will receive medals for themselves and custody for one year of the rotating 18 and one-half inch trophy sponsored jointly by the Dialectic senate and the Philanthropic assembly. They will receive a permanent trophy from the Debate council and will have their names inscribed on the Di-Phi trophy.

In speaking of the other participants in the final round, Fitzgerald said yesterday, "Particularly close behind were Alice Middleton and Emily Baker of Alpha Gamma Delta and Herb Mitchell and Tom Shelton of Chi Phi."

Emphasizing the closeness of the final round, Fitzgerald revealed that it was at times necessary for members of the judge's panel to have extra time in which to make their decisions. It is an-

(See DEBATE, page 4)

Coeds Compete For Handbook Editor Senate Will Make Final Selection

Editor of the Woman's Handbook is to be selected from the slate of applicants received by the Coed Senate at their next meeting.

The Handbook, a small publication sent to all coeds previous to their entrance to the University, is to familiarize the students with the life at Carolina and to help orient them. It not only gives a picture of the present day campus life, but contains a historical sketch and is the only student publication presenting social rules.

Among the highly qualified applicants are Nina Davis, Doris Weaver, Emily Baker, Randall Hudson, Miriam Evans, Jane Mears, Anne Fleming, and Carter Taylor.

Nina (Bunnie) Davis, reporter for the Daily Tar Heel, was assistant photography editor and feature writer for the Carolinian, WC newspaper, news editor of her high school paper, is working for the Public Relations Department of Graham Memorial here, and is recommended by Barron Mills, editor of the Daily Tar Heel for the position.

Doris Weaver, a student in journalism, has worked on the Wesley Worker, (of Wesley Foundation), does feature writing for the Daily Tar Heel and the Carolina Magazine.

Emily Baker, member of the National College "Blue Pencil Club" is a reporter on the Daily Tar Heel and a journalism student. She was feature editor of the Lee Edwards High School paper and a member of the circulation staff and news staff of the Stratford College paper.

Randall Hudson, member of the Daily Tar Heel staff has worked on the staff of the college paper at Penn Hall, Chambersburg, Pennsylvania; the Pen Hall Yearbook and Pen Points, the college magazine.

Miriam Evans, a journalism major, has experience on the Daily Tar Heel, the Yackety Yack, the Carolina Magazine, and was accepted to Mademoiselle Magazine to serve on the Mademoiselle College Board. In junior college she was college reporter to the Asheville Times and was art editor and editorial assistant of the college literary magazine.

Jane Mears, society editor for the Daily Tar Heel, has served as assistant desk editor for the Daily Tar Heel, was assistant editor of the "Chaser", newspaper at Chevy Chase Jr. College and Tar Heel reporter. She is recommended by Ed Joyner, managing editor of the DTH. Heel, and Roland Giduz, former editor of the Daily Tar Heel.

Anne Fleming had wide experience at Woman's College including work on the Carolinian, the college paper of which she was associate editor and was co-editor of her high school annual.

Carter Taylor, assistant business manager of the Yackety Yack, is associate editor of Tarnation, has worked on college papers at Mary Washington and at Queens College in Charlotte. She is a journalism student and last summer did publications on a construction booklet in Charlotte.

ROOM NOTICE

Housing Officer J. E. Wadsworth stated that men now assigned to dormitory rooms who do not intend to occupy them and fail to release them by March 10, 1948 will be charged for the full rent.

Bolotowsky Gives Art Lecture Here

Ilya Bolotowsky showed color slides of his own work and work of his students at Black Mountain College, where he is guest instructor in art, in an illustrated lecture in Person Hall Art Gallery.

Elaborating his concepts of neo-plasticism, Bolotowsky compared his own works with those of Mondrian and Miro. Characterizing himself as a radical among radicals, he has departed from the strictest tenets of Mondrian to the extent of using diagonals rather than horizontals and verticals exclusively in composition.

Miro, he explained, is to be understood as a story teller because his paintings, full of pyscho-analytic content, in their humor are a kind of "Mickey Mouse for the sophisticate."

Bolotowsky's painting is entirely removed from subject matter and even from dimensions in that he strives to suppress spacial illusions as much as possible.

Phantoms Battle State In Home Finale Tonight

Pictured above are the Kappa Sigma pledge class sponsors who will lead the figure at the fraternity's Black and White ball to be held at the Carolina Inn.

Dates of the pledge class officers, they are:

Upper left: Miss Jean Denny of Raleigh who will accompany Oliver Smith of Raleigh, the pledge class secretary.

Upper right: Miss Peggy Louise Martin of Toms Creek, Va. who will accompany William Claybrook of Reidsville, the pledge activities chairman.

Lower left: Miss Myra Ruth Stone of Raleigh who will accompany Ivan Armsirong of Raleigh, vice president of the pledge class.

Lower right: Miss Mary Marshall Ragland of Raleigh who will accompany Fitz Caudle of Raleigh, the president of the class.

Seven Carolina Cagers Performing In Last Encounter in Woollen Gym

By Bob Goldwater

It's always considered nice to emerge victorious in your final appearance of the season before the homefolks. But towards that end, the schedule-makers weren't at all kind to this year's Carolina cage team, even going so far as to throw the locals to the Wolves—both literally and figuratively—in their last Woollen gym appearance of 1948.

For this evening at 8 o'clock, the White Phantoms of North Carolina and the Wolfpack of North Carolina State will take to the local hardwood in what is expected to be pretty much of a one-sided contest, one that is supposed to take after the first bout between the two foes. That one went to the high-riding Raleigh quint, by an overwhelming 81-42 count. Despite the disadvantage of being away from their own court, the State cage machine ranks as a heavy favorite to proceed full steam ahead to it's tenth straight Southern conference triumph, its 22nd win of the season, and additional honors in national basketball circles.

6,000 To Attend

On hand to see this powerhouse team that they've heard so much about will be approximately 6,000 students and other members of the University's immediate family. Hundreds more—students, faculty, and the general public alike—have had their requests for tickets turned down and will have to depend on the radio lanes for their play-by-play.

For seven members of Coach Tom Scott's combine, tonight's clash will mark their farewell appearance on the home court.

(See Wolfpack, page 3)

NO PARKING PLEASE

Students and townspeople attending the State game tonight are urged to please leave their cars at home and walk to the gym, the athletic department has requested. The reason for this action is the poor condition of the parking fields, which have not yet recovered from the recent spell of weather.

TREES TAKE RIDE

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)—Sheriff's officers were incredulous when someone telephoned that a "tree is moving down the state highway." They arrested Robert Holt, 24, on drunken driving charges. His car had trees protruding from the hood. He had left the highway to plow through a plum thicket.

Chicago Firm Gets Contract For Hospital

Architectural contracts for the new training hospital here were signed this week with the Chicago designing firm of Schmidt, Garden, and Erikson. The subcommittee of the medical school committee of the University board of trustees, headed by Collier Cobb, Jr., of this city, completed these arrangements for the design of the planned 400-bed hospital which will be an integral part of the University's four-year medical school, as provided for by the last session of the state legislature.

Contracts were also signed for general architectural work with Northup and O'Brien of Winston-Salem.

The drawing up of these plans for the hospital, which is to be the first building of the new enlarged medical plant, was authorized by the State Budget Bureau at the request of the trustee's committee on the medical school. The go-ahead signal on the actual construction of the new school is still to be given by the state financial authorities, but the trustee's committee has urged that the project be launched as soon as possible.

Fees Must Be Paid

All students who expect to complete the requirements for a degree at the end of the Winter quarter are reminded that they must have filed an application for a degree with their dean in accordance with the instructions of their particular school.

Degree candidates should also check with the University cashier, Room 01, South building, before the quarter's end, as no degree will be awarded if diploma fees and other required assessments have not been paid.

12:00

Y Winter Conference Opens; Student Leaders Attending

Ninety Carolina students left Chapel Hill this afternoon to attend the Y sponsored Winter conference at Natural Bridge, Virginia. Campus leaders from various campus organizations are among those attending the meet which will feature discussions led by Dr. Cameron Hall of the Federal Council of Churches, New York; Dr Frank W. Hanft of the University law faculty; Professor Warren Ashby of the University philosophy faculty, Dean Fred Weaver; Bill Shuford, director of Graham Memorial and student leaders.

The program was officially opened last night with dinner in the Natural Bridge hotel, scene of the conference, located on a 1600 acre estate in the Shenandoah Valley. Dr. Hall spoke on "The Complexity of Our Age" at the first session at 7 o'clock. The schedule for today includes another lecture by Dr. Hall on "Our Christian Imperative Today", followed by discussion groups led by Emily Ogburn, Bill Shuford, Barbara Cashion, Ruth Evans, Bob Collins, Jesse Dedmond, Bill Miller, Dean Weaver, Ethel Perry, George Worth, Jo Fischel and Gabby Cohen.

Saturday afternoon delegates will have an opportunity to visit points of interest in the vicinity, including Natural Bridge, VMI, Washington and Lee, and Lee's Tomb.

Following a plendary session Sunday morning to receive reports on the discussion meetings, Professor Ashby will deliver the closing address at 12 o'clock, after which the group will return to Chapel Hill.

A meeting to report on the accomplishments of the conference to the entire student body will be held in the main lounge of Graham Memorial Monday afternoon at 5.

PHI ETA SIGMA

All members of Phi Eta Sigma who were initiated in December are requested to call at 206 South to receive their certificates of membership.

Republic Club Elects Officers

Feb. 21.—The Young Republican Club of the University of North Carolina met, organized, and elected its permanent officers last Thursday evening. Bill Hipple was elected president; Parrott Parish, vice-president; Anne Tucker, recording secretary; Morris Knudson, corresponding secretary; and Jack Carson, treasurer.

Ralph Schecter was appointed as chairman of the Membership Committee; Mary Belle, chairman of the Policy Committee; and Jerry Weiss, Public Relations Director.

Miss Coline Smith, representative of the National Republican Club, urges all interested persons to attend the weekly meetings of the local club, which are held on Thursday evenings at 7:30 p. m. in Graham Memorial. A membership drive is being conducted throughout the entire campus.

The Executive Committee, composed of the officers and all appointed committee chairmen, will meet this Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. at 716 Gimghoul Road.

TIME BRINGS CHANGES

SALEM, Ore. (UP)—Twenty-five years ago a group of Oregon State College students accompanied by their professor, Dr. U. G. Dubach, called upon Gov. Ben Olcott at the capitol. Dr. Dubach has just brought another student delegation to Salem to call on Gov. John H. Hall, who had been in Dr. Dubach's group 25 years ago.

World Federalists Plan Off-Campus Future Programs

A report on the program presented to the Greensboro Rotary club by the Carolina and Duke chapters of the United World Federalists was made to the local chapter at their meeting Thursday afternoon.

Students from here who took part were Hank Sewell, Jim Roberts, and Dean Mathews. In making their report, they stressed the interest shown by the Rotarians in world government. Because of this the local chapter plans to present similar programs to other civic organizations in the near future.

It was also proposed at the meeting by world federalists president Jake Wicker that a world government day be held early in the spring quarter. This, if held, would be a day set aside for bringing the idea of world government before the entire campus.

A committee was named to investigate the plan and work out the details.

Truman, Marshall Praise UN Work

President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall have given "orchids" to the U-N for the job it has done in the last year.

The President has filed his annual report to Congress on the U-N and both he and Secretary of State Marshall sent letters along with the report.

Both feel the U-N has done good work, despite, what they call defiance by some nations—the Arab states, Britain, Russia and Argentina. They take these nations sharply to task . . . the Arabs for opposing the Palestine split; Britain, also, for refusing to cooperate in Palestine; Russia, for boycotting the Greek and Korean Commissions; and Argentina, for refusing to withdraw her ambassador from Spain.

Prison Inmate Did Design

Campus Dances and Law School, Along With Library, Play Important Part in Playmaker Theater Development Here

By Elaine Patton

The special coaches on the Richmond and Danville Railroad were filled with merry faces and animated voices—not to mention the curls and full skirts of these beautiful belles arrayed in all their finery as they travelled toward the University of North Carolina. After all, an annual ball at "Carolina" was quite an event and in those days "imports" [illegible] in from Wilmington, Richmond, and even northern [illegible] for whoever dreamed of such [illegible] thing as coeds at the Uni-

[illegible] they arrived at the ball [illegible] finding it magnificently lit [illegible] chandeliers, they weren't disappointed for it was a beautiful [illegible] yes it was! Its portico [illegible] the elaborate Corinthian [illegible] had been based on the plan of a Greek Temple. The [illegible] followed in detail en[illegible] the Tower of Winds [illegible] except that the side [illegible] were parallel. The columns followed Vignola's although the [illegible] of the capital of the column was replaced by a design of [illegible] of corn interpersed with [illegible] of the plant. This design, [illegible] was done by one of the inmates of the N. C. State Prison.

It had been decided, upon completion of Smith Hall, that it could readily accomodate a library with bookcases in the basement as well as the Alumni Association but literary achievement was not to stop there for the boil and bubble of a lab brought the toil and trouble of chem students into the basement of the building previously filled with frivolitry.

Then chemistry bubbles floated out to make way for soap bubbles which filled the building because all self-respecting Tar Heels know they really should take a bath on Saturday nights even if they are away from home so the building was, accordingly, outfitted with tubs and hot water. I never understood the next transition. Surely it is more fun to play around in soap suds than to dig into these encyclopedic law books—but perhaps our Tar Heels got bored with it. At any rate, law replaced bath tubs and ambitious young lawyers slaved away in the famous old building until, after some length of time, they too deserted Smith in favor of their new law Building, Manning.

At this point the history and geology departments clutched greedily for the building—they wanted to fill it with relics for a museum. . . this is where Professor Koch stepped in. The people were hungry for drama and he intended to give it to them. Times had changed since a wandering band of dramatists had entertained the students in a little room over a village store. The students, eager for entertainment, had raised over three hundred dollars for this group which had performed minus stage, minus settings, minus cooperation as the University officials had declared the work of the little band "intolerable profanation."

Koch, having seen local color and local genius (Thomas Wolfe and Paul Green), knew there were great possibilities for drama if he could only be given a chance. For seven years he had used the local high school auditorium, rehearsing while children traipsed in and out across the stage because it joined a hallway which opened on to the outside steps. His work had brought so

(See DANCE, page 4)

Student Written Music, Script Featured In University Hour Program Sunday

By Miriam Evans

When Robert Epstein was assigned to the writing of a radio drama about inter-religious relations to be presented during National Brotherhood Week on Sunday's "University Hour," he knew that to write a good script on an age-old problem he must treat it in an unusual manner. Realizing the allegoric possibilities of the subject, he decided to write a "Peter And The Wolf" type narrative. Good original music was an absolute necessity for the success of such a script, and for this, the University Music department recommended 19-year-old Harold Schiffman, music student from Greensboro. Epstein explained his idea to Harold, and in four days, the young composer returned with complete orchestrations of the music.

Using the music and the title "Symphony In Discord," Epstein began to write the script. He let musical instruments represent the various faiths, tracing inter-religious relations from the beginning of time. Due to the heavy schedule of the Univeristy orchestra, Schiffman asked several musicians to play his music, all willingly accepted. Governor R. Gregg Cherry consented to close the program, which is being sponsored by the Inter-Faith Council of the Women's College at Greensboro, with a short talk on National Brotherhood Week.

Thursday night, the first full rehearsal of the show was held, and Epstein, who is also producing the drama, discovered to his horror, that it was seven minutes short, which in radio's split second timing, can be a major disaster. A member of the impromptu audience said he liked the music and suggested that Schiffman combine the themes into a piece to be played at the end of the program. So, armed with coffee and cigarettes, he went to work, and yesterday morning, the composition was ready, except that it had no name. After thinking of the wonderful cooperation of so many people who believe in better inter-religious relations, the title was obvious. Tomorrow, at 1:30, Harold Schiffman and his orchestra of volunteer musicians will close the "University Hour" with "Rhapsody in Concord."

Clown in the Parlor

The magazine issue has now become nothing more than an amusing comedy of errors. After killing the old lady and moving a clown into her parlor, we have gotten cold feet, tried to backtrack.

Doing away with the Carolina Magazine was not tragic; it was not even catastrophic. It was merely foolish.

Another magazine—a literary quarterly—will probably spring up to take its place before next fall. In a sense, that is what is needed for the presentation of serious writing, anyway. Of course, in neither of the two mags—strictly humor and strictly literary—will there be any place for relatively serious articles on campus affairs. But that is what the campus asked for.

We repeat that abolishing the Carolina Mag was foolish, but considering the campus these days it was a move that all of us should have expected. Signs of apathy (less than a fifth of the students vote except in the spring) and signs of stupidity (look at some of the men they put in office) are everywhere evident.

What could be more natural than that we should lose completely all sense of values and vote to have our campus magazine devoted solely to such sparkling bits of wit as: "He who laughs last has found a dirty meaning."

It is delightful to conjecture as to what might have happened if a seventh alternative: a comic book of the "Famous Funnies" type, had been added to the ballot.

But that is beside the point. The milk has been spilled and the horse has run away. There is no use in crying or in locking the barn door.

The job now is to see that the mistake is rectified as soon as possible. A literary quarterly should be established before next September. Student attendance at Tuesday night's mass meeting for the literary magazine in Roland Parker lounge will convince the legislature of the desire for a quarterly—if that body has not already been convinced by a petition with more than eleven hundred names favoring the quarterly presented to it this week.

Once convinced of student approval, it is the duty of the legislature to underwrite the quarterly.

(A point to remember concerning the mag issue is that more voters Tuesday wanted some sort of literary outlet—in addition to variety material—than wanted a humor mag alone. But—law is law and most of us, most of the voters even—wind up with something we didn't want.)—BS

IRC Forum

The Russo-German Pact

By Jack R. White

The gigantic real estate deal—the Russo-German Secret Pact—was made public by U. S. State Department publication of "Nazi-Soviet Relations, 1939-41."

Before the European War there had been anxious negotiations on the part of France and Britain as well as by Germany to gain Russian favor. Molotov was present at the discussions with France and Britain, but was displeased with the proceedings. Later Stalin met with German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and signed up for what was to be war. In their non-agression pact there was attached the secret part concerning the division of Poland and the Baltic States. Stalin also claimed Besserabia for Russia. This meeting took place on August 23, 1939, six days before Poland was invaded.

War started, and Russia did her part in Poland, but by November, 1939, the Germans decided that the Russians were getting too inquisitive. All during 1940, Russia became more suspicious of Germany. In order to patch up the growing suspicions, Molotov was invited in November to Berlin by von Ribbentrop, to help divide up the world.

In June, 1940, Sir Stafford Cripps had made a trip to Russian to plead with Premier Stalin for a "common policy of self-protection against Germany." He sought agreement on "the re-establishment of the European balance of power." Stalin was not of the opinion that Germany's military successes menaced Russia. The so-called European balance of pewor had hitherto oppressed not only Germany, but also the Soviet Union. The Soviet Union would take all measures to prevent the re-establishment of the old balance of power in Europe.

At the Berlin meeting of mid-November, 1940, the future world was decided on. Western Europe was under German control, and England was in danger of being invaded. But Hitler was not very excited over the possibility of U. S. entry into the war. He proceeded to divide up the world. There would be 40 million square kilometers to work with. Russia was promised access to the ice-free and really-open ocean. The U. S. was expected to "pick out of this bankrupt estate a few items particularly suitable to it."

Hitler said that it would be 1970 or 80 before the freedom of other nations would be endangered by the United States. The United States maintained the Fuehrer, was now pursuing an imperialistic policy. The U. S. had no business in either Europe Africa or Asia.

Russia's attitude of the November meeting was one of skepticism concerning Hitler's promises of real estate that he did not yet own or control. Molotov kept insisting that something be done about what was already in hand. What was Hitler going to do with Finland, Rumania, and Poland? Near the end of November, 1940, Stalin demanded things from Germany that had not been promised. (1) immediate withdrawal of German troops from Finland, (2) mutual assistance pact between Russia and Bulgaria, including bases for Rus-

(See FORUM, page 4)

Carolina Carousel

Ed Joyner Has Tough Night

By R. Foo Giduz

If Tom Eller's Coalition Policy cabinet is any indication of student government influence, the campus might have some radical changes soon. . .(Cabinet is an advisory group of student leaders appointed by the president.) . . .Among other things, the question of Coed Senate came up in this week's meeting. AND, no great objection was raised to the idea of abolishing the Coed Senate!. . .(Moral victory for platform plank no. 98, proposed by the next DTH editor T. Arthur "the people's man" Melton.) . . .Most of the session was devoted to the question of the Student council: appeal or no appeal. . .SC chairman Bob Broughton may or may not be surprised soon when certain members of the Council soon come out publicly in favor of retaining the appellate, which he opposes. . .House divided.

Ed Joyner Triply, DTH man. ed. had a tough time of it recently. . .He had run out of gas twice while going out to the printshop for night editing. . .The linotype broke down . . .And the journalism school's accrediting committee coincidentally came out to check the plant then. . .So he was really ready for the sack when at 4 a.m. he crawled into "Southern Comfort" DTH's ramshackle siation waggin, and headed back for town—Next thing he knew a siren forced him over to the curb, and the local gestapo had summoned him into court next Tuesday for driving with last year's license plates!

GI's can well credit one-third of their monthly pay check to the efforts of AVC in Washington over the past two years. . . It was AVC that sponsored the first bill in 1945, raising subsistence from $50 to $65. . .And the additional $10 hike of Rogers bill, signed last week, was also engineered by AVC. . .

Footnote: AVC opposes a national veterans bonus; supports betterment of the GI Bill of Rights on the thesis that education is the best investment for the future welfare of America. . . Their motto: "Citizens first; veterans second."

Jim Harrington of the Book Exchange wishes to thank all students for their generous contributions recently. . .Nearly $50 was collected and turned over to him last week shortly after his wife died. . .You're mighty welcome, Jim. . .Question of the week: What is the significance of the Blue Devil hanging over the YMCA door?. . .We dunno; the Y doesn't know; and even Saleeb doesn't know!!!. . .Gremlins?

—Celebrated a little prematurely yesterday; saw carpenters working on that d - - - mirror at the BX coffee counter, and thought maybe they were dismantling the atrocity!. . .But no; they only reinforced it and took down view-obstructing glass shelves. . .Give me strength!

Need More Troops

Don't Let Our Guard Down

By Bill Patterson

Up until now, I have devoted my efforts principally to picking holes in the phony arguments against UMT I have been hearing and reading lately. I realize, however, that not all opposition to UMT comes from the lunatic fringe, and it is to the serious and intelligent "anti-umptyers" that I direct the following thoughts.

I believe that failure to adopt UMT would increase the probability of our involvement in an atomic war.

No UMT means inadequate military strength of the conventional type at home if it should be needed. Our small regular army does not even have all the troops it is authorized to have, because of slowness on the part of our young men to enlist voluntarily. What men we do have are scattered all over the globe doing occupation duty. Our military strength is so woefully weak that an enemy striking tomorrow, with conventional weapons, would find us as unprepared, and as conquerable, right here at home, as we were at Pearl Harbor in 1941.

It is conceivable that we could need adequate military strength of the conventional ("outmoded", that is) type in the near future. Why must we insist on being so certain, just because we do not want war, that no one else can want it? If we let our guard down enough, we may receive a knockout blow, (not from atom bombs) so fast that we could not even reach for those push-buttons we are told will win the next war.

Should the first blow fail to knock us out we, having no conventional forces with which to conduct our defense and counter-attack, would be forced to choose between abject surrender to the aggressor or the use of the atomic bomb.

On the other hand, I am convinced that our adopting of UMT would lessen the probability of war of any kind. If potential aggressor nations know that we are capable of mobilizing manpower rapidly, that knowledge alone will serve as a strong deterrent to the kind of aggressive step which could otherwise be taken against us secure in the knowledge that we would hesitate to use the atomic bomb over a relatively minor issue.

For instance, let us say that the Soviet Union has been making some threatening gestures toward that historic objective of Russian expansionist policy. Turkey. We have indicated that Turkey would receive our active aid in the event she were attacked. If we have placed our entire dependence in the atomic bomb, and Russia attacks Turkey, just how do we go about rendering the promised aid? By atom-bombing the Dardanelles? By slaughtering hundreds of thousands of innocent Soviet citizens? Hardly. But—if we maintain a relatively strong military establishment, is it not obvious that the Soviet Union would hesitate long before taking such step?

This is not intended as a complete defense of UMT; other writers have written much more in detail; this is but a hurried development of one phase of the subject that seems to have been overlooked in the rush.

Lunceford Band Will Give Sunday Concert

The Jimmy Lunceford band under the direction of Eddie Wilcox and Joe Thomas will present a two hour concert Sunday night, March 7, at 7:30 in Memorial hall.

The concert, sponsored by the senior class and underwritten by the German club, has two main objectives—long-needed student entertainment and a means of raising funds for the senior class projects. Tickets will be on sale next week at $1 per person.

Student Government Record

Legislature Passes 16 Major Measures

By Pete Gerns

The winter term is already wearing to an end. Legislature has two-thirds of its winter sessions behind it during which it passed 16 measures of major interest to the student body.

Of top importance and very directly affecting everyone was the measure which provided for a referendum on the magazine situation. This bill was vigorously fought and just as adamantly supported by various interests in the assembly and finally emerged in the shape in which it was presented to the student body.

In line with a worthwhile drive by student government members to assist the student body in learning more about their government, a bill was passed providing for reprinting of the constitution in the Daily Tar Heel (about 800 per installment). The speaker of the legislature for this purpose and the constitution will be presented to you shortly.

Two measures affecting our relationship with the National Student association were adopted. The first one provided for association of this school with the regional body of the Association, which takes in Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina; the other bill stipulated reimbursement of expenditures incurred by the two delegates last December when they attended the initial meeting of that body.

Spring seems to turn many a young man's fancy toward amending the student constitution. Several propositions to amend the constitution's section on the jurisdiction of the honor councils have been offered. All of them have so far been flatly rejected. In order to prevent any rash measure on the part of Student Legislature, a committee was appointed to investigate any needs for amendments of our judiciary article. It consists of several members of the legislature and the chairmen of Student council and the men's and women's councils.

One amendment, however, will be submitted for vote by the student body in the spring election. It is a minor one and provides for a hold-over member for the Women's council. Such a provision is already in effect for the Men's council.

Two resolutions concerning student class funds were passed by legislature. A fund was appropriated for class activities, of which 80 per cent has been allotted to the senior class, and 10 per cent, 5 per cent, 5 per cent, respectively for the junior, sophomore, and freshman classes.

Other financial measures include the legislature budget, a bill establishing standard travel procedure for all students in line with the laws in effect in the State of North Carolina, and an appropriation to Graham Memorial of twenty-five cents per students from activity funds collected for presentation of entertainment programs. This latter bill is indeed very important to the student body, since it provides for payment by each student toward the entertainment fund that has been established under this measure, however, there will be no increase in student fees.

Another feature touching student entertainment is the measure passed recently setting up the Carolina Forum which will bring to the campus speakers of national importance. The board is composed of members of the CPU, Phi, Di, CCUN and IRC, one member-at-large and one appointed by the speaker of legislature.

Since several requests had been made to members of the legislature by their constituents to "do something" about available banking facilities, a committee was appointed to investigate the matter and report back with its findings as soon as something tangible could be recommended.

One of the more important bills was passed last Thursday. This measure, reported out by the elections committee, will give the student body adequate voting facilities in the future. The elections bill was debated at great length and was passed only after several amendments had been adopted to provide for good supervision and administration of coming elections.

Two internal affairs resolutions are now in effect. The student legislature had not had an official oath; new members were sworn in by repeating words used at the discretion of the speaker. Legislature now has an official oath which must be taken by all incoming legislators.

The other measure provides that there shall be established from the membership of the legislature a Committee of Coed Affairs. The purpose of this committee will be to originate legislation pertaining specifically to Coed Affairs. It consists of a chairman and four members, of which no more than three may be female.

The next installment of the SGR will appear two weeks from today. We will report on the bills passed by legislature during the remainder of the winter term and hope to be able to take up some of the most interesting items which have never been passed by the assembly.

Legislature will meet next Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Di Hall, third floor, New West. Its meetings are open to all members of the student body.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the Daily Tar Heel.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.

Complete Leased Wire of United Press

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Bus. Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser — ASST. BUS. MGRS.: Mary W. Sledge, T. E. Holden — SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison

NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson — ASST. CIRC. MGRS.: Randall Hudson, Don Snow — EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan

SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears

NEWS STAFF: Raney Stanford, Donald MacDonald, Sally Woodhull, John Stump, Herb Nachman, Charlie Gibson, Gordon Huffines, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Paul Rothman, Elaine Patton, Jean Baskerville, Mary Ann Taber, Weddy Thorp, Emily Baker, Miriam Evans, Doris Weaver, Nancy Black, Helen Beam, Daniel Wallace, Sam Whitehall, Helen Highwater.

SPORTS STAFF: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette, Bill Kellam, Larry Fox, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Bill Gallagher.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Hutton, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr., Lena Campbell, Ed Campbell, Al Carpenter.

FOR THIS ISSUE: NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson NIGHT SPORTS: Bob Goldwater

Graduating Students Must File Application

All students who expect to complete the requirements for a degree at the end of the winter quarter are reminded that they must have filed an application for a degree card with their dean in accordance with the instructions of their particular school.

Degree candidates should also check with the University cashier, room 01 South building, before the quarter's end, as no degree will be awarded if diploma fees and other necessary assessments have not been paid.

Hitlerism Survives Psychiatrist Says

Boston — (UP) — Americans must beware of persons who suffer from the neurotic impulses of Hitlerism, a leading psychiatrist contends.

Clifton T. Perkins, state mental health commissioner, warned that some persons in the United States "are not immune to the neurotic needs to which Hitler's program of domination, aggression, projection, sadism, and homicide offered an answer."

Those needs can be answered only if man seeks an understanding of himself, the doctor wrote in an article to be published in a medical journal, "Diseases of the Nervous System."

Write Away

Mister Giduz Assumes Too Much

Letters submitted to the Write Away column must be double-spaced, typewritten, and shall not exceed 300 words. All contributions must contain signature, telephone number, and address of the author. (Names will be withheld upon request.) Letters which contain obscene or libelous statements or letters which do not comply with these stipulations will not be published.

Dear sir:

This is written as a protest against the type of journalism and language used by R. Foo Giduz in his wonderful column of February 19, 1948. Maybe we should have a referendum to see if it should be continued or not.

Mr. Giduz seems to assume that his personal opinions are almighty and that the average student is an "illiterate Whiz-bang addict" unless he agrees with said personal opinions. It seems to us that a referendum is the most democratic way that any campus problem could possibly be settled. That referendum was provided so that the students could express their desires as to what should be done about the magazine situation. That's what happened.

May we ask a few questions? Who is Mr. R. Foo Giduz to be telling the University of North Carolina student body when the majority is wrong? Also, who is he to be deciding that the 504 persons (including us) who voted for Tarnation, are a group of "tub thumbers", "illiterate Whiz-bang addicts", "Narrow-minded dopes", etc? We are just as much in our rights to call him a blubbering idiot!

Another thing! We see no connection between the age of the Carolina Magazine and its worthiness. Few will deny that it has been a waste of funds. What is the use of keeping an undeserving publication because of a 104 year old tradition. Remember, a lot of the walks around here have been unpaved longer than that.

Oh yes, it is very unfortunate if some "other schools in the nation" fail to agree with the students here in their choice of publications. But we must bear in mind that the primary purpose of the magazine of the University is to satisfy the tastes and desires of the students here. We are not speaking against a literary magazine however. We thing that it is a good idea, and suggest that something be done about getting one into publication. However, by a literary magazine, we don't mean the Carolina Magazine.

Bennie B. Ward, Kenan Smith, Bob Herring, Johnny Stanfield, Edwin W. Litaker, Bob Milks, Carl Coghill.

Reminds 1100

Dear Sir:

May I remind those eleven hundred petitioning persons that if they had thought enough of the issue to vote, such a petition would be unnecessary?

Reid Gilland

Ed. Note: There was no mention of a literary quarterly on the Referendum.

Time for Walks

Dear Sir:

I think this little break of fair weather would give the caretaker of the grounds for the University an excellent opportunity to do something to the walks before the oncoming of spring showers. Goodness knows they need it!

John McCain

FRIENDLY MOVIE THEATER OBLIGES LOST CHILD

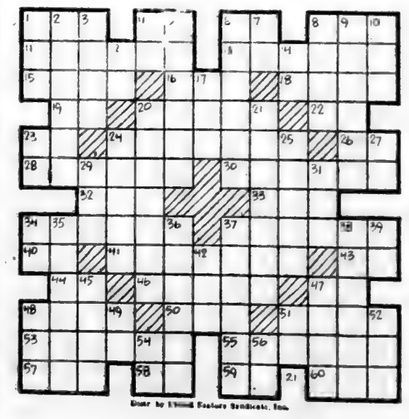
Seattle —(UP)— Probably the friendliest movie theater in town is the one in the Seattle Art Museum.

A picture was being shown. As an exciting moment approached, the movie was halted and house lights went on. Everyone thought the film had broken, but it turned out a small child had wandered from home base.

She was found and the movie continued.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE



ACROSS

1—Recent
4—Pronoun
6—In this manner
8—Uncle (abbr.)
11—The East
13—Quench (archaic)
15—Measure
16—Poem
18—Helper
19—Paid (abbr.)
20—Article of clothing
22—Sun god
23—In direction of
24—Buried
26—Pronoun
28—Chief Babylonian goddess
30—Ruined
32—Hearing organ
33—Prefix: before
34—Fighting bird
36—Long stories
40—Writing
42—Conjunction
44—Sweetheart (abbr.)
45—Tear
46—Tell
47—Tantalum (symbol)
48—Cube
49—Kind of fish
51—Places of worship
52—Sloth
54—To begin
55—Girl's name
57—Man's nickname
58—Pronoun
59—Parrot
60—1416
61—To fasten
63—Platitude
67—Patterns
68—To loosen
69—Street (abbr.)
70—Conjunction
71—River in France
72—Bit
73—Resort
74—Musical note
75—Indefinite article
76—Alderman (abbr.)
77—Babylonian god
78—Exists

DOWN

1—Negative
2—Bursts forth
3—Stiff breeze
4—World's peace hope
5—Furnace tender
6—Pieces of pottery
7—Wind off Faroes
8—Turkish ruler
9—Woman's title
10—Chemical suffix
12—Engineering degree
14—Tantalum (symbol)
17—Cube
20—Kind of fish
21—Places of worship
22—Sloth
24—To begin
25—Girl's name
27—Man's nickname
29—Pronoun
31—Parrot
34—1416
35—To fasten
36—Platitude
37—Patterns
38—To loosen
39—Street (abbr.)
42—Conjunction
45—River in France
47—Bit
48—Resort
49—Musical note
51—Indefinite article
52—Alderman (abbr.)
54—Babylonian god
56—Exists

The Sporting Picture

By Billy Carmichael III

Lives Up To Its Title

EVERY ONCE IN A WHILE HOLLYWOOD makes a good picture. And every once in a much greater while the synthetic little California town does justice to American athletics with a good sporting picture. Warner Brothers has done just this in their new pugilistic undertaking, Body and Soul, which appears nocturnally at the local cinema today and remains for several days' run and gets this writer's vote for the outstanding ring picture the West Coast lads have ever produced.

Now, the plot of the picture is the same old run-of-the-mill boxing vehicle—fellow from the slums needs money to go places—can get it in the ring—can't get money and get girl—must choose—gets money—gets ruined by money—gets wise—gets glory, girl as righteousness prevails and they live happily ever after. But it isn't the plot or even the very creditable performances turned in by the contributing actors that make the movie into its greatness. Instead, it is the finest set of fight films ever displayed on the screen, filmed by the Academy Award winning James Lee Wong, the Chinese camera artist who captures on celluloid all the hard-hitting brutality of the big time fight game.

Hollywood misses too often these days a trait that can do wonders for some of the work they turn out, especially their sports work. They found to get a running of the Kentucky Derby that would fool the public eye, they had to get a real live Kentucky Derby running in the flesh.

The Real McCoy

THE MAKERS OF B AND S have done much the same thing. Their fight films look like the real thing primarily because of the hazy, slightly off-focus angle of the camera that gives them an amazing touch of reality. John Garfield plays the fighting lead in the show which packs almost as much punch as its boxers. Garfield a former boxer, fights his own battles and with a know-how that will lead one to believe that he actually knows what he is punching about.

Garfield plays Charlie Davis, an East Side kid, whose old man gets killed in his little candy store one night by mobsters who are bombing the speakeasy next door while young Charles is across the street in the pool hall. This not only leaves Charlie fatherless, but also with the burden of his mother to carry and personality not exactly suited to the selling of Hershey chocolate bars. Charlie wants to try the ring which is the only way he can make money which he prizes so dear and the mother-son conflict arises. The movie sets an all-time high for disturbing conflicts.

Great in the Clinches

WHILE IN THIS LOVELY ENVIRONMENT Charlie meets lovely Lilli Palmer, who proves to be his biggest opponent outside the ring, a great little in-fighter and especially terrific in the clinches. Lilli senses that Charlie's true ability and future interest lie in the ring and she accepts as the true artist that he is in his field.

Money as usual becomes the downfall of the young fighter. After mastering the best of the nation's middleweights—that for the record is Charlie's class—he comes back to the big city prepared to fight the champ, only to find as many young boxers find today that the title fights are all sewed up by a few at the top of the fight game and nobody fights the champs or becomes one of them without selling his right arm and soul to the big boys.

Well, Charlie sells and becomes champ through no fault of his own. His downfall continues and though he remains at the top of his class, he loses all that is close to him that is not money—his mother, his girl, his best friend. He takes up the party life of the champ and takes up with Hazel Brooks, billed as the Body of the show, Lilli being the soul.

Events come to a point as they must in all movies, and the big time promoter tells Charlie that he is through, that he will lose by a 15-round decision to challenger Jackie Marlowe, and that he will bet his purse on his opponent, a rather unethical practice, to settle his commitments.

The Fight Delight

THE FIGHT IS THE SUPREME EFFORT of the movie. The two as agreed, just spar a little now and then to keep things on the level with Marlowe holding the edge. That the fix is on seems obvious to all with neither fighter showing much interest in his work. Strains of "The Merry Widow Waltz" lift through the arena as the action slows to a walk. The referee occasionally breaks in to relieve the montony. Women powder their noses, pinocle games start in the balcony.

In the early 'teen rounds a sudden change in plans comes about through the impetus of one fighter unknown to the other. The result is four terrific rounds that are better seen than described, after which things move to a fast and happy or unhappy ending depending on which way you happen to be betting.

So, hats off and orchids to an outstanding piece of sports and screen entertainment which in most cases exhausts the audience more than it does the fighters. It is a movie to condition for.

Three Loop Marks Topple As Dolphins Sink Colonials, 61-14

Medley, Backstroke, 440 Freestyle Records Shattered in Clean Sweep

By Larry Fox

"And another record bit the dust," was the cry around Bowman Gray pool last night when the Blue Dolphins added three more Southern conference titles to their string, swamping the George Washington university natators, 61-14, in the process. The locals copped all nine first places.

GW Slipped Here

300 medley—UNC (Sper, Ousley, Twining. 3:01.8. (New SC record).

220 freestyle—Mericka (C), Elliott (C), Scott (GW). 2:30.1.

50 freestyle—Drew (C), Ingram (C), Lalor (GW). 0:24.3.

Diving—Beam (C), Fite (GW), J. Whichard (C). 93.1.

100 freestyle—Greenbaum (C), Morrow (C), Fite (GW). 0:55.9.

150 backstroke—Thomas (C), Delabar (GW), Cordle (C). 1:-36.6. (New SC record).

200 breaststroke — Bartlette (C), Michael (GW), Stanley (GW). 2:48.3.

440 freestyle—Twining (C), Basecu (C), Lalor (GW). 5:05.2. (New SC record).

400 freestyle relay—UNC (Wilson, Dietzel, Pritchard, D. Whichard). 4:03.7.

Carolina's star medley trio opened the meet and gave the spectators an early clue as to what was to transpire Sper gave the Dolphins a lead of about 2 3 of a length, Ousley widened it to a full length, and Twining, swimming as anchor man came in two lengths in front of the GW entry, all in the record-shattering time of 3:01.8. The previous record—3:03.5—was set by State college on Wednesday against VPI. The unofficial split times has Sper doing his 100 yards in 0:63, Ousley in 0:64.3, and Twining in 54.5.

Thomas Sets Mark

Jim Thomas, freshman backstroke star, gave the Tar Heels their second record five events later in the 150-yard backstroke. Thomas did the distance in 1:36.6 to chop two and nine-tenths seconds off the old mark. He came within six-tenths of a second of equaling the national intercollegiate freshman record held by Al Rakiewick of Yale. Thomas was over a lap ahead of Debe Delabar of GW, who supplied one of the Colonial's three second places.

Twining, who paced the Carolina scoring with 6 2|3 points, came home in the tiresome 440 freestyle 12.8 seconds faster than anyone else has ever done in the SC. The old record was set last Monday by Adams of Duke when the Devils met undefeated N. C. State.

Freshman Ronnie Basescu, who came in second in the 440 turned in one of his best times, breaking the old pool record and coming within one second of shattering the now defunct 5:18 conference mark.

Co-Captains Close

Almost overlooked in the confusion was Jesse Greenbaum's 55-second 100-yard freestyle. This time exactly equaled the pool record. Greenbaum reached the finish line little more than a fingertip ahead of Mike Morrow, with whom he shares the captaincy of the Dolphins.

One of the most exciting events of the evening again matched two Tar Heels. Jim Mericka finished less than two yards ahead of his teammate Bob Elliott. Neither man had any kind of a commanding lead until they moved into the bell lap. Gil Scott, the only Colonial entry, finished about 25 yards back.

The diving was the closest event of all even though Gil Beam had a big first-place lead. He scored 93.1 points to place first. Paul Fite, captain of the Colonials scored 77.8 in second position.

Scholastic Teams In Title Swimming Meet Here Today

By Bill Kellam

Versatile Carolina swimming coach Dick Jamerson, who returned late last night from a speaking engagement at a collegiate physical education confab in Birmingham, Alabama, will turn aquatic promoter this afternoon when he and his ace assistant, Ralph Casey, will launch the second annual Southern Interscholastic Swimming Championships in Bowman Gray Memorial pool at 2:30.

The local pool will be flooded with some 102 laurel-seeking natators representing 10 prep and high schools from Pennsylvania to Georgia. The Cadets from Georgia Military Academy of Atlanta, Georgia, last year's runner-ups to Staunton MA, are ranked as favorites in today's nautical festivities. Strong opposition is expected from Western high school of Washington, D. C. and Randolph-Macon Academy of Ashland, Virginia.

It will be an intersectional meet in every sense of the word. Valley Forge MA from the Pennsylvania town of the same name will be swimming with natators from such schools as Druid Hills high of Atlanta and the favored military academy mermen from the Peach state.

State Teams

North Carolina's Queen City will be well represented. Charlotte Central and Harding high schools and Alexander Graham junior high will represent Charlotte. Greensboro high will also have a team whirling through the chlorine but the big attraction for local fans will be the appearance of the splashers representing Chapel Hill high.

The meet will be an eight-event affair. There will be no 440 yard freestyle and several of the other races will be shortened from the collegiate lengths. The aquatic activities will open with the 50-freestyle which will be followed in order by the 100 breaststroke, the 220 freestyle, the 100 backstroke, the 100 freestyle, the six-jump diving event, the 150 medley relay, and the 220 freestyle relay.

Sprint Favorite

Donnie Evans, of Charlotte Central, is favored to stroke away with the freestyle honors in both the 50 and 100-yard events. However, strong competition is expected from GMA's Bruce Fountain, who hails from Tar Heelia's swimmingest town—Tarboro, and Ken Abbe of Western High.

Hugh Grover, Valley Forge MA luminary, is expected to take blue ribbon honors in the 100 backstroke while Boyd of GMA is ranked as the number one diver. Joe Hoenig of Chapel Hill High is another highly rated jumper.

THESE FIVE CAGERS and two others in addition will be playing their final game in Woollen gym tonight against N. C. State. Reading in clockwise order from the lower left, the pictured quintet is composed of King Cole, Roger Scholbe, Johnny Dillon, Bob Paxton, and Tee Thorne. Other graduating members of the team, for whom no pictures are available, are Freddy Swartzberg and Marx Nathan.

Wolfpack Quint Heavily Favored To Stay Undefeated In Loop Play

(Continued from page 1)

The list includes four of the starters, Captain Bob Paxton, his running mate at forward, Roger Scholbe, and both opening guards, Mervyn 'King" Cole and Taylor Thorne. The "people's choice," John "Hook" Dillon will be another to receive a goodbye and good luck ovation, while Freddy Swartzberg and Marks Nathan round out the graduating group.

Nemo Nearman will be the other member of the starting five, handling the center chores. Others who will see action—some being used after the game is definitely decided either way—are Coy Carson, Dan Nyimicz, Rip Ryan, and four members of the jayvee team. The juniors who will dress with the varsity will be John Tsantes and Charlie Thorne, plus two more coming from Bill Harringson, Bill White, Hal Ferraro, and Pete Peters.

State Starters

With one possible exception, State is expected to line up with the same starters as in the initial fray. This puts high-scoring Dick Dickey and Jack McComas up front, Paul Horvath at the pivot, and Captain Leo Katkaveck and Ed. Bartels backing up. Should Coach Everett Case choose to follow up the lineup used to start Tuesday's 89-52 rout over Davidson, Warren Cartier will move into the opening five at guard and Bartels will take over at center.

Whichever way they arrange their lineup, though, the State cagers will still be at full strength, even when dipping into the reserves. This will not be true of the Phantoms, who suffered a bad loss when their brilliant guard and playmaker, Norm Kohler, was relegated to the sidelines for the remainder of the season with a knee injury.

Despite the absence of Kohler, Tar Heel fans have some cause for hope by the new offensive tactics tried out in practice this week. Coach Scott and his charges have worked on a new running attack in hopes of combatting effectively the State system of pressing in the forecourt.

One of the officials assigned to tonight's contest is Arnold Heft of Washington, who was acclaimed for his top-flight refereeing in the conference tournament last year. And speaking of the tournament, the game will have no effect on either team's chances of gaining entry, although the Tar Heels will slip from their second-place perch should they lose.

DUKE TICKETS

A limited number of tickets for the Duke game to be played in the Blue Devil's indoor stadium Friday have been made available to Carolina students and will be on sale at Woollen gym from 2 to 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, the Athletic association announced yesterday.

The ducats will go for $1.50 to anyone who can present the required amount of cash at the ticket office during the prescribed hours. Passbooks will not be needed.

UNC Tracksters Take Part Tonight In Maryland, New York Indoor Meets

North Carolina will have 14 of its leading trackmen in the indoor wars tonight.

Twelve of them, headed by weight-man Bob Seligman, distance star Sam Magill, and high-jumper Jack Moody, are up in College Park, Md., for the University of Maryland invitation indoor track games. Other Tar Heels who will take part in the meet are Bob Morrow, Hunter Heggie, Dick Taylor, Stan White, Mac McLain, Julian Mackenzie, Mark Burnham, Halstead Holden, and Dave Willis.

The other two trackmen, Jack Milne and Bob Black, are in New York for the National AAU championships in Madison Square Garden. Milne will run in the three-mile event while Black will race in the 600.

Accompanying Milne and Black to New York was Chuck Simmons, who will compete in the hurdles. Simmons recently withdrew from the University and will run unattached.

The track events in the Maryland meet will be run on a flat track and include the 60-yard dash, 660, 880, one mile, two mile, one and two-mile relays, and 70-yard high and low hurdles. Field competition will be limited to the shot put and high jump.

Teams entered in addition to Carolina and the host school, Maryland, are Navy, Virginia, VMI, VPI, N. C. State, Georgetown, and Catholic university.

Mural Soccer Set to Start This Monday

As the other winter quarter activities are drawing to a close the five-man soccer tournament will begin taking over some of the limelight starting on Monday.

However, the intramural booters will have to wait until the finals are completed in the various tournaments now in progress before they can begin claiming the headlines.

A total of 44 teams have been entered in the tourney, of which 34 represent fraternities and the remainder dormitory and independent groups. Thirty of the teams will see action on the five soccer fields Monday, the first day of competition. The mural department hopes to crown champions by the end of the quarter, but if the elements intervene, play will be carried over into the spring session.

The rules will be basically the same as in regular soccer. The main differences are the smaller field, shorter playing time, smaller number of players, and the absence of a goalie. Two of the soccer fields are located in the area within the Fetzer field track, one is situated past the track on the way toward the handball courts, while the two others are in the corner of navy field nearest the gym.

Three more nights of boxing will be needed before the curtain falls on that activity. All of the divisions have reached the semi-finals. Twenty-three fights are scheduled for Monday, eight for Tuesday, and 14 encounters on Wednesday will end the fistic festivities for the year.

LATE CAGE RESULTS

Wake Forest 52	S. C. 46
Kentucky 79	Vanderbilt 43
Arkansas 54	Texas 40

Hurdle Events Wide Open in Indoor Games; Three Carolina Stars Among Top Contenders

By Morty Schaap

(This is the fourth of a series of articles discussing the various events in the Sixth Annual Southern Invitation games.)

The events that probably will be the most open for any athlete to grab the titles will be the 70-yard high and low hurdles. These two events have always produced great champions and in Saturday's running in Woollen gym anything might happen in the timber topping.

Chunk Simmons, who took both crowns last year with plenty to spare, has departed from the University to concentrate on his work for the Olympic team. However, Carolina, always strong in the hurdle events, still boasts three of the boys who finished second in a photo finish in the Penn Relay's 480-yard shuttle relay last spring. The high hurdle champion might be any one of them, Hunter Heggie, Dick Taylor and Bob Morrow.

Virginia will contest with the Mohler brothers, Dick and Bob. Ed McLear of VPI is another lad who might be in the running. Jim Ratliff of South Carolina is always a definite threat in the hurdles. Two Maryland youngsters will be the dark horses in the event. They are Rube Rhuback and Mario Salvanelli.

Probably the best hurdler in the meet will be competing for Georgia in the freshman division. He is Bob Snoddy, who last year copped the Indiana state high school championship and has been clocked in 14.3 for 110 yards. Spec Towns, who holds the world's record in the high hurdles, is head track coach at the Athens institute and this boy with his expert coaching should go a long way.

Add to the high hurdlers mentioned above such men as Chuck Chambers of State, Navy's entries and entries from many other schools throughout the Eastern seaboard and the South and anything might and probably will happen when the call is issued for the hurdles, high and low.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE 6B

'42 ROYAL HOUSE TRAILER, GOOD condition, reasonably priced. See at Pines between 2 and 3 P.M. R. C. Potter. 1-1796-1

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1937 DESOTO 4-DOOR SEDAN, $375. Caston Motor Co., Phone F-3891. (ch1x1)

HELP WANTED 6

POSITION OPEN FOR COMPETENT combination bookkeeper and secretary with growing concern. Chance for advancement. Box 907 Chapel Hill, N. C (1-C1795-1)

LOST 12

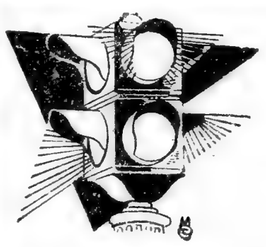
STRAYED, STOLEN, OR TOM-CATting—One white, Persian cat. Beautiful, stupid. One blue eye, one yellow. Missing since Tuesday afternoon. Answers reluctantly, if at all, to the name of "Snow." Finder please call 9316. (1-1798-2)

LOST OR STOLEN—GRAFLEX FLASH extension with 15 foot cord while on assignment for DAILY TAR HEEL. Please return to DTH office. Thanks. (1-2000-1)

SERVICES OFFERED 19

COMPLETE MODERN RADIO APpliance service shop now open and ready to serve you. We call for, deliver. Johnson-Strowd-Ward Furniture, 122 West Franklin. Telephone F-3491. (ch 1x1)

SEWING FOR INFANTS AND SMALL girls up to size 3. 124 King St., Victory Village. 1-1793-1



WANTED TO RENT 24B

APARTMENT WANTED FOR STUdent couple without children. Write 29 Old West. 1-1789-1

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

University Service Station
TEXACO
Odis Pendergraft Prop.

TWO BLOCKS WEST OF CITY HALL
You'll Find A Solution To All Laundry Problems
HELPY-SELFY
AUTOMATIC LAUNDRY
Bendix Machines
W. Rosemary St.

Get the GO SIGNAL on Your Car

The past few weeks have been rough on a car motors—strains on moving parts may have caused serious damage. Don't make it worse—let our mechanics repair before it's too late.

CASTON MOTOR CO.
419 West Franklin Street Telephone F-3891

Just Received At
THE YOUNG MEN,S SHOP
In Durham
NEW SPRING ARRIVALS
•SPORT JACKETS
•WHITE BUCKSKIN OXFORDS
•GABARDINE SLACKS
•WHITE FORMAL JACKETS
The YOUNG MEN'S SHOP
East Main at Church
DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Marching behind a portion of the University band and waving banners inscribed with words of welcome, some 500 lusty-voiced students and Chapel Hillians welcomed President Frank P. Graham back to the University upon his return from Batavia where he was a member of the commission which mediated the Dutch-Indonesian dispute.

Dr. Graham is shown with several of the students following his brief answer to Tom Eller's welcome.

Reading left to right: Wayne Brenengan, Barron Mills, Dr. Graham, and Tom Eller.

(Cut courtesy Durham Herald.)

Truman's Trip, Unrest in South, MacArthur, Rents Are Headlines

By Joan Marble

President Truman took off for a 10-day Caribbean vacation today, cheerful and smiling. His last words before he stepped into his southbound plane were "I'm just as happy as I can be."

Minutes later, the big silver airplane took off for Key West, Florida.

The President's cheerfulness was surprising. Behind him in Washington, Mr. Truman left one of the blackest political snarls of his career.

Southern Democrats are in wide-open revolt against his civil rights program. Party leaders are still licking wounds from the beating they took from a Henry Wallace candidate in the Bronx election this week.

Southern Dissatisfaction

The presidential plane was scarcely in the air before a group of some 50 rebellious Southern Democrats in the House met to discuss their grievances.

They hurried into a House committee room—big men, most of them, with greying hair and long black cigars. Before the meeting was formally called to order, they stood around in clusters discussing the Democratic dinners last night and the fact that most of the Southerners had stayed away.

Democratic Representative Rankin of Mississippi was ing angrily to one group "I think Truman is like Henry Wall he growled. secretary the President Then the the big committee and went into When the announced they resolutions.

One gives top Democratic party leaders 27 days to give up their demands for anti-Jim Crow legislation. If they don't, the Southerners threaten to bolt the party. The second resolution warns the party leaders not to write the President's program into the national convention platform.

Representatives from eleven states were present at the meeting today. When a newsman asked if any more Southern states might join the group, someone replied: "Why should they? There were only eleven states in the Confederacy."

Meanwhile, Democratic Senator John Stennis of Mississippi, the late Senator Bilbo's successor, went before a Senate committee to oppose anti-lynching legislation. Stennis said the law would be unconstitutional because it invades states' rights.

With this hubbub behind him—President Truman arrived peacefully in Key West, Florida. He'll spend tonight in Florida and will fly early tomorrow to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

General Douglas MacArthur's name was popped back into the news today, this time in connection with China.

Right in the middle of the testimony, Republican Representative Lawrence Smith of Wisconsin suggested that the committee invite General MacArthur to come home to testify on Chinese aid.

Committee Chairman Charles Eaton asked Marshall what he thought of the idea. Marshall said he thought the committee should consult with President Truman.

As for Chinese relief itself, Marshall warned against the United States committing itself too deeply. He said the Chinese government is shot with corruption. Many of the abuses in China, he added, can be corrected only by the government itself.

The Senate has begun debate on a bill to extend rent controls for another 14 months more with a number of high-ranking Republicans indicating they want to decontrol some types of rental units.

The first speaker today was Republican Senator Harry Cain of Washington, who favors complete decontrol. Cain told the Senate rent ceilings are no long r necessary because, he said, the housing shortage no longer

Republican Senator McCarthy Wisconsin introduced an ment to turn rent control to state governors. Two Republican Senators pro- that residential hotels be

The Senate is expected to pass the bill sometime next week. However, House leaders favor an extension of 30 days so they can study the effects of the recent commodity market break. The Senators concede they may have to go along with the House and pass a temporary bill too because the rent act expires in nine days.

MUCH WORK, LITTLE LOOT

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)—The burglar who broke into the H.K.&F. Coal Co. here realized only two dollars—in pennies.

-Debate-

(Continued from page 1)

Gelpatel he also revealed, that the tourney will become an anual affair.

Reasons that he assigned for this were the interest and keen competition shown, and the chance it gives potential debaters to demonstrate their talent to the Debate council.

In addition to Fitzgerald, those students who assisted in the planning and conduct of the tournament included Blanton Miller, vice-president of the Debate council, Jim Taylor its executive secretary, Randall McLeod, and Pete Gerns.

-Forum-

(Continued from page 1)

sia within range of the Dardanelles; (3) recognition of the in the general direction of the area south of Batum and Baku Persian Gulf as the center of the aspirations of the Soviet Union; (4) renunciation by Japan of her rights to concessions for coal and oil in Northern Sakhalin.

December 18, 1940, 24 days later, Hitler sent out a directive stating: "the German Armed forces must be prepared to crush Soviet Russia in a quick campaign . . . preparations are to be completed by May 15, 1941." Thus ended the friendship sealed on Aug. 23, 1939. Hitler betrayed his partner, and not Stalin.

DOG GETS CIVIC POST

BUCYRUS, O. (UP)—The Bucyrus City Council has appointed Raggs, a Hungrarian dog owned by Councilman C. Victor Vollrath, an assistant sergeant-at-arms so he may attend council meetings with his master.

MILLER-BISHOP CO.

112 CORCORAN ST.

Across From Washington-Duke

GENUINE WHITE BUCKSKIN SHOES

RED CREPE SOLES

$15.00

Emergency Service

We're on the job 24 hours a day . . . equipped to handle any emergency. Our tow truck can be on its way an instant after your call reaches us.

Hazzard Motor Company

24-Hour Wrecker Service

PHONE 4771

LI'L ABNER By AL CAPP

To Beer or Not to Beer — at HARRY'S

-Dance-

much entnuisiam that when he appealed to the Building Committee in 1923, they voted unanimously to give $25.000 from the Smith Trust Fund and Smith Building fell into the hands of Dr. Koch and his Playmakers. Changes were necessarily made inside—frames of bookcases set back into the walls as pilasters—orchestra balcony was transformed into offices but all changes matched the outside and all restoration was studied from Vignola. However, when the appropriation was gone there was a theatre but no lights, no seats, and no stage equipment. Dr. Koch would leave no stone unturned so he made a little trip to New York. With the aid of his friend, Augustus Thomas, who was head of Producing Managers Association, he met Dr. Frederick Keppel, President of Carnegie Foundation and made an appeal for aid. Although Dr. Keppel was not encouraging in his attitude, a few weeks later Dr. Koch was informed by wire that his theatre was to receive a Carnegie gift of $13.000 and on November 23rd, 1925, before the presentation of Frances Gray's play, "Out of the Past" the little theatre was dedicated by the President of the University to the development of native drama.

And so dear visitor, you know it as the Playmakers Theatre and you think it old and crumbly and you rejoice that there is to be a new theatre and so do I for the expansion of the Playmakers has made it a necessity—yet I wonder—and there is a sentimental twist of the heart strings when I glance at this old ivy covered building with its Grecian columns—what is to become of it now?

University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Cloudy and slightly colder

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
Fit To Print
Stumbling Block
This Frugal Life

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 10

Doffing his hat to the crowds , the new President of Venezuela, Senor Romulo Gallegos enters his car in Caracas as an honor guard of soldiers present arms. Delegates from thirty nations witnessed the inauguration of the new Chief of State.
(International Soundphoto)

Wallace Club Hears Conference Report

The Wallace for President club heard reports Friday night from three delegates attending the anti-UMT conference held in Washington last week by the National Youth Assembly.

Reporting on the conference, which was attended by more than 2,000 delegates from universities and labor and political organizations, members Jerry Hodgson, Vera Scales, and John Myers told the local Progressive party that General Herbert Holdridge and Paul Robeson spoke against proposed universal military legislation at the Washington meeting.

Jerry Hodgson reported that a mass meeting was held on the Capital steps in Washington and that Conressmen questioned by delegates reacted "favorably" to the principles of the anti-UMT group. He added that Speaker Joe Martin stated that the bill would probably be defeated and that President Truman might drop the issue.

Local Wallacites also reported that the Washington conference was cerefully watched by FBI agents and Capital police.

Recordings of film actress Katherine Hepburn's speech, condemning practices of the House un-American Activities committee, that was delivered at a Wallace meeting in Los Angeles last May was also featured at the meeting Friday night.

Members of the "New" party will canvass North Carolina colleges this week-end to contact students interested in attending the Tarheel Students for Wallace assembly scheduled for February 28th and 29th in Chapel Hill. A meeting of college representatives of the Wallace movement will be held at North Carolina College in Durham this afternoon at 2 o'clock to draw up tentative by-laws for the convention.

It was announced that Rabbi James Wise of New York will speak here tonight at 8 o'clock in the Roland Parker lounge on the Palestine question.

Margaret Kolb

Music Recital Features Pianist In Hill Tonight

Mrs. Margaret Kolb, piano soloist, will be featured with the University Symphony orchestra under the direction of Earl Slocum in a concert in Hill hall at 8:30 tonight.

Mrs. Kolb, instructor in the music department, will do solo work in Variations on a Nursery Rhyme, by Donnanyi, highlight of the concert. A Viennese Waltz, a March, and a Fugue are used in a series of variations on the well-known "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star."

A graduate of Salem College, Mrs. Kolb received her M.A. from Columbia university and studied with Olga Damaross Stokowski in Philadelphia. She gave a recital last spring which students and townspeople will remember was well received.

Mrs. Kolb is accompanist to the Music Theater Repertory group which gives chamber operas throughout the state. In the past she has been associated with the Berkshire Music Center, Columbia Opera Workshop, Piedmont Musical Festival, and the Asheville Mozart Festival.

The program will include the Brassy Prelude by Ganz, Beethoven's Leonore Overture No. 3, Schubert's Symphony No. 5, Borodin's Provetsian Dances from "Prince Igor".

Week-End Retreat To Be Discussed By Y Delegates

By Betty Peirson

Reports on the Y Retreat being held at Natural Bridge this weekend will be presented at the Coed Get-Together tomorrow afternoon at five o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. Representatives from the commission groups will give the reports at the meeting which this time is open to everyone on campus.

The commissions are meeting several times during the week-end to discuss the various problems of the world today and what the students at Carolina can do to help solve these problems. The five commissions which include student leaders and faculty advisors were set up in advance as a general framework, but contributions from the floor will be the most important factor in discussions at the Retreat.

Group Discussions

The group discussing the Panorama of Campus Social Life will concentrate on the facilities for recreation at the University and ways to improve them. The lack of social rooms in the dorms, the athletic program, dances, and the facilities at Graham Memorial will be points mentioned. Emily Ogburn will lead in the discussions which also include such problems as where to go and what to do on dates, the ratio of boys to girls, and drinking. Bill Shuford, director of Graham Memorial, is the advisor for the group.

The commission on the Panorama of Campus Life, led by Barbara Cashion, Bill Millers, and Jess Dedmond, will discuss the purposes of organization and political offices. The program of the group includes discussions on how organizational set-up helps students to prepare for citizenship and how to arouse interest in campus, national, and world-wide political issues. The rseults of lack of interest in leadership as the problem applies to the campus will also be a point of interest for the group. Dr. Frank W. Hanft, of the University law faculty, will act as advisor.

Racial Tensions in World

Racial Tentions in Our World is the topic for discussion by the group led by Ethel Perry and George Worth. Particular emphasis will be laid on the question of what can be done to improve the existing situation and ease the tension throughout the world today. Warren Ashby, of the University philosophy department, is group advisor.

Representatives from these groups will be at the meeting tomorrow afternoon to report to the students on the findings of the commissions.

Local Debators Chosen For Tulane Tournament

By John Stump

Four students have been selected to represent the University in the competition for the National centennial forensic championships to be held at Tulane university in New Orleans, La. on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week.

Carolina's representatives in the debate classification will be Charlie Long, Merle Stevens, Dick Mottsman, and Herbert Mitchell.

Topic for the competition, to which all universities in North and South America have been invited to send speakers, is "Resolved: That a world federal government should be established."

Long and Miss Stevens will support the affirmative side of the question while the negative is being argued by Mottsman and Mitchell. These four people were chosen after making what Debate Council President Earl Fitzgerald called "an excellent showing against topflight competition" in a series of preliminary tryouts.

Tryout Called

To select representatives for the university in the oratorical and extemporaneous divisions of the contest, the Debate council has called a tryout session ot be held at 7 o'clock Monday evening in the Di hall.

At that time two orators and two extemporaneous speakers will be chosen to accompany the debaters to New Orleans. Those trying out for the orator's position will give prepared memorized, 1200 word-speeches on any subject they desire.

Persons trying out for the extemporaneous speaking assignments will be given a subject 30 seconds before they are to speak and will be asked to give a five minute talk on it.

New Orleans Requirements

The requirements in New Orleans for the orators will be identical with those here, but the extemporaneous speakers will be asked to speak for eight minutes on a topic of national or domestic interest which will be presented to them 30 seconds before they ascend the rostrum.

Contestants selected to make the trip will be given plane tickets to and from New Orleans by the Debate council. They are expected to leave Raleigh-Durham airport at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and will arrive in the Delta city that evening.

International Entries

At last reports, teams from 14

(See DEBATORS, page 4)

LSU Bans Mag For Sex Issue

BATON ROUGE, La.—There's no "Pell Mell" for students at Louisiana State University to look forward to, or "he and she" jokes and cartoons showing lots of pretty girls. But many a student is treasuring a copy autographed by its chief subject.

The subject of the last issue was the subject of a lot of talk that ended with the banning of "Pell Mell" by campus authorities.

The students in charge devoted the cover, and almost the entire contents, to a New Orleans striptease Artist named 'Stormy'—otherwise Stacie Randolph. Laurence. The pictures and interview—on the personal and professional life of a stripper—raised a lot of eyebrows.

Then the student editors imported "Stormy" herself, to autograph copies of "Pell Mell" —5,000 of them that sold faster than "Stormy" ever disrobed.

That was just too much for LSU officials. They banned sale of the humor magazine, rebuked the staff, and hinted at expulsion of Editor Pat McIntyre, Publisher Ray Brannon, and Publicity Manager Robert Carter.

The good name of the university, said student life director J. Perry Cole, was at stake.

Wine, Women, and . . .

San Jose, California—(UP)—A San Jose, California, man's habit of trading bits of his house for wine has cost him his wife—and what's left of the house.

Mrs. Carlos Bernal told a Superior Cour judge that it all started last November when she came home from the hospital.

The doorbell was gone. Her husband explained that he had sold it to buy wine. Then a window vanished. Same story.

Five more windows went. Next to disappear was the kitchen stove, followed by the lighting fixtures. Finally, four strips of plaster board vanished, one by one, leaving huge holes in the wall.

Yesterday, Judge Leonard Avilla granted her an interlocutory decree of divorce, $75 a month support, and what remains of the house.

Rolnik Handles 60 Speaking Roles In Unusual Radio Show Production

By Raney Stanford

Radio students working in the Communication Center in Swain hall last Wednesday evening unveiled the University's successor to the old "one-man-band", in the person of Robert Rolnik, radio student hailing from New York City.

For Rolnik, since Wednesday's University radio drama, number 19 in a series of "33 By Air", finds that he is a one man radio show. In a half hour dramatization going out over five North Carolina radio stations, of James Thurber's sardonic short story, "The Greatest Man in the World", the remarkable Robert acted and dramatized the parts of 60 different characters.

The program, student directed and produced, was expanded for radio by Rolnik from Thurber's tale of a tough little punk who, by flying solo around the world, finds himself on as shiny a pedestal as Lindbergh in the eyes of the people, even though in reality he is the kind of person who would just as soon kick his mother's teeth in as look at her.

The show was originally scheduled to include a cast of 20 radio students under the direction of Bob Hall. But approximately an hour before air time, the student producers realized the show lacked that unidentifiable something that show people speak of when they say a performance "clicked".

So the spur of the moment decision was made to revert the tale back to one viewpoint and let the author take all the speaking parts. At 8 o'clock then, 20 people moved back from the microphone and Rolnik, with only

(See ROLNIK, page 4)

Political Parties Begin Campaign Plans As Candidates Start Soliciting Votes

It's impossible to get across the Y court these days without seeing little groups of people in a huddle planning political strategy.

With the three party tickets beginning to fill out, the candidates taking their stand on the issues, and the candidate's friends beginning to "solicit your vote", the campus again approaches a spring election.

Heading the tickets of the University and Campus parties will be Jess Dedmond, chairman of the legislature elections committee, president of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic honorary fraternity, and the chairman of the University Orientation committee.

Mike Rubish, a member of the legislature and the Monogram club, who has played varsity football for three years, will oppose Dedmond as the SP nominee. His running mate will be the former regional chairman and executive committeeman of the National Student association Herman Baker, who the Student party has nominated for the student body vice-presidency.

The University party has nominated UVA prexy John Clampitt, an ex-chairman of the Orientation committee and University dance committee to oppose Baker.

For the secretary-treasurer's post, the hats of Bob Kirby of Charlotte and Gran Childress of Chapel Hill have been tossed in the ring by the University and Student party respectively. As yet, the Campus party has not announced any nominations for the positions of vice-president and secretary-treasurer.

Next year's editor of the Daily Tar Heel will be chosen from Ed Joyner, the triply endorsed managing editor of the DTH, independent Art Melton, or a possible additional candidate. Oth-

(See POLITICS, page 4)

Music, Motorcycle, Flying. . . . Are Among His Numerous Hobbies

Newman Likes To Go Places In A Hurry

By Z. Bryan Haislip

Riding a motorcycle to Washington, D. C., and back over a week-end, or unearthing a rare sonata to add to his collection—Dr. William S. Newman, member of the university's music faculty, easily takes either in stride.

Catching him at an idle moment is next to impossible. A man of unlimited energy and interests, he is at once an accomplished musician, a writer, a student of music history, a collector of rare musical works, and a popular and witty teacher.

At the present time, whenever he can snatch a half-hour between classes in music appreciation, lessons with advanced piano students, and majors in graduate music history and theory, Dr. Newman can be found in his Hill hall studio, practicing for his recital here on March 4.

New Music

It takes from six to ten weeks to work up a recital," he explained, interrupting his practice for a short talk. "The amount of time depends on how much of the music is new." New music, by the way, is one of his chief interests. He has given the first performances in many cities of piano sonatas by Hindesmith, Wagnor, Tschaikowsky, and oth-

His coming recital will feature a sonata by Ernest Bloch; he gave the first American performance of this sonata in New York in 1940.

A rapid, efficient worker, Dr. Newman has a reputation for being able to get an enormous amount of work done in a short time. At the end of the fall quarter, he gave an examination to 125 music appreciation students. After marking their papers and preparing the grades, he climbed into his new Plymouth and drove to Boston, making the trip in a little more than fourteen hours. Last fall, he spent many weekends doing research in Washington. While the weather was still good, he often made the trip, there and back, by motorcycle.

Dr. Newman

When he is not seated at the piano, the energy that goes into his playing comes out in gestures and conversation. Pacing about the studio, he talks of his work in music history, out of which his collection of about 3,000 keyboard sonatas—the most comprehensive private collection in the world—has grown.

"When the miscellany collected in the process of applied musical study gets so out of hand that the owner purchases the same item more than twice, there usually comes a decision to organize the material. Then, if the owner is not on his guard, he is bitten by the collectors bug. He dignifies his status by calling himself a 'collector" and his newly shelved music a 'library'."

That is no disparagement of his library, of which he is justly proud. His collection of keyboard sonatas is outranked only by the Library of Congress collection, which holds a slight edge in number, though none in comprehensiveness. He also has a supporting library of important landmarks in music history. These include both music and books.

"I picked up a good many of the sonatas while I was studying in London, Paris, and Florence. My first aim has been to get at least one representative work by as many different composers as possible rather than to exhaust each minor composer as I come to him," Dr. Newman explains. Highlights of the collection are rarities such as the set of six two-movement sonatas by the Spaniard Blasco de Nebra: Czerny, Wagnor, Burney, and Paderewski—composers not usually associated with sonata writing— are also represented.

Book Published

Also in conjunction with his work on the "History of the Sonata Idea," which he has been shaping into book form for the past twelve years, Dr. Newman has had numerous articles published and has given many lecture-recitals. His latest book, a critical edition of "Thirteen Keyboard Sonatas of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries," has just been published by the University Press.

"For the lecture recitals, I talk about one-third of the time and then illustrate the lecture by playing appropriate music," he says. "They are usually on some aspect of the sonata form—either history or theory." Julliard School of Music, one of the top music schools in the country, has invited him to give a series of six lecture-recitals this summer. These will touch on highlights in the history of the keyboard sonata.

On May 2nd, he returns to his hometown, Cleveland, to play with the Cleveland philharmonic, conducted by Karl Grossman. "It will be a sort of homecoming," he says, "I haven't played there in almost two years."

(See NEWMAN, page 4)

China Cooperator To Speak Monday

The coperative movement—in community, state, and world—is the theme of a meeting this Monday night for all Chapel Hill cooperators. Speaking on the worldwide aspect is Dr. Fuliang Chang, Executive Secretary of the Industrial Cooperative League of China. His visit to Chapel Hill and the state this week is part of Dr. Chang's current nine-month tour for observation of U. S. cooperatives.

Other visitors are Mr D. R. Graham of the Credit Union division of the State Department of Agriculture and Mr. Samuel Rosenberg of the University Economics Department. Sponsored by the Methodist and Presbyterian Supper Cooperatives, the meeting is at 7:30 in the Presbyterian Church. All members of the Victory Village Cooperative Store, the Orange County Credit Union, and the Farmers Dairy Co-op are especially invited, and the session is open to the public.

Rabbi To Discuss Palestine Issue

Rabbi James Waterman Wise, noted Jewish leader, will speak on the Palestine situation at a public meeting in Roland Parker lounges 2 and 3 this evening at 8 o'clock.

Director of the Council Against Intolerance in America, Rabbi Wise is also the co-author of the famous Springfield Plan for working unity among various religions. He is the director of the Stuyvesant House in New York and has written several books dealing with Jewish world affairs.

Playmakers Present Original Drama Soon As Major Feature

By Mark Sumner

"People laughed, that's the main reason I became interested in playwriting," says 27-year-old Gene McLain, whose full length play "Call Back Yesterday," will be staged by the Carolina Playmakers as their fourth major production in March. He was speaking of the way his school mates laughed at a comedy skit he wrote as a class assignment in grammar school.

"It was a simple skit with only five characters," he went on, "but when it was put on as part of our Saint Patrick's day show, the audience enjoyed it, and watching it made me feel good. Nothing went wrong, but it really wouldn't have made any difference to the skit."

McLain's original play has just been selected for the production as the annual student written full-length experimental of the Playmakers, and the announcement was made by Samuel Seldon, head of the University Drama Department.

Sandy-haired McLain is a graduate student in the Department and his home is Mamaroneck, N. Y. He served in the Army for three years, entered the University here in January 1946, and has concentrated on playwriting.

Gene McLain, graduate student in the University of North Carolina Department of Dramatic Art, whose new original full-length play, "Call Back Yesterday," will be produced by the Carolina Playmakers March 10, 11, 12, 13.

"Call Back Yesterday" is his third full-length play, and he has authored 10 one-act shows. His original radio drama, "The World Is My Domain," was aired over several North Carolina radio stations by the University Communication Center. A second radio drama, "A Penny For My Baby," will be produced on the air next month.

He has acted in several of the experimental productions of the Playmakers, and has been active in backstage work. He was a member of the cast of Paul Green's symphonic drama, "The Lost Colony," during 1946.

"I have tried, since I started working with the Playmakers, to learn as much as I could before worrying about productions of my plays. 'Call Back Yesterday' is the first play I will have had produced, and its the first one I've tried to push," he said.

"Call Back Yesterday" will be presented on March 10, 11, 12 and 13. Harry E. Davis, associate director of the Playmakers, is directing the production, and James Riley, West Palm Beach, Fla., is designing the settings.

Mills-Stones

The Frugal Life Looms

By Barron Mills

As it comes nearer and nearer the close of the term, which means graduation, it is becoming increasingly apparent that a young man, until he is in his thirties, is supposed to be frugal, diet and wear his clothing until they are in shreds.

As I begin job hunting in the advertising field, I inevitably meet the same set-up. The company takes only men who are graduates of acredited colleges. "We always start our new men out either as messengers or salesmen. The salary is $25 weekly and you must work at least nine months before you can expect advancement.

These people do not tell us how we are expected to be able to exist in metropolitan New York on $25 weekly by practicing even ultra-frugality.

The tragic part of it is that soon, with the mass production business school turnouts, all fields will be in the same fix. An average young man will not be able to marry in the period which he should for biological and physchological reasons. Unless both husband and wife work, there will not be enough in the $25 weekly pay checks to buy even the necessities.

If they marry then they will not be able to afford children because they just are able to survive on two checks per week. So what happens to the young man who spent 16 years in preparing himself for outside the schoolroom and then is worse off than his friend who stopped school in the sixth grade and now makes twice his own salary as a carpenter's helper?

* * *

Down in Texas at the University, the Ranger, the collegiate magazine which, last year, surpried the campus and the country with its expose of the methods of cheating on exams, has an article in its February issue on "Why I Am a Communist."

Its decorative and effective cover shows the actual Communist Party card of Wendell Addington—superimposed over this is a side-view of Weddington. Inside, appears the article written by the Communist and a reply, "Why I Am Not a Communist", by Ranger Managing Editor Ben Jeffery.

We do not have a copy of this issue of the Ranger and have not, therefore, had a chance to read it. However, we have noted, with interest the comments of the students at UT who have read both articles. Here is their general impression:

"The majority of students interviewed with Wendell Addington, author of the story, on the merits of being a Communist, but no one advocated any drastic action."

Another comment was: " . . . it would be a great mistake, and a silly one, for anyone to try to take action against him (Wendell Addington).

Incidentally—the University of Texas, according to Addington, has about 20 Communist and there are about 500 in the state.

* * *

At a movie playing at the Village the other day—there was a girl (strip-teaser by profession). Her name was Choo Choo. When she started her act a group of bright young lads (must have been college boys) up near the front began a chant, "All the way, Choo Choo."

* * *

ORIGINAL JOKE DEPARTMENT

Med Student: Look over there. See that cow's stomach over there by that tree?"

Journalism Student: "Oh, that's just a lot of tripe."

WHOOPS!!!

JUST TOO MUCH

VINITA Okla. (UP)—A woman here apparently had had enough the third time she was brought into traffic court on an overtime double parking charge. "This ends it. We've sold our car," she said

A manufacturing company reports that one of its merchandising experts began his career as a door-to-door salesman, offering "No Peddlers Allowed" signs.

If a flower is offered reversed, its original signification is contradicted and the opposite implied.

Permission to Operate Automobiles?

"Give the students another chance. I don't believe that they realize the seriousness of the situation at the present time. What we've got to do, by mass meeting of all the car owners or some other method, is acquaint these drivers with the situation as it stands."

That was the plea of the student advisory board of the Welfare Board at their first meeting of the year last Thursday. With no words lost, Dean Fred Weaver poked the hard, old facts to the gathering. There are now 1540 registered automobiles on campus. To show the urgency of this situation Ernie House, chairman of the Safety council, stated that there are now 590 automobile owners who live outside of the walking zone that was established by the Safety council last December. On the campus there are only about 650 legitimate parking spaces for automobiles. House emphatically stated that "If as many as 30 or 40 unauthorized drivers use these spaces then the situation becomes a serious one." These figures deal only with the registered automobiles. We have reason to believe that there are quite a few automobiles which are not registered and this makes the situation even more delicate.

The question that faced the Board was very blunt, "Should a student be required to secure permission from the administration in order to maintain an automobile on campus?"

The faculty members were almost uniformly of the same opinion: Yes: The student members were a little more lenient and varied in opinion.

Their viewpoint is expressed in the quote at the beginning of this editorial—they did not want to have such a stringent ruling. Student Body President Tom Eller, proclaimed that he believed that he, as a representative of his constituents, could not favor any measure that would deprive a student of his automobile without first trying other means of alleviating the traffic conditions.

A typical example of student abuse of their privilege of maintaining their automobiles was cited by one of the faculty members of the Board. He said that day after day he saw the same men jump in their autos after completing their class in Caldwell and jockey in a parking space behind Memorial hall for their class at Phillips. It would have been much easier, just as quick and less expensive for the car owner to walk over to his class. As it is they ensnarled traffic and endangered the life of students moving across campus.

It is evident by both student and faculty members of the Welfare Board that something must be done. Drivers are not adhering to the requests of the Safety council and "good sportsmanship" in operating and parking of vehicles is being abused.

Unless students take the initiative in complying with the requests of the Safety council, then they may have a hard time supplying the faculty with ample reason for maintaining an automobile in Chapel Hill. The faculty rightly says that, academically, an automobile serves little purpose to the student who lives within the walking zone.

A Change in Policy

It has been an unannounced policy of the Daily Tar Heel in the past several years to print columns for any organizations which requested space, providing they met our deadlines and space regulations. This practice has been carried to an extreme and readers are complaining of seeing the same ole "hog-wash" issue after issue. For this reason we are having to change our policy.

Beginning with Tuesday morning's edition we will no longer print any organizational columns. This goes for all organizations. We will show no partiality. We cannot cut out one column without cutting out the others.

We are not going to send individual and personalized letters to each of the organizations which this will concern. We are requesting that you let this serve as official notice of our new policy and we are asking you to realize our position.

The space which was formerly occupied by these columns will be used by new columnists which we hope will be more varied than the columns which have only lauded the merits of organizations.

All That's Fit to Print

"Nobody but them guys' buddies can get letters in the Tar Heel. They go up and pay 'em a nickle to print 'em."

We have heard such comments regarding our Write Away column numerous times. We have heard others point out that we print only those letters which agree with our editorial policies.

Both points of view are wrong; we print all letters for which there is space and we print them without regard for their position on particular issues.

Those who have complained about not getting their letters printed have failed to comply with requests we have made regularly in the small type before the first letter in the Write Away column.

We request that the letters be typewritten and double-spaced. This is necessary because linotype operators at the print shop cannot accept handwritten materian. We request, too, that all letters be followed by the signature, address and telephone number of the writer. By Signature we mean a writ by hand signature, not a typewritten name. Jokers occasionally figure it would be funny to write a letter plugging free-love and sign the name of an especially ascetic student noted for his religion. And our reasons for requesting no obscenity or libelous material are obvious.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the Daily Tar Heel.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association. | Complete Leased Wire of United Press | Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Bus. Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

WS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser — ASST. BUS. MGRS.: Mary W. Sledge, T. E. Holden — SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison

UIT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson — ASST. CIRC. MGRS.: Randall Hudson, Don Snow — EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan

CULTY EDITOR: Jane Mears

NEWS STAFF: Raney Stanford, Donald MacDonald, Sally Woodhull, John Stump, Herb Nachman, Charlie Gibson, Gordon Huffines, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Paul Rothman, Elaine Patton, Jean Baskerville, Mary Ann Taber, Weddy Thorp, Emily Baker, Miriam Evans, Doris Weaver, Nancy Black, Helen Beam, Daniel Wallace, Sam Whitehall, Helen Highwater.

SPORTS STAFF: Morty Schnap, Dick Jenrette, Bill Kellam, Larry Fox, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Bill Gallagher.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr., Lena Campbell, Ed Campbell, Al Carpenter.

FOR THIS ISSUE: NIGHT EDITOR: John Stump — NIGHT SPORTS: Larry Fox

Anti-Umty

Prize-Winning Essay

(The Anti-UMT Committee wishes to thank Dr. Howard Beale, Rev. Henry G. Ruark, and Prof. Warren Ashby for serving as judges in the essay contest which produces this prize-winning discussion by C. D. Carter. Tying for second place in the contest were Harold Bock and Morty Seif.)

By Charles Douglas Carter

The atomic bomb carries two tremendous implications that confirm my opposition to universal peacetime military training: (1) It renders mass armies anachronous, since any future war will be fought neither with nor against such armies but with technological devices against nerve centers of industry and populations. (2) It reveals clearly the necessity for truly international and democratic controls over all munitions and military establishments, which can be achieved by radical amendment of the United Nations Organization. In view of these revolutionary facts, to subject the total citizenry to close order drill and military discipline would reveal the impotence of our political wisdom, since such could serve only to render the people docile and responsive to authoritarian command. When this is done democracy is dead and freedom is a fiction.

Does conscription actually safeguard peace and prevent wars? History emphatically says no. Here are some examples: Napoleon from 1800 to 1813 was provided with over two and one half million men to fight the Napoleonic wars. In 1783 Japan started military training. She fought Russia, China, and the United States. Conscripaion invites war. It guarantees neither peace nor victory in case of war. If the conscription act was passed it would be a testimonial of the United States that we have no faith in a world security organization.

What type of peace is it that requires more men in uniform to preserve it than could be got by voluntary means?

If we are ready to let the Government tell us what to do and accept those orders without question, conscription will be just the thing. But we do not want that. We want to be able tot hink for ourselves. We want to teach our youth to think for themselves. The ability to think and to act for one's self is initiative. Universal compulsory military training won't teach initiative. It will stifle it. Military training won't prepare for a democracy. Military training prevents it.

A sure way to have war is to be prepared for it. If we, as a nation carry a chip on our shoulder, some other nation will be there to knock that chip off. Ability to fight, shoot, and kill will not bring peace. Armed camps mean sure war.

What we need now in time of peace is an intelligence service able to forewarn us of the emergence of a particular enemy. We must maintain an efficient armed force whose equipment must be the best in the world and whose personnel is maintained at a high state of efficiency. Most important of all, we must utilize our scientists for preparedness against the contingency of war as well as for building a stronger and a better America.

The three billion dollars that peacetime conscription would cost each year can be far more wisely spent by using one billion to maintain our armed services at a high state of efficiency—which would be twice the amount they received in the decade before Pearl Harbor—one billion for a national health program, and one billion to provide adequate financial support for our educational establishment in order that every man, woman, boy, and girl in our country might receive that quality of education that is now made available only in our better cities.

The three billion dollars spent in this way will do far more for our defense than one, two, or even five years of compulsory military training. What our people and the people of all continents need is not more militarism or regimentation, but more democracy, more freedom, and greater equality of opportunity.

In the 172 years of the existence of the United States as a nation, we have maintained the military policy which calls for, in the time of peace, a professional army raised by the volunteer method, implemented and supplemented in times of emergency by emergency conscription. This policy should be maintained in the future. The status quo has not failed the United States. By way of summary it is easy to see that Compulsory Military Training is not the solution to problems of an atomic age. First of all, there is no need of the proposed training policy, either to meet our international commitments, or for the sake of our own defense. Secondly, the

(See ESSAY, page 4)

CPU Roundtable

Stumbling Block to Peace

Nationalism, the assignment of the individuality of the nation state to a high position on the scale of human values, is today the world's greatest stumbling block on the road to peace. This condition obtains because the factors which are inherent in nationalism do not promote peace, but tend rather toward war.

Nationalism causes a contrasting difference existing between the single nation and the rest of the world. Differences of language, race, religion, and philosophy are over-emphasized and exaggerated as to create distrust, fear, and eventual conflict.

Nationalism never promotes understanding and discussion of the needs, beliefs, and ideals common to all peoples and all nations. Such a policy, even though it would promote peace, would mitigate against nationalism since the existence of nationalism is dependent upon the individuality of the nation.

The emphasis upon individuality begins with the formation of the nation state, and concomitant with its growth is the unrestricted development of nationalism. This is true because the growth of nationalism is necessary to the growth of the nation state. The result of such cumulative nationalistic development has led in the [illegible] to fascism and war.

Nationalism, or the glorification of the nation state, tends inevitably toward a greater emphasizing of the importance of the nation. Soon the point is reached at which the state rather than the individual is the major consideration in the formulation of national policy. Any policy or measure designated to support or augment the power and prestige of the state is then justifiable. The individual thus becomes a tool of the state in direct opposition to democratic theory, which holds the governments are instituted for the benifit of the individual. Germany and Italy before the last war offer clear examples of the fascist results from rampant nationalism. Few people would contend that the policy of national expansion (an exuberant sort of nationalism) followed by these nations was designed to promote peace.

However, nationalism's greatest cbstacle to peace it is inherent assumption that national security and national foreign policy must be based ultimately upon military force. Nationalists fail to realize that security is relative, and that any measure which makes one nation secure in a military sense at the same time increases the insecurity of other nations. Acts of security for one nation are act of agression in the eyes of other nations. No nation can make itself secure without endangering other nations and inviting an armament race sure to culminate in war.

The well-being of all nations and all people in the world today is dependent upon the maintenance of peace — peace which cannot be maintained through the sovereign acts of nation states. (Could the United States have prevented or escaped the last two wars?) Because this is true, nationalism blocks peace to the extent to which it promotes reliance and belief in the unrestricted exercise of national sovereignty.

The reason for the nation states' inability to cope with war is clear. No government can be effective in solving any problem unless the area of its jurisdiction is at least as large as the area of the problem. The maintenance of peace is a world problem—demanding a World Government.

YW Chatter

Will Report On Meeting

The Coed Get-Together tomorrow night will be of interest to both men and women students. "Natural Bridge Reflections" program based on the Y retreat which ends today at Natural Bridge, Virginia, will be held in the main lounge of Graham Memorial tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock.

The five coed commission chairmen will give the findings of their respective group. Emily Ogburn will report on Panorama of Campus Social Life; Barbara Cashion on Panorama of Campus Politics and Organizational Life; Ruth Evans, on You as a Student; Ethel Perry, on Racial Tensions in our World; and Jo Fischel, on World Organization and Political Tension.

Three new books have been added to the Y library: "American Standard Edition of the Bible", 'Worship Programs in the Fine Arts", by Alice A. Bo "Wedding Etiquette Complete by Margaret Bentley and new hymn books for use in Time Outs and vesper services are among the new arrivals.

GORILLA'S WEIGHT POSES TRICKY ZOO PROBLEM

New York —(UP)— Time when keepers at the New York Zoological Park had no trouble weighing Makoko, the 400 male gorilla.

Keeper Jim Reilly would lead Makoko on his shoulders to step on the scales. Then Reilly weight was subtracted.

Reilly decided in 1945, when with Makoko getting bigger, that his own health came first. Thereafter, they guessed Makoko's weight.

Now, the keepers have devised a new method. They lured the gorilla from one cage to another in the process of which he has to step on a scale platform.

Makoko weighed 310 p

Write Away

'My Thoughts Are Anti-God'

Letters submitted to the Write Away column must be double-spaced, typewritten, and shall not exceed 300 words. All contributions must contain signature, telephone number, and address of the author. (Names will be withheld upon request.) Letters which contain obscene or libelous statements or letters which do not comply with these stipulations will not be published.

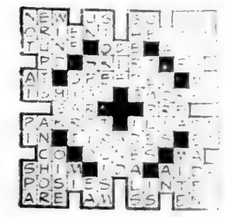
Editor;

Realizing the pertinence of my subject, I wish that you would consider this letter. It concerns a controversy that has always been confined to private disputes and personal opinion. I can't help but think that where a matter vitally concerns the well being of a society there should be some open means of discussing it. My thoughts are anti-God. They are not unusual thoughts. I venture to say that underneath all the rabble and apparent orthodoxy of the average student's mind such thoughts continually find currents. In my opinion the intelligent person is bothered most by such subcurrents. I say let's stop suppressing them! Let's bring these thoughts of religion out in the open and find a solution to this madness!

To some, such a letter will be shocking: to others (more perhaps than we realize), it will bring confirmation of their own thoughts and some hope for a common solution of this demoralizing self-blasphemy.

I have no doubt of the good intentions of the christian church. But today, because of the artificiality and dogmatism of these well-intentioned people, we are forced to live, and adjust ourselves as best we can. In a highly un-natural and strained society. The result is a complex of frustration and fear that makes it impossible for a person to bridge the gap between adolescence and adult realism without serious defects of character. Because of many things, but mainly because of the christian religion and what it implies in this country. We are fast becoming a race of physchological misfits. This is not a broad statement. All you have to do is look around you, in the class room or on the campus. No element in our society looms more obvious or more dangerous.

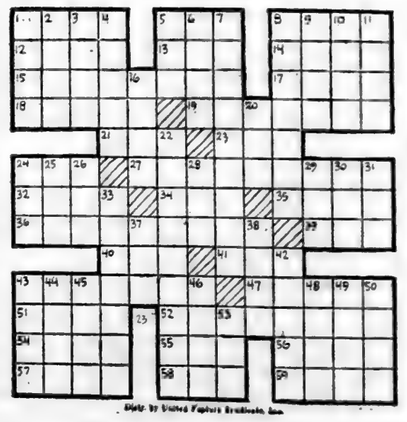
Some hope for the reconciliation of our religion with modern concepts. There is little reconciliation of any truthful nature of religion to modern concepts. The best hope within the christian doctrine is a kind of quasi-truth that many of our more realistic priests find it necessary to admittedly accept. The function that christianity originally sought to fulfill in man's mind can and must be fulfilled in a much better way and on a much higher plane.



Christianity has represented in the evolution of man's reason a temporary retreat in its struggle for understanding and harmony with the universe. We are no longer compelled by an alien universe to withdraw into the stagnant waters of that dark abyss of blind faith and morbid deception that we called christanity. Some few men had always lingered on the borders of that abyss, watching, working, always exploring and trying to make friendly the aweful truth outside. And now, thanks to these heroes of reason, we can face it! As we must, before we rot of spiritual and moral gangrene!

L. F. Morgan

(Ed's note: After a discussion with Mr. Morgan, we decided to print this letter, but only after deciding that we would print but one letter taken from the opposite position. Such a controversial subject, we are sure you will agree, would keep the Write Away column filled for months.)



CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS

1—Experiment
5—Beast of burden
8—Poems
12—Finished
13—Fly
14—Picket
15—Turncoat
17—Irish
18—To go in
19—Put on guard
21—Skip a stone
23—African worm
24—Bounder
27—Piece of jewelry
32—Operatic solo
34—Cereal
35—To soothe
36—Railing on stairs
39—Still
40—High explosive (abbr.)
41—Pickpocket (slang)
43—Derbies
47—Smallest
51—Away from wind
52—Parted land continent
54—Lever
55—Marble
56—Obstruction
57—Turfs
58—To scrutinize carefully
59—Hearing organs

DOWN

1—Ripped
2—Smooth
3—Forced to go
4—Trapped
5—Cloak
6—Pop
7—Dotted with
8—To manage
9—Arrow
10—Other
11—To sow
16—To clutch
20—Goddess of
22—Flat on g
26—Tawl
25—Macaw
26—Noise
28—To dine
29—Wage
30—Japanese shrine
31—Clear profit
33—Horns
37—Suffix: like
38—Brook
42—Peas, co
43—Flying
44—A heterog mixture
45—Wild goat
46—Support
48—Girl's nar
49—Heavens
50—Touches
53—Wonder

Second Half Surge Clinches 69-45 State Win Over Phants

Bobbing in Sports

—with—

Bob Goldwater

Along for the Ride

OTHER PLAYERS MAKING THE TRIP ARE . . ."

Every time Tom Scott and his White Phantoms take off for one of their distance jaunts, the basketball story in the DTH starts one of its paragraphs with the above six words or others very similar. It affords whichever one of the sports staffers who's writing it a nice way to put over the simple fact that these five or six boys also went along, without taking up too much time in doing so.

Actually, there isn't too much else to mention. There's little use in pointing out the fact that some of these players won't even get in the game unless it's either in the bag or hopelessly lost. Nor does it appear necessary to mention their performances to date—there's usually nothing special to say, while there's always a lot to write about Mr. Rebound, Hook, Nemo, or Cokey.

But while these "other players" may not rate more than one collective paragraph, there's definitely something to be said on their behalf. For the minimum of glory that they receive, they must work just as hard in the between-game practices as do the headliners—maybe a little harder since they are scrimmaging against these first-stringers. Then, at the end of the season when the monograms are dished out, their names are quite often not included on the list, for lack of playing time in the ball games.

And what's worse than having your name in the paper among the "other players making the trip" is not having your name there at all—in other words, not even getting to make the trips. That's what they term a real "also-ran."

Three Classy Classes

THE "OTHER PLAYERS" list can be divided up into three general groups. One would be the up-and-coming lads destined for starring roles in another year or two. These boys are usually sophomores, will be fighting for first-string berths next season. Type two could be called jayvee graduates. Normally they would be the stars of the junior varsity but their past service as jayvees and their senior status in college earns them the right to varsity recognition.

In the third group are the first-line replacements on the team—included on the list just for the writer's convenience. These are the boys who actually deserve to be put on the "slated to see a lot of action" list, for they are the ones who will definitely get in the game.

Seven members of the present Phantom roster have been steady members of the "other players" list this season. Right down the line, they are Coy Carson, Marx Nathan, Dan Nyimicz, Rip Ryan, Roger Scholbe, Fred Swartzberg, and Taylor Thorne. Although most of these boys will letter this year, they all have been greatly underpublicized for the work they're doing.

And so to them, the DTH sports staff extends their congratulations for a job well done this season. Any team is only as good as its reserves, and the fact that Tom Scott has some capable ones to call on has helped the Phantoms compile their 18-4 record in their first 22 games.

Not including last night, that is.

And What a Weekend

AND REGARDLESS OF how the game came out—we write this two hours before it got under way—it's been an exciting weekend in more ways than one. Rumors ran rampant on whether Carl Snavely would forsake Chapel Hill for the sunshine and other advantages of California, Dick Twining and Dolphin teammates shattered several conference records, Ed McGee pounded out victories in the Charlotte boxing tourney, etc., etc. (Those etceteras can really include a whole lot.)

The reports regarding Snavely are, of course, of primary interest to all Tar Heel sports fans. There's been much talk concerning various players on the football team also dropping out, should the Silver Fox depart. And there's been all sorts of stories to the effect that Maryland's Jim Tatum, a former Carolina grid star and head coach, was all set to return to his old stamping grounds.

Now, maybe we should retire from the prognostications field, following our far-from-close predictions on the NYU and Temple cage contests. But we'll stick our neck out once again and go on record with the following forecasts:

1. That Jim Tatum won't be coaching at Carolina next fall.
2. That the members of the football team will stay in school.
3. And the most important—that Carl Snavely will not leave North Carolina for the professional ranks.

Hope we do better with these predictions. And from what we've heard around the campus, so do a lot of other people.

Champ Morris Pushed For Ping Pong Title

Ray Morris, one of Coach John Kenfield's prize pupils, did the expected in the Graham Memorial table tennis tourney and successfully defended his campus championship.

Morris defeated Dave Boak in the finals for the title in straight sets, 21-18, 21-16, and 22-20. The championship tilt was on a best three of five basis. In the semis, Morris defeated Tom Wadden, two games to one.

Boak reached the finals by downing Bill Murphy in two straight games.

There were originally 16 entries, but several of them didn't show up on time and lost by forfeits. In the future GM is planning to start the tourneys, which will be run every week, at 7:30 in lieu of 7 o'clock.

RIFLE FIRING

7:30—Avcock (orientation)

Baseball, Football Workouts Tuesday

Football and baseball players will probably have to wait until Tuesday to begin their spring practice, coaches of both squads announced yesterday.

Head baseball coach Bunn Hearn is expected back in Chapel Hill from Wilson tomorrow and he will then issue the formal call for tryouts.

Although official practice hasn't started, the warm weather brought a flock of veteran baseballers out to Emerson field to begin limbering up for the approaching campaign.

The sogginess of the football fields necessitated the further postponement of the practices which had been slated to begin several weeks ago.

The football workouts will be for members of last season's varsity and jayvee gridders and will be culminated by the annual Blue-White gridiron classic.

GMA Victor In Schoolboy Tank Meet

Georgia Military Academy's potent mermen, who apparently are to Southern scholactic swimming what the Carolina Blue Dolphins are to collegaite natatorics stroked out an easy and unsurprising victory in the 2nd Annual Southern Interscholastic Swimming Championships which were staged yesterday afternoon in Bowman Gray Memorial Pool.

The Peach State Cadets splashed away with five out of a possible eight first places and piled up 59.5 points to take first place honors. Randolph Macon Academy's tankmen, paced by sprinting Bruce Campbell, were a distant second with 28 points.

Campbell come close

Campbell, a husky 6-4 nautical speedster, accounted for almost half of the Virginians' points by taking blue ribbon honors in both the 50 and 100 yard freestyle events. The collegiate pool record for the 50 is 24.3 seconds, Campbell turned in a sensational 24.9 time in winning the scholastic 50.

Western High school of Washington, D. C., finished third with 26 points and also grabbed first place. Charlotte Central and Chapel Hill high staged a neck and neck fight for fourth place. However, the Queen City boys finally managed to edge the local bobby sox crew, 18.5-18. Freestyler Jack Cohen and diver Joe Hoenig took care of the majority of the Wildcats' scoring.

Druid Hills High of Atlanta rounded out the scoring with six points. The Georgians only stab at stardom was McDonough's first place finish in the 100 breaststroke. The rest of the teams failed to place. Valley Forge Military Academy's mermen failed to even reach Chapel Hill.

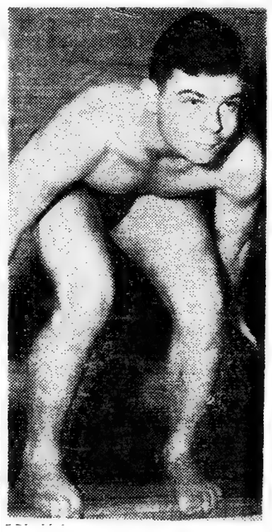
The rather small crowd that lined the banks of Bowman Gray got something to cheer about a couple of times. In the 100 freestyle, R-MA's Campbell slipped by Evans of Charlotte Central by the breadth of drop of chlorine to grab first place.

The meet, which was Carolina swimming mentor Dick Jamerson's aquatic brain child, is apparently improving with age for all the times turned in were very good. Jamerson commented after his presentation of the championship trophy to GMA's coach, Les Fouts, that the standards were much higher this year than those of the initial meet. He was also very much impressed by the performance of Campbell, the R-MA ace.

Swimmers Face Duke Tuesday Willis Casey Scouts Mermen

Straight from their 61-14 victory over the outclassed George Washington university mermen the all-conquering Blue Dolphins will meet Duke in their next home meet Tuesday.

The Devils are paced by Bill Adams, who hel dthe Southern conference 440 title until Dick Twining went into action Friday night. Adams set the mark of 5:18 in the State meet last Monday. The stellar distance man broke the record set by Tar Heel co-captain Mike Morrow earlier this season.



Chief among the spectators at Friday night's swimming meet in which the Blue Dolphins swamped GW and broke three Southern conference records at the same time, was Willis Casey, head swimming coach at N. C. State college and brother of assistant coach Ralph Casey, who was in charge of the Tar Heels in the absence of head coach Pick Jamerson.

When queried about what he thought of the Dolphins and what he figured would be the result of the meeting of the two undefeated aggregations, he replied that the locals looked "awfully good".

"The only event that we have a chance in is the 50-yard freestyle. That's the only place where our times even come close to the speeds turned in by Carolina," the coach moaned.

However, at least two of the records that the Tar Heels shattered were set by the aquatic Wolfpack and the Jamersonians were unable to surpass one or two more State marks.

One of the bright spots for Colonial mentor Elmer Hipsley Friday night was thte showing of Paul Fite, GW captain. A freshman, Fite took second place in the diving competition and third in the 100-yard freestyle.

BILL ADAMS
. . . star distance man.

The Colonials have won but one meet thus far this season while losing several. However, this is the first season that they have engaged in intercollegiate chlorine competition.

Finals In Handball, Cage Semis Slated To Be Played Tomorrow

Scholastic Summary:

50 freestyle—Campbell (R-MA), Fountain (GMA), tie between Bond (GMA) and Evans (Char. Cent.). 0:24.9.

100 breaststroke—McDonough (Druid Hills), Hansen (GMA), Godfrey (GMA). 1:08.1.

200 freestyle—Parham (GMA), Cohen (Chapel Hill), Leighton (Chapel Hill). 2:10.0.

100 backstroke—Tinkham (W.), Bird (GMA), Wilson (R-MA). 1:07.7.

100 freestyle—Campbell (R-MA), Evans (Char. Cent.), Parham (R-MA). 0:56.6.

Diving—Davies (West.), Boyd (GMA), Macia (GMA). 65.8 points.

150 medley— GMA, Western, R-MA. 1:25.0.

200 freestyle relay — GMA, Chapel Hill, Charlotte Central. 1:45.7.

By Larry Fox

Both the dormitory and fraternity divisions have reached the finals in the handball tourney and the champions will be crowned early tomorrow evening.

Oakwood Drive and the Roaches face each other in the dorm division. Both quintets won their semi-final encounters by registering three-nothing shutouts. The Roaches whitewashed Lewis and Oakwood Drive turned the trick on the Stacy handballers.

Frat Semis

The fraternity semi-finals were a little closer. Phi Delt 3 scored over KA 1, 2-1, and Chi Psi bested Phi Delt 2 by the same count.

Handball pictures will be taken at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. The winner of the Phi Delt 3-Chi Psi match and the personel of both teams in the dorm division finals will be snapped at that time.

The tournament sponsored by the Badminton club ought to complete its first round by the time tomorrow night's play is finished. The six matches slated for 7 o'colck will be played in the Woman's gym, but, after 8 o'clock, courts will be available on the main floor of Woollen gym.

Female Entries

The bird chasers will report to either Jim Hayworth or Frank Murray to receive their court assignments.

The club officials are hoping that more women will enter the tournament as there is still room on the entry lists of the female division for more names.

The official badminton club photograph will be taken Wednesday night.

Tomorrow night the controversial Beta 1-KA 1 cage contest will be replayed on the varsity court in Woollen gym beginning at 7:30. The only other basketball game scheduled is between the Grads and Nash hall for the right to meet the Blackballs in the finals on the dormitory division. The battle to determine the all-campus champ will be staged as part of the Intramural department's sports carnival.

Firing Continues

Three more organizations have completed their rifle orientation rifle firing. F. D. Bowman turned in the best score for the Old East marksmen, a 161. That total is high enough to rank him among the top men in the practice shooting. J. E. Kapp fired a 148 to place second and Logan Steel, 144, and G. W. Michael, 124, round out the top four for the Old Easters.

The Sig Eps were a little more consistent, but their best score was a 146 turned in by Don Alexander. Cyril Minett and Cecil Brown both registered 139 totals. Jim Nance shot a 134 and Fred Cates was one behind with 133. Tom Blair shot 131.

Lou Maxwell led the Beta sharpshooters with a 164 total. Marshall Roberts' 151 was good for second place in the group and Fred Hill came in third with a 144. Jack King and Hal Bursley followed with marks of 139 and 136, respectively. Watts Poe, 129 and Jim Spears, 123, round out the top Beta deadeyes.

Monday's Murals

BASKETBALL

5:00—Court 2: Grads vs. Nash Hall.

7:30—Main Court: Beta 1 vs. KA 1.

HANDBALL

4:00—Phi Delt 3 vs. Chi Psi.

5:00—Oakwood Drive vs. Roaches.

SOCCER

4:00—Field 1: Beta 4 vs. Sig Chi 2; Field 2: Phi Delt 4 vs. ATO 2; Field 3; Lambda Chi 2 vs. Pi Lamb; Field 4: DKE 1 vs. Beta 2; Field 5: Phi Kap vs. Chi Phi 2.

4:40—Field 1: Phi Delt 1 vs. DKE 2; Field 2: Phi Gam 1 vs. Beta 1; Field 3: Chi Phi 3 vs. Chi Psi; Field 4: Sig Nu 1 vs. Phi Delt Chi; Field 5: ATO 1 vs. Phi Gam 2.

5:20—Field 1: Med School vs. Steele; Field 2: Law School vs. Unilimited; Field 3; Stacy vs. Everett; Field 4: Whitehead vs. Lewis; Field 5: Zeta Psi 2 vs St Anthony.

BOXING

4:00—W. Lyon (Sig Chi' vs. D. Fleming (Phi Gam); 4:06—W. Rubin (TEP) vs. D. Ferebee (Chi Psi); 4:18—L. Jones (Sig Nu) vs. W. Dunbar (Sig Chi); 4:24—M. Wilson (Zeta) vs. W. Spaugh (KA), 120 lb; 4:30—N. Galinkin (TEP) vs. B. Perry (Zeta) hw; 4:36—H. Weinstein (TEP) vs. J. Spears (Beta), hw; 4:42—E. Hampton (Sig Ep) vs. A. Webb (Phi Gam), 165; 4:48—C. Kipp (Sig Chi) vs. T. Gilman (Phi Gam), 165; 4:45—T. Stokes (Phi Delt), 165, vs. E. Graham (Sig Chi), 165.

5:00—J. Basington (Sig Chi) vs. J. Langley (Sig Chi), 165; 5:06—T. Gregory (Zeta) vs. T. Young (Phi Gam, 127; 5:12—K. Hoffman (TEP) vs. R. Sheely (Phi Delt), 127; 5:18—G. Boren (Zeta) vs. J. Lee (SAE), 135; 5:24—P. O'Briant (Phi Delt) vs. J. Wilkins (Phi Delt), 135; 5:30—J. Folger (Kap Sig) vs. W. Arnold (Sig Chi), 175; 5:36—W Jennings (Phi Delt) vs. H. Fordham (Sig Chi), 175; 5:42—J. Farmer (Phi Gam) vs. R. Phillips (Sig Chi), 175; 5:48—J. McLean (Sig Chi) vs. T. Stratford (Phi Gam), 175; 5:54—R. Barab (Phi Kap) vs. S. Daniels (Sig Chi), 145.

6:00—R. Simpson (Chi Phi) vs. J. Murchison (SAE), 145; 6:06—R. Kirby (KA) vs. B. Wood (Phi Delt), 145; 6:12—H. Howell (KA) vs. G. Cain (KA).

BADMINTON

7:00—Pugh vs. Hemingway, Holmes vs. Morgan, Nelson vs. Goldwater, Chanlett vs. Billerbeck, Hooks vs. Cranford, Brumley vs. Cohen.

8:00—Boak vs. Strayhorn, Lupton vs. winner Nelson-Goldwater, Taylor vs. winner Cohen-Brumley, Lee vs. Basehon, winner Lee-Basehon vs. winner Pugh-Hemingway.

Tired Tar Heels Fall Behind In Last Stanza; Dickey High

By Bob Goldwater

The old saying to the effect that "You can't keep a good team down," was visibly demonstrated to 6,000 cage fans in Woollen gym last night when the powerful State college court combination went on one of its typical scoring splurges in the second half to roll to a 69-45 triumph over the White Phantoms of Carolina.

Employing a new style offensive worked out during the past week, the local cagers stayed in the running all during the first half and were still within hailing distance of the fast- moving Wolfpack after four minutes of the final session, the score reading 38-32 at that time. But that was as close as the fast-tiring Tar Heels could come.

The visitors scored 18 quick points to Carolina's one in the next eight minutes thereafte: proceeded to coast home to their 10th straight Southern conference triumph and 13 consecutive win since two mid-term setbacks.

For the Phantoms, the loss—their third in loop action—dropped them one notch from second place in the standings to third, right behind George Washington. They complete their regular season this week in two out-of-town contests, meeting Davidson on Tuesday and Duke Friday.

A pair of notable scoring marks were set during the evening's activities, one an individual one and the other a team achievement. Dick Dickey State's high-scoring forward who was high man in the battle with 19 points, tossed in his 400th point of the season several minutes before being injured in a scramble for the ball with two Phantoms. And when only 40 seconds remained on the clock, a one-hand bush by Sam Ranzino served to provide the Raleigh cagers with their 2000th tally of the year. In the 40 seconds that were left, they ran the total up to 2004.

Without a doubt, the contest stayed just that—a contest—for 24 minutes. In fact, Coach Tom Scott's charges, performing for the last time this season on their home court, really gave their boosters something to cheer about by being out front as late as the 15-minute mark. It was fun while it lasted.

Early Lead

Carolina even led on two other occasions, one coming at 1:20 when the top Tar Heel of them all, big Bob Paxton, was successful on a three-point combination. This gave the home force a 3-1 advantage, which was definitely short-lived.

A layup by jumping Jack McComas and charity throws by Ed Bartels and McComas made it 5-3. State. State stretched it to 10-7 at 5:40, but Paxton, who was high for the locals, took over at that point to push his team out front for the second time.

Big Bob scored his first layup on Tee Thorne's pass three-fourths the length of the court. Then, at 6:10, Pax laid in another to send the Tar Heels into an 11-10 lead and the stands into a wild display of enthusiasm.

A foul shot by Nemo Nearman made it 12-10. Dickey's layup knotted the count, and it stayed that way on free tosses by Paul Horvath and Coy Carson. Dickey's one hander gave the Raleigh lads the lead as the game passed the 10-minute mark.

The gap—small as it was—was nursed along for the next five minutes. At 15:25 King Cole's long red arcan moved Carolina out front and the stands again went into a short frenzy. With emphasis on short, that it.

For that's where State took over a lead that it held permanently. Four quick points in one minute pushed the 'Pack into a three-point lead, and the Staters continued on to a 32-25 intermission lead.

From their seven-point vantage point, Coach Everett Case's quickly assumed a 10-tally margin when play resumed. Then Paxton took over, and he narrowed the gap back to six. But that

(See PHANTOMS Page 4)

A Little Better

State (69)	fg	ft	pf	tp	ftm
Dickey, f	7	5	1	19	2
Stine	0	0	0	0	2
McComas f	1	4	1	6	2
Ranzino	3	2	2	8	2
Horvath, c	0	2	5	2	2
Cartier	6	3	4	15	3
Bartels, g	0	1	4	1	0
Sloan	2	2	2	6	1
Katkavek, g	3	2	3	8	1
Bubas	2	0	1	4	0
Totals	24	21	23	69	15
Carolina (45)	fg	ft	pf	tp	ftm
Paxton, f	4	5	4	13	2
Swartzberg	1	2	0	4	0
Scholbe, f	1	1	4	3	1
Carson	3	3	3	9	2
Nearman, c	0	2	4	2	3
Dillon	2	4	2	8	0
Nyimicz	0	0	3	0	0
Cole, g	2	0	2	4	1
Thorne, g	0	2	4	2	0
Ryan	0	0	1	0	0
Totals	13	19	27	45	9

Halftime Score: State 32, UNC 25.

Officials: Heft and Hedrick.

Shop At VARLEY'S—Quality Merchandise
Reasonable Prices

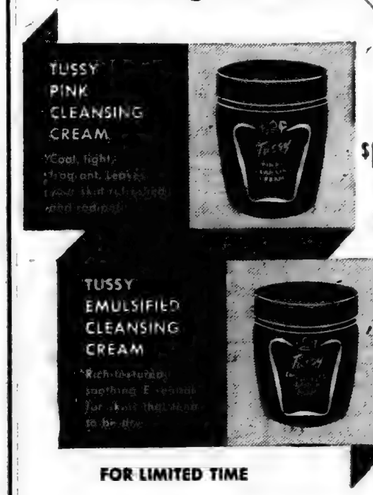
- Corduroy Sport Coats
- Shetland Wool Sport Coats
- Arrow Shirts
- Fine Selection of Pipes

Varley's

All Occasions
Flowers say it better
REHDERS
CHAPEL HILL FLOWER SHOP
Opposite Post Office corner

OUR BETTER DRY CLEANING GETS OUT MORE DIRT
APPROVED SANITONE SERVICE
UNIVERSITY CLEANERS
Across From The Post Office

Don't Dispair
REPAIR



Shoes are too scarce to be thrown away because they have holes in them. Bring them to us for repair; be it
Stitching
Half Soleing
Heel Replacing
COLLEGE SHU-FIXERY

SPECIAL SALE

famous Tussy cleansing creams

$1.75 size now only $1
$3 SIZE NOW ONLY $1.95 all plus tax
Give your skin the beneficial cleansing care it needs. Take advantage of this special sale. Come in, telephone or write today!
FOR LIMITED TIME
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

Members of Lambda Chi Alpha and their dates take time out during intermission for a glass of punch and a chat with Dean Carmichael. From left to right: Bob Grey and his wife, Pearl; Earle Tyndall and his wife, Dean Carmichael, Janet Jolly, Bill Prince and Ralph Sherrill.

Pi Phis Hold 'Rat Night' Thursday;

Pi Phi pledges went through "Rat" night Thursday night, presenting songs and skits to their active sisters, and obeying all commands given them.

Actives in turn presented a skit for the pledges, and other impromptu entertainment was given. Refreshments were served following the skits.

Dabney Little and Sue Everett were in charge of the affair.

IRC To Be Host At District Meet

All students who have ever been members of the International Relations club are requested to attend an important meeting of the club Monday night which will be held in Roland Parker 1 at 7:30.

The club is playing host to a large district IRC conference this weekend and the active support of any members, past or present, is needed to help with the program.

LIL' ABNER By AL CAPP

Southern Fried Chicken Today—at HARRY'S

Goings On About Towm

By Jane Mears

The Pan-Hellenic council has announced plans for a faculty tea to be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. All faculty members and their wives are invited.

Watch your Daily Tar Heel for announcements concerning the CICA Spring Fashion show. It will really be a big affair, with models from every sorority, fraternity and other campus groups. Something no one will be able to afford to miss.

The ADPis want to remind you that open house is being held every Sunday night except from 7 until 8 o'clock in the sorority house.

Rather than have no news you might as well hear the old news which the society ed. is sorry she is late getting around to . . . ADPi Fran Angus and Sigma Chi Hank Beebe were pinned fairly recently, and so were Tuh Carter and Devan Barbour, Phi Gamma Delta.

Something we cannot understand is why so many people rush home every weekend. We love Carolina and think June is soon enough to leave, because then we won't be coming back. We have yet to spend a dull moment here. The importatn thing is the people, not the things to do. What's more, we have been completely taken in by the charm of Chapel Hill. It's a good feeling to know people wherever you go . . . Charlie at the University, Ben at Harry's Aggie at J. T.'s, Mrs. Randolph at the Little Shop. The society ed doesn't think she would mind spending the rest of her life right here.

Labor Opposition Shown for Wallace

Washington, D. C., February 20—(UP)—CIO President Philip Murray has shown that he means business in his federation's opposition to Henry Wallace.

He has ordered Harry Bridges to get off the Wallace bandwagon or face losing his job as CIO director of Northern California. This ultimatum backs up a decision made by the federation's executive board last month to oppose the third party. Bridges also is president of the west coast longshoremen's and warehousemen's union, and this job will not be affected by Murray's order. However, as a regional director, he is expected to carry out CIO policy.

Formal Dance Given February 14 To Honor 19 Lamba Chi Pledges

The Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity held a formal dance on Saturday night, February 14, in the ballroom of the Carolina Inn.

The dance was held in honor of the 19 Lambda Chi pledges and their dates as follows: Raymond Simmons with Carolina Rozelle of Winston-Salem; Bob Grey with Mrs. Pearl Grey; Steve Robertson with Claudia Boswell of Charlotte; Ray Edwards with LaVerne Witmer of Raleigh; Grey Adams with Mrs. Joyce Adams; Randall Proctor with Evelyn Ruspini of Park Ridge, N. J.; Zeb Gibson with Sara McLendon of Wadesboro; William Aldridge with Susan Steele of Burlington; Steve Cole with Peggy Fogleman of Burlington; Talmadge Rose with Barbara Winslow of Hertford; Robert Holmes with Hilda Cude of Roanoke, Va., Paul Baschon with Mary Frances Watson of Raleigh, and Leonard Lopez with Carolina Moore of Burlington.

Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra furnished the music for the evening, which, according to the pledges, who entered Lambda Chi Alpha last October 29, was a highly successful one. The highlight of the evening was a figure which was performed by the pledges and their dates.

The ballroom of the Carolina Inn was decorated in the Valentine theme, blending with the colorful array of evening dresses and tuxedos. Miss Katherine K. Carmichael, Dean of Women, acted as chaperone.

-Phantoms-

(Continued from page 3)

was all there was, there wasn't any more, and State quickly advanced its advantage to up in the 20's.

And for those who like short skirts and figures, John Dillon scored his final point in Woollen gym at 38:52 in the contest . . . State had a .312 accuracy percentage, Carolina a .220 average . . . The loss was the first suffered on their home floors since they were trounced by NYU over a year ago.

Sorority Gives Scholarship

The Delta Delta Delta sorority has announced that a number of scholarships from the Tri-Delt General Scholarship Fund are again available to women students in colleges where there are chapters of this sorority. In most cases, the amount awarded to any one on campus will not exceed $200.

"Applicants may or may not be sorority members," a Tri-Delta representative explained," but they must be well-qualified students, working toward degrees, who show promise of becoming valuable citizens in their future communities."

Kappa Sigma Has Old Black And White Ball

The Alpha Mu chapter of Kappa Sigma last night honored its pledges with the traditional Black and White ball. The dance was held in the Carolina Inn at 8:30 o'clock.

The Inn was uniquely decorated with a low ceiling of black and white crepe. Upon the walls were black silhouettes of the honored pledges. In the background was shining the star and cresent, glittering from beams of light.

The gala affair was entertained with the music of Johnny Satterfield and his orchestra.

Leading the figure was Mary Marshall Ragland escorted by Fitz Caudle, president of the pledge class. Following were: Myra Ruth Stone with Ivan Armstrong, vice-president, Jeanne Denny with William Oliver Smith, Jr., secretary-treasurer and Peggy Louise Martin with William Claybrook, activity chairman; Lara Walston with Harry Bateman, Nancy Norwood with Henry Bristol, Margaret Hudson with Ervin Cherry, Betty Ann Gowell with Joseph Combs, Mary Jane Gardner with Robert Crockett, Sylvia Newsome with James Hardison, Ellen Russell with Jack Holbrook, Bobbie Jones with Thomas Hollingsworth, Heath Hartsell with Walter Johnson, Coline Helverston with Joe Kumpe, Eleanor Smith with Thomas Larkin, Virginia Garner with Alex Marsh, Evelyn Ray Harte with Walter Montgomery, Claires McCall with John Mosley, Beckie Holten with James Moss, Martha Sicelofi with Hubert Olive, Beckie Fowlkes with Fitzroy Phillips, Pat Eckert with Watson Pugh, Betty Jean Griffen with Bruce Sanborn, Joy Lester with Lee Sanders, Jody Ryan with Herbert Whitefield, and Mary Ross Sherrin with Sanford Woosley. Each girl was presented with a bouquet of red roses.

The chaperones were Dr. and Mrs. John Couch and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Oliver Smith of Raleigh, Mr. and Mrs. William Little Steele, Jr. of Raleigh, Mrs. E. R. Smith of Durham, Mr. Phillip Norton of New York, N. Y., and many brothers from other chapters.

Sigma Alpha Iota Initiates Seven In Formal Ritual

The Iota Tau chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, professional honorary music sorority, initiated seven new members in a formal ceremony last Sunday afternoon at 5:30 in Hill Hall. Mary Elizabeth Burrus, president of the sorority, presided.

New members are Virginia Johnson, Hamlet; Betsy Green, Chapel Hill; Mary Helen zum Brunnen, Salisbury; Martha Adair, Washington; Ferne Hughes, Rainelle, V. Va.; Gwen Howard, Sanford, and Sybil Drake, Minden, La.

Following the ceremony, a dinner honoring the new initiates and Iota Province President, Miss Emily Garrett, was held at the home of one of the organizations patronesses, Mrs. Earl Slocum. Short talks were made by Miss Katherine Carmichael, Dean of Women, and Dr. Glen Haydon, head of the University Music department.

Membership in the sorority is based on musicianship and scholarship. Since the inception of Sigma Alpha Iota in 1946 on the University campus, it has been actively concerned in the promotion of music. Its members perform various functions such as ushering and sponsoring concerts. Two of the new members, Ferne Hughes, and Virginia Johnson had leading roles in the recent University production, "The Mikado."

GOOD IDEA

DUNCAN, Okla. (UP)—Officers of the "Mile of Dimes" infantile paralysis fund campaign drive here hope this idea is catching. Clyde Quinn, 67, volunteer a dime for each year of his age.

-Essay-

(Continued from page 2)

proposed policy would be ineffective and even dangerous from the standpoint of military policy. Beyond that, it would likewise be undesirable and dangerous from the standpoint of the nation itself. These are reasons enough why the proposed policy should not be adopted now, since it would force armed competition of other nations. We should remember the words of our late president, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who said, "The only thing we have to fear—is fear itself."

-Rolnik-

(Continued from page 1)

time for one quick practice reading of the script aloud, stepped into the vocal cords of 60 people.

"He ran the gamut from the President of the United States to the voice of an operatic soprano," another radio student commented. "He played James Thurber, he played Franch, Russian and British announcers, all with accents. He even was small crowd scenes."

Rolnik, who says that he has had little dramatic experience prior to Wednesday, achieved his variety of effects by continually changing the pitch of his voice and his speaking distance from the mike. He also took the part of Southern senator, the pilot-hero, various newsmen, and even found time somewhere to help other students with the sound effects. At one place in the scripts he would be the hero's mother, the next moment he would be the hero again, and it was probably mere writing oversight that he didn't play the part of his own grandma.

As he split ethereally into 60 pieces, observers noted that he physically began to wear somewhat around the edges, and by 9 o'clock was minus his shoes and necktie but still speaking energetically.

"It was an amazing performance," commented Earl Wynn, director of the Center and the University's Radio department. "It demonstrated the fletibility of the human voice in general—and Mr. Rolnik's in particular. He came through in flying style to put the show across."

Miss Jane Grills, radio production director of the department, explained how such a problem, as arose and was solved last Wednesday, could come up in the professional radio world, and what excellent experience it was for University students to face these difficulties while they were still in training.

DUKE TIX

Carolina students will have a chance to purchase tickets to the Duke-Carolina game which is scheduled for next Friday. The ducats will go on sale on Monday afternoon between 2 and 5 o'clock at the Woollen gym ticket office.

No passbooks will be needed for the tickets. The selling price is $1.50.

-Newman-

(Continued from page 1)

All of his formal schooling was completed in Cleveland. He took his doctor's degree from Western Reserve university in 1929 and did further study at Columbia university and in Europe. Before coming to Chapel Hill in January 1946, he taught at Western Reserve, Bennington and Columbia. During the summer sessions of 1946 and 1947 he gave graduate courses in advanced music theory at Columbia Teachers college. He plans to return there this summer.

Captain Newman

There is also the matter of a couple of years with the Army Air forces. During that time, he exchanged the title of "Doctor" for that of "Captain." From 1943 to 1945, he was Chief of the Reference branch of the Army Air forces historical office, stationed at Alexandria, Va.

Even then his musical activities were not confined to singing the Air Corps song. In 1945, he played over a world wide AAF broadcast from New York. Although it had to be done on leave time, he mannaged to get in some concert work.

One such tour well illustrates the rate at which fast-moving Dr. Newman likes to travel. In the winter of 1945, he scheduled five concerts in as many nights.

"I decided to do all my traveling by plane, so I made reservations far in advance. In the end, I realized the truth of the saying then current among Eighth Air Force men—'Flying isn't practical yet.'"

The first recital was on Monday night at the Phillips memorial gallery in Washington; Tuesday night he was at Columbia in New York. From there, he flew to Harvard at Cambridge. Thursday night, he played Adelphi college in Garden City, L. I.; Friday night the tour ended at the Library of Congress, back in Washington.

"For every trip something went wrong," says Dr. Newman. "I was haunted by the thought that I should have taken the train. But I really hit the trouble jackpot on Thursday night."

The plane was due to leave New York for Washington at 11 o'clock. His misfortune started at 42nd Street station when a careless attendant neglected to call the passengers for the car to the airport.

"We were stranded. Three of us managed to bribe a taxi driver to take us to LaGuardia field. When we got there, we found the plane was delayed and wouldn't take off until one o'clock."

No Heat

At one, Dr. Newman and his shivering fellow-passengers assembled on the ramp. For an hour, they waited in the zero weather. At two o'clock they boarded the plane—and found it had no heat.

We took off around two thirty. After about an hour's smooth flight, I looked out and saw the lights of a landing field. Just as I was congratulating the airline on a record trip, the stewardess announced that we had returned to New York because of some trouble in the landing gear."

Never one to be easily discouraged, he still likes flying.

"After all," he says, "I should. I first met my wife on an Eastern airliner on route to concert in Boston. After the wedding, we received the congratulations of the Eastern airlines prexy, Eddie Rickenbacker."

-Debators-

(Continued from page 1)

states and 3 Latin American countries had indicated that they would send entries and more acceptances were expected. The competition is being sponsored by the Glendyburk society of Tulane.

The forensic scene here yesterday was far from quite as two Carolina teams battled two teams from Wake Forest in non-decision debates on the question of World federalism.

In the Di hall, Yates and Stevens went for Carolina against Dan Lovelace and Bob Crouch representing Wake Forest and in the Phi hall Mottsman and Mitchell were pitted against Wake Forest's Henry Huff and Brian Scott.

Debates Scheduled

Debates have also been scheduled here for Thursday evening when Davidson will send two teams against the local speakers.

Fitzgerald explained yesterday that world federal government was generally discussed over the country this year, as it was the topic of the Tulane and Fredicksburgh, Va., grand National tourneys. It will also be the subject of the Davidson debate and of a forthcoming contest with William and Mary.

Campus Calendar

Today.

10:00 a.m.—Student Bible Class, Presbyterian church

9:45 and 11:00 a.m.—Graham Memorial worship.

12:00 noon—"Editorially Speaking," WDUK.

1:30 p.m.—"The University Hour," WPTF, WTIK, WDUK

7:00 p.m.—Jewish Services, Roland Parker lounge no. 1.

8:00 p.m.—CPU will meet in the Grail room.

8:00 p.m.—Rabbi James W. Wise will speak in a public meeting in the Roland Parker lounges nos. 2 and 3.

8:30 p.m.—Music by candlelight main lounge of Graham Memorial.

Tomorrow:

7:00 p.m.—Executive Council of the Independent Coed Association upstairs in the Y.

7:00 p.m.—Carolina Conservative club meeting in the main lounge of Graham Memorial to have pictures taken for the Yackety Yack.

9:00 p.m.—Student Party meeting in Roland Parker lounge.

-Politics-

(Continued from page 1)

er publications editorships have no nominees in the field with the exception of the Yackety Yack where picture coordinator Bill Duncan has been nominated by the University party

Three candidates however, are fighting it out for the head cheerleader's post. They are Charlie Stancell, the UP nominee, Dick Wofford of the CP and Norman Sper (rhymes with cheer), the SP candidate.

With the mag editorship, council positions, publications board positions, and members of the Coed Senate and the Student Legislature yet to be nominated, the tickets are far from complete at the present time.

The University party has nominated Jack Girard and Ed Davenport to head their ticket for the senior class positions and Kyle Barnes and Marvin Nathan for the sophomore class. Other class positions will be contested by UP nominees Calvin Koontz, Herb Nachman, Jack Gwyann, Jack Thompson, Elizabeth Legget and Rita Adams, the UP nominees. The SP and CP have not made any nominations for the class positions.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1937 DESOTO 4-DOOR SEDAN. $375 Caston Motor Co.. Phone F-3891. (ch1x1)

LOST 12

LOST THURSDAY, 1948 CLASS RING (girls) Lexington High School. Initials J. G. S. REWARD. Bill Hedrick, 107 Alexander. (1-1800-1)

LOST OR STOLEN—GRAFLEX FLASH extension with 15 foot cord while on assignment for DAILY TAR HEEL. Please return to DTH office. Thanks. (1-2000-1)

University Florist
"For the Best in Flowers"
Pick Theatre Bldg.
Chapel Hill, N. C.
Telephone 6816

Quick Service
DURHAM OPTICAL COMPANY
215 W. Main St.
Phone F-2141 Durham

QUALITY FURNISHINGS
at
E. A. Brown Furniture Co.
Next to City Hall
Phone 6586

for BETTER MEALS at BETTER PRICES
It's Marvin's Restaurant
of Durham
—Catering to the College Guy and Gal—
The Ivy Koom and the Hunt Koom for your pleasure—2 dining rooms—for your comfort
MARVIN'S

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept.)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Cloudy and not so cool; drizzle turning to rain

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
From The Staff
As DTH Hits 55
Happy Birthday

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 108

Multiple Changes In Policy Here Suggested By Student Leaders

ONE of the reasons Miami is so popular at this time of the year is pretty Betty Wagreer. She's modeling a new two-piece swim suit with a top made of bright gold and black stripes. (International)

Handbook Editor To Be Selected Tonite By Senate

Coed Senate will meet tonight in Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial to elect the editor for the Woman's Handbook.

The slate of applicants from which the editor is to be selected include the following:

Nina (Bunnie) Davis, Doris Weaver, Emily Baker, Randall Hudson, Miriam Evans, Jane Mears, Anne Fleming, and Carter Taylor.

The Handbook will be completed by June and sent to all prospective coeds previous to their entrance to the University. Its purpose is to help orient the coeds by giving a true picture of campus life at Carolina and is the only publication which presents social rules.

The Senate meeting will be open and any interested persons may attend.

Miss McKnight Will Talk To Counsellors

Frances McKnight, of the Child Migrant Workers program in New York state will be on the campus Thursday to interview any men and women students interested in employment in summer camps run by this organization. Kathryn G. Cook, through whose office in South building appointments to see the camp representative may be made, pointed out the advantages of this opportunity to those students who are interested in the fields of education and sociology.

TICKET INFORMATION

There are still a limited number of tickets available for the indoor track meet Saturday night in Woollen gym. Students may purchase the ducats for 75 cents and passbook coupon number 21.

General admission to the public is $1.50.

The Athletic office also announced that tickets for the Duke game in the Blue Devils' gym this Friday may be obtained at the ticket window today. Sometime tomorrow, all ducats still not sold will be turned back to Duke officials.

Inter-Club Council Freshman Chapel Are Recommended

By Sally Woodhull

Personalizing the honor system, establishment of an interclub council, institution of freshman chapel, and encouraging of opportunities for association between Negro and white students are among the recommendations to come out of commission groups at the Natural Bridge conference sponsored by the YM and YWCA last weekend.

Approximately 100 students from Carolina, William and Mary, Randolph-Macon and Mary Baldwin met at the Natural Bridge hotel in Virginia Friday, Saturday and Sunday to discuss problemt of campus and world affairs. Principal speakers at the conference were Dr. Cameron Hall of the Federal Council of Churches, Dr. Frank Hanft of the University Law school, and Warren Ashby of the philosophy department.

Open Meeting

Reports of the commission groups, delivered to the campus at an open meeting yesterday afternoon in Graham Memorial, showed, in addition to principles which should be followed, concrete steps suggested by commission members for the improvement of student government, student activities and social functions, scholarship, racial relations, and attitudes toward world government and economic affairs.

A complete report of recommendations is to be compiled by the Y's, it was announced at yesterday's meeting, and will be distributed to organizations concerned.

Political Report

Jess Dedmond, reporting for the commission on campus politics and organizations, stressed the necessity for good leadership among students, recommending a course in student government; the stimulation of interest among entering students, to be accomplished through better orientation; the improvement of student-faculty relationships; and the dissemination of graphic knowledge about student government.

The lack of recreational facilities on campus was discussed by the social commission, and recommendations reported by Ed McLeod include the building of a recreation center; open houses for men's dorms to be held in Graham Memorial or the Monogram club, the establishment of lounges and dorm stores in men's dorms.

Racial Tensions

George Worth, reporting for the commission on racial tensions, announced that the commission would prepare a syllabus of action of other Southern universities on admitting Negroes, and submitted the following recommendations: YMCA, YWCA, and Hillel should encourage church student groups to study segregation and make a public statement of their stand on it.

The three groups should form a joint committee on colored com-

(See RETREAT, page 4)

Snavely Stays

Coach Carl Snavely will not leave Carolina.

The Gray Fox made the announcement yesterday after several days of deliberation and discussion over a $25,000 a year plus offer had been made by the Los Angeles Dons of the All-American Professional football conference in an attempt to lure the Tar Heel mentor away from Chapel Hill.

Snavely said the negotiations with Los Angeles grew out of a statement he made to his friend, Harry Thayer, business manager of the Dons, and he added he is sorry the thing ever became public.

The gray-haired coach said the Los Angeles offer was fair and generous and he called it an opportunity which could not well be refused. But Snavely and his wife, after serious consideration, "came face to face with the termination of our Carolina association, and with the thought that the work in which so many of us have joined might be impaired, simply found ourselves unable to leave."

Dormitory To Be Guests Of UVA

The girls from McIver dormitory will be the guests of the University Veterans association tonight a tthe clubhouse behind Lenoir hall.

President Johnny Clampitt announced this as the first in a new series of open houses providing for amateur entertainment and a long range program.

The new program was passed by the association's Board of Governors in a recent meeting. Pinky Barnes and A. B. Coleman will be in charge of the informal entertainment with Barnes as the master of ceremonies.

It was also decided by the board to appropriate $5 for these programs and to provie entertainment to be furnished by the Graham Memorial Entertainment bureau.

Next week the Town Girl's association will be the guests of the UVA. The group plans an outing in the near future with girls from Women's college as guests.

Last night a general business meeting of the association discussed other possibilities for future entertainment. Measures pertaining to the UVA constitution which have been tabled for some time were discussed. According to Clampitt they will probably be brought off the table and added to the agenda for a vote at the next regular meeting.

Jerry Pence Declares Candidacy For Cheerleader, To Run On Independent Ticket In April Elections

Jerry Pence, junior from Wagram, will run for the position of head cheerleader as an independent in the April elections.

Pence, who is a member of this year's cheering squad, stated yesterday that if he was elected, he would work with the other contenders for the position to do the best possible job in the office.

Also listed on Pence's platform are pledges to confer with cheerleaders of other schools to bring about better sportsmanship and better half-time shows, to initiate a more active tumbling program in the squad, and to work during orientation week to teach songs and cheers to the new lowerclassmen.

The candidate, a chemistry major, entered the University in 1943, withdrew to go into the army in 1944, where he served with the infrantry of the 90th division in Europe, and returned here in September of 1946.

He was a member of the 1943-44 swimming squad and was social chairman of the sophomore class last year.

Pence's complete platform is composed of six planks, as follows:

"Closest Cooperation"

(1) If elected, I will endeavor to work in closest cooperation with the other contenders for the office to get the best ideas and workable plans for the betterment of the cheering sections. (2) To arrang for conferences with cheering squads of other schools to encourage better sportsmanship and better half-time shows, (3) To initiate a more active group of tumblers into the squad, (4) New cheers and work for a good public address system.

Orientation Program

(5) T work during orientation week to teach the incoming students our cheers and songs, (6) To intensify a campaign for more school spirit, (7) To count on the student body to outcheer our opponents.

Pence, a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, is the fourth person to enter the race for the head cheerleader position for next year.

NEWSPAPERMEN LISTEN as Representatives Wm. M. Colmer (center, dark suit) and John E. Rankin (right) tell of the locked-door session in Washington during which some 50 southern congressmen voted unanimously to "fight to the finish" President Truman's civil rights program. A resolution, warning the President that his actions jeopardized the life of the Democratic Party, was adopted. (International Soundphoto)

Southern Governors Take Ultimatum to Dem Chairman

Washington, Feb. 23 — (UP) — Rebellious Southern governors met this afternoon with McGrath and then issued a statement saying that "The present leadership of the Democratic party will soon realize that the South is no longer in the bag.

In effect, they demanded: "Either you withdraw President Truman's Civil Rights program from Congressional consideration, or we may withdraw our support of President Truman."

Cherry in Group

The men were governors from four Southern states, Gregg Cherry of North Carolina, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Ben Laney of Arkansas and B. H. Jester of Texas. William Tuck of Virginia, who was originally listed as one of the group, didn't appear.

They handed their ultimatum to the boss of the Democratic National committee, Senator Howard McGrath of Rhode Island.

The governors asked McGrath to use his influence with the President on three points. (1) To have the Civil Rights program withdrawn. (2) To adopt a plank in the Democratic National Convention platform to uphold the principle of State Rights and opposing what they describe as "Such invasion of that principle as the proposed anti-lynching, anti-poll tax and anti-discrimination program." (3) To restore the two-thirds rule in the 1948 Convention at Philadelphia. This is the rule scrapped by the party in 1936 which would give the Dixie delegates a strong voice in the Convention proceedings.

Eager Newsmen

A full hour before the conference which was scheduled for 2:30 this afternoon, newsmen began flocking into the Democratic National committee's fancy new headquarters on Connecticut av-

(See GOVERNORS, page 4)

AVC Will Discuss Bi-Racial Issue

The Chapel Hill and University chapter of the American Veterans committee will hear a talk on unsegregated education at UNC by Nell Morton at its meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Presbyterian church. The public is invited.

Also on the agenda will be the deportation proceedings recently launched by the Department of Justice against large numbers of aliens in the United States.

Plans for future informal social gatherings to be held by the chapter are to be presented to the membership. It is anticipated that the local group may give entertainments and get-togethers for all who wish to come. Necessary arrangements are to be considered at tonight's meeting.

Graham Home

Dr. Frank Porter Graham was back at his desk in South building yesterday after returning from work in New York and Washington Sunday afternoon.

At approximately 9:15 yesterday morning the educator settled down to get back in the Carolina swing of things again.

South building officials said that one more trip to Lake Success on Thursday would be necessary to wind up his recently-concluded peace mission to Indonesia.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Le Cercle Francais will hold its regular meeting tonight at 7:30 in Caldwell Y. The group will meet for supper together at the Carolina Inn at 6:15. Dr. Alfred Engstrom of the Romance Languages department will speak on "Paul Verlaine et sa poesie." Visitors are welcomed.

Parker, Bell Will Head Lost Colony

Raleigh, Feb. 23—(UP)—John Parker, the business manager of the Carolina Playmakers, has been named general manager of the Lost Colony for the 1948 season.

Parker was named today at a meeting in Raleigh of the Roanoke Island Historical Society, sponsors of the famous historical pageant written by Paul Green. He is a faculty member at the University.

To assist Parker the Society has named Albert Bell, architect and builder of the Waterside Theater where the "Lost Colony" soon will open for its 11th season, and Jonathan Daniels has been named honorary vice president of the Society.

Daniels will succeed his father, the late Josephus Daniels. The Board has entered in the official minutes an expression of gratitude for the work done on its behalf by the late editor of the Raleigh News and Observer.

The group also has arranged for a special concert series by former Metropolitan Opera star Norman Cordon. The concert tour will be designed to stimulate interest in the "Lost Colony" which tells the story of the first English settlement in North America.

Phi Will Discuss Negro Entrance

The Phi Assembly will debate a proposal to admit a limited number of Negroes to the University on an experimental basis tonight at 7:30 in the Phi hall.

Twice in the history of the University the question of admitting Negro students has come before the administration. In 1932 a Negro applicant took his plea to the courts but the case was thrown out on a legal technicality. Again in 1939 a Negro woman applied for admission to the University graduate school, but was refused entrance.

Legislature Judicial Group Will Hold Public Session

The controversial appellate jurisdiction situation will be discussed this afternoon in an open meeting of the special committee of the Student Legislature set up to study the judicial provisions of the constitution.

The committee, which will make its report to the Legislature Thursday evening, has called the meeting "to make sure everyone is heard," according to Chairman Basil Sherrill.

Unconstitutional Angles

Scheduled for the Grail room of Graham Memorial at 2 o'clock, the group will discuss the unconstitutional angles of the separate Law and Medical school honor courts.

The committee was created on February 6, and has been attempting to determine whether or not the Student council should keep its appellate jurisdiction over Men's and Women's council cases which are appealed.

They are also endeavoring to define more closely the powers of the Student council, the procedure it should follow in hearing appeals, and the qualifications necessary for its members.

Report Thursday

The Legislature has asked the committee to report on their decisions Thursday night, following a one-week extension which they gave the group at the last session of the law-making body.

Student Body President Tom Eller stated yesterday afternoon that he thought it would be desirable for the recommended changes, if any, to be carried out soon enough so that political party chairmen could be notified to make nominations for possible newly-created offices.

Members of the committee, in addition to Chairman Sherrill, are Bill Tate, Donnie MacDonald, Bob Broughton, Jess Dedmond, Tag Montague and Scotty Venable, who is representing the student body president.

Dedmond To Address Campus Party Tonite Topic To Be Student Government Objective

Jess Dedmond, former chairman of the Campus party who is running at the present time for president of the student body with a joint UP-CP nomination, will speak at a meeting of the Campus party at 7 o'clock this evening in Roland Parker lounge 2 of Graham Memorial.

Subject of Dedmond's remarks will be the objectives of student government. According to Chairman Bob Haire, his talk is expected to precede a nominating session of the party.

Regarding this session, Haire stated yesterday, "The spring elections are near enough that it is time we are getting our candidates into the field, in order that the campus may weigh their merits in comparison with those of other parties."

He urged all of the people that the party steering committee has contacted to attempt to be present at the meeting. Reason that he gave for this was that, "The party will be better able to decide between possible nominees if they present themselves personally for party consideration."

Wallace Has Mate

Washington, Feb. 23 — (UP) — Henry Wallace now has a running mate on the third party ticket.

In a radio broadcast last night, Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho turned his back on the Democratic party to campaign for vice-president under the new party banner.

The Idaho senator, who was elected to the upper house of Congress by campaigning on horseback with a cowboy band, has been Wallace's first choice since the third party was formed, but the Idaho senator had asked for time to decide whether to risk what he called "probable political suicide."

Taylor announced his decision with these words, "I am going to cast my lot with Henry Wallace in his brave and gallant fight for peace."

The 43-year-old senator went on to blast both major parties. As for the Democrats, he says, "I am not leaving the Democratic party, it left me. Wall Street and the military have taken over."

He called Wallace "the only leader capable of ending the cold war and reestablishing even the beginning of international good will."

After condemning the machine politics of the Big City Democratic bosses and the so-called "Jim Crow" practices of the Southern wing of the party, Taylor asserted that the Republican program is laid down by Senator Taft and the national association.

While refusing to renounce Communist support, Taylor asked if the party bosses would renounce the support of the N.A.M. or as he put it "the high moguls of the steel trust."

The Idaho senator, whose term of office lasts until 1951, emphasized that he personally had no use for Communists. He said his efforts would be directed toward making the American economy work so well that Communism could never become popular.

Taylor also said he would work to see that the new party would not split the Progressive vote, but would back liberals on either of the old party tickets.

Students, Faculty Members Participate in CCUN-Lions Educational Conference

Students and faculty members from the University took an active part in the third CCUN-Lions Civic and Educational conference on the United Nations held in Statesville this past weekend.

Dr. Nicholas Demarath, of the Institute of Social Science Studios pdesided over a radio forum on "Should the UN be Scrapped," which was discussed by Roberta Stirling, state secretary-general of CCUN, of Chapel Hill, Ben Cohen, assistant secretary-general of the UN, Ambassador Henri Bonnet of France and Carlos Blanco, minister from Cuba.

Dr. C. B. Robson of the University Political Science department spoke at a conference luncheon Saturday on "The Balance Sheet of the UN." Other University faculty attending the Statesville meet were Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Leavitt, Dr. C. H. Pegg and Dr. K. C. Frazier.

Lincoln S. H. Kan, state director of CCUN from the University, presided at several conference programs, appeared on radio broadcasts and conducted the final plenary session of the meeting. Carolina students, in addition to Miss Stirling and Kan attending the conference were Lindsay Tate, Nina Davis, Mae Belle Enman, Tom Kerr and George Drew.

Literary Quarterly Backers To Meet In Graham Memorial

The feasibility of establishing a literary quarterly on the campus, the methods for doing so, and the general reaction to the idea of one will be discussed at a meeting to be held tonight at 7 o'clock in Roland Parker lounge of Graham Memorial.

Open to All

Called by publications men interested in the formation of such a magazine, the meeting will be open to all who have ideas on the subject or who desire to attend. Editor Fred Jacobson of the Carolina magazine, who has signed the petition for a quarterly said yesterday, "We want a large attendance as we expect to put the project in the hands of a central committee at the meeting."

Sentiment is believed to be running high for the establishment of such a magazine. There were, at last reports, 1,400 signatures on the petition asking for it, and prominent publications figures are included in that number.

General and Specific

The meeting tonight will be a general discussion of the entire proposal followed by consideration of the specific methods and organization called for by such a move.

According to Jacobson, the group will probably close the meeting by electing committees to look further into the financial and organizational ends of the project, to prepare a prospectus on the magazine, and to direct the program.

The last named group would, Jacobson maintained, be useful in coordinating the overlapping efforts now being made for the quarterly.

Mills-Stones

Hired Escorts Still in Need

By Barron Mills

Yesterday I was waiting for the go signal from my newly-hired escort, whose sole responsibility is to get me across the street twice a day when I dash from the side of the street in front of BVP to the postoffice to get the mail, when we saw something which we could hardly believe.

Directly in front of us passed Dan the Dog, an old friend of the campus who recently returned from a short visit in Charleston. Maybe it was out of respect or just because of his old age, but the drivers allowed Dan to preamble across the street. He took his time and was the first creature we have seen in many a day to make the crossing and maintain both limb and dignity.

My paid professional escort was quick to assure me that I still need his assistance because, "If Dan had been a human he couldn'ta got away with that."

* * *

Some systematic method of crossing in front of the postoffice would be welcome. We still have a U-turn at both ends of the main drag which makes for complications. One hazard at the west end of the business district was the old block-buster in the middle of the road containing the traffic light. After A-models, autos and trucks gave it body blocks and removed it from its position of operations, it was finally done away with and the light was suspended from above in a more orthodox fashion. But the traffic cops in the Village have refused to string-up the U-turn drivers at that end of Franklin. With the ever increasing traffic down beyond this point because of the westward advance of the business district the problem becomes even more complicated.

* * *

The other day I was driving back from Raleigh with Jimmy Gribbens, the editor of the Scripts 'N Pranks, Davidson magazine. Indefatigible Jimmy, who is also vice-president of the North Carolina Collegiate Press association, says his publication gets only $900 yearly from the college to publish four issues. Apparently this meager income from the college is no handicap to the pre-med editor. His is a publication that is a crackajack variety mag. Jimmy is so meticulous in his work that he even required his printers to purchase the same quality paper on which the New Yorker is printed.

Jimmy had this to say about humor magazines in particular. It's hard for a humor magazine to keep the readership laughing or even smiling. "The jokes are the same that travel from one comic to another until they have made the rounds several times and then they delve deeper into the old files." Jimmy says all jokes in the Scripts 'N Pranks are original.

One of the only sure-fire methods of maintaining a magazine that can even be remotely related to humor, without turning smutty, is to deal in satire. That was the opinion of the man who revived the Scripts 'N Pranks from its war death.

This adds more reason why the campus should have at least a literary quarterly.

Jimmy also follows the New Yorker pattern in that he does not have art work to illustrate each of his articles. Instead he saves his funds for "the work of several good cartoonists, to add zest."

Sometimes when funds are limited such as is the case with foreign movies of our time, ingenuity is used to turn out a better product.

* * *

Several months ago "we" wrote an article about the University of Texas and referred to the Daily Texan, the big (it doesn't give a second thought in publishing 24 pages daily) collegiate daily as "the New York Times of the collegiate press."

Only last week the editor, Jo White, a very enterprising young man, finished his college career. In an article relating his achievements there included many things, but the greatest of them, as intimated by the DT was that he was editor of the newspaper that was called "the New York Times of the collegiate press" by the editor of the Daily Tar Heel.

It's a vicious circle, ain't it?

Three Day Week Has To Be Changed

(This is the second in a series of editorials on pertinent campus problems which were discussed at the Student Welfare Board last Thursday.)

Item number three on the agenda was mysterious and nebulous to those present. It was nebulous because of its phraseology, "Should we try to modify the use of weekends?" To the student members present this meant only one thing—Saturday classes. This is not necessarily so the members were quick to assure us.

Academically, school has dwindled down to a three day week schedule. Students are leaving on Thursday and coming back Tuesday morning. For those who stay here on weekends the work on Mondays and Fridays is not comparable to the other days. This is what the administration and the teaching faculty are up against; the people of the State are peeved, "because," they say, "the University closes down for half the week."

Why do students go home was the crux of the situation as determined by the faculty members present. They got their answers right back in their face from the student members:

"When you stay cooped up in crowded quarters, when you stand in line to do everything from washing your face in the morning until the meal at night, and when you don't eat but two meals a day, by the time the weekend comes around you get pretty well fed up with all of the doings. They are more than inconveniences. You want to go home where you can have plenty of room. You want to go home so that you can have three squares a day if nothing else. A fellow gets hungry by the time the weekend comes around."

What can be done about this situation was something that the student members did not agree upon except for one thing—Saturday classes would not help things. If anything, they would only tend to complicate living conditions and foster unrest for the middle of the week.

Someone suggested that what the student body needed was to have organized functions on Saturday—picnics and such. Dean Carroll of the Commerce school proposed that students who are not doing satisfactory work be required to have tutoring sessions during Saturday mornings. He proposed that the system would give the student some initiative to do satisfactory work because he would have all to gain.

Dean Wells of the College of Arts and Sciences opposed this idea on the grounds that he did not believe that any good came from having a punishment and reward systems.

The quality of food and high prices was an important feature in the Why-go-home checkup.

Plans to somewhat alleviate the crowded living conditions have, to a certain extent, already been advanced in the housing office. The number of residents in the Quonset huts and Miller and Nash halls are to be cut down considerably. This will be discussed, in detail, in this column tomorrow.

Last Monday the Board of Trustees took what was called a "long range view" of the needs of the University. They decided that we needed many things to try and make the University more efficient. An increase in faculty salaries, housing for faculty, a Public Health building, extensions on the Commerce department and the Library; the YMCA needs replacing, were a few of the more needed items.

When the discussion was tagged a "long range view" we hope that it did not mean something which must be done in the next 10 years. These things are needs of today. The University has doubled its pre-war responsibility without comparable increase in facilities.

Administrators Roy Armstrong, Edwin Lanier and Claude Teague were quick to cite the most obvious fault pampered by the shortcomings of the present University. It is at such a low ebb that "we are not getting our share of young high school graduates." Everything has been done for the veteran, who is more geared to rough living, at the expense of High Schoolers. Consequently, the young freshman is going to junior colleges and other places where the instruction is not up to a par with the University, but at least he is treated with some consideration.

If we look at this from a "long range view" we see only problems. Last year the University only got 600 high school graduates out of a possible 12,000. "And," the informers were quick to add, "we took every high school graduate that could meet the qualifications. They just did not apply for Carolina." The same thing is happening this year. A high percentage of high school graduates have already selected their colleges for next year and sent in their application blanks. We only have 400 applications. Parents are cautious about sending their sons to a University where they are going to be thrown in a Quonset hut with 20 other fellows and where they are not sure they will get adequate food each day.

What are we going to do about this? We need appropriations to increase the facilities of the University. Until then, enrollment must be placed at a 7,000 limit until more facilities are provided.

But Carolina still has a duty as a public institution; it cannot turn down an eligible student without cutting off part of its nose and dangering its reputation, but then neither can it continue to accept students under the "you're-in-if-you-can-find-a-room" ruling. It has obligations to the students already enrolled.

Buildings, higher salaries for better instruction and better facilities are the needs. Give these to the students and you will have the incentive to do better work. This living out of suit cases and eating on the run is the problem and one which must be corrected with expediency.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the Daily Tar Heel.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.

Complete Leased Wire of United Press

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Bus. Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser
NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson
SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears
ASST. BUS. MGRS.: Mary W. Sledge, T. E. Holden
ASST. CIRC. MGRS.: Randall Hudson, Don Snow
SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison
EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan

NEWS STAFF: Raney Stanford, Donald MacDonald, Sally Woodhull, John Stump, Herb Nachman, Charlie Gibson, Gordon Huffines, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Paul Rothman, Elaine Patton, Jean Baskerville, Mary Ann Taber, Weddy Thorp, Emily Baker, Miriam Evans, Doris Weaver, Nancy Black, Helen Beam, Daniel Wallace, Sam Whitehall, Helen Highwater.

SPORTS STAFF: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette, Bill Kellam, Larry Fox, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Bill Gallagher.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr., Lena Campbell, Ed Campbell, Al Carpenter.

FOR THIS ISSUE: NIGHT EDITOR: John Stump NIGHT SPORTS: Larry Fox

Write Away

Mr. Morgan Is Confused

Dear Sir:

After reading Mr. Morgan's letter "My Thoughts are Anti-God", in Sunday's (22 February) Tar Heel, I feel that there is only one answer to his letter. It Is:

SO WHAT?

Mr. Morgan is confusing Christendom and Christianity.

Someday we are going to realize that man is a moral animal, a reservoir of morals, and if it takes an idol, Buddah, Mohammed, Yahweh, Jesus, God, Virgin Mary or Totem pole to give expression to these morals, then we should strive for the courage to change things that need changing, serenity to accept things we can't change and wisdom enough to know the difference. Until we do this and accept the maximum expression to the morals of man, even latent morals, then there is no difference between Mr. Morgan, myself, and BEAT DOOK, a boar on my farm.

James H. Street, Jr.

Gratitude

To The Students UNC
Chapel Hill, (N. C.) U. S. A.

The students of the University of Trieste have greeted in the Friendship Cargo, "HOOSIER STATE" the everlasting symbol of the human brotherhood of the American People towards the Italian one.

They beg you represent to the American People the sentiments of most heartful gratitude of the Italian one, will not forget.

The President
(Ugo Verza)

Carolina Carousel

On DTH's 55th Hectic Birthday

By R. Foo Giduz

With the coming of Tuesday, February 24, the dear old DTH rather unclimatically observes the anniversary of its 55th and most controversial year of operation . . . Yep, it was back in 1893 that editor Charles Baskerville, and managing editor Walter "Pete" Murphey unleashed the first issue, a crude handset one-page weekly affair sponsored by the Athletic association . . .

Early Tar Heels thought nothing of printing sports events stories two weeks late—as was the case with a Carolina-Trinity (Dook) football classic of the '90's . . . And one of their first crusades—a plea for paved walks—was realized only last year.

In addition to being the 55th anniversary of the Tar Heel today also marks the 20th anniversary of the DAILY Tar Heel . . And none will deny this two-0 mark has been a most controversial year: A threatened Un-American activities committee investigation at the University (Graham said "welcome"); race scare last springs revelation of reds; junking of the Carolina Mag—all only a few of the problems UNC has faced . . .

It's left students mad, confused, satisfied, and disgusted. But it's been thought provoking. And that's one of the most important things of all if UNC is to continue this next year (we pray) as a southern center of liberalism and progress.

Not that it was intentional in the least; but Nat'l. Bridge Y conference co-chairman Julia Ross left there last week-end without paying her hotel bill! . . . As did "generous Johnny Clampitt, the poor guy who got the Student governmental book thrown at him for alleged mis-spending of funds in conection with the NSA convention last fall! . . . So it's all strictly for laughs, but mebbe you better watch those two shifty characters next time they bum a cig. . . . Might not get it back!

Type-worn and trite a phrase as it is, CC is again forced to say, in reply to Saturday's "Get Gidders" letter in "Write-Away," that it does not merit reply herein . . . But he will be happy to discuss the matter with the writers any old time in Harry's Brack's, or Jeff's, should they care to probe the merits of CM, CC, or anything else, in the manner of a friendly bull session.

Closing muses: In writing against the Mag referendum the Carouseler was doing just what the letter-writers were doing: Getting it off his chest . . . Whether his opinions are right or wrong, the right to state them is undeniable.

Campus Forum

Students Differ On Stores

By Pete Germs

Reaction on the re-establishment of dorm stores can be classified two ways. The opponents of the first floor and the proponents on the other floors. Perhaps this is logical. It leads us to think that expression of opinion as we found it in this instance has a definite bearing on the matter and should be taken under consideration by the Inter-dormitory council when it discusses face-lifting of dorms.

Students living on the respective first floors of the dormitories on this campus are opposed to the idea on one weighty ground: Noise. It was pointed out by this group when the Forum made its rounds that the following question, if asked of any man in the dorm, would have an absolute and unqualified "No!" as answer: "Would you like to have a dorm store if it were put up directly opposite to your room?"

This we found to be true nine times out of ten.

One of the leading opponents, Earl Caldwell, put it this way: "I am majoring in pharmacy [illegible] a hard course and requires reading of many books. It is unfair to ask a man to lug them to and from the library every day to find some peace and quiet. In fact, that facility is usually overcrowded. Why not let those who need refreshments go to the Scuttlebutt? Installation of dorm stores will only lead to needless noise-making."

On the other side of the fence sit the higher-ups. In favor of the stores, they reminded us of the good old days when we, pajama-clad or not, could run to the nearest facility.

Mike Loftus elaborates the advantages of the dorm stores: "Bringing back the store would give (1) advantage of supplies close at hand, (2) furnish more part-time jobs for students, and (3) more important, furnish a means of acquainting the students with one another (you've got a point there, pal). Locating the stores near the telephone on the first floor would help solve the problem of 'disregarded Ameches', finish the Umstead Law."

Other opinions given were as follows: "While there are no restrictions on student vendors canvassing town residents' quarters, dormitory men must leave the buildings and go elsewhere to get served. Often the Scuttlebutts are far too crowded and much valuable minutes are wasted there and traveling to and from them. Of course, the town dogs are inconvenient, especially if these in the lower quad. It would also provide more jobs for self-help students." Bill Tate.

"The scuttlebutts are suffering for our needs." Andrew Lee.

"Yes, if the dorm stores stay open later than the Scuttlebutts." Sergel Burgess.

"I am against dorm stores for boys, but in favor of having them for girls. They need them. The men's dormitories are situated close enough to the scuttlebutt at Emerson field but the girls have to walk their pretty legs off to buy something to eat." Charlie Lambeth.

"Why not make a recreation room or lounge out of the room which could be set up as a store. We have a Scuttlebutt." Archie Goodwin.

A couple of footnotes: If dorm stores were brought back displaced students could be housed in new dorms. The Umstead Law would not necessarily be repealed by such action, but action up to fifteen cents could be taken without violating it.

The question for Friday: "Are you in favor of abolishing the Student council?"

CARELESS WITH CASH

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP) Within a month, forgetful woman passengers left a total of $13 cash in James Keith's taxi. In each instance the honest cabbie returned the money—$1,000 to a Boston Back Bay matron, $800 to a young woman to El Salvador.

Passing Sentence

Another Magazine Solution

By Jonathon Marshall

The hysteria over the results of the magazine referendum is beginning to die down, and it is time to decide whether UNC should have something to replace the old Magazine or not, and if so, WHAT?

The referendum proved very little; the issue was not clear cut, and the majority for Tarnation was even less clear. It seems strange that the Carolina Magazine should get only 22 votes in the referendum, and two days later 1400 people should sign petitions asking for the establishment of a literary quarterly. It is obvious that the students want something; however no really concrete plan has been proposed so far.

There are four possible alternative solutions to the problem. Tarnation could be left as the only magazine representing the University, which does not seem to be a popular solution. There could be another referendum to re-establish the Carolina Magazine as it was before, which is a simple way of passing the buck, getting out of work, and escaping our responsibilities.

The other two alternatives present a new and healthier outlook. As suggested Friday by Pete Gerns, in the only positive public statement to come out so far, we could have a quarterly underwritten by the legislature. A contemporary quarterly sounds good, however, this plan does not get away from the fact that the editorship and policy of a magazine supported by student funds becomes a political football. We can publish a good quarterly here, one that will have a national significance as well as a local one, but only if we take it out of the realm of politics.

To the best of my knowledge there is not a really first class college magazine that is published with student funds, and none that has been able to break even financially over a period of years. With the legislature underwriting the magazine, the same problem of control would be bound to arise eventually. Let's face the issue, to have a good publication, we must make it independent.

The fourth solution that has been proposed is not radically different from that proposed by Mr. Gerns, but I believe that on careful consideration it will have more chances for permanent success.

A magazine should be created on this campus in order to retain the old tradition it should be called, "The Carolina Magazine, A Quarterly Review." It shall contain creative writing, criticism, and articles on current world problems and scholarly subjects. At least half of the material published shall be written by the students, while the remainder can come from either faculty or outside contributions. The South is not well represented in the national magazine field and this type of magazine would have national appeal, and it would greatly enhance the reputation of the University.

The chief staff members should be selected by a joint meeting of the Publications Board and members of the journalism and English faculties on the basis of past record, ability, and ideas for the future.

The most controversial part of this plan is the method of financing such a magazine, and therefore it has been saved for last. If the new Carolina Magazine is to be really successful it should not have too much advertising, and the advertising should be carefully selected. In time national and local sales and subscriptions will be able to carry most of the expense if we succeed. But how can we obtain funds to begin and to safeguard the future?

Many magazines throughout the nation are subsidized, some of the best, and it is no disgrace. Already almost twenty names of citizens of North Carolina, who might be interested in helping to subsidize a creative quarterly review here, have been suggested. There are probably more.

Money would have to be donated with the provision that the staff and non-voting faculty advisory board would have final say on all spending and policy, and no strings could be attached.

With a little courage and some hard work we can produce such a magazine, it is not an idle dream. We can make a contribution to all creative art and thought in this country, as well as helping the University of North Carolina to take a great step forward. If we face our opportunity, and act now, we can succeed.

Snow for A Nickel

Pittsfield, Mass. —(UP)— Development of man-made precipitation now has reached a point where two pounds of dry ice costing five cents can produce 12 inches of snow over all the Adirondack Mountains.

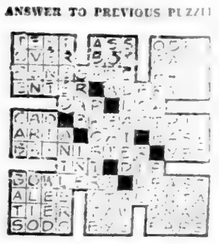
So says Vincent J. Schaefer, General Electric Co. scientist and weather researcher.

Before there can be further developments, he says, man must learn more about the condensation of certain types of cloud formations.

In the future, he believes, the process will be beneficial to human welfare in its modifying effects—"the prevention of hailstorms, eliminating of severe icing storms and other undesirable things."

"We know," says Schaefer, who has conducted rain-making experiments in New Hampshire, New York and Massachusetts, "that one small pea of dry ice when seeded in the proper cloud formation can produce up to 300,000 tons of snow."

Appreciation



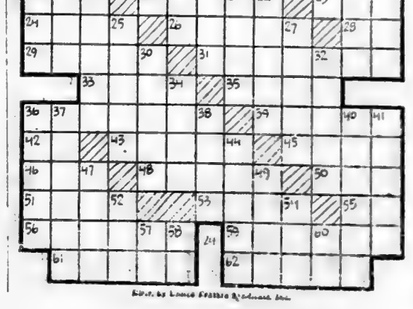
Dear Friends,

My family and I deeply appreciate your thoughtfulness and expressions of sympathy. It is a great comfort to be remembered by one's friends in times of sorrow.

Sincerely,
Lionel S. Weil

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE



ACROSS

1—To chatter
6—Planted
11—Rubber
12—A doubting Apostle
14—A state (abbr.)
15—Deer
17—One of Columbus's ships
18—Fluxle
20—United
23—Sesame
24—Sewing kit
26—Gay
28—Enlisted highway
29—Musical composition
31—Plumbly
33—To wrap for burial
35—Manor court
38—Smashed
39—To wash lightly
42—Musical note
43—Watery part of blood
45—Pro ——
46—Quick to learn
48—Reaches (Scot.)
50—To droop
51—Male deer
53—Dines
55—Pronoun
56—Ointment for hair
59—Worker
61—Fort
62—Country in Europe

DOWN

1—At once
2—Sun god
3—Shade tree
4—Diver duck
5—Mistake
6—Street (abbr.)
7—Exclamation
8—Triumphed
9—To give off
10—Man's name
11—Turkish ruler
13—Sudden rush
16—To labor
19—Stupid person
21—Go for boatride
22—To embark on
25—Thoughts
27—Possessive pronoun
30—Ear shell
32—Comic strips
34—Spooky
36—To grasp
37—Hawk
38—Nobleman
40—Flower organ
41—Ardent
44—Butchers' products
47—Unexciting
49—Heist
52—Mast north
54—Hawk parrot
57—Child's word for father
58—Printer's measure
60—Chinese weight

TUESDA
Cu
THAT arrived ago
Eastern have enter with 70 en
men entere
The coll
Jina, Washi
Forest, VPI
ference tea
Virginia, G
Teachers co
The tea between Ca
as darkhors team lauret games at C second with
THE TA seconds. Sm
the two-mi
9:48.4, over centre field
turn to bro
half-mile on behind Mar
The othe
the high jun
Schigman, C
by Jim O'L
pleted the T high hurdle
It was Rhuback no
Mario Salva
Julian M
took fourth i
Ball of Nav
and Avcoin
Three fo meet. Dave was elected on the Tar H
Bee Reese
of the event
fifty yard li
Lind
CAROLINA pole when Jac
and was force in the 600 c
the eventual w
temp unattache
He was about
Baldwin Walla
Another performance event since h
the cross-bar petition but h
the coaching in the hurdle
Bob Palmer o
the indoor game
BACK TO shut put about third place; t
Hills of Flori
High scho
State. They
Winston Sale
Granby, Staun
andria, Fork U
ton, Maury, J
Newport New of Chicamaug
There are they entitle t
Afternoon affa
at 6:45.
Coed C
The champ
basketball crowned at the Town Cl test tonight
The game
7 o'clock at brings toget aggregations
ished its se season afte straight con sextette was playoff berth
Phi last Tue

Carolina Cagers Battle Davidson Tonight; Dolphins Meet Duke Mermen Here

Back Tracking In Sports

with

Morty Schaap

Pounding the Boards

THAT TIME OF THE YEAR—Indoor Track Meet time—has got again and that is when trackmen arrive from all over the Eastern seaboard and the South. In the college division 19 teams have entered 229 men while the Freshman division has 14 colleges with 70 entries, and the scholastic class has 15 teams with 152 men entered.

The college teams include 10 Southern conference units: Carolina, Washington & Lee, State college, South Carolina, Duke, Wake Forest, VPI, VMI, Davidson and Maryland. Outside of the conference teams are Navy, Emory & Henry, Tennessee, Roanoke, Virginia, Georgia, Randolph Macon, Florida and Shippensburg Teachers college of Pennsylvania.

The team championship seems to be lining up as a dog-fight between Carolina, Maryland and Navy, with Tennessee and Duke as dark horses. Maryland showed plenty of power in capturing the team laurels in the First Annual University of Maryland indoor games at College Park, Md., last Saturday night. Navy finished second with Carolina third.

Maryland, My Maryland

THE TAR HEELS MANAGED to capture two firsts and two seconds. Sam Magill arrived at College Park about 20 minutes before the two-mile and then proceeded to romp off with the event in 9:34 over the ten-lap to a mile flat track. Magill lapped the entire field in the 17th go-round and then added another half a lap to breeze in. He came back about ten minutes later to run a half-mile on the two-mile relay team which finished a distant fourth behind Maryland, Duke and Navy.

The other Carolina first was Jack Moody's jump of six feet in the high jump. He stopped jumping after the winning attempt. Bob Seligman, Carolina's conference shot put champion, was defeated by Jim O'Leary of Duke by a mere two inches. Dick Taylor completed the Tar Heel scoring with a photo-finish-second place in the high hurdles to Carl Rhuback of Maryland.

It was in the hurdle events that Maryland took the meet as Rhuback nosed out Bob Morrow for third in the low hurdles with Mario Salvanelli of the Terrapins copping first.

Julian Mackenzie turned in creditable performances when he took fourth place in the 880-yard run, just being beat out by Dick Hall of Navy. He also came back and anchored the Carolina mile and two-mile relays.

Three freshmen turned in creditable performances in their first meet. Dave Willis went to the semi-finals in the sprints before he was eliminated and Mac MacLean and Stan White ran fine legs in the Tar Heel mile relay.

Big Roger Neighborgall of Duke turned in the best performance of the evening when he took the baton in the two-mile relay about fifty yards behind Ed Matthews of Maryland and was about five yards behind at the finish. He was clocked in 1:56.9 for his 880.

The Gotham Grind

CAROLINA'S ENTRIES IN NEW YORK also fell by the wayside when Jack Milne caught a cramp early in the three-mile race and was forced to drop out. Bob Black was eliminated in the trials in the 600-yard but did have the consolation of being beaten by the eventual winner, Dave Bolen of Colorado. Chunk Simmons, running unattached, captured fourth place in the 60-yard high hurdles. He was about two yards behind the winner, Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace, who tied the world's record.

Another significant note over the weekend was Jack Moody's performance in the low hurdles. It was his first competition in this event since his high school days and he managed to go as far as the semi-finals. Carolina's hurdlers all went into semi-final competition but lacked the zip to carry through a winner. However, the coaching staff is hoping that these boys can come back strong in the hurdles next Saturday night to score the important points. Bob Palmer of Maryland, conference cross country champion, took the mile race in 4:25.4 and should prove plenty of trouble in the indoor games.

Carolina Carnival

BACK TO SATURDAY'S CARNIVAL in Woollen gym . . . the hot put should prove quite an event with the first, second and third placers from Saturday competing against added men George Mills of Florida and Norm Messerole of Tennessee.

High school teams entered include only four teams from the state. They are High Point, Greenville, Durham and Reynolds of Winston-Salem. Virginia leads the field with teams entered from Granby, Staunton Military Academy, George Washington of Alexandria, Fork Union Military Academy, Washington & Lee of Arlington, Maury, John Marshal, Thomas Jefferson, Woodrow Wilson and Newport News. Georgia's representative is Gordon Lee High school of Chicamaugua.

There are still a limited number of tickets left for the meet and they entitle the bearer to see both the afternoon and evening events. The afternoon affair gets under way at 1:30 and the evening meet starts at 8:00.

Coed Cagers in Title Tussle Tonight

The champion of the coed basketball league will be crowned at the completion of the Town-Chi Omega title contest tonight.

The game, which begins at 6 o'clock at the Women's gym, pits together two unbeaten aggregations. Chi Omega finished its season earlier in the week after copping four straight contests. The Town outfit wasn't assured of a playoff berth until it met Pi Phi last Tuesday night.

Both Pi Phi and Town were sporting perfect records of three victories and the winner of the game would move into the finals. The Town girls took the contest by a 28-15 count.

This battle of the female titans of the hardwood will climax the tourney that began January 13, with 14 teams entered. However, four teams were dropped from the tourney because of too many forfeits.

Spectators are invited to attend tonight's championship contest.

CHAPEL HILL CLEANERS

104 Franklin St.

Phone F-2466

BETTER CLEANING & PRESSING

Phants Seek Second Win Over Wildcats

By Dick Jenrette

Carolina's White Phantoms head into their final week of basketball action prior to the Southern conference tourney by travelling to Davidson tonight to meet Coach Norm Shepherd's Wildcats in an important loop test.

Coach Tom Scott's Phantoms will be out to snap a two-game losing streak, which has dropped them from second place in the conference standings to third place. Wake Forest upset Carolina, 53-47, last Monday, and State's Wolfpack applied the second setback with a 69-45 decision on Saturday.

The Phantoms, despite the disadvantage of playing away from home and the fact that their recent won-lost mark hasn't been at all impressive, nevertheless rate as slight favorites over Davidson. Carolina defeated the Wildcats in the first meeting of the two teams by a 50-42 count.

Kohler Still Out

However, Carolina will be minus its star guard, Norm Kohler, who figured prominently in that first win. Kohler is still out with a knee injury.

Starting for Carolina tonight will be Captain Bob Paxton, and Roger Scholbe, forwards, Nemo Nearman, center, and King Cole and Taylor Thorne, guards. This is the same combination that started against State on Saturday night.

Coach Scott had praise for his boys' performance against State despite the 24-point Wolfpack victory margin. He figured the Phantoms played some of their best ball of the season during the first half. In face the Carolina mentor was of the opinion that the Phantoms could have been ahead by eight points at the half if they had been hitting consistently on their shots.

Thorne Looks Good

Bad passes enabled State to run up a big lead after the second stanza got underway, but Coach Scott was satisfed with the team's play for the most part. He singled out Taylor Thorne, Carolina guard who replaced Kohler, as being particularly outstanding. Thorne had the difficult assignment of guarding speedy Jack McComas, and he did his work so well that McComas was able to get but one field goal. Coach Scott thought Thorne turned in one of the best games of his career.

Fifteen Make Trip

A squad of 15 players will make the trip. In this group are Paxton, Scholbe, Nearman, Thorne, Cole, Fred Swartzberg, John Dillon, Carson, Fred Ryan, Mark Nathan, Dan Nyimicz, Charlie Thorne, John Tsantes, Pete Peters, and Hal Ferraro. The team will leave at 1 o'clock by bus and return immediately following the game.

Both teams will be participants in the Southern conference tourney which begins Thursday, March 4. However, the game will have important bearing on how the teams will be seeded in the meet. State has clinched the first seeded spot already, but Carolina and George Washington are scrapping it out for the runner-up post.

Duke and Carolina will play in the season finale on Friday night in Durham.

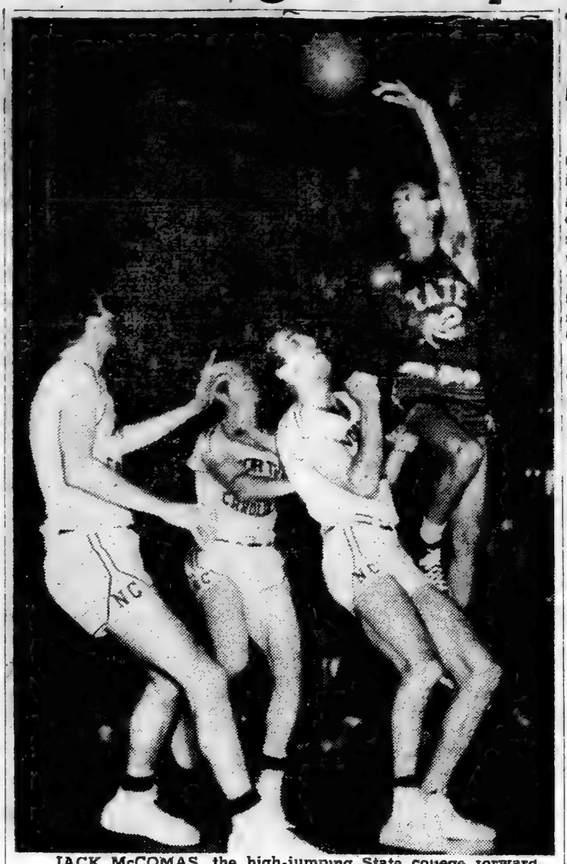
The probable starters:

Carolina	Pos.	Davidson
Paxton	RF	Cobb
Scholbe	LF	Cheek
Nearman	C	Williams
Cole	RG	Maner
Thorne	LG	Ashemore

12:14

BALDWIN'S Marine Room Durham

Breakfast 7:45—10:30



Luncheon 11:00—2:30

Tea Hours 2:30—5:30

Dinner 5:00—8:00

Mrs. Jennie B. Thurston

Phone 9493

JACK McCOMAS, the high-jumping State college forward, is the boy doing the fancy maneuvers in the air. McComas' leaping tactics did him little good, however, for Taylor Thorne limited him to one field goal. Carolina players in the picture are Nemo Nearman (nearest McComas), Thorne, and King Cole. State won the game, 69-45, in the game which was played in Woollen gym this past Saturday. (Photo courtesy the Raleigh News and Observer.)

Today's Murals

BOXING

4:00: R. Barab (Phi Kap) vs. J. Murchison (SAE); 4:06: R. Kirby (KA) vs. A. Cain (KA); 4:12: D. Fleming (Sig Chi) vs. D. Ferebee (Chi Psi); 4:18: H. Bristol (Kap Sig) vs. W. Dunbar (Sig Chi); 4:24: A. Webb (Phi Gam) vs. C. Kipp (Sig Chi); 4:30: E. Graham (Sig Chi) vs. J. Langley (Sig Chi); 4:35: J. Folger (Kappa Sig) vs. H. Fordham (Sig Chi); 4:42: R. Phillips (Sig Chi) vs. T. Stratford (Phi Gam).

SOCCER

4:00—Court 1: TEP 1 vs. Sig Chi 1; Court 2: Sig Chi 2 vs. Zeta Psi 1; Court 3: TEP 3 vs. ATO 2; Court 4: Emerson vs. Lewis; Court 5: St. Anthony vs. Chi Psi.

4:40—Court 1: Aycock vs. Graham; Court 2: Chi Phi 1 vs. Phi Gam 3; Court 3: Lambda Chi 1 vs. Sig Na 2; Court 4: Beta 3 vs. Phi Delt 2; Court 5: TEP 2 vs. Phi Delt 3.

FINALS DORMITORY BOXING

4:00: Roland Burton (Town) vs. T. Hearn (Emerson); 4:06: D. Snow (Whitehead) vs. J. McCawley (Town); 4:12: M. Parker (Stacy) vs. D. Bunting (Emerson); 4:18: W. Kirk (Mangum) vs. F. Cahoon (Lewis); 4:24: J. Ross (Emerson) vs. R. Hansen (Emerson); 4:30: C. DiChiara (Emerson) vs. J. Stewart (Sieler Five).

Grid Drills Opened Despite Raw Weather

Winter drills opened here yesterday afternoon for Carolina's football squad with approximately 60 candidates reporting to Coach Carl Snavely for the first session.

The winter workout, postponed several times because of weather conditions, will last only one week. Spring drills, which will follow early in April will last several weeks.

JAYVEES LOSE

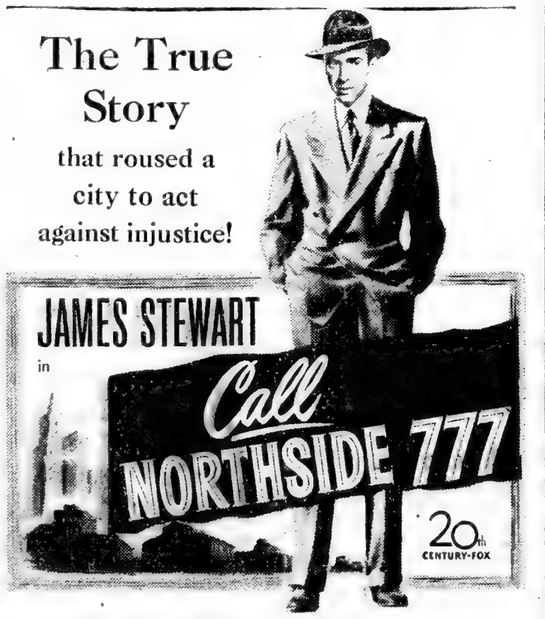
The Carolina jayvees dropped their final game of the campaign to Campbell J. C. last night by a 58-35 score. CJC led 28-18 at the half. Mason of CJC was high scorer with 22 points, while Charley Thorne got 14 for the locals.

THE SHACK

120 W. Rosemary

"Just a Whisper Off Franklin St."

Serving:



Beer

Sandwiches

Eggs — Pickles

Walk a Block and Save a Dime

The True Story that roused a city to act against injustice!

RICHARD CONTE • LEE J. COBB • HELEN WALKER

Betty Garde • Kasia Orzazewski • Joanne de Bergh • Howard Smith • Moroni Olsen • John McIntire • Paul Harvey

Directed by HENRY HATHAWAY • Produced by OTTO LANG

CAROLINA

NOW PLAYING

Tank Meet Tonight Marks Home Finale

By Bill Kellam

Coach Dick Jamerson, who has more versions of his Blue Dolphin starting lineup than a radio gag writer has of a joke, dug down into his seemingly endless supply of mercurial mermen yesterday afternoon and came up with another opening array of mermen who will face Duke's not so mean Devilfish in Bowman Gray pool at 8 o'clock tonight.

In their final home appearance of the season, not only will the undefeated Dolphins be stroking in for their 36th consecutive conference victory and seventh win of the season, but they will also be out to again avenge their loop loss which was handed them by the Dukesters back in 1939.

The swimming squad will have their season's picture made this afternoon promptly at 4:30, according to an announcement made by Coach Jamerson yesterday.

Jamerson Carefree

Jamerson wasn't too concerned over the outcome of tonight's water fight yesterday and he commented that his big problem at the present was the discovery of a winning combination for the N. C. State and conference meets.

The Devilfish, who have defeated Virginia and VPI while losing to Army, State and Georgia Tech, are strong only in two events—the diving and 440. Their attack is built around Captain Bill Adams, an ace distance man, and pint-sized yearling diver, John Conner.

Adams has twice bettered the conference record this season and is slated to meet Dick Twining in the aquatic marathon. Conner, the 1947 interscholastic diving champion, has twice broken the Duke pool diving record this year with over 100 points and it undefeated in low board competition this season.

Adams will also probably make

(See DOLPHINS, page 4)

Roaches, Chi Psi Win Mural Handball Titles

By Larry Fox

The Roaches and Chi Psi came out on top in their respective divisions in the handball tournament after winning their finals matches yesterday afternoon.

The Roaches won their title the easy way, whitewashing the Oakwood Drive handballers, 3-0. Don Nolson and Bob Seligman teamed to capture the first doubles match from D. Hanen and L. Probstein, 21-8, 21-8. The second tandem tussle went the full three games before the Roach duo, J. Zahran and H. Hickman, clinched the match and the title.

P. Furgatch and T. Scheinman captured the first game, 21-19, but the Roaches came back to take the next two, 21-12, 21-13.

Chi Psi won its championship the next two, 21-12, 21-13. S. Hooker won his solo bout with Don Shaughnessy 21-13, 21-12.

the hard way by eliminating the last survivor of the three Phi Delt entries, 2-1. Vinnie DiLorenzo and J. Clayton, Chi Psi, combined to cop the initial doubles contest from R. Strayhorn and J. Crocker, 21-18, 21-9. The number two doubles team for the number three Phi Delt squad, B. Jennings and J. Crocker, tied the match up at one game apiece by routing D. Smith and J. Stillman, 21-0, 21-2.

Vic Seixas, ace Carolina tennis player, won the deciding game, defeating H. Howren in straight sets, 21-10, 21-2.

BETA 44—KA 29

The Beta 1-KA 1 clash finally came off last night on the main court in Woollen gym last night and, at the end of the game, the Betas were on the long end of a 44-29 score.

lead, but the issue was close all the way. KA was behind at the half, 12-8.

Beta took an early lead, but the issue was close all the way. KA was behind at the half, 12-8.

Beta opened up in the second stanza and soon doubled its lead. At the five minute mark the count was 20-12. Beta. With five minutes to go Beta had a commanding 13 point margin.

The only "excitement" of the game, the promise of which was the main drawing card that attracted the large crowd and caused a postponement the last time the two aggregations met, came at 16:13 in the last chapter when referee Lew Hayworth put Highsmith and Tom Belk, KA, out of the game to put a stop to the little discussion between the two

(See MURALS, page 4)

BASKETBALL FINALS

5:00—Court 2: Sigma Chi 1 vs. Beta 1.

7:30—Main Court, Tin Can: Blackballs vs. Grads.

University Florist

"For the Best in Flowers"

Pick Theatre Bldg.

Chapel Hill, N. C.

Telephone 6816

Bull's Head Bookshop

William Wister Haines Command[illegible] The Play

Browse — Rent — Buy

VALUES EVERY DAY at A&P SUPER MARKETS

Mild American CHEESE, lb. 53c

Ann Page SPAGHETTI or MACARONI, 3 8-oz. pkgs. 25c

Kitchen Charm WAX PAPER, 125-ft. roll 17c

Marcal Paper NAPKINS, 80-ct. pkg. 13c

SUPER SUDS Sm. Pkg. 15c Lge. Pkg. 36c

CAMAY SOAP, bar 10c

Libby's or Sultanna Fruit COCKTAIL, No. 1 can 24c

A&P's Shortening dexo 3 Lb. Can $1.17

WHITE HOUSE EVAPORATED MILK 3 Tall Cans 39c

Fruits & Vegetables

Red Winesap APPLES, lb. 10c

BEETS, bunch 15c

Green CABBAGE, 2 lbs. 7c

CARROTS, 2 bunches 25c

Large Stalk CELERY 13c

Red Emperor GRAPES, 2 lbs. 25c

Florida ORANGES, 8 lb. bag 35c

SWEET POTATOES, 5 lbs. 47c

TOMATOES, lb. 39c

Mustard and Turnip GREENS, 2 lbs. 29c

Fine Quality Meats

A&P Superright Sirloin or Porterhouse STEAKS, lb. 77c

Small Smoked PICNICS, lb. 49c

Swifts — Morrell — Wilson's BACON, lb. 69c

A&P Superright CHUCK ROAST, lb. 59c

Whole or String End Swift's PREMIUM HAMS, lb. 53c

BUTT HALF, lb. 55c

Patties or Link Brookfield SAUSAGE, lb. 59c

FAT BACK, lb. 25c

FANCY FRYERS, lb. 64c

FRESH YOUNG HENS, lb. 55c

FRESH FISH, OYSTERS AND SHRIMP

These Are Only a Few of the MANY, MANY LOW PRICES at A&P

FILM STAR Joan Crawford walks along a corridor in a Los Angeles office building after making a deposition in the office of Attorney Albert Pearlson. She denied that she had witnessed an electric shock treatment being given to Mrs. Pauline W. McKay. The actress is being sued for $200,000 on grounds that she invaded Mrs. McKay's privacy during a visit to Pasadena Sanitarium in search of technical information for a film role. (International) players.

-Murals-

Paul von Brammer was high scorer for the Betas, notching 17 points. Powell followed by 12. KA center Don McCleod was high for his team with 10.

GRADS IN FINALS

The Grads also moved into the cage finals yesterday with a 26-21 victory over Nash Hall.

Nash was ahead at the half by one point, 14-13, but the Grads, who used only one substitute during the entire game, overcame the slight lead.

Bill Edmondson, of the Grads, paced both quintets with 14 points.

CICA Spring Fashion Show Set For Carolina Theatre March 2

Group Is Working With Montaldo's, Town Merchants

By Jane Mears

The CICA Spring Fashion show has been scheduled for Tuesday, March 2, and will take place at 9 o'clock in the Carolina theater immediately following the 7 o'clock movie.

Working in cooperation with town merchants and Montaldo's of Greensboro, the CICA expects a highly successful performance after weeks of work and careful planning.

The show will feature both men and women students, elected to represent every fraternity, sorority and many other campus organizations. The women's clothes will be sponsored by Montaldo's of Greensboro, and will be displayed in the varsity for a week following the show. The men's clothes will be sponsored by the Varsity and the College shop and Carolina Bootery. E. Carrington Smith, head of the Chapel Hill Merchant's Association and James Davis, owner of the University Florist, have generously consented to provide both the theater and flowers for the show at no cost to the CICA.

Admission to the show will be 75 cents. Tickets will be on sale at the door and can be obtained from any CICA member at any time between now and the night of the show.

John Allcott to Give Humanities Lecture on "The Plight Of Venus"

Professor John V. Allcott, head of the Department of Art, will deliver the Faculty Humanities lecture for the winter quarter tonight in Hill hall at 8:30, his subject will be "The Plight of Venus."

Sponsored by the Humanities Division of the College of Arts and Sciences, the address, which will be illustrated by means of new illustration techniques and will present the changing ways of presenting women in art during the last 100 years, will be open to the public.

Professor Allcott's illustrations will be taken from painting, sculpture, advertisements, cartoons, and drawings by children. He will describe the representations of women in Victorian times and in the Impressionism of the latter 19th century. He will conclude with what he calls "the curious representations of our own day, in Cubism, surrealism and other types of art."

JOHN ALLCOTT

Professor Allcott, except for one year when he was on war leave, has been head of the department here since 1940 when he came to the faculty from Hunter college. Before that he taught at Northwestern university, the University of Chicago, the Art Institute of Chicago, the Chicago School of Sculpture, and in several other mid-western institutions.

He received his training at the University of Wisconsin, the University of Chicago and New York University. In 1933-34 he studied under the direction of E. S. Vavala in Italy and also at the Royal Academy of Art in Florence and at the Grande Chaumier in Paris.

Immediately after the war he was stationed in Florence, Italy, to teach courses in Renaissance and modern art in the University Training Command.

-Retreat-

(Continued from page 1)

munity service to aid in such projects as well baby clinics, one room county school houses, adult education, and improving street and sewage conditions in the colored district; students should individually speak to their friends about their racial attitudes, and encourage courtesy toward Negroes.

Evans Gives Report

That the end of education is godliness, or goodness, was decided by the commission entitled You as a Student, according to the report by Ruth Evans, who stressed the individual aspect of the commission's discussion, and the necessity of each student's applying the principles to his own college experience. The group emphasized the fact that students should live for the present as well as preparing for careers, and that all of life is reciprocal.

Jim Godwin reported for the commission on world organization, urging students to write their congressmen about the bill now before the House regarding strengthening of the United Nations and to read widely in current magazines and newspapers. This group will meet again in in two weeks, after further study, and will attempt a panel discussion on the University hour.

Support for cooperatives was recommended by the commission on economic tensions, as was the defeat of discriminatory practices of wholesalers. This group urged the defeat of the Knutson tax plan, and support for the Marshall plan. They also discussed labor problems and the attitude of churches toward them.

Where corn was grown three years in succession on a nine per cent slope, 37,320 pounds of soil an acre was lost annually. From a bluegrass sod the annual loss was only 120 pounds an acre.

-Governors-

enue.

They took in the black and red chrome decorations, the huge portrait of President Truman in the elaborate waiting room, an empty bottle of headache medicine on the desk.

"That the campaign portrait you're going to use?"—"I think so," replied the official. He paused for a minute, and then added hastily, "That is, if President Truman is the candidate."

Minutes later, the four governors piled in, all sporting wide-brimmed cowboy hats. "You got your gun, governor?" someone asked. The governors smiled.

They hurried down the hall to Chairman McGrath's office, the door clicked shut. Newsmen crowded around, complaining that they'd been told the meeting would be an open one.

Governor Thurmond of South Carolina stuck his head out of the door, to say that he was in favor of an open meeting. The door shut again.

Tuxedo Junction
for
TUXEDO RENTALS & SALES
Alterations Free
601 Trinity Avenue
Durham, N. C.
Phone J-1373

Campus Calendar

2:00 p.m.—Nelson Bennett, artist's model, will give a talk and demonstrations of his work in Person Hall gallery.
5:00 p.m.—Tarnation business staff will meet in the Tarnation office.
6:00 p.m.—Canterbury club, Episcopal party in house.
6:30 p.m. Recorded dance in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.
7:00 p.m. Student [illegible] will meet in Bolton Porter lounge.
7:00 p.m. Johnston Circle [illegible] 237 Alumni building.
7:00 p.m. Bridge lessons [illegible] lounges of Graham Memorial.
7:00 p.m.—Fayetteville club [illegible] Williams lounge.
7:00 p.m.—Williamston club [illegible] Parker lounge No. 1.
7:00 p.m.—Campus party [illegible] Parker No. 2.
7:00 p.m.—Sigma Kappa [illegible] Graham.
7:30 p.m.—Pharmacy [illegible] Parker No. 1.
7:30 p.m.—Phi Assembly [illegible] Y.M.C.A.
7:30 p.m. Sound and [illegible] in Memorial hall.
8:00 p.m. Council of [illegible] organization in Library room of Y building.
8:00 p.m.—Aquinas club social meeting, second floor of Y building.
8:00 p.m.—Public Health, Horace Williams lounge.
9:00 p.m.—Alpha Epsilon Delta, Grail room.

CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE AUTOMOTIVE 6BB

1940 DODGE 4-DOOR SEDAN. HAS new motor. Caston Motor Co., Phone F-3591. (ch 1x1)

LOST 12

LOST THURSDAY, 1943 CLASS RING (girls) Lexington High School. Initials G. S. REWARD. Bill Hedrick, 104 Alexander. (1-1800-1)

NEW BOOK, MINOR POEMS AND Samson Agonistes of John Milton edited by Merritt Hughes. Used Eng. 125. Reward. Elinor Woltz, 1066, Spencer. 1-1801-1

SERVICES OFFERED 19

COMPLETE MODERN RADIO APpliance service shop now open and ready to serve you. We call for, deliver. Johnson-Strowd-Ward Furniture, 122 West Franklin. Telephone F-3191. (ch 1x1)

24 HOUR RADIO REPAIRS. OGBURN Furniture Co., Phone 5841. (ch 1x1)

WANTED 21

DOUBLE ROOM OR SMALL APARTment for married couple. Phone Sam Whitehall, DTH Sports office, phone F-3371, or address letter c-o P.O. Drawer 1060. (1-200-1)

Nearly 30 per cent of the farms in the United States are rented and operated by tenants.

TWO BLOCKS WEST OF CITY HALL
You'll Find A Solution To All Laundry Problems
HELPY-SELFY
AUTOMATIC LAUNDRY
Bendix Machines
W. Rosemary St.

MAIN LOAN OFFICE
Durham's newest and best pawn shop
Larger Loans on Anything of Value
We appreciate your business
Located 400 W. Main St. at Five Points

PRESCRIPTIONS
Filled Promptly
ACCURACY AND DEPENDABILITY
—at—
SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

ATTENTION FRESHMEN!
Your LAST CHANCE to prepare for a commission in the AIR FORCE through the R.O.T.C. program
New class begins with the spring quarter
Inquire NOW at the Air R.O.T.C. Department—Rear of Armory

LIL' ABNER By AL CAPP

Hamburgers at HARRY'S—So Round—So Firm—So Fully Packed

A PULMOTOR IS USED on Sam Baroudi, 20-year-old New York light heavyweight, after he was knocked out by Ezzard Charles in Chicago. He died six hours later of a cerebral hemorrhage. (International Soundphoto)

FAYETTEVILLE CLUB

The Fayetteville-Carolina club will elect new officers tomorrow night in the Horace Williams lounge at 7 o'clock. The dance committee will also report on plans for the proposed spring dance to be held by the club. All persons from Fayetteville are urged to attend.

-Dolphins-

(Continued from page 3)

an appearance in the 220. Bronson, who placed third in the conference meet last year, and backstroker Andrews are other big Duke splashes.

Dolphins Seek Marks

As usual, the Dolphins will be gunning for several conference records. Twining will be after a new 440 record, Floyd Drew, Norm Sper, Jesse Greenbaum, and Mike Morrow will be splashin for a new 400 relay mark, and the medley trio of Jim Thomas, Bob Ousley, and Morrow will be cut to lower the time in that event.

The Carolina lineup:

Medley—Thomas (backstroke), Ousley (breaststroke), and Morrow (freestyle).

220—Twining and Pell or Hutton.

50—Drew, Greenbaum.

Diving—Sper, Erle.

100—Osborne and Dale[illegible] Ingram.

Backstroke—Thomas, [illegible]

Breaststroke—Breeden, [illegible]

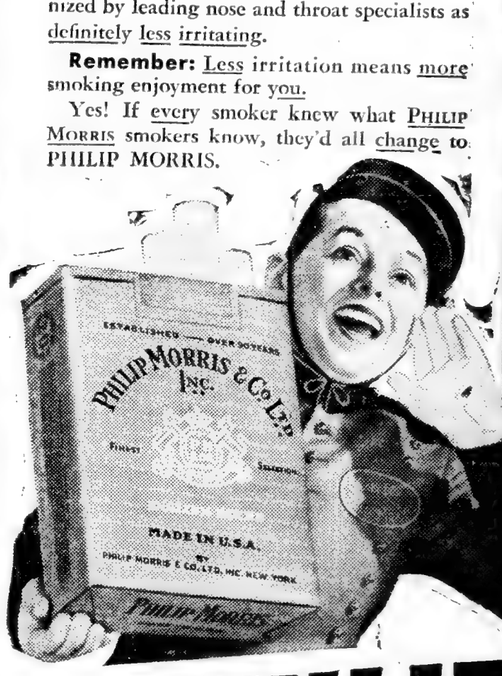
440—Twining and Hut[illegible] Basescu.

400-Relay—Drew, Sp[illegible] baum, Morrow.

YACK NEEDS PIX

Picture coordinator [illegible] can of the Yack to Tar[illegible] day asked that anyone [illegible] snapshots of either the [illegible] unusual in college life at C[illegible] bring it to the Yack [illegible] use in the yearbook.

He again reminded [illegible] of usable pictures that th[illegible] returned after the Yack [illegible] them.



JOHN GARFIELD
LILLI PALMER
"Body and Soul"
RELEASED THRU UNITED ARTISTS
NOW PLAYING
VILLAGE

Fraternity Work a Specialty
Charles Valentine's Cabinet Shop
FURNITURE
REPAIRED
REFINISHED
UPHOLSTERED
MADE-TO-ORDER
Phone 9367 — Pittsboro Rd

LOVER
Stan Kenton
SWEET and LOVELY
Benny Goodman
MANANA
Peggy Lee
Ab's Intimate Bookshop

Let's Get together
PHILIP MORRIS is so much better to smoke!
PHILIP MORRIS offers the smoker an extra benefit found in no other cigarette. For PHILIP MORRIS is the ONE, the ONLY cigarette recognized by leading nose and throat specialists as definitely less irritating.
Remember: Less irritation means more smoking enjoyment for you.
Yes! If every smoker knew what PHILIP MORRIS smokers know, they'd all change to PHILIP MORRIS.

CALL FOR PHILIP MORRIS
TRY A PACK... TODAY

LIBRARY (Periodical Dept)
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, N. C.
1-31-48

WEATHER
Cloudy and continued cool. Occasional light rain or drizzle.

The Daily Tar Heel

EDITORIALS
Problem Child
South Can Handle It
Eye For the Future

VOLUME LVI | United Press | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1948 | Phone F-3371—F-3361 | NUMBER 109

Student Party Nominates Gene Blake For Editorship Of Yack

New Projects Planned To Increase Cheering Spirit

Committee Will Work To Have Card Stunts Used At Spring Game

The initials UNC may soon be added to the list now headed by UCLA of colleges and universities in the country renowned for placard-cheerleading stunts, according to a special rally committee now working to promote such plans here.

The Monogram club has backed the project to the extent of $50, voted on Monday night for the purpose of purchasing cards and other cheerleading equipment, and the support of Director of Athletics Bob Fetzer has been thrown behind the proposed plan.

Possible Spring Use

The committee discussed the possibility last weekend of having the card stunts ready for use during the spring Blue-and-White football game, if the equipment can be purchased soon enough.

The card seating section, according to committee blueprints, will run between the 35 and 45-yard lines, and will seat 2,185 students. Aisle 17 will, according to plans, be done away with and permanent seats installed to form a double-size section for the placard stunts.

The success of the card displays, the committee believes, will depend on their simplicity. They say the plans will take many hours of preparation and the cooperation of the entire student body.

Five Subcommittees

The committee as a whole has been broken down into five subcommittees to operate more efficiently. The heads of these groups are: Band—Dr. Earl Slocum of the Music department. Art—Bill Harrison. Public relations—DTH Sports Editor Bob Goldwater. Cheering—the incumbent head cheerleader at the time the plans go into effect, and Card instruction—Joe Wratten.

Acting chairman of the committee is Norm Sper, and other persons working with the group are Student Body President Tom Eller, Vice-President Jack Folger, CAA President Jack Fitch, former University club President Mike Morrow, Monogram club President Bill Pritchard, Dick Fuller, Tenn Mason, and EJ Washington.

CITY GIVES TOWING SERVICE

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)—Motorists who get stuck on muddy streets can get towed at the city expense. Mayor Henry E. Branning, Jr., ordered the City Street Department to provide the service.

FOLLOWING HIS FLIGHT from Washington, President Truman is shown at Key West, Fla., with Capt. Cecil Odell, commander of the U. S. submarine base there (left), and Admiral William D. Leahy, his aide. It was the first stop on the Chief Executive's vacation-tour. (International)

Independent Coeds Announce Spring Fashion Show Models

Models for the Carolina Independent Coed association's Spring Fashion show to take place next Tuesday night at the Carolina theater, have been selected to represent every sorority and fraternity and many other campus groups.

They are: Jo Powe and Helen Barnes, Pi Beta Phi; Margaret Allred and Dusty Moore, Alpha Gamma Delta; Ann Wheeler and Martha Manning, Alpha Delta Pi; Lillian DeArmon and Helen Bouldin, Chi Omega; Katherine Holt and Pat Hole, Delta Delta Delta; Tula Carter, Stray Greeks; Nancy Shields, Town Girls' Association; Elsie Sue Craig, Gertrude Osborne and Martha Hinkle, CICA.

Dick Cohan, UVA; Jerry Davids, Alpha Epsilon Pi; Jack Lupton, ATO; Doc Williamson, Beta Theta Pi; Joe McLeod, Chi Phi; Miles Haynes, Delta Psi; Jack Folger, Kappa Sigma; Dick Anderson, Lambda Chi Alpha; Don Dempsey, Phi Delta Theta; Steve Jones, Phi Gamma Delta; George McLeod, Phi Kappa Sigma; Ted Barnes, SAE; B. K. Grow, Sigma Chi.

Art Dilger, Sigma Nu; Harvey Ward, Zeta Psi; Mike Rubish, Monogram club; Dick Nunis, Delta Tau Delta, Vinnie DiLorenzo, Chi Psi; Francis Winslow, Delta Kappa Epsilon; Dick Cosby, Kappa Alpha; Charlie Borton, Pi Lambda Phi; Tom Wood, Sigma Pi Epsilon; Buddy Swartzberg, TEP; Mel Steinberg, ZBT; Larry Widman, Delta Sigma Pi.

CICA committee chairmen are Betty Long, in charge of the script; Jane Mcars, publicity; Scotty Dellinger, arrangements; decorations, Marty Hinkle and Eloise Jacobi; music, Helen Xanthos; model committee, Nina Redditt and Bobby Davis in charge of admissions.

In charge of making all the arrangements for the men are Len Szafaryn, Jack Fitch, Jim Godwin and Lawrence Rankin, who are working with the CICA chairmen.

Sponsoring the 45 complete spring outfits are Montaldo's of Greensboro, the Varsity, Jack Lipman's and the College Shop and Carolina Bootery.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

An organizational meeting of the Carolina Young Democrats club has been called for this afternoon at 4:30, Jim Taylor, president of the group, said yesterday.

At the meeting, which will be held in Roland Parker lounge No. 1 of Graham Memorial, there will be an election of officers and a general discussion of future plans and projects of the club.

Student Group Plans 'Carolina Quarterly' Picks Committeemen

By Barron Mills

The nucleus of an organization to promote the campus literary quarterly which will contain work of students, faculty and outside writers broke into the publications circle last night, selected the name of "The Carolina Quarterly", elected officers and committee heads and established a framework for operations.

A group of some 50 interested students elected Jonathon Marshall, graduate student in City and Regional planning and former editor of the literary mag at the University of Colorado, as chairman of the Executive committee.

Marshall Recommendations

The meeting, called by Carolina Mag Editor Fred Jacobson with the expressed purpose of "unifying the effort toward getting a literary magazine" acted for the most part on the recommendations of Marshall with slight alterations. One of the strongest measures adopted by the group was to remove the selection of the editorial board from the political limelight.

Without any opposition, the group voted that the editorial staff and business manager of the proposed Quarterly should be selected by a committee composed of: (1) the Publications Board, (2) the incumbant editor and business manager of the Quarterly, (3) two professors from the English department, (4) one professor from each of the Journalism and Commerce departments, and (5) one member at large.

The group voted that the Quarterly should be financed as nearly as possible from sales, advertising and donations. They favored asking the Student Legislature to underwrite the magazine for $2,000 for the first year as working capital.

With almost unanimous consent it was decided that a minimum of 50 percent of the contents of the Quarterly must be student written. The magazine will publish creative writing, critical articles, articles of related fields and subjects of current interest.

Because of lack of time and the absence of "interested individuals" the group did not elect the members of the seven-man Executive committee as proposed

(See QUARTERLY, page 4)

Douglass to Address IRC Regional Meeting

By Dan Wallace

Dr. Paul F. Douglass, president of the American University, will be the chief speaker at the International Relations Club's Regional conference to be held here this week-end.

Speaking on behalf of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace which finances IRC conferences, Dr. Douglass' topic will be "America's Role in Human Survival." This speech will be presented Friday evening in Gerrard hall at 8:00 o'clock.

The conference will hold six seminars on current international topics as follows: Near Eastern Nationalism, European Recovery Plan, The United Nations, Declining Imperialism In The Far East, Occupation and The Peace Treaties, and The Political Conditions of Europe.

The Southeast IRC conference was the first one to be organized meeting at Greenville, S. C. in 1924 under the auspices of Furman University and Greenville Woman's College. This conference includes the Northern District of the Southeast region and will represent the states of Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Georgia. At least 150 delegates are expected to attend the forthcoming conference from the colleges and universities of these states.

The purpose of the IRC as stated by the late Nicholas Murray Butler, president emeritus of the Carnegie Endowment is "... to fix the attention of students on those underlying principles of international conduct, of international law, and of international organization which must be agreed upon and put into action if a peaceful civilization is to continue."

National Secretary of Wallace Group To Address Student Meeting Saturday

Leonard Nelson, executive secretary of the National Students for Wallace organization, will address the opening session of the Tar Heel Students for Wallace assembly to be held here this week-end. Delegates from more than 25 North Carolina colleges are expected to attend the two-day conference sponsored by the local Wallace club.

Speaking to the Wallace group at 1 o'clock Saturday, Nelson will discuss the nation-wide activities of college students in the Wallace campaign.

Public Rally

A public rally, scheduled for 8 o'clock Saturday night, will be addressed by Rabbi James W. Wise who served as campaign manager for the Wallace-backed American Labor Party candidate, Isacson, recently elected to Congress from New York's 10th Congressional district. Another speaker, as yet unannounced, will also address the Wallace rally.

Officers for the Tar Heel Student movement will be elected Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Alumni building. An interfaith religious service at 11 o'clock Sunday morning and a folk song concert, featuring balladeer Pete Seeger, at 4 o'clock will also be featured on Sunday's program.

Student Speakers

Saturday's opening session, to be presided over by Bill Richardson, president of the local Wallace club, will also feature the following student speakers: Arthanial Harris, Livingston college, on "Wallace and Peace"; Sameul Grant, North Carolina college, on "Wallace and the Cost of Living"; and Doris Friedland, University of North Carolina, on "Wallace and Civil Liberties".

Panel meetings being held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock will be led by Mike Ross of the CIO furniture workers, Mary Price, chairman of the North Carolina Progressive party, and Tinsley Spraggins, professor at St. Augustine college in Raleigh.

SENIOR CLASS INVITATIONS

The Order of the Grail Invitation committee announced yesterday that orders for senior class invitations will be taken during the next ten days. Members of the Grail will be in the Y beginning this morning at 9 o'clock. There is no financial transaction—invitations are to be paid for when they are delivered on or about May 4, said Committee Chairman Johnny Clampitt.

Senior Concert Tickets on Sale

Tickets will go on sale today for the Jimmy Lunceford concert which will be held in Memorial hall on Sunday, March 7, Bill Tate, German club president, announced yesterday.

The concert is being sponsored by the Senior class and is underwritten by the German club. Tickets will be distributed today to every dormitory and fraternity house and will also be available from members of the Senior class steering committee in the lobby of the "Y".

Tate said the purpose of the concert is to raise money for future Senior class functions and to provide a worthwhile concert open to the entire campus.

The concert will last two hours, beginning at 7:30. Tickets for the affair are $1.25 including tax.

Wilmington Native Will Stress Careful Spending, Bigger Staff

Gene Blake, a native of Wilmington, will be the Student party candidate for Yackety-Yack editorship in May elections.

SP spokesmen made the announcement yesterday after Blake was endorsed at the 9 o'clock party session held in Roland Parker lounges Monday night.

JERRY PENCE, junior from Wagram yesterday announced his candidacy for the post of head cheerleader. Pence will run as an independent.

Although the new candidate has not yet made public his policy, he will announce his plans later. According to Fred Thompson, SP publicity chairman, Blake will emphasize careful spending of student yearbook funds and is interested in seeing more students participate in the work of the Yackety-Yack, thereby enlarging the publication's staff.

The present editor of the senior class section of the annual, Blake is interested in the publications field, evidenced by the fact that he is preparing himself for an A. B. degree in journalism. According to a member of the present Yack board of editors, "Blake should be commended for the work that he has done in completing the senior class section, the largest of its kind in Yack history."

Army Veteran

Blake is an Army veteran, having served overseas in North Africa and Italy. The nominee is a member of the junior class and is a brother of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Announcement of Blake's candidacy brings to two the number of candidates for this major campus publications office. Bill Duncan, present picture coordinator of the yearbook, was endorsed for editorship by the University party on February 12.

Law School Picks Board of Editors

Dean Robert H. Wettach announced today that the faculty of the School of Law had selected the following students to compose the student board of editors of The North Carolina Law Review for the spring semester, 1948.

Editors will be George L. Grantham, Jr., Editor-in-Chief, Easley, S. C. and Fairmont, N. C.; Henry E. Colton, Associate Editor, Chapel Hill, Donald McCoy, Associate Editor, Laurinburg, N. C.

Staff members selected were: John R. Jordan, Jr., Elizabeth City, N. C.; August L. Meyland, Jr., Wilmington, N. C.; William Thomas Joyner, Jr., Raleigh, N. C.; William E. Machen, Jr., De Land, Fla.; Joseph C. Moore, Jr., Raleigh, N. C.; Daniel David Retchin, Wilmington, N. C.; Martin Bland Simpson, Jr., Elizabeth City, N. C.; Robert Gray Stockton, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Hoyt Patrick Taylor, Jr., Wadesboro, N. C.; Charles D. Powers, Greenville, S. C.; Raymond W. Bradly, Jr., Bessmer City, N. C.; Lemuel H. Gibbons, Hamlet, N. C.; Alfred D. Ward, New Bern, N. C.; George M. McDermott, Vass, N. C.; Jay W. Alexander, Jr., Charlotte, N. C.

Di Will Discuss Elections Rules

A special bill suggesting additions to existing University election regulations will head the agenda tonight when the Dialectic Senate meets at 9 o'clock in the Di hall, third floor, New West.

The issue of candidates and their prerequisite qualifications and the validity of elections was to be debated at last week's Senate session but was tabled for more thorough discussion at this time.

Its first proposal is that no person shall be a candidate for executive positions in student government or for the editorship of student publications without having first served two quarters in student government or on the publication concerned.

Election Rules

Its second proposal includes rules by which an election should be declared void or null. Elections to pick either student government executives or campus editors shall be invalid, according to the bill, unless one half of the eligible voters go to the polls. In the case of inadequate voting on the original ballots, subsequent elections and, if necessary, appointment by the Dean of Students are provided.

John Zucker, speaker pro tempore of the Di, will preside over the meeting tonight in the absence of Speaker Charles O. Long, who is representing the University in debate tournaments to be held in New Orleans the latter part of this week.

Tri Delts Sponsor Benefit Tomorrow

The Delta Delta Delta sorority will sponsor a 20-table benefit bridge tomorrow night at 7:30 at their house on Old Fraternity Row. Proceeds will be used toward setting up a scholarship for a coed at the University.

The national office of the sorority has agreed to donate double the amount of money raised by the local chapter for the scholarship. Recipient of the scholarship will be selected by the chapter here.

Tickets may be obtained at 50 cents each from any Tri Delt.

LEAVING U. S. DISTRICT COURT IN Washington after pleading not guilty to charges of violating the Taft-Hartley Labor Act is Philip Murray, president of the CIO. Pictured with him are attorneys Lee Pressman (left) and Charles Margiotti. The labor chief was indicted on a provision in the act which bans political activity by unions. (International)

Wants Mag Revived . . . . .

Dr. Frank Settles Down To University Work

I wish to express deep appreciation to Comptroller Carmichael, Chancellor House, Chancellor Harrellson, and Chancellor Jackson for carrying on in such a cooperative way, the administration of the University on all three of its fronts," said Dr. Frank Graham, as he settled down to his second full day as the University's president since leaving it on his United Nations mission to Indonesia.

His U. N. business is not quite finished, as he catches a plane to New York this afternoon in order to get him to Lake Success for the final debates on Indonesia tomorrow. Then he explained he thought he could devote practically all his time to his scholastic duties, as he estimated the special advisership to Secretary Marshall and the State Department, given him by President Truman, should occupy only a day or two a month at most.

Yesterday was spent by the University's dynamic little president in "catching up" on affairs happening in his absence and looking into new developments that affect the University.

He announced that he would soon appoint a committee from the three schools comprising the Greater University to work with a new program being set up by the Atomic Energy Commission. With this new plan, he explained, the Commission is establishing six regional fellowship training facilities, to be located in New York, Texas, Colorado, Oregon, and North Carolina, to integrate the medical and biological training at institutions in these regions with their mathematics, physics, and chemistry work. Dr. Graham said the North Carolina unit would consist of the University, N. C. State, the Woman's College, Duke University, and Wake Forest. One of the first concrete steps of this new enterprise, he continued, will be the establishment of a cancer research hospital at Oak Ridge, Tenn., through the cooperation of the Southern university medical schools.

Dr. Graham is currently president of the board of directors of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Physics, an organization of 14 Southern universities that works with the atomic research authorities at the Tennessee scientific center.

The University's president was also busy yesterday trying to secure books that may be sent to students in Indonesia, a program for which he found a crying need on his recent peace mission there. He and Miss Porter Coles, of the University Press, are working on a scheme to send many of the University's publications out to the Dutch East Indies, and he said he had a chance to give his plan a great boost when Lynn A. Williams, vice-president of the University of Chicago and head of the Great Books Foundation called on him yesterday morning.

In speaking of publications, he voiced the hope that the Carolina Magazine might be revived as a literary periodical.

"For over a hundred years it has been the outlet for student expression," he said, "and it has started the literary careers of many distinguished North Carolinians."

In conclusion, he also expressed his appreciation for "the fine report of Victor S. Bryant and his visiting committee of the University's board of trustees," and remarked:

"It seems to me that we have had a fine year here."

Mills-Stones

It's Nothing The Southerner Can't Handle

By Barron Mills

"There is nothing wrong with racial relations down here where population is fifty-eight per cent Negro—nothing we can't cure if we're let alone by the reformers."

This is a statement I received from Roy Parker, former journalism professor and publisher of the News of Orange County and the Hertford County Herald of Ahoskie and others. In view of the current strife over the Civil Rights report, the Anti-lynch proposals, and the anti-poll tax legislation it carries deep significance.

Mr. Parker is right in assuming that there is nothing wrong with racial relations which cannot be cured by the Southerner himself. This, in my belief, is the only score upon which the Southern Governors delegation has any grounds of opposing the above measures. Each section of our country has its faults—large or small—and it is best for the citizens of the community to recognize these faults and correct them in a manner that is not strange to the community.

Included in the note from Mr. Parker was one of the editorial pages of the Hertford County Herald, which is edited by Jack Rider—who Mr. Parker noted attended UNC as a GI in 1945-

The editorial which was called to our attention began in this vein, "Here in Ahoskie we have the finest example we have witnessed in a long time of racial cooperation and mutual respect."

Continuing, the edit related that the white school in Ahoskie does not have a gymnasium. They have $25,000 which has been allocated for the athletic plant, but this figure is not nearly enough to complete the structure. This winter the Ahoskie High basketball team has not had a place to practice. The Negro school of the community is more fortunate. It has a gym—nothing fancy or elegant, but at least a place to practice teamwork and perfect their shots. The gym is one built "principally. . . from the ingenuity and willingness to work of the Negro students and their leaders."

Since the opening of the basketball season the Negro team had graciously shared their court with the white quint. Each team has used one end of the court. According to the editorial, there has been complete harmony between the two teams. In general the incident is one which "we hope this fine example of fellowship will point out to the citizens of the town, county and state the stupidities that have been named in the 'race question.'"

However, in closing, the editorial asked, in all fairness, this question, what would have happened if the situation would have been the reverse—the Negro team had not had a place to practice for their games?

In view of the notorious incident which happened in Ahoskie last fall (it was in Ahoskie that the Negro man won a Cadillac at the Kiwanis-sponsored dance and then was refused the automobile until Life magazine and the press reported the incident) I believe that the Negro team would have to play their opponents without practicing. By Rider's mention of the question I believe that he too believed this.

But still the South is capable of ironing out its own wrinkles behind the racial curtain which shrouds discrimination, the poll tax and other injustices.

Both the Negroes and the whites are citizens of this country, and, in our section, Southerners. It is the South's problem. It is one which must not be neglected or passed over with flippancy.

It's time the South awakened to its policies which are detrimental to almost half of its population. It is a problem which can be eradicated through education, a mutual understanding and teamwork. The reformer and the Civil Rights reports have done nothing more than put the enraged Southerner on the defensive and cause him to pass over the subject with rationalization.

Leave the problem to the Southerner who realizes that Jim, the yardman, will not turn up on Monday, or Tuesday if any of his pay is left, and that Bertha, the ex-cook who "quit" to work in the tobacco factory, will come back for money to buy medicine when her daughter gets sick.

Housing--A University Problem-Child

(This is the third and final editorial containing comments on the happenings of the Student Welfare board session of last Thursday afternoon.)

Housing— A University Problem Child 2

Housing has been a subject of sore contention. There just has not been adequate facilities to house everyone in a manner that is conducive to good study habits and in accordance with the best health practices. This was not a new problem to those attending the confab. What concerned the group on this occasion were the grades and the quality of work that is being done by students, especially the freshmen and graduates, under such crowded conditions.

We do not have the exact figures, but the ones presented greatly accentuate the fact that the work of students who live in the Quonset huts and Miller and Nash barracks is not comparable to the work of the men who live in Alexander hall, the model freshman dormitory.

Graduates, too, are under a great handicap by having to live in a three-man room with undergraduates who are not as considerate as they could be under such crowded conditions. Graduates, many of whom have teaching duties which entail grading papers and hours of preparation for class lectures, require more space and a much quieter atmosphere than the average student. The departments do not have space in the class buildings to provide each of these instructors with desks—consequently, much of their work has to be done in their rooms.

Other Universities (and Carolina did before the war) have graduate dormitories. Graduate dormitories have proven much more satisfactory.

Considering these factors, the student and faculty members of the Welfare Board recommended, without a dissenting vote, that one of the dormitories now under construction be used exclusively for graduate students. There are now 644 men graduate students enrolled on campus; this single dormitory would not house all of these men, but it would at least be better than the conditions existing.

To relieve congestion in the Quonset huts, Miller and Nash, which have been a problem-child since they were converted over to University use, it was recommended that the number of residents be greatly reduced. Also, because of the apparent success of Alexander hall as a freshman dormitory, the group was in favor of converting another dormitory over to freshmen next year.

These recommendations on the part of the Welfare Board are almost insignificant in view of the entire complexity of the housing situation, but these and any additional improvements to relieve overtaxed facilities is worthy of trial.

With an Eye to the Future

One of the most interesting and enlightening Commissions that met at the recent Natural Bridge conference was the one on "Racial Tensions In Our World" headed by George Worth and Ethel Perry.

The conclusions of the commission, as outlined by Worth Monday afternoon in Graham Memorial advocated work by the Y in furthering relations between the white and colored races. Among their other suggestions, the group suggested that (1) the YMCA, YWCA and Hillel Foundation encourage the church related groups to make public statements on segregation after they have carefully studied it; (2) groups encourage all opportunities of association between white and Negro students. To the extent that this is not permitted on the campus, the group called attention to inter-racial work camps sponsored by various organizations and meetings in off-campus locations through cooperation with church groups and Intercollegiate CRIL; and (3) that the local church groups form a joint committee to work on colored community service. The following projects were suggested: adult education at the Community center, well baby clinic of the Health department, one-room schools of Orange county and improved street and sewage disposal in the colored districts.

The recommendations were concluded with the suggestion that all members of the Y speak as individuals to their friends upon their racial attitudes in order to encourage more courtesy and care in their manners toward the Negroes.

The recommendations of the conference, which will probably be greeted with guffaws by the less liberal and straight-laced members of the student body and State, are perhaps a sign of things to come. The student leaders who attended the meeting in Natural Bridge, with their faculty advisors, are a group of serious, conscientious young Americans with an eye to the future.

There is no doubt that there was much discussion and argument over various issues of the Commission. Their recommendations, however, are accepted as the opinions of the majority of the group there. They have made no unusual, outstanding or unnecessary suggestions. On the contrary, they have merely advanced ideas that have been simmering in the minds of many free-thinking Americans for a long time.—B.B.

College Expansion?

Grand Forks, N. D. (I. P.)

President John C. West of the University of North Dakota declared here that he doubted very much if the enrollment on this campus would be affected much by President Truman's declaration on expansion of colleges.

"As there are only about 550,000 people in the state, any expansion or increase in enrollment would come from a group not now attending college," he said. "Recruits from this group would be divided among the nine four-year colleges and the three junior colleges now existing.

"As far as can be seen in the future, only an optimist would predict an enrollment of more than 3,000 at the University. Roughly 1,000 students from North Dakota now attend colleges outside the state and a similar number come to the state from other places.

"The 8,000 college students now in residence at N. D. schools will decrease to roughly 6,000 when the veteran's program draws to a close.

"To double the enrollment, as suggested by President Truman will mean recruiting 6,000 new students. There is no evidence that this number can be recruited in this state."

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publication Board of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where it is published daily, except Mondays, examination and vacation periods by the Colonial Press, Inc. During the official summer terms, it is published semi-weekly on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Entered as second-class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under the act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price: $8.00 per college year, $3.00 per quarter.

The opinions expressed by the columnists are their own and are not necessarily those of the Daily Tar Heel.

Member of the Associated Collegiate Press Association of the National Collegiate Press Association.

Complete Leased Wire of United Press

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

BARRON MILLS, Editor — HOWARD BAILEY, Bus. Mgr.

MANAGING EDITOR: Ed Joyner, Jr. — CIRCULATION MANAGER: Owen Lewis

SPORTS EDITORS: Bob Goldwater, Bill Carmichael

NEWS EDITOR: Chuck Hauser

NIGHT EDITOR: Charlie Gibson

SOCIETY EDITOR: Jane Mears

ASST. BUS. MGRS.: Mary W. Sledge, T. E. Holden

ASST. CIRC. MGRS.: Randall Hudson, Don Snow

SUBSCRIPTION MGR.: Charles Pattison

EDITORIAL ASSTS.: Bob Sain, Bill Buchan

NEWS STAFF: Raney Stanford, Donald MacDonald, Sally Woodhull, John Stump, Herb Nachman, Charlie Gibson, Gordon Huffines, Margaret Gaston, Mark Sumner, Paul Rothman, Elaine Patton, Jean Baskerville, Mary Ann Taber, Weddy Thorp, Emily Baker, Miriam Evans, Doris Weaver, Nancy Black, Helen Beam, Daniel Wallace, Sam Whitehall, Helen Highwater.

SPORTS STAFF: Morty Schaap, Dick Jenrette, Bill Kellam, Larry Fox, Taylor Vaden, Kyle Cox, Bill Gallagher.

BUSINESS STAFF: James Crews, Jackie Rogers, Betty Huston, J. C. Brown, C. B. Mendenhall, Joe Williams, Randall Hudson, Gladys Cottrell, Al Petteway, Kathryn Colwell, W. S. Peebles, Grover Henson, Neal Howard, Jr., Lena Campbell, Ed Campbell, Al Carpenter.

FOR THIS ISSUE: NIGHT EDITOR: Ed Joyner NIGHT SPORTS: Bill Carmichael

BILL MAULDIN'S CARTOON

Experts predict that the Democratic party will rapidly be reduced to nothing but a lot of Democrats. (News item.)

Opposes Compulsory Training

UMT Essay Lacks Reasoning

By I. C. Nichols, Jr.

I read the prize winning essay on the subject "Why I Oppose Universal Military Training" in the DTH several days ago. To be sure, some persons will welcome this essay because it supports their pre-conceived ideas on the subject, but I must confess that as far as I am concerned it falls far short of being convincing or even logically sound in its reasoning.

